ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY SIX VICTIMS OF BATHING AND BOATING.

RECORDS BROKEN ALL

Waters Are a Greater Menace to Life Than the Deer Hunting Season Despite All Efforts to Reduce Number of Victims.

With the boating and bathing season in Michigan just about half over, the appalling record of 126 already drowned is shown in records of the secretary of state. For the months of May and June all records in the history of the state were broken and July has made a flying start toward surpassing either of the two previous

Despite the fact that May was a fairly cool month—at least the first half—34 lost their lives in the water that month. In June 56 were drowned, according to the department's record, and with July a little more than half gone 36 have been drowned, with additional reports coming in every day.

In the first 10 days of the present month 22 lost their lives in the waters. About half of these went to their deaths on the Fourth.

The state board of health has recognized the waters as a greater menace to life than the deer-hunting sea-son and this year began an active campaign to try and save some of those who fall victims to the annual flarvest of the waters. Cards giving detailed instructions have been dis-tributed throughout the state and tributed throughout the state and practically every summer resort and pleasure spot on the waters has them tacked up in prominent places. Illus-

The failure of Cameron Currie & Co., Detroit brokers, for over a million dollars, seems to have incensed the creditors. There is talk of taking some cases to the prosecutor for insome cases to the prosecutor for investigation. The most feeling was shown by a young business man from Decatur, Mich., who refused however, to give his name. With tears almost standing in his eyes, with the strain under which he was laboring apparent to every observer, he declared that in every observer, he declared that in May he sent Currie & Co. a draft for $5.500 to buy him 100 shares of Mohawk Conner at the there are the there are the there are the strain of the sent currie and the sent currie are the there are the sent currie and the sent currie are the sent curries are the sent curries and the sent curries are the $5.500 to buy him 100 shares of Mohawk Copper at the then quotation of 55, and that he had not since then been able to get the certificate. He said he had been put off with various excuses—error in registry, close of the books, etc. He said Currie & Co. sent him their own check last week for the July dividends and that the check had been thrown out by the De-troit bank on which it was drawn. stock certificates on which they were college, entered upon the practice of law at Salem. Politics also engaged his attention. From 1852 he served eight years as state senator, and perned the duties of circuit judge from 1860 to 1872. He was a membe of the state constitutional convention of 1870. His death took place in 1880 At Salem William Jennings Bryan spent his boyhood on a farm in completely rural surroundings. Taught at home by his mother until he was ten, the lad-attended the public schools until his fifteenth year. After taking a course at Whipple academy, Jack-sonville, he entered Illinois college in 1877, and graduated as valedictorian from that institution in 1881. While in college he took high standing as a student, and was a member of its literary and debating societies. For two years after his graduation he studied law at the Union Law college in Chicago and in law offices. On his admission to the bar he began practice at Jacksonville. In 188' he removed to Lincoln, Neb., and became a member of the law firm of Tal bot & Bryan.

The year 1888 saw the beginning of that year he was a delegate to the Democratic state convention, held at Omaha, and there won a reputation as a public speaker. His ability and services as an orator, displayed in many subsequent addresses on tariff reform and local Democratic issues, led to his nomination for lieutenant governor, but he declined the honor.

Entrance Into Politics.

In 1890 he was nominated for congress by the First district Democrati convention. The platform of that bodied a free silver plank and de mands for free wool, lumber, sugar coal and iron ore on terms similar to of representatives. Mr. Bryan was elected by a plurality of 6,713. Once in Washington he soon made his mark as an orator, a friend of silver, and a radical advocate of self in the conferences of Democratic members by voting for the most radical reductions of duty, for cutting rates on manufactured goods and for inserting the income tax in the tariff

The Spirit-filled life is the Christian's normal condition, and we should be satisfied with nothing less than the best God has for us. In John 7:38, 39. we read: "He that believeth on me, as the Scripture saith, from with "He that believeth on in him shall flow rivers of living water. But this spake he of the Spirit to receive for the Spirit was not vetpecause Jesus was not yet glorified. In chapter 4, verse 14, Jesus tells us that the water he gives becomes "a well of water springing up into ever-lasting life." Now, a well is a founain curbed in. There is no overflow. The life in us is living water, springing up, but not overflowing. The Spirit-filled man, however, is a fountain of blessing to others. overflows its eurb and sends out refreshing and life-giving streams. This takes place only when Jesus Christ is glorified. "The Holy Spirit was not vet because Jesus was not yet glorified," and the Holy Spirit is always not yet when Jesus has not been glori fied. He testifies of Jesus; he takes the things of Christ and shows them unto us. None of those, therefore, who take from Christ the glory of his deity or refuse to enthrone him in their lives need expect the fullness and power of the Holy Spirit. Christ nust be glorified if we would have
