Pigeon EDC rolling on way to $50,000 start-up

Faupel and Jim Sting. The group plans to improve business and industrial opportunities in the village through local and state economic development projects.

About $30,000 has already been deposited for community development programs being undertaken by the Pigeon Economic Development Corporation, which is in its chartering process.

Plans for the organization have been underway for more than six months, according to President Carol Diener. "The Pigeon EDC has set its primary goal as the revitalization and improvement of our downtown area, to allow our community to continue its growth."

Besides expanding its downtown retail store base, the EDC is working toward improving industrial offerings, to provide jobs and a greater tax base for the Pigeon area.

"Plus, we want to help coordinate local residential growth, if possible. No other group can do this type of work. We have to do it ourselves, as business owners and business supporters," Mrs. Diener says.

Small, informational meetings have been conducted since February, to make more than 130 persons aware of the group's proposals. Pledges from nearly 50 of $1000 or more to purchase stock in the EDC have been signed, plus about $30,000 has already been received to begin work on Pigeon's greatest needs.

Some of the early goals of the Pigeon EDC include: ■ jewelry and gift store; ■ securing land or buildings for possible light industrial expansion; ■ use vacant buildings or clear land to make it available for alternate uses; ■ update zoning laws, to allow state funding; ■ use vacant train depot; ■ provide furniture store; ■ offer more store selection; ■ hire parttime or fulltime community development director to get grants; ■ improve all town store fronts; ■ secure chiropractor's office hours; ■ children's clothing store, and ■ more use of Farmers' Market.

"We started compiling a list of what our community needs and it quickly grew to more than 35 items," Mrs. Diener says. "Some of these things can't be done or won't be done for many years, but a large number of them are possible -- and by spending a small amount of seed money to help get them started."

And, simply compiling such a list of community needs has been very helpful, she adds.

"Four or five of the things on our list have already started to take shape," she says, including plans for a jewelry store and furniture store.

The EDC does not plan to simply give away money -- rather, it offers alternative financing or assistance. Funds which are provided to help businesses begin functioning will be repaid, in much the same way the original Pigeon Improvement Company functioned 30 years ago.

Pigeon Improvement volunteers -- led by Cliff Bailey, the late Dr. Clare Scheurer and others -- provided funding and assistance to build the Pigeon Manufacturing Corp. plant, the Alton Company building, the Dutch Kettle - Pigeon Lanes building and other projects.

Pigeon Improvement originally asked its members for $1000 each -- which was totally repaid, along with more than $900 in interest, before the group was disbanded two years ago.

"We don't have such plans," Mrs. Diener says of today's new group, "although we hope to do as well. We believe our contributions now will help make Pigeon even more liveable in the future, to continue improvements in our area."

Persons interested in learning more about the Pigeon EDC can contact any of the Board members for details.

IN PIGEON,

Here's a word to the wise: You'd better be wearing a "Pigeon Farmers' Festival" button from now through July 29 -- or you'll be "asked" to buy one!

Nearly all Pigeon Chamber of Commerce member stores are selling the blue and white buttons, which help raise funds for the 11th annual event, which features a weekend of entertainment July 26 through July 29.

At least one Chamber volunteer regularly "corals" non-button-wearers -- and sold more than 600 buttons last year!

Michael Twitty headlines the entertainment, as the singing son of country music's Conway Twitty performs under the stars at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, July 27 at Pigeon Recreation Park.

Other features and new events this year include:

WEDNESDAY, JULY 18: Pigeon Lions start things off early with the first $15,000 Safari at Pigeon VFW Hall. All tickets are sold, with a $10,000 Savings Bond Grand Prize.

TUESDAY, JULY 24: Pigeon

Area Jaycettes kick off the 1984 Farmers' Festival Week with their annual Talent Show. Acts are still being sought, by calling 453-2439 or 453-2259.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 25: Second annual FF Golf Tourney at Scenic Golf & Country Club. To register, call 453-2742 or 453-3113.

THURSDAY, JULY 26: Horse and buggy rides are offered along the Old Fashioned theme, sidewalk sales begin and free farm tours are offered. At 4 p.m., the first annual Invitational Kiddy Tractor Pull is planned, and Judge Roy "Hang 'em High" Lawrence will be in his Kangaroo Kourt (for non-button-wearers...).

FRIDAY, JULY 27: Special displays and shows continue throughout the village, the Kids' and Pet Parade is planned, kids' games are featured and the women's invitational softball tourney starts, to benefit community projects.

SATURDAY, JULY 28: The

BOOOOM! Fireworks Saturday

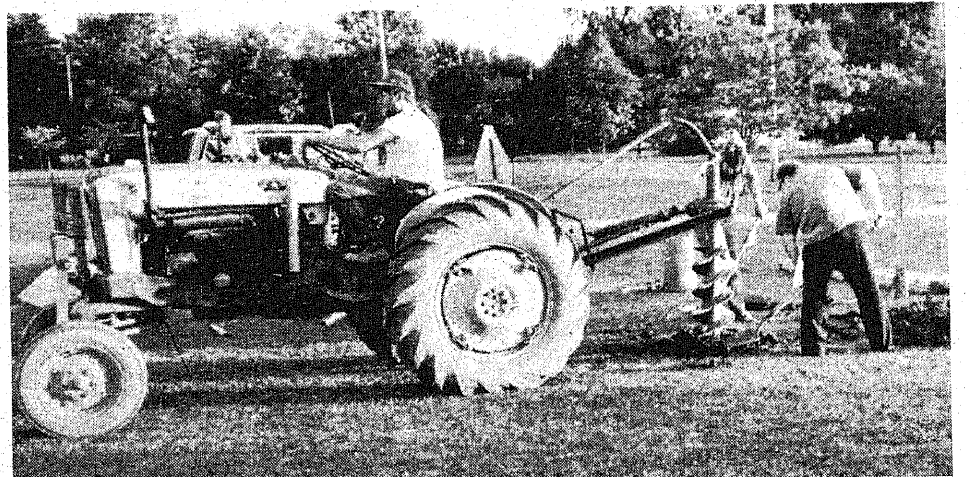

An evening fireworks show is planned at Caseville County Park by Wally and Barb Johnson and the Caseville Chamber of Commerce this Saturday, July 7.

The free program should begin at dusk.

third annual Road Race steps out, the Grand Parade featuring more than 200 units begins at 1:30 p.m. and more fun continues, according to Chamber of Commerce President John Walsh.

SUNDAY, JULY 29: Community church service starts at 11 a.m. and activities wind down.

Consult the blue and white master schedule for details.

PLAYGROUND IMPROVEMENTS: New swings, climbing toys and more activities have been added to the Pigeon Recreation Park, thanks to efforts by the Pigeon Area Jaycettes during the 1983 Farmers' Festival.

Here, Jaycee volunteers are shown assisting the Jaycettes as they install the toys, available now for use by youngsters. The $1000 project was financed through profits from Jaycette activities last year, according to President Tammy Elenbaum. COMMUNITY CAMERA PHOTO

Pigeon man re-elected to Conservation post

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
Bob Baur of Pigeon was re-elected twice last Thursday evening at the Huron Soil Conservation District 19th Annual Meeting.

Bob Baur defeated Ron Lutz of Sebewaing for the only district directors position up for election this year. In the director's meeting, following the general meeting, he was also re-elected Chairman of the Board.

All other officers were also re-elected. They include Vice-Chairman Walter Cook of Harbor Beach, Treasurer Clayton Diebel of Elkton and Secretary Earl Braun of Harbor Beach. Louis Osentoski of Ubyly is the other district director.

named Conservation Farmer of the Year, and also received the No-Till award for the second consecutive year. His yield of 135.4 bushels per acre of corn was tops in that division.

Gingrich noted he originally became involved with conservation techniques when he began chisel plowing to allow his young son to drive the tractor.

"With the chisel plow it didn't matter if he wasn't able to drive in a straight line," Gingrich said. "He didn't drive very straight either," he added with a chuckle.

Leroy and Alvin Gnagey, both of Bay Port were winners of the Conservation Tillage Contest. They produced 187.5 bushels of corn per acre to win the award.

When asked the secret of his success, Leroy replied, "My secret was using the Agri-SC soil conditioner." That drew a laugh from the members of the audience who know he is a dealer for the agricultural product.

Awards in land judging by local chapters of Future Farmers of America were also presented. Six area high schools were represented by 180 students in the competition.

The Port Hope FFA chapter won the team competition, and team member Gregg Witherspoon won the award as the best judge from his school. Other top judges from each of the FFA chapters represented included: Troy Schuette of Laker High, Crystal Ziel of North Huron, Dan Guza of Harbor Beach, Darrel Peruski of Ubyly and Steve Shaw of Bad Axe.

Clayton Diebel was presented an award for 20 years of distinguished service on the district board. He noted many changes have occurred during that time. Although conservation techniques have improved, examples of soil washing into ditches along roads can still be observed, he noted.

Those in attendance were informed of a no-till and ridge-till tour on July 10. The event is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. at the corner of Pinnebog and Richardson Roads.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by the Prospective Lake Huron Chapter of Sweet Adelines. They were directed by Marian Rathje of Pigeon.

Vandalism frustrates Caseville church members

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

Several incidents of vandalism have not halted land clearing at the future site of the new church building for the Abundant Life Fellowship.

Five gauges, an hour meter and several filters were damaged on a bulldozer belonging to Gary Krueger of Caseville while parked at the Oak Point location sometime between June 22 and 26.

A tractor belonging to Frank Scepanski of Caseville was also damaged in the incident.

The damages, estimated at $400, are believed caused by a high-powered BB gun.

In a separate incident, BB gunshots are also believed responsible for shooting out a window of a car owned by Don Belmont of Caseville, according to Abundant Life Fellowship Pastor Jim Miller. The car was parked at the site during the Memorial Day weekend, he says.

A 12- by 18-foot storage building at the site was pushed on its side. A corner of the building and the locked door were both damaged by the vandals' actions.

Footprints in the wet ground near the damaged structure indicated the presence of three individuals, Miller says.

Several people who were seen in the area with BB guns were questioned by Huron County Sheriff deputies, but the suspects denied any involvement in the incidents.

As a result of the vandalism, Caseville Township Police, State Police and the Huron County Sheriff's Department have all agreed to increase the frequency of patrols in the area, says Miller.

Clearing of the land at the site is nearly complete and construction of the church

OBSERVATIONS BY PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!

SUMMER BREEZE — To those of us who get tired of summer's mugginess, just remember how we yearned for any temperature above 30 degrees just a few months ago! It seems more and more stores are air conditioned now, to help ease that sticky moistness.

And anyway, you know Michigan... Within six months (or probably less), it will be 30 degrees and cooler again! Enjoy this hot stuff while we can!

LIGHTNING STRIKES — Have you seen any lightning bugs lately? Surprisingly, we've seen 'em two different times in the past two weeks — and so have other local folks.

Roger and Linda Fritz near Owendale had one on the dashboard inside their pickup truck last week. Linda's brother Tom has had a crew of the bright little bugs, too, on his farm near Owendale.

Maybe we're having a lightning bug convention here (this IS a nice area for it...)

PRESIDENTIAL PICKS — Remember you heard it here first. Walter Mondale will indeed be the Democratic nominee (remember, we said that here months ago...) but don't expect for one minute he'll pick a woman as his vice president. No way! His pollsters see he'd lose as many male votes that way as he'd gain in women's ballots!

Expect one of the tired (but white, nevertheless) faces we've come to expect from Washington. Either Gary Hart, Lloyd Benston or another. No women, no blacks, nothing else "new."

And the outcome on Nov. 6 (again, you heard it here first): Reagan and Bush 62% of the vote; Mondale and his man 32%. We honestly believe there are millions of Reagan supporters out there who will do what Chicago newspaper columnist Mike Royko told them to do: lie to exit pollsters. We think Reagan's support is so strong among "his" people — and that they purposefully maintain a low profile — he'll win in a mile.

We KNOW the polls will get closer as the day comes. We KNOW Reagan will mess up in some speech (the incumbent always has, in recent years) and Mondale will try to turn it into something big — but expect four more years of Ronald Reagan in the White House, for better or worse.

What do you think? Let us know!

GOOD IDEA, BABY — Son-in-law Dale Collision of our next-door neighbor at the Rummel Ranch had a great idea across the fence Sunday afternoon.

"I expect you'll be giving away semi-sweet bars of chocolate instead of cigars," Dale laughed, concerning the upcoming attraction Sally and I expect any day now. Considering we enjoy chocolate more than stogies, that's not a bad idea, Dale!

Wonder if you can get semi-sweet bars that say "It's a Boy" or "It's a Girl"....

WISH I'D SAID THAT — The story of a love is not important. What is important is that one is capable of love. It is perhaps the only glimpse we are permitted of eternity. (Helen Hayes)

CCC plans candidates' meeting July 18

A "meet the candidates night" is planned for Wednesday, July 18 by the Concerned Citizens of Caseville (CCC) to introduce all persons running for township offices to the group and any other interested voters.

The meeting is planned at 7 p.m. at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, M-25 at Crescent Beach Road.

Several township candidates have said they cannot attend the recently-announced meeting because of prior commitments.

The public is invited to attend, CCC representatives say.

A leader in the CCC group disputes figures published in last week's Progress-Advance, concerning how much property is owned or optioned for the proposed general aviation Caseville Township Airport.

Dolores Bieri, who stepped down June 28 as CCC President, says her inspection of records in the Huron County courthouse show the private group buying or optioning land for the airport has about 207 acres in its control, in the area proposed for the paved facility, located in the two-mile area bounded by Crescent Beach, Caseville and Dunn Roads and M-25.

This is in opposition to airport land buyers, who say their private group has ownership of or options for nearly 385 acres of property.

Mrs. Bieri said the CCC's original goal is still being sought — to get a public vote on the proposed airport.

Three separate legal opinions sought by the present Caseville Township Board said such a vote would not be binding nor possible, since no local funds are involved and since the project begun in 1980 is under federal aviation funding guidelines.

Members of the CCC are seeking the recall of four of the five Caseville Township officials, including Supervisor James Reeves, Clerk Wallace Hart and Trustees Michael Power and Wayne Anderson. None of the four were in office in 1980 when the airport resolution was adopted by the township.

The recall election date will be set sometime in mid-September, marking the first such recall vote in recent Huron County history, according to County Clerk Helen Lemanski.

Correction

A story in last week's Progress-Advance indicated Pigeon Village residents may have to pay a $5 fee to interrupt trash collection services.

That is incorrect. The $5 fee now charged to connect or disconnect water service will also cover trash collection starts and stops, according to information received following that meeting.

Thumb Weekly News Round-Up

JONES PLEADS GUILTY

Billy Ray Jones of Pigeon is awaiting sentencing for the Feb. 10 stabbing of 26-year-old Joseph Guster, following Jones' plea of guilty Friday to a reduced charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Jones was being held on charges of assault with intent to murder, following the stabbing incident outside the Riverside Bar, Caseville. County Prosecutor Karl Kraus was seeking to postpone Jones' trial date, since Guster's condition has not improved significantly since the stabbing. He reportedly suffered brain damage in the stabbing and resulting blood loss.

Huron County Circuit Judge M. Richard Knoblock will sentence Jones on the reduced charge in the near future.

DEATH CHARGE: MANSLAUGHTER

C. Raymond Schweitzer of Sand Point has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in the June 2 shooting death of Patrick J. Rogers, 24 of Caseville.

The 71-year-old Schweitzer was bound over to Huron County Circuit Court on the charge last week, following his preliminary examination in District Court. His original charge had been open murder and using a firearm in commission of a felony. The involuntary manslaughter charge carries a maximum sentence of 15 years in jail, a possible fine or both.

Schweitzer's pre-trial exam in Circuit Court is set for Friday, July 13. He stood mute Friday before Circuit Judge M. Richard Knoblock, and a "not guilty" plea was entered for him.

Rogers was shot in the back at close range with a shotgun after 11 p.m. that Saturday night. His body was found partly inside Schweitzer's car in Schweitzer's driveway.

TUSCOLA BALLOT BOO-BOO

Caro Community Schools will lose an estimated $600,000 during the present school year because of incorrect wording on the recent four-mill increase request.

Caro Superintendent Paul Dressel said the millage increase wording specified the years "from 1985 to 1987." This eliminates the collection of the added millage in this 1984 year. Supt. Dressel called the situation an unfortunate human error.

The Caro Board of Education was forced to reduce its projected budget by $129,000 this year — and the expected $500,000 fund equity will be gone by next summer, when the tax increase collections will begin.

In other action at last week's Caro Board meeting, Dressel's salary was increased $3000 to $48,000 annually, plus his contract was extended one additional year.

BEAN RE-PLANTINGS DONE

Up to three-quarters of local farmers have re-planted some or all of their navy beans, following last week's continuing rains. And, the four-plus inches of rainfall last week have jeopardized corn and sugar beet fields, too.

Low field spots have had beans and corn completely wiped out, while whole stands of beans are being re-planted — some for the second time, experts say.

Now, fast-growing bean varieties such as Seafarers (85-day growing season) must be used if fields are to be re-planted, in the race to beat fall rains and frost.

The wet weather has been good for wheat and oats, but hay handling has been difficult due to the excessive moisture.

AWARENESS DAY THIS MONDAY

The second annual Huron County Awareness Day will bring nearly 200 state legislators, department workers and lobbyists to the tip of the Thumb this Monday, July 9 — to show them what's offered in Huron County.

Breakfast and lunch are planned in Port Austin, followed by fishing for perch and trout, according to County Awareness Day Committee Chairman Ralph Iden. Also planned are several tours local industry, followed by a Harbor Beach dinner barbecue.

POLICE NEWS UPDATE

Two 17-year-old Western Thumb youths are expected to face charges in an incident involving a Chesapeake & Ohio Railway freight train and starter pistols.

Police say a Sebewaing and a Bay Port youth were each detained after a Tuesday evening incident when a pistol was pointed at a southbound train, near the Fair Haven and Sebewaing Township lines. Railroad police and the Huron County prosecutor are discussing charges, police say.

Jim Leipprandt, 22 of Pigeon, was treated at Scheurer Hospital for injuries sustained when his motorcycle collided with a pickup truck driven by Doug Edler of Elkton Saturday afternoon. Leipprandt was southbound on Sturm Road near Crown Road when the collision occurred, as Edler turned left into a private drive, Huron County Sheriff's Deputies say.

FIRE AND COURT NEWS

A Rose Island house was extensively damaged Friday night when fire swept the upstairs area. Fair Haven Township Firemen answered the call at the Fred Thorp house on Outer Drive about 6:45 p.m., according to Assistant Chief Dan Terrian. No one was home and Sebewaing Firemen assisted at the scene until 9:30 p.m.

Scott Harder, 27 of Bay Port, was sentenced to one year in the Huron County Jail and Karla Harder, 30 of Bay Port, got a three-year probation in embezzlement charges over $100 in Huron County Circuit Court. She is to serve the first 30 days of the probation in jail, and will repay $1240 in restitution or face a longer term. They're charged in 1983 and '84 incidents against a Bay Port man.

David Cunningham, 18 of Elkton, pled guilty to impaired driving charges, was ordered to pay $350 in fines and lost driving rights for 90 days.

Max Morey, 23 of Sebewaing, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and ordered to repay $747 in damages at Shoreline Ford, Sebewaing, in a June 12 incident. He had been charged with malicious destruction of police property before Huron County District Judge John Schubel last week.

"PAIN — AN ANGEL IN DISGUISE"

Americans spend billions of dollars every year to treat one condition: PAIN! In our consultations with patients we have a question: "How long has it been since you really felt good?"

It is amazing how many patients answer that question: "I don't know", and many say 5 years or 10 years. Everyday millions of Americans wake up and the first thing they perceive is PAIN. Have you ever stopped to think what pain is? Why did the good Lord create it anyway? We could enjoy life so much more without it. Actually pain is not a condition at all. It does not strike you from nowhere. Pain is the effects of the body's built in alarm system. It's simply a warning telling you something is wrong with the body. It's like the red light in your car. When it goes on, it is a warning that something is wrong with the motor. Now you can take a hammer and smash out the red light and say, "Well, we solved that problem," but that doesn't correct the cause. That's what people do when they live on pain pills. They stop nature's warning sign temporarily pretending they are healthy again while the condition causing the pain continues and progresses.

I had a patient in the other day. She said, "I have 3 boyfriends. Arthur Itis, Ben Gay, and Charlie Horse" as she had treated the symptoms for years.

Each ache or pain, and every sign or symptom of physical disorder, be it numbness, tingling, indigestion, constipation, etc., can be early warning signs of impending trouble. If you didn't have pain to tell you a burp was turning into an ulcer, it would kill you without you even knowing you had a problem.

If you've been buying the large economy sizes of aspirin or over the counter medicines, you're asking for trouble as all you're doing is masking symptoms. Your body is asking for help: don't simply turn off its warning signs. In chiropractic we use no drugs, but seek to discover the underlying causes of pain and discomfort. Pain can be an angel in disguise if you learn from it early. Why not try chiropractic today. You may not only get rid of that pain, you may regain your health...

What does your life story tell?

There's an excellent technique in journalism schools that is supposed to teach us much about reporting and writing skills. Often times in first- or second-year college classes, journalism students are told to write their own obituaries.

After all, we'll all have one written about us sooner or later, professors reason. Can you write your own "life's story" -- in six paragraphs or less?

To budding writers, such a task is a firm challenge. And a splendid one, too. Writing your own obituary shows the importance of accuracy in names, dates and spelling -- but it also reveals much about a student's priorities and values.

With a limited amount of space, you are forced to choose those things in your life which you consider important; the achievements for which you want to be remembered.

If you think it sounds easy, try writing your own obituary. What are the facets and facts of your life which matter to you -- and to the rest of the world? What contributions have you made which are worthy of recognition...even after you're gone?

It's no easy challenge. Things you consider important may in fact be trivial in the course of the world. Not that individual lives are trivial -- far from it. Being a willing student, or a good worker or a faithful spouse is mightily important these days (as well as surprisingly rare).

And how about bad points? Very seldom do you find that obituaries contain elements of gloom, or failure or despair in printed obituaries. That's not the style. Professional writers attempt to paint the best possible portrait of a person after they're deceased, even if the bad outweighs the good.

But by reading between the lines, you sometimes get glimpses of trials and troubles a person faced in his or her life. Club memberships, groups which the deceased supported and other clues are important.

No one comes into this world with true "silver spoons in their mouths." Even wealth or glamor extracts a high price from persons unable to cope with those supposed benefits. We see evidence of tragedy and heartbreak in all families -- of rich, moderate and poor backgrounds.

It's what we do with all that our Creator has given us that matters. It's how we respond to the roadblocks in life -- which we all face -- that determines what our obituaries will say about us. Besides taxes, obituaries are one of the only things which assuredly faces every one of us, sooner or later.

Letter to the Editor

Does Pigeon need a computer?

DEAR EDITOR: I want to know why the Pigeon Village Council is planning on buying a computer with our tax dollars, when we don't even have the money to buy a much-needed water tower?

These are the same councilmen who kept telling Joe McArdle that the village didn't need a computer and that he should be able to handle the clerk's job without any help. Now these same councilmen have formed a committee to buy a computer, and I want to know why!

I bet this new clerk is making more money than Joe was. Can't he handle the job? Obviously, the men who hired him don't think so, or they wouldn't be so gung-ho to get him a computer.

I have several years' experience designing computer systems, and I find it difficult to believe that the village has much more than a bookkeeping system to put on a computer. And I don't see how the Council can justify buying a computer to do their books until we have a new water tower (and to buy a $12,000 to $15,000 computer system which has to be hauled to Saginaw or someplace every time it needs to be fixed, which is not an ideal situation anyway).

Let's hear a comment from the councilmen.

Thanks A Million

Dear Mr. Ross: I know you've heard enough of these stories, but I don't know what else to do. I am a 13-year-old girl and my parents are divorced. Since last summer, I saved up $80 for a new radio and cassette player and finally bought one.

I loved it. I listened to it day and night. Two weeks ago at the mall, it fell off my belt buckle and smashed on the floor.

I tried explaining to my parents to help me get a new one. But they think I'm just an irresponsible little kid. I'm miserable without my radio. Could you help me get a new one? -- L.T., Tennessee.

Dear L.: I can't help all youngsters replace valuables they've lost or broken. You made me feel miserable, too. So dog-gone it -- something inside me says go ahead. I'm sending you $80 to replace the broken radio, cassette player.

Dear Mr. Ross: While traveling through Alabama recently, I came across an incredible sight: thousands of railroad cars, probably in good condition, abandoned to rot.

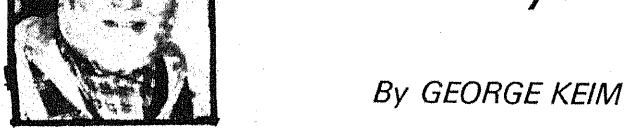

It occurred to me that they might be modified to produce low-cost housing for areas where the need is great. Moving them would be the chief problem. A knowledgeable friend of mine suggested they might be lifted and transported by dirigibles.

If a feasibility study showed the idea to be practical, this might be the ultimate in philanthropy. -- J.A., Florida.

Dear Mr. A.: The dirigible idea sounds like hot air to me. Seriously, however, this is more like a challenge to entrepreneurship than philanthropy. If you can sell a feasibility study you and your friend could be on the ground floor of something big.

RECOLLECTIONS of by-gone days

By GEORGE KEIM

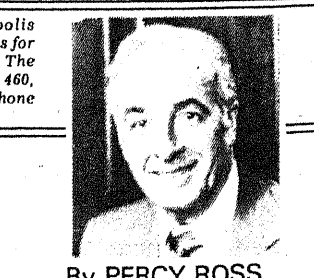

DEAR EDITOR, I came home from my last trip to Iowa in time to attend my Uncle Dan Swartzendruber's auction sale. He's the only uncle I have anymore, and I wanted to get something that was his and Aunt Mary's.

I got a lot of things and sold a few of them. One woman asked me if I needed everything I got and I told her I didn't need a thing, but if I ever had a sale and nobody bought anything they didn't need, I'd better not have a sale!

The next night I was at a sale on Sand Point. There were a lot of things there, but there were many city people too and I'll bet some of them had never been to an auction sale.

Then on Saturday, I went to Sebawaing to the Sugar Festival. I saw a real good parade and had some very good barbecued chicken and saw a lot of people. Many of them told me they read my column every time and I told them I even read them myself sometimes!

I also saw the Luckhard's Museum and the Mast School. I had seen them before, but I always like to go again because there is always something I didn't notice before.
SINCERELY YOURS,
GEORGE KEIM

Dear Mr. Ross: I just finished reading your column in the Indianapolis Star. Your kindness and generosity are examples of hope and love, not just unfeeling philanthropy.

For months I have tried to save enough money to buy my mother a large-print King James Bible for her birthday. Her eyesight is very poor. But things just haven't worked out the way I hoped they would.

I suppose there are thousands of people with more urgent needs than mine. This must sound inconsequential to you. -- G.B., Indiana.

Dear Miss B.: Your request is definitely not inconsequential. I selected a nice large-print King James Bible for your mom at our local B. Dalton Bookseller store. It's being mailed today.
The words of comfort contained in the Bible should be available for all.

Laker 25th Reunion enthusiasm running high!

The enthusiasm for the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port High School 25th Anniversary Reunion continues to mount according to Reunion Committee Members.

More than 500 LHS Alumni surveys have been returned and everyone agrees this celebration is one they don't plan to miss.

Gail Richmond, Alumni Information Coordinator, requests that Laker alumni members who have not taken the time to fill out their survey, do so immediately to assure that they will receive

Since January, when the Reunion Committee first met, plans for the upcoming event have been growing and will soon become a reality.

Some of those plans include:

Friday evening bon fire and snake dance in Elkton, with alumni pep band, athletes and cheerleaders participating. Pep rally coordinators promise the most memorable and laugh-

Pigeon Village Council Minutes

JUNE 11, 1984

Meeting called to order at 7:00 p.m. by Morris Diebel, President. Orr, Kula, Armbruster, Licht, McCormick and Schaefer present. Also present were Brown, Superintendent; Otto, DPW Supervisor; Williamson, Engineering Consultant.

A motion was tendered by Armbruster, seconded by Orr, to accept the minutes of meetings held on May 14th, May 23rd and June 6th, 1984. Motion passed unanimously. Police report presented by Johnson, newly appointed Marshal. Report was adopted as read.

John Walsh, CPA presented the results of financial audit of Fiscal Year 1984. A motion was tendered by Schaefer, seconded by Kula, to accept the financial audit as presented. Motion passed unanimously.

Brown presented the normal financial report for the month. A motion was tendered by Armbruster, seconded by McCormick, to accept the normal financial report as presented, and to pay the bills. Motion passed unanimously.

Building Inspection Report presented by Libka. Motion tendered by Armbruster, seconded by McCormick, to accept the report as presented. Motion passed unanimously.

Dave Glabusch, local Counselor, presented a resolution in behalf of his clients, Orville and Mildred Schuetz, requesting to conform to the outline provided by the Huron County Economic Development Commission for the financing of the purchase of the Pigeon IGA store. Glabusch advised that so resolving, would not encumber the village in any way. Motion tendered by Schaefer, seconded by Armbruster, to so resolve. Motion passed unanimously.

Brown presented the current status of the Superintendent's position. Brown stated that he agreed completely with Walsh regarding the modification, if not the complete replacement of the Village accountability system. Brown also stated that modification of the existing manual system would still result in substantial administration time by the Superintendent, seriously limiting the time available for other, equally important tasks. Brown suggested the consideration of installing a personal-sized computer in the Village office to satisfy the accountability requirement, and have it available for other applications as they arise. Diebel stated that we are aware of an ideal time to review the alternatives so that a decision could be made. Motion tendered by Schaefer, seconded by Armbruster, to establish an Information Processing Review Committee, authorized a sum of $250, to perform this investigation. Motion passed unanimously.

Diebel selected with consent, Armbruster, Orr and Schaefer from the Council, and Brown to serve on the Information Processing Review Committee.

Williamson presented a series of alternative solutions to the Village water system. It was tentatively concluded that the most reasonable solution would be increasing the supply of elevated water storage in conjunction with establishing a new, underground reservoir.

Williamson estimated the cost of the potential improvement to be about $615,250. Williamson suggested that the Village investigate financing a project such as this through Farm Home Administration or through possible grant availability through the Department of Commerce. Motion was tendered by Schaefer, seconded by Licht, to apply for grant funding for this potential project, contingent upon Williamson's final review of the Bureau Engineering survey of the status of the existing system. Motion passed unanimously.

Diebel directed Brown to coordinate the search and application for grant funding. Motion passed unanimously.

Williamson presented estimated cost for the proposed North James Street Development. The estimate of between $35,000 and $40,000 was taken under advisement.

Diebel stated that the burning ban in the Village would be enforced. Initial violation will result in verbal warning being issued; continued violation would result in a citation.

Diebel stated that the Nitz Street Agreements are all completed except one (1); this remaining agreement should be executed in the next few days.

Concern expressed over the abuse of the Farmer's Market Parking Lot. A sign to be erected stating, "Overnight Parking Available by Police Permit Only. Call 453-3000 for Permit." Diebel stated that Ordinance 20.180 will be amended accordingly to include this requirement.

Diebel opened sealed bids for paving. Yaroch of Port Austin, the only bidder, was reviewed. Motion tendered by Armbruster, seconded by Licht, to accept the bid provided. Motion passed unanimously.

Brown stated that he had received several telephone calls regarding the collection of commercial refuse. He advised that he was recommending to those inquiring that they should contact Bedford, or another collector directly, and arrange for individual collection service.

Schaefer brought to the attention of the Council the need to review the status of the Village Council. Mike Dennis of Bad Axe. After discussion, a motion was tendered by Schaefer, seconded by McCormick, to terminate the services of Mike Dennis. The vote was as follows: Orr, No; Licht, No; Armbruster, Yes; McCormick, Yes; Schaefer, Yes; Kula, Yes; Diebel, Absent. Motion passed by majority vote. Diebel directed Brown to notify Dennis of his action, Tuesday, June 12, 1984.

Diebel informed the Council of two requests from local law firms to be considered for the position of Village Council. After reading both requests and considerable discussion, a motion was tendered by Licht, seconded by Armbruster, to accept the proposal presented by the firm of Otto & Glabusch. Motion passed by unanimous vote. Diebel directed Brown to contact Otto Tuesday, June 12th, 1984 and advise him of the action in the registration book.

Diebel also directed Brown to request that Dennis transfer any pertinent documentation to the new Village Council.

Diebel stated that one of the things that required immediate attention by the Village Council was the review and updating of the Village Ordinances. He also stated that the subject would be brought up again at the next meeting.

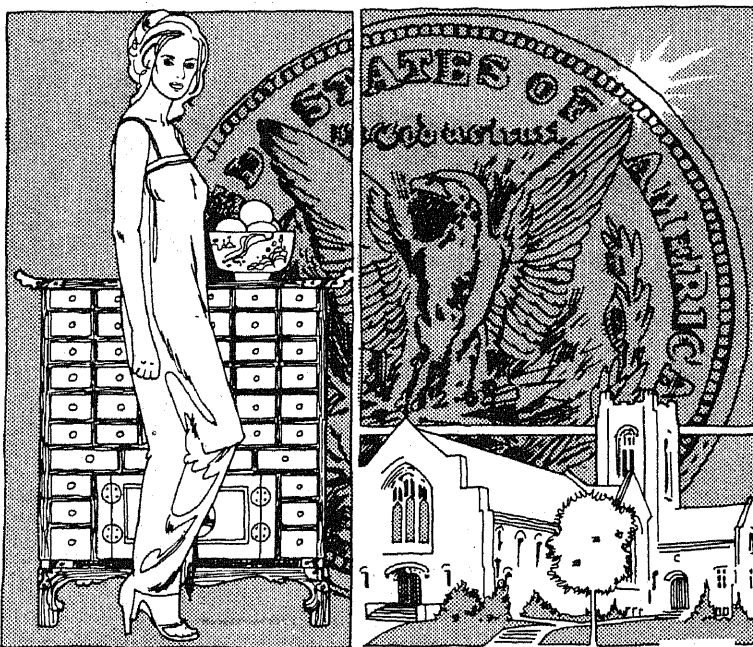

Diebel stated that he and Brown would be attending a meeting in Bad Axe, Tuesday, June 19, 1984 for the preliminary discussions with the Huron County Road Commission regarding the possible sale of one of their properties to the Village.

Brown stated that he was reviewing the performance of replacement copy and typewriting equipment. The review is expected to last a couple of more weeks as additional equipment is brought in for evaluation. He expects to be able to make a recommendation at the next meeting as to the action which should be taken.

Brown advised of a telephone call received inquiring about the existence and availability of a facility in Pigeon, having a minimum of between 40,000 and 80,000 square feet and two loading docks, which could be utilized as an industrial facility. They were not interested in purchasing land for development, since they already owned property on which they could build. The information was taken under advisement by the Council.

THE VALUE OF REAL WEALTH WILL NEVER DECREASE

...and all that wealth e'er gave Awaits alike the inevitable hour:
The paths of glory lead but to the grave.

—Thomas Gray

"He that trusteth in his riches shall fall."
—Proverbs 11:28

On an almost daily basis, we are given the alarming news about the ever-diminishing value of our money, and this has triggered a frantic rush to buy gold, land or whatever; while people still have anything left to buy it with. This helps to illustrate the general futility of the drive for excessive riches, which we must pay for with higher taxes and often, impaired physical condition. There are tragic examples of men and women — many in the prime of life — who could afford the finest medical care in the world, and yet were unable to buy back their health once they had lost or destroyed it. Learn in your chosen House of Worship that a good life of modest comfort, guided by God's wisdom, is the finest form of wealth that we can accumulate; and the only kind that will never decline in value.

TTLM welcomes speaker Dr. Hickey

Dr. Timothy R. Hickey will be the speaker at Top-of-the-Thumb Leisure Ministries Vespers on Sunday, July 8 at St. Michael Church in Port Austin.

Dr. Hickey is the Senior Minister at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Rochester, heading a staff of over 20 for the 2500-member congregation. He is very active in his denomination, writing and lecturing throughout the world. He also serves in community agencies in his local area.

Dr. Hickey is well-known in the top of the Thumb as he has preached each of the past 13 summers in the TTLM vespers series. His long-time friend, Rev. Robert Garrett of Port Austin, will serve as worship leader for the 4 p.m. program.

On Wednesday, July 11, Vespers will feature a Singpiration at the Caseville United Church.

TTLM board member Nadene Barbet will open the service and introduce Dale Wertz as the songleader for the 8 p.m. event. His wife, Floris, will join him in presenting musical numbers during the program. They live in the Pigeon area with their three sons and are members of Salem United Methodist Church in Pigeon. A time of fellowship and refreshments will follow the service.

The staff of TTLM reports that the summer program is in full swing. Children's activities and adult Bible study groups are in progress in Bay Port, Caseville, Port Austin and at Duggan's Family Campground. Weekend worship services are scheduled in the area state parks and also at Duggan's. Consult the bright yellow TTLM posters for specific times and locations.

There is no charge for any TTLM programs. Offerings are received at Vespers and the campground worship services to help support the work of TTLM as the group strives to bring the Good News of Christ to county residents and vacationers.

Something To Think About

JOHN A. CHAMPAGNE
DIRECTOR

THE CASKET

A casket is rectangular, unlike a coffin which is usually tapered at the head and again toward the feet. It is used principally as the receptacle for the body during the period of the funeral and for transportation to the place of final disposition. Most times, it is also the receptacle which encases the body in or above the ground.

Selection of a casket is a matter of personal or family preference. Most funeral homes offer a wide range of caskets to satisfy varying tastes and budgets. Choices typically involve material, design, construction, and color.

Sixty Seconds

Glimpses of Heaven

Read Matthew 6:25-34.

I will exalt Thee, I will praise Thy name; for Thou hast done wonderful things. Isaiah 25:1.

We have all felt the exhilaration of pleasant weather. We awaken to a promising morning and admire the multitude of blossoming flowers emitting rich fragrances.

We watch the tall trees majestically sway in the wind and the white clouds effortlessly float across the dazzling blue sky.

These are the sights and sounds which make the heart beat faster and the head swim with the wonders of life.

We are compelled to burst forth and say to God, "Thou hast done wonderful things!"

These pleasures, exciting as they are, fade in comparison to God's most wonderful work.

For even though we reject Him, even when we destroy ourselves and the beautiful world around us through our sin, God wants to redeem us.

Through Christ's death and resurrection He effected our salvation.

He provided us with the hope of a new world in which the pain and suffering of sin might never dampen our excitement and sense of wonder.

With this knowledge, we can eagerly await life in the world to come, knowing that the peace and exhilaration we have at times felt on earth now awaits us for eternity.

We have a foretaste of this even now.

6 Dear Creator, God our Father, we have seen Your wonderful works. Help us to await our salvation with thanksgiving. Amen.

Thumb area OUTDOORS

By DUANE GUENTHER
FISHING IS DOMINATING the outdoor scene in the upper Thumb region this week. While the action on bass and northern pike has diminished, walleye, perch and trout continue to offer up some of the best fishing in a long time. Lake trout has been the big story in the Port Austin-Grindstone area. During the week, both were producing nice catches at about the five-mile limit. Lake trout are bottom dwellers, and the 90-foot level seemed to be where most of the action is. Kings, on the other hand, were somewhat disappointing. A flurry of activity, the week before last, has lessened, and the giant members of the salmon family were difficult to find. Walleyes have been very active around the island chain that lies between Sebawaing and Sand Point. While action there has been spotty, those fishermen who put in their trolling time were rewarded with some fine limit catches. For the really big fish, one must hightail it to the Charity

Islands. There, the walleye fisherman will find acres of top substructure. Perch have been hitting at Sand Point, Grindstone City and the steamer channel all during last week. While this wasn't the only place to pick up a nice mess, it seemed to be the best bet for the bigger fish.

GET READY FOR SOME super berry picking this summer. According to reports from the north country, the four major berry-types will be in great abundance for the rest of the summer. Strawberries are near the ripening stages and will offer the first source, but they will be quickly followed by blueberries (called huckleberries mistakenly), raspberries and finally blackberries. Of the four, the blueberry is by far the most popular and thousands of pickers will be descending upon the woods in search of this culinary delight.

Awarded music grants

Andrea Maust, daughter of Lynn and Brenda Maust and Terry Kauffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kauffman of Pigeon, have been awarded music scholarships at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, according to the Marshall Music Company of Lansing, who sponsors the scholarships. The company awards the scholarships to those students deemed most worthy based on musicianship, citizenship and musical achievement, as determined by the school music staff and administration. They award over 300 scholarships in the amount of $155 each. The students participate in concentrated sectional and large group studies, along with other outstanding student musicians from throughout the state, and have the opportunity to play under the direction of nationally-known conductors.

Named academy winner

Cynthia Lynn Teuscher of Woodside Middle School, Fort Wayne, Ind., has been named a 1984 U.S. National Award Winner in the field of art, according to Art Teacher Cheryl Stauffer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne (Judy) Teuscher of Fort Wayne, Ind. and the granddaughter of Lydia Teuscher of Pigeon.

Bad canoe partner

The deluge of rain that inundated the Thumb area in mid-June caused varied problems for many of its residents.

The Village of Sebawaing was surprised, when more than four inches of precipitation fell, and reopened some long abandoned mine shafts. While the cavernous openings did not cause any lasting damage, it did cast an aura of uneasiness with the town fathers. The fast falling water also turned numerous farm fields into small lakes. This, brought about by poor drainage or inadequate tiling and coupled with the hot weather that followed, left many a farmer scratching his head and muttering about the possibility of replanting.

For the most part, the rich agricultural land of Huron and Tuscola Counties were spared and the water left by the torrential rains was quickly diverted to the Bay by an excellent tiling system via the numerous rivers and drainage ditches that criss-cross our area.

When the rain finally subsided on Sunday evening, my car was parked along side a favorite bridge of mine, and I spent a couple of hours hanging over the rail watching the field tile spit the excess water into the fast rising river. Tomorrow, I thought, this meandering, placid stretch of water will look like a real live mountain stream.

Morning found me back at the bridge, but I was not prepared for the scene that unfolded before my eyes. There, stretched out before me, was not the pretty little channel with bouncing rapids I had anticipated, but rather, an ugly, menacing-looking malstrom of dirty brown liquid resembling the mighty Colorado River at full flood stage. The roaring water, carrying a scattering of loose debris, clawed and chewed at the top of its banks, whipping its surface into a hideous-looking froth that almost gave the river an animal-like character. Any thoughts of canoeing this monster were quickly dispelled.

I checked a small drainage ditch in the vicinity and found it to be, although on a much smaller scale, in the same condition. If I wanted to canoe some fast water, I was going to have to keep a constant watch on the water levels and catch the stream before it lost its velocity and returned to its pitiful state.

On Tuesday the water was still much too high and dangerous, but by Wednesday afternoon a sudden drop put it in perfect canoeing condition. My son Scott was spending a couple days at home and with a little coaxing I got him away from "Days of Our Lives" and into the front seat of our 15-footer.

The ride was exhilarating, but somewhat disappointing, as the water had reached so rapidly we missed the lightning tug of the flood current that had been evident earlier. Scott left for Ann Arbor for the next day, so I turned my attentions towards my wife in order to secure a suitable bowman, or in this case, I should say a bowperson. Another lazy afternoon, and another great ride. We stopped along the way and explored the banks for hidden treasures and were rewarded with a secret cache of wild strawberries not quite ripe, but promised a berry bonanza at some future period.

On Thursday, I was left alone. My son was gone, my wife had other plans, and if I was going to catch the high water one more time, I would have to do it alone, or, and this turned out to be a bad decision, I could take my English Setter, Briar. I was feeling lonely, so I opted for the dog.

Betty dropped us off a couple of miles upstream and Briar put his nose to the ground and was off like a flash. Continuous coaxing got him back in the vicinity of the canoe, but all the soft talk in the world could not convince him that the cigar-shaped, dark green apparatus lying in the water would not gobble him up if he ventured one foot inside. A little firmness was needed. So, with one hand grabbing his collar and the other firmly secured to his backleg, I swung him, airborne fashion, to a spot between my legs. I immediately pinched him between my knees and issued a sharp "Whoa" command in hopes he would remain still, but the trembling of his entire body told me I was in for an interesting ride.

My wife offered to take him back in the car, but I insisted that he was an obedient dog, loved the water, and would be no trouble at all. Ha!

We shoved off, and as the first rapids caught our canoe, I shouted some silly ban- chee cry, squeezed my legs tighter, as I felt Briar's muscles tense, and heard the trailing laugh of my wife mixed in with the words, "He'll never stay in the canoe!"

All went well for the first 200 yards. Briar, accustomed to the slippery canoe bottom, settled himself at my feet and nestled his head on my knee. We roared through a second set of rapids, and when I bounced the canoe off a partially submerged rock in the stream's channel, he looked up at me and yawned, as if bored by the whole trip.

A sharp bend in the stream appeared over the canoe's bow. I knew from my previous trips that I had to hug the inside bank to avoid a jutting sandbar I would encounter shortly after making the turn. A mental picture of the canoe maneuver flashed through my brain. Hug the inside, I told myself, lean to the left, dig the paddle in hard and end with a "J" stroke to bring the bow back into the current. Nothing to it.

I pushed hard with the paddle, and the current knifed the canoe towards the bank. Leaning to the left, I switched the paddle to the other side and was just beginning to dip it beneath the foaming surface, when a pair of mallard, resting in the lee side of the stream, bolted into flight. The loud quacks startled me and caused Briar's head to jerk upward. I clamped my knees tighter, but my reactions were not as quick as his. He coiled his young, strong legs beneath him and cleared the gunwale in a mighty bound.

The combination of my weight transfer, and the sudden push of the dog bailing out, was too much for the stability of our frail craft. With the finesse of a torpedoed submarine, the canoe reared its pointed bow and slowly rolled on its back. The contents, a brand new T-shirt, my hat, a pair of sunglasses, the paddle, and myself were ceremoniously dumped in the murky depths.

The canoe popped to the surface, and like a wounded bear, I lumbered after it, less it escape my grasp and leave me stranded with a three mile walk back home. Pushing it on shore, I plunged headlong into the rapids and was lucky enough to grab the paddle and my floating sunglasses. The hat bobbed merrily downstream, just out of reach and the T-shirt was nowhere in sight.

I overturned the canoe, ridding it of water, got my remaining gear in place and pushed off in pursuit of my hat. Briar appeared at the edge of the stream, dripping wet and with a large dog smile plastered all over his face.

He ducked when I swung the canoe paddle at him, and headed downstream in pursuit of Red Winged Blackbirds, Swallows, Mallards and any other wildlife that crossed his path.

I proceeded down the stream alone, happy to be rid of my bad canoe partner.

County dairy banquet fetes long-time promoters

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER

Carl Yackle of Pigeon, Mike Renn of Elkton and Howard Ritter of Bad Axe were honored for 30 years of service on the Huron County Dairy Promotions Committee at the organization's annual banquet Saturday night. All three individuals have served since the beginning of the organization's creation in 1954.

The appreciation award was presented to Yackle by Huron County Dairy Extension Agent Andy Sommers. Renn and Ritter were not present to accept their award.

Sommers also thanked sponsors of Dairy Herd Improvement Association awards for their support. (See accompanying chart showing 1983 DHIA award winners and sponsors.)

Wilfred and Betty Binder of Ubyly were presented the Outstanding Dairyman Award by Harold Gremel. Binder served on the board of directors of the National Milk Producers Federation for five years, and is currently on the Michigan Milk Producers Association board of directors.

He noted the importance of the family in dairy farming when he said, "Without the family, dairy farming just wouldn't work."

The Outstanding Dairy Supporter Award was presented to Earl and Fran Mausolf of Harbor Beach by Gerald Buchholz.

For the last 30 years, Mausolf has been a familiar face to Thumb area dairymen. He has been a technician based in Harbor Beach for the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative.

Kirsten Thummel, North Huron High School senior, was presented the Outstanding Dairy Youth Award by Larry Gremel.

She has been an active 4-H member for nine years and a member of the state first place Dairy Quiz Bowl team. Michigan Milk Producers Association president Elwood Kirkpatrick updated those present on the current market situation for dairy products.

Because of a variety of factors including an improving national economy and the federal program to reduce milk production, the supply and demand for dairy products are coming closer to being balanced, he stated.

Sales of dairy products increased 10.6% in April of this year, compared with the same time a year ago. While sales increased, production dropped about 3%, Kirkpatrick added.

A shortage of dairy products is being experienced in the southeastern United States, especially Florida this summer. Lowered production of butter will cause an estimated jump in the price of about 18 cents per pound, he estimated. In a note of caution, Kirkpatrick informed those present that the production drop is seasonal, due to the increased demand for cream to produce ice cream during the summer.

Lorene Zagata provided an update on activities of the Huron County Dairy Diplomats. She stated that the Thumb area organization will be promoting dairy products at the Michigan State Fair on Aug. 29.

Thumb. Wake up, citizens. Boy, the buildings on Main Street, and now the ugly mobile home village overlooking the bay in the County Park.

Remember, former students and teachers are invited to the Sunday, July 22 reunion with a potluck dinner at 1 p.m. at Elkton's Ackerman Memorial Park. Committee includes Fern English of Bad Axe, Virginia Ackerman and Calvin Reibling of Elkton and Leona Peppel of Port Hope.

Entries are still being sought for the Pigeon Farmers' Festival Golf Tournament on Wednesday, July 25. To register for the day of fun, call Mike at 453-3113.

Thank you to my fellow church members, who have supported me in my time of need. You're setting good examples for us all. L.J.

I agree about the Concerned Citizens of Caseville. All they are is opposed to the airport. Why don't they try working in the system? Or are they opposed because their own little worlds are being shaken by progress?

We sure hope something is done by the mayor and his council about all these wild cats over here on Brush Street. They're doing a lot of damage to people's property, cars, trash bags and everything else. The dog catcher won't do anything, so I hope the village can. Thank you.

Laker Class of '79: Your five-year class reunion set for July 7 has been cancelled due to lack of interest. There will not be another reunion planned for the future. Anyone who sent their money in will be reimbursed. Sorry this didn't work out.

It is nice to now have weekly trash pickup in our village. Now all we need to do is persuade some residents to utilize this service, rather than polluting the air by firing up their smudge pots with nightly trash burnings. It puts a nauseating cloud over the good life in a small town. Thank you.

Sebewaing hosts $10,000 Walleye Tournament

SEBEWAING -- By coincidence, Sebewaing's first Walleye Tournament, now less than two weeks away, is occurring at the same time that another year's batch of Walleye fingerlings are being released into Saginaw Bay from the Fish Point Walleye Rearing Pond. That bodes more fish -- and more tournaments -- in the years ahead.

WALLEYE TOURNAMENT JULY 13-15
An additional prize for the highest total points over the three-day Walleye Tournament has been established, to boost the $10,000 prizes, according to Gary Wissner, president of Sebewaing Sportsmen's Club, which is sponsoring the event. They will include a prize for a $2,500 tagged Walleye and five additional tagged Walleyes of $1,000 each. There will also be a $500 grand cash prize for the biggest Walleye, given by Don's Sport Shop of Sebewaing, and there will be other daily prizes.

Wissner said that more than 100 fishermen have signed and registration is increasing each day. Weigh-ins must be by 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and by 2 p.m. Sunday. Sportsmen's-VFW Hall will be open all weekend, with food and an open cash bar available. Prizes will be available from six places, Don's Sport Shop and Western Auto in Sebewaing, Lindy's Sales and Gale's Bait Shop, both of Quincasssee, Pop's Place at Rose Island, and from Sebewaing Area Chamber of Commerce, Box 622, Sebewaing's VFW Hall, served from 4 to 8 p.m. Saturday, July 14. Fish fry tickets are available to the public.

Wissner said the hall will close at 4 p.m. Sunday.

WALLEYE FISHING
Fishermen have been reported as bringing in "very good catches," and a 26-inch Walleye was landed off Bud's Landing at Rose Island on Sunday. "This is the hot spot right now," Wissner said, "between Sebewaing and the Rose Island area, and other good results have been in the Charity Islands -- Oak Park section." More and more fishermen have been reporting that they are limiting out, and one Sebewaing couple began fishing early one evening last week and caught nine "nice Walleyes" and the wife brought in a 6½ pounder.

During the past week, three DNR Walleye ponds -- Fish Point, AuGres and Kawkawlin -- have added about 300,000 more fingerlings to Saginaw Bay waters,

A FEW OF THE 49,000 Walleye fingerlings taken from the Fish Point Walleye Rearing Pond last week and released into streams entering Saginaw Bay. In three ponds, more than 300,000 fingerlings were produced and two other ponds are still to be emptied.

and two more Auburn ponds are still to be released, according to Bill Deephouse, district fish biologist at Imlay City, who is in charge of fry-to-fingerling production each spring and summer.

At Fish Point, Deephouse expressed "great rejoicing" about the 49,000 fingerlings -- about one-third of those planted -- were separated out and planted in three area water bodies. About 39,000 went into Thomas Cut, 7,000 into Sebewaing VFW Cut and 3,000 into the Wiscoggin Drain.

In addition, more fingerlings that remained in the Fish Point Pond and were slow to go into the holding tanks because of high water in Saginaw Bay, still have free access to the Wiscoggin. Many more thousands could be in the slow-moving schools of fish that will eventually move out of the pond and into the Wiscoggin and Saginaw Bay. "Because of high water, the runoff from the pond was simply too slow for us to afford staying longer, just to know how many fish were coming out," Deephouse explained. "There were other ponds we needed to empty and we couldn't stay with the Fish Point Pond any longer."

TOURNAMENT ADDITION
Sebewaing Chamber of Commerce member Harold Althouse announced that the Chamber will sponsor an

Special prizes for "Closest to the Pin" and "Longest Putt" were awarded. Accuracy records went to Eunice Binder of Scenic and Ardis Haist of Verona Hills. Carol McMullen of Verona Hills took the prize for a "seeing eye ball" when she sank a putt which was 140 inches from the hole. Shirley Wamsley of Verona Hills was given the Frustration Award for the most strokes on the 17th hole.

Card players spent the afternoon playing bridge and euchre. Guests winning at bridge were Vera Proper, Bernice Hearsch and Arlene Regentin. SUMMER READERS

There is only a little over a week remaining for the Summer Reading Program participants to read at least 12 books to be eligible for a party on July 19. The last day to record the books that have been read will be July 14.

For every 12 books a contestant reads he or she will be able to participate in a mock Summer Olympic event and have a ribbon placed on the "Go for the Gold - Go to Your Library" bulletin board next to their name.

Mark July 19 on your calendar as "Reading Party." The exact time of the party will be published at a later date.

STORY HOUR

"Birthdays" will be the theme for Preschool Story Hour on Tuesday, July 10.

Stories that will be read include "The One Bad Thing About Birthdays," "The Great Watermelon Birthday" and "Wise Owl's Birthday Colors." The children will be allowed to participate in games, songs, exercises, finger plays and a special filmstrip will be shown entitled "Madelines Rescue."

Two sessions of Story Hour are conducted each Tuesday. The first one begins at 9 to 10 a.m. and the second session is from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. All preschool children are invited to attend either session.

LARGE PRINT BOOKS

The Pigeon District Library has added over 60 large print books to their collection by a donation from the Fraternal Order of Eagles Ladies Auxiliary No. 3690 of Caseville.

A donation was given to the library with the understanding it would be used toward services for Senior Citizens.

Books by western fiction authors Zane Grey, A.B. Guthrie, Jr., Fred Grove, Richard S. Wheeler and romance books by authors Janet Dailey, Helen Van Slyke, Dorothy Eden, Arlene Hale and Elizabeth Seifert are included in the recent purchase. Some of the non-fiction books include "Till Armageddon" by Billy Graham, "Let Us Love" by Dale Evans Rogers, "Clippings From My Notebook" by Corrie Ten Boom and "At Wit's End" by Erma Bombeck.

QUILT DISPLAY PLANNED

Registration for the Quilt Display held during

Farmers' Festival begins July 9 and will continue until July 24 at 1 p.m. Persons interested in displaying their quilts are asked to call the library during regular hours to register.

The display is open to anyone owning quilts even though they may not have made the quilts themselves. There is no limit on the number of quilts a person may exhibit, however the display is limited to quilts not shown in a previous exhibit at the library. There will be a For Sale section at the exhibit and quilts that were shown in previous years may be placed in this section.

Registered quilts should be brought to the library during regular hours Saturday, July 21 through Tuesday, July 24 until 1 p.m.

The exhibit will be open to the public free of charge July 26 and 27 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on July 28 from 9 a.m. to 1:25 p.m. and again after the Grand Parade until 4 p.m.

Owners may pick up their quilts on the last day of the show from 4 to 5 p.m. or on Monday, July 30 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

USED BOOK DONATIONS

Persons wishing to donate used books for the Pigeon District Library Book Sale conducted during Farmers' Festival are asked to have the books at the library by Saturday, July 14. This is necessary so the books can be marked and organized before the sale.

Paperback as well as hardcover books are appreciated. A tax deductible receipt for hardcover books is available upon request.

TAPE CLUB

During "Pick A Movie" Week in June, 23% VHS members cast their ballots for tape selections and 36% of the Beta members turned out for their quarterly vote.

The tape suggestions will be reviewed by the Tape Club Committee from the Library Board of Trustees and purchasing will follow shortly.

The video cassette tapes that will be ordered will not arrive all at the same time due to the usual back orders at the suppliers, but a few tapes are expected within six to eight weeks.

New tapes that were received recently from the previous "Pick A Movie" selection include:

VHS
Terms of Endearment, The Bridge on the River Kwai, Cross Creek, Mr. Mom, Carbon Copy, Swiss Family Robinson, High Noon, El Cid, Silkwood, A Star is Born and The Parent Trap.

BETA
Terms of Endearment, Deal of the Century, Cujo, Silkwood, Sophie's Choice, El Cid and Oklahoma.

Golf Tournney date set

The Huron County Unit of the American Cancer Society will conduct the ACS Golf Championship at Scenic Golf and Country Club, Pigeon. Tee-off is scheduled for 1 p.m. on Sunday, July 15.

The tournament, formerly called the Walter Hagen Tournament, is open to both men and women, four players on a team. The team may enter the Scramble or Handicap Best-ball sections of the event. There is also an Open Best-ball division for those who wish to enter only the local tournament. Scramble and Handicap winners will advance to the Michigan Division ACS Finals in September at Boyne Highlands.
