The Platform.
The report of the committee on resolutions, which follows is the party platform for the campaign.

Five. We condemn in the most unmistakable terms, the action of the legislature in passing the change of venue law, which makes it possible for a litigious party to make a prescribed affidavit without any investigation.

Six. We believe that laws should be enacted making it a criminal offense for any member of the state legislature, or a state officer, to accept or use free transportation from any railroad or transportation company.

Seven. We denounce the present primary election law as unjust, sham, and pledge ourselves to enact a primary law simple and workable and that will not, in its operation deprive any voter of his franchise.

Eight. Our state government needs readjustment upon the lines of greater economy and better business methods.

Nine. We urge the voters of Michigan to aid aside party prejudices, to elect members of the legislature who are in sympathy with honest primary reform, and the other principles herein enunciated, and to unite with us in electing the state officers nominated at this convention who are pledged to the earnest support of those principles.

An Armored Automobile For Officers in the Field

The automobile has been tried before the latter. It is protected by armor six millimeters thick. In actual warfare, it would be completely covered by an armored hood, and the wheels would be guarded by circular plates of steel armor. In front are two loopholes with shutters for quick-firing rifles. Inside it is fitted with leather pouches containing a small battery of quick-firing pistols for use in case of an attack at close quarters.

BOY A FLY-GATCHER.

But the Young Hunter Has Hard Luck—His Captive Too Thin or Too Booby for Pastorious Bird.

New York—A. D. No. 609 in private life John Matto, aged 14, reported for his manager to be a boy in a rebellious mood.

"Another job like that, and I'm quitting," was his ultimatum. Matto probably will resign anyway in consequence of the jostling of his associates.

The afternoon before the accompanying adventure occurred John was sitting in the dining room of the mid-in the amateur tennis court when the Mercers' waiter, Zig, went the phone.

"Yes," said the manager. "Sure, Matto. An active one. You know, '69, '69," he bawled. "A lady up in Fifth avenue, near one Hundred East Fifty-fourth street, has a young man named Matto."

Matto proceeded with due deliberation and finally arrived. He was greeted by an elderly woman who was the mother of the young man.
