News of the Week.

Suicide of a Farmer.

Luther Bishop, a wealthy farmer, living at Old Town, not far from Bloomington, Illinois, committed suicide recently by shooting himself with a revolver. Cause, mental aberration.

A Bomb Thrown into a Procession.

During the passage of a procession in honor of King Humbert's escape, in Florence, Italy, a bomb was thrown among the corps of veterans and exploded, and two men were killed and several slightly wounded.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

The boiler in Batchelor Bro's saw mill at Freemanville, Michigan, exploded Friday morning, tearing the mill to pieces, and instantly killing Jesse Foreman, engineer, his body being literally torn to pieces. Four others were seriously, if not fatally, wounded. Caused by low water.

A Plot to Assassinate all Sovereigns.

A telegram from Berlin reports a belief current there that a plot exists for the assassination of all sovereigns. It is said that the Prussian judges, when examining Nobeling's case, were led to believe in the existence of a central organization for this purpose, and investigations are still going on.

Woman's Suffrage Convention.

The Ninth Convention of the Woman's Suffrage Association began its work Tuesday morning November 19 at Masonic Hall, Indianapolis, and during the day held three sessions. An average of two hundred and fifty persons, four-fifths ladies, were in attendance, the delegates proper numbering forty-four. Thirteen States were represented.

Heavy Failure of a St. Louis Firm.

The celebrated dry goods house of Dodd, Brown & Co., St. Louis, suspended on the 23d of October. For a dozen years it had been the largest and strongest house in the city. Liabilities are estimated as from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000, the greatest portion of which are in New York. The cause of the failure is said to be inability to collect of their country merchants. It is expected that their creditors will make some arrangement to carry them over the difficulty.

Salisbury's Reply.

Lord Salisbury's reply to Mr. Evans is printed. He professes a desire to remove any obstacles, if any exist, which interfere with the privileges conditioned by the treaty. He supposes that the United States will not deny the right of the provinces to pass proper laws, to regulate the fisheries and to keep them from destruction, such laws operating equally on all, and he states that it is not to be supposed that private persons, fishermen or others, may define and execute such laws by unauthorized force.

The Tribune's tables on the election in the State show the following results: Official returns from all but two counties, with unofficial returns from those, give to Republicans a plurality of 19,000. Republican vote, 389,676; Democratic, 352,060; Greenback, 71,020; Prohibition, 3,835. The Democratic plurality of last year for Secretary of State was 11,000, and on Controller 30,000. The total vote this year was 27,000 more than last year, when there was no Greenback vote. The Greenback vote last year was 20,000.

Sleeping Car Burned.

A lamp overturned in a St. Louis sleeper on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad westbound express, at two o'clock in the morning, recently, about seven miles east of Cumberland, Md., setting fire to the curtains. There were thirty-five passengers on board at the time, most of them being asleep in the car, several of them being ladies and children. All escaped in their night clothes, losing all their small baggage, money and valuables. No one was injured. The car was destroyed. A number of the passengers were New Orleans refugees returning home.

Two Rich Killed and Three Wounded.

A special dispatch from Mt. Sterling, Ky., to the Courier-Journal, says a riot took place there on the 19th, in which from twenty to thirty shots were fired, and two men instantly killed and three wounded. Marshall Jones, who undertook stopping the quiet disturbance, was mortally wounded. Two of the rioters, George and William Howard, were wounded, one dangerously. John Thompson, a clerk, and a disinterested party, was shot and instantly killed by a stray bullet from the opposite side of the street in which he was employed. Three of the rioters were arrested. The Sheriff and posse were on the trail of the rest.

Another Survivor of the Wrecked Huron.

The New York Herald's Washington special says that another survivor of the isolated United States corvette Huron has reached a port a year ago north of Cape Hatteras, has unexpectedly turned up. His name is William Bailey, and he was picked up one day after the wreck, having drifted sixty miles out to sea, while clinging to a spar. Bailey's story seems successful, but it is believed to be true. He claims he landed himself to a spar when he found himself in the water. He was picked up by the Norwegian bark Forto, bound for Christian Sound, Norway, and made the voyage in the meantime. He says he was almost without strength during the voyage, but continued sick and exhausted. When he got to Norway he made his way, when able to do so, to the nearest port, where he was taken to a hospital, where he lay for six months. On recovering, he shipped on the same vessel, Forto, for Baltimore, where he arrived about the 4th of November. No doubt is entertained that the man is what he represents himself to be. Secretary Thompson is satisfied the man is a genuine survivor of the Huron.

Another Murder Mystery.

A special to the Cincinnati Commercial from New Philadelphia, O., says: The inquest held on the body of Mrs. Rice, who was found in the woods near Fort Washington, this county, resulted in the verdict that the deceased came to her death by violence from the hands of an unknown person. The victim was a widow, about fifty-five years of age. She lived on a farm her son, and on the same farm, half a mile distant, resided another son, who had his home the evening previous to the inquest, but left it early, leaving the children alone. Mrs. Rice started about eight o'clock to go to the house of her second son to see that the children were all right. That was the last seen of her alive. Sabbath morning, and the children, who had been left alone, came to the house of her uncle to inquire why her mother did not come home. Search was at once instituted, and the body was found in the woods, a few rods of the path she would have taken. She was found with nails, and exhibited deep finger marks about the throat. The neck was gashed and bruised, and there was a bruise on the forehead that had evidently been made by a club that was found near by stained with blood.

Grave Robbing.

About four o'clock in the morning, recently, a policeman on the bridge at Zanesville, O., noticed a suspicious team crossing. He called to the man in the wagon to stop. The driver whipped up the horses, and got away. The policeman at once reported at headquarters, and two police men started with a team in pursuit of the suspicious character. After a chase of five miles, when, at their close approach, the strange men took to the woods. The wagon was found to contain the bodies of four prominent citizens who had been buried in Woodlawn Cemetery for three days. Policeman Still received a pistol wound from the men in the woods, they having fired upon him as soon as he came within range in a fight. The men escaped. Marshal Pfeifer, of Zanesville, notified Columbus afterward, having in custody the author of this outrage. He gave his name as E. F. Stewart, of Newark, Ohio. It proves to be Lafayette Eaton. He confessed the crime to the officers, and their men were otherwise. He also refused to tell their names. Later in the evening Captain Hilliard, of Zanesville, and his men, succeeded in effecting a complete arrest of the dead, was arrested, and by a little strategy Eaton was induced to speak, and led them to the cellar, house, stilliard and two others.

Afghanistan Trouble.

A Solicitor's Simla dispatch says: Letters from the natives of Cabul show that the Ameer is much alarmed at the accounts of the heavy reverses, but that priests have collected together thirty thousand men, and that he is now with them. The purport of the news that after much fighting the Russian forces have overcome the resistance of Khiva, and that the Russians control eight thousand strong. It now is the way to Bokhara, may be reached by the following route: Cross the Caspian, then by steamer up the Lake Aral, upon the Amudarya, and since then has pushed on to the frontier of Afghanistan. During this period she has never given up any position gained. Not has Russia asked for any further operations. When questioned by England as to her intentions, she has answered all sorts of fair promises, and has assured that she merely wished to make the own southeastern frontier secure from depredations. Meanwhile the war and war like Kahan. She would push on, she said, until she reached the Afghanistan frontier, and then she would stop. Meanwhile all her organs of official utterance declare that her annexation of Afghanistan itself becomes either a Russian province or a Russian dependency. Meanwhile, if the Ameer of Kabul, the road to Herat is open to them, and Russia can threaten British India from a new advantageous position. It is said the freedom of the Eurine and the acquisition of the Bosphorus as the price of her retirement.

The Recent State Elections.

Judge Witherspoon, of the Cincinnati Board of Madison County, Ky., was re-elected on the night of the 19th, by a plurality of 1,000. Marshal, on the strength of the vote and destroying one of the precinct returns, which gave the Republican majority in the county from five hundred and four to ninety-seven, and elects Hill, Democrat, to the Legislature in place of L. G. Dennis. A majority Republican, and they are to be taken before the Legislature for investigation. The election is being contested in Jackson, Ville, Ill., where a majority of the votes are thrown out, and

THURSDAY, NOV. 28, 1878.

Congress meets next Monday.

Diphtheria is raging in Jackson.

Scarlet fever is raging at Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor.

Sporting men will all say "that wrestle between McLaughlin and McMahon was put up, to get big door money."

Mrs. Mary T. Lathrop, of Jackson, was presented with a bouquet, by Mrs. President Hayes, recently, while in Washington.

Our exchanges claim that the saloon keepers are already circulating petitions to the Legislature for a modification of the present liquor law.

The Lenawee county board of supervisors have resolved not to allow discretionary charges made by sheriffs, or any one else. Thieves had better make their headquarters in that county.

Rev. D. L. Murray, of Salem, charged with improper intimacy with Miss Johnson, as mentioned in the Enterprise last week, has been bound over for trial in the circuit court. Bail was furnished at $600.

The steamship Pomerania, Captain Schwensen, which left New York Nov. 14, for Hamburg, and arrived at Plymouth at midnight, Nov. 21, was sunk by a collision off Folkestone, Monday night. 58 persons are missing, 102 were saved.

A wrestling match between Wright, of Detroit, and Cudahee, of Jackson, took place in Jackson on Thursday evening last. Each man got a fall, but on account of some dissatisfaction, Wright refused to wrestle longer. The stakes were returned to the parties.

The wrestling match for $1,000 between John McMahon, of Vermont, but lately of California, and James H. McLaughlin, of Detroit, took place at Chicago, Saturday night. McLaughlin won the first fall, and McMahon the last two and match. Time, 22, 25, 28. The charge is made that the result was not fairly reached. Col. McLaughlin, it is said, will put himself in condition and challenge McMahon to wrestle him for $5,000 a side.

Murphy, the great temperance reformer, is doing solid work in New York city. He has away of working among the fallen that draws them right to him, and they are signing the pledge by hundreds. A few nights ago a man drained and said: "I was a moderate drinker, and I was foolish enough to believe that I could be a moderate drinker all my life, but I found out my mistake. I discovered that the appetite was growing upon me, and that I could not leave the cursed rum alone. It began to wind itself about me so tight that I couldn't get rid of it."

"Have you signed?" asked Mr. Murphy.

"I have."

"Then sit right down; God bless you. Say no more. That's the best speech I've heard to-day."

"Now, sir," said Mr. Murphy, "I hope every one of you will go to church on Sunday. If you are a Catholic, be a good Catholic, and go to a Catholic church; if a Baptist, be a good one, and worship God as the Baptists do. This is no presbytising movement. We are all brethren, trying to do our duty here, and to get to heaven hereafter. What matter what road we take, so long as we get to the kingdom after our earthly work is done?"

OLD ENGLAND.

CHESTER, NOV. 2, 1878.

EDITOR ENTERPRISE: Everything is looking beautiful here. There have been no frosts yet, to do any harm. They are still mowing grass in the meadows.

I brought a sample of the Clawson wheat, just as it came from the machine, from home with me, and I stood it in the Manchester market on two market days. The price was ranging from 42 to 44 shillings per quarter. I was offered 50 shillings for more; but when they found that my wheat was in America, they saw the joke. It was better than any English wheat by far. So much for America. I attended another plowing match, yesterday. The plowing was well done, but the best part of the match was the dinner, which was of the old English style. I was invited to partake, and was served with roast beef.

On my way to a plowing match, last Thursday, I met Mr. Johnson, when we went through Welbeck the residence of the Duke of Portland. We went through the long tunnel, at the entrance. It was a grand sight, and such a piece of workmanship cannot be beat. It occupied twenty seven minutes of fast walking to get through it. It is lighted by skylights, which are forty-five feet apart, and gas jets between each one, except under the lake, where gas is burning tight and day. The tunnel is fifteen feet wide and high enough for a man to ride on horseback. The rim is said to be five feet thick. Three other tunnels lead into this one, but no one is admitted except on business. We were kept under guard as long as we were on the Duke's estate.

The Duke of New Castle has a beautiful piece of woods, which we passed through, near the end of the tunnel. The trees are oak and chestnut.

The Excursionists Returned

EDITOR ENTERPRISE: In continuation of my letter of last week, I would say, that under a more expansive view of the western land, a still better opinion was formed, as a farming country for all those who desire to participate in that honest industry. It was truly a sight, at Wichita, to witness such a continual flow of grain from all directions, especially from the south, into that city, and note the process by which it was timily emptied into their seven large elevators. Perhaps it would hardly be credible for me to say that the grain buyers can, at the busy season, step from one loaded wagon to another, without even touching the ground, for half to three quarters of a mile. But such is nevertheless true. And add to that a look into the deep and well-filled bins of the elevators, and then a glance across the broad expansive plain, reminds one that honest industry has, here at least, a firm footing, for miles around. Such are some of the sights of the streets of Wichita.

But another day finds some of us on horseback, followed by five hounds, all as poor as laths, bound for a jack rabbit hunt. We had not gone far before friend Goodyear gave the "war whoop," which sent the hounds bounding after the long-eared animals. Then the wild sport begins, and I can assure you they make fast time, as it is a case of fire or death, but generally the rabbit is overtaken before going a great distance. Thus continued the sport until night compelled us to head towards home. But not satisfied with one hunt, the next day we were out on friend Merriman's land, searing off the prairie chickens; but that is not considered so much sport, for the reason that they are there in such large flocks. Those who did not go on the hunt were in the mean time being conveyed about the country, gratis, by Mr. John Goodyear, son of Esquire Goodyear of our village.

But as duties at home compelled us to leave, consequently Messrs. Valentine Baldwin, and myself, started for Kansas City, where we remained a day, visiting the points of interest there; and it was well worth the time, for, built as it is among the bluffs, makes it a city of peculiar interest, and standing upon the summit of one of these bluffs, one can get a fine view of the surrounding country and the Missouri River in its winding course for many miles. But bent towards home, we started for Quincy; remaining there a day, we left for Chicago, arriving the next morning, when the business and noise of that truly great city had already begun. Here Mr. Valentine remained a day, and Mr. Baldwin started for St. Paul; while four days made my stop there complete, visiting the many places of interest there to be seen, at Lincoln Park, the water works, stock yards and packing houses, the exposition building, Bennett Medical College, &c. From thence, home.

But a glance back to the western country, one is almost compelled to say that Michigan and like States must give up her stock raising pursuits, and perhaps grain growing, some day, and follow the other lines of industry. And a retrospective view of the whole trip, as friend Baldwin and myself, eating what he called our "seventy-mile dinner," on a dining car of the C. B. & Q., the many miles of travel over the different routes, the space of country we passed over, and the sights to be seen at the large cities, and a score of other things, one is compelled to admit that such a trip, besides the recreation, is well worth the time and money. And in answer to the oft-repeated question, "How do you like the West?" would say, "first-rate for a farming country, for you know it's all level." Yours, &c. A. P. F.

THE METROPOLITAN

Republican Journal of Michigan.

The publishers of THE DETROIT POST AND TRIBUNE point to the record of journalistic enterprise and political usefulness made in the first year of the existence of the consolidated newspaper as the best pledge of the future. The paper will continue to be a fearless, vigorous, and able advocate of Republican political doctrine; of an honest and rational financial policy, and of state development.

Its large resources, its ample facilities in newgathering in wide circulation, and its position as the metropolitan organ of the Northwest, serve to make its state enterprise as conspicuous as its political performance, and to fully meet the expectations of its patrons.

The news department of the Post and Tribune will be the fullest, accurate, and complete; the report has obtained for it the largest facilities for getting intelligence, foreign, domestic, State and local, and maintains special correspondents at all important points in Michigan, and at the main centers of news throughout the country.

Its compilations of State news and its condensed reports are well known for fullness and reliability.

Its editorial page discusses current issues candidly and from the standpoint of accurate information and of an adherence to correct political and economic principles. All matters of especial public interest will receive from it the same intelligent and painstaking investigation which it has given this year to the important phases of the currency question.

Its columns will be rich in miscellaneous reading matter, including sketches, stories, and selections from the current literature of the day. Its department of sports will be the fullest and best published in the country.

FAMILY NEWSPAPER, and as such it claims to be, and is, the most worthy of the great State in which it is published and given it has been so long and closely identified.

THURSDAY, NOV. 28, 1878.

Local News Brevities.

We go to press early, this week, so that we can give thanks with the rest of mankind.

The next regular meeting of the common council will be on Tuesday evening next.

We publish another letter from A. F. Freeman, this week, which will be found very interesting.

The regular convocation of Meridian Chapter, No. 48, will be held on Wednesday evening next.

We understand that L. D. Watkins bought a set of pewter dishes, of great antiquity, while East, this fall.

Attention is called to the new time table of the D. H. & S. W. Ry. Important changes have been made.

"Here on the Stomach," is a standard medical work.—[Hilledale Standard. Have you read Hare on the stomach?

Would it not be a good plan to keep the gutters free of dirt, leaves, &c., so when it freezes up, they will be in good condition.

Heusler & Kingsley have an entirely new advertisement in the Enterprise, this week. They make a specialty of lamps and holiday goods.

Those who have received invitations to attend the party at Goodyear Hall, this (Thursday) evening, should not fail to go, as they expect to have a good time.

Communion service at Presbyterian church, next Sunday, after morning service. Preparatory service Saturday, 3 p. m. Union praise meeting Sunday evening.

John Hoelzle will sell at auction, at his farm in Sharon, two miles north of Manchester, on Saturday, Nov. 30, a quantity of farm produce, stock, tools, etc. Tom. Flinn, Auctioneer.

The Township Treasurers in this vicinity have left their orders at this office for receipts, and on the 1st of December they will commence filling them out. Taxpayers, get your change ready.

N. Schmid & Co. have just received and placed in their store an elegant case with which to show their large and varied assortment of ribbons to better advantage. It is one of the neatest show cases we have ever seen.

The Hook and Ladder Company of this village will meet at the engine house on Wednesday evening next. It being a regular meeting, there should be a full attendance, as business of much importance should be transacted.

It is a real treat to visit the People's Drug Store at this season of the year, and look at the display of holiday goods of their line. They have by far the best assortment ever shown in this village. Please read their new advertisement and then give them a call.

Our readers' attention is called to the advertisement of H. C. Ransom, Jackson, the proprietor of the well-known Prison Furniture Rooms. It is a well established fact that those in search of either expensive or cheap furniture, never fail of finding just what they want (and at the right price) at that store.

In speaking of the improvements in Sharon, last week, we omitted mention of Samuel Cushman's commodious woodhouse, which, of course, being a thrifty farmer, he has filled with wood, and in which his son has fitted up what would be the salvation of many a boy, a work shop, with scroll saw, etc. Mr. Cushman's house is so "laughably in the rear of it," that a wayfaring man couldn't see the woodhouse, unless he went round through the melon patch and—there's the dog!

PERSONAL.

We understand that Charley Sandford started for Newark, yesterday morning.

James McMahon, of this township, was up to Ludington, visiting his son, last week.

We understand that Dr. W. G. Stowell, formerly of this place, intends to spend the winter in Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Mat D. Blosser celebrated the eighth anniversary of their wedding, at their residence, on Sunday, the 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Becker, of Cortland Centre, Kent Co., called at this office on Tuesday and subscribed for the Enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Watkins returned from Massachusetts on Wednesday night of last week. They have had a very pleasant time and are in good health.

Dr. Hyndman, of Norvell, was in town on Monday morning, and informed us that Mrs. Babcock, who was so badly injured by the runaway, is recovering rapidly.

We learn that Seymour Coon, son of L. H. Coon of this village, is at Marinette, Wis., and that he has been afflicted with boils and felons during the past three weeks.

We learn by a late copy of the San Francisco Alta Californian, that W. T. Perkins has been elected one of the directors of the Bellefountaine Mining Co. The capital stock is $5,000,000.

We understand that W. R. Hewett, of this village, had the two first fingers on his right hand paralyzed, a short time since, and that is the cause of his not being able to fill the position in the First National Bank at Ann Arbor.

A. F. Freeman and the balance of the Kansas excursionists, except Merriman and Baldwin, have returned home. We learn that Mr. Merriman remained at Wichita to dispose of some land he has there, and that Mr. Balwin has gone to St. Paul, Minn.

Messrs. Amsden, Rogers & Worden, of Ypsilanti, passed through here, yesterday, on the way to Tecumseh, and favored us with a call. They have the contract for frescoing and painting the new opera house at Tecumseh, and as they are all first-class workmen, the Tecumseh people can rest assured of having their place of amusement ornamented in as tasty and elegant a manner as the best of them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Richmond, of St. Louis, Mich., have been visiting friends in town during the past week. We enjoyed a call from George. He says that St. Louis is a good business town, that the springs are visited by scores of people, in the season, and that he likes the place very much. He is looking hearty, and we hope he is getting rich. They expect to leave here for home to-day or to-morrow.

Farmers and others are cautioned against signing papers of any kind when asked to do so by strangers. This is the season when the patent clothes line fellows, the lightning-rod scalper, the patent gate man, or the fruit tree humbug, start out, seeking whom they may devour, and our readers should stubbornly refuse to sign receipts, notes, contracts, or orders. We would advise our readers to deal with a legitimate and well-known tradesman in the village, pay for what they get, and give strangers a severe letting alone.

An honest farmer said to the Dexter Leader man, "I wish you would advise your readers to measure every load of wood they buy. I bring 128 feet for a cord, and do not think it fair for another man to get the same price for 96 feet." That's just what's the matter. A man brings in a load of wood, perhaps one hundred feet. Ask him how much he has on, he'll answer, "Oh, about a cord," and the buyer will pay him for a cord and say no more about it. This is encouraging dishonesty. Measure your wood before you pay for it, and pay only for what you get.

Tramps are committing outrages in every part of the State, and it is about time something was done to prevent it. The next Legislature should pass a law making it a State's prison offense to tramp. There is no necessity for tramping; there is plenty of work to be had in the country at living wages, but these tramps don't want work, and what is more, they won't work.

Jake Roller and John Grossman had a little difficulty on Tuesday afternoon Jake took hold of John's neck and made severe threats. John was frightened. Jake was arrested, plead guilty to charge of assault and battery, and failing to give bonds for good behavior during the coming twelve months, he was committed to jail, there to languish for twenty days.

The price of wood don't seem to decline in proportion to that of other commodities, consequently many of our citizens are trading off their wood stoves and putting in coal stoves. Coal makes a better and pleasanter fire than wood, and is cheaper.

A heavy snow storm at East Saginaw, Tuesday, and the roads were almost impassable.

THE PIONEERS

On Wednesday next the Pioneer Society of Washtenaw county will meet at Goodyear Hall in this village.

At their last meeting, in Chelsea, a gentleman member of the society objected to the holding of the meeting here, because, as he said, they were not well received by the Manchester people. To this we replied through the Enterprise, and there is now a general feeling that they will not be welcomed to Manchester. Let us say again, that our people are not enthusiastic, but they are courteous, and as generous as the average American. The Pioneers will find a comfortable place awaiting them, and when dinner time arrives, entertainment will be furnished them free of charge. Should any of them remain in town over night, they will be taken to the homes of our people and kindly cared for, as has been the custom since the first sturdy pioneer stepped upon our virgin soil.

The people of Manchester and surrounding towns should meet with the pioneers and listen to their stories of hardships and privations.

Col. J. H. Fellows, Hon. J. D. Corey, Dr. B. F. Rost, and others, will call upon some of the people and solicit provisions, &c., but if you don't happen to be called upon, appoint yourself a committee of one, take your basket, well filled with provisions, and go to the meeting.

COMMON COUNCIL.

RECORDER'S OFFICE,
Village of Manchester, Nov. 26, 1878.

Common council met in adjourned session. Meeting called to order by President Doty. Roll called. Absent: John Burtless. Minutes of last regular meetings read, and with proper corrections, approved.

The committee on claims and accounts report favorably on bill of Mat D. Blosser, referred at last meeting, and on motion the bill was allowed and ordered paid.

Mr. Sherwood offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Marshal be and is hereby instructed to open sufficient hydrants and cut and delineated to the Village of Manchester.

On motion the above resolution was adopted.

The following bills were presented and referred to committee on claims and accounts:
