POOR PHEASANT SEASON

This year's pheasant hunting season may easily go down in history as the Thumb Area's worst ever -- and to top that off, most of western Huron and Tuscola Counties are off-limits to hunters.

Pheasant season started Monday, but a large area including all of Akron, Unionville, Sebawaing, Owendale, Elkton and Gagetown is prohibited from hunting due to recent plantings of Sichuan birds in breeding areas near Owendale, earlier this year. The area bounded by M-81 and M-53 in Sanilac County, north on M-53 to Pinnebog Road, north on Pinnebog to M-142, west on M-142 to M-25 near Bay Port, south on M-25 to Vassar Road, and south to Elmwood Road, then east to M-81 and back to the M-53 intersection again.

State DNR Pheasant Specialist Peter Squibb says he expects fewer birds to be killed than last year's 112,000 pheasants, due partly to the prohibited hunting area.

However, there's good news about the 160 Sichuan hens and 81 roosters released in this area earlier this year. About 15% of the group survived to mate, producing a DNR estimate of 300 chicks. One additional year of banned hunting may be required to help develop that brood, the DNR says, but that decision will be made next year.

NEW TV-19 TOWER COMING

Public Broadcasting System television station WUCM TV-19 will be bringing a stronger system to about 130,000 Thumb Area residents soon, thanks to a new 489-foot tower being built south of Ubyly.

The $460,000 project should be completed within one month, and will re-broadcast Channel 19's programs to the entire Thumb Area on Channel 35. The new satellite station's call letters will be WUCX, funded with a $345,000 U.S. grant.

TV-19 hopes to provide additional TV service to Thumb Area communities which previously couldn't get the station's PBS shows -- and hopes to realize more income from donations in the expanded coverage area.

C&O CONSIDERS PULL-OUT?

The parent company of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad says it may sell or abandon its 2400 miles of Michigan track -- including its Thumb Area lines -- unless workers agree to contract concessions.

According to published reports, CSX Corp. says it now receives a 4% return on its investment in Michigan railroads, but wants at least a 15% profit to stay open. CSX employs about 3000 railroad workers in the state.

No date has been set by the company to negotiate with union employees, now covered by a ratified contract.

20 LAYOFFS IN SANILAC

At least 20 of Sanilac County's 112 employees could lose their jobs Jan. 1 because of the county's financial woes.

County Board of Commissioners' Chairman Edwar Jarosz said some layoffs may come as early as Nov. 1, as the county tries to balance its budgets in light of loss of $500,000 in federal revenue sharing funds -- and loss of $117,000 in property tax revenue shortfalls, due to devalued land.

In all, $700,000 must be trimmed from the expected $5 million budget, with cuts being spread across all county offices.

SANDUSKY SITE TO CLOSE

That controversial senior citizen center meal site on Argyle Street in Sandusky will be closed for good as of Oct. 31.

Human Development Commission (HDC) Executive Director Mary Ann Vandemark says her board of directors voted to close the center, to shift services to other public facilities. Meals will again be offered at Sandusky High School, as most retirees had requested in past months from the former senior citizen providing agency, the Thumb Area Commission on Aging (TACA).

Former TACA Director Robert Brown had okayed $900 monthly rent payments for the Argyle Street location, but when HDC took over senior citizen services on Oct. 1 any such agreements were no longer in force. Some seniors boycotted the new site, preferring instead the high school location.

The 16-month feud led to Brown's resignation, plus the ultimate replacement of TACA by the HDC to provide such services for Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac Counties.

HURON KEEPS TAX RATE

Huron County Commissioners voted last week to retain the 1987 property tax rate for county operations at 4.5196 mills, the same level as in 1986.

But holding the rate steady will actually mean fewer dollars will be generated for county programs this year, since overall property values fell about 5% this year.

Huron County's budget will total about $5.3 million this year, down more than $175,000 due to the lower property values. The county's present $1.4 million fund balance may be tapped to give funding relief -- but an expected $400,000 loss of federal revenue sharing funds could complicate the county's funding.

About 4 mills of the total amount go toward general operations and the remainder goes for primary road work. Plus, a .2-mill amount will be levied this year to support the area's public transit system.

Gale Maust dies in tragic farm accident

A farm accident claimed the life of Gale Maust of Bay Port last Saturday evening.

The 39-year-old man was fatally injured while attempting to repair a stake truck owned by the family farm.

He was apparently welding on an automatic tailgate release with the box raised by the truck hoist when the box fell on Maust's head, according to Huron Sheriff Deputy Arlin Herford. The accident occurred in a farm shop at the family residence at 8637 Pigeon Road (M-142), Bay Port.

During an investigation of the accident scene by Herford, a block that might have been used or intended to prevent the box from falling was found under the truck by the rear tire. Herford also pointed out a cable release to lower the box was located close to where Maust was working and required very little pressure to release the hoist pressure.

The accident occurred between 7:30 p.m. when Maust was last seen alive and 11:30 when he was discovered by his wife Sharon in the farm shop.

Maust was a farmer and co-owner of Maust Enterprises, a fabricating business which developed the "Hydra-king" hydraulic tractors and the "BeanVeyor" combine unloading improvement.

He invented and built both farm innovations, and had been fascinated with creating mechanical equipment since childhood. He and his brother, Marv, operated the fabrication business in addition to farming 750 acres with their father, Elmer Maust.

HOMEcoming II - THE FINAL CHAPTER: With the theme of "movies" the Laker Homecoming Parade and Queen which were rained out on Oct. have been rescheduled for Friday night.

One of these lovely Laker Senior girls will join King Brad Krohn, center, as homecoming royalty. From left, Rhonda Baur, Ami Rathje, Bathanne Beachy and Kathy Clabuesch are the candidates for Laker Queen, and one will be crowned during halftime of the Laker-Cass City football game on Friday night.

The Homecoming Parade will step off in Elkton at 6:30 p.m. from the elementary school and continue down Main Street to the Elkton United Methodist Church. In addition to the high school class floats, Laker band and horse-drawn carriages, the Cass City High band will perform and a bike decorating competition for Elkton Elementary students has been added to the parade.

Due to the parade, kickoff time for the football games has been moved back to 8 p.m.

German student ends U.S. visit

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
 Christoph Watzke, 22 of Munich, W. Germany heads home this week after gaining experience in the Thumb Area this summer.
 The young German student at Ludwig-Maximilian University in Munich was observing the American banking system at Thumb National Bank and Trust Company in Pigeon since the middle of August. Staying with relatives John and Doris Watzke on Sand Point, Chris also experienced American culture as well as small town rural life.
 Watzke says the experience in America was valuable to provide background for his university education and exercise his English language skills. He has completed about half of a five-year curriculum concentrating on auditing, taxes and law.

 Most of his time at Thumb National was spent working with Vice President Rob Steele, planning the strategic future of the bank.
 "The people are very friendly and there is a relaxed atmosphere here," says Watzke about his experience at the Pigeon bank.
 He also adds he learned how to golf, an important ability for a potential business executive.
DIFFERENCES: Cultural differences between the two countries which Watzke noticed include: more but slower use of automobiles, a greater appetite for sweets and more time spent in front of the television in the U.S.

In a German village the size of Pigeon, Watzke says people would walk to the other side town rather than driving. On the Autobahn, Germany's superhighway, cars cruise along much faster with no speed limit.
 Another change in West Germany is the mandatory 15-month military service required of all young men.
 Those who object to participation on moral grounds can be allowed to substitute 18 months of civil service if approved after an interview.
READY: After experiencing the slower paced life in the Thumb Area, Watzke says he is ready to return to life in a big city in West Germany.
 He points out, however, that large German urban areas aren't plagued by problems of crime and violence.

Skill Center students experience hands-on learning

AT LEFT, Becky McArdle of Pigeon gets some practice on a live head as fellow student Tracey Putman of Elktion volunteers her hair for the experience.
 Looking on is instructor Mary Motz of Elktion, as other students use the artificial hair on mannequins that each cosmetology student receives at the beginning of the year.

AT RIGHT, Joe Grigg of Elktion checks the stock on shelves in the retail store operated in the Skill Center.
 The gift shop involves the students in the operation of the store and practical application of the marketing information contained in textbooks. McArdle and Grigg are both seniors at Laker High.

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
 After gulping down a quick 10-minute lunch, Laker senior Becky McArdle settles in for the bus ride to the brand new Huron Area Skill Center.
 Depending on how late the bus is, McArdle will have some time to talk with fellow Skill Center students after changing from her "street" clothes to the pink smocks, which are the required garb of all cosmetology students at the Skill Center, located southwest of Bad Axe on M-53 (Van Dyke).
 After the class is called to order, teacher Mary Motz of Elktion demonstrates some technique which will be practiced by the students in smaller groups.
PRACTICE: Skills are practiced on fellow students who volunteer or a mannequin which each student receives at the beginning of the school year. The life-like hair on the mannequin head is washed, cut and dried over and over, until it becomes too short to work by the end of the year.
 The cosmetology program involves present students returning next year after graduation for six-hour daily sessions to complete requirements to become licensed cosmetologists in the State of Michigan.
 The students have the run of the separate salon and lab rooms this year, but only the second year students will work with customers from the public in the salon next year. The first year students will then be restricted to the lab.

NEW FRIENDS: McArdle says she enjoys both the facilities which still smells like new paint, and the mix of students from various Huron County schools.
 "I think it's great. It's beautiful the way everything is set up. I just hope people take care of it," McArdle says about the facility.
 She also likes the opportunity to make new friends from other schools.
 "I love (the mix of students from different high schools). I like to get out and meet different people and this gives me a chance," adds McArdle.
 The Laker student also enjoys the greater freedom and flexibility of the Skill Center class.
 Although she plans to spend the upcoming year completing requirements for her cosmetology license, McArdle doesn't plan to immediately seek a job in a beauty salon. Instead she hopes to study business management at college.

 "I'd like to use (cosmetology skills) down the road but not right away," she says.
 One slight drawback of the experience is the mandatory bus ride, McArdle says. She would rather be responsible for her own transportation but understands Laker High must provide the transportation for liability reasons.
 "I've never liked riding buses," she admits.
 Overall she expresses happiness the Skill Center was

OBSERVATIONS BY PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!
WE'VE LOST A SPECIAL PERSON — The publications business brings a person into contact with many, many folks in a community. Many people leave memories and impressions, and we're often poorer without them when they move away or die.
 Such is the case with Gale Maust, who died suddenly Saturday night in a farm accident. Gale was an innovative, creative guy — the type of person who could look at something and "think through" the way to make it work faster or better.
 I first met Gale soon after coming here in 1978. He and I shared the love of several hobbies — including photography and music. He was a good man, who will be sadly missed by his wife Sharon and three young children, plus many family members and friends.
 We're all poorer. — 30 —

Skill Center Open House attracts taxpayers to view new facility

Hundreds of Thumb area residents learned more about the new Huron Area Skill Center during an Open House Sunday afternoon.
 The $3.6 million Skill Center building, located south of Bad Axe on M-53, contains equipment totaling an additional $1.6 million for the 535 high school junior and seniors taking vocational education classes each day.
 The facility is also used for adult education classes in the evening, raising the total of students using the Skill Center to 1,100 each week.
 Classes at the new facility include: Accounting and Computing; Agricultural Mechanics; Auto Trades; Construction Trades; Cosmetology; Data Processing; Drafting; Electro-Mechanical Technology; Food Service; Health Occupations; Human Services; Marketing and Distribution; Metal Machining; Office Occupations, and Welding.
 Some of those courses are inter-related and share equipment at the Skill Center. The Accounting and Computing, Data Processing and Office Occupations classes are all located in a large room, with space dividers used to create an office-like atmosphere.

 Levi, 39 of Saginaw, says of the six-term Democrat, "I demand he (Traxler) apologize to the voters for his flagrant disregard to them and for our electoral process."
 "For Bob Traxler to treat the voters the way he has is simply the height of arrogance," Levi said last week. Levi has apparently refused to accept a meeting. LAKE NET FISHING TO END?

The brief revival of commercial fishing in lower Lake Huron may be over, after State Attorney General Frank Kelley ruled earlier this year in an unrelated case.
 The ruling makes permanent the 1984 compromise between commercial fishermen and sports fish anglers, which limits commercial fishing to the cold months — which commercial people say ends the program. This permanent limited season will continue to allow millions of pounds of edible whitefish to go to waste, since winter fishing is unprofitable and impractical, they say.
 Sports fishermen, led by the Blue Water Sportsfishing Association, say commercial trap nets kill sports fish and endanger pleasure boaters.

POLICE BLOTTER NEWS

■ Hunting equipment valued at more than $300 was reported missing last Sunday near Rush Lake, according to Michigan State Police. Troopers from the Bad Axe Post said Kenneth Lisiecki, 40 of Roseville, was missing an army field jacket, compound bow, quiver and six arrows.
 ■ Jerry Kirk, 35 of Fairgrove, was stranded about 55 feet off the ground last Wednesday while working at the Agri-Sales grain elevator in Akron, but escaped serious injury. Tuscola County Sheriff's Deputies said Akron and Fairgrove rescue units were called when Kirk fell through or broke a hole in the floor at the top of a corn storage bin. He could not be reached for more than one hour, but was finally aided by a tall bucket truck and admitted to Bay Medical Center, Bay City, with minor injuries, and discharged Thursday.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

In Huron County District Court, Judge John Schubel passed judgment or heard pleas from:
 ■ Earl E. Davis, 20 of Sebawaing, pled guilty to a charge of disorderly person; directed to pay $100 fines and costs, following a Sept. 29 incident in Sebawaing.
 ■ Scott A. Finkbeiner, 20 of Sebawaing, pled guilty to charges of minor in possession of alcohol and throwing objects (firecrackers) in Sebawaing in incidents Sept. 27 and 28; fined $50.
 ■ Paul L. Coder, 18 of Sebawaing, and Arick L. Schweitzer, 17 of Sebawaing, both pled guilty to possessing or transporting alcohol in a motor vehicle; each fined $40 including costs.

How will schools be handled?

Last week's Laker School Board meeting gave major attention to a situation which must be faced throughout the entire Thumb Area. Hopefully, it will be faced sooner, rather than later.

And, hopefully reason and fairness will prevail among the decision-makers. The fate of an entire generation of our residents may be at stake.

Everyone is aware that recently depressed land prices have brought down land valuations. That's great for people hoping to save money on taxes, since tax millage rates are based on a multiplication of a factor against what a piece of property is worth. Of course, falling land values make a person's property worth less on paper, but most folks believe that cycle will again upturn soon, bringing ever-rising values once more.

But farm land values fell almost 11% last year here -- and they could drop by another 20% to 30% this coming year. Believe it or not, schools (plus townships, villages, cities, etc.) actually have fewer DOLLARS to work with than in the past.

Again, some folks say that's okay. Some people believe "a little fat" can be cut from here and there. They might even think 11% or 30% less income will still provide adequate educational opportunities, while putting the balance of the money back into their own pockets.

Think again. Consider your own home or family situation, when you actually lose 11% of last year's income, while you try to pay this year's bills. Now, imagine losing 30% of last year's income. How much belt-tightening is enough? How much is too much?

Make no mistake, local school districts are struggling to make ends meet right now. Fewer dollars coming in mean fewer dollars must go out, since state law requires balanced school budgets.

We've posed the question before in this space. Unfortunately, we must do so again: What, where, when and how much in cuts should be made? And at what point is education seriously impaired?

It's illogical to think a school district -- any one -- can live on 70% of its past-year income, without suffering some harm. Likewise, it's not sensible to think such budget shortfalls can be made up entirely by higher millages.

Some moderation, a compromise, must be found. Laker District CPA John Walsh says the district could face a $3 million deficit in just two years, in 1989 -- $5 million by 1990 -- without some relief.

We wish we had all the answers. Now, however, we mostly have questions. Who provided YOUR education, 'way back when? How much is enough, to spend for teaching this area's children? How much is too little? Who will pay -- when, how, with what?

Questions are easier to come by than are answers, but our day of reckoning is fast approaching. Solid, intelligent consideration must be given to these questions, so the answers decided will be the best possible for all concerned.

Especially for the children, our area's future...

Touching the past

Ellis Island, the Statue of Liberty refurbishment, Michigan's Sesquicentennial, Laker Homecomings, family reunions -- all give us a chance to touch the past. Ed and the kids had to put up with a different kind of roots experience when we visited some of my Wisconsin roots this summer.

My kids found out some surprising things about their Mom's growing up days in Marshfield, Wis. when we spent one June morning driving around the town where I spent elementary school days. It was wonderful experience for me, this touching the past.

There was my old elementary school, Jefferson School, with swings and baseball fields still occupying the same block as in the 1950s. South of it one block stood the Catholic school complex where we often went to play with our Catholic neighbors. They went to Catholic School and knew the mysterious intricacies of how to tell one nun from the other and when to enter the church and what to do once you were inside.

The church which my Dad pastored still stands on the corner of Ninth and Cherry, but it doesn't command the corner in quite the same way as it did in my memory. There was a huge lawn between the church and the parsonage, only now the parsonage is gone and the lawn seems much smaller, too. I never noticed as a child that the neighborhood streets didn't have curb and gutter and that the houses were set quite closely together.

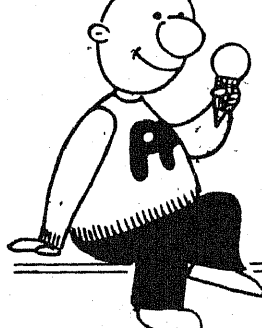

Close by the parsonage and church is the Central Wisconsin State Fairgrounds, the place where I suppose I picked up my love of fairs. Dad received complimentary tickets each year and I remember seeing Gene Autry on the grandstand one time as well as getting into the fair many days on Dad's passes. We loved the fairgrounds during offtimes, too, for it was a wonderful place to fly kites without threat of overhead powerlines.

The city park and zoo, the hospital complex, the library -- all were still there. For me, seeing the old neighborhoods and special places was like moving through a dream that once again had reality placed upon it. After we drove around Jefferson School for the third time, the kids started to razz me about my memory trip. I was a hopeless case by then -- I had to see as much as possible.

But I won my kids over when we got to the north side of town for there was wonderful WDLB, the local radio station, still in its 50s style building with three foot high call letters parading across the top of the roof. My kids thought that WDLB was a mythical radio station that I had made up. They knew about the radio station called "We Do Lousy Broadcasting" and they couldn't believe that I hadn't been telling them one big story. But there it was, WDLB in person, the radio station of my childhood. I remembered how we'd tiptoe up to the big microphone and spell words on the half-hour elementary spelling bee broadcast every Saturday morning.

Touching the past, we call it, this crazy urge to go back, visit and experience the places where one's life has been shaped. So many of us, women especially, are imports to Thumb communities where we settled with husbands who often have family identity that goes way back when. Our imported roots tend to become obscured as the closer Thumb family takes precedence. Our celebrating is of the more quiet nature like visits back to towns not unlike Pigeon where we remember people not unlike those of the Thumb. It is a more private sort of visit for it is shared by fewer people, but the satisfaction of touching the past is still there.

Inspector Gordo's MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF THE Civil War saber

"From the length of your face, I deduce it was slapped by some young lady whose good opinion you were endeavoring to win, but which you lost instead," said Inspector Gordo with a smile.

"Quite right, as usual," muttered Fred Makins, the town Casanova. "This time I even went out and got a prop -- a saber -- to lend my story authenticity."

"You've heard of Gen. R. Horatio Abercrombie? The old walrus fought for the Union during the Civil War. His great-great-granddaughter, Melinda, is secretary of the Civil War Round Table. She won't give you a tumble unless your great-great-grandfather fought in the great American conflict, too. "Unfortunately," continued Makins, "both my great-great-grandparents were London chimney sweeps. They never fought anything but soot! So, to impress Melinda, I invented an ancestor, Lt. George Makins, 79th New York Highlanders."

"I told Melinda that at the first battle of Bull Run, when the commanding officer was killed, Lt. Makins took over the regiment and saved it from annihilation. Again, at the second battle of Bull Run, the year following, he rallied, the troops despite the loss of 105 men."

"The month after First Bull Run, the men of his company presented George with a saber. Here I showed Melinda the saber I'd purchased at a costume shop and had engraved: "To Lt. G. Makins, for gallantry at First Bull Run, July 21, 1861, in appreciation, from the men in his company."

"I was feeling pretty cocky when I gave her the blade..." "And then she promptly gave you the gate," Inspector Gordo remarked. "I hardly blame her!"

RECOLLECTIONS
of By-Gone Days

By GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR:

I may have written about this before and I know we are living in a new age, but when I see these young fellows working so hard to get their crops off and see it raining everyday, it's no wonder that some of them will commit suicide.

However, it will not be the answer. I had some of them tell us that we were crazy to do things like we did. But I tell them we wouldn't have done it like that either if we wouldn't have had to. We didn't have the machinery they have now and no one had such big farms as they do now.

If you are as old as I am you'll remember old Joe Schmidt. He used to help the Jews buy cattle and when I was still quite young he used to rent every lot in town that he could, then put sugar beets into them and hired the town kids to block and thin them. He'd hoe them himself and hire them taken out. He also put out potatoes. He had some in that lot next to the Gulf Gas Station and he had a long hoe handle. If it was too wet to get in to hoe, he reached in from the sidewalk and then when it got dry enough he'd hoe the rest of them.

When I was farming east of Elton, I had a cow to sell and he bought it. Two Jews came to buy her and they looked at her. They were talking German together. Joe knew that I could understand them but the Jews didn't so they decided if they could get her, they could make a summer sausage out of her and still make out good on her. So I stuck to my price and after they had bought her, the Jew told me he had paid too much for her. Well, I said, you'll make money on her because you are going to make summer sausage out of her. The Jew asked, "Who told you?" I told him that I could understand German and started to talk with him. Joe told him he knew I could understand him, but he didn't think I could hear so well.

Back in those days if we had some cattle or pigs to see we didn't have big trucks and if it wouldn't have been for the Jews and the cattle buyers that came around, we had to take our cattle to the cattle yard. That was where the Co-op Fertilizer Plant is now. They ship them to Detroit.

Maybe we didn't have TV or radios or all the electrical appliances they have now and think we can't do without. We were happy and always ready to help each other out.

In Job 5: 17 it says, "Happy is the man whom God correcteth. Therefore despise not though the chastening of the Almighty."

It's really hard for us if our crops are ruined, but a lot of us can see where the Lord is still on the throne and what He does is for our good.

Sincerely,
GEORGE KEIM

Sixty Seconds Living hopefully

The feeling of depression is a common problem. The Wall Street Journal called it the "disease of the '70s." It is also the disease of the '80s.

The longer we are in a period of depression, the more difficult it is for us to snap out of it.

Therefore, the sooner we deal with it, the better.

And we have the way to deal with it in the words of the psalmist: "Hope in God."

The one great reason we can hope in God is the fact of the resurrection of Christ from the dead.

Jesus is alive to do something about the seeming dead ends we experience in our lives.

Thumb area OUTDOORS

Although fishing activity has decreased during the past few weeks, there are still a few die-hards hooking some dandies in both Saginaw Bay, and Lake Huron. Probably the best bet is Grindstone City, where boaters landed some nice kings during the past weekend along with good-sized browns and an occasional steelhead. The fishing has not been limited to those with boats, as many casters from the shore scored in the browns. Perch activity was good in the Caseville area, and many 10 to 12 inchers were put in the bucket.

Duck hunting continues to be spotty. Best results were coming from the Fish Point area again this week. Lack of food is the main reason ducks are not staying around, and the sanctuary is providing the meals for the majority of the birds in the Thumb. Hunting pressure has been heavy at the reserve, but very light in the Bay area. Some of the offshore blinds have reported good luck on local mallards, and during the middle of the week, found some decent flights of both redheads and bluebills. Goose hunting has been poor in the fields, and fair on the water.

Pheasant season opens this Monday, but most residents on our side of the Thumb have a "Ho-Hum" attitude. The DNR has closed off a large section of land east of M-25, and south of M-142 to pheasant hunting for this year, and hunters better be well aware of the boundaries before venturing in the field.

The Saginaw Bay Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will hold its annual banquet October 25 at the VFW Hall in Sebawaing. There will be the usual auctions, and raffles, along with some great door prizes. It would like an evening of good food, plus a chance to take home some hunting and fishing equipment, not to mention lots of wildlife art, you should think about treating yourself to a night out. Tickets are $30, and can be purchased from either Brian Stock or Ted Kelly, of Sebawaing.

Pigeon District Library

hardwood and softwood trees are abundant in both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas. Some familiar varieties include the maple, oak, willow, poplar, elm, birch and apple trees, plus numerous pines and firs.

Trees serve as homes for birds and other small animals. Wood is used for heating homes, building furniture and making paper. Sap from the maple tree is used to make the syrup that gives pancakes their great flavor.

If you are curious about trees, the Pigeon District Library has many books on the subject, including: "The Woodburning Encyclopedia" by Jay Shelton, "Wood Stove Handbook" by Wilburn W. Newcomb, "The Complete Book of Heating With Wood" by Larry Gay, "Getting More Heat From Your Fireplace" by Paul Bortz, "The Maple Sugar Book" by Helen Nearing, and "The Art of Making Wooden Toys" by Peter Stevenson.

Annual registration is required to help defray cost of crafts and party supplies.

PRESCHOOL STORY HOUR

Witches will whistle, Goblins giggle and monsters mombó at the non-scary "Halloween Party" for Preschool Story Hour children on Tuesday, Oct. 28 at either the 9 or 10:30 a.m. session at the Pigeon District Library.

Children from age three to five may come in costume, if they wish, and sing songs, play games and hear stories about "The Halloween Parade," "Dracula's Cat" (puppet show) and a filmstrip about "The Lollipop Dragon's First Halloween" will also be shown. A treat and take-home project will be part of the program.

Annual registration is required to help defray cost of crafts and party supplies.

HALLOWEEN TALES

How about a few deliciously creepy stories to get in the Halloween spirit? Here's a list of children's stories, crafts and cookbooks: "Aunt Possum and the Pumpkin Man" by Bruce Degen, "Hester" by Bryon Barton, "The Halloween Mystery" by Joan Lowery Nixon, "Halloween Parade" by Mary Lystad, "The Halloween Pumpkin Smasher" by Judith St. George, and "Halloween Handbook" by Ruth Odar, "Halloween" by Lillie Patterson, "Halloween Cookbook" by Susan Perdy, "It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown" by Charles Schulz, "Halloween Crafts and Cookbook" by Nancy Hathaway, "Witches, Pumpkins and Grinning Ghosts" by Edna Barth.

The library staff wishes all the children a safe and fun Halloween night.

Trees make Michigan beautiful. Michigan is blessed with a beautiful Fall each year. Our state has a large number of different kinds of trees and

Area clubs

CASEVILLE LIBRARY CLUB

The Caseville Library Club held its regular meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 12 noon in the Community Room of the Village Township Hall with 58 members and three guests present.

New members are Fran O'Hara and Grace Pentolino. Lola Tropea gave the invocation. Hostesses serving dessert and coffee were Ann Sheer, Vivian Papps, Madelen Avigne and Betty Jansen.

In the absence of President Margaret Wilhelm, vice president Gen Kohr led members in the Club Collect, Pledge to the Flag and presided over the business meeting after lunch.

Gertrude Cameron introduced guest speaker Mrs. Beulah McMahon, a retired Salvation Army officer, who presented the origin and history of the Salvation Army.

The club will finalize plans for the Nov. 1 Holly Berry Fair at a breakfast on Tuesday, Oct. 28 at the Bella Vista. Arrangements are being handled by June Duprey and Charlotte Reeves.

The next meeting of the Caseville Library Club will be Tuesday, Nov. 11.

BAY PORT WOMEN'S CLUB

The Bay Port Women's Club met at the home of Margaret Faltyn on Tuesday for their October meeting. Mrs. Judy Forman and Mrs. Doris Albrecht were guests.

Dessert and refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Faltyn introduced speaker Judy Forman, who presented a program on her handmade miniature furniture.

President Faltyn called the meeting to order by leading with the Club Collect and Pledge to the Flag. Program books depicting Michigan's Sesquicentennial were reviewed.

Roll call was "Facts About Michigan Governors." The Nov. 11 meeting will be with Helen Helms.

BOOKS ARE FOR GIVING

For thoughtful people who wish to add a personalized touch to their giving... as an individual or a group... the library is the answer.

A gift to the Pigeon District Library collection is one of the most satisfying ways of insuring that your gift will live, be cared for and will continue to be used.

It can reflect the taste of the giver, or in the case of memorials, the individual being remembered. Moreover, it provides an excellent way for an organization to help the community with books or materials in the fields in which they specialize.

For example, an outdoor person might give library gifts in the field of natural history, maps and pictures. A national group might provide for the purchase of language records or literature from their native land.

A book gift need not be a memorial, but may be given to commemorate an occasion, a birthday, anniversary or other milestone. An acknowledgment goes to the donor and to the person, or the family of the per-

Sugar slicing in full gear

All 4 plants in the Michigan Sugar Company — Sebewaing, Caro, Crosswell and Carrollton — are slicing beets, and at Monday morning's 7 a.m. tabulation, the 4 plants had received 130,565, tons of beets.

At Sebewaing, slightly over 25,000 tons had been received, according to Davis Sunderland, company vice-president for agriculture, and the plant is slicing 3,550 tons per 24 hours, moving toward the goal of 4,000 tons per day.

With a weekend of good weather and the promise of more days without rain, growers and company officials were looking to high delivery rates in the coming days. Deliveries were picking up each day as fields were drying and more attention could be turned to sugar beet harvesting.

All attention is being turned to monitoring beets in the field, Sunderland said, because many that have been standing in water are turning "slick and slimy on the outside, developing a sour smell." Such beets have deteriorated and are black on the inside, worthless for sugar extraction. Such beets are usually identifiable in the fields, as leaves turned from yellow to orange. "When that kind of beet is put into storage on the piling grounds, it's the same as the 'one bad apple in the barrel' effect," Sunderland explained.

So far, about 10,000 acres of beets have been lost, he added, and the damage is spread all across the sugar company's district, from Gratiot County in the west to Lake Huron in the east. Since 83,000 acres were planted and nearing harvest, that's a loss of around 12%, and Sunderland added that "it may go higher."

Sugar content has been running slightly above 15%, he added. Without all that rain we were on the way to the biggest and best sugar beet crop during the entire history of sugar processing in Michigan, Sunderland said.

$400 million tallied in flood damages

SAGINAW — Official estimates of damage wrought by the September storms in Central Michigan continue to increase, approaching the $400 million level.

While the majority of disaster losses are borne by residents of the affected area, the Federal government annually spends almost a billion dollars in disaster recovery costs. In an attempt to minimize those costs, the Office of Management and Budget has sponsored an inter-agency agreement within the Federal government to study flood disasters and recommend possible loss reduction measures.

Since the beginning of recovery efforts in Michigan, a team of 28 Federal and State officials has been carefully investigating the circumstances surrounding the disaster and its consequences. Their objective is to develop recommendations as a multi-disciplinary team to reduce future losses were a similar storm to occur again.

Their findings, listed in a 40-page report, were issued Tuesday, October 14, by the Interagency Hazard Mitigation Team under the direction of William Powers, the Team leader of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Region V, Chicago, IL.

Powers pointed out that even though billions of dollars have been spent since 1945 on dams, levees and other fixed facilities, recovery costs to communities hit by floods continue to soar.

"Pouring money into engineering projects hasn't eliminated the problem," he explained. "Therefore, the thrust of hazard mitigation is based on non-structural alternatives. If we can't keep the water away from the people, we can try to keep the people away from the water through intelligent land-use, or prediction and warning systems."

Copies of this report and answers to any questions concerning the report's content may be obtained from FEMA by writing or calling:

EMTA plans annual meeting this weekend

BAY CITY — East Michigan Tourist Association will hold its 76th annual convention in Flint Sunday and Monday, October 26 and 27, with convention workshops and business meetings at Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Co-hosting the convention will be the Flint Convention and Visitors Bureau.

EMTA, serving 27 counties of eastern and central Michigan since 1910, is one of 4 regional tourist associations that serve all of Michigan's 83 counties. Presiding at the 2-day meeting will be EMTA chairperson Bruce G. Huston, of Lewiston. Expected attendance is 150 businessmen and women from all parts of the region served by the tourist promotional group.

COLLEGE PREP: Another Laker student who plans to use the Skill Center as a stepping stone to higher education is Joe Grigg.

He is taking the Marketing and Distribution course in preparation for studying the same subject at the college level.

Although the Skill Center class involves a lot of bookwork, in the near future students will be assigned to work shifts in the Skill Center gift shop for practical experience.

The 2½-hour-long sessions are relieved by breaks given by former Laker High instructor, Joe Keena. The breaks are just long enough to prevent boredom, Grigg says.

NEW AIM: He says he likes the class which is focused on a subject no longer offered at Laker High.

Close scheduling between lunch and the bus ride also presents occasional problems for Grigg. He notes he missed the bus several times this year already and says the students going to the Skill Center only have about enough time to "grab a pop and that's about it."

OK, OVERALL: All in all, Grigg is happy with his involvement in the Skill Center. "I'm learning something that will help me later on," says the Laker senior, with an eye to the future.

As the second battle of Bull Run didn't occur until "the year following" the first, the men of Lt. Makins' company could not have known "the month after First Bull" that there would be a second battle. They would have inscribed the blade "...at Bull Run," and not "...at First Bull Run."

Making The Best From Michigan's

Fall Farm Markets

The excitement of Michigan's fall season is easy to catch.

Crisp, sunny weekends ... Fall color in the trees and landscape ... The smell of burning leaves. And the change in meals plays a big part in the excitement.

The spirit of Michigan's fall is captured at farm markets, roadside stands, and even at the grocery store.

The seasonal items offered now include ornamental corn, winter squash, pumpkins, gourds, apples, cider, herbs and more.

The markets are scattered throughout the state, but sometimes are hard to locate.

They vary from a collection of pumpkins in a country front yard to fairly sophisticated municipal markets offering cheese, gifts and wine alongside the apples and vegetables.

Here's a random selection of markets around the state:

In Bay County, Gehringer's Orchard and Cider Mill is located 5 miles west of Bay City. Phone [517]667-0130.

In Genesee County Walker Farm and Market offers a variety of fruits and vegetables. Phone [313]743-0260.

In Lansing, the Municipal Market at 333 N. Cedar St. offers a wide variety of seasonal fruits, vegetables and decorative items. Phone [517]483-4300.

In Kalamazoo County, Malito's Orchards and Farm Market in Kalamazoo has pumpkins, cider, other produce. Phone [616]375-0385.

In Tuscola County, Parker's Orchard offers popcorn, preserves, honey, old-fashioned candies, cider, donuts and more. Phone [517]871-3031.

West Michigan is dotted with orchards and produce markets, especially near the Lake Michigan shoreline. An example is the Radseck Farm Market which sells a nice variety of fruits and vegetables as well as flowers. Call [616]227-3555.

The Michigan Travel Bureau has a list of many farm and roadside markets. For specific information about places in your area, or to request the list, call 1-800-543-2937. The Travel Bureau also has a recorded message of current seasonal activities around the state. The number is 1-800-292-5404. The Bureau's mailing address is P.O. Box 30226 Lansing, MI 48909.

After you locate your markets and buy your produce, here are some ways to use it:

WINTER SQUASH AND APPLES

- 4 cups winter squash chunks (peel, seed and slice)
- 4 McIntosh apples, peeled, cored and sliced
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar

BAKED APPLES

For each fruit:

- 1 apple (Rome Beauty, McIntosh, Jonathan or Ida Red)
 - 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 - 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1 teaspoon butter
 - 1 tablespoon raisins, if desired
- Water for baking

Core each apple, leaving the bottom intact. Slit the skin to prevent bursting (perhaps cut a ring around the middle). Fill each fruit with brown sugar, cinnamon, butter and raisins. Place in a baking dish. For each fruit, pour about 3 tablespoons water into the bottom of the dish.

Bake about 30 minutes at 350°. Or microwave on high - about 3 minutes for one apple, 5 minutes for 2 apples, 10 minutes for 4 apples - check them frequently, don't overcook.

WINTER SQUASH WITH GINGER

- 2 medium-sized winter squash, split in half and seeded
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons minced candied ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Heat 1/2 cup butter, sugar and orange juice over low heat until sugar dissolves. Coat the squash cavities with this sauce, dividing it evenly. Sprinkle on salt. Place squash on a shallow baking pan. Add 1/2 inch water to the bottom of the pan and bake the squash at 350° for 1 1/4 hours, or until tender; brush with melted butter frequently. Serves 4.

PUMPKIN BREAD

- 1 cup honey
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 5 tablespoons butter
- 2 egg yolks
- 3/4 cup pumpkin puree
- 2 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 3/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 3/4 cup coarsely chopped dates
- 1/4 cup raisins

Stir the honey, milk and sugar over medium heat until sugar dissolves. Cool for 10 minutes, then beat in the butter. Cool 10 more minutes and beat in the yolks and pumpkin puree. Mix dry ingredients together and sift them into the batter. Mix thoroughly. Add nuts and dried fruits. Turn into a greased and floured bread pan. Bake at 350° for 1 1/4 hours or until bread tests done. Makes 1 loaf.

Something To Think About

JOHN A. CHAMPAGNE
DIRECTOR
HOSPICE: WHAT IS IT?

Hospice is a relatively new word in health care. The word itself is a very old one, dating back to the Middle Ages and the time of pilgrimages to holy places. In those days, a hospice was a "way station" a place where a religious order provided special care to pilgrims who were sick or dying in their journey. The word "hospice" is the root for both "hospitality" and "hospital."

Little was done about the concept of a special place or a special program to care for the dying for a long time until recently in Ireland and England where the idea was revived. This program generated enthusiasm for improved care of the dying in countries all over the world.

Today, there are well over 200 hospice programs in operation in the United States alone. The movement is growing, and it appears that most urban areas and many rural areas will have some sort of hospice coverage within the next few years.

Liska-Turner marry at Salem

Angy Sue Turner of Caseville became the bride of Anthony George Liska, also of Caseville on Saturday, Oct. 11 at Salem United Methodist Church, Pigeon. Rev. Timothy Hastings officiated at the ceremony which united the children of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Turner of Pigeon and Mr. and Mrs. George Liska of Caseville. Organist Pam Dube and soloist Anne Eichler, both of Pigeon, provided special wedding music, including the selections "The Wedding Song" and "Friends and Lovers." The altar was decorated with a unity arrangement of pink carnations, white gladioli accented with burgundy silk carnations and gypsophilla. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an elegant gown of taffeta with puffed top fitted sleeves detailed with a fabric bow, cut lace work and medallion that romantically extended over the bride's hand. The high necked appliqued illusion bodice repeated the medallion at the throat. Double ruffles of taffeta and lace formed an apron front. She wore a hat covered with venice and schiffli lace with a crystal pleated edge brim, an upturned side with fingertip veiling. The bride carried a colonia bouquet of white mini carnations, pink sweetheart roses, gypsophilla accented with picot ribbon. The bride asked her sister, Amy Nowak of Bay Port, to be her matron of honor, wearing a cranberry matte taffeta gown with a sweetheart neckline, shell sleeves and a peplum skirt. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of silk carnations, mini carnations, alstromeria and gypsophilla. Also attending the bride were bridesmaids Sue Bouck of Pigeon, Lauree Kretschmer and Carrie Geilhart, both of Caseville, all friends of the couple. They were attired identically to the honor attendant. The groom chose a friend, Jeff Rowe of Caseville, to be best man, assisted by groomsmen Jim Quinn and Tim Poisson, both of Caseville and Dr. Tim Diller of Frankfort, all friends of the couple. Ushers were Steve Turner of Pigeon, brother of the bride and Tom Liska of East Lansing, nephew of the groom. The bride's mother wore a soft mauve one-piece street-length dress with a pleated bodice and skirt, a v-neck and mauve lace trim. She wore a gardenia corsage accented in picot ribbon to match her dress. The groom's mother chose an aqua polyester one-piece street-length dress with beads and lace trim. Her corsage was identical to that worn by the bride's mother. The newlyweds greeted 300 guests at a reception held in their honor at the Pigeon VFW Hall. The bride is a Laker High School graduate and is employed at Don Erla Foods, Pigeon. The groom is a Caseville High School graduate and is employed at Active Industries, Elkton. Following a one-week honeymoon to northern Michigan, the couple will reside in Caseville.

Fit for a Queen!

HOMECOMING QUEEN AT MLS — Bocki Schaaf of Pigeon was chosen by the student body of Michigan Lutheran Seminary as their 1986 Homecoming Queen at a pep rally on Friday, Oct. 17.

She and her court were presented Saturday during pre-gram festivities at the Seminary vs. Breckenridge football game. Miss Schaaf, a senior at MLS in Saginaw, is the daughter of Glen and Arda Schaaf, Pigeon.

WEARING THE HOMECOMING crown for 1986 at Owen-Gage High School is Sandra Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Miller of Owendale. Crowning her during the Homecoming Festivities Oct. 3 at the school was Marsha Lopez, 1985 Queen.

Summer wedding unites Matt-Winiecki

St. Francis Borgia Catholic Church, Pigeon, was the scene for the Saturday, Aug. 16, wedding that united Patricia Josephine Winiecki of Bay Port and Jay Fredrick Matt of Unionville. Father Ben Skornia officiated the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Thomas and Patricia Winiecki and the son of Fred and Joan Matt. Dale Balzer of Unionville was organist, and Bob and Sue Edwards of Owosso were soloists. Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride approached the altar in a gown of silk organza and peau d'ange lace. The gown had a basque lace bodice with pearl accents, and featured on or off-the-shoulder brief lantern sleeves. Her lace-appliqued bouffant skirt was edged with a deep lace flounce at the hemline, surrounding her cathedral-length train. To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a floral bridal wreath with pearls and iridescents, and a back puff of veiling that flowed to fingertip length. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and stephanotis. Angela M. Knuth of Montrose was maid of honor and wore a dusty rose tea-length gown of schiffli embroidery over satin, featuring a banded neckline, sheer yoke, a slightly blouson bodice and three-quarter-length sleeves. A satin sash accented her waist, and the gown's hemline was edged with scallops. She carried a bouquet of dark pink roses surrounded by baby's breath. Bridal attendants were Pam Sherk of Bay Port and Patrice Thede of Sebawaing, both sisters of the bride, Christie VanHoost of Sebawaing, and Jill Winiecki of Imlay City and Mary Francis of Almont, both cousins of the bride. They selected pink gowns identical with that of the maid of honor and carried bouquets of pink roses surrounded by baby's breath. Dave Balzer of Unionville was best man, and groomsmen were Paul Langlois of Gageton, Joe Orban of Unionville, Jeff Yonke of Detroit, and Kurt Letsche of West Olive and Kim Frank of Harrison, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Todd and Tim Winiecki, brothers of the bride and both of Sebawaing, Amanda Winiecki, niece of the bride, was flowergirl, and Nikolas Sherk, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. The mother of the bride chose a three-piece gown of cream peau de soie with beaded flower motif on her jacket. A wrist corsage of baby's breath and cream-colored roses accented her attire. The mother of the bridegroom chose a dusty rose chiffon gown with a lace-pleated bodice, accented with a wrist corsage

Borns mark Golden Year

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Born

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Born of Pigeon celebrated their Golden Anniversary on Sunday, Sept. 28 at the Veterans Memorial Home, Pigeon with a dinner for 70 relatives followed by an Open House from 2 to 5 p.m.

Hosting the party were their son and daughter-in-law, Elmer and Myrna Born and their daughter, Elaine Lakinski and grandchildren Laurie and Rich Pionk, Vickie, Krisie, Rick and Hollie Born and Markel Lakinski.

Guests attended from East Detroit, Warren, Sterling Heights, Detroit, Bay City, Saginaw, Midland, Reese, Frankenmuth, Flint, Fairgrove, Gagetown, Cass City, Caro, Sebewaing, Owendale, Elkton, Bay Port and Bad Axe.

The former Luella Pobanz and Clarence Born were married Sept. 26, 1936 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Linkville by Pastor Ferber. Their attendants were Olin Pobanz and Dorothy (Pobanz) Leitch, brother and sister of the bride.

The couple has a son and a daughter, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild. They reside on their farm at 1347 S Gagetown Road.

Mrs. Kreh marks 89th year

Mrs. H. (Nellie) Kreh observed her 89th birthday with a party on Sunday at the Elkton Civic Center, hosted by her children and grandchildren.

Autumn flower arrangements centered the tables where a three-tiered cake and ice cream were served to about 65 relatives.

Highlight of the day was the presence of Mrs. Kreh's "twin cousin" Ray McMurray of Davison. Both were born on Sept. 27, 1897.

She also received telephone greetings from two grandsons, Rev. William Faupel of Wilmore, Ky., Dr. Charles Faupel of Auburn, Ala. and a cousin, Dorothy Morgan of Ontario, plus cards from many friends and relatives.

Guests attended from Davison, Bay City, Essexville, Flint, Saginaw, Clarkston, New Lothrop, Kingston, Marlette, Decker, Bad Axe, Deckerville, Ruth, Kinde, Pigeon, Elkton and Caseville.

ELKTON PTA
The Elkton Parent-Teacher Association held their monthly meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 14 at the elementary school.

The PTA decided to discontinue the sale of holiday fruit cakes due to lack of interest.

Monetary room prizes were given to the rooms with most parents in attendance. Mrs. Gage's third grade room won first prize and second prize went to Mrs. Krohn's second grade.

Thirty-nine parents and teachers attended the meeting.

Guest speaker was Del Conkright, who spoke on different human development scales and answered questions on children's behavior. Rational Emotive Therapy was also discussed.

The Nov. 17 meeting will feature Michael Gage.

Granddaughter marries

Angela Marie Moeller and Michael Allen DeBolt, both of Delton, were united in marriage on Saturday, Aug. 30 at Grace Lutheran Church, Hastings.

Pastor Michael Anton officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Alger and Donna Moeller of Menominee and the groom is the son of Joan DeBolt, Delton and Richard and Juanita DeBolt, Hastings. The bride is the granddaughter of Delmar and Edna Truemmer of Pigeon and George and Celia Moeller of Kinde.

Music selections included "Suddenly" and "The Wedding Song." Pianist was Sally Schuster of Kalamazoo, friend of the bride and soloist was Dott Moeller of Parchment, sister-in-law of the bride.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a Victorian flounced white gown with a chapel-length train. The dress featured a stand-up collar and was accented with lace ruffles and satin ribbon at the yoke and basque waist. The yoke was schiffli embroidered and the bodice was fitted. The bride also wore a hat that was accented in lace and waist-length veils down the back. She carried a bouquet of white lilies and peach rosebuds.

Teri Jacoby of Battle Creek, friend of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a peach lace over gray taffeta tea-length gown. A fitted bodice with spaghetti straps flowed into a gathered skirt. The peach hem was gathered and accented with gray bows. She carried a spray of peach lilies and peach rosebuds.

Bridesmaids were Melea Hogancamp of Florida, sister of the bride, Linda Gillispie of Battle Creek, friend of the bride and Cynthia Rybicki of Grand Rapids, friend of the bride. They dressed identically to the matron of honor.

Dick Jacoby of Battle Creek, friend of the groom was best man. Groomsmen were Mark DeBolt of Delton and Matt DeBolt of Hastings, both brothers of the groom and Roy Moeller of Parchment, brother of the bride.

A reception at the American Legion in Hickory Corners followed the ceremony.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Delton Kellogg and is majoring in special education at Eastern Michigan University.

The groom is a 1984 graduate of Delton Kellogg and is studying chemical engineering at the University of Michigan.

The couple is residing in Ann Arbor while attending school.

Langley-Goniwicha marry

St. Francis Borgia Catholic Church, Pigeon, was the site of wedding vows spoken Saturday, Sept. 27 between Tina Goniwicha of Owendale and Ronald Langley of Caseville.

Father Ben Skornia solemnized the vows, which united the children of Denny and Grace Goniwicha of Owendale and Annabel Stolicker of Bad Axe and the late David W. Langley of Caseville.

Soloist Kathy Guitar of Harbor Beach was accompanied by organist Julie Wolfram of Pigeon when the two performed the selections, "Peace if Flowing Like a River" and "Sing a New Song."

The altar was graced with matching vases of lavender mums, pink daisies and baby's breath. The center altar held a unity arrangement of similar flowers.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white gown of taffeta with venice lace and schiffli embroidery. The dress featured a Victorian bodice with ball-gown sleeves. The full skirt was trimmed with lace, baby ruffles and satin bows. A semi-cathedral train completed the gown.

Her veil was a halo of tulle and bridal lace with accents of stephanotis and angel lace. A point of tulle was caught up at the crown with forget-me-nots.

The bride carried an elegant arrangement of lavender roses, stephanotis and creamy silk gardenias. The bouquet was backed by a silk fern styled in a formal crescent shape.

Martha Taylor of Capac stood up as matron of honor for her friend, wearing a gown of lilac ice-colored Versailles taffeta, featured a ball-gown ruffled bodice and full skirt with layers of wedgewood lace at the bottom. Tiny bows caught the pick-up corners which encircled the skirt. She carried a silk lace fan. An arrangement of lavender carnations, purple mini-mums and white forget-me-nots were nestled in a cloud of angel lace. Matching streamers attached the bouquet to the fan.

Bridesmaids were Sheila Errer of Bad Axe, sister of the bride, Marla West of Bad Axe, sister of the groom and Dana Goniwicha of Owendale, sister of the bride. The attendants were attired identically to the matron of honor.

The groom's niece, Beth Spencer of Bad Axe, was flowergirl.

The groom asked a friend, Craig Errer of Bad Axe, to be best man. Groomsmen included Melvin Soper of Bad Axe, cousin of the groom; Mark Langley of Bad Axe, brother of the groom and Derek Goniwicha of Owendale, brother of the bride.

Seating wedding guests were ushers Greg Talaski of Filion, cousin of the bride and Duane Langley of Bad Axe, brother of the groom.

Ringbearer was Nathan Brown of Cass City, a friend of the couple.

The bride's mother wore a teal-colored tea-length gown with a Victorian neckline of schiffli embroidered lace and stand-up sleeves. Her corsage was of white silk gardenias and baby forget-me-nots in shades to match her dress.

The groom's mother wore a blue chantilly lace tea-length gown with a lace gathered peplum and long sleeves ending in a soft ruffle. She wore a similar corsage as that worn by the bride's mother, in a shade to match her dress.

The newly-married Mr. and Mrs. Langley greeted 400 wedding guests at a reception conducted at the Pigeon VFW Hall. Guests attended from Bad Axe, Harbor Beach, Whitmore Lake, Capac, Kalamazoo and Gurlay, Ala.

Both the bride and groom are employed at Arjay Manufacturing, Inc.

Following a week's honeymoon to the Upper Peninsula, the couple is residing in Gagetown.

Take the "Tricks" Out of Trick or Treat!

Make this Halloween a fun and safe one.

Avoid any Halloween scares by following these simple, but important, safety tips.

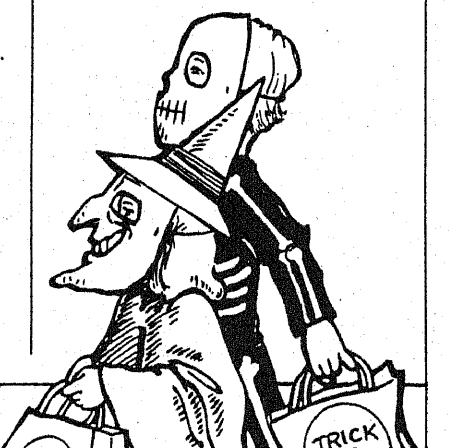

- Keep children away from lit jack-o'-lanterns if their costumes are flammable.
- Make sure costumes are not so long that your child could trip on them. Reflective tape should be put on all costumes — especially dark-colored ones. Also, painted faces are better than masks since masks almost always affect vision.
- Instruct children not to eat any treats before you have inspected them carefully. You may want to feed them a good meal and give them several treats before they go trick or treating to help avoid temptation.

- Trick or treat only in well-lighted neighborhoods — preferably only at homes where you know the occupants personally.
- Accompany all small children while trick or treating. Older children, if unchaperoned, should follow a predetermined route and have a set curfew time.
- Carry a flashlight and walk on sidewalks, not on streets. Do not run between parked cars to cross the streets — cross at corners only after looking both ways for cars. (If there are no sidewalks, walk on the left side of the road facing traffic.)
- Inspect all candy and other treats closely. Candy with torn wrappers or any packaging that looks like it has been tampered with should be immediately thrown away. Fruit should be washed and cut into small pieces before eating.

Don't let the goblins get you — follow these Halloween safety tips!

FAITH TEACHES US THAT HARD TIMES CAN BE A BLESSING

The economy of a nation seems to rise and fall with the tides of world and national events, natural disasters, greed and many other contributing factors. When times are bad, much rhetoric is employed in an effort to establish the blame for the downturn, while reaping the political benefits from it; and many a hapless administration must await the verdict of history as to whether it caused or inherited the sad situation that meant financial hardship to so many. In any case, we must look upon it as a blessing in disguise, incredible as this may seem; because hard times have a way of reminding us of life's basic values, curbing our greed, developing our ingenuity and resourcefulness, and turning us to God for His guidance. And when with the aid of faith the good times return, as they always do, we find ourselves better off for this chastening experience.

...if we did not sometimes taste of adversity, prosperity would not be so welcome. — Anne Bradstreet

Sweet Adelines plan Laker concert

The Lake Huron chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. will sponsor an Evening of Song on Saturday, Nov. 1 at the Laker High School auditorium at 8 p.m. The recently-chartered group will entertain the audience with several selections under the direction of their new director, Laurie "Sam" Easton of Bay City. She is the former director of the Bay Valley chapter, which recently merged with Harmony Valley chapter of Midland. Featured entertainment for the evening, in addition to the local singers, will be the "Midstatesmen Chorus," a group of 42 members ranging in age from 17 to 90. Included among its members is a former Pigeon resident Karl Leppien.

Also featured will be a women's quartet, "Crazy Rhythm," from the tri-city area. A reception will follow the show and will include some impromptu singing by the performing groups. Tickets may be purchased in advance by calling Mrs. Marian Rathje at 453-2524 or Mrs. Peg Hartman at 453-3714, or at the door.

The Midstatesmen Chorus will be the featured entertainment as the Lake Huron chapter of Sweet Adelines perform their first local concert.

Thanks A Million

DEAR MR. ROSS: I really hate writing this letter, but maybe I'll get lucky and get help. I'm 25 and have been married for two years. Since January of last year until the present, I've been plagued with a real problem... impotence.

Since then I've explored and invested in everything I felt could help. I went to a sex clinic and wasted $400 finding out what I already knew - that it's a psychological problem. They suggested counseling, but at $70 an hour it just isn't feasible.

From all the research I've done, if I were hypnotized I may be able to get to the root of the problem. That's where I ask your

Laker air attack corrals bucking Broncos

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
The North Branch pregame and halftime shows literally provided spectators with fireworks, but the passing duo of juniors Jay Anthes and Paul Elenbaum provided the offensive fireworks in Lakers' 28-21 victory over the Broncos last Friday night.

The win in the showdown between the two unbeaten Thumb B Association leaders assures Lakers at least a share of the league title and a likely playoff spot if they win the two games remaining on the schedule.

COMBINATION: Anthes and Elenbaum hooked up for all four Laker touchdowns in passes of 15, 43, 12 and 25 yards.

The Green Machine quieted North Branch fans early as Elenbaum hauled in his first scoring pass of the game at 8:33 of the opening quarter. Laker's Kel Hill set up the scoring play by recovered a Bronco fumble on their second series of downs of the game.

The second North Branch drive was also stopped by a turnover when Laker's Kevin Wissner fell on a loose ball.

The Broncos then quit stopping themselves, and for the most part the Laker defense couldn't contain the North Branch running attack either.

On their third possession, North Branch marched 64 yards with Paul Gill crossing the goal line on a one yard plunge to tie the game.

Elenbaum's second TD catch covered 43 yards with just 41 seconds remaining in the second quarter to give Lakers a 14-7 halftime lead.

line. An Anthes-Elenbaum 35-yard aerial moved the ball to within 10 yards of paydirt, then repeated teamed up again for a 12-yard TD pass.

After booting the first two Laker PATs, Randy Heckman was just wide of the goal posts on the third attempt.

North Branch quarterback Mike Groce kept the ball on an option play and rambled 60 yards to the Laker 7-yard line. On the fourth crack at the goal line, Fantin scored the touchdown from one foot out. Groce then booted the PAT to give North Branch a 21-20 lead with just 2:38 remaining in the game.

TO THE WIN: Lakers started their game-winning drive at their 47-yard line. A big pass interference call in which a Laker receiver was knocked down and a North Branch defender intercepted the pass gave the Green Machine the ball at the Bronco 25.

Anthes then tossed the 25-yard TD pass to Elenbaum to clinch the win with 1:20 on the clock. Tom Beer ran in the two-point conversion for the final points of the game.

The run-oriented North Branch squad couldn't move the ball in the remaining seconds as Lakers celebrated on the sidelines.

In the contest, North Branch won the battle but lost the war. The Bronco rolled up 273 yards rushing and earned 20 first downs while Laker High rushed for a total of 25 rushing yards and four first downs. The key stastic, however is 158 yards passing and four touchdowns by the Green Machine compared with 32 yards for North Branch.

Anthes completed 9-16 passes for 158 yards and Elenbaum, his favorite receiver for the night, grabbed five passes for 131 yards.

Bronco running back Dennis Griffen gained 126 yards in 21 carries and Gill accounted for 124 yards in 24 carries.

Bronco Coach Don Smeznik obviously didn't agree with the crucial pass interference penalty on Laker's scoring drive but refused to comment on it.

"That would be sour grapes. We're too much of gentlemen around here to discuss it," said Smeznik.

About the Laker team he said, "They're a good tough hitting football team. They did a good job. We don't have anybody 6'6" to go along with (Elenbaum)."

Commenting on his players, Smeznik said, "I was very proud of my kids. They never quit and they kept coming back. They're a scrappy bunch and I'm very happy with them."

BIG WIN: Laker Coach Bill McLellan said the game ranks as one of the biggest wins in his coaching career.

He acknowledged the talent of the North Branch team saying, "They have good linemen, good hard running backs and they're fast. They're a good football team. I wouldn't want to play them again."

McLellan admitted he wasn't thinking touchdown when his team started its last drive.

"We wanted to get up the field and get in field goal range. But I kept looking out there and they kept playing (Elenbaum) tight and giving us that fade route."

"I said I'm going to throw it up there one more time and see what happens," McLellan explained.

Commenting on his final scoring catch, Laker receiver Elenbaum said, "The last (pass) I didn't even see until it was right on me because that sucker was right in the lights. The only reason I caught it was because it was right on the money."

Following his four touchdown pass receptions, few people would dispute that opinion.

THIS WEEK: Lakers host Cass City, with the crowning of the Laker Homecoming Queen scheduled for halftime.

JVs UNDEFEATED: The Laker junior varsity boosted their record to 7-0 with a 14-6 victory over North Branch last Thursday.

Kevin Wolfram opened

Laker scoring in the second quarter on a 40-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Billy McLellan.

Wolfram then threw to Al McBride for the two-point conversion.

In the third quarter, McLellan again connected with Wolfram on a touchdown pass covering 22 yards for Laker's final points of the game.

North Branch scored their lone touchdown on a 20-yard pass.

The Laker offense was led by McLellan who was 8-14 for 143 yards passing and two touchdowns. Wolfram caught seven passes for 43 yards.

Leading ground gainers were Ed Bach with 59 yards in 19 carries and Vince Gentile with 55 yards in 11 carries.

The Laker offense was led by McLellan who was 8-14 for 143 yards passing and two touchdowns. Wolfram caught seven passes for 43 yards.

Leading ground gainers were Ed Bach with 59 yards in 19 carries and Vince Gentile with 55 yards in 11 carries.

Bach also led the defense with 11 tackles.

Bruce Langley then put the home team on the board at the 1:07 mark on a 36-yard run on which he shook off several tackles.

Young running backs scampered through huge holes created by the powerful Deckerville linemen.

THIS WEEK: Caseville wraps up their season at Peck on Saturday, which the Eagle mentor views as a challenge to his team.

"We have another tough game next week with Peck and a lot will depend on how this week goes. If (Caseville players) give up - Peck will probably beat us," said Winkler after the loss to Deckerville.

In addition to scoring the Caseville touchdown, Langley led his team's offense with 52 yards in 11 carries and the defense with 20 tackles.

Warren finished the game with eight points, while Caseville scoring was led by Tina Bieri with 11 points and Krista Colgin with 10.

DOMINATED: Last Thursday, Akron - Fairgrove simply outgunned the Lady Eagles. The Vikings built a 29-13 halftime lead on the talents of Jennifer Foster and Carol Childs.

return of the Akron Fairgrove starters.

"We played okay but they're just a better ball club. They have two potential All-Staters in Foster and Childs," Bingham says.

Foster topped all scorers in the game with 26 points followed closely by Childs with 25.

Colgin netted 17 to lead Caseville and Erin Barton added 10.

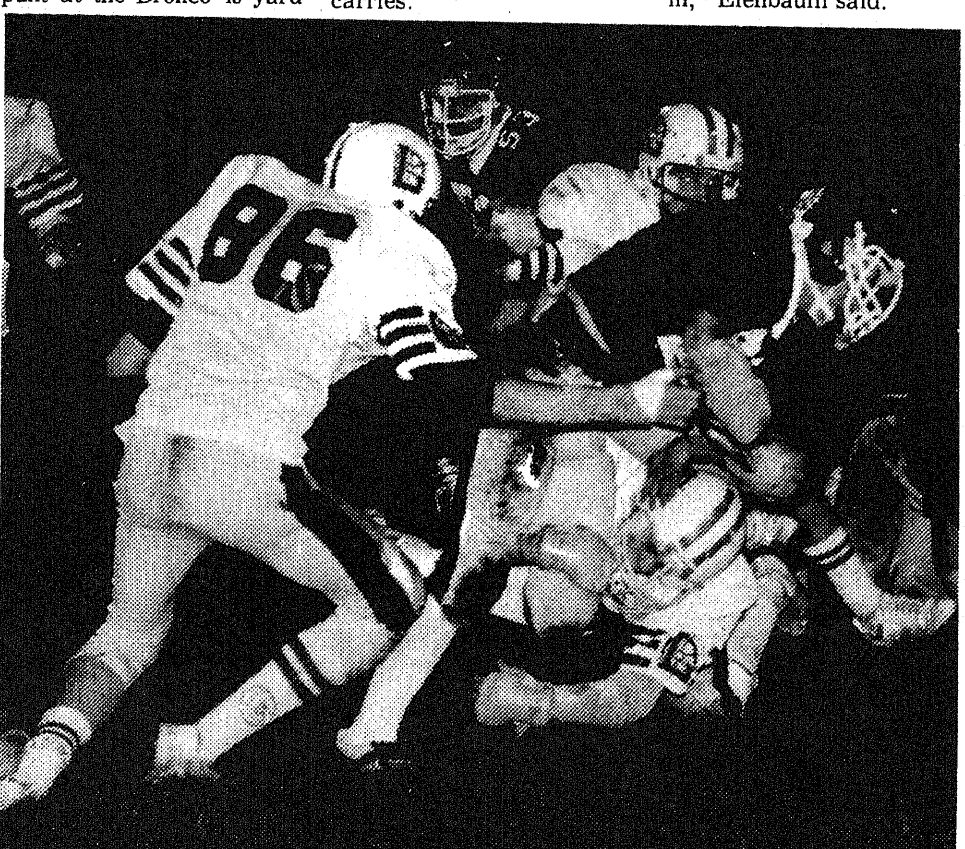

THIS WEEK: Caseville travels to Peck on Tuesday then returns home to host CPS on Thursday.

JVs LOSE: The Caseville jayvees lost a 32-17 decision to North Huron and were edged by Akron - Fairgrove 32-28.

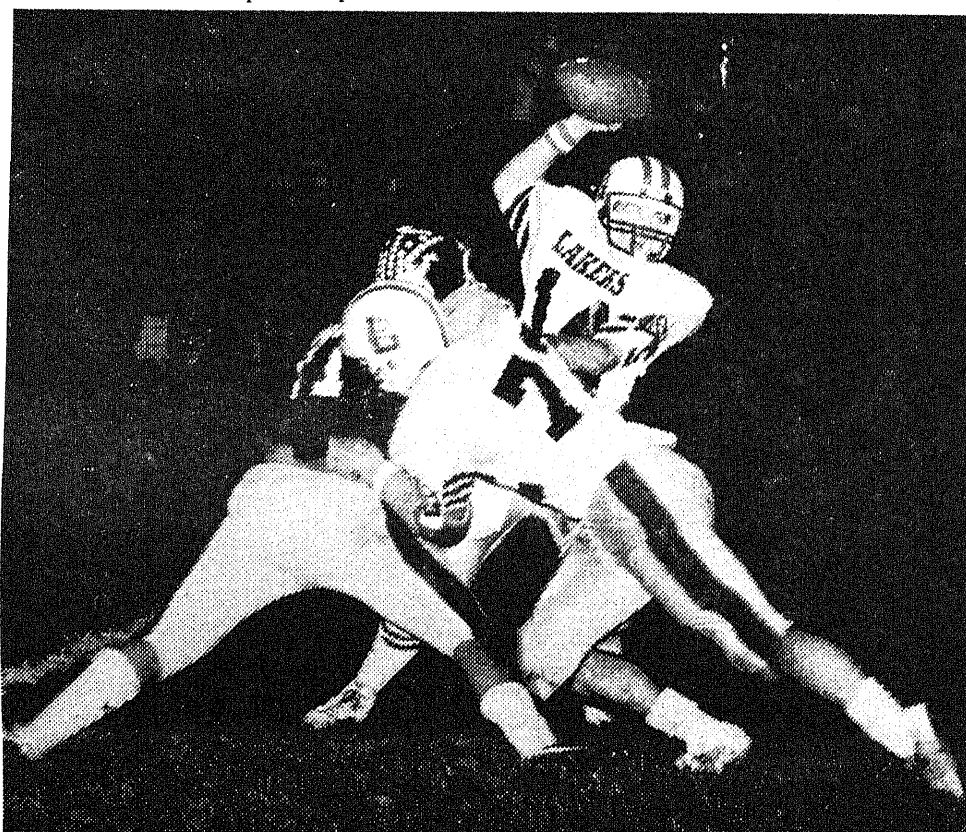

Although the tradition was born in fun, the players take the rivalry very seriously.

"They're really proud of it," says Bingham about his player feelings toward the trophy.

Bingham says he is proud of the way his team played while missing three players.

DOGGED DEFENSE: Laker Kel Hill (86) joins a pair of teammates to bring down a North Branch runner.

ANTHES AIR ATTACK: Quarterback Jay Anthes (14) looks for his favorite receiver Paul Elenbaum on a pass play as Laker lineman Alan Stalter (72) deflects the rush of a North Branch defender.

Broncos upend Lakers in overtime hoop thriller

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
In the battle of the unbeaten co-leaders of Thumb B girls basketball Thursday, North Branch edged the visiting Lakers in overtime by a 64-63 score.

Early in the game, it appeared the Lady Lakers would easily defeat the defending Thumb B champs. Lisa Buschlen popped in nine points and Julia Sturm added seven as the visitors opened up a 21-9 lead at the end of the first quarter. The Broncos then gambled on defense by using a half-court trap which slowed Lakers.

Coach Paul Beachy said his team was expecting that tactic and practiced taking advantage of it during the week.

"I thought that would be the time we could break the game open, but we couldn't execute against the trap," Beachy said.

performance of Bethanne Beachy early in the game, the Laker coach expressed disappointment with his team's defensive play. He pointed out that North Branch collected most of their points on shots near the basket.

In the second half, the Broncos took only five shots from outside the lane and canned three of them.

"Defensively we didn't have the guts to stop them on their drives," Beachy said.

He also noted the officials allowed some rough play in the game.

easy for five players to guard one," stated Beachy.

Although Lakers' first loss of the season was crushing to both players and coach, Beachy said he hopes something positive to come of it.

"We knew this game would bring out where we needed work. If you can take those losses and learn from them, that's important," said the Laker mentor.

After her nine-point first quarter, Buschlen finished the game with 15 points. Sturm pulled down 12 rebounds and Vicki Winter grabbed eight caroms.

Deckerville humbles Caseville in battle of Eagles

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
A bulletin board in a main corridor of Caseville High School reads "Look to the future with a smile," but that could be a tough task — at least for the Caseville football squad.

Last Saturday the Eagle gridders were totally manhandled 42-6 by an outstanding Deckerville team.

The scoreboard read 28-0 at halftime, and about the only question about the outcome of the game which remained in doubt was whether Caseville would avoid the shutout. They did — barely.

Trailing 42-0 with just over two minutes remaining in the contest, Eagle quarterback Matt Kraus found Doug Engleman open downfield.

The pass play covered 48 yards and seemed to bring the Caseville team to life. The band even took the opportunity to play the fight song.

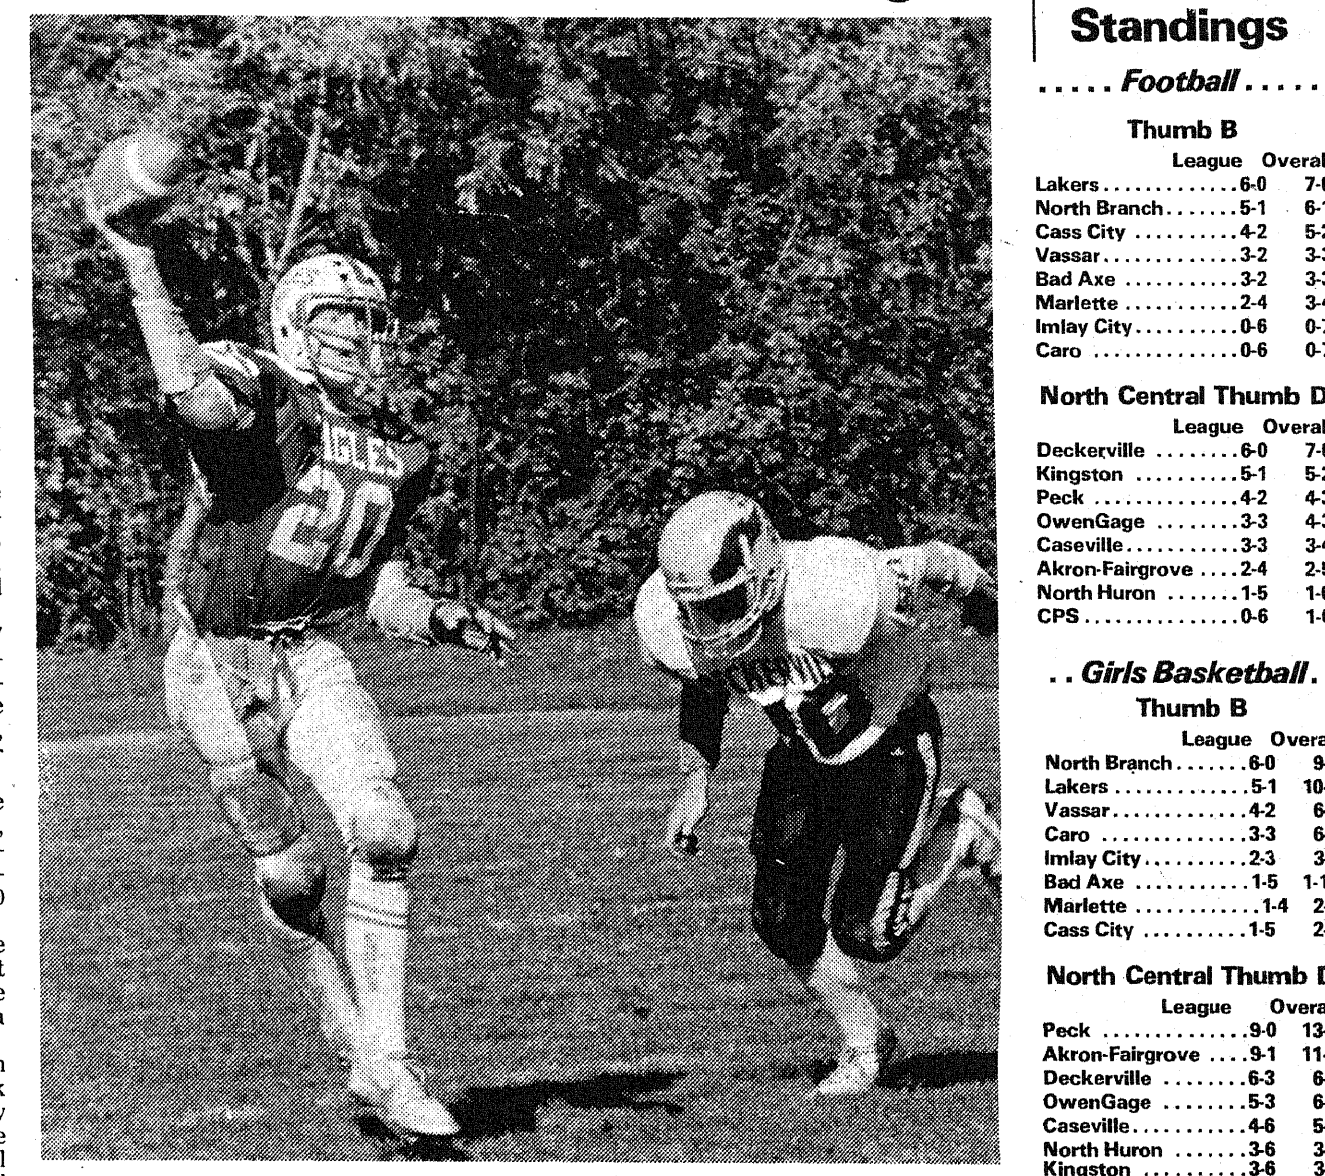

Bruce Langley then put the home team on the board at the 1:07 mark on a 36-yard run on which he shook off several tackles.

Young running backs scampered through huge holes created by the powerful Deckerville linemen. Sophomore running back Richard Barker led off the visitor's scoring parade with a one-yard plunge.

Classmate Daryl Bolsby then accounted for the next three touchdowns with runs of 45, seven and five yards.

Deckerville freshman David Castillo scampered in the end zone from two yards out in the third quarter and "elderly" junior running back Alan Hooper recorded a five-yard touchdown in the final stanza.

PRESSURE PASS: Caseville running back Bruce Langley fires a halfback option pass as Deckerville defender David Ridley closes in for a tackle.

Eagle hoop team claims Gold Cup from Warriors

By RICH SWARTZENDRUBER
An emotional roller-coaster ride was experienced last week by the Caseville girls basketball team. On Tuesday, The Lady Eagles slipped past North Huron, 42-39 in overtime to claim possession of the Gold Cup.

Thursday however was another matter as the Akron - Fairgrove Viking thrashed Caseville, 59-41.

The Gold Cup is an old trophy which is displayed by the winner of the second Caseville-North Huron game of the season. The tradition was started seven years ago by Eagle Coach Randy Bingham and Jack Wallington, North Huron Coach at that time.

Although the tradition was born in fun, the players take the rivalry very seriously.

"They're really proud of it," says Bingham about his player feelings toward the trophy.

The Clubuses Haunted House at 58 S. Caseville Road, Pigeon, will operate Saturday, Oct. 25 from 1 to 4:30 and 8:30 to 8:30, and Sunday, from 2 to 5 p.m. Everyone is welcomed for the fun!

With all the publicity about the little boy being so brave in saving his brother and for all the praise that's been heaped on him, I hope somebody gave that family a fire detector. Every family needs one.

We appreciate your paper in the community! We do not appreciate past columns, suggesting not taking a public stand against pornography, perverse morality, etc.

We need to take an individual stand and often a united stand against negative influences and for positive influences. Support of the President and other leaders in America is important; for the family, pro-life, against porno, and drugs and for America.

We appreciate recent columns on working together, caring, keeping hope and perhaps a little time down on our knees wouldn't hurt either.

Caseville Township taxpayers, do you know your monies are being spent on flying a lawyer in and out of California, at any time the township feels they need him?

If all you have to complain about is someone putting T.P. around a friend's house, do some volunteer work or something. You've got too much time on your hands, friend.

I'm so sick of New York this and that. I just LOVE seeing the Sox beating the Met. Keep it up, guys!

I see the listing of winning windows in Pigeon and would like to know who the judges were. If some of the winners know so much about Lakers, why did they have green letters on white backgrounds, when it's the other way around? Thank you.

Certain mailmen should watch out about leaving parcels tied on a mailbox. Be careful, or they may be taken. Thank you.

Remember, Laker yearbooks will be on sale during lunch hour at Lakers through Oct. 24. That's the last day and there will be no late sale. For details, call Linda Clabuesch at 453-2330.

I agree wholeheartedly with the SOUND-OFF in the Sept.

Caseville Choir is in fine voice!

Practices are beginning for this year's performances by the Caseville Community Choir, under the direction of Carol Anderson.

Regular practices are scheduled on Mondays at 7 p.m. and Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. at Caseville United Methodist Church.

Any and all singers are invited. Come join us in the Christmas Concert this year!

24 paper. Everyone loves sports, but sports are not going to help our children pay the bills when they grow up!

A son at college wired his father for some money, saying, "No mon, no fun, your son." His dad wired back, "How sad, too bad, your dad." Signed, Carl Dast.

Lakers are respected for their athletic abilities, throughout the state. Now if only "those certain few" cheering supporters were as respectable!

I think it's very unsportsman-like when "air ball" is chanted at basketball games, stomping feet on the bleachers is allowed and screaming happens when players are taking free throws or in a huddle!

Cheerleaders and athletic officials should not condone this type of behavior. Perhaps other schools allow this but WE don't have to stoop to their levels! Come on, Laker supporters, clean up your act. Let's be No. 1 all the way! Un-signed!

Fall color tour

The middle of October is usually prime time for fall color tours, and last year was no exception. However, I got an invite to view Michigan's beautiful hardwoods from a different angle, and had all the colors of the rainbow thrown in for good measure.

October 19th, the third Saturday in October was marked on my calendar with a large red circle. This was the day Ray Schmidt, the best fishing guide in Western Michigan, was taking me on a drift trip down the Pere Marquette River.

"Bring your camera and plenty of film," I remember him saying, as we agreed on the date during a spring fishing trip. "There is plenty of color along the river, not to mention the color you'll see in the river."

We launched the drift boat at the green cottage, downriver from the M-31 bridge in the town of Baldwin. Ray had stopped at a local motel earlier and made arrangements for a Jeep and trailer to be shuttled to Gleason's Landing where we would pull out for the day.

I grimaced as Ray bounced his craft over a bank full of boulders, and unceremoniously nosed it into the water. This was no ordinary drift boat, commercially made from aluminum or fiberglass. This drift boat had been handcrafted by Ray the winter before, out of mahogany plywood and white oak. It was finished off with a clear resin so the beautiful woods showed off their natural colors. It seemed a shame the boat was treated so roughly, but I wasn't about to argue with the owner. Today, I was the guest.

Ray manned the oars, and for the first hour he propelled the craft quickly downstream, away from the public fishing sites loaded with snaggers during this time of the year. His destination was the club property and the fruitful holes that lay within. Drifting has become commonplace on Michigan's rivers. Once the boat of the Western United States, the craft has found its way east, and has become an expert way to fish a lot of water, with little effort.

We would not be fishing from the boat, it would only be used to provide transportation from hole to hole. Upon reaching fishable waters, Ray would anchor the boat by tying up to some brush and with waders intact, we would hop over the side and stalk the fish as any other wading fisherman would do.

The river was a blaze of color. The deep rust of the oak mingling with the brilliant reds of the maple were tempered by soft yellows of the aspen and the dark greens of the spruce. Everywhere I looked the panorama was breathtaking. I had canoeed rivers in the fall before, but never had I caught the colors in such a vivid array.

We stopped a short distance beyond the clay banks, and Ray pulled a thermos from beneath his seat. He poured me a cup of coffee and bid me to stay in the boat while he scouted ahead. The coffee warmed me twice. Once as I held it in my hands, and again as it slid down my throat. Although the day was bright and clear, the cold from the water seeped through the boat and into my bones like radiation from a leaky nuclear plant.

Ray returned with a smile plastered all over his face. "Wait until you see what's up ahead," he whispered. "Get your rod and follow me." We glided downstream, walking with little effort as the current pushed us along. Presently, Ray stopped and pointed his finger to a patch of water shaded by a drooping spruce tree. Beneath the crystal liquid, I could see the shape of at least 3 steelheads.

"Take the one in the rear," Ray said in a hushed voice.

I dropped the yarn egg in front of the torpedo-shaped figure and the surface of the water erupted in a geyser of spray. In the middle of this spontaneous fountain, was a twisting, silver fish with a rainbow-colored hue painted down its side.

"That's the real fall color," Ray said, laughing, "there isn't any tree as pretty as that."

During that instant, I couldn't have agreed with him more....

BACK TO THE FUTURE: Seniors prepare for the future! Students in Mr. Bingham's economics class are writing career papers. They will research a career, write a resume, and have an actual job interview. Mr. Bingham said they will write the paper in an effort to help them decide what they want to do in the future.

Senior Samantha Lapka said, "I think it's a good idea because being a senior, I have to start thinking about what I'm going to do after graduation."

MINUTES OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE PIGEON VILLAGE COUNCIL Oct. 13, 1986

The regular meeting of the Pigeon Village Council was called to order at 7:00 p.m. by President David Geiger. Members present were Orr, Fluegge, Gehr, McCormick, Pohanz and Licht. Also present were Don Otto, Janet Heckman, John Walsh and Lowell Kraft. Minutes of the Sept. 8 meeting were read and approved.

Sealed bids for the removal of the old water tower were opened by President Geiger. Discussion concerning bids and removal of the tower were tabled until the next regular council meeting.

John Walsh, Village CPA, presented the fiscal year-end report. Also presented to Council was a financial report through Sept. 30, 1986. Walsh informed members that books are now current, and work is progressing on obtaining a new program to be used on the Village computer. Motion to accept the statements passed unanimously.

A letter from Pigeon Manufacturing requesting a 12-year 50 property tax relief was read to Council. A motion to inform management to proceed with necessary steps was passed. A Public Hearing will be held at the next regular scheduled Council meeting. A motion to hire Fred Joles as Grand Administrator was made by Dave McCormick and seconded by Cliff Pohanz. Motion carried. A committee was appointed to work with Mr. Joles.

Correspondence from the C & O Railway Company regarding our lease was read. No action was taken concerning the letter.

Members formally accepted a retirement plan change from the Municipal Employees' Retirement System.

Discussion regarding a new building to house DPW equipment was brought before members. It was decided to draw up specifications and to advertise for bids. Council will then be able to plan accordingly.

Beggars Night hours and date were voted on by members. A motion to have the hours 5:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Oct. 31 passed unanimously.

President Geiger presented the Police Report. Motion to accept report was passed. Treasurer Heckman presented the 1986 summer tax collection report. Members were informed that 92 of the tax dollars had been collected.

Superintendent Heckman informed Council that $1,500.00 is outstanding on water bills.

DPW Superintendent Otto was given approval from members to advertise in paper to have residents bag leaves for pick-up.

Purchasing a new tractor with loader was discussed by members. A motion to advertise for bids to be opened at our next meeting passed unanimously.

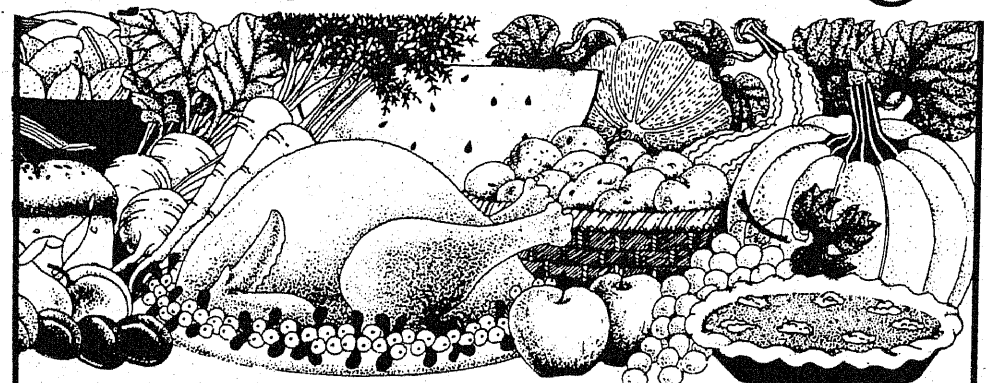

The Building Inspection Report was given by Geiger. Motion passed to accept report.

A resolution in support of the Pigeon District Library participation in the Library CD-ROM project was made and voted on. Motion carried.

There being no further business, a motion to adjourn at 9:28 p.m. was made. Motion carried.

Respectfully submitted, Janet Heckman, superintendent

IN LOVING MEMORY

ADAM ANTONIO AVALOS

October 19, 1984

October 24, 1984

Our little boy has gone away, he's not here on his special day. A birthday party we would throw, just because we love him so!

We'd shower him with toys, you know, just the kind for little boys, he'd laugh and play all through the day, and at days end I'd come to say, momma's boy is two today.

I'd hug him in my arms so tight, before I'd tuck him in at night, but today he celebrates in a heavenly way, with Jesus and angels his song they will sing, "Happy Birthday."

Little Adam today you are two, your mommy and daddy and sister send hugs and kisses and love for you.

Happy 15th Anniversary

Love, From The "K" Family

We wish to extend our thanks to all relatives, neighbors and friends for all their kindness and sympathy shown during the recent illness and death of our mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother, Anna Licht.

We wish to thank the administrator and staff of the Four Seasons Health Care Facility for their kindness and care.

Also, Rev. Henkelman and Rev. Orth for their comforting words and prayers; Arthur Woelke for his beautiful solo; and Mrs. Henkelman for the organ music. For all the beautiful florals, memorials, cards and all who sent food.

Many thanks to the ladies of the church for preparing and serving the luncheon after the funeral. Also, the Shetler-Bussema Funeral Home and staff for all the courtesy extended.

LADY EAGLES: The Lady Eagles defeated North Huron 39-43 in overtime and won back the gold cup (a cup the coaches decided to have their teams play for during their second game of the season). The Eagles lost the cup to North Huron last year and won it back this year.

The Eagles were led by Tina Bieri with 11 points and Krista Colgin with 10. Yvonne Miller added nine points and 11 rebounds.

The Caseville girls' basketball team was defeated by Akron-Fairgrove, 41-59. Krista Colgin led the Eagles with 17 points, Erin Barton and Tina Bieri, added 10 and eight points, respectively.

RAINDROPS KEEP FALLING... A season wash out! Due to all the rain this season, the Caseville Golf Team only had the chance to compete twice in regular matches and once at the Reese Tournament. Five matches had been cancelled because of the weather.

In the first match of the season, the Eagle golfers lost to Lakers and beat Port Hope as a triangular. The second regular match was much the same. They competed and beat Port Hope.

On Sept. 20, Matt Kraus, Carl Brunni, Colby Cottick and Dale Delmotte competed in the Reese Invitational Best Ball Tournament. Carl and Matt shot an 88 for 18 holes and were fifth place overall. Dale and Colby carded a 114. The Eagles took third place overall. Carl and Matt both received fifth place medals for their efforts.

ON TO STRATFORD: English Literature students visited the Festival Theatre in Stratford, Ont. recently and saw Shakespeare's play, "Cymbeline," a Shakespearean romance that is a combination of fairytales, romance and adventure. Viewers were thrilled with spectacular settings and props of the modern adaptation.

Attending the Oct. 8 trip were Vicky Karle, Colleen Kopack, Michele Kretschmer, Kim Madej, Jeff Malett, Mark Mohr, Chris Perry, Ray Orbeck, Jeff Siegfried, Yvonne Miller, Mike Mohr, Kristin Nevin, Matt Kraus, Jim Pionk, Samantha Lapka, Carrie Zollner, Kelly Finley and Sally Gembariski.
