LOOK WELL TO CROP

"Follow Rules" Is Warning From Experts to Wheat Growers Fighting Smut.

A word of caution is being circulated by the Michigan Agricultural College among the farmers who this fall are preparing to fight "stinking smut of wheat," a disease which annually destroys a considerable part of the state's grain crop. This word is that while formaldehyde has been found thoroughly reliable and trustworthy as a preventive of smut, it must be applied to the seed with care and exactly as the rules say.

This suggestion is being made to the farmers for the reason that last fall a number of growers reported that their seed wheat was damaged during its treatment with formaldehyde. Investigation by the experiment station of several of the complaints led to the discovery that in almost every instance the trouble arose through some error—either too much chemical was applied, the grain was kept covered too long, or it was not properly aired. If the rules are followed carefully, however, the seed can be treated with perfect safety either by the wet or dry method, the station declares. In the light of this fact, every grower of grain is being urged to safeguard his wheat by treating it before planting.

Information on how the formaldehyde should be applied can be had by farmers either by making inquiry of H. S. Osler, local county agricultural agent, or by writing to the Department of Botany, Michigan Agricultural College, and asking for "Extension Bulletin No. 16, on 'Control of Stinking Smut of Wheat.'"

EXPERTS URGE BETTER RAMS

Sheep Raising Industry Can Be Improved by Introduction of Purer Blood.

An appeal to owners of sheep in Michigan to improve their flocks by employing a higher class of sires is being made this season by the Michigan Agricultural College.

There are several good breeds adapted to Michigan. The black-faced, medium-wool breeds such as the Hampshire, Oxford and Shropshire are the most popular for small farm flocks. For larger flocks the fine-wools such as Rambouillets and Merinos are best, if the ewe lambs are to be saved for breeders because of their fine fleeces and long lives.

But to produce the best lambs, and when planning to market all the lambs in the fall, it is best to use a good mutton ram on large flocks as well. By all means use a purebred ram of the breed you are starting with—in other words avoid the fault of continually changing breeds. Select a sire that is active and vigorous, straight and strong in legs and body, and with a full and even development of all parts. He should also have a dense even fleece of fair length and fineness for the breed. Secure a ram at once if you have not already done so, for they are likely to be scarce and hard to find late in the season.

One needs only to count the autos that pass a given point on Sunday to make something of an estimate of the amount of gasoline consumed by them in that day. Then when he realizes that the same thing may be done in every village and city in the United States he may conclude that if these autos were idle just that one day the gasoline saved would be sufficient to send more than a thousand air warships across the German lines to bomb and destroy the enemy's camps, troops and railroad trains. We can well afford to cease pleasure driving for a few Sundays at least, then there will be gasoline enough so we can resume our pleasure.

If Spain declares war against Germany it will be a wonderful help to the allies. Spain's influence in all South America is very great.

A BOX FROM HOME

Food savings of millions of Americans during our first year of war enabled this government to send enormous food shipments abroad for our fighting forces and the Allied nations. Our savings in cereals—out of a short crop—amounted to 154,900,000 bushels; all of which was shipped to Europe. We increased our meat and fat shipments 844,600,000 pounds. This was America's "box from home" to our army abroad and the civilians and military forces of the Allied nations.

OUR SAVED FOOD FED THE ALLIES

Food Administrator Writes President America Conserved 141,000,000 Bushels of Wheat.

Meat and Fat Shipments Increased by 844,600,000 Pounds.

Conservation measures applied by the American people enabled the United States to ship to the Allied Peoples and to our own forces overseas, 141,000,000 bushels of wheat and 844,600,000 pounds of meat during the past year, valued in all at $1,400,000,000. This was accomplished in the face of a serious food shortage in this country, bespeaking the wholeheartedness and patriotism with which the American people have met the food crisis abroad.

Food Administrator Hoover, in a letter to President Wilson, explains how the situation was met. The voluntary conservation program fostered by the Food Administration enabled the piling up of the millions of bushels of wheat during 1917-18 and the shipment of meat during 1917-18.

The total value of all food shipments to Allied destinations amounted to $1,400,000,000, all this food being bought through or in collaboration with the Food Administration. These figures are all based on official reports and represent food exports for the harvest year that closed June 30, 1918.

The shipments of meats and fats, (including meat products, dairy products, vegetable oils, etc.) to Allied destinations were as follows:

Fiscal year 1916-17.....	2,166,500,000 lbs.
Fiscal year 1917-18.....	3,011,100,000 lbs.
Increase.....	844,600,000 lbs.

Our slaughterable animals at the beginning of the last fiscal year were not appreciably larger than the year before and particularly in hogs; they were probably less. The increase in shipments is due to conservation and the extra weight of animals added by our farmers.

The full effect of these efforts began to bear their best results in the last half of the fiscal year, when the exports to the Allies were 2,133,100,000 pounds, as against 1,266,500,000 pounds in the same period of the year before. This compares with an average of 501,000,000 pounds of total exports for the same half years in the three-year pre-war period.

SHARE OUR SUGAR WITH THE ALLIES

British Get Two Pounds a Month. French Pound and Half, Italians One Pound.

GERMAN SUPPLY PLENTIFUL

All Nations Permit Use of Sweetening for Home Preserving Purposes.

America's new sugar ration of two pounds a month per person is equitable when compared with the sugar ration enforced by rigid governmental order in England, France and Italy, nations with which we are sharing sugar.

Each Allied nation—in the matter of sugar consumption—is sharing on near-est possible equal terms the hardships imposed by greatly altered conditions in the world sugar situation.

Formerly classed as a luxury, sugar is now a war time essential. The fair and just division of this essential in the hands of the various Allied food controllers.

The United States Food Administration has asked this nation to observe a voluntary sugar ration of two pounds per person a month.

In the other countries at war with Germany sugar is one of the scarce articles on every menu—whether in the households of both rich and poor, or in the hotels.

England today has a sugar ration of two pounds per month per person. In France the ration is a pound and a half and in Italy it is one pound a month. And the prices in allied countries are from two to three times as high as in America.

If you go to a hotel in England or France these days and order tea or coffee they serve absolutely no sugar with it. If you want sugar you must bring it with you.

KEPT TAX-GATHERER BUSY

Imposts Were Levied on Almost Everything in England a Century and a Half Ago.

It is interesting to note that the entertainment tax of the present day was anticipated over 150 years ago by the inventive genius who proposed that all places of public diversion including playhouses, operas, masquerades, Ranelagh, Vauxhall, Sadler's Wells and Astley's—the famous resorts of the fair and the fashionable of his day—should be taxed, says London Tit-Bits.

Another proposal was that the very statues in the garden—and the lakes and the groves, the grottoes and the temples of those days were thick set with statues of health and gods and goddesses—should have price put upon their heads.

Time was when taxes were put on the watches attached to the seals that dangled from the fobs of the beaux of the belles. Those who owned ed clocks were also regarded as subjects for special taxation.

The "guinea-pig" tax—the tax on the household head to pay for every son in his household who wore a pig tail and covered his hair with powder—had its day and passed away. So had a tax on soap—the impost on "Old Soapstuds"—and a tax on salt.

While these high prices are being paid abroad the American wholesale price is being held at 7 1/2 cents.

WHO MUST REGISTER

There Are Chances for Exemption Even if a Man Is Within the Draft Age.

All male persons must register who shall have attained their eighteenth birthday and shall not have attained their 46th birthday on or before the day set by the president for registration. The only exceptions are:

Persons who prior to the day set for registration by the president, have registered either under the terms of the Act approved May 18, 1917, or under the terms of the public resolution of Congress approved May 20, 1918, whether called for service or not.

Officers and enlisted men of the regular army, officers appointed, and men of the forces drafted, under the provisions of the Act approved May 18, 1917, officers and enlisted men of the National Guard while in the service of the United States; and the officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps and enlisted men in the Enlisted Reserve Corps while in the service of the United States.

Officers and enlisted men of the navy and marine corps and officers and enlisted and enrolled men of the Naval Reserve Force and Marine Corps Reserve while in the service of the United States.

REGISTER NEXT THURSDAY.

Thursday, Sept. 12, was set aside by President Wilson as the date for registration of the army draft of all men in the United States between the ages of 18 and 45, inclusive, and who have not already registered or who are not now in the military or naval service.

In a proclamation issued immediately after he signed the new manpower bill authorizing extension of the 21-31 draft ages, the president called on the younger and older men to enroll on that day with local draft boards where they make their permanent homes.

At least 13,000,000 will place themselves subject to call for war service under the new registration.

There is a lot of difference between thrift and parsimony. Conservation does not mean patched clothes, niggardiness in diet and curtailment of all expenditures to the absolutely indispensable necessities.

Thrift is essential, but not in the personal, penny-pinching way that many persons mistake for thrift. In war times, as always, we need amusement, the broadening that comes with educational advantages, and some things that, because they are not necessary to life, are commonly called luxuries.

Real conservation lies in the way of elimination of waste, the correction of uneconomic habits and a thorough investigation of costs.

It is not so much doing without things we have been accustomed to having that counts, as it is living so efficiently that we will not have to do without them.

False thriftness—merely curtailing of expenditures—saves nothing in the end. It merely disturbs the producing and distributing industries of the country at a time when they are, at best, passing through an unprecedented crisis.

Postponed expenditures usually cost more in the end. Living efficiently, cutting down waste, saving what was formerly spent without a fair return—that is real thrift.

The conservation of wheat must continue in the United States in order that the army and civilian population of Europe may be supplied. All allied countries are doing the same. If there was a sufficient number of ships available to bring wheat from Australia and South America there would be no need of our depriving ourselves of whole-wheat bread, etc., because there are great stores of wheat there. But vessels are needed to transport troops, equipment, munitions and food and there is not enough of them to do this and bring the wheat from Australia.

The saving of gasoline is no doubt necessary and American people are patriotic enough to comply with the request, but some of us who work all the week and have no time except Sundays to take a little recreation, feel that the request imposes an unnecessary hardship upon us. There should be some way of giving us the opportunity of using our pleasure cars an equal amount with others.

What The Packers Do For You

Not very many years ago in the history of the world, the man that lived in America had to hunt for his food, or go without.

Now he sits down at a table and decides what he wants to eat; or his wife calls up the market and has it sent home for him. And what he gets is incomparably better.

Everyone of us has some part in the vast human machine, called society, that makes all this convenient possible.

The packer's part is to prepare meat and get it to every part of the country sweet and fresh—to obtain it from the stock raiser, to dress it, cool it, ship it many miles in special refrigerator cars, keep it cool at distributing points, and get it into the consumer's hands—your hands—through retailers, all within about two weeks.

For this service—so perfect and effective that you are scarcely aware that anything is being done for you—you pay the packers an average profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound above actual cost on every pound of meat you eat.

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS

Stupendous Amounts Are Needed to Pay for War and Materials, So Our Old-Time Extravagance Must Be Dropped.

BY JOHN PALMER GAVITT.

One of the good results that will accrue to the American people from their participation in the war is a better understanding of the purpose and function of money.

The Liberty Bond campaigns furnish organized for reminding ourselves of the organized capacity that is to be used in the war.

Money is conducting for us. Money is nothing in itself—just paper and metal. It is useless unless somebody else will accept it in exchange for something he has or can do.

Money is useful only in so far as it is used to buy things which we need. Money is useful only in so far as it is used to buy things which we need.

A very pleasant farewell party in form of a surprise was given at the home of Webb, Tuesday evening, August 27th, in honor of George Wagoner who left for Camp Custer the following Wednesday. The evening was spent in games and in music after which dainty refreshments were served. Before departing the guests presented Mr. Wagoner with a lovely visit watch.

Look What's Coming. The Ann Arbor Concert series has just announced an unusually attractive list of artists for the coming year. Enrico Caruso, the great Italian tenor, will open the course Saturday evening, Oct. 19. His Auditorium has been the scene of many brilliant musical entertainments, but Caruso's coming is expected to eclipse all previous attractions. The fact that the concert occurs on the evening of the day of the annual Michigan M. C. football game is of special interest to friends and alumni of the two great state institutions who will have opportunity of witness- ing the event.

FREEDOM

About 60 neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davenport Tuesday evening, August 27, to show their respect and express their best wishes for their son Ray Davenport, who on Thursday was to go to Camp Custer with other Washtenaw county boys and will probably in due time join in the fight in France to free the world from the atrocious Hun rule. It was a jolly company and they sang and conversed patriotically and listened to interesting talks by Rev. Horne and Frank Koebbe. Then to prove how united they were, all sat down to a supper such as the good women of Freedom know so well how to provide. Ray is one of our popular young men and wherever he may go he will carry with him the love and esteem of the entire community.

RED CROSS NOTES

New members this week: Mrs. M. I. Kirk and Floyd Uphaus. Renewals: Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Root.

The Red Cross have received part of their quota of work for this month, among it being 30 morning jackets for women and 50 flannel shirts for children.

The Red Cross outfitted during the past week Walter Frey and Floyd Uphaus; the former having enlisted in the navy and the latter being in the draft.

Would it need more convincing proof that prohibition is right than the facts told by the Hancock Evening Journal, in which it says that members of the police force as well as justices of the peace in Hancock, the only city in the copper country, report that no single arrest has been made during the past three months, since the state went dry. With no tram, no loafers and no need of a city jail and the unique record which this city of 10,000 people now enjoys will probably extend into years instead of months. In the face of this, labor unions are protesting against war-time prohibition.

It is hard to decide when a dog bounds up in front of your auto, barking and snarling, whether he is angry at your car or just trying to find out if you can exceed his speed limit.

We would almost be willing to take of our hat to the chicken that neglects to scamper across the road in the opposite direction from which it was going when it sees your auto coming.
