Pigeon hosts busy Winter Carnival

Even the threat of another snowstorm didn't keep about 75 area residents from attending Saturday evening's third annual Winter Carnival Dinner Dance and Awards Banquet, honoring 40 young people who have contributed to the Pigeon community through their work and community involvement.

Pictured above are nine area residents who brought home plaques following the awards presentation. Seated from left are Mary Avalos, Outstanding Health and Safety Professional; Kathy Eichler, Outstanding Young Mother; Wanda Eichler, Outstanding Young Woman and Karen Gehrs, Outstanding Young Educator; standing, Dave Jarvis, Outstanding Young Business and Professional (male); Carol Veitzel, Outstanding Young Health and Safety Professional; Bud Schaaf, recipient of the Distinguished Service Award in honor of his outstanding community involvement; Carol Mallory, Outstanding Young Business and Professional (female) and Bill Renn, Outstanding Young Farmer. Not present when the photo was taken were Dick Pauly, Outstanding Young Educator and Paul Clabuesch, Outstanding Young Man.

The festivities began with a late afternoon happy hour, followed by a dinner of chicken, ham and accompaniments. Each nominee was awarded a certificate thanking him or her for contributions made to the Pigeon community, then an overall winner in each category was awarded with plaque.

CASEVILLE QUEEN ROBIN: Sixteen-year-old Robin Bond is this year's Miss Caseville, chosen Saturday night during the Caseville Snow Bonanza Queen's Dinner. The daughter of Nelson and Jacqueline Bond, Queen Robin enjoys dancing, drawing, swimming and cheerleading. Sponsored by the Caseville Eagles Club, she plans to attend college after high school.

Here, 1983 Queen Sandy Johnson crowns Queen Robin.

A cure for the snoring blues?

People who have tried whistling, nose plugs, pillows over the head or sleeping in separate rooms to avoid listening to snoring now have reason for hope. A cure may be on the way, according to the American Lung Association of Michigan (ALAM). Florida researcher Richard Berry, MD, says a technique called nasal continuous positive airway pressure eliminates those obnoxious snorts, buzzes and wheezes. The technique involves applying pressure to a patient's upper airways through an infant-sized anesthesia mask fitted over the nose.

When treated with this technique, nine men who were habitual snorers did not snore, experienced fewer instances of abnormal breathing and some slept longer in "deep sleep," reports the ALAM. Many snorers suffer from sleep apnea, episodes of nocturnal breathing difficulties and actual cessation of breath, which may be a result of breathing through a narrow and intermittently-blocked nasal passage. The infant's mask seems to alleviate the problem. However, more work has to be done on the phenomenon before announcing a "miracle cure" for the age-old malady of snoring. OOOPS! Judy Smith of McCormick Motors, Inc. of Pigeon, inspects the results of a computer terminal with a mind of its own. The terminal is tied to a computer at General Motors headquarters. It piled up the paper shown here during an evening when the building was empty last week. Rather than transferring information, all the paper ejected by the computer was blank. Manager Dave McCormick says the pile-up stopped only because the end of the paper roll was reached. "Or it would have been worse!" he laughed.

OBSERVATIONS BY PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!
ACTIVITY TIME - Pigeon's fourth Winter Carnival is history, and Caseville's 12th annual Snow Bonanza is ahead this weekend, as the Western Thumb stays busy in a cold time of the year.
Watch for pictures and stories about the Winter Carnival - plus a look ahead toward the Snow Bonanza - throughout our issue. Happy reading!

TWO NEW FEATURES - "Thanks a Million" by Percy Ross and "Your Problems..." by Maude Oris are being offered for the first time in this week's paper. We hope you enjoy the talents and writing ability of these two experts - and we hope you benefit from them.
Percy Ross is a Minneapolis millionaire who is happy to share part of his fortune with readers. Ms. Oris is a nationally-known advice columnist who has been helping people for 21 years.

Both writers welcome letters and comments, which can be forwarded to them via The Progress-Advance. We hope you enjoy them!

NAME DROPPING - Earl "Doc" LaMere writes from Fort Myers, Fla., and sent along a nutritional story which Doc says should "make our farmer friends a little happier in this cold, cold year." The story says dried beans are sure winners in flavor and nutrition games.

Now we've always known that here - but it's nice to know Florida folks know that, too! Doc reports we northerners are "getting adverse press" in Florida about our cold winters. "Yesterday, it was 72 degrees here and today it's going to 80," he wrote Jan. 23. Enjoy it, Doc!

WILLIAM CHUBB sent a postcard from St. Petersburg, noting they're enjoying themselves. "Others complain about it being cold when the temperature doesn't get up to 70," he says. (Sounds to me like those folks are full-time southerners.)

"We shouldn't complain though," the Chubbs write, "as there is no snow to shovel!"

ED AND ARLINE SCHMOCK write they're getting their paper just fine, usually every Saturday morning. "Once in a while it gets cold," they point out - sending a story about temperatures which went into the teens on Christmas Day.

"That's cold for the folks down here," Ed writes. Back here up north, Mud Creek Mayor KATHERINE PANTELIS passed along some yummmmmmy homemade fudge she's made, since she knows we love the stuff. Kate, you're right - it was GREAT! Thanks for thinking of us!

And BOB & MARY MILLERWISE of Sebawaing added a little note on a recent news story. They've found some Tobler "Tradition" semi-sweet chocolate. They tried it. And tried it. And had another bite or two. They liked it, they agreed! (Just as we said they would!) Thanks for passing along your note!

BILLY SIMS is having his day in court right now. Actually, I'm no great football freak, but I really don't care WHERE he plays. Anybody who signs a $3.5 million contract to play in Houston, then signs a $4.5 million one to play in Detroit can play wherever the courts decide. If he had no more loyalties than that, I really don't care.

I don't blame him for wanting to make as much as possible, but where's that old Pete Rose drive and desire? Where's that Al Kaline or Gordie Howe spirit to excel? Sims doesn't really have it.

WAYNE GRETZKY is another story, though. His 51-consecutive game scoring record is remarkable. "The Great One" tries to do his best all the time, and he encourages others to do the same around him. See, there still ARE heroes today!

HELP THE AVALOS FAMILY - Here's some clothing information about the Avalos Family, whose mobile home was destroyed by fire Sunday night.

His sizes are 36" waist, 30" long trousers and large shirt. Hers is a 16-size (large) coat and size 18 pants. Remember that Cross School is the collection point in Pigeon. Donations of food, pantry items and money will be appreciated. See story and picture elsewhere.

HELP WITH YEARBOOK - Laker High School folks are still looking for a 1979 yearbook, for their files. Call 453-2348 if you have an extra one.

WISH I'D SAID THAT - Success never comes without effort. The man who wakes up one morning to discover he has become a great success was not sleeping!

Thanks A Million

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Progress-Advance is pleased to offer "THANKS A MILLION" each week, written by Minneapolis millionaire Percy Ross.

Percy Ross

His is a rags-to-riches story and he's known for his humanitarian and philanthropic activities. Here's what Percy Ross says about his writings:

"I get great satisfaction sharing the fruits of my work and good fortune with many in need who ask my help. Through this 'THANKS A MILLION' circle, I hope to widen this circle. 'Where a gift can make a bridge over a financial crisis, I will try to be forthcoming. Where a direct gift may not be practical, I will try to help with other resources available for problems that require solutions. 'Some requests may have to be reluctantly refused. In some situations, I may even ask you, the reader, to help me decide whether and how someone should be helped. Everyone can't be helped, but I will try to assist as many as I can. 'I look forward to your letters.'"

Dear Mr. Ross: I really need your help. I'm a well-trained, talented actress with no contacts. In show business, it's who you know, not what you know. I have a brilliant "what" but am lacking the "who" part. I keep plugging away, taking time off as a Kelly Girl secretary to meet my bills. Do you know someone who could believe in me as much as I believe in myself? Will you introduce me to a good agent or manager - someone who will be able to represent me? I'm a good actress, Mr. Ross, and will someday earn an Oscar. I really need a break. - M.M., California.

Dear Miss M.: Everyone needs a break occasionally. This could be yours! I've arranged an interview and audition for you with Fred Westheimer, a vice president at the Wm. Morris Agency on El Camino Drive in Beverly Hills. Mr. Westheimer is in charge of TV casting and is looking for talent with or without experience. Phone or write him immediately for an appointment. I always wanted to be thanked by somebody receiving their Oscar at the Academy Awards.

Dear Mr. W.: Hospitals are worthy. There are plenty of them. What good would another be with my name...when most people I know can't afford to get in...or out? Besides, I'd rather be remembered in hearts and minds today than on a bronze plaque tomorrow.

You may write to Percy Ross, in care of The Progress-Advance, P.O. Box 480, Pigeon, MI 48756. Include a telephone number if you wish. Because of the heavy volume of mail, only a limited number of requests will be answered in future columns, although many others may be acknowledged privately.

THUMB TV CHANNEL COMING THIS YEAR?

Two Public Broadcasting System television stations are attempting to establish broadcasting facilities near Bad Axe. Both WUCM TV-19 of Delta College, Bay City, and WCMU TV-14 of Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, have applied to place a low-power TV transmitter which would give improved reception for PBS network programming. WUCM of Delta College would use Channel 55 to basically repeat its present programming now offered on Channel 10. WCMU of Mt. Pleasant is applying to use Channel 15 to relay its signal appearing in Mt. Pleasant on Channel 14.

Cost estimates for the antenna and transmitter needed by Delta could total $450,000 - about 70% of which could come from federal funds. CMU estimates $625,000 would be needed for its set-up, $500,000 of which could be federally-funded. The Federal Communications Commission could approve only one - or neither - of the requests. The successful applicant would then be eligible for the federal funding, since portions of the involved area of a 25-mile radius around Bad Axe can get no PBS-stations at this time. Both proposed stations ultimately could offer local public non-commercial programming, but at first would repeat signals of their home stations. Approval could take more than a year.

SUGAR CAMPAIGN CLOSING

Saturday, Feb. 11 is the expected conclusion date for this year's processing campaign at Michigan Sugar Company plants in Caro and Sebawaing, officials say. The firm's Carrolton factory should end its work Feb. 10, with Sebawaing and Caro following the next day. All three plants will maintain a small full-time staff, while the seasonal help which has operated around-the-clock since fall is sent home.

INVESTIGATIONS CONTINUE

Michigan State Police and Huron County Sheriff's Deputies are continuing their search for the killer or killers of Jerry Western, 50, who was shot in the back at close range with a shotgun Jan. 22. Tire tracks have been identified, and evidence is being further analyzed, according to Huron County Prosecutor Karl Kraus. Western's body was found just off Barrie Road, between M-53 and M-142, west of Bad Axe about 9:30 p.m. by his twin brother, Joe Western of Bad Axe and his nephew, Dan Williston of Lansing.

Jerry Western's death is Huron County's first homicide in several years. Administrative Law Judge Virginia Dean of Ingham County has ruled the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad may close its depots at Elkton and Sebawaing, to consolidate agent operations at Bad Axe. A single traveling agency will be set up within the next two months at Bad Axe, as Elkton and Sebawaing will be known as open-unmanned stations. C&O officials at a November public hearing in Bad Axe said the streamlining will not affect service and added it will not abandon service in the Thumb. "It (closures) is a feasible means to allow C&O to operate with no change of service to its patrons," Judge Dean's opinion says. The Village of Elkton and the Huron County Planning Commission spoke against the closures at the November hearing.

TRASH-HAULING PACT

A $45,000 contract between the Huron County Board of Commissioners and Gateway Sanitation, Inc., of Marlette, was finalized Jan. 13. It allows construction of two permanent compacting-transfer stations at the county-owned landfill sites in Oliver and Sigel Townships. After DNR approval, Gateway will have until Oct. 1 to build the transfer points to replace its existing temporary stations. They allow collected trash to be packed for trucking to the company's licensed landfill near Marlette.

SENTENCINGS, OTHER ACTIONS

Rachel Fox, 48, of Pigeon, was found guilty in District Judge John Schubel's court of larceny under $100. She paid $75 in fines, after being charged with theft of cigarettes from the Pigeon IGA in early December. Kevin Wiechert, 20, of Pigeon, has been sentenced to one year in jail by Circuit Court Judge M. Richard Knoblock for failure to report to the probation department. He had been placed on two-year probation after being charged with breaking into an unoccupied dwelling in June. He will receive credit for 104 days already served. Ronald Sweeney of Ulyb reported the theft of a chain, shovel and tools from his unlocked pickup truck at the Wildfowl Bay Public Access Jan. 25. He placed value at $143.

Take good care of yourself...

Two recent government health studies bring to mind that old song's phrase:

"Take good care of yourself, you belong to me." Those words from "Button up your overcoat" are especially fitting, since taking better care of your health really pays off.

A report from the Department of Health and Human Services says that while inflation generally has slacked off, health care costs continue to rise at nearly double the 6.1% rate for other goods and services. Americans spent $322 billion on health care in 1982 - an average of about $1360 per person, says the study.

The agency also warned that health care costs will continue to soar unless Americans take better care of themselves, while hospitals reduce services. The report notes that $33 billion - or 10% of the total - was spent for treating circulatory system problems, such as high blood pressure and heart disease.

That in itself should tell us to take a deep breath, relax, sit back and live better. This includes eating right, staying away from excesses including salt and getting adequate sleep. These steps will truly help you feel better - and live better.

A second government study issued last month says 100,000 lives could be saved annually if everyone with high cholesterol levels in their systems reduced that to a normal range. The study, done during a 10-year period, said the risk of heart attacks drops two percent for every one percent reduction in cholesterol in your body.

Cholesterol (as we all know from TV ads running over and over) is a fatty substance that accumulates in blood vessels and narrows them. It has been cited as a cause of heart attacks -- and high blood pressure.

Following a low-cholesterol diet, middle-aged men in this second study reduced their cholesterol levels up to four percent. Some persons also took a cholesterol-reducing drug, but they became more healthy. And they did it themselves!

The comparisons between the two studies is clear -- and interesting. Something as simple as following a low cholesterol diet can help reduce the amount Americans spend for health care.

And, such a diet results in another important thing: you'll feel better. It avoids the grief and discomfort that can accompany poor health. And it saves lives.

Our nation loses about 50,000 citizens every year in traffic accidents. Imagine if another 50,000 -- or 100,000 -- lives could be maintained through better health care, which starts inside each and every one of us. That possibility makes the effort worthwhile, doesn't it?

When your child goes to the hospital

What would you think of a hospital if you were a five year old? How can parents and professional ease the natural fears a small child experiences during a hospital?

One child who needed a lopt of blood tests feared he would "run out" of blood. He didn't understand the body's ability to replace blood lost.

Children vary in their reaction to hospitalization, just like adults do. Some look forward to it, almost like a special treat. Other children are almost overcome with hysterical fears of being rejected or left forever at the hospital. Or they may fear they'll die if they're in the hospital, like Grandma did.

The children's hospital in Washington, DC, has started using a lighthouse puppet show for children facing surgery. The children come in a week or two before surgery for the puppet show and a tour. The programs attempt to answer some of the questions kids have but may be unable to voice, like who do nurses keep taking blood out of their finger or arm: "to help you get well," is the answer.

An operation is basically an injury. If a child is not properly prepared for it, the child may feel his parents and his doctor cooperated in a great conspiracy to make him hurt alot.

For instance, Amy probably feels just fine as she enters the hospital for a tonsilectomy. Then after the operation, Amy wonders why she feels so badly when she was told that she is in the hospital to feel better. Then she may remember that her doctor told her that her throat "will feel really bad right after the operation, and then it will start to feel better."

This need for honesty with your child about his illness or what he can expect when he goes to the doctor or the hospital surfaces again and again in my reading about how to help children with sickness. Children feel betrayed if they are not dealt with honestly. For instance, you tell John that a shot is not going to hurt; when it does, he feels you've lied to him, which you have.

One twelve-year-old said, "I was lying on the x-ray table getting a blood test. The doctor couldn't find my vein. He promised that he would stop when it started hurting me. He didn't stop at all. That made me start crying even more."

A child shouldn't be told not to cry. The truth is he may need to cry very much. If we can begin to view crying as the healthy outlet that it is, that takes away some of our pain in hearing a child in pain.

Try to explain what will happen in the hospital or at the doctor's in terms your child will understand. You can save your child needless worry and fear.

But parents have special needs too when faced with the trauma of an ill child. Having a seriously ill child can be a real strain on a marriage. Fearing losing the child is often what causes initial alienation. It's natural to feel a certain amount of anger and guilt at a child's illness. Why us? And what did I do to cause the illness? or what did my partner do?

Each parent reacts to the grief and worry in a different way. One pediatrician writes that one spouse, perhaps the wife, may seek comfort and close physical touch with her husband, while the husband may tend to retreat and become silent and aloof instead of drawing closer. Burdened by the extra expense of the illness, the husband may try to bury his pain under more and more work to help in any way he can with the expense.

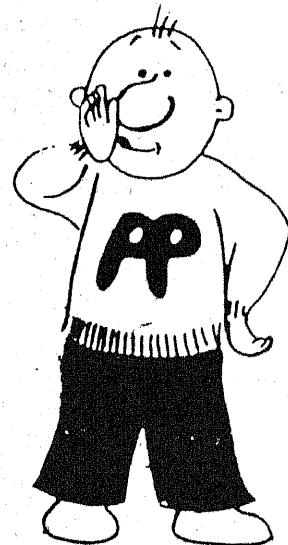

The wife interprets his as "He doesn't care about us and spends more and more time at his job," while in reality he's doing it because he cares very much.

So what can we do if we're caught? We need to open up our feelings to each other. Sometimes a couple can achieve this on their own. Other times a helper such as a professional counselor, relative pastor or trusted friend is needed.

God has promised to be with us in our pain, and that means His care upholds parents as well as their sick child.

Pete Progress says:

"How you spend your time is more important than how you spend your money. Financial mistakes can be corrected, but time is gone forever!"

Inspector Gordo's Minute Mystery THE CASE OF

Death in the air

The ancient tri-prop airplane had barely taken off from India when it encountered violent turbulence. After an hour in the air, Inspector Gordo's hopes of completing the bumpy trip in undisturbed misery were shattered by the steward.

"Come quickly, Inspector Gordo. Musing on the inconveniences of fame, Gordo groped along the storm-tossed cabin. In the front seat, a man sat lifeless, a knife in his heart.

Near the death seat was a small desk. On it lay a pad of legal-size sheets filled out in perfect handwriting. "I was doing my manifests," said the steward. "Five minutes ago I heard a grunt, but thought nothing of it. A moment ago, I turned around and found passenger Luko like that."

Gordo walked back up the aisle. The nine-seat plane held only three other passengers. All appeared to be dozing.

In the middle of the plane a fat man sat in stocking feet. One shoe lay on the seat beside him, the other on the floor. The last two seats were occupied by a young couple. The man held the girl by the left wrist. She sat rigidly, teeth bared, as if suffering from fright.

Gordo advised the pilot to alert the police and when the plane landed, he told the officer in charge: "Arrest -- Who did Gordo want arrested?"

RECOLLECTIONS

By GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR,

Some time ago, I was looking through an old trunk and found my old cap gun. My brother gave it to me when I was about eight years old.

It had a blue handle and a silver barrel. It said "Scout" on the handle. It was a nice gun and it looked like a revolver to me.

My mother was afraid of guns and even a cap gun scared her, so I had to play with it when she wasn't looking. One day, some boys brought their cap guns to school. So, I sneaked mine to school, too.

If I say it myself, I had the nicest one there.

There was a boy coming to school who was very mean. He always had some money in his pocket, and when he saw something the other boys had that he wanted, he'd try to take it away or buy it from them.

He'd give a nickel or a dime for it and if he broke it, he'd want his money back. He said he had a weak heart and if anybody would hit him, he'd die.

Well, when he saw my gun, he said right away it was his. He said he'd lost it a few days before and if I didn't give it to him, he'd tell the policeman that I had a gun that said "Scout" on it and I wasn't a Scout -- so I'd get put in jail.

He took it away from me, but I was big enough to get it back. I took it home and left it there, but he was always after me.

He'd kick me and push me around until I just couldn't take it anymore -- and so I hit him.

Well, he didn't die, so I hit him a couple more times and he cried and went and told his teacher. But I guess the teacher thought he got what he had coming to him.

Some other kids told me if he died, I'd have to go to the reform school. Well, he did die of a heart attack about 20 years later, but I didn't have to go to the reform school for it.

It says in the New Testament "As much as lieth in you, live in peace with all men."

SINCERELY YOURS, GEORGE KEIM

YOUR PROBLEMS...

By MAUDE ORIS

Oris is a nationally-known advice columnist who is happy to help you solve life's little -- or big -- problems. She can answer your etiquette concerns, too.

Ms. Oris has more than 21 years of experience, and her delicate style offers comforting help. We hope you enjoy second-guessing Ms. Oris as she solves "Your Problems..."

Dear Maude: I'm married to a man who lives, breathes, eats and sleeps his membership in a service club, he doesn't even have time for me or his kids, unless we can find a time slot on his calendar. What should I do?

Miffed with the MOOSE

Dear Miffed: Sounds like you've got a problem! You know, you didn't mention Mr. Moose's age, but I'll just bet he's getting close to his mid-life crisis. I'll even suggest his hair line may have relocated since first you met. Maybe he doesn't even look as flattering in his underwear anymore (perhaps it's the boxer shorts versus the jockey's he used to wear)?

I would suggest it's either all of the above -- or you never knew of the man's ego problem. Maybe he's competing or looking for recognition. Only you know that.

The way I see it, you've got two choices:

1. Talk to him about it and remind him that marriage is a partnership. Both you and the kids need him! But, keep in mind he needs his pat on the back, too. Or;

2. When he comes home from his next MOOSEY meeting, have his Samsonite sitting on the steps! Make him choose between the mother of his munchkins or his MOOSEY mania.

I've known a few of these types before, and every club has its Lousy Lion, its Jerky Jaycee, its Rueful Rotarian, etc. In fact, I've even known a few feminine members of the Selfish Sorority Sisters!

My first choice is to talk about it. But, if he doesn't want to talkie, one of you had better walkie!! Good luck!

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT

If you are one of America's workers, an IRA may be the solution to your retirement income needs.

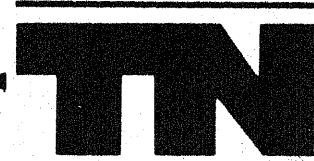

Even though you may plan on Social Security, for most people Social Security is a beginning, but it may not provide an adequate retirement income by itself.

All interest on an IRA account is TAX-FREE until withdrawal. You take before-tax dollars from your earned income now (lowering your taxable income) and deposit them into an IRA account. You pay no taxes on the principal or interest until you retire, and start to withdraw the money... at which time your tax bracket should be substantially lower.

So, plan ahead now for your retirement years with your own IRA. It's a wonderful opportunity for you to --

- SAVE TAX DOLLARS
•EARN BIG TAX-EXEMPT INTEREST
•BUILD SECURITY FOR YOUR FUTURE

Federal Regulators require substantial penalties for withdrawals made prior to maturity. IRA regulators provide for substantial penalties for withdrawals before age 59 1/2.

ALTHOUGH IT IS TOO EARLY to tell, is the severe season was a bust, as most of the Canadas left for warmer winter weather continues, we could have problems with Michigan's wildlife. Bobwhite quail have already died in large numbers, pheasants are having a terrible time. The deer herd is holding up pretty well, but the most dangerous time is yet to come. Wild turkeys face even more problems as they rely on humans to feed them in the winter. If you decide to help wildlife by feeding it, you must remember to continue feeding until mid-March, when winter truly breaks.

A MAJOR CONTROVERSY concerning the baiting of game animals looms before the Natural Resources Commission. Many interest groups have been meeting with the DNR's Wildlife Division to discuss the issues. The Michigan Turkey Federation has taken a stand to outlaw the baiting of turkeys. While this will not affect this year's season, it is sure to have an impact on future seasons. The Michigan Bear Hunters Association seems to be split on a similar issue. So far the division is between dog hunters and bait hunters. While both of these will be heated arguments, they won't compare to the furor that will rise when deer baiting is brought up. At present, it is legal to bait as long as chemicals are not used. This affects all birds and animals except waterfowl, where it is illegal to bait with anything.

SNOWMOBILERS AND CROSS COUNTRY SKIERS are very happy with the snowfall this year. For the first time in quite awhile, it is easy to find the necessary base to enjoy the sport. While there has been a sharp decline in the sale of snowmobiles, there seem to be plenty on the trails.

State Bean Day features Bush canners

State Bean Day - set for Wednesday, Feb. 8 at the Saginaw Civic Center - is fast approaching, and the program looks better than ever, planners say.

Markets and production area reports will be the focus of the morning program with Jim Byrum of the Michigan Bean Commission leading an update on domestic activity.

The production area reports will feature Charles Broadwell, from Ont., Bob Melhouse, Olivia, Minn., and Cliff Walker of Mitchell, Neb. Both Melhouse and Walker are dry bean farmers, and Broadwell is manager of the Ontario Bean Producers Marketing Board. Jim Woods of Bush Brothers, will give a canner's perspective of the Michigan dry edible bean industry, to close the morning program. Bush Brothers is known for their product, Bush's Best Baked Beans, and their commitment to cooperation in the area of promotion, Byrum says.

and troubleshooting will be discussed. The balance of the afternoon program will include presentations on dry bean varieties by Greg Varner of the Production Research Advisory Board, and Wayne Adams and Jim Kelly of the Crop and Soil Science Department of MSU.

Harold Rouget, East Central Regional crops agent of the Cooperative Extension Service, will discuss problem weeds and their control. Soil fertility for dry beans will be MSU's Don Christenson's topic, and Steve Poindexter will point out approved production practices for dry bean growers. "Where do we go from here?" will be the title of Dale Kuenzli's speech to cap off the afternoon program. Kuenzli is the President of Valley Marketing Cooperative in St. Johns. Chemical, seed, fertilizer, and other supplies will all be on hand in the exhibit area to visit with those attending Bean Day. In all, 85 exhibitors will be featured. Doors and exhibits open at 9 a.m. and the program begins at 10 a.m. The Civic Center is located just off I-675, on the north side of downtown Saginaw. The 1984 State Dry Bean Day is sponsored by the Production Research Advisory Board, Michigan Bean Commission, Michigan Bean Shippers Association and Michigan State University Agricultural Experiment Station and the Cooperative Extension Service.

40% of U.S. farmers work on land that is owned by someone else, according to a new U.S. Department of Agriculture study.

Gene Wunderlich of USDA's Economic Research Service says that about 930,000 of the nation's farmers - or 40% of the total - rent more than 400 million acres of land, which is also about 40% of the U.S. land in farms. His research is based on the 1978 Census of Agriculture and a 1979 farm finance survey. It also shows 70% of the people who rented land also owned some of the acres they farmed. Other highlights include:
■ Cash rents were required about 44% of the time, while about one-third called for shares for the landlord and tenant;
■ Landlords outnumber renters nearly 2-to-1;
■ Of the land rented for farming in 1978, nearly nine of 10 acres was owned by 1.7 million landlords who were not farm operators at the time. Among the landlords, 85% were individuals or families, 6% were partners, 3% corporations and 6% were others, including government.

Michigan's third biggest crop? Believe it or not, it may be marijuana. The lobbying group called the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws says Michigan's 1983-84 domestic marijuana harvest totals $200 million - for third place among field crops in the state. But law enforcement officials say those statistics are pure smoke. Such a total would require hundreds of large fields, which "we'd be stumbling over," says U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency agent Robert DeFauw.
Pot would displace hay and dry beans for third place in the state, behind the 1983 corn crop valued at $570 million and soybeans worth $220 million, ag experts say.

Tuscola County ag land values will rise about 5.48% this year, following action by the County Board of Commissioners last week. That's part of a 4.45% residential and ag land value jump, including a 3.84% average residential rise.
Total real true cash value of Tuscola's ag, residential and timber land is set at $1.188 billion, up $53 million from last year.

Weber will be responsible for developing educational programs about beef, sheep and swine production to assist livestock producers here, according to County Extension Director Bob Johnson.

Mel Gingrich of Bad Axe is the new president of the Huron County Corn Growers Association, following the group's first meeting last week. Ed Sweeney is vice president, John Leipprandt of Pigeon is secretary and Mike Hatlas of Owendale was elected treasurer.
Board members include Dale Ackerman and Bruce Krohn, both of Elkton. Joe Sweeney of Elkton is president of the Michigan Corn Growers Association, which conducts its annual meeting today (Wednesday) at the Colony House, near Cass City.

Burt Keefer of Pigeon is the new president of the Huron County Pork Producers Association, following action at its annual meeting last week.
John Stalter of Bay Port is vice president and Dennis Fritz of Pigeon is secretary-treasurer.
Newly-elected Board of Directors member is Dick Strieter of Bay Port. Erma Maust of Bay Port is the Porkette director.

The Huron County group has doubled its membership in the past year. A total of 91% of county hog farmers voluntarily paid the 20-cent checkoff per head last year. The national average is 60%.
Eltan Smith was re-elected Vice President of the American Farm Bureau Federation, at the group's meeting last week in Orlando, Fla. He is president of the Michigan Farm Bureau and its affiliates. The AFBF is the nation's largest farm organization, with more than 3.3 million member-families.

Alfalfa wilt is a controllable problem

According to many Midwest researchers, people are hitting the panic button unnecessarily about verticillium wilt in alfalfa. Only isolated cases of the disease have been reported from states with cool springs and falls - the Pacific Northwest, Minnesota, Montana, Wyoming, Pennsylvania and New York.
"Environmental conditions in more northerly areas are conducive for verticillium," says Dr. K.D. Johnson, agronomy expert at Purdue University.
Dr. C.C. Lowe of Cornell University in New York, says half the state's counties reported at least one case of verticillium wilt in alfalfa. In Pennsylvania, Dr. John Baylor, retired forage extension agronomist, says verticillium has been identified in central and northern regions of the state. "It's a definite threat in these areas," he adds.

Sugar campaign to finish Feb. 10

The 1983-84 sugar beet processing campaign at the Sebewing plant of Michigan Sugar Company - destined to set the best production record in the 82-year-history of the company - will be completed in about 11 to 12 days, according to Dave Sunderland, company vice president of agriculture.
He said he'd "guess" that the campaign would finish in Sebewing on Friday, Feb. 10.
This year's record is "much better" than in 1983, Sunderland said, and "everything has been going well." Early in the campaign, about 4,000 tons of beets were processed in a single day, and the average had been around 3,600 tons. Several weeks ago one of the diffusers went out of commission, and since that time production was closer to 2,800 tons. That diffuser went back into service on Sunday, Jan. 29, officials at the Sebewing plant said.

Without that breakdown, the diversion schedule would have been different, Sunderland explained. "Diversion" refers to how sugar beets are transported from a plant that has an over-supply to other plants, so that production in all plants can end at approximately the same time.
"Undoubtedly we're having the greatest production year in the history of Michigan Sugar," Sunderland declared, "and we know it'll set a new record."
"The farmers did a great job with producing the 1983 crop, and everything has gone very, very well," Sunderland stated.
"I'd like to be able to take another year just like this one for 1984-85," he concluded.

GLAUCOMA

Q. My grandfather had glaucoma and gradually lost his sight. I'm 42. Should I be concerned?

A. Your grandfather's glaucoma was probably not detected until it was too late to treat it. Today, any complete eye examination for adults over 35 includes special tests for glaucoma. An internal eye examination, a tonometry test (a painless test for measuring fluid pressure within the eye), and often a visual field examination are the best ways to detect glaucoma routinely. Early diagnosis and immediate treatment can protect your vision.

Q. Why is glaucoma so dangerous?

A. Glaucoma is an eye condition in which the normal fluid pressure (intraocular tension) in the eye builds up to a point where it causes progressive harm to vision. Chronic glaucoma is the most common kind. Usually there are no noticeable symptoms until the glaucoma begins to cause eye damage. The first signs of chronic glaucoma are generally detected during routine eye examinations. Acute glaucoma is quite painful, comes on suddenly, and must be treated immediately to save your vision.

Q. Why is glaucoma so dangerous?

A. Glaucoma is an eye condition in which the normal fluid pressure (intraocular tension) in the eye builds up to a point where it causes progressive harm to vision. Chronic glaucoma is the most common kind. Usually there are no noticeable symptoms until the glaucoma begins to cause eye damage. The first signs of chronic glaucoma are generally detected during routine eye examinations. Acute glaucoma is quite painful, comes on suddenly, and must be treated immediately to save your vision.

Rotary Youth Exchange seeks students

It has been said that the reason American youngsters do not want to participate in a Youth Exchange program is because they are afraid to leave their friends at school and make new ones by experiencing a new culture. Others say it's because they might miss Mom and Dad.

If they do consider a youth exchange program, maybe they might learn a new language... or find out something about their parents that they used to take for granted. Are you interested? If you are, consider the premier of Youth Exchange programs, the Rotary International Youth Exchange.

There are several types of Rotary IYE programs that might take you to a European country, South America, the Far East, Scandinavia, Australia or even close neighbors like Canada or Mexico. American students are hosted all over the world through Rotary IYE programs. Youngsters can live in another country for a full school year, or could live abroad for only four to eight weeks.

It's not as costly as one might think. Once you get to your destination, you'll be hosted in a good Rotary home. You will also receive an allowance while you're abroad.

For more information on "seeing the world," contact your high school principal or Scott Meyersieck at 453-2574, representing the Pigeon Rotary Club.

Retirement offers varied tax opportunities

Prepared by Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants
 Retirement can be a time of personal struggle that demands a financial balance.

ing act. Whether your retirement is a bountiful harvest or a high-wire feat, it's important that you get all you're entitled to at tax time, says the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA).

As the tax deadline nears, be sure you know how much money you can earn before you must file a return, how much you may earn before losing some of your Social Security benefits if you're eligible for a tax credit to the elderly and where to go for help with filling out your return.

If you are 65 or older, you can claim extra exemptions: one as a taxpayer plus another exemption for your age. If your spouse is also 65 or older and you file a joint return, you claim four exemptions. This means that individuals do not have to file an income tax return unless income is $4,300 or more. That's $2,000 in exemptions plus $2,300 for the standard deduction, or zero bracket amount as it is now known. If you are married and file a joint return, you do not have to file unless your combined gross income is more than $7,400.

If you receive Social Security benefits, you can earn some extra income without losing any benefits. If you are over 65 but under 70, you can earn up to $6,600 without losing any benefits. For each $2 you earn above $6,600, you will lose $1 of your benefits. If you are 70 or older, you can earn any amount without losing any benefits.

Retirees receiving Social Security benefits should also be aware of a new wrinkle in the tax law that could expose benefits to taxation next year.

To determine if your 1984 benefits will be taxed, add up your adjusted gross income, half of your annual Social Security benefits, and any interest you receive from tax-exempt bonds. For individuals, if the total of those three numbers is greater than $25,000, you will pay tax on half of your benefits or half of the excess above $25,000, whichever is less. For married couples filing jointly, if the sum of those three numbers is greater than $32,000, they will be taxed in the same manner.

The American Association of Retired Persons sponsors a fee nationwide outreach program that helps the elderly file income tax returns. Last year, the Tax-Aide program assisted more than a million persons through their 19,000 IRS-trained volunteers.

Medical help for the unemployed

The Federal Government has allocated a limited amount of funds for the purpose of providing some assistance to persons who are unemployed and who are in need of urgent, but non-emergency medical care. The funds are being distributed in the Upper Thumb area through the Huron County Health Department.

It is not the intention of the program to pay for hospitalization, emergency-room care, care which is elective, or care which has been received in the past. The funds may be used for prior-authorized doctor office visits, prescriptions and necessary lab tests.

If possible, people will be asked to pay for part of their own care.

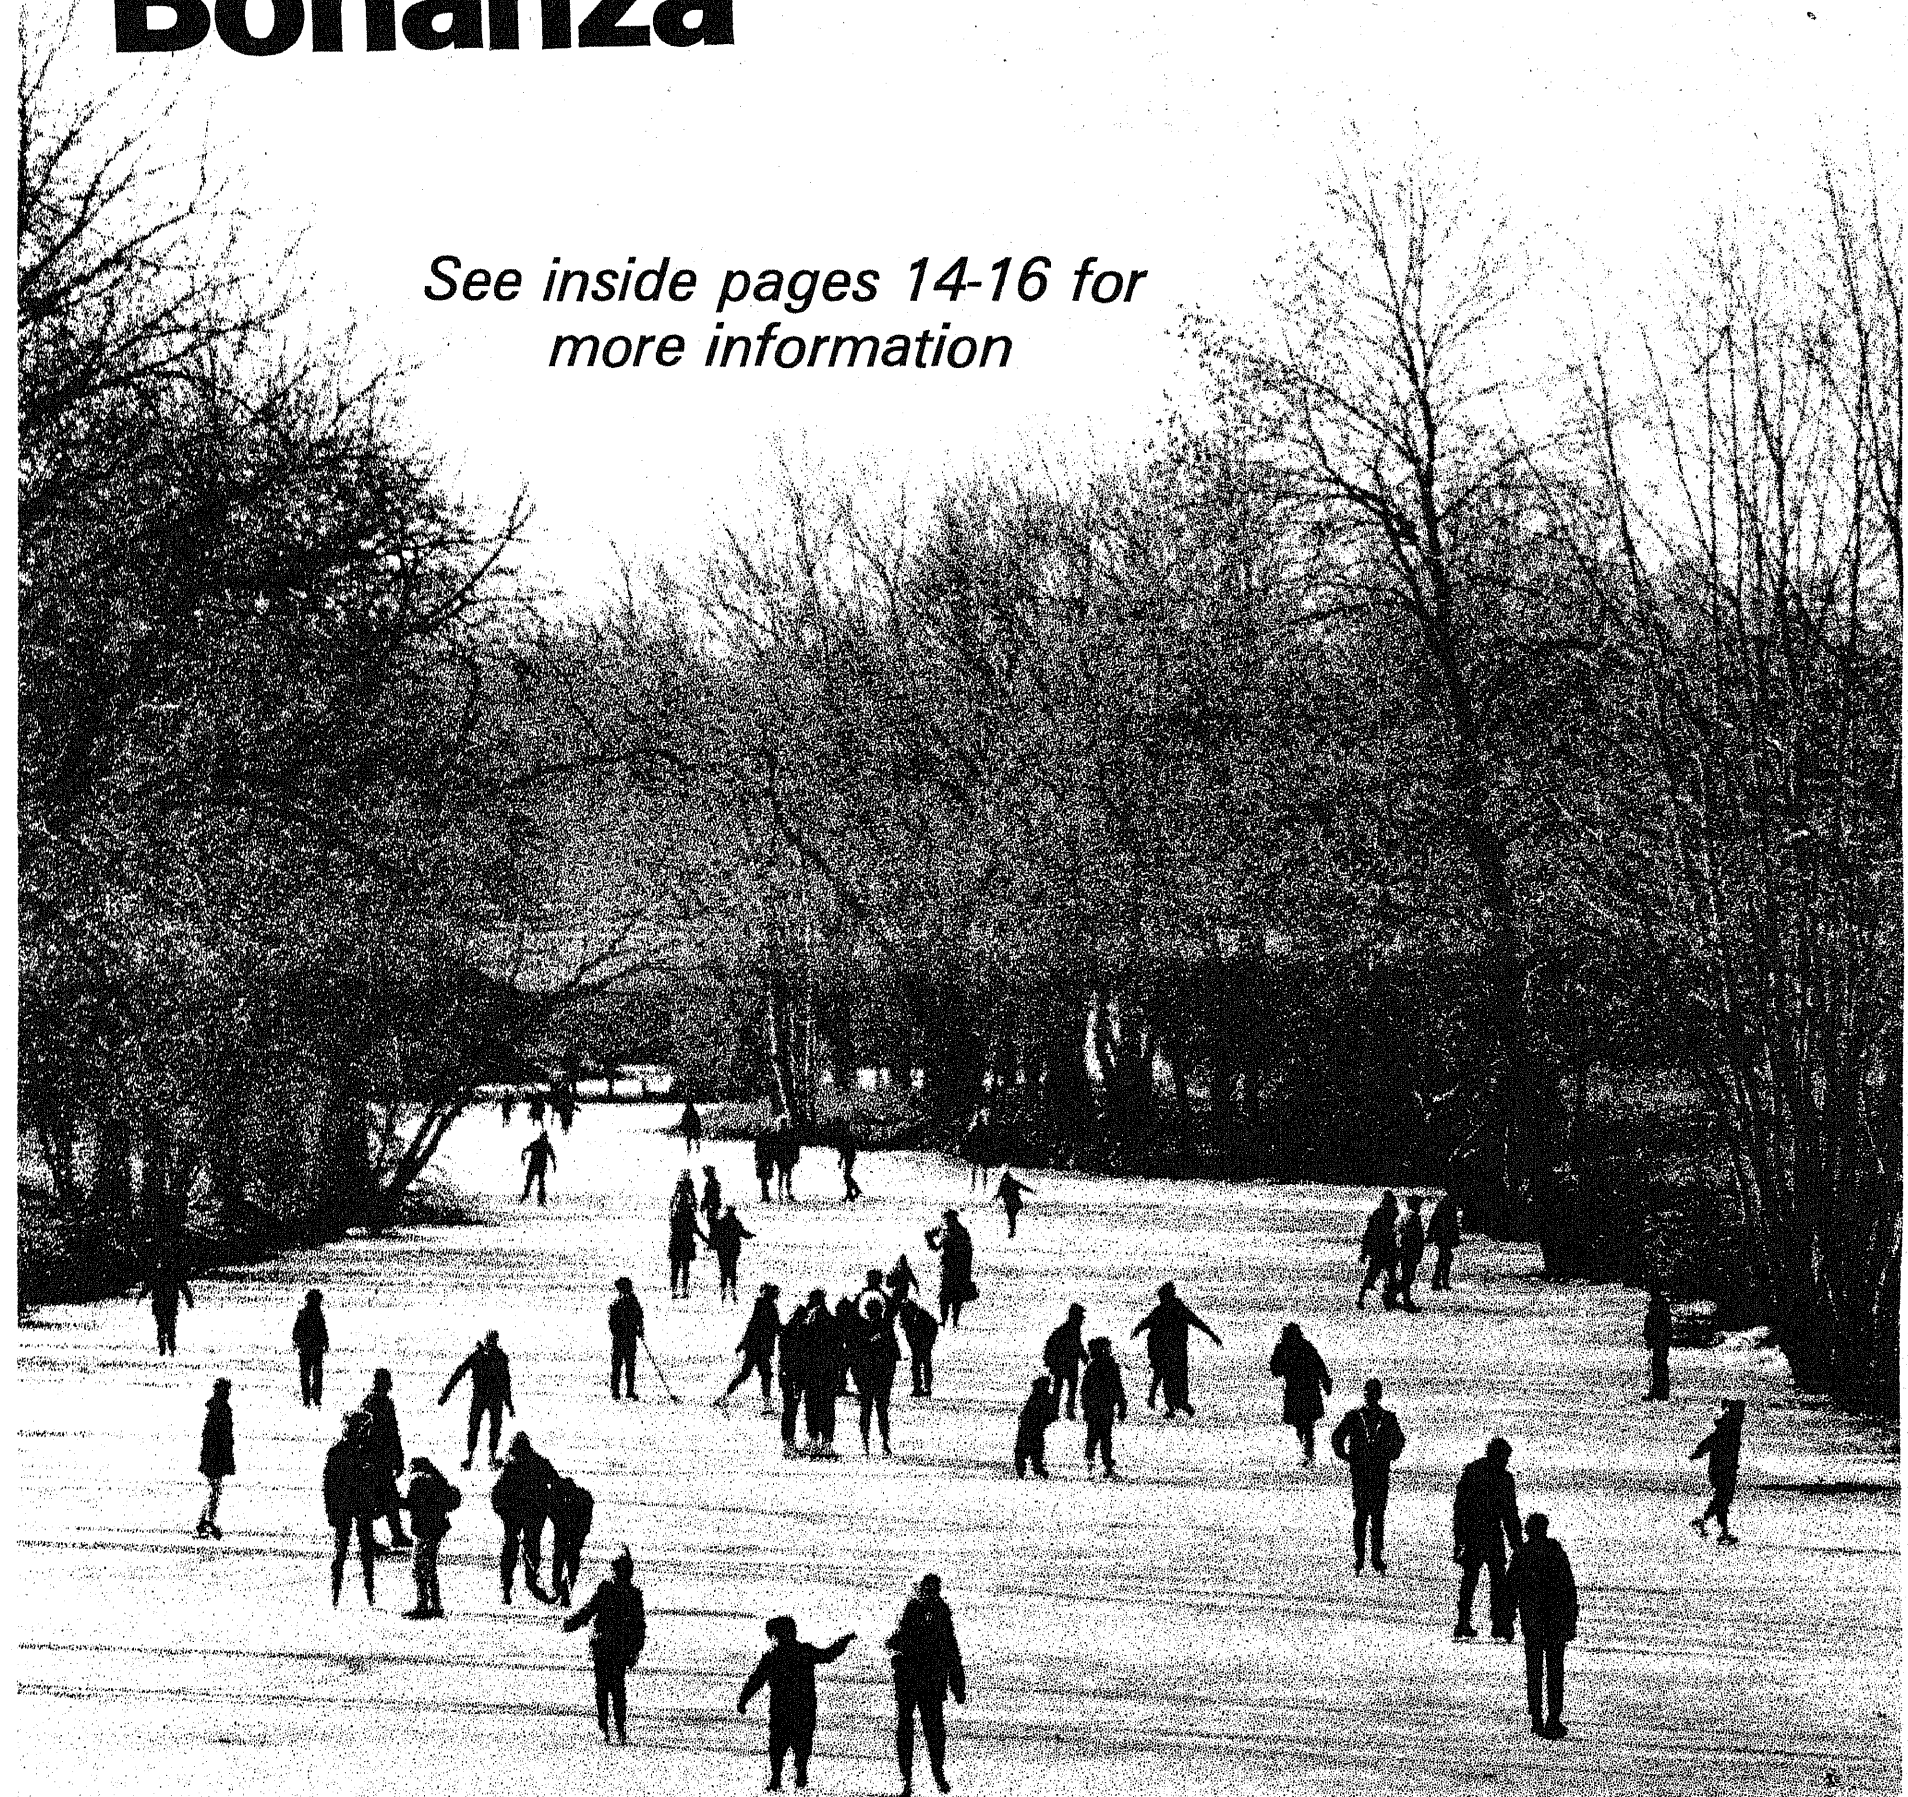

A financial means test will be used to establish eligibility. Persons who are covered by insurance or Medicaid will be asked to use those funds.

Unemployed individuals who need medical care but have no means to pay for it can contact the Huron County Health Department and ask for an appointment with a nurse. Each situation will be evaluated, and if appropriate, an authorization form will be given to take to a specific medical provider.

Enjoy Caseville's Snow Bonanza Days and Remember These Winter Survival Tips

- Many light layers of clothing are warmer than one heavy layer.
- Dark clothing will keep you warmer than light clothing.
- To prevent heat loss through your head, wear a hat.
- Tuck the ends of your scarf into your coat. This prevents accidents that happen when a scarf is caught in doors, car, elevators, etc.
- Wear boots in bad weather.
- Wool socks also do well in bad weather. They retain much of their heat when wet.
- After a long cold spell, warm days are deceptive. Bundle up because its colder than it feels.
- Frostbite can happen quickly so keep extremities such as ears and hands well protected.
- For minor frostbite, soak the area in warm water. Do not rub it.

Crappies at night

My introduction to crappie fishing came as quite a surprise. I was sitting home one night enjoying my paper while my wife was finishing the supper dishes, when the phone rang.

"How would you like to go fishing?" the voice on the other end asked.

I recognized him to be my new neighbor John Czup. I had just moved to Gladwin, and had met John through the Jaycees.

"What time will you pick me up tomorrow?" I asked back.

"Not tomorrow," John said, "Tonight. We're going after Crappies, and they hit after dark."

We made arrangements to meet at his house in half an hour, and he told me that I didn't have to bring a thing other than warm clothes.

When I arrived at John's house, he introduced me to two of his friends that would be going along. We stepped into his garage and proceeded to load the back of his station wagon. Each of the other two fellows threw in their fishing sleds. They looked strange to me, and when I saw John pull a couple of them out of the corner of his garage, I asked for an explanation.

The sleds were made from the remnants of an old toboggan. Two runners were placed about 18 inches apart and a box three feet long was mounted on top. Blocks were placed beneath the box to allow it to ride some six inches above the skis. The box had a divider located one foot from the front, resulting in two compartments. The back was the largest and with a hinged top was used to store fishing gear and fish if you were lucky enough to catch any. The front section was lined with asbestos on three sides, while the front portion was a piece of glass. The hinged top was perforated with numerous holes.

John explained that a Coleman lantern was placed in the front section. With the top down, it produced the light needed to fish at night, and the holes acted as a register to emit the warmth that the lantern created.

"They're dandies," John said. "Everybody uses this kind of sled up here. If you stay around for awhile, I'll bet you build one for yourself."

Next, John loaded a small car battery and a box that he said contained his crappie light. Poles and a couple of spuds rounded out the equipment, and we piled into the car. I looked at my watch and found that it was 10:15 p.m.

We traveled about eight miles out of town and parked the car by a small lake. Ringed by summer cottages, the lake was a busy place during the summer, but at this time of the year, and especially at night, there wasn't a light to be seen. We unloaded the car, and with each of us pulling a sled, headed on the ice.

John led the way and proceeded to a spot on the far side of the lake.

"There's a drop-off located right around here," he explained, "when the Crappies head up here to feed, we should have some fun."

"Why at night?" I questioned.

"Not really sure," John replied, "all I know is that they really hit around midnight, but we help them out with the light."

"The light?" I was asking questions again.

"You'll see," John promised, and began to unload his sled.

While John was busy hooking up the light, the other two fellows went to work with their spuds. They fashioned four holes in a small circle and then punched a rather large one in the center. John moved to this hole and brought along his crappie light. It looked like an automobile headlight, but was encased in a plastic ring. He lowered the light into the hole and the ring floated it on top of the water. Moving the battery closer to the hole, he attached the two alligator clamps and the light sent it's beam toward the bottom.

The four sleds were positioned so they faced toward the hole in the center, and the Coleman lanterns were lit and placed in the front compartment of each sled. Small rods were used to fish for Crappies, with a tiny tear-drop hook attached to two pound test line. The depth was checked, and a small bobber was adjusted to allow the hook to be about 18 inches off the bottom. The bobbers were very small, and were made of cork. The line was pushed through a small crack

Perhaps my hook was too far off the bottom, I thought. Looking into my hole, I noticed that my bobber was a couple of inches deeper than it had been before. I moved the pole to adjust it and immediately felt a slight tug on the other end of the line. Pulling frantically on the two pound test line, I soon had my first crappie on the ice. My bobber wasn't sinking as I had thought, it was the lightness of a crappies bite.

on the side, and then wedged into place by a peg pushed in the hole on top.

"Can't use plastic bobbers," John said. "These fish bite so light, you need every advantage to keep from losing them. Once they're hooked you also have to be careful of their tender mouth."

A little canister of wax worms was passed around and I impaled one on the tiny hook. "Crappies really feed on small baitfish," one of John's friends offered, "but they never seem to pass up a juicy wax worm."

I hunched forward on my sled to soak up some of the heat rising from my Coleman lantern, and watched intently as my miniature bobber lay suspended just below the surface. The time was 11:42 p.m.

"Got one," the fisherman on my right called out.

I watched as he dropped his pole and brought the 20 feet of line in with the hand over hand method. Soon a bright, dinner plate-shaped crappie was flopping on the ice.

"Keep your eyes peeled," John shouted to me, "the run may be on."

The run was on indeed. Action was occurring all over the place, all over the place except in my hole. Fish were being brought to the surface in a fast flurry of shouts and squeals. But my hole remained silent.

"Perhaps my hook was too far off the bottom, I thought. Looking into my hole, I noticed that my bobber was a couple of inches deeper than it had been before. I moved the pole to adjust it and immediately felt a slight tug on the other end of the line. Pulling frantically on the two pound test line, I soon had my first crappie on the ice. My bobber wasn't sinking as I had thought, it was the lightness of a crappies bite."

For the next hour or so I could hardly keep my hook baited. As soon as I lowered it in the hole. Their mouth was indeed tender, and for everyone that I pulled through the hole, it seemed that I would lose two. All were carbon copies of each other in size, and their soft, white flesh promised to be delicious.

They stopped as soon as they started. One minute we were catching fish, and the next minute they were gone. We scooped the fish in the box and loaded our gear. John unhooked the light and wrapped the wires up for storage in a special box that he had made.

"The secret is the light," John said. "The beam brings minnows here to feed on the microscopic organisms in the water. It just is a matter of time before the larger fish show up to feed on the minnows. But why they stop so suddenly, I'll never know."

"I don't know either," I replied, "but who cares as long as they bite like they did."

OUR FAITH SHOULD NOT BE OVERSHADOWED BY POPULAR MYTHS

We keep unaltered...as many of our old prejudices and beliefs as we can.
— William James

"There shall arise...false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders."
— Matthew 24:24

The legend that the duration of winter depends on whether or not a certain groundhog sees his shadow is a popular one that persists today, in defiance of all modern technology in weather prediction. It is still widely believed that the emergence of this famous rodent from his burrow can provide a more reliable forecast than all the meteorological instruments combined; not to mention the cold fronts and cut-off lows on the satellite map. Superstition of one kind or another has always preyed upon the gullibility of human nature, and has been known to create serious problems; notably in the study of religion. Let your House of Worship dispel any false notions you might have and shine the light of truth on the doctrine of your faith, so that you will understand it better and learn to rely on God's love and guidance; beyond a shadow of a doubt.

Area churches are combining to actualize Jesus Christ's final prayer on earth that all his followers become unified as one (John 17). This is being done in conjunction with the worldwide Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, which was celebrated around the world Jan. 18-24.

Several Pigeon churches will be marking the event in daily services next week, Feb. 6-12. Each day a service will be conducted at an area church. The public is invited, regardless of church affiliation, to each and all of the services.

The public is invited to a Winter Bible School next week at Pigeon River Mennonite Church.

The instructor, Ivan Yoder of Belleville, Penn., is scheduled to conduct sessions from 9:30 - 11:30 a.m. and 7 - 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, Feb. 6-10.

The morning session subjects will be "Philippians" and "Doctrine of the Church." Evening topics will be "Inner Healing" and "The Sermon on the Mount." Film strips on the Parables will be shown for children age 3-11 during each evening session.

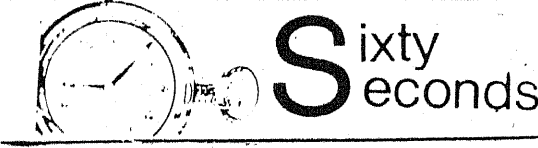

Refreshments will be served during intermissions for both morning and evening sessions.

POWERFUL PUPPETRY - The value of using puppets as a tool for reaching children was discussed at one of a dozen sessions offered Saturday at a special Sunday School Teachers Workshop at Salem United Methodist Church.

Here, Rev. Gary Butterfield and his wife Rebekah of the Bad Axe Missionary Church are behind the scenes as they demonstrate their puppets, then offer ideas on lessons, design, larger productions, etc. Other class sessions attended by over 175 participants included music, drama, youth programs, leadership, Scripture memory, story-telling, adult Bible study, etc.

God never punishes the forgiven

Read Proverbs 3:11-12
The Lord is merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy... He will not always chide. Psalm 103:8-9.

Are my crosses, my sicknesses, my disappointments and reverses sent to me as PUNISHMENTS from the heavenly Father?

Frequently these questions rush in upon the troubled heart of the believer.

When such thoughts assail us, we are to remember: GOD NEVER PUNISHES HIS CHILDREN!

He may correct them with the painful rod of bitter disappointment; but the rod is always in the hand of Him who LOVES us and gave His only Son to die for us that we might live eternally.

Our Father may CHASTEN us in love, but He will never PUNISH us in anger.

The punishment which satisfied God's justice was borne for us once and for all on Calvary's cross.

Nothing that we could do or suffer could add to, or subtract from, the all-sufficiency of Christ's atoning sacrifice.

He bore our punishment in full.

Did this day have some particular burden? Then remember: Whatever the burden, it came to us not from a God of wrath but from a God who is "merciful and gracious."

The purpose of each burden is to draw us closer to the heart of Him who is Christ has declared His eternal love for us.

Lord, may I see Thy tender love and mercy in every burden I must bear. Amen.

CAPITOL NOTES

By State Representative Dick Allen

By STATE REPRESENTATIVE DICK ALLEN SMALL BUSINESS TAX CREDIT BILL SIGNED INTO LAW.

In the waning hours of last year's session, the Legislature eliminated up to 90% of the Single Business Tax liability for small, low-profit businesses, including all companies with less than $6 million gross receipts and business income of less than $450,000.

The new law will benefit many of Michigan's 210,000 businesses, and will cost the state only $18.5 million in lost revenues.

When it was originally enacted, the Single Business Tax was designed to replace a long list of business taxes. Based on sales, payroll and profits, it was hoped the SBT would be a more stable source of state income than the old group of taxes, under which collections went up and down in accordance with Michigan's cyclical economy.

But critics of the SBT argued justifiably that because the tax was based on sales and payroll, a firm could lose money and still owe taxes. That was particularly aggravating to small businesses, especially the struggling small family firms trying to get a foothold.

With this new law, that threat is now removed, and with little impact on the state budget, since 90% of the SBT revenues come from big business.

I was happy to vote for this tax reform. It is a long overdue change which makes the tax system much fairer and delivers relief to those who most deserve it. The measure is also a good step toward making Michigan a better place to do business and in Lansing must always remember our eventual goal of revitalizing the economy of our state.

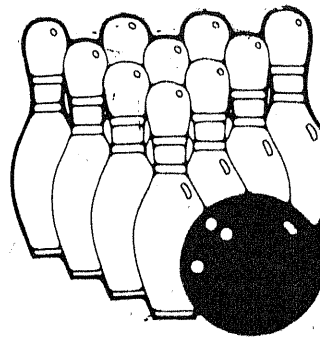

CONVICTS WOULD PAY FOR CRIME UNDER LEGISLATION.

Jail inmates can be charged for their room and board if innovative legislation approved by the Michigan House last week becomes law.

The four bill package is designed to address rapidly increasing costs of operating county jails by providing a mechanism for counties to charge and collect expenses up to $30 a day. The costs of administering the program can be included in calculating the actual cost to the inmate.

Under the provisions of the package, the county would assess the individual convict's ability to pay the cost of incarceration. Real and personal property, such as land, bank accounts, boats, cars and any gains made from illegal drug trafficking, for example, could be attached by the county. However, no lien could be placed on an individual's home to pay for jailing costs.

Because jail costs are an ever-increasing burden to taxpayers, I view this legislation as a significant step toward requiring criminals to indeed pay for their crimes.

Something To Think About

JOHN A. CHAMPAGNE - DIRECTOR AFRAID TO SAY WRONG THING Many quite close and caring friends avoid a family which has suffered a loss, or keep silent about their feelings, for fear "of saying the wrong thing." To begin with, this is not an unusual reaction. Often it is because individuals have not come to terms with their own sentiments about death.

Be it as it may, it would not be amiss to share your concerns. It might even open the door for family members to express their own doubts and feelings. The important thing is to be with them, and to show that you care. It is very rare that an honest display of humanity will be resented and misunderstood. Absence or silence, on the other hand, might be.

Electric Toothbrushes

Electric toothbrushes are the 20th century's answer to "toothbrusher's elbow." But you can do just as well manually. Their main advantage is that all you have to do is apply the brush to your teeth and the brush does all the work.

Another advantage of the electric toothbrush is its novelty value. It is a mechanical device and children are more likely to develop regular brushing habits because of their fascination with a brush that "does the work". If an electric toothbrush encourages the habit of brushing teeth on a regular schedule, it is well worth the investment.

Rathje has decided: he'll play at CMU

Laker High School senior John Rathje has decided where he'll be attending college - and playing football. The Class C All-State Football First Team member plans to sign a letter of intent to attend Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. He plans to formally sign his letter of intent next Wednesday, Feb. 8.

He has been offered a "full-ride" scholarship for football, and was recruited by CMU recruiting coach Don Petty. He was sought by several other schools, but only CMU and Western Michigan University were under final consideration. The Laker sportsman has set several all-time school records in his best year ever. He scored 25 touchdowns in the 1983 season, to lead all area scorers. Rathje rushed for nearly 1300 yards, averaging 12 yards per carry. He also gained 346 yards on 12 pass receptions. Rathje is the son of Marlin and Marian Rathje of Pigeon.

Lakers spike Patriots!

The Laker Volleyball squad overcame first game defeats in two of their last four matches to sweep a pair of matches from Unionville-Sebewaig Monday night and North Branch last Thursday.

The highly regarded USA Patriots visited the Laker gym and caused the hometown fans concern when they won the first game 16-14.

Lakers bounced back to win the first match as they earned 15-10 and 15-7 victories in the second and third games.

The Patriots were given no chance to regroup in the second match by their hosts. Lakers swept the first two games 15-7 and 15-6.

Shelly Ginter sparked the team with 20 points, 56 sets and 19 spikes. Lisa Drabek added 17 points and 44 sets to the win.

Sue Kehr was the top Laker spiker with 28 and Brenda Baker hammered 15.

JVs DEFEATED: The Laker JVs dropped a pair of games to the junior Patriots by identical 11-15 scores.

Beckie McArdle led the team with seven points and Rhonda Baur contributed 10 sets in a losing cause.

LAST THURSDAY: Lakers swept two matches with North Branch the same way they disposed of USA.

The Broncos started fast with a 15-7 win in the opening game of the night before Lakers came back to win the final two games of the match 15-13 and 15-7.

Lakers dominated the second match to earn 15-9 and 15-10 decisions.

Shelly Ginter paced the team with 16 points, 46 sets, 16 spikes (6 aces) and nine saves.

Sue Kehr recorded 22 spikes and 16 points in the win. Kris Muentner added 15 points and Lisa Drabek had 30 sets for the night.

WINNING RECORD: Following Monday's action, Lakers record stands at 15-7.

Lakers host Harbor Beach next Monday, Feb. 6 and are at home against Caro on Thursday, Feb. 9.

A combination of aggressive man-to-man defense, fast breaks and working the ball in close to the bucket on offense enabled Lakers to put the game away by the end of the third quarter. The Green Machine took a 43-28 into the final period and continued to pull away with a strong performance by the Laker reserves. Both teams substituted freely mid-way through the fourth quarter with the game already decided.

John Rathje led the Laker attack with 19 points and nine rebounds. Scott Rosenthal contributed 11 points to the win and Dave Voelker nabbed eight rebounds for the winners.

Jason Hopkins led North Branch with seven points. Laker coach Bill McLellan says his team was a little impatient against the Bronco zone defense in the first half which resulted in poor shot selection. That observation is evidenced in the 35% success rate for Laker field goal attempts.

JVs WIN: In the preliminary contest Lakers earned a 35-31 victory. Lex Miller hit two clutch free throws in the final seconds to assure the victory.

Mike McArdle led a balanced JV attack with 11 points.

PIRATES SUNK: Last Tuesday, Lakers thumped Harbor Beach 80-47 in a non-conference game at Laker gym.

The Green Machine outscored the Pirates in every quarter to dominate the action. Once again the combination a powerful front line which dominated JVs DEFEATED: The Laker JVs bowed to the Pirates by a 44-37 margin. Ron Irion scored 14 points to lead the team.

LEAGUE LEADERS: Lakers remain in second place in the Thumb B Association with a 6-1 league record and a 10-1 overall mark.

Vassar tops the Thumb B with a 7-0 league record, following their 62-42 victory over Caro Friday.

Bad Axe is third in the Thumb B race at 4-2 in the league as they were idle Friday night.

FUTURE GAMES: Lakers take to the road this week as they visit the Unionville-Sebewaig Patriots Tuesday night and Bay City All Saints on Friday.

The Laker-USA game which was snowed out earlier this season has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 7 at Laker High.

Lakers break Broncos, 59-36

The Green Machine easily disposed of two more opponents last week to extend their win streak to six games after the Vassar setback.

Lakers treated the hometown crowds to a pair of runaway victories against North Branch on Friday and Harbor Beach last Tuesday.

The North Branch Broncos proved to be no match for the powerful Elktion-Pigeon-Bay Port squad as the Laker hosts recorded a 59-36 decision.

DRIVING BY: Laker's Buck LePage dribbles past a Bronco defender who attempts a steal.

ASK DR. WALBY

By Jeff Walby, D.D.S.

In my last article, I discussed several ways to appreciate your teeth and the services they perform. But value is a relationship between quality, workmanship, an expense. The quality of your natural teeth is superior (although many don't believe it). Whether you are a creationist or an evolutionist, this fact remains constant - if God made your teeth, they must be the best available, or if millions of years of natural selection chose only the best traits, then natural teeth must have been the finest tool for the multiple tasks they perform.

The workmanship involves your personal maintenance and that of your dental team supporting you. Are you and they preventive oriented? And if problems are developing, getting to them when they are small and easily manageable is important.

And lastly, we come to expense (my least favorite topic). This is the basis for value judgement by many. The law of supply and demand comes into effect. Here I am not merely referring to the economic aspect of the law but also the numerical aspect. Somewhere between the number ten and the number thirty two there is a shift from demand to over-supply. This sounds like a very weird opinion, but the reasoning behind it is quite sound. I thought about the useful parts of the body and how many of each we are blessed with. We all have one nose and one head. (Surely we would like to keep it that way!) We have two eyes, two ears, two lips, two arms, two legs, two feet, two hands, two kidneys etc. and we would like to keep it that way. We all have ten toes and ten fingers and surely we would like to keep it that way. We wouldn't want any artificial parts in any of the above categories. We would do our best to preserve and protect what we have - they are the best, the original parts, factory firsts, standard equipment, the real me! Most of us come equipped with thirty two teeth, yet many have no qualms concerning removal of a useful tooth. We all have millions of hair follicles and are unconcerned about the few that end up in the hair brush each day knowing replacement parts are available, not as easily cared for, or table, but available. But with hair, most don't have a choice. So somewhere between ten and thirty two the change from demand to over-supply takes place.

The choice is available to you regarding your teeth though. It all depends on their worth to you. How do you rate their value?

Patterson pinned his opponent in the heavyweights division and Jim Chapin earned a decision in the 98 pound division for Lakers only wins. Marlette outpointed Lakers 54-12 in the match.

Happy birthday, Mr. P: To the greatest teacher ever and to the best friend any kid could want at the junior high.

I had to call last week and leave three messages. Why is there only a 30-second time to talk on SOUND-OFF?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The short message time is intentional. We're looking for brief questions, compliments and comments. If your message takes more than two calls, consider writing it and turning it in before 9 p.m. each Monday night. We welcome written SOUND-OFFS, too.

Twenty years ago, a Federal Grant was provided to Caseville to build what is now the State Docks. At that time, opponents of the dock gave warnings and guarantees that property taxes will increase to pay for the docks, property values will decrease, the noise will be unbearable, only a select few with big boats will be privileged to use it, etc.

Despite all their doomsayings, the known facts today are the docks have been self-supporting. They provide employment for many people, did not affect property value and best of all, they have added thousands of dollars to the Township treasury.

So it makes one wonder why these same old, tired and worn out cliches are being resurrected to fight an airport that will improve the economy, as the docks did!

Attention theatre lovers: the new Theatre for the Performing Arts of Laker High School and this community would like to establish a costume wardrobe. We need your help. Any clothes for example, party dresses, suits, hats, jewelry, etc., that are useable should be brought to the Laker High office. And, any old garment racks will be appreciated. Thanks, Chris Schulz.

My family and I certainly enjoyed the second Craft and Merchant Day at the Pigeon VFW last Friday. A special thanks to Otto Fluegge and his Fluegge Foods workers, for providing excellent food samples. It was a real highlight of the day.

I'm sick and tired of the poor street cleaning we get here. All the snow from the street is put into my driveway and it's just not right. And they're talking about sidewalk cleaning in Pigeon. Why can't we have it here? Where am I supposed to walk all winter, in the street where it's dangerous?

F. in Caseville: Certainly there are problems in Caseville, but I fail to understand your logic that all the problems past and present exist because an airport is being proposed. Please explain?

To all Laker High grads: remember the grand celebration for our 25th year of consolidation on Sept. 22. An entire weekend homecoming is being planned, including a pep rally, bonfire, parade, barbecue, dinner, dance and homecoming game. Contact class members, and volunteer to help out!

Bay Port RLDS presents Bible video

Thumb Area residents are offered an opportunity to view the Bible in a "new light" as the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (RLDS) of Bay Port is sponsoring a video presentation of the "New Media Bible."

The video presentation will begin Sunday, Feb. 5 at 7 p.m. and continue on each Sunday evening through April 1.

According to Bay Port RLDS Elder Ervin Haley, the "New Media Bible" is acted and narrated professionally on video by the Genesis Project of Washington, DC. Many events of the Bible are presented in the video tapes after careful examination of artifacts, costumes and other details of Biblical life. The creation of the video was completed after careful research of the King James version of the Bible, Elder Haley notes.

"We're excited because the video takes us to the Holy Land on site. Local actors from the Holy Land and extras were selected to assure more authentic faces and some dialog is done in their local dialect," says Elder Haley. "We think the presentation will enrich Biblical understanding for our day." The public is invited to attend free of charge to see each weekly presentation, says Elder Haley.

Cross Lutheran School is the collection point for any type of aid for Mr. and Mrs. Avalos and their young daughter. Persons may bring their contributions to the school between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. any day this week, and from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday or Sunday. "They lost everything, and they need our help," noted Congregation President Ray Licht. All donations will be turned over to the family later this week, Licht said. A residence will also be needed, as the family is staying with relatives at this time.

Michigan motorists are highest taxed

Michigan motorists are the highest taxed in the nation when gasoline taxes increased 2 cents per gallon on Jan. 1, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.
With the new tax, a gallon of gas priced at $1.26 (based on Auto Club's statewide average for self-serve no-lead), will have 28.4 cents tax as part of the cost: 15 cents state gas tax, 4.4 cents sales tax and 9 cents federal gas tax.
Most of the $65 million raised by the new tax increase will be used to repair and maintain the current road and highway system. Thirty-five percent of the money goes for work on state highways and the remainder for county roads, municipal streets and public transportation projects (bus, rail and subway).
In addition to the gas tax hikes, the cost of registering a new car in Michigan increased last Oct. 1 when the state switched from fees based on vehicle weight to a tax based on price, Auto Club says. License plate or tabs fees for pre-1984, non-commercial light trucks and vans still will be based on weight.
"Plates purchased for new cars, trucks and vans jumped at least $4 and as much as $200," said Gibson. "Transportation officials are hoping to raise an additional $32 million this year from license fees."
The tax schedule for a new car starts at $30 for a vehicle whose base price (not including taxes, transportation costs or options) is $6,000 or less. From $6,000 to $7,000, the tax will be $33 and it goes up $5 for each additional $1,000 increase in base price. Vehicles which list for more than $30,000 are taxed at a flat .5 percent of the base price.

time be able to deduct it from their federal income taxes, according to Auto Club.

Albion names Dean's List

Three Huron County students have been named to the Dean's List at Albion College following the fall semester.
Kris C. Deming, son of William L. Deming, Keri A. King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary R. King and David J. Watts, son of Mrs. Janet E. Watts, are among 312 students to be named to the list.

Students must maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average (based on a 4.0 system) to earn a spot on the roster.
Albion, founded in 1835 and located in the south central Michigan town of the same name, is a privately supported liberal arts college.

V-BALLERS DROP HATCHER MATCHES

It was not a good week for Caseville volleyball teams who dropped all their matches to the visiting Bad Axe Hatcher Matches.
The Varsity Eagles came up short in both matches 5-15, 10-15 and 7-15, 1-15 as the Hatchets cruised to an easy victory. "We just weren't fired up," cited one Eagle team member. Aileen Simet was the top scorer for the Eagles with nine points.
The Junior Varsity Eagles battled with the Hatchets but came up short 13-15 in the first game. Caseville was defeated 7-15 in the second game. Kathy Schramms led the Eagles with 11 points.
CHEERS TO QUEEN ROBIN!
Congratulations go to junior Robin Bond, who was chosen Miss Caseville on Saturday evening during the Snow Bonanza Queen's Banquet at the Bella Vista Inn. "Twelve other girls vied for the title of Miss Caseville, but Robin captured the crown. "I'm not just happy," she exclaimed, "I'm thrilled!"

chosen Miss Caseville on Saturday evening during the Snow Bonanza Queen's Banquet at the Bella Vista Inn. "Twelve other girls vied for the title of Miss Caseville, but Robin captured the crown. "I'm not just happy," she exclaimed, "I'm thrilled!"

Gary Erickson led the Bulldogs with 17 points, followed by John Shope with 13. Caseville's efforts were led by Brian Gembarski and Tony Seagraves, with 14 and 12 points respectively. The Eagles are still seeking their first win of the season.

EAGLES LOSE TO BULLDOGS

The Caseville Eagles lost a heartbreaking Tuesday evening when they were defeated by the Owen-Gage Bulldogs by a score of 59-57. Owen-Gage jumped out and scored early, leading the Eagles by 11 points at the half.
The Eagles came back in the third quarter, outscoring the Bulldogs, 24-12 and taking a one-point lead. But the final quarter belonged to Owen-Gage, who won the game by two points.

BOOK DONATIONS

The Pigeon District Library has received two donations of books recently from St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid and Dr. and Mrs. Pedro A. Ruiz de Castilla.

The St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid donated two books titled "Martin Luther - Companion to the Contemporary Christian" by Robert Kolb and David Lumppp and "In Christ, My Lord" by Barbara Owen Webb.

Dr. and Mrs. Castilla donated a Webster's New Universal Unabridged Dictionary for reference use in the library.

The library is very grateful for the contribution to the collection. We're sure many patrons will enjoy these books in the years to come.

MEET OUR STAFF

The library has a new staff member, Virginia Fibranz, who began working in December.

Her duties include circulation, keeping the vertical file up-to-date, cleaning, filing and organizing book shelves.

Mrs. Fibranz lives near Caseville, has two children and her hobbies include reading, crocheting, cooking and ice skating.

STORY HOUR REGISTRATION CORRECTION

There was some confusion about last week's article concerning Preschool Story Hour Registration.

The $2 fee covers anyone who has registered their child since June of 1983. The next registration fee will be due this July, 1984. If you have not registered your child since June of 1983, please stop in soon and do so. Just stop by the circulation desk when you bring your child in for Story Hour.

This $2 donation will be used to purchase supplies for the Story Hour program.

PRESCHOOL STORY HOUR

"Lost and Found" will be the theme of Preschool Story Hour on Tuesday, Feb. 7.

"Come Play Hide and Seek," "Are You My Mother?" and "Have You Seen Louie?" will be the featured stories. Jane Himmel and Peggy Karl also plan exercises, songs, games, fingerplays and a take-home project in addition to the stories.

Because this is the first Tuesday of the month, children are invited to bring in objects for "Show and Tell."

Two sessions of Story Hour are held weekly, from 9 to 10 a.m. and from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. All area preschoolers are invited.

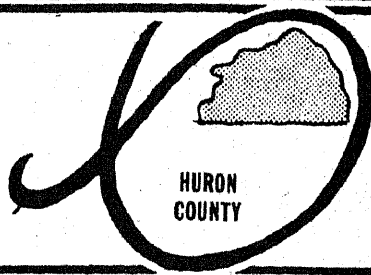

SATURDAY STORY HOUR

"Animals" will be the theme of Saturday Story Hour on Feb. 4 at 1 p.m. at the library.

"Albert the Albert," "Doctor's Rabbit's Lost Scout" and "The Pig Who Saw Everything" will be the featured stories.

Peggy Karl will be in charge and plans games and a take-home project in addition to the stories. A special filmstrip, "Androcles and the Lion" will be shown.
