According to Warren's statement to Prosecutor Reese, however, Warden Armstrong, of the Jackson prison, is made, tag spiest as the arch county of Warden Fuller and the lonia prison board of coutrol. Warren declares that Armstrong called him from the prison to the warden's quarters after the latter's arrest on the charge made by Gen. Green and asked him to perjare that he knew of Gen. Green's aliesed attempt to bribe Warden Fuller and the lonia prison board of coutrol.

Warren says he declared 2e knew of no such operations, but that Armstrong insisted on his intimating that he did, saying that he would probably be pardoned if he stuck to the story. Warren also avers that Armstrong compelled him to write out a statement to the effect that such a case of bribery, had occurred, but that he declined to sign it. Asked by the warden who might be able to confirm the statement. Warren says he suggested Miss Mae Adworth, of Baltimore, with whom he was acquainted, and who is said to have declared she would do almost anything to secure a pardon for him. Armstrong afterward located Miss Adworth through the Baltimore police and went to Buffalo on Fébruary 6 ato meet her by appointment at the Mansion house. From there he brought her to his family home at the Jackson prison. The part of the incumbers was the son of Police Indge Jenks, and was confined in the asylum when he was the wasten. She is said to have proved a disappointment to the warden.
