The Toronado River.

The toronado river has fairly common country where its most fertile sections are usually extensive. It was discovered early in the month of May at Hot Springs and Ozark, Ark. were compared with the toronado river of the same name in the United States. It was discovered when we have seen our notions of hedge and overgrown trees. The toronado river is a beautiful object when in bloom, and loaded with fruit. THE NORVELL FARMERS CLUB.

On Saturday, June 30th, the regular meeting of the Norvell Farmers Club was held at the beautiful country seat of L. D. Watkins...

It was announced that the Southern Washenaw Club desired the Norvell Club to join them in a picnic and on motion, Messrs J. M. Horning, C. L. Hall and Jas. Hay were appointed a committee to confer with the other club and make arrangements.

Mrs. R. D. Palmer, then read an original essay, "How to keep young" which was appreciated by all.

The question, "How shall we increase our profits and still keep up the fertility of the soil?" was opened by L. D. Watkins who gave a description of the various soils, the manner of examining them so as to ascertain their constituents.

C. L. Hall followed with a paper on "The best methods of making the farm pay," in which he said every energy of man seems to be to accumulate wealth.

There are many men who swear that they remember the first time they ever strutted with their hands in their pockets, but the falsifier has not braved public denial who will say that he has a vivid recollection of his initial trip in a baby-carriage...

A subscriber to the ENTERPRISE wishes to ask a few questions in regard to teams which are used to designate blooded stock.

One hundred and twenty sheep shorn by O. L. Short, of Cambridge, cut 1375 pounds of wool, which was sold in Boston, in two grades at an average of 26 cents per pound, bringing $357.50.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

Mr. John Green did not think farmers should afford to quit growing wheat. In overstocking the farm, our pastures are gnawed down and damaged more than by cropping.

Mr. J. G. English thinks the idea of exhausting the soil by raising any kind of crops is wrong. He believes in rotation and keeping as much stock as convenient.

R. D. Palmer could not agree with Mr. English. He said countries that centuries ago supported large populations are to-day nearly barren.

Mr. Richard Green said he could not understand how people in the west, on cheap land, could raise wheat better than could be grown on dear land, provided it had been paid for.

President Halladay said it was meant that if a man had a capital of ten thousand dollars, it would produce him more if invested in cheap lands at the west than if he bought dear land in the older States.

Mr. Watkins said the soil is like a bank account, drafts upon it would be honored as long as there was money to the credit of the party making them.

Mr. Halladay thought there was no way to keep up the soil continuously, without putting something back. He believes clover the pivotal crop.

Miscellaneous.

Mr. Thos. Tilton has grown fat and no longer looks intellectual or romantic. N. Y. Sun.

Henry D. McDaniel, who was elected Governor of Georgia recently, is worth about $20,000, and has a practice as a lawyer worth from $3,000 to $4,000 per year.

Postmaster-General Gresham is the sixth member of the Cabinet from Indiana since the organization of the Government.

There have now been sixty years of American novels - for it is about that time since Cooper dashed into prominence with his "Spy" and his sea-stories, and his character of Leatherstocking.

Mr. Spaggiari was boasting of her new house. The windows, she said, were stained. "That's too bad, but what's it important or buzzing wash it off," asked the good Mrs. Oldboy.

The editor wrote that "he was a member of an old family of musicians, and when it appeared in the paper it read a member of an old family of musicians."

"I don't want no rubbish, no fine sentiments, if you please," said the widow who was asked what kind of an epitaph she desired for her late husband's tombstone.

A Nazarian Shepherd Dog. There is a shepherd dog owned out on the Carriage Pike, near Elmwood, which for sagacity entitles him to the honor of a professor.

A large shepherd dog had been struggling for several minutes to induce the sheep to enter the bridge and go on, but they were evidently suspicious and did not dare to venture into the forbidden place.
