

Luther Alward, 35 seconds – I was on a road – between working, we was building a road about halfway between Bath and Laingsburg. And I was riding a team of horses on a wheeler over there, about seventeen years old. Well, just a little before noon we heard a big explosion from somewhere, and we thought it was up ahead of us blowing out stumps in the road, you know. And at noon, when we're sitting there eating dinner, a call came through for – they want help where the Bath house had been blown up.
