25. The gospel message of salvation enforced and filustrated by requested a healing, attracted great multitudes to Jusus. Like the doves that flock in coun enforced and illustrated by minutes of healing, attracted great multitudes to Jesus. Like the doves that flock in countless numbers to St. Mar's Square, in Venice, when the daily feeding time comes, so the people, hungry for spiritual food and distressed with boilty disease, flocked to Jesus for the biessings he so freeding bestowed. They came not only "from Galilec." but from "Decapolis," a region yast and southeast of the Sea of Galilec, so called because it contained ten cities, which the name means. "And from beyond Jordan." Called Perea, east of the Jordan, and beyond it from Galilec and Jerusalem. From Luke 6: 12, we learn that the new epoch in the development of Christ's kingdom was prayer was daily bread, vital air, the gate of heaven, yet there were times when battles were to be fought, great questions to be settled, guidance given, power to be received, when eternal issues depended, on the decisions of the hour; at these seasons Jesus would be a long time alone with his Father, in closest communion, and earnest prayer. In the three chapters which follow Jesus gathers together many of the principles of his kingdom, showing the multitudes what they must be and do if they would enter into the kingdom of God and enjoy the blessedness promised through their Messiah. "1." And seeing the multitudes," described in v. 25 above. "He went up." From the level place on the minutain, a well-known place. "When he was set." This was the custom of the Jewish doctors, who taught sitting in token of their authority.—Jacobus, "His. disciples came, unto him." Washington, D. C .- "When our boy was about 16 months old he broke out with a rash which, was thought to be measles. In a few days he had a swelling on the left side of his neck and it was decided to be mumps. He was given medical attendance for about three weeks when the doctor said it was scrofula and ordered a salve. He wanted to lance the sore, but I would not let him and continued giving him, medicine for about four months when the bunch broke in two places and became a running sore. Three doctors said it was scrofnla and each ordered a blood medicine. A neighbor told me of a case somewhat like our baby's which was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I decided to give it to my boy and in a short while his health improved and his neck healed so nicely that I stopped giving him the medicine. The sore broke out again, however, whereupon I again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and its persistent use has accomplished a com-Mrs. NETTIE CHASE, pdete cure," M 47 K St., N. E.

THE TEST OF LOVE.

Of all, the nebre rivers that go bounding to the sea ione is more splendid than the Columbia. Its pineciad banks give a majestic setting for its silver stream. But why should it be called silver? At times it is the deepest green -deeper and more luminous than the heart of a jewel. There are hours when its cascades have a thousand colors, like mother-of-pearl. There are dawns, after the mist has lifted, when the broad surface of the river above the cascades is actually saffron or burnished gold. Barbara Merriden knew it in every mood, and loved it whether it was somber with storm, or sullen in the harsh autumn days, or scintillant under the July sunshine. She was as much at home upon the river as on the land; and the firm earth, with all its comfort and beauty, could never give her the joy that she felt when the current took her boat in its strong em-

She went to the river in her sorrowful moments as well as in her happy ones. She fled to it as a friend. When George Caxton told her that he of the blessing that had come into her life. She was turning from her beautiful river, humiliated at the inadequacy of her own emotions, when she saw fixed upon the distant glory of the sky a young man whom she had never seen before. He did not see her till she was close by him, and then he looked with a start at the face of the girl, spiritual and exquisite with its deep emotional experience. He stopped and looked at experience.
