

Notes for Contributors

All correspondence should be addressed to the Editor, Journal of Social Development in Africa, School of Social Work, P/Bag 66022, Kopje, Harare, Zimbabwe.

Manuscripts

Contributions that further the aims of the journal are welcomed and will be referred. Manuscripts should be typed on single-sided A4 paper, double-spaced, with large margins all round. Two copies of the article should be submitted and the author's name, affiliation and address should be attached to the cover, to facilitate anonymity in the refereeing of the article. The article should begin with a summary of less than 100 words of the contents and conclusion of the article. In general the use of footnotes is discouraged. Essential footnotes should be kept to a minimum and typed consecutively at the end of the article. Within the body of the text references to authors is made by author, date and page number in the following way:

We find that Makola (1982a:67) argues the view taken by Nkosana (1981). Another study (Makola, 1982b), however. . .

Bibliographical references follow the body of the text and should be double spaced, listed alphabetically and chronologically by author and date: in the case of books, by title, publisher and place of publication; in the case of articles by full journal name, volume, and first plus last page numbers; in the case of chapters, by title, collection title, editor, publisher and place of publication. Examples follow:

SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT ISSUES

Social Development Issues is an international refereed journal that serves as a forum for achieving linkages between multiple disciplines, nations, and cultures. Our purpose is to promote the consideration of issues of individuals and their communities. SDI is committed to the advancement of social, cultural, political, and economic theory, policy and practice (and their inter-relationship) within a global context. Domestic social issues are appropriate provided they encompass such a perspective.

Manuscripts addressing developmental perspectives and research on international social justice are welcome, including lifespan, gender and racial issues, the impact of policies, practices, comparative health/mental health, poverty, income maintenance, and movements such as global feminism, human rights, and peace.

Manuscripts Guidelines

1. Scholarly articles should be 12-15 pages in length.
2. All pages must be typewritten, double spaced including references.
3. An abstract of 60 words or less must accompany all submissions except book reviews.
4. SDI follows the use of nonsexist language. Any materials deviating significantly will be returned to the author for revision.
5. Four copies must be submitted.
6. Use APA (1983) guidelines available from: Order Department, American Psychological Association, 1200 Seventeenth Street, NW, Washington DC 20036.
7. The author's name, address, and telephone number must appear on a separate removable cover page. This is to ensure anonymity by review of the editorial board.
