Pig farrowing operation gets Winsor Board approval

A half-million-dollar pig farrowing operation got its building permit last Tuesday, following an hour of sometimes heated discussion between Winsor Township residents and the Township Board.

Pigs-R-Us, Inc., will be built on a five-acre parcel of land on the east side of Caseville Road, between Broderick and Haist Roads south of Pigeon, according to several of the dozen partners. A pig farrowing facility oversees the birth of baby pigs, raising them to the weight of about 40 pounds, at nine weeks of age.

Partners in Pigs-R-Us, Inc., include Gerald Elenbaum, Vernon Kretzschmer, Marlin Rathje, John Kohr, James and Kenneth McBride, Ed Oeschger, Bob Bloomer, Burt Keefer, Dave Kretzschmer, Clare Swartzendruber and Dave Armbruster, all of the Pigeon, Owendale and Bay Port area.

"For greatest efficiency, we want to control them from birth through to market time," one member said of the pigs involved. "We believe the long-range future in hogs is optimistic and strong."

Construction of two buildings on the five-acre parcel should begin in the next few weeks, with the operation beginning by fall. The owners will be feeding the hogs to market weight on their own facilities, members said Monday.

The buildings involved are 168-feet by 40-feet and 216-feet by 40-feet, for 15,360 square feet in all. There are no plans at this time for more buildings or a "pig factory," as has been rumored. The facility expects to have 350 sows producing pigs year-round in a controlled environment.

"It's similar to West Huron Farrowing (a four-year-old operation with 600 sows on Owendale - Sebewaing Road, between Sebewaing and Owendale) and Man-Gen-Co (a seven-year-old company with nearly 500 sows on Geiger Road near Bay Port)," one partner said this week. "We've talked with many local farmers who agree there's a future in hogs."

The biggest objection to the Pigs-R-Us corporation at last Tuesday's Winsor Township Board meeting was use and disposal of the manure to be generated. Pigs-R-Us plans to "knife" the manure into the ground on partners' farm land, rather than merely spreading manure on nearby lands, to reduce manure odor. The Caseville Road site was chosen because of its central location among the partners who plan to use the manure for knifed-in fertilizer.

"To be successful, farrowing must be efficient, putting the effort under one management," a partner said. "Some people view this as a pig industry or factory. We're not against the family farm, but this will provide labor for young family members, instead of buying land. There's only so much land to buy (to farm)." Bob Bloomer, now West Huron Farrowing's manager, will also oversee the new Pigs-R-Us facility.

At Tuesday's meeting, neighbors of the new facility delayed building permit approval until all sides had been heard by the Winsor Board. The Board approved the permit 2-0, as Township Board members Ray Lutz and Clare Dast voted in favor. Members Marlin Rathje and John Kohr -- both Pigs-R-Us partners -- abstained.

Several of the 20 persons in attendance said the facility is a factory, not a farm. "We're farm residential people," said neighbor Otto Voelker, who runs a livestock operation nearby. He and his supporters had circulated a petition with signatures from residents within four square miles of the proposed plant, stating objections.

"Our cattle are 175 feet away from the house. This (Pigs-R-Us) is a different set-up and it should be zoned differently," Voelker said.

Another neighbor, Don Voelker, said he feels sorry for the four or five homes near the planned complex, because of the manure odor. Trustee John Kohr said, "I don't think it will be that offensive, compared with what people in that area are used to smelling."

Some of the neighbors said they favor such an operation, but would rather see it built elsewhere. Trustee Marlin Rathje said Pigs-R-Us is nearby to "four or five stockholders who can haul the manure a short distance. The building itself doesn't smell. At 500 feet away, you're not going to be bothering many people," Rathje said. Kohr said he expects manure removal to take three or four days two times each year. That would be the smelliest time, he admitted.

Township Board members said rejection of this kind of project "would curtail agricultural growth in Winsor Township. Turning this down could stop all future ag growth, and that's not in the area's best interest," one Board member said.

So, noting the building request conforms with all rules and regulations of Winsor Township, the Board voted in favor of Pigs-R-Us.

Winsor Township Board members heard much discussion about Pigs-R-Us last week.

Elkton man recalls WWI 'Polar Bear' Days

Ninety-year-old Ed Miller of Elkton is one of the few surviving members of the 339th Infantry Regiment who fought the cold as well as the Bolsheviks in northern Russia during World War I. The outfit, comprised of soldiers drafted primarily from Detroit and surrounding areas in Michigan, nicknamed themselves the "Polar Bears," due to the frigid climate where they served their tour of duty. Temperatures as low as 50° below zero were recorded there during the war.

Ed Miller was decked out in full uniform when this photo was snapped in the early 1900s.

Miller was drafted in 1917 and served about 10 months in the region of Russia near the Arctic Circle. The severe cold forced the soldiers to dress in fleeced coats and layers of clothing.

"I normally wear a size eight shoe, but there I had to wear size 10 because it was filled with extra socks," said Miller.

He said that he bunked mostly in schoolhouses that were not used for classes during the war. Tents were used also when the weather permitted, Miller added.

A characteristic of the northern region that Miller noted was the variation of the length of daylight hours during the different seasons.

"During the summer, the days were very long, but during the winter it seemed like it was dark all the time," said Miller.

Although he didn't want to go to war, the former "Polar Bear" said, "We were there and did what we were told to do."

The Polar Bears began meeting following their return from the war and Miller says that he attended some of the earlier reunions. The distance involved in a trip of that distance in the early 1900's and the passage of time contributed to his absence from later reunions, including a recent get-together that has been called the last one. A spokesman said that the group just didn't have enough members left to conduct meetings in the future.

If most of the other members of this select group are as quiet and unassuming today as Miller, this may be the last we hear of the Polar Bears.

Inspector Gordo's Minute Mystery

THE CASE OF THE Racketeer's death

"The life policy on Bugsy Gurk, the labor racketeer, has a no murder clause," said John, the insurance investigator. "You mean that if it turns out someone killed him, your company won't have to pay a cent?" asked Gordo.

"Correct," acknowledged John. "That's why I need your help. I can only suspect murder. Here are the few facts I have."

"Gurk died on the train to Cincinnati. He had inhaled heavily in the club car until midnight. Then, helped by a waiter, he staggered to his berth, a lower in car 416, and lay down without undressing. In a drunken stupor, he accidentally asphyxiated himself by burying his head in the pillow -- or so it would seem."

"When he was found in the morning," continued John, "his mouth and nose were clear of the pillow. It is thought he rolled when the train made a jolting halt about 2 a.m."

"A conductor had stopped the train -- pulled the emergency cord -- because he saw a man jumping off the last car. The man could have been Gurk's killer. Come into the next room, doctor. You'll see everything taken from Gurk's berth."

Gordo viewed the articles piled on a square table. Besides the sheets, blankets and a pillow belonging to the Pullman company, there was a mound of Gurk's clothes. Also the contents of his overnight bag. Among the latter were a pair of white pajamas, bedroom slippers and a yellow bathrobe.

"One article proves it," corrected Gordo. "What was the article?"

Bach-Kilmanagh students stage talent show

Students at Bach-Kilmanagh Lutheran School recently staged a talent show at the Unionville-

Sebawaing Middle School gym for an audience of over 150 people. A variety of acts and performances, complete with sets and costumes, entertained the spectators.

The show included plays, short skits, a piano solo and humorous dialogues.

Bechlers take Broasted Chicken 'on the road'!

Roland Bechler and his wife, Phyllis, of Pigeon, have been involved with serving Broasted Chicken in the Thumb area for the past 13 years, but he recently pioneered an idea that will enable him to serve the "featured fowl" all over Michigan.

The Bechlers' success during the last eight years at the Huron Community Fair prompted him to design and assemble a concession trailer which can be taken to fairs and festivals throughout the state.

The self-contained mobile unit is possible because of an innovation Bechler developed which marinates, dries and breads the chicken, eliminating 75 percent of the labor involved in preparing the meat for broasting. Bechler has applied for a patent on the machine, which he designed while operating the Lamplighter Restaurant.

The Bechlers say that they know of no other such self-contained Broasted Chicken concession trailers in operation throughout the Midwest. Inquiries have been received from individuals from Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts about the trailer, adds Bechler.

In January the Bechlers were accompanied by Roland's brother, Clare and his wife, Donna to attend the Michigan Fair and Exposition Convention in Dearborn.

Roland presented his idea at the convention and received such a favorable response that the Bechlers' summer schedule was entirely filled and many other fair boards expressed a desire for a reservation. Their response motivated Clare to build an identical unit.

Clare and Donna will be assisted by their sons Bill and his wife Debbie of Perryton, Tex. and Kevin and Kurt in the family business called Expo Enterprises. They will be breaking in the new concession unit at the Elkton Strawberry Festival weekend.

Roland and Phyllis will be joined by their son Philip, and employee Phil McArdle to operate their business under the name of P & R Enterprises. Their first destination is the Warren City Fair on the summer circuit.

The Bechlers plan to give local folks a chance to try their tasty foods, at a public open house this Friday and Saturday at the Pigeon Village parking lot, near the Village Hall. Free samples will be provided those days.

Memorial Service is Sunday for Pigeon's Harry Klinger

A Memorial Service in memory of Harry Klinger has been set for this Sunday, June 19 at Shetler-Bussema Funeral Home, Pigeon.

The 2 p.m. service will be led by Rev. Luke Yoder of Pigeon River Mennonite Church, according to family members making arrangements.

This is an opportunity for people to pay their respects to the memory and family members of the late Mr. Klinger, who died in Florida Jan. 10 at the age of 80.

He had spent more than 50 years working at the former Pigeon Progress, was a charter member of the Pigeon Lions Club, co-founder of Thumb Publications, Inc., of Pigeon (parent company of The Progress-Advance) and was a long-time local sports booster.

He was cremated following his death, but his ashes have been returned to Pigeon by his cousin, Wes Klinger.

OBSERVATIONS BY THE PUBLISHER AND OTHERS

GOODBYE TO A SPECIAL MAN -- Pigeon and the Thumb Area lost one of its true boosters and original thinkers, when Al MacKenzie succumbed suddenly. Al built a successful company based on a unique specialty. His 12-year-old firm converted trucks to crew cab vehicles by lengthening the frame, adding another seat behind the normal seat and making this vehicle for companies all over the nation.

Al's creative genius, quiet sense of humor and good business sense will be greatly missed in our area. Al MacKenzie was one of a kind.

GENERAL THOUGHTS -- Have you tried any of the aspartame products yet? That's the sugar substitute made from natural (?) ingredients. It's also sold under the name NutraSweet.

There's a sugar-free brand of Kool-Aid now being made with aspartame -- and it's very good. It's expensive, but compares very well in taste to sugar. We're planning to drink it instead of carbonated pops.

Have you bought yours yet? Denny Esch in Elkton will try to sell you a Strawberry Festival button, Fred Santos in Elkton will try to sell you a raffle ticket for the Ackerman Park improvements, Walt Forster will try to sell you a Carpenter - Dorsch VFW Post drawing ticket and Ralph Limberger or Erv Haley in Pigeon will try to sell you a Farmers' Festival button. There are other drawings and fun going on, too.

Hey, come 'on -- it's only a dollar or two. Give it a try. You might win something big!

Were we forgotten? The Progress-Advance has always gotten a big box of Michigan maps to be distributed free, when they're hot off the press. We've had word now for about a month that the new "1983 Official Transportation Map of Michigan" has been available -- but we haven't gotten any yet. The Mackinac Bridge is featured on the cover, and three million maps will be given away. But apparently none here!

Has ANYBODY seen the new version? We've had several requests for it already!

Speaking of The Progress-Advance, we're now an outgoing stop for United Parcel Service. Anyone who has UPS packages for shipping (50-pound limit, please) should bring them to our office at Packages received after that time will be shipped the next day -- usually no longer than three days anywhere in the U.S. It's just another service of your news, advertising, promotion, printing and mailing center -- The Progress-Advance!

And speaking of maps (a subject or two ago...), the Michigan Travel Bureau has a beautiful 92-page full color book to sell Michigan as a vacation destination. Our Thumb Area is fairly well represented in this beautiful book, with fishing, tourism and other highlights included.

You can get a copy by writing the Department of Commerce's Travel Bureau, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, 48909.

Many members of the State Bar of Michigan have voted to ask the Michigan Supreme Court to allow TV cameras, still (newspaper) cameras and electronic recording equipment into appellate courtrooms immediately.

The 150-member Representative Assembly also asked for a one-year experiment for camera and microphone access in Michigan trial courts with the permission of the trial judge and consent of all parties and, in criminal cases, the complaining witness.

If you've ever watched such proceedings on TV newscasts from other states, you'll see how fascinating they are. Hope the Supreme Court says "Yes" to Michigan citizens.

WISH I'D SAID THAT -- Life is tragic for the person who has plenty to live on -- but nothing to live for!

Elkton Park drawing for restrooms!

In these hard times, can people work together for others, with no monetary gain to themselves?

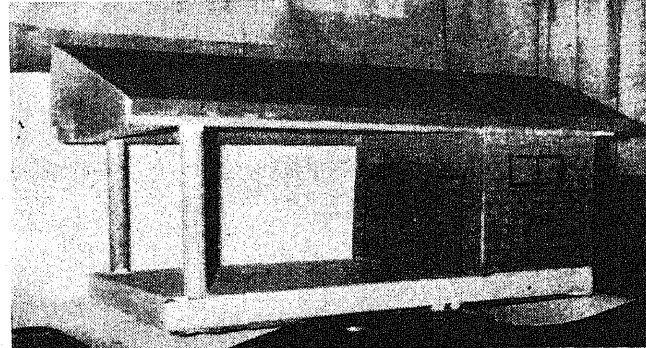

Alfredo Santos of Elkton believes the answer is yes, as proved at Elkton's Village Council meeting last week, when the Village Parks and Recreation Committee backed construction of a restroom enclosure for the north end of Ackerman Memorial Park.

The Village gave approval to the new building, which will be placed between the tennis courts and new ball diamonds at the north end of Ackerman Park. Total cost is expected to be $6000 for materials, plus all labor will be donated, Santos says. He is a member of the Elkton Village Council.

"The Village of Elkton offers to the community and its people Ackerman Memorial Park, which is one of the finest in the county. But because of its large size, it needs more bathroom facilities."

And because of economic conditions, the Village can't afford to build it out of general funds at this time," Santos said. So the call went out to area clubs -- and the Elkton Lions Club, Rotary Club, Carpenter-Dorsch VFW Post, Jaycees and Jayettes and Club 59 all pitched in. Oliver Township has pitched in $1000 because it believes in the project, he said.

About $2500 has been pledged to the project -- but more help is needed, Santos

Fred Santos, Sr., has built this scale model of the restroom building he's coordinating for Ackerman Memorial Park.

"We really appreciate the donations so far. From the start, the response has been 'go for it,'" Santos said.

So the various club members are all selling drawing tickets for a July 4 raffle, featuring a 13-inch color TV, AM-FM table radio as prizes. "We hope to sell all the tickets," Santos said.

Planned are an covered shelter for year-round use, men's and women's restrooms and a small equipment storage room for ball field or ice skating rink supplies. Santos has been seeking such a building for nearly three years ago. He hopes construction will be completed by Oct. 15, as coordinated by the Elkton DPW crew of Walt Forster.

Santos and fellow Village Council Parks & Rec Committee members Dave Fisher and Barbara Thompson have established a planning committee of two members each from the clubs and groups who have thus far donated. The prizes are shown in the Ginter Electric front window and tickets or more information are available from Village Clerk Darlene Ginter.

"We appreciate everyone's help thus far," Santos said. "The clubs and many local citizens have really done a lot, and we're looking for large and small donations from any interested people."

Clabuesch wins board post

Jim Clabuesch

Newcomer James Clabuesch of Pigeon was the top vote-getter in Monday's Annual School Election, earning a four-year seat on the Elkton - Pigeon - Bay Port School District Board of Education.

Clabuesch outdistanced incumbent Virginia Leipprandt of Pigeon, who gained the second four-year seat up for election, and newcomer Lavern Chiotti of Elkton. Clabuesch's 560 vote total and Leipprandt's 422 were of 817 ballots cast. Chiotti gathered 368 votes in third place.

Precinct by precinct, Clabuesch had 44 in Bay Port, 291 in Pigeon and 225 in Elkton for his 560 total. Leipprandt had 37 in Bay Port, 221 in Pigeon and 164 in Elkton, for her 422 votes. Chiotti gathered 37 in Bay Port, 127 in Pigeon and 204 in Elkton, for his 368 figure.

"This is a victory for boys and girls," said Laker Supt. Harry Brunet, following approval of a one-mill renewal request, 458 yes to 356 no. Three votes were spoiled.

By precinct, the three-year renewal passed 44-27 in Bay Port, 226 to 127 in Pigeon, but lost 188 yes to 202 no in Elkton. "I'm very pleased," Brunet said. "We will be able to continue our efficient, quality educational programs." About 22% of the 3700 Laker voters cast ballots.

In the Caseville School District, about 4% of registered voters went to the polls Monday. Incumbent Board of Education members Jacqueline Miller and Frederick Fortsch were unopposed and were re-elected. Miller had 55 votes to 54 for Fortsch.

Three write-in votes were received, for Mike Power, Dorothy Dufty and Mary K. Quinn. One ballot was spoiled at Caseville. Sixty of 1418 voters went to the polls.

Owen-Gage voters approved a 10-year renewal of 6.5 mills 238 to 130, in balloting Monday. Pat Goslin won the lone school board seat, earning 322 votes as he was unopposed, for a three-year term. A total of 28% of Owen-Gage's voters cast ballots.

PIGEON SUMMER RECREATION Update

The Summer Recreation Program for youngsters in the Village of Pigeon will begin this Monday, June 20 from 1 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday each week until Aug. 12.

The program is open to all area youths from age six through 14. Parents are asked to supply transportation to and from the recreation area each day. Any parent who would be interested in chaperoning the program for at least one day is asked to call the Village Hall at 453-2733 and leave a name for a return call.

No recreation programs are planned for the July 4 holiday or during Farmers' Festival on July 27, 28 and 29.

New foods for a new you!

We've all heard and seen all the fascinating new menu items available in food stores and restaurants, aimed at the "new you." They're geared for today's thinner, more lively and super weight-conscious citizens. The recent National Restaurant Association's Hotel-Motel Show at Chicago proved that new technology is always ready to help dieters find happiness.

Here are several examples of new exhibits which had this recurring theme: people want foods that are low in calories, fat and sodium, and have no preservatives. Highlights include:

■ Roll-a-fryer. This machine cooks french fried potatoes without oil, greatly reducing their fat and cholesterol content. They're being called "Perrier for the lunch bunch," after the expensive bottled water available many places. Roll-a-fryer fries are cooked in hot air, much like the action of a convection oven.

■ Whole wheat French bread and frozen dough. A Chicago baking firm has been making a whole wheat French bread more than a year now, since "everyone in America worries about nutrition," according to a company representative. Are these really what America is asking for? Apparently so!

■ Frozen "Intermezzo" fruit ices. A New York company proudly showed off its new dessert at the Hotel-Motel Show, featuring 70% natural fruit juices. It's low in calories, cholesterol, salt and fat -- and has no preservatives. It's already available to hospitals and schools, with more markets being added all the time.

■ Alcohol-free beer. A Switzerland company removes alcohol from beer through a vacuum distillation process, after the beverage has been fully brewed. It tastes like beer, but has about 50 calories a bottle -- about half the total of light beer. It's also rich in vitamins A, B and C.

■ Chicken and fish. Fast food favorites are turning away from burgers and toward poultry and aquatic favorites. One new food chain, called Mrs. Winner's Chicken & Biscuits, plans to market a non-breaded, skinless chicken meal prepared without salt in a microwave oven or broiler. Fast food places have never seen anything like it!

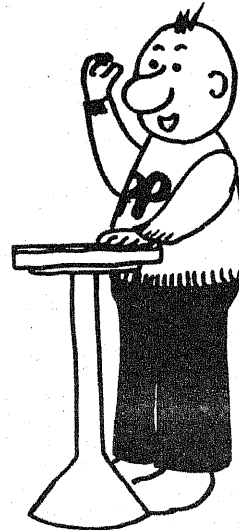

Also coming in the near future to restaurants, fast food shops and grocery stores are more unusual cuts and kinds of foods. Different types of fish are being sold throughout the land today, and who would have ever guessed McDonald's would be putting McRib pork sandwiches on their menu?

People are seeking more value and higher quality -- two contrasting goals which food suppliers must innovatively attempt to solve. Ways of doing this include smaller portions and more innovative preparation using less expensive foods.

So, as we've always known -- we are what we eat. It's just that we're eating smarter and better than we have for years. Salt, fats and unneeded calories are on the way out. Broiling, baking, fish and low-calorie french fries are apparently on the way in.

Thanksgiving in June?

Thanksgiving should come in June. With the delightful weather's arrival we have many blessings. Consider:

Even with low prices for commodities, the farmers are in the fields. With the sun and gentle breezes the ground has dried sufficiently and the pessimism of a week or so ago has been replaced by the eternal optimism of the bean grower. Graduation came and went without any major catastrophes involving local students.

We all survived the numerous graduation parties in various stages of exhaustion. The open house seems to be in vogue all over the state. We journeyed to Grand Rapids to attend the one for our nephew. On our return we noted several parties taking place on lawns along the highway. Bet we could stop and shared in the celebration at any number of them.

Other things to be thankful for:

- Boat rides on the lake.
- Gift games in the sunshine.
- People who want to serve on school boards.
- The Tigers for their winning ways and the recognition of two of the greatest players, Gehring and Greenberg.
- People who serve on committees to accomplish what no one individual can do.
- High school girls who provided a refreshing day to an old phys. ed. teacher.
- Friends who share in joys and sorrows.
- Fathers who love their children and receive a portion of that love back on their special Day this weekend.
- Our flag also has a special day this week. It is a symbol of our country, a free nation, for which we can be thankful.
- Even though we don't celebrate Thanksgiving until November we are getting ready now in June. Gardens are planted, including the pumpkins for the traditional pumpkin pie. The beans are on the way so we can have baked beans. While they are growing give thanks for being alive and able to give thanks.

Cleaning house refers to card playing, but for most purposes the phrase means what it implies -- house cleaning. As a full-fledged apartment cleaner I can let you in on a few do's and don'ts.

★Never make it a practice to clean someone else's mess. This practice is seldom held, probably for good reason. From my standpoint, if someone didn't push around a vacuum cleaner to pick up someone else's popcorn crumbs, the end result could very well be a room used for the sole purpose of viewing matinee movies.

★Never clean the refrigerator on an empty stomach. Leftovers are a haven for the growing stomach. For every chicken leg picked to the bone, a luscious calorie-filled dessert lurks under the wrappings of a plastic lid -- just waiting to be consumed by a roving garbage can.

★Do clean your place when you know company is dropping in. For some reason, guests would rather visit you without having to hold their noses. So have something to eat, clean out the refrigerator, and then open your door to company.

★Do keep a can of bathroom spray in the bathroom. If you are forever using bathroom spray in the kitchen, it's time you cleaned out the refrigerator. Your company may need to use the bathroom, and if the bathroom spray is in the kitchen...

★Never save grocery bags. We all save 'em, but we all use them for the wrong reason. To avoid taking out the garbage, we just add a grocery bag next to the wastebasket to catch the overflow. Without paper bags, the garbage gets to the garbage can.

Be sure to have a super week.

RECOLLECTIONS of by-gone days

By GEORGE KEIM

Dear Editor,
 One June 5, Otto Schulze, Hugo Leppardt and I had dinner at the Dutch Kettle. Otto had shrimp, Hugo had pork chops and I had chicken.

Amy Chisholm was our waitress and we had a very good dinner. And a very good time, too. Hugo told some of his stories and a lot of people came past and chatted with us.

When I went to pay for my dinner, an elderly woman came to me and asked if I was George Keim. I said I was, and she looked familiar but I couldn't name her. She said she was the former Selma Diefenbach and her father, Julius Diefenbach, used to live in Berne and had built the house Loren Elftman lived in (and later they moved into Pigeon), where Mrs. Harry Teuscher now lives.

We lived where Lyle Shetler now lives, so we were neighbors. I went to school with her sons, the former Miles and Leroy Sloat. We used to play with each other a lot. Their grandmother was quite strict and they called her Mutt.

Sometimes she took them back of the yard and used the rod of correction on them, but we had a barn too and I got some education there, too.

She used to play the piano in the Methodist Church in Pigeon. Her son Leroy's widow was with her. She had remarried a man named Gladwin Olson. We had a nice visit.

Hugo also knew her and we talked about the good old days. She later married a man by the name of Hicks, but he died many years ago.

How strange it was that in last week's paper in the 60 years ago news, it said Julius Diefenbach passed away at age 66, because we had been neighbors. My folks went to the funeral, which was on a Sunday afternoon at the German M.E. Church. W.A. Schriber was the undertaker. He wore a swallow-tail coat and ushered the people around. The pastor sang a German song, "Nearer My God to Thee."

Well, time is passing and it says in Job 5:26, "Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age like a shock of corn coming in his season." So if a person has raised a family and educated them to be good citizens and Christians, he has fulfilled his mission here on earth. And he's ready to be shocked up and his works will follow him.

Thumb area death

ELLA HASS
 1894 - 1983

Mrs. Fred (Wendland) Hass, 89, Bad Axe, passed away Saturday at Huron County Medical Care Facility after a long illness.

She was born Feb. 8, 1894 in Harbor Beach, daughter of the late Gustave and Emelia Leese.

State cattlemen to meet July 7-8

The Michigan Cattlemen's Association Summer Round-up is scheduled at McGuire's Resort at Cadillac on Thursday and Friday, July 7 and 8, according to Lee Warschewsky, extension livestock agent.

The program will begin at 1:30 p.m. on July 7 with a talk by Jim McRoberts, well-known Missouri cattle feeder, who will discuss his cattle procurement and starting on feed program. Dr. Charles Gibson, Michigan State University, will then describe the "Senepol," a new American breed of cattle he studied in the Virgin Islands.

The Round-up program will reconvene at 9:30 a.m. the next day with Dr. Don Mackey, nationally-known veterinarian from Colorado, speaking on preconditioning and indoctrination of cattle going into the feedlot. He will be followed by Ed Hennenburg, cattleman from Coopersville, who will characterize his cow-calf, backgrounding and finishing operations.

The Round-up will conclude at 1:30 p.m. with Dr. Mackey's discussion of coping with feedlot diseases.

Foreign-traveler Ron Ziehm sees lots of Australia

FFA participant Ron Ziehm of Gageton writes about life on a Western Australian farm. He has just completed four months there under the FFA Work Experience Abroad program.

"Life on this sheep farm is a busy one and I find the past three months have passed very quickly. This is a family-owned farm of 7,000 acres. Two sons, ages 28 and 25, each own their own farms of 5,000 and 3,000 acres and work them separately. There are no cattle, due to lack of feed during summer. Just now they have 1200 sheep which are raised for wool as well as for meat. They are sheared once a year around June and July. Sheep and wool prices are poor now but they feel they will be good next year. Since there are so few sheep here, this farm does not have sheep dogs or horses. They grow 5,000 acres of wheat, 300 acres of lupines. Besides two small tractors, they have an Allis Chalmers 4-wheel 210 h.p. and a 720 which has 130 h.p. They have a tandem trailer and a big single-axle, both International.

"My work consists of checking sheep, working on the sheep yards, repairing fences and replacing steel posts. We also must replace the pipes from windmills to the troughs, because they get corroded from the salt. We've also been repairing machinery. Most farmers are very well-equipped to service their machinery and are excellent welders.

"Flies are bad here. They are more aggressive than house flies at home, clinging to my face whenever I am outside. I've certainly learned to keep my mouth shut!

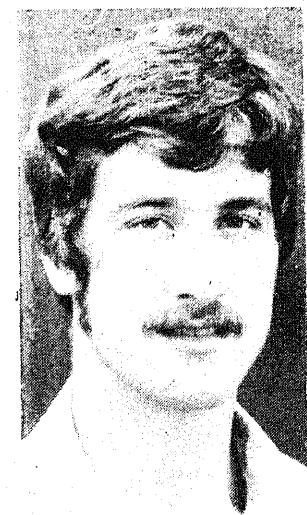

"This homestead was settled in 1917. Dalwallinu, a 'nearby' town, is one of the oldest settled towns, around 1912. I live at a farmhouse with Mr. and Mrs. McAlpine and son, Coleen, age 21. The other three children are married: the two sons I mentioned and a daughter who lives on the eastern side of Australia. This farm received electricity in 1980. Until then it was supplied by a big generator on the farm. A crank-type phone was installed in 1964 - they have a modern one now. I live only 70 miles west of the big sheep stations and the area is sparsely populated here. This state of Western Australia has only 1,200 farmers in an area 3 1/2 times the size of Texas. Such great distances slow progress. The nearest church is 40 miles away. The nearest school is 18 miles away for children up to 10 years of age.

Land here is about $100 to $250 per acre. Quality of land is important, but history of rainfall is much more important. Rainfall varies greatly from section to section, and a drought area might be only nine miles away. Rain is the key to farming here. Good years may bring 12 to 14 years of rain, but during a dry spell, only six to eight inches is received and little or not harvesting is done. Average yields here for wheat are 17 to 25 bushels, depending on soil. It takes nine to 12 bushels to break even.

"Wheat is bought by the government and it is illegal for one farmer to sell to another, even for seed. The wheat is taken to huge storage sheds, not silos. The government pays $100 on every ton delivered within a given week. The rest is paid over a 10-year period and the government uses this money to build new storage facilities. Overall the price received amounts to about $3.65 a bushel. The farmer pays no storage fees.

"This system allows one board to sell wheat overseas. Various farmers around the country serve on this board and it is governed by a government minister. This helps prevent problems like the grain embargo between Russia and the U.S. from happening in Australia. The farmers here are about two years behind in experiencing the economic problems farmers in the U.S. have now. The recession is just beginning to be felt. Unemployment is nearing 10 percent nationally.

"Harvest occurs in November and December. The biggest farm problem here is the fight to keep land from becoming salty."

"Pipelines transporting precious water can be seen all over Western Australia, from major port cities, inland. The first pipeline was started in 1901 and finished in 1903 to supply Kalgoorlie and the gold fields for some towns. These pipelines are the only water supply besides a little rainfall. Piping water for farmsteads would cost farmers thousands of dollars. So some use only rain water and some are fortunate enough to have good bores (wells). Most bores are good only to water stock, because of the mineral salt content.

"The biggest farm problem here is the fight to keep land from becoming salty. Some can be planted with barley that is more salt-resistant than wheat. This land is mostly non-arable and the water table, being salty, leaves the soil coated with salt during the heavy rain. Trees and bush help slow the run-off to the lower better soils, but clearing these areas take away that help. Land that produced in 1959 is no longer arable due to the encroachment of the salt. Some farmers have had limited success digging a trench through a low area to one of the many salt ponds around.

"Harvesting occurs in November and December, late spring here. In March and April they burn stubble in the fields. They feel this kills disease since they have no cold season to do it. They do get light frosts in the winter. Planting follows in May and June, their fall time.

I attended an Australian wedding in Perth, 150 miles southwest of here. They consider 150 to 200 invited guests a very big wedding. Weddings are very formal with a sit-down dinner, where the maid of honor and best man read telegrams from those unable to attend.

There are very strict regulations on gun ownership here. City people cannot legally own one. Country people are allowed to have them to shoot the animals that destroy agricultural land, such as kangaroos and rabbits. But even then, all guns and ammunition are signed for and strictly controlled. People eat only the small kangaroo. There are professional shooters who shoot roos for a living for dog meat and fur pelts. Big kangaroos are six to seven feet tall and about 200 to 250 pounds, but in the desert, some are eight to nine feet tall and weigh around 300 pounds.

Some of the words I've encountered here are: "ute" meaning "pick-up," "combine" meaning "planter," "header" meaning "combine," "plow" meaning "disc," "shears" meaning "teeth" for field cultivator, "grog" meaning "liquor," "roo" meaning "kangaroo" and "sheila" meaning "girl."

For recreation most people are active in some kind of sport. People keep very fit here and I rarely see anyone with weight problems. I play on a basketball team in Dalwallinu, 42 miles away. Some of the players come 60 miles. It has been fairly cool most evenings when we play. We don't practice and some of the club rules are quite different from home. I yelled at one player as he was going for a lay-up and they threw a technical on me. The game is more gentleman-like here.

The fellows around here speak fast with a slur and it took me two or three weeks to catch what they said the first time. The sheilas seem to speak more clearly.

Ziehm, whose sponsorship is contributed by the Pigeon Co-op Elevator and the Cass City FFA Chapter, moved farther west to the Indian Ocean coastal area near Dongara, about 200 miles north of Perth, at the beginning of April.

SPRING SCENES

ABOVE, Wayne Sturm of Pigeon is catching up on spring plowing, usually finished by mid-May. This year's extra-wet season has put many farmers behind.

AT RIGHT, Doug Yackle of Pigeon shows the next step - planting. Yields are expected to be reduced, due to the later field work and planting dates.

Crops late, late, late...

Michigan's corn and soybean yields will be significantly reduced because planting has been delayed by this spring's wet and cool weather. "Only 65% of the corn had been planted as of May 1 this year, compared to an average of 89% on that date last year," says Cooperative Extension agronomist Maurice Vitosh.

The optimum planting date for corn in southern Michigan was May 5 to 10 and each day planting is delayed may mean a reduction of 1.5 bushels per acre for the year's crop, Vitosh relates.

"Farmers planting now have already lost an average of 30 bushels per acre," he says. "If they can find 80-day corn, they may have until June 15 to get it in and harvest around Sept. 10, but the yield will still be reduced each day planting is delayed past May 10."

"Ham and Asparagus"

Use the fresh asparagus that is now available at produce departments to make this ham and asparagus dish.

Fresh asparagus, (or use 1 pkg. frozen or 1 can) 1 T. lemon juice
1 c. cooked cubed ham 4 hard cooked eggs (sliced)
1/2 c. cream or milk 1/2 c. cream or milk
1/4 c. grated American cheese 1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 1/2 c. cooked noodles 1/2 c. dried bread crumbs (see helpful tip below)
2 T. chopped green peppers 2 T. butter or oleo
2 T. chopped onions
1 T. parsley flakes

Place asparagus in bottom of greased dish, combine ham, cheese, noodles, peppers, onions, parsley and lemon juice. Place in layers and slice eggs on top. Stir milk or cream into mushroom soup until smooth and pour over dish and put bread crumbs on top. Bake at 375° for 30 minutes. To double dish, add one cup extra ham and 3 cups noodles. (This is very good). Makes six servings.

Helpful tip ... If you have some dry cereal that doesn't seem to be getting used up, pulverize it in the blender and use with appropriate seasonings -- instead of bread crumbs or flour -- to saute fish, croquettes, etc.

Whatever your choice in navy beans, we've got your seed!

FLEETWOOD is a navy bean variety released by Agriculture Canada, Research Station, Harrow, Ontario in 1978. This variety is a tall bush-type which tends to produce a few short vines in some years. It is resistant to the alpha, beta and gamma races of bean anthracnose caused by Colletotrichum lindemuthianum and to the Type (V1) and NYIt (V15) strain of bean common mosaic virus.

In three years of overstate trials in Michigan, Fleetwood has averaged 18.26 cwt. per acre compared with 17.31 for Sanilac, 16.23 for Seafarer and 16.22 for Tuscola.

SANILAC was the first of the bush-type navy bean varieties developed and released by the Michigan Ag Experiment Station and USDA. Sanilac is a selection from a three-way cross in which a bush-type mutant Michelite bean developed by x-ray was the principal recurrent parent. The new variety was released in 1956.

Plants of Sanilac are upright, bush-type, vary from 14 to 21 inches in height, and produce a short determinant runner up to 14 inches in length. Sanilac is resistant to the V1 strain of common mosaic, anthracnose (alpha, beta & gamma strains), and halo blight but is susceptible to common and fuscous blight.

Sanilac is a mid-season variety that matures in 85-95 days. It is adapted for production under a wide range of climatic conditions. Yield and canning quality of the beans are good.

SEAFARER is an early maturing navy bean with excellent canning quality. It was developed cooperatively by the Michigan Ag Station and USDA and released in 1967. The plants of Seafarer are upright, bush-type, and range from 13 to 19 inches in height. The seed is smooth, white and indistinguishable from Sanilac. Seafarer is resistant to anthracnose (alpha, beta, gamma strains) and common bean navy varieties. It is widely adapted and yields well in a diversity of environments. Its principal advantage is early maturing -- some 7-12 days earlier than Sanilac.

NEPTUNE (Protected Variety) is a new variety of navy bean released by Michigan State University. This variety is one of the new upright short vine navy varieties that resists lodging and is more suited to direct harvest than the conventional bush-type navy beans.

It is resistant to the common bean mosaic races V1 and V15, and halo blight, but is susceptible to the four races of anthracnose, and common fuscous blight.

Neptune is a full season variety comparable to Fleetwood.

WEEK'S WORD languid

Listless; without energy; lacking interest; as, to work in a languid manner. From Latin languidus (faint, weak).

80th birthday celebrated

Edward Elftman of Elkton celebrated his 80th birthday at a family party last Sunday hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walsh of Pigeon. All six of Elftman's grandchildren were present and his eight great grandchildren sang "Happy Birthday" in his honor. A buffet supper was served following the party.

Outdoor Report

Warm weather during the end of last week has improved the overall fishing picture for Huron County. The first summer weather not only increased the fish activity, but empty rivers and bays were suddenly loaded with boats and fishermen.

Salmon were the most talked about fish, and Harbor Beach was the "hot spot" of the week. Kings were being boated on a regular basis, and the persistent fishermen were limiting out. Good salmon fishing has always been thought of as a fall sport, but more and more Lake Huron fishermen have been proving this to be wrong. Last year, and now this year, salmon have been pursued throughout the summer with great success.

Lake trout have been a little slow at Port Austin. Some catches were reported, but it seems the fish were moving out to deeper water, and most think that it is time to begin fishing the thermocline.

Bass fishing picked up over the weekend, and warm weather put the spawning season into full swing. Good places were Dynamite Cut and Eagle Bay.

Perch fishing has been very slow. Some boats were hitting west of the lighthouse at Port Austin, and northeast of Big Charity Island.

The DNR commission met in Higgins Lake last Friday to set up the hunting and trapping rules for next year's season. Little changes occurred that affect hunters and trappers in Huron County.

FIRST AID LESSON - Huron County Emergency Management Director Michael Gage was a recent guest of Pigeon area Girl Scouts for a short program on first aid. Learning all about safety techniques were members of Pigeon Junior Troop #895 and Cadette Troop #802. The program consisted of a demonstration, as shown above, a film and "hands on" experience.

Best trips are unplanned

I braced myself against the steady pressure of the river's current, trying desperately to bring into focus the end of my leaf and the new tippet that I was attempting to attach. Moments earlier, warmed by the rays of the late afternoon sun, a hatch of Hendrickson Mayflies began to emerge, and as if alerted by an old-fashioned dinner bell, the trout rose for their afternoon snack. Peering over the top of my bifocals, (a curse sometimes bestowed on old fly-fishermen) I counted nine fish rising to take the fragile flies floating jauntily on the river's surface. I returned to the task of replacing my tippet, amid slightly trembling hands and a racing heart.

All of this took place a month ago, while I was turkey hunting in the Mio area. Or maybe I should have said, I was supposed to be turkey hunting. The night before I was to leave, my brother phoned to inform me that he would be unable to make the trip. Not only would I be hunting alone, but I also did not have a place to stay, as he was in charge of the accommodations.

"Why don't you stay at Gates AuSable Lodge?" he informed me over the phone. "It will only be about 30 miles from where you're hunting, and you can always fish in the evening if you like."

I took his advice and called for a reservation as soon as he hung up. That was the first of many decisions I made over the next four days that turned a potentially lousy hunting trip into a fabulous fishing outing.

A combination of the mild winter, which had dispersed the turkeys from their natural flocking because of the abundance of natural food, and the strong winds that seemed to blow relentlessly each morning, provided me with a situation that was less than perfect for the limited hunt that I was on. Also, hunting alone did not allow me to cover the area needed in locating and calling the wily gobblers. Each morning would find me growing less and less interested in turkey hunting and more and more interested in trout fishing. That interest switch was mainly due to the surroundings I found when checking into the lodge.

Gates AuSable Lodge is located on the mainstem of the AuSable River, seven east of Grayling, near the Stephan Bridge. It is the former Canoe Inn, but a change took place 14 years ago when it was purchased by a disenchanted band teacher from Oscoda, named Cal Gates. During the next five years Cal and his family worked diligently to transform the business from a hamburger-serving stop-over for canoeists, into a class fly-fishing lodge, complete with pro shop and guide service. The lodge now consists of 17 motel rooms, a kitchen-dining room complex that only serves lodge guests and a completely outfitted pro shop that makes any fly-fisherman in his right mind drool like Pavlov's dog.

My room was bright and cheery, and when I slid open the sliding glass door to let in some fresh air, I found the river to be a mere 20 yards from my doorstep. At night, when the drapes were drawn open, the scenery was breathtaking, and the murmur of the ever-moving river lulled me to sleep.

Each morning, I would rise early and drive the 30 miles to my hunting spot. Returning to the lodge at noon, I would eat lunch and then catch a ride up river from one of my hosts, to spend the afternoon on a leisure downstream fish that would conclude back at the lodge. After supper, which was a different house specially each night, I would mosey over the pro shop and browse through their extensive fly-fishing inventory. There would usually be some of the other guests with which to chew the fat, and either Cal or his son, Rusty, would be on hand to divulge information from their vast knowledge on such topics as proper equipment, types of flies, kinds of fish, river systems, or general history of the area.

There is a bulletin board in the pro shop that lists the flies which are emerging at the present time, and on the counter, are the numerous imitations of those flies. While my first impression was that this Madison Avenue technique came right out of a book of salesmanship, I later found it to be a nice service for both the novice and advanced fisherman. Instead of consulting streamside guides, and pouring over thousands of flies that they keep in inventory, you can make perfect selection in a matter of minutes.

Cal and Rusty have one of the most extensive fly inventories I have ever seen. Rusty informed me that they employ five flysters beside himself to keep them ahead of the fishermen. And even though they have a massive inventory, he said they are only a month ahead on some of the species.

My stay at Gates AuSable Lodge ended all too soon. However, I plan to go back, and was able to secure a reservation for opening weekend next year. Almost 99% of their business is repeat, which says something for the service they extend their customers.

If you are looking for a place that caters to the fly-fisherman, look no further. Gates AuSable Lodge has congenial hosts, excellent accommodations, beautiful waters to fish and a surprisingly low cost. If interested, call or write: Gates AuSable Lodge, Route Two, Box 2236, Grayling, MI 49738; phone (517) 348-8462.

EYE OPENERS

By Dr. Douglas A. Buehler, Optometrist

CONTACT LENSES

Q. Can a soft contact lens be placed in your eye "inside out"?

A. Yes. This accidental insertion can be avoided if you first check the edges of your lenses to be sure they continue straight up. If they turn out, you're going to put them in your eyes inside out. Should this happen, these signs should alert you that something is amiss:

- *1. Your lenses will be less comfortable than usual.
- *2. They may tend to fold on your eyes.
- *3. Your lens may move a lot when you blink.
- *Take them out and start all over again.

Q. Can an elderly person wear soft contact lenses?

A. Yes, unless one's hands are particularly shaky. There should be no problem putting them in and taking them out. More older patients are opting for contact lenses than ever before, since it has been found that they provide superior vision for post-cataract patients. With careful instructions, a patient of any age can learn to insert and remove contact lenses.

FATHERS COME IN MANY FORMS; THEIR LOVE IS ALL ALIKE

They come in every height and weight
And some are portly, others slim;
But fathers in whatever state
Have problems that are often grim.
Your father showed the way he cared
By working to allay your fears;
And whether bald or wavy-haired,
His wisdom saw you through the years.
Now there were times when you'd resent
What proved to be his righteous wrath,
But his attempts at punishment
Were meant to keep you on the path.
So give all honor to his name;
No matter what our faith has been
It deems our fathers' love the same,
Regardless of what shape they're in.

New pastoral family steps into Salem UM pulpit

Salem United Methodist Church, Pigeon, bid farewell to its pastor of eight years, Pastor Ralph Pieper, during a special service Sunday, June 12, attended by over 200 church members and guests. An afternoon potluck dinner followed the church service, in appreciation of the Rev. and Mrs. Pieper's ministry in Pigeon. Dr. Willard Haist acted as chairman for the program that followed.

A group of children, under the direction of Mrs. Floris Wertz, sang several songs they had learned during Vacation Bible School. A ladies trio and men's quartet also provided musical entertainment. Rev. Raymond Orth, pastor of Cross Lutheran Church, Pigeon, gave a short talk expressing appreciation for the cooperation and contributions Rev. Pieper had given to the ministers of the community. Ella Mae Diachenko read a tribute to the Piepers which she had composed.

On behalf of the Salem Church and Sunday School, Dr. Haist presented the Piepers with an afghan made by Mrs. Laura Emery and a gift of money. The Piepers also take with them a "love quilt," made up of blocks designed by families of the congregation, and presented to them a year ago.

Rev. and Mrs. Pieper and their two children will be leaving this week to make their new home in Blissfield, where he has been called to minister.

Stepping into Salem's pulpit this Sunday will be Rev. Mark A. Karls, who has served the town of Norway, near Iron Mountain, on the Wisconsin border of the Upper Peninsula since entering into the ministry in 1978.

Originally from Saginaw, Rev. Karl's wife Sandy is a native of Royal Oak. The couple has two children, Jesse, age six and Heather, age four.

Rev. Karls is a 1964 graduate of Arthur Hill High School, Saginaw, and received his bachelor's degree with honors from Taylor University (1971), in divinity from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School (1977) and in counseling psychology from Trinity (1980).

He has served as an officer in the United States Navy, earning a leadership award from Officer's Candidate School, the engineering award for his division as the finest professionally among all the cruisers and destroyers in the entire Atlantic Fleet, decoration for combat action in Viet Nam and attained eligibility for Command-at-Sea in his first 18 months of active duty.

While in Norway, Rev. Karls wrote weekly articles for the local newspaper, was electd president of the local Kiwanis Club, served as president of the Board of Directors for Big Brothers/Big Sisters for a three-county area and was president of the 27 member county clergy association. He also served as a

Rev. Mark Karls with son Jesse, age six, daughter Heather, age four, and his wife, Sandy.

TTLM Kick-Off set June 23

Top-of-the-Thumb Leisure Ministries, sponsored by 38 churches in Huron County, is ready to begin its 13th summer of activity. The ecumenical organization conducts leisure-time activities along the shoreline, involving tourists and residents alike in sharing the Good News of Jesus Christ.

The annual Kick-off Dinner will be at Laker High School on Thursday, June 23 at 6:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend, bringing a dish of food for the potluck dinner and table service. Beverages will be provided by TTLM.

A short program in the Laker auditorium will follow the dinner. Rev. Richard Andrus, pastor of Grace United Methodist Church, New Baltimore, will speak on the theme, "Why We Are Here!" Mrs. Andrus is a registered nurse and is studying at Wayne State University. They are the parents of four children, Sam, Cindy Thick of Pigeon, Beth and Deborah. The Andrus family served the Bay Port and Hayes United Methodist churches from 1975 to 1979.

Special music for the program will be provided by Kevin Laursen of Pigeon.

The summer staff will be introduced by the president of TTLM, Pastor Raymond Orth. Linda Kelterborn, Jackie Roe and Lisa Swartzendruer will join seminarian John Carson to direct TTLM activities throughout the summer.

Staying fit

Read 2 Timothy 1:3-14
Keep alive the gift that God gave to you. 2 Timothy 1:6. Staying fit has become a fetish for a good number of our contemporaries. They jog or cycle, walk or swim, do calisthenics or work out in a gym.

"It is important to stay trim," they tell you. And so it is. One feels better, is able to move around with more energy, and can pursue his calling with greater vigor.

But staying fit is often a one-sided affair. Usually only physical fitness occupies us.

Yet what good is it to be physically fit but poorly equipped spiritually?

What good is it to be physically fit when a slight setback can spoil one's whole attitude toward life?

Staying fit is much more than physical. Staying fit for real living requires spiritual fitness.

It means keeping alive the Spirit of God in us. Keeping the Spirit active in us requires that we exercise ourselves in Word and prayer.

Christ supplies us with energy. He is our power. Faith in Him provides us with the strength to keep the Spirit within us alive.

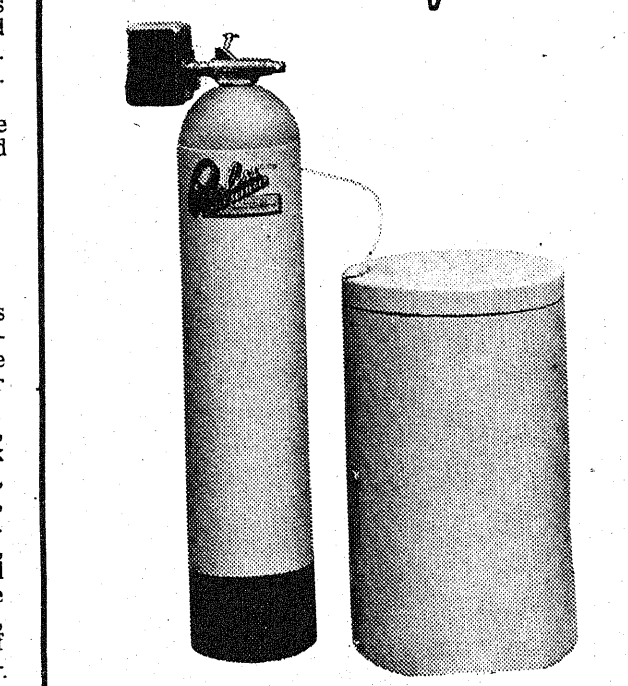

He enables us to love courageously and selflessly, to do His work in church and world.

We will succeed in this, for Christ, in St. Paul's words, is "the power of God and the wisdom of God."

Keep us fit, O Lord, for our good and Your service. To this end strengthen us through Your Word and Spirit. Help us keep alive the gift You have given; for the sake of Jesus. Amen.

Pigeon accepts lower millage rate

Pigeon Village Council approved the 1983-84 village tax rate at a lowered 12.6972-mill figure, following action at Monday night's June meeting.
 Council rolled back last year's 12.815-mill figure to comply with the state's truth in taxation guidelines, which would have required public notices and hearings if the former tax rate had been maintained.
 In all, 1983 real assessed property values are $135,200 for agriculture, $3.584 million for commercial, $359,500 for industrial and $7.9 million for residential, or $138.1978 million in all. That's up from last year's $10.94 million in valuation.
 Personal property values are $893,800 for commercial, $410,000 for industrial and $356,000 for utilities, or $1.66 million in all, for a total state equalized value of $13.638 million.
 Tax exemption certificates granted to industries since 1977 total $1.338 million, showing an increase of $878,100 over last year.
AUDIT REPORT: The village's 1982-83 annual audit was accepted, as presented by the CPA firm of Anderson, Nietzke and Co., of Pigeon. Only minor errors were reported. The general budget forecast of $269,099 in revenues and $221,378 in expenditures was favorable for the village, as actual revenues were $260,372 while actual expenses were down to $191,168 -- improving the village's fund balance from $97,835 last year to $143,847 this year.

NO RAISE: Police Chief Mark Nieschulz again asked Council members to reconsider his pay reduction established earlier this year. "I'm further ahead to have you lay me off now or something on that order," Nieschulz said.
 He said Elkton's Chief Duane Alexander earns $8.92 per hour and its office Lonnie Hedley earns $8.10 per hour, while Nieschulz's own pay is $7.60 per hour. It had been proposed to be raised to $7.90 at budget-making time this year, but that was not adopted.
 "It's not in proportion," Nieschulz said. "We've improved our relationship. I'm asking you reconsider my wages or give me more hours, to more of a livable standard."

Village President Norris Diebel said the Police Committee had discussed an increase but didn't propose one now. "I think we've been quite fair with you," Council member Dryden Haist said. "I'm sorry. I'm sticking with my own beliefs."
CABLE TV: President Diebel said some delays are expected in getting utility lines reinforced to accept cable TV wiring. No extension has been sought yet from Pioneer Cablevision but he said the July 1 turn-on date may not be met.
 He said cable TV spokesmen say Pigeon utility lines are in better shape than those in Caseville and Elkton, where even longer delays are expected. The head-end (antenna) site on Pigeon Road is being readied now for construction, and "you should see them hanging some wire by the end of the week," Diebel said.
NEW TIRES: People's Oil & Gas was the low bidder for four new police car tires. The price is $59.11 each.
