LESSON III. OCT. 19: JOSHUA 6:12 20-THE FALL OF JERICHO.

Golden Text-"By Faith The Walls of Jeriche Fell Down"--Hebrews 11:3u of a Miracle.

I. Preparation for taking Possession of the Land.—The Renewal of the Covenant.—Josh. 5: 1-9. The Israelites were now actually in the Promised Land, without the possibility of retreat. It was "victory or death." And victory could come only through divine help, and ever if they could gain possession, it would come only through divine help, and ever if they could gain possession, it would be of little value to them unless, and only so far as, they worshiped sincerely the true God, and were his peculiar people in training to understand and promulgate the true religion. Hence they began their new life in their new home by observing their religious duties, in honor and obedience to God, by whose power slone they could have a prosperous national existence. Religion lay at the foundation of the nation. Bestdes, it made all their welfare and work religious. It was not for themselves chiefly, but for the Cause, the cause of God for all time, that they fought and suffered.

done for us in the past, especially his love in sending his Son, is a source of hope and assurance in all days to come. It is the dawn after darkness, promis ing a bright to-morrow. The fact of God's goodness and power shines like in star through all the clouds that sur round us. We trust in promises that have been tried and proved.

The New Form of Dependence on Ged.

-Jush. 5: 11, 12. At the close of the Pass-over the miraculous manna ceased, and over the miraculous manna ceased, and henceforth the people lived on the fruits which the land itself supplied. The special gift was withheld when their wants could be supplied through the ordinary laws of nature. God gives special helps for special needs; but it is better that our daily support should come through the ordinary channels. Nature's fruits or as a really Chile sett, as miraculous are as really God's gift as miraculous

The Strange Attack.-Vs. 1-16, 20. The pian of the attack was for the people to march around the city once a day for six days, and on the seventh day to march around it seven times, the last time with a long blast of the trumpets and a great shout from all the people, when the walls were to fall flat.
At first sight there is a seeming contradiction between vs. 4, 8, 9, requiring the trumpers to blow each time the peothe trumpets to blow each time the peo-ple went around, and vs. 10. 16. 22, re-quiring the people to be silent till they heard the trumpets blow, and then to shout. Some critics regard this as show-ing that different and contradictory ac-

She laughed at his disgusted frown.

"You are like all the other women of to-day," he remarked. "Even while you stand before the altar, you have the divorce court in clear perspective."

"I am not standing before the altar," she cut in dryly, "and don't expect, to be for one long, sweet while. What is more; the women who are flocking to the divorce court aren't the women of to-day. They are the women of to-day and last year. The sight of the divorce sults are the trumpets as show. "That proves nothing. Breach of promise suits are also brought by women."

"The literary woman shrugged her shoulders.

"Then what about divorce?"

"Just so; better be a dog and sleep on the door-mat, than a divorced woman. But you and I know that there are horribly unhappy married women—lots of them."

No human force was to be used. Nothing but the simple announcement of the truth, and that by the instrumentality of weak and sinful, men, was the means chosen for the destruction of idolatry and the establishment of, the Redeemer's kingdom over the earth. We should never be dismayed at any obstacle or hindrance in the way of God's kingdom; nor at the seeming feeleness of the means to be used.

Old Habit Still Strong.

Hugh McLaughlin, the venerable po litical boss of Brooklyn, was on his way to church last Sunday morning when an engine dashed past on the way to a fire. In the old days Mc-Laughlin was an enthusiastic volunteer fireman and he could not resist the temptation to "run to the fire." He watched the men at their dangerous work, taking no note of time's flight until an acquaintance who knows his habits reminded him that service was nearly over in church. The veteran at once hurried away, for except in case of his serious illness he has not missed going to church on Sunday morning for many years.

IN A COMEDY JAIL.

Prisoners Rarely Attempt to Secure Their Liberty.

Elizabethtown, the county seat of Essex, in the Adirondacks, possesses a comedy jail. It is small, having windows secured by wooden bars, and a jail yard inclosed by a solid fence of three-quarter inch boards which a healthy male could push over with his shoulder. But the prisoners rarely if ever, attempt to escape.

Some good stories are told by residents. It is a custom to allow the prisoners out on parole, so that they may cut the grass on neighboring lawns, do garden work, or repair roads for the village or county. Recently one prisoner who should have returned at 6 o'clock did not apply for admission until nearly an hour later. The warden angrily demanded to know the

"Don't let this occur again or I will not allow you to come in. I lock the door at 6 o clock and won't open it in the future for you."

Another, accused of and awaiting trial for manslaughter, overstaid his parole and pleaded as an excuse that as it was Saturday he thought he would go and spend Sunday with his wife, returning to the jail on Monday

The Cranberry Crop. From reports received from various sources it seems likely that the cranberry crop will be somewhat less than it was last vear. One forecast says that Masachuetts, which last year shipped 240,000 barrels of cranberries, will this year ship only about 190,000. New Jersey, which last year sent out over 100,000 barrels, will this year have but about half that amount to sell. Wisconsin is fortunate in the possession of a crop of about 50,000 barrels, which is 10,000 barrels more than she had last year. It is probable that prices will be good, and that the eaters of turkey and cranberry sauce will pay a high price for their sauce this year, as they have been doing for a number of years. The fact is, the cranberry is yearly growing in favor, the supply hardly keeps pace with that demand. It is not an easy matter to develop new bogs, though opportunities exist on every han Tranterry growing requires a good deal of brain force expenditure and a very great expenditure of muscle.
