VOL 52

(Entered at Manchester Postoffice as Second Class Mail Matter)

MANCHESTER, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1918

NO. 34

T. M. Joslin of Adrian, county food administrator, has resigned, giving as his reason a lack of co-operation from federal officers. Joslin reported a farmer who is hoarding 5000 bushels of wheat, mention of which was made in The Enterprise and other papers some weeks ago. He claims that no attention has been given to the case.

We know that there are some women and some children who are doing their best in purchasing Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps. Are you?

THE BOND DRIVE

It Will Be Easy to Sell the Bonds If We All Work Together At This Time.

Every American citizen is expected to do something—all he or she can do—to help win the war.

From newspaper reports of what is going on in France all must realize that we have a monstrous task on our hands. But we are a mighty nation and wealthy, too, and if each does his part we will surely win.

At 12 o'clock noon, on Saturday, April 6, the county War Preparedness Committee wish to have every church and school house bell rung, every whistle blown and all noise contrivances in use between 12 and 12:15, noon, of that day, to notify every person of the opening of the 3rd Liberty Loan.

LABOR FOR FARMS IS BIG PROBLEM

Secretary of Agriculture Points Out City's Part in Food Production.

If Soldiers Are Willing to Risk Their Lives Civilians Can Well Afford to Spare Time to Serve in Harvest Field.

CITIZENS MUST HELP OUT

By DAVID F. HOUSTON, Secretary of Agriculture.

Washington.—Some time ago I issued a statement concerning the farm-labor problem. It was pointed out that these will be farm labor difficulties to overcome this year as last and that in certain sections, especially in the neighborhood of large industrial centers, the difficulties will be acute. The lines of effort were indicated along which the departments of agriculture and labor, through representatives in various states co-operating with the agricultural colleges and other agencies, are working to furnish assistance.

out may not appreciate the opportunity to serve in the field of agriculture.

The departments of agriculture and labor will render every possible aid, but each community knows its own problems, and urban people, especially business men, can co-operate effectively with the farmers and also render much assistance.

Red Schoolhouse." The country's greatest statesmen and builders and merchants learned their first lessons in the country schoolhouse under the instruction of the country school teacher. That school teacher can contribute to further America's greatness by speaking for the government at this time and making certain the defeat of a brutal and cynical autocratic power. School

COUNTRY SCHOOL TEACHERS AS BOND SALESMEN.
Little has been said in this third Liberty Loan campaign of the important part the country school teacher can play in making it a success. The country school house is the farmer's forum. It should be the meeting place of the countryside. The school teacher can convert himself or herself into a bond salesman for the government if they so choose. The farmer respects the school teacher. He knows the young woman or the young man, as the case may be, and respects his or her intelligence. The school teachers all realize the importance of concerted action in this matter of providing the government with funds in a great crisis such as this.

Let the school teachers explain to their pupils and to parents the financing of our earlier wars and impress upon them the importance of giving the government whole-hearted support in this, the greatest war the world has ever seen. America's greatness today is due to what is always referred to as "The Little

WHITE GRUB MAY COME

Agricultural College Warns Farmers To Look Out for the June Bugs.

The White Grub, so destructive to crops in 1915, is due to make another call this season, says the M. A. C. This grub, which becomes a Junebug when it grows up, is very likely to be troublesome in portions of Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

The most destructive stage in the life of this insect, which requires three years to complete its life-cycle, comes the year after the eggs have been laid—accounting for the fact that we have this insect destroying crops every three years. The brood of grubs coming this season is a later generation of the ones which did so much damage in 1912 and 1915 to crops in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Corn planted this spring on ground that last year was in sod will be in danger of being partially, or even totally destroyed—wherefore farmers living in infested districts may wish to consider the possibility of the crops. However, ground which was in corn or had a heavy stand of clover last year, will contain, ordinarily, but few grubs. Land which was in wheat or oats last year may contain many grubs this spring, but if clover, which is one of the least susceptible crops, follows, the grubs will scarcely injure it. A rotation of oats, clover and corn has proved very satisfactory in some sections.

Beware of the Colic.

A Sammie writing home from the battlefront in France, exclaimed: "Oh, man! When we get to a town where you get a room! For 15 cents you can sleep on a bed with four feet of mattress and covers. These French people will do anything to make you comfortable. They will give their last morsel to an American soldier. You folks at home should be darn glad the war is on this side of the Atlantic. I see sights here every day that make me glad the United States is only a training ground. The best thing you can do is to grin and bear those food restrictions and observe them to the letter. You may think the pinch cramps, but it's the pinch you now feel which is going to prevent that cramp from becoming a colic."

There has been considerable plowing done by farmers "already."

In the fall of 1878 we needed a wagon to haul wheat. Mr. Smith across early one morning, and riding one horse, led the other to Eugene, ten miles away, and bought a Studebaker wagon from A. W. Fears, the Studebaker agent there.

I well remember his getting home at midnight, for I kept and kept his supper warm for him.

My eldest child, born in June, was three months old.

The old Studebaker is still our favorite wagon. It is in good condition.

Guess we can find a few men around here who are now using Studebaker farm wagons that were being used before they were born.

Just remember that Studebaker has been building wagons for over sixty years and during all that time their one effort has been to build not the cheapest, but the best—that is the reason they are the largest wagon builders in the world.

Every good feature that a wagon should have is in the Studebaker. Come in and let us show you.

These elbow sleeves in separate white cases, with Dutch necks, no collars, and separate skirts. That is an ugly day in costumery. Let us see that it will not be revived, although there is every evidence that seeds of this evil have already been sown.

These short sleeves, which were in the Directory with every kind of trim and which were practically made by rare old cashmere shawls, are the only short ones that this has produced. We are evidently in a reign of abbreviated arm co-ordination for which has been known from all the centuries.

The Surprise Movement Wins.

Change in the direction of fashion across the body has been made in French, and to follow it will require ingenious alterations on the part of the American woman. Evidently it is an idea that the fewer the buttons the better the frock. We have back to the time when strings of fabrics together and the cloth was in such a way that it was possible to put the whole thing into the garment that the more we wrap across the body the better dressed we are today.

This movement of fabric finds its best commonplace exploitation in the

THE ACCUSATION. (vv. 1-5). The growing hatred of the Pharisees, led them to make long journeys from Jerusalem that they might spy on Jesus and find a pretext for accusation. While they were studying him, they revealed their ideas of the kingdom of God. They took special notice that the disciples of Jesus ate without washing their hands. We must not understand this to mean so much the removal of defilement, as the neglect of a ceremonial observance over which the Pharisees were punctilious, (vv. 3, 4). Verses three and four illuminate certain traditions to which the Jews adhered tenaciously. Thus exemplified we can see that their ideas of man's relation to God were largely a matter of external ceremony. Purity to them was an outward matter largely concerned by the traditions of men.

The 16,000 boys and girls who were members of gardening, crop and livestock clubs in Michigan during 1917 have liberally repaid the state for the investment that was made in them. The work of organizing the boys and girls into clubs and interesting them in agricultural and home enterprises cost the state only 63 cents per youngster, but each club member who reported added an average of $22.70 worth of food-stuffs to the national supply. According to reports filed with the agricultural college, the number of boys and girls who are now enrolled in these clubs is more than 30,000. We hope that some of our boys and girls are among the number.
