The final day of debate was very hot, involving an interesting set to between Senators Palmer, of Illinois; Vest, of Missouri, and Cockrell, of Missouri. Mr. Palmer roasted the Republican candidates for the presidential nomination and was against "snap" conventions to commit the Democracy to silver. Mr. Vest took a turn at President Cleveland's administration for alleged use of federal officials to control Democratic conventions, notably in Michigan. Mr. Hill also had a hand in the closing scene, opposing the resolution. The conference agreements reported on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, including the item of salaries for U. S. district attorneys and marshals, was agreed to. Several other minor matters were disposed of also. House. - The net result of a three and a half hours' session was the passage of a bill to amend the act creating the court of appeals so as to allow appeals from the supreme courts of the territories to the court of appeals.

SENATE.-122d day.-With the bond esolution out of the way the senate gave its attention to an accumulation of minor measures before going on with the river and harbor bill. The bill for the erection of a bridge across the Detroit river, at Detroit was postponed until next session, on the request of Mr Sherman and the assent of the Michigan senators, Mr. Sherman stated that there would be strong opposition. HOUSE—The members of the house voted themselves $100 per month for clerk's hire during the recesses of con-gress. A number of minor bills were disposed of. An evening session was devoted to private pension bills.

SENATE.—123d day.—The senate gave most of the day to passing the accumulation of bills on the calendar and succeeded in disposing of a large number of them Considerable progress was also made on the river and harbor bill. Horse. -- No session.

SENATE .- 124th day .- In reporting the bankruptcy bill from the committee Mr. Teller stated that it favored the substitution of the senate bankruptcy bill for that passed by the house. OVER THE GLOBE. The Dispatches Captured by the Transvas Government Shows the British in a Bad Light and President Kruger Says Ticklish for the British. London: It is said that President Kruger, of the South African republic, has in his possession altogether 54 in-criminating letters, of which he has so far only published a dozen. Many of those still unpublished will provide very striking revelations.

The critical character of the situa tion as between Great Britain and the Transvaal before President Kruger's masterly use of the captured cipher masteriy use of the captured dispatches may be gauged from advices recently given by Sir Hercules Robinson to the imperial government, which had invited an opinion from him on the policy to be adopted. He replied that there were two courses open to the imperial government, either to sit still and wait Kruger's action toward the Uitlanders or to take immediate warlike measures. He favored the former policy, because it would take 50.000 men to conquer the Transvaal, to say nothing of the consequential troubles and complications it would entail.

A dispatch from Cape Town show that the plot to overthrow the Transvaal had a very wide ramification. All of the telegrams from the Chartered South Africa Co. in Cape Town hore the stamp "On the company's service." From copies of the letters which the Transvaal obtained from Dr. Jameson (upon his capture) it seems that orders had been given to prepare everything in Matabeleland for an invasion. A dispatch from Pretoria says President Kruger realizes the dilemma in which British Colonial Secretary Chamberlain is placed and is exceedingly sorry for him, believing that he knew nothing of the conspiracy.

London: The South African troubles

are the talk of the hour, and every other subject seems to have almost dis-appeared. Mr. Chamberlain, it is wellwn, vielded to the pressure to bear upon him by friends of the Chartered company, who are influential socially and politically, and it seems evident that the government has decided to shield Cecil Rhodes. Influential weekly papers protest against the government's leaning toward the Chartered company after the latter's com plicity in the Jameson raid has been established beyond the shadow of a doubt. The Saturday Review, for instance, publishes six pages, devoted to exposing the plot against the Transvaal further evidence of the guilt of Cecil Rhodes, declares that President Kruger has proofs that Dr. Jameson, under Rhodes' orders, intended to march upon Pretoria after the capture of Johannesburg should have overturned the government.

PRESIDENT KRUGER SAYS

The Transvaal Intriguers Must be Pun ished Ere South Africa Can Rest. President Kruger has granted an in the treasury to detail revenue cutters to enforce regulations at regattas; and other matters of only local interest.

The treasury to detail revenue cutters terview to a press representative, in which he said that he was astenished at the official defense of Cecil Rhodes. SENATE -125th day. The struggle and of the Chartered South Africa Co., said that the intrigues alleged to exist between the Transvaal and Germany over the Santa Monica, Cal., deep water in the British house of commons.—He were merely soap-bubbles. The South African republic, he said, desired to be friends with all, but the recent plot was indefensible and those who engineered it must be punished. would be no rest for South Africa, he concluded, until that was done.

The secretary of state of the Trans vaal, Dr. J. W. Leyds, sent-a telegram to Gov Hercules Robinson at Town, referring to newspaper statethat the imperial government still displays a partiality toward the directors of the Chartered South Africa Co., and especially towards Cecil Rhodes. Dr. Levds says: The company as at present controlled is a source of danger to the whole of South Africa. The incursion of the South Africa. The incursion of the Transvaal was made by officers and troops carrying the company's arms. Even the special prohibition of her majesty's government failed to hold them back. The position of the per-sons who knew beforehand the plan of the incursion and who supported it is defended by the statement that they acted in the interests and for the ex-tension of imperialism in South Africa. tension of imperialism in South Africa.

The Transvaal government does not believe that the end ought to justify the means. Those who defended and upheld the incursion, and who pressed for generous treatment of the rebels
now in jail do not realize what injury. and mischief they are causing by adopting such an attitude.

UNCLE SAM IS RILED.

Havana dispatches say that by a court martial the crew of the American schooner Competitor, which was captured with a filibustering expedition on board going to help the Cuban insurgents, have been sentenced to be shot, without civil trial. When this news reached Washington, with the inform ation that some of the men were Amercan citizens the state department at once protested against such sum-mary action and demanded that the sentence be withheld and a civil trial be given the Americans according to treaty provisions. This soon stirred matters up at Havana and at Madrid. A dispatch from the latter place says there are evidences of growing popular excitement in Spain over the attitude of the U.S. government towards the execution of the filibusterers captured on board the Competitor. The news of the capture of these men was received with great satisfaction and rejoicing. It was felt to be the first opportunity that had been offered to make an example of those engaged in feeding the insurrection. The popular demand for their execution is general, and is likely to become vociferous. Little account is taken the refined questions of treaty interpretation involved in the protest of the United States government against the execution of the sen-The action of the United States is regarded rather as an expression of sympathy with the insur-rection, and there will be a strong popular clamor to disregard it. War Clouds Darkening.

Madrid: It is understood that the U. S. government has presented fresh claims for heavy indemnities through osses on sugar plantations belonging tosses on sugar piantations ocionging the Americans which have been burned by the insurgents. It is expected that these demands will lead to further complications. The Imparcial (semi-official newspaper) says; "The United States intend to wear out the patience of Spain or themselves declare war. It is preferable to hasten events, as the in-feriority of Spain will increase with London papers comment freely upon ie apparent war cloud between the United States and Spain. The Globe says that Europe must sympathize with Spain against the pretentious arrogance at Washington, where sleeve" diplomacy is spoiling for a fight. that unless she fights Uncle Sam she is very likely to have a revolution at home. The Graphic compares the Competitor's case with the Jameson raid and says Englishmen can sympathize with the United States, looking at the scandalous misgovernment of Cuba, but the filibusters cannot be compared to the raiders. The Times says Spain is well advised in yielding to Mr. Olney's lemand for delay. She has thus averted an explosion of popular indig-nation in the United States which no administration, however pacifically disposed, could have resisted.

Gen. Hancock's Statue Unveiled With imposing ceremonies the heroic questrian statue of Maj.-Gen. Winfield S. Hancock was unveiled at Washington before an immense gathering, which included President Cleveland, Vice-President Stevenson and representatives of the supreme diplomatic corps, both bodies of congress, the army and veterans and colleagues of the late general. The unveiling was preceded by a military demonstration. The principal address was delivered by Senator John M. Palmer, of Illinois.
