Murder Near St. Louis. Albert Worden, aged 35, of Alma, was shot and instantly killed by Samuel Brownell He leaves a widow and Worden had been drinking, when he called at Brownell's house near St. Louis. He got into a scuffle with Mrs. Brownell, who took a shotgun and threatened to kill him if he did not go away. He tried to strike her with a chair, and then seized the gun and endeavored to take it from her. At this Brownell came up and she handed him the gun, telling him to shoot Worden, as he was going to kill her. Brownell fired, the charge striking Worden just above the heart and killing him instantly.

Worden had been told to keep away from the house, according to the Brownells' story. They also allege that he was abusing their children when the row started.

All the parties concerned bear an unavory reputation. Brownell was Maccabees Had a Royal Time and a Hot Convention at Detroit.

The great camp and great hive of Michigan Maccabees at Detroit was an event to be reincinbered. The opening feature was an extensive street parade participated in by about 2,000 Maccaees with handsome lidats, picturesque and grotesque costumes and plenty of music, making a carnival which was hugely enjoyed by the thousands who hugely enjoyed by the thousand like streets to witness it. The parade was followed in the evening by a magnificent reception tendered officers of the supreme camp and supreme hive and the great camp and great hive of the Maccabees in the Light Infantry armory. The delegates to the great camp K. O. T. M. and the great hive L. O. T. M. of Michigan then settled down to three days of hard convention business.

ARMY OF CUBAN INVASION HAS LEFT TAMPA,

They Will Make a Landing near Santing -10 Batteries, Heavy Siege Gun and a Balloon Corps Go With the Invading Forces.

A special dispatch from Washington says the most of the transports carry ing 25,000 troops and 10 batteries, to gether with siege guns and balloon corps, has at last sailed from Tampa for Key West. At that point they will be joined by several warships and con voyed to Santlago. The landing at the beseiged Spanish city will be made on Sunday, under protection of the guns of Admiral Sampson's fleet. Maj.-Gen Shafter is in command of the expedition. A special from Kingston, Jamaica, reports that 5,000 U.S. troops have anded near Punta Cabrera, a little to the west of the entrance of Santiago harbor, where a junction was affected with Gen. Calixto Garcia's army of 3,000 insurgents. It is added that the landing was effected under cover of a from Admiral Sampson's fleet. With the troops were several heavy Mich., who commanded the cruiser Olympia in the battle of Manila. died at Kobe, Japan, while on his way home from Manila on sick leave. It is expected he was wounded and the fact concealed. The navy department has not yet given out an official list of the wounded at the battle of Manila.

Capt. Gridley is the first American officer of great prominence whose death is a direct result of the existing war with Spain. As the commander of Admiral Dewey's splendid flagship and one of the admiral's chief advisers, Capt. Gridley achieved distinction at the battle of Manila bay and added to his previous laurels by winning high praise from his superiors in the service for distinguished gallantry and ability It was not known for several weeks after the engagement that Capt. Gridley had suffered from it, and even now the precise nature of his trouble is not disclosed, but the navy department was notified that Capt. Gridley had been condemned by a medical board and "invalided home," Subsequent advices indicated that Capt. Gridley was suffering from the effects of a rupture supposed to have been received during the battle'of Manila, but no details were given. It was not supposed that his illness was very serious as the denartment was informed that the captain was in company with Paymaster Galt and would leave for home as soon as possible. On May 28 they left Hong Kong on the steamer Coptic and it is probable that Capt. Gridley died about the time the ship reached Robe. His ashes are being brought home, his remains having been cremated at Yokhoma.

Few of us realize how important a part water plays as a disinfectant. It is really such because it is a powerful absorbent. To flush closets and drains then, is no only to wash away mechanical impurities but to a large extent to destroy chemical poisons. A word to the wise is sufficient. It must be added, however, that a large uncovered vessel of water should stand in every sick room, and be frequently re newed. A convenient and safe place for it is under the bed. This water not only shearbs many impurities from the atmosphere, but softens and tempers it. On the same principle one should never drink water that has stood uncovered in a sick

"GALLOWS FOR HAMAN" LAST SUNDAY'S SUBJECT.

From the Text: "So They Hanged Haman on the Gallows That He Had Prepared for Mordecal"-Esther, Chapter vii. Verse 10.

Here is an Oriental courtier about the most offensive man in Hebrew history, Haman by name. He plotted for the destruction of the Israelitish nation, and I wonder not that in some of the Hebrew synagoguesi to this day when Haman's name is mentioned the congregation clench their fists and stamp their feet and cry. "Let his name be Haman was prime minister in the magnificent court of Persia. Thoroughly appreciative of the honor conferred, he expects everybody that he passes to be obsequious. Coming in one day at the gate of the palace, the servants drop their heads in honor of his office; but a Hebrew, named Mordecai, gazes upon the passing dignitary without bending his head or taking off his hat. He was a good man, and would not have been negligent of the ordinary courtesies of life, but he felt no respect either for Haman or the nation from which he had come. So could not be hypocritical; and while others made Oriental salaam, getting clear down before this prime minister when he passed, Mordecai, the Hebrew, relaxed not a muscle of his neck, and kept his chin clear up. ecause of that affront Haman gets decree from Ahasuerus, the dastardly king, for the massacre of all the Israclites, and that, of course, will in-

To make a long story short, through Queen Esther this whole plot was revealed to her husband, Ahasuerus. One night Ahasuerus, who was afflicted with insomnia, in his sleepless hours calls to his secretary to read him a few passages of Persian history, and so while away the night. In the book read that night to the king an account was given of a conspiracy, from which Mordecai, the Hebrew, had saved the king's life, and for which kindness Mordecal had never received any reward. Haman, who had been tixing was walking outside the door of the king's sleeping apartment, and was called in. The king told him that he had just had read to him the account of some one who had saved his, the king's life, and he asked what reward ought to be given to such a one. Selfconceited Haman, supposing that he himself was to get the honor, and not magining for a moment that the deliverer of the king's life was Mordecai, says: "Why, your majesty ought to make a triumph for him, and put a on him, and set him on a spldid horse, high stepping and fullblooded, and then have one of your princes lead the horse through the streets, crying, 'Bow the knee, here comes a man who has saved the king's Then said Ahasuerus in severe your scoundrelism. Now you go out and make a triumph for Mordecai, the Hebrew, whom you hate. Put the best saddle on the finest horse, and you, the prince, hold the stirrup while Mordecal gets on, and then lead his horse through the street. Make haste What a spectacle! A comedy and tragedy at one and the same time.

There they go! Mordecai, who had been despised, now starred and robed, in the stirrups. Haman, the chancellor, afoot, holding the prancing rearchamping stallion. Mordeca down at the degraded prime minister walking beneath him. Huzzah for Mordecai! Alas for Haman! But cently built, entirely wasted! It is fit-ty cubits high, and built with care. And Haman had erected it for Moras groom. Stranger and more star-tling than any romance, there go up the stens of the scaffold side by side "So they hanged Haman >n the gallows that he had prepared for

Although so many years have passed since cowardly Ahasuerus reigned, and the beautiful Esther answered to his whims, and Persia perished, yet from the life and death of Haman we may draw living lessons of warning and instruction. And, first, we come to the actical suggestion that, when the heart is wrong, things very insignificant will destroy our comfort. Who would have thought that a great prime minister, admired and applanded by millions of Persians, would have been so nettled and harassed by anything trivial? What more could the great lignitary have wanted than his chariots and attendants, and palaces and banquets? . If affluence of circumstances can make a man contented and happy, surely Haman should have been contented and happy. No; Mordecal's refusal of a bow takes the glitter from the gold, and the richness from the and the speed from the With a heart puffed up with every inflation of vanity and revenge it was impossible for him to be happy of Mordecal at the gat was louder than the braying of trumpets in the palace. Thus shall it alstances the most trivial will disurb the spirit. It is not the great calamities of life that create the most worriment. I have seen men, felled by repeated blows of misfortune, arising from the dust never desponding. But the most of the disquiet which men suffer is from insignificant causes; as a lion attacked by some beast of prey turns easily around and slays him, yet runs roar ing through the forests at the alighton his browny neck of a few insects. You meet some great loss in husiness with comparative composure but you think of petty trickeries inflieted upon you, which arouse all your capacity for wrath, and remain in your heart an unbearable annoyance. If you look back upon your life, you will find that the most of the vexations and disturbances of spirit, which you felt were not worthy of notice. If you want to be happy you must not care for triffes. Do not be too minute in your etion of the treatment you receive m others. Who cares whether Mordecal bows when you pass, or stands TALMAGE'S SERMON, man would not make much clearing in solidly that the great throne on which the forest who should stop to bind up every little bruise and scratch he received in the thicket; nor will that man accomplish much for the world of the church who is too watchful and appreciative of petty annoyances. There are multitudes of people in the world constantly harrowed because they pass their lives not in searching out those things which are attractive and deserving, but in spying out with all their powers of vision to see whether they cannot find a Mordecal.

Again, learn a lesson that pride goeth before a fall. Was any man ever so far up as Haman, who tumbled so far down? Yes, on a smaller scale every day the world sees the same thing. Against their very advantages men trip into destruction. When God humbles proud men, it is usually at the moment of their greatest arrogancy. If there be a man in your community greatly puffed up with worldly success. you have but to stand a little while and ou will see him come down. You say, I wonder that God allows that man to go on riding over others' heads and making great assumptions of power. no wonder about it. Haman has not yet got to the top. Pride is a ommander, well plumed and caparisoned, but it leads forth a dark and frowning host. We have the best of authority for saying that "Pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spir-it before a fall." The arrows from the Almighty's quiver are apt to strike a man when on the wing; Goliath shakes his great spear in defiance, but the small stones from the brook Elah make him stagger and fall like an ox under the butcher's bludgeon. He who is down cannot fall. Vessels scudding under bare poles do not feel the force of the storm, but those with all sails set capsize at the sudden descent of the tem-

Again, this oriental tale reminds us of the fact that wrongs we prepare for others return upon ourselves. The gallows that Haman built for Mordecal became the prime minister's strangulation. Robespierre, who sent so many to the guillotine, had his own head chopped off by the horrid instrument. The evil you practice on others will recoil upon your own pate. , Slanders ome home. Oppressions come home.

You will yet be a lackey walking beside the very charger on which you expected to ride others down. When Charles the First, who had destroyed Strafford, was about to be beheaded, he said, "I basely ratified an unjust sentence, and the similar injustice I am to undergo is a sensible retribution for the punishment I inflicted on an innocent man." Lord Jeffries, after incarcerating many innocent and good people in London Tower, was himself imprisoned in the same place, where the shades of those whom he had mal-treated seemed to haunt him, so that he kept crying to his attendants: "Keep them off, gentlemen, for God's sake, keep them off!" The chickens had come home to roost. . The body of een ruthless and cruel in his decisions. Westminster Abbey and at Tyburn hung on a gallows from morning until night in the presence of jeering multitudes. Haman's gallows came a little but it came Opportunities fiv in they pass from eternity to enternity, not go to sleep or become quiet until but the wrongs we do others fly in a circle, and however the circle may widen out, they are sure to come back to the point from which they started. There are guns that kick!

nan teach us how quickly turns the wheel of fortune. One day, excepting the king. Haman was the mightiest man in Persia; but the next day, alackey. So we go up, and so we come down, You seldom find any man twenin the same circumstance Of those who, in political life twenty food may be taken, but this is not alyears ago, were the most prominent, was desired. The question, What is how few remain in conspicuity! Poitical parties make certain men do their hard work, and then, after using ity as applied to food may be widely them as hacks, turn them out on the commons to die. Every four years there is a complete revolution, and about five thousand men who ought certainly to be the next president are nametury disappointed, while some stricken will ride upon the shoulders of the people, and take their turn at admiration and the spoils of office. Oh. how quickly the wheel turns! Ballot boxes are the steps on which men come down as often as they go up. Of those who were long ago successful in the coumulation of property, how have not met with reverses! while many of those who then were straitin circumstances now hold the bonds and the bank-keys of the nation. Of all fickle things in the world, for-tune is the most fickle. Every day she changes her mind, and woe to the man who puts any confidence in what she when you go up, and she laughs when ment your heart's affections to this changeful world! Anchor your soul in God. From Christ's companionship gather your satisfaction. Then, sorrow or gladness success or defeat. riches or poverty, honor or disgrace, health or sickness, life-or death, time or eternity, all are yours, and ye are Christ's and Christ's is God's. Again this Haman's history shows us that outward possessions and circumstances cannot make a man happy. While yet fully vested in authority and the chief adviser of the Persian monarch, and everything that equipage and wretchedness. There are today more aching sorrows under crowns of royalty than under the ragged caps of the fluence and galety is only misery in Many a woman seated in the street at her apple-stand is happier than the great bankers. The mountains of worldly honor are covered with perpetual snow. Tamerlane conquered half the world, but could not subdue his own fears. Ahab goes to bed, sick, because Naboth will not sell him his vineyard. Herod is in agony because a little child is born in Bethlehem. Great Felix trembles because a poor minister will preach righteousness, temperance and Louis the Twelfthoto Louis the Eightconth was there a straw-bo

In olden time the man who was to receive the honors of knighthood was required to spend the previous night fully armed, and with shield and lanc to walk up and down among the tombs of the dead. Through all the hours of that night his steady step was heard, and, when morning dawned, amid grand parade and the sound of cornets the honors of knighthood were bestowed. Thus it shall be with the good nan's soul in the night before heaven. Fully armed with shield and sword helmet, he shall watch and wait until the darkness fly and the morning reak, and amid the sound of celestial harpings the soul shall take the honors of heaven amid the innumerable throng with robes snowy white streaming over seas of sapphire.

The old notion to which hygienists and many other people have clung so tenaciously for years, that late suppers are harmful, has received a rather violent upset by means of an article published in a foreign paper, and very much quoted throughout the extent of civilized newspaperdom. LESSON XI, JUNE 12 MATT. 27:35-50 CRUCIFIXION.

Text: "Christ Died for Our Sing According to the scriptures"-I Cor. 15:3-Some Lessons from the Death of Our Lord and Savior.

The section includes the crucifixion as recorded in all four Gospels. Light from other Scriptures.

35. "They crucified Him." Jesus was nailed to the cross while it was lying upon the ground, then it was slowly raised with the sufferer upon it. The feet of the sufferer were only a foot or two above the cround and not as represented in most sufferer were only a foot or two above the ground, and not as represented in most pictures. Crucifixion was an unspeakably awful form of death. Cicero, who was well acquainted with it, says: "It was the most cruel and shameful of all punishments. But the most revolting feature of death by crucifixion was that the torture was, deliberately prolonged."

38. "Then there were two thieves" (robbers) "crucified with Him." This was to throw discredit on him, and represent to the multitude that He was executed as "His accusation this is Jesus the King of the Jews." It was written in three languages—in Greek, the language of literature and culture, read in all cultured circles of the world; in Latin, for the Roman soldiers, the language of law and power; in Hebrew, the language of the Jews, the language of religion. It was a prophecy that the language of the cross itself showld be heard everywhere, and include all the others—a language of culture, of power and of religion. Christianity is for the whole world.

35. "Parted His garments, casting lots." The four soldiers on guard divided His garments into pieces among themselves, except His tunic, or undergarment, for which, since it was worn in one piece. "And set up over His head." A white against wolves and like animals, but happily many of our states are now free from pests of that character. The horn is a relic of ages when the cow did not have man for a protector. Man has no use for it. Every few weeks we hear a horrible story of some person being gored to death. What farmer has not seen even mild-tempered cows attack other cows furiously with their horns, sometimes inflicting damage that is not easily remedied? The horn is a use masters to leave in possession of the them to have their cattle deborned. In some cases there is a sentiment abou inflicting pain on the animals, though it is probable that the pain of dehorn human being in having a tooth drawn horns and the pain to the animals of dehorning. Caustic potash, if applied at the proper time, does the work to perfection with little or no pain. The little knob of horn starts at first from a semi-soft material which may be called the matrix, or mother of the take the horns in time to avoid both the horn. Apply potash to this and it be comes impotent. The process is arrested forever and the calf grows up hornless. Such animals are easier handled, and even if they attack one, car do infinitely less damage than can ani-mals on which the horns have been left to grow. Take the horns in time and save trouble.

The New Hampshire experiment station gives the following method of applying the potash: "The hair should be cut away from the young horn as thoroughly as possible so that the potash may come in intimate contact with the parts to be treated. The oily secretion should be removed from the parts to l touched with the potash, by wiping carefully with a rag or sponge mois tened with soap suds, or water containing a little ammonia. Parts not to be touched should not be moistened. The stick of potash is rolled up in a piece The exposed end is dipped in water to ton or embryo horn until the skin be whole of the button and the border of young calves a few days old a surface half an inch or a little more in diameter will cover these parts. Caustic pot well, can be obtained at almost any drug store. When not in use it should be kept in a closely-stoppered vial, one with a rubber stopper preferred, or it ucts. After the calf is two or three days old the sooner the potash is applied the better.

Pasturage for Hogs.

At the recent meeting of the Kenheld at Elizabethtown, Mr. J. L. In fact, it never pays to feed sparingly. Hogs should alway be fed liberally. The stingy feeder and the hog are not very good friends. I lately visited two different breeders one of them had his hogs grass and plenty of grain, and there I saw a splendid lot of youngsters, and the breeding stock, including a 500 pound boar, were as active as kittens. The other breeder had some fanc plenty of bran and shipstuff, but no sign of grass of any kind, and he hardly had a single good individual. What grass has done for Kentucky horses and cattle it will do for her hogs. If you can't furnish pasturage for your hogs, then don't try to raise hogs, for you can't compete successfully with your neighbor, the cheapest and best of all foods.

Dairy Production in France.-Some nteresting statistics were set forth_at a recent meeting of the Society for the Encouragement of the Daify Industry in France. It was stated that ther were in France 5,250,000 milch cows and that they produced 1.716,000,000 gallons of milk annually. Out of this duction 462,000,000 gallons are em ployed in the manufacture of cheese of which 136,000,000 kilogrammes is made, Paris consuming about oneninth of the total production, and England taking some 36,000 cwts., equivalent to a sum of f110,000. Of the butter produced, 450,000 cwt. is an nually shipped to England, representing a value of upwards of £2,330,000.-Exchange.

The Compost Heap.-Without doubt by the owner not having a composi etable manure in a moist state. When grass or leaves or weeds the fertility largely departs. A reporter for The Montter recently more upon which side has the best electricians than upon the question of the biggest ships and heaviest guns. The novel and startling uses to which electricity may be put in the next great naval war," says Mr. Short in the Golden Penny, "are likely to play a decisive part in the struggle. "It is possible that direct verbal communication, without electrical connection, may be established between fort or a flagship and a vessel miles out at sea. A beam of light may be pressed into service to carry the words of the admiral in default of a telephone cable. The same commanding office may equip a harbor or roadstead with an invisible battery of magnets which day I was induced to take them."

Such is the history of one of the most remarkable cases in modern times. In the face of such testimony, can anyone say that Dr. Williams Pink Pills are not entitled to the careful consideration of every sufferer—man, woman or child. Is not the case, in truth, a miracle in modern medicine?

Golden avenue, Los Angeles ,Cal., is an American all through. when trouble arose between this country and Spain he bought two American flags and hung them from the roof of his dwelling. Two husky Spanlards, feeling aggrieved at this exhibition of patriotism, determined that the flags must come down. Accordingly they called at the residence of Citizen Wilcox, characteristically choosing an hour when they knew he was not at home. They were unaware that Mrs. Wilcox was every bit as good an American as her husband. About 2:80 in the afternoon Mrs. Wilcox was called to the door by a big, swarthy looking fellow, who pointed up to the flags and demanded in broken English that they be taken down immediately. She was all alone in the house and there was no help within call, but she resolved not to strike her colors and quickly shut the door in the face of the patriot of Spain, who amused him-self by banging on it. When she opened it again he was very angry and threatening. In her hand she had a tiny nickle-plated bicycle wrench which she pointed suddenly at him like a revolver and told him to be off. He went away surly and growling. She watched down the street until he was joined by another as dark and as big a Spaniard as himself. needs coaxing, not crowding. Dr. Ayer's Pills stand without a rival as a reliable medicine for liver complaint. They cure constipation, and they cure its consequences, piles, biliousness, indigestion, sick headache, nausea, coated tongue, foul breath, bad taste, palpitation, nervousness, irritability, and many other maladies that have their root in constipation. They are a specific for all diseases of the stomach and bowels, and keep the body in a condition of sound health.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and have always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia."—JAMES QUINN, 90 Middle Street, Hartford, Conn.
