

W. E. GLADSTONE
CARTOONS.
F. C. G.

F. a. 3.

To H. J. Gladstone
from
J. A. Spender

Nov. 2. 1901.

The "Whip"

W. E. GLADSTONE.

Cartoons and Sketches by F. CARRUTHERS GOULD.

FROM THE

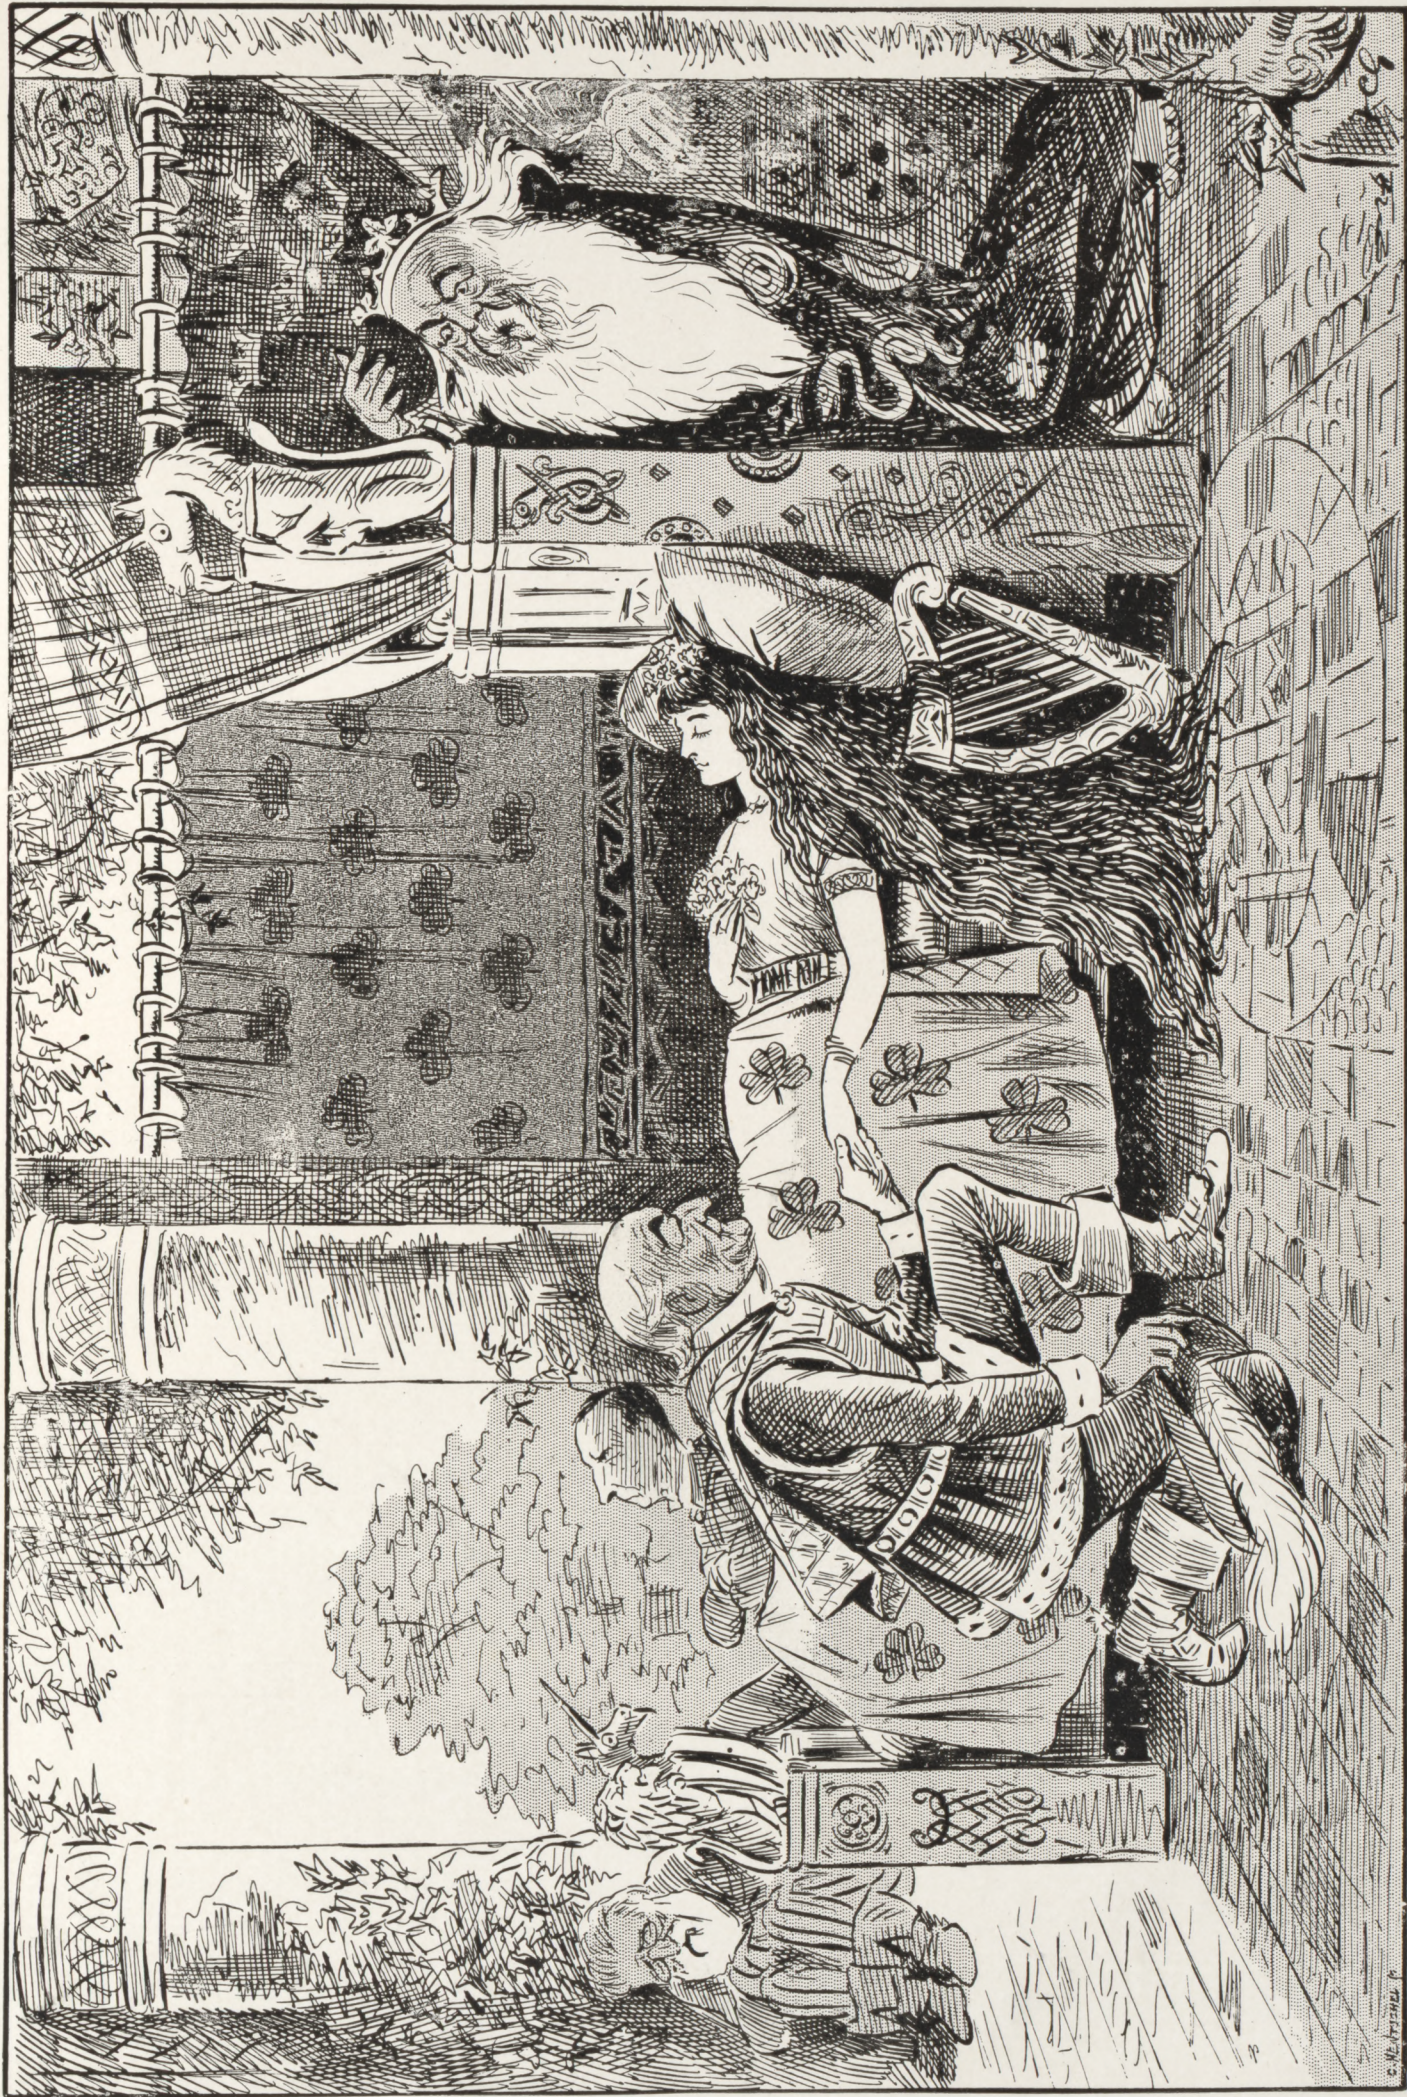

"WESTMINSTER GAZETTE," 1893-1898.

Edition limited to One Copy, Printed and Published for Presentation to the Rt. Hon. H. J. GLADSTONE, M.P., on his Marriage, Nov. 2, 1901.

"As young as ever, and never better in my life."

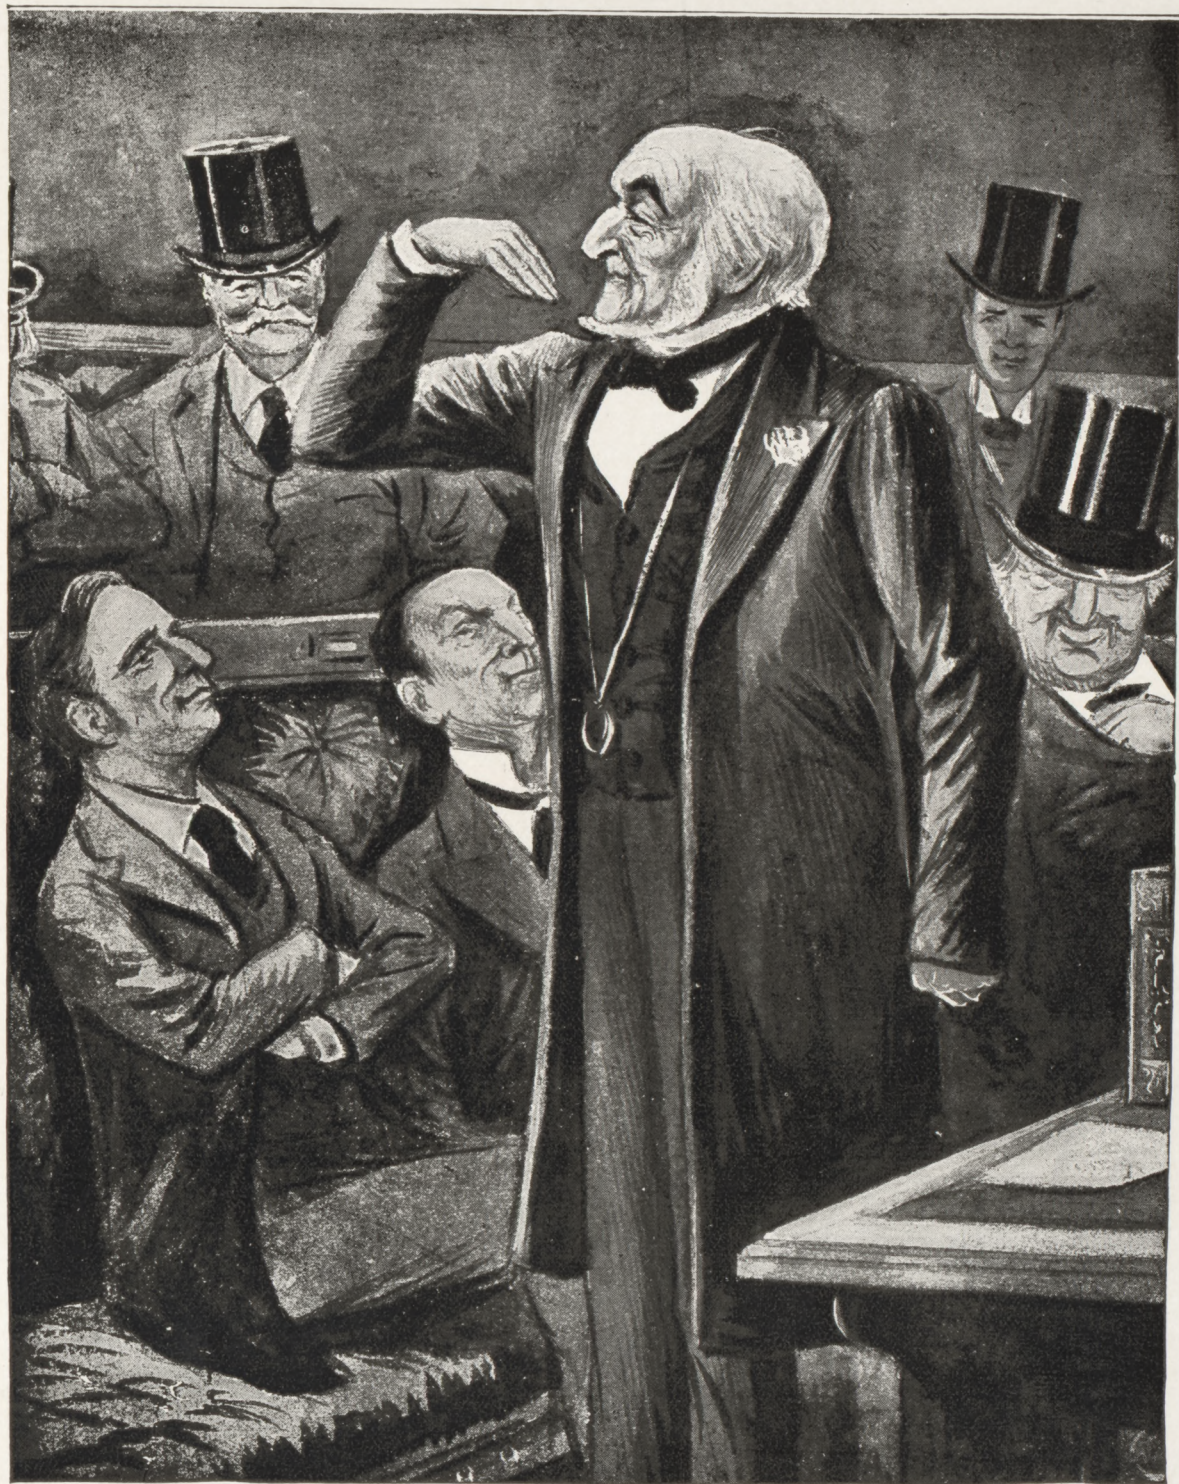

Mr Gladstone in 1895

The Fairy Prince and the Sleeping Beauty.

Writing to the Queen.

*The Home Rule Debate. 1893.
Gladstone bantering the Liberal Unionists below
the Gangway.*

A Christmas at Hawarden and other sketches.

Going home

Outside the Castle Walls. 1894

Gladstone at 88

Correspondence.

Listening

Some Phases.

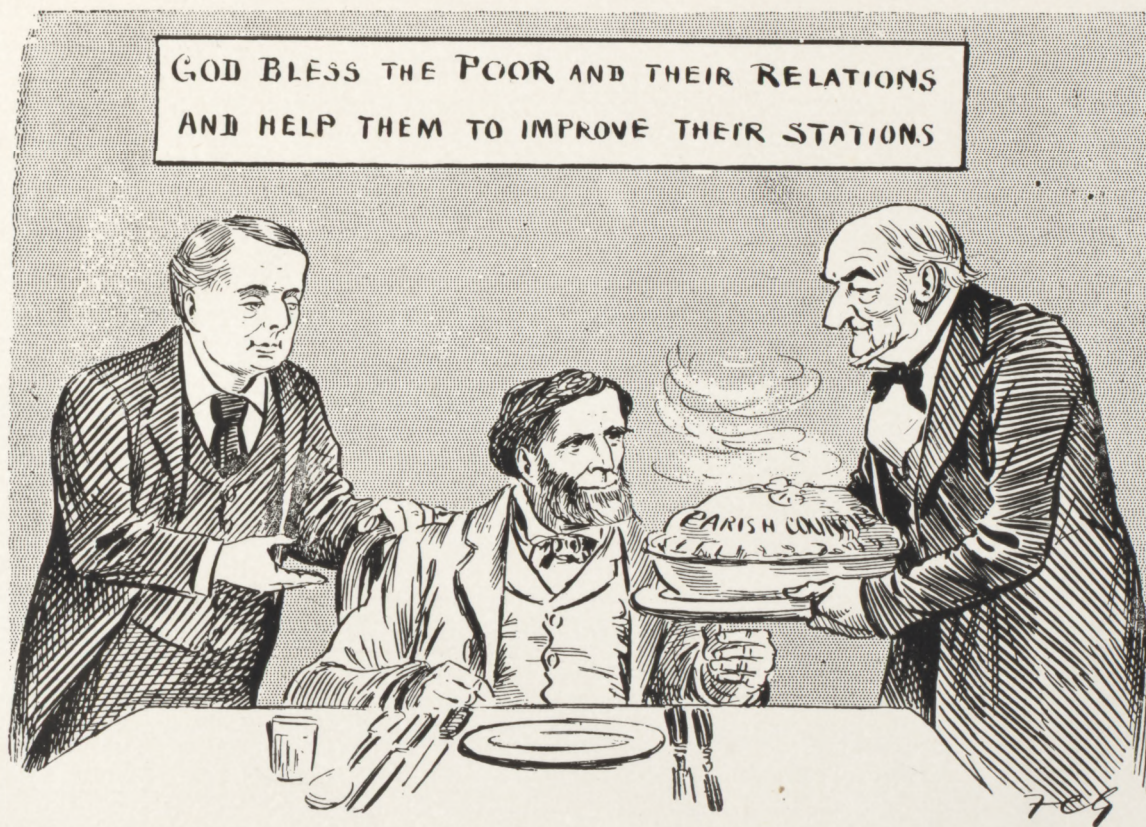

Going up to the Lords.
1893

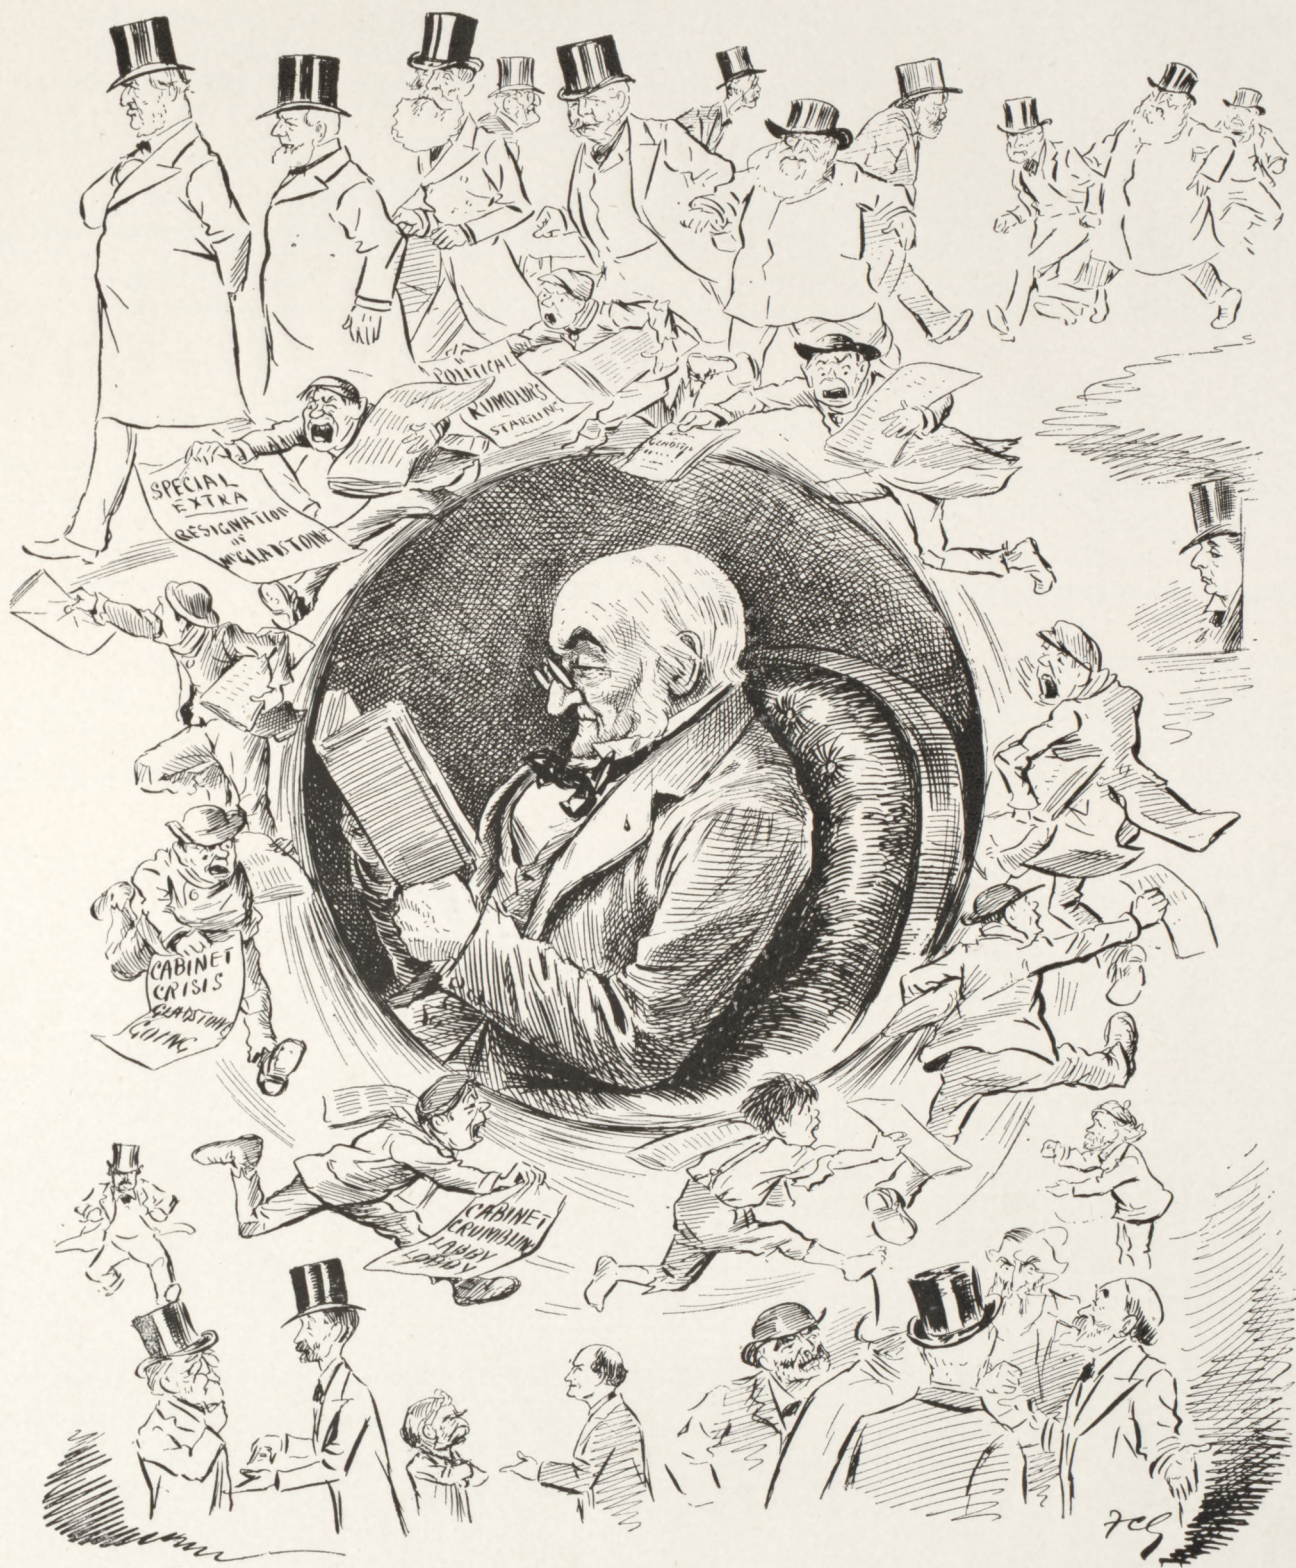

Mr Gladstone as "Old Mortality"

Saved!

This is your pie.
The Parish Councils Bill passed.
1894

Retirement
March 1894

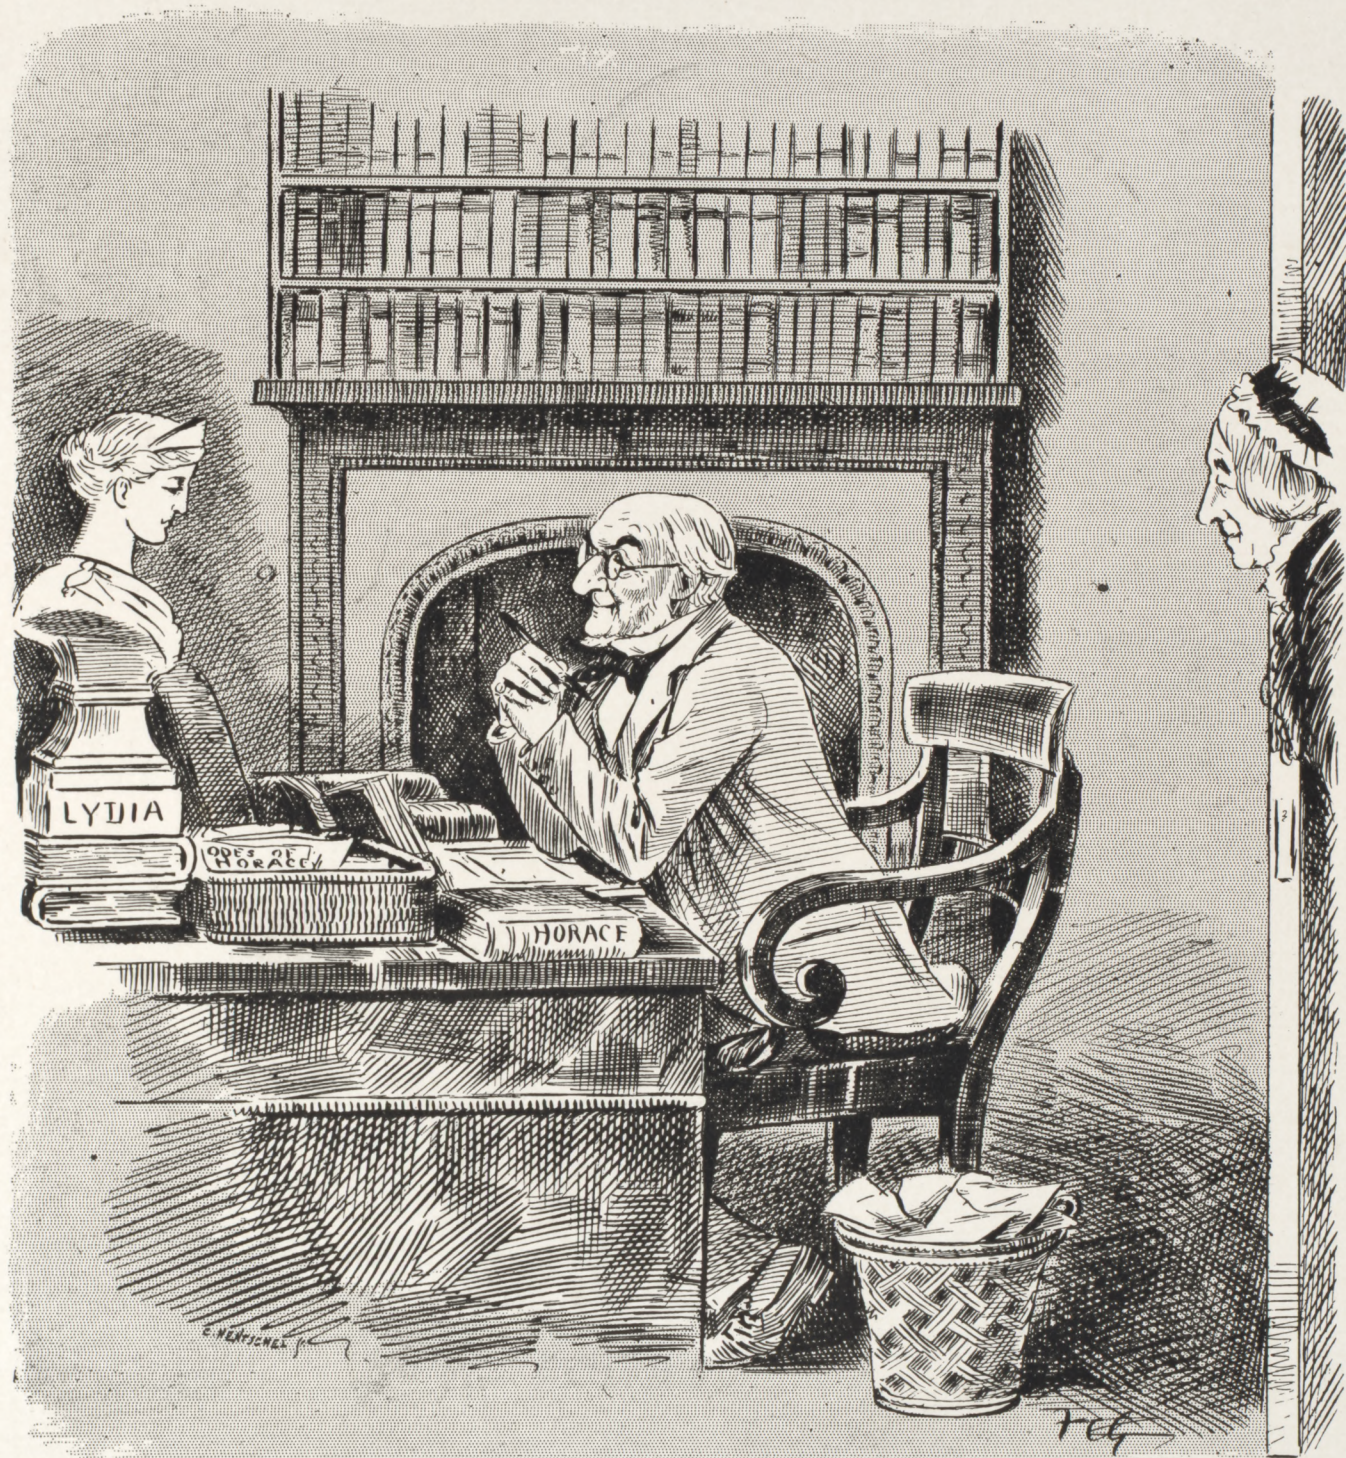

*The New Man at the Wheel
Mr Gladstone retires. (March 1894)*

The Old Pilot

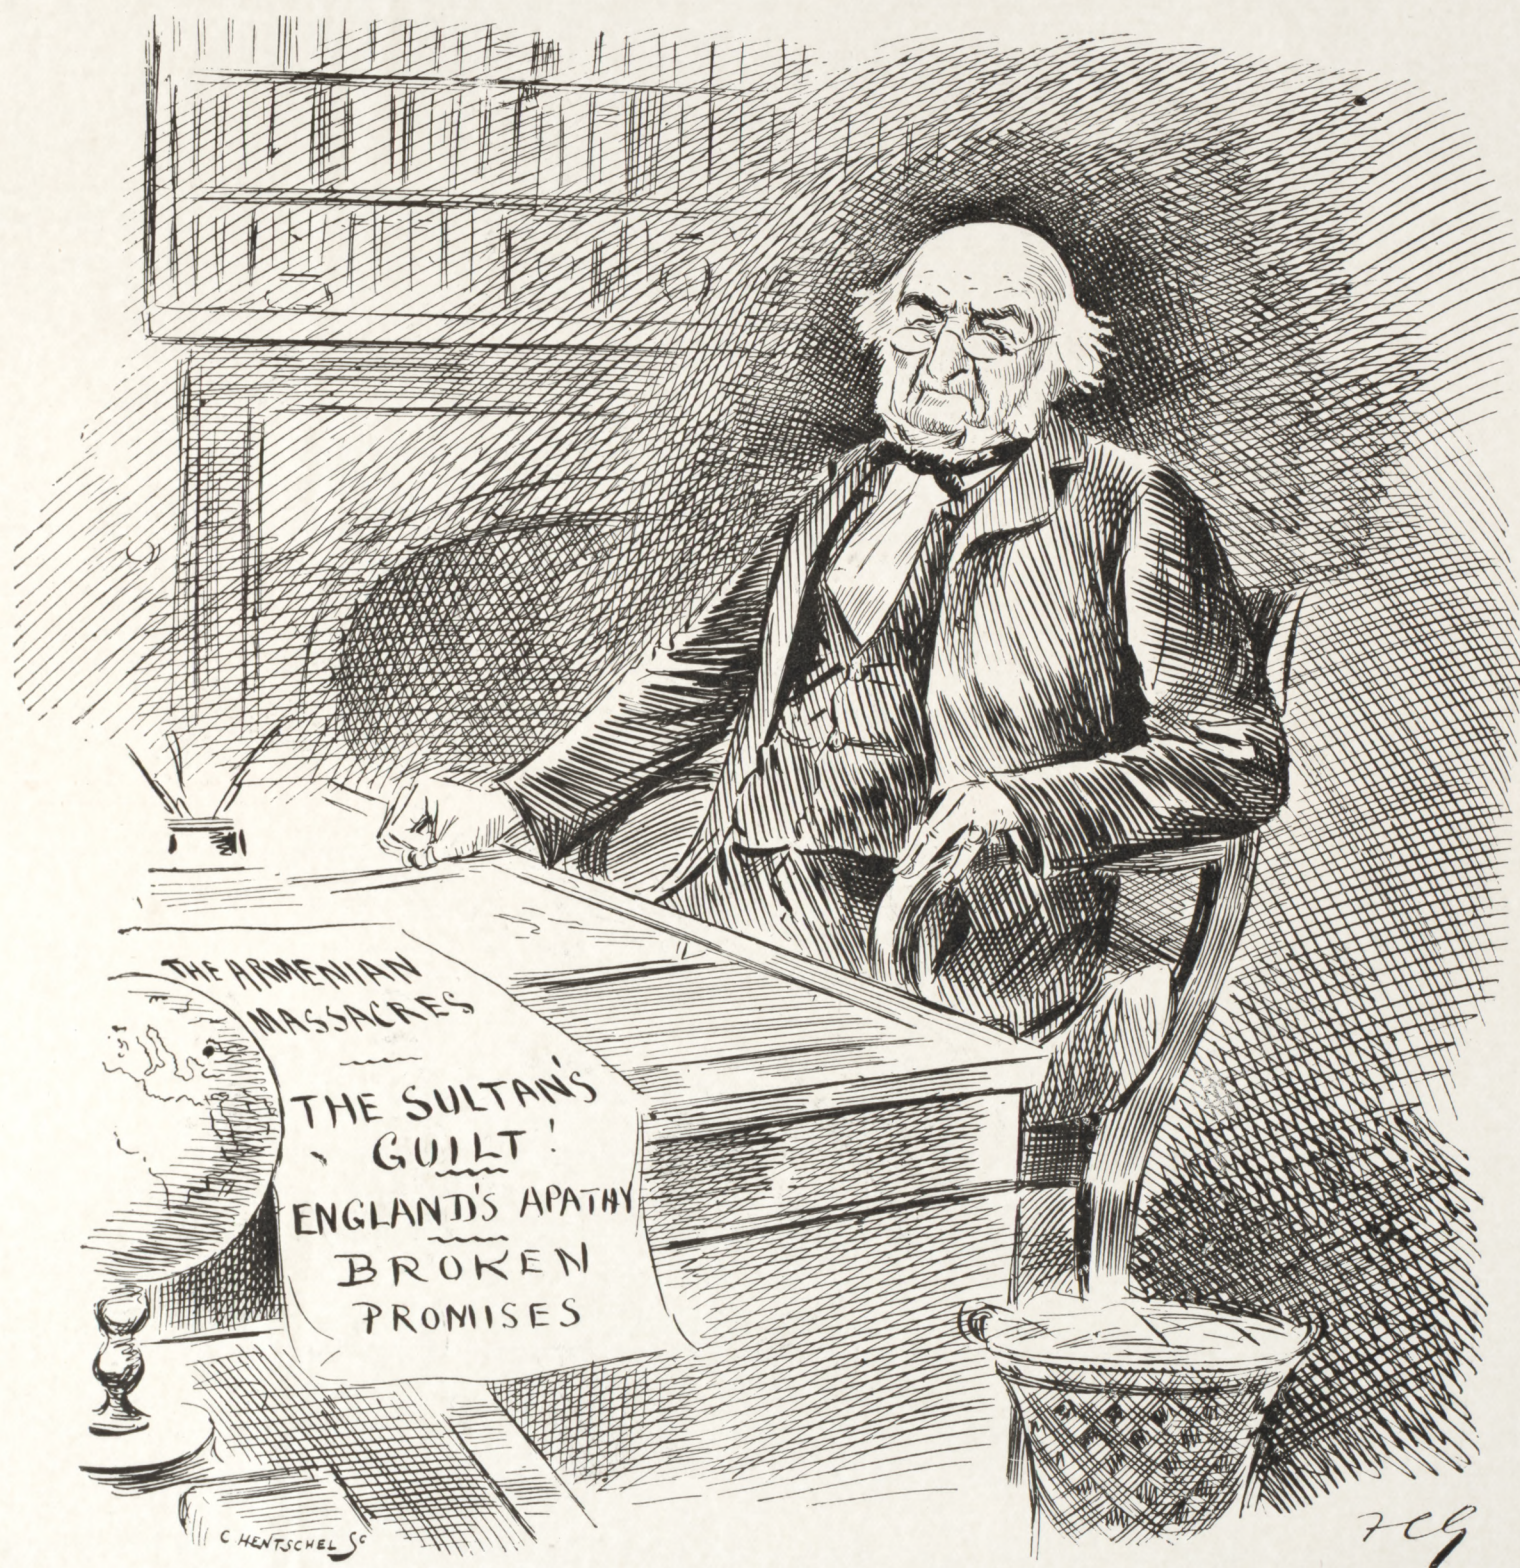

"I wonder if I could have saved her."

After the General Election of 1895

"Come along, William! Dorothy wants to play with you."

Gladstone was engaged in giving the finishing touches to his translations of Horace's Love Odes on the very day of his resignation.

August. 1896.

Mr Gladstone, replying to a correspondent, said he wished it were in his power to awaken the heart and conscience of Europe to the guilty horrors of the Armenian question.

BRADFORD (EAST)
ELECTION TO THE ASSOCIATED
C. S. ...
ALFRED BILLSON

SELF-DENYING ORDINANCES
1. ...
2. ...
3. ...
4. ...

SITUATIONS VACANT LIBERAL LEADER
REQUIRED SHORTLY Must be able to take charge of all Departments

"A Person politically dead"

"As a person politically dead" Mr. Gladstone wrote to Mr. Billson the Liberal candidate for East Bradford. October 1897

The Grand Old Woodman.

Mr Gladstone addressed an Armenian deputation at Hawarden on Dec 29th 1894

