Christmas.
The happy days have come around to us once more. How many wait with joyful expectations the good news of the birth of our Lord and Saviour. The day is here when we can all be glad in their expectations of well-filled stockings or of Christmas trees laden with precious fruit. This festival day is one of happiness to us, because the angel said a child is born, that says, when he becomes a man, of these children, "Of such is the kingdom of heaven." Truly happy because they are innocent and full of faith and hope, but more than that, in them, as the germ in the seed, and the seed in the ground, come the future harvest in the fields of the world. So the future harvest of blessing to mankind comes from the children. While we give to them, and give more liberally, let us also teach them to give to others, and may we all give to the poor, and the rich give to the loved ones (and to those that are not loved), that they are learning the lesson that it is so valuable in after life, that in giving there is blessing, and that it is even more blessed to give than receive.

Next to the importance of every child receiving gifts on this annual day of blessings, is the importance of every child making them, that it may have a taste of the security of generosity, and begin its growth in that life that finds true happiness in doing good and becoming like Him whose advent was to bring good tidings of great joy to all people. So may you all have a merry Christmas. Fraternally, N. A. Saxton.

Cambridge Sheep Breeders and Wool Growers Association.
The second annual meeting of the above named association will be held at the Cambridge Hotel, Cambridge, on Friday, December 30, at seven o'clock p. m., to elect officers for the ensuing year and to transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting. All are invited.

L. H. Steeler will address the meeting, relative to his method of care and winter management of sheep.

W. R. Whittaker will deliver his experience on wooling and fall and winter care of lambs.

O. L. Short, relative to the management of stock rams.

P. J. Kinney, on time of shearing and feeding a preparing wool for market.

Opportunity will be offered for free discussion on the subject of wooling.

William Blackman has exchanged his hotel property for a grain mill and sawmill, at Mr. Morris. Mr. Blackman does not claim to have made a fortune out of the trade, but he says it is a very good one.

The Gravel Lake News says, he is glad the News got him about the trade right, that was to get the sawmill. "Bill" is not a fool on the trade.

A new theory of the so-called fascination of birds by snakes, is that the bird mistakes the snake's tongue, which the reptile keeps in rapid and constant motion, for a lively worm, and watches it intently with the anticipation of a feast.

"No," said a prominent member of a Vermont party, "Jackpot will never do for us. He isn't got the qualities that a Vermont man should have. He isn't got a brain, and he isn't got a heart."

Jackpot had the habit of saying, "I cannot do better, you would be disappointed."
