RELATED IN A BRIEF, CONCISE

MANNER.

Town of Pinconning Burned. What proved to be the worst fire in he history of Pinconning, and one which practically kills the town, started Tuesday a. m. in a building on Second street near the Michigan Central railroad and occupied by Dr. Porter as a drug store and residence. A gale was blowing from the northeast and before the inhabitants realized is the town was in great danger from flying firebrands which were blown from building to building. The structures were all frames and they burned like inder and one after another was reduced to smoldering ruins, despite the efforts of the local fire department and a company from Bay City. The fire continued to increase in its destructiveness until it had reached Fourth street. Here the Bay City company made a determined fight, and kept the houses on the south side of the street from burning. At 11:30 a lull in the gale occurred and this is what saved the outh portion of the town, Jennings mill and a long row of Michigan Central freight cars.

Starting with the Dr. Potter store, the fire leaped across Second street to the Phoenix block, a two-story frame building. Then in the order named were consumed the Commercial House, a row of buildings owned by M Mc Cormick, occupied by the Pinconning bank, Wm. McDonald, grocer, and Redford & McGuire, saloon; building occupied by postoffice, with Foresters hall on upper floor; Alexander Lenhoff, clothing store; George Dereamer, barber shop; George Butler, grocery; Porter Chortie's restaurant; Michigan House; Klumph's grocery store; Andrew P. Summerfield & Son's grocery store; Wm. Jennings fancy goods store; Wm. Anderson's residence, Edward Welch's house, Michigan Central freight house, Michigan Central passenger depot, Samuel S. Morris, dry goods and drug store; L. Pelkey's law office, Pinconning Press office, Alexander St. John's saloon and D. W. Morrison's dwelling. On Second street the fire worked west to the Stanton blook, and the store of the Shook Hardware Co., the Presbyterian church was worth $1,500 and was not insured.
Owing to the confusion it is impossible to obtain a correct list of and insurance, but it is estimated that the entire loss will run up to from $50,-000 to $60,000, with about $15,000 or $20,000 insurance. A Het Time in a Hot Town. Grand Rapids' common council raised the mayor's salary to $25,000 a year and voted to give street laborers $5 per

Although the '97 fall elections were in an "off" year the interest aroused by the hothy contested campaigns made several local battles of national importance. Particularly was this true of the state elections in Ohio, Maryland and Virginia, where United States senators were in the where-t nited states senators were in the balance, and in the municipal contest in Greater New York.

The weather on election day was raw and wet all over the country, yet in spite of the inclemency a good vote was polled, especially in the cities.

In Greater New York.

The campaign for the mayoralty of Greater New York was the most sensational in the history of the city. It open-ed with the promise of a straight fight between the Republicans and Democrats, with the chances in favor of the latter, because of the foreign-born opposition to because of the foreign-torn opposition to the Raines' liquor law, which greatly re-stricted the liquor dealers and was a Re-publican measure. However, there soon developed a feeling which called for a citticket to oppose the Republican "ring," led by Senator Thos. Platt. The Citizens' Union leaders asserted that the regular Republican organization and its nanagers were quite as offensive to good citizens as those of Tammany. The latter, ied by the old chief, Richard Croker, dictated the Democratic nomination and named Robert A. Van Wyck for mayor, which caused a split in their ranks and

Gov. Asa S. Bushnell, Republican, was candidate for re-election to the gubernatorial chair with Horace L. Chapman, Democrat, as his principal opponent. Jacob S. Coxey, the famous commonwealer, occupied the head of the Populist ticket. The fight in Hamilton county was particularly interesting, because of the attempt to overthrow the alleged Cox ring.

The years following presidential elections are called "off" years. Following the election of Hayes in 1876, the Democratis carried Ohio in 1877 for Bishop for governor and a legislature that made George H. Pendleton Democratis sensitor. Following the election of Cleveland in 1884, the Republicans carmied the state in 1885 for Foraker for governor and Sherman for senator. Following the election of Harrison in 1888, the Democratis in 1889 elected Campbell governor and secured a legislature that made Brice senator. Following the re-election of Cleveland in 1897, came the great triumph of McKinley for see soo and the return of Sherman to McKinley in 1896, the Democrats therefore did the thing the election of McKinley in 1896, thistory would repeat itself on the record of "off years," and give them the victory.

The counting of the ballots was rather slow and the reports from rural districts were late in coming in, but from the first it was apparent that the battle was a close one. For several hours after the closing of the polls the Democrats claimed the state legislature and declared that Chapman had a good show for the governor's chair. The Republicans refused to concede anything, however, and maintained that they had carried the state by 25,000 plurality for Bushnell's relection, and that the rest legislature would show a majority of at least 12 on a joint ballot, which insured Senator Hanna's continuance in the United States senate.

and United states Senator Daniels will succeed himself.

For the second time in two years Bosson, ordinarily strongly Democratic, gave a substantial majority to Roger Wolcott, the Republican candidate for governor. There was, however, a decided falling off in the vote for both candidates, and in this Wolcott suffered more than Williams. Returns from all but thee of the 33 cities and 3% out of 231 towns indicate a Republican purality in Massachusetts of about 88,000. The total vote for Wolcott, the Republican candidate, will be about 165,000; for Williams, Dem. 78,000. The legislature remains practically unchanged.

The returns from about one-fourth of the 2,005 precincts of lows show that the Republican plurality will be about 17,000. These returns are from all parts of the state, including both city and country precincts, and it is believed that the ratio established thereby will be substantially mai-itality ma

The gold Democratic vote runs less than 3 to a precinct, but will probably reach 5,000.

With only minor officers to elect, Colorado gave Republican majorities. Kentucky politics were red hot, although only local, county and court officials were to be elected. In Louisville the Republicans conceded the defeat of Mayor Todd. Rep. by Charles Weaver Dem. but claims gross frauds were perpetrated in reaching this end. In some wards which were expected to be strongly Republican. Todd did not poil half of his words which were expected to be strongly Republican. Todd did not poil half of the streets between Republicans and Democrats, resulting in the death of four men and the wounding of two or more. The difficulty began by Frank Egbert, Republican, organizing a party to head off a party of Democrats under the leadership of Bert Marshall, who, as Egbert tolaimed, had taken a number of negroes to the country to prevent their voting. Pusionists downed the Republicans in Nebraska for minor state officials.

Philadelphia, November ".—Estimates from sixty out of sixty-seven counties in Pennsylvania indicate that Beacom, the head of the Republican ticket, received a plurality of 16,000. The indications are that McCauley, the Republican andidate for auditor-general, received about 170,000 plurality.

Detroit's Warm Fight

It was a unique situation which faced the voters of the metropolis of the Wolverine state throughout the two weeks immediately preceding election day. When the Supreme Court decided that Gov. Pingree had vacated the mayor's chair at Detroit by accepting the Job of governor of Michigan Wim. C. Maybury, an ex-congressman, was chosen mayor by the Democrats over a particular protege of the governor. Mr. Maybury filled the position so satisfactorily that the rhepublicans had a hard hunt to find a candidate to pit against him. Finally, however, Clarence A Black, a prominent citizen, agreed to accept and the citizens had to make a difficult choice between two men acknowledged on all hands to be well worthy the honor. However, when the votes were counted it was found that Maybury was elected by over 2,000 plura ity.

The common council will remain Republicans. Stateen Republicans were left over, they having had twenty-four votes out of thirty-two in the last council. There will be thirty-four aidermen in the next council, but it required the election of only two Republicans to take the majority away from the Democrats, and of the ten aldermen elected at least eight age Republicans. Delmel and Wiler, Democrats, against whom such a strenuous appeal was made by the decent people of the city to the voters of the seventh and fifth wards, are once more returned to the council, and Welver says that his vote was greater than ever. Their election was brought about by the freest use of money.

Seven Miners Killed.

The river slope of the Delaware & Hudson Co.'s Van Storch mine at Scranton, Pa., was gutted by fire and at least seven men are known to have been suffocated by smoke and possibly one other, a Polander, is numbered among the dead. The slope extends down through three veins. The missing men were at work 100 feet below the surface. Eighteen men were in the mine when Pump Runner Simp-kins detected smoke in the slope and ran back in the workings to give the alarm. Only 10 of this number were hoisted through the air shaft. There is trouble brewing between Germany and Hayti. The German minister has hauled down his flag and German warships are expected at Port au Prince to back up the ultimatum of the minister to Hayti, demanding an indemnity for the alleged illegal rest and imprisonment of one of the subjects of the kaiser. Much excitement was caused among the native population and some of the people have reatened to kill the German minister and all the Germans at Port au Prince

All the stock and $234,000 worth of bonds of the Lowell Water and Light Co., the Peninsular Light, Power and Heat Co. and the West Michigan Electrical Co., were sold at auction Michigan Trust Co., at Grand Rapids, to James Barnett, trustee for creditors, for $30,150. No plans have yet been formulated for the management of the property, but a syndicate may develop its possibilities. The three companies were virtually one concern, their purpose being to develop the water power of Flat river at Lowell and to trans electricity to Grand Rapids for commercial purposes.

Belated by a Keeper of the-Michigan

State Prison at Jackson.

Mr. A. E. Wing resides at 612 N. Jackson Street, Jackson, Mich. He is a keeper in the Michigan State Prison, a man of sterling integrity, and whose word is beyond dispute. He tells the following story of a wonderful escape, and the incidents connected with the dangerous position in which he was placed. He says, some months ago my, attention was attracted by a swelling of my groins, which began to increase in size to such an extent that I was alarmed. It spread down my legs to mcrease in size to such an extent that I was alarmed. It spread down my legs to my feet, and I was bloated from my waist down, so badly that I could not pull my pants, over my legs, and I had to open my shoes fully two inches before I could get them on. Even my face became puffed up; and my whole system seemed affected. I could hardly drag myself upsfairs to I could hardly drag myself upstairs to unlock my men. I consulted a physician, one of the best in the city. He said the swelling was caused by an irritation of the kidneys, and I commenced treatment with him. But I seemed to be getting worse. I was strongly urged by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I finally consented. After the first week I commenced to see a change, and felt much better. This was engaging, and I continued their use. I took five boxes in all, with the hance would that I was completely cured. But I seemed to be getting worse. I happy-result that I was completely cured. The spirit of what is sometimes called "spread-eagle Americanism" is always to be reprehended; but it is pleasant to record two recent instances, both of which occurred in Boston private schools, that show that children are 146; Ireland, 578, and in Scotland of the present day may be as truly patriotic as their forerunners of a century

In the first case the teacher was an English woman who had more than once aroused the smothered indignation of her pupils by what seemed to them insistence on the British standard of excellence as the only one worth regarding. "That is not English," she said one day, as a young girl made a slip in pronunciation. "Why do you not give the broad a? We are English—we are all English!"

"You may be Miss ----," answered the girl, in dignified tones, "but I am I am a Yankee-Yankee to the

The Great White Crane of the Flains. "The great white crane is a grand. stately fellow, clean-cut and shapely from the points of his dagger-like mandibles to the ends of his slim black toes. When standing erect his lean head towers above the grass nearly to the height of an average-sized man, and his keen eye can range over leagues of prairie for approaching foe. Garbed in plumage pure as new-fallen snow, with extraordinarily long, slender, shiny, black legs and with the graceful line of his back ending in a cascade of lovely, curling white plumes. he always reminds me of the powdered, belaced, much-coat-tailed, spider-legged gallant of the old French school. Grus americana is surely a gallant gentleman and a dignified withal; and can he not, like his relative, ashenhued Grus canadensis, dance the minuet and dance it as it should be danced? -Ed. W. Sandys, in Outing.

Food and Digestion. Neurasthenia, which is becoming known as the "American disease," is likely to rapidly diminish with the diminution in the use of tea and coffee. which are proved to contribute directly to nervous disorders. Experiments in artificial digestion show that chagulated albumen when mixed with artificial gastric juices and kept at a proper temperature, will be practically tirely digested in eight hours. When tea is added during the process of digestion, 66 per cent of albumen will be digested, leaving 34 per cent undigested, while if a decoction of coffee is mixed with the albumen, the result will be but 61 per cent digested and 39 per cent undigested. There is now much less of tea and coffee being used, not because people like those favorite beverages any the less, but because, with the introduction of Postum Cereal which approximates to the distinctive flavor of rich Mocha coffee with none of its deleterious adjuncts, the excuse for using the latter no longer exists.

Skating With Messages. When a London messenger boy is ent for he comes on skates. Recently the proprietors of the messenger system have tried the experiment of have ing its boys use bicycle skates, and while it is uncertain yet whether the whole force will be so equipped, it is said to work very well so far as it has peen tried. The bicycle skate is an exceedingly clever little invention. It consists of two small pneumatic tired wheels, exactly like very small bicycle wheels. These are fastened at each end of the skate. Being much larger than the ordinary wheels of a roller skate, they are fitted for outdoor work, and they will pass readily and easily over smooth pavements and at a speed many times as fast as a boy could run. When the messenger reaches his destination he can slip the skates off, put them under his arm and carry them

One on the Father The Nebraska State Journal tells a story of a Lincoln man who is a out riding. She soon realized that the men were in earnest in their intention The father was taken considerably Suddenly breaking away from them, aback, for he had not counted on being deprived of the excuse for going this year he had always used before said, "I want to stay out in the animal tent longer than you do." The man's wife was within earshot, and he has not yet heard the last of the incident.

> Climate and Old Age. More people over 100 years old are found in mild climates than in the higher latitudes. According to the last census of the German empire, of a population of 55,000,000, only seventyeight have passed the hundredth year France, with a population of 40,000,000 bas 213 centenarians. In England there 46. Sweden has 10, and Norway, 23: Belgium, 5; Denmark, 2; Switzerland none. Spain, with a population of 18. 000,000, has 401 people over 100 years of age. Of the 2,250,000 inhabitants of Servia, 575 people have passed the century mark. It is said that the oldest person living, whose age has been proven, is Bruno Cotrim, born in Afrira, and now living in Rio de Janeiro, He is 150 years old. A coachman in Moscow has lived 140 years.
