Weekend rain helpful; crop conditions still are poor

The condition and status of many farm crops varied widely as the harvest season started, and the spotty rainfall pattern of last week gave even broader diversity of quality and yields, often on a farm-to-farm basis.

Generally, however, the most severe drought in a half-century had a strongly negative effect on yields, quality—and on the mood of farmers and townspeople. On a crop-to-crop basis, here is a roundup of findings from producers, government reporters and commodity handlers.

DRY BEANS—Planted acreage at 300,000 acres, declined by about one-third to the lowest level since bean records began in 1909. James Byrum, executive secretary of the Michigan Bean Commission, reported that beans in some areas look better than the same area did last year at this time, but the majority need rain badly.

The stage of the crop ranges from "just planted" to "starting to blossom." For the crop to continue to flourish, more rain is needed, especially on later-planted fields or those that have just emerged, he said.

Some areas in the heart of the Saginaw Valley have yet to receive significant rain and they "desperately need precipitation." Potato leafhoppers are showing up in troublesome numbers and in many cases they warrant treatment.

SUGAR BEETS—Across the beet-growing areas, the Michigan Department of Agriculture reports 153,000 acres planted, an increase of 6% over last year. Locally, sugar beets are "holding up well" despite the lack of rain, said Dick Jacoby, agriculture director for the Sebewaing plant of Michigan Sugar Company.

With 2-3 inches of rain we'd have an excellent crop, especially since this year's stand is about 40% better than last year. A crop of beets can add 5 to 6 tons per acre in a couple of weeks, so while we need the rain, we're not desperate as other crops are, he added.

Light sandy fields show willing of beet plants, but other fields with heavier soils are holding up well, and our potential is still very good, Jacoby concluded.

WHEAT—Michigan's winter wheat is estimated at 24.4 million bushels, based on reports on July 1. Drought reduced prospects by 16% since June 1, but this crop is still expected to be 27% above last season's unusually-low output.

Yields for the 1988 crop are expected to average 40 bushels per acre, 7 bushels below the June 1 forecast and 8 bushels below last year's yield.

Quality of the crop so far is "generally very good," but some low test weights and shrunken kernels were reported in early harvested fields. About 610,000 acres of winter wheat are expected to be harvested, which is 53% above last year's low level. US winter wheat production is forecast at 1.57 billion bushels, slightly higher than 1987 production.

CORN—Plantings at 2.1 million acres fell 9% from last year and declined to the lowest level since 1970. Corn is expected to be harvested for grain at 1.6 million acres, the lowest level since 1969.

SOYBEANS—Planted acreage is at 1.3 million acres, an increase of 18% over a year ago and a new state record. The crop is 8% above the 1984 mark.

OATS—Locally the oat crop is "very, very poor", said Wes Edington, of Cooperative Elevator Company, which makes this growing season particularly painful because the elevator company has been contracting and emphasizing a larger crop each year.

With new evidence that oat bran can lower cholesterol in blood levels in humans, the demand for high quality oats has zoomed and prices

New variety show coming from Cedar Point

The Amazeam Park Revue, Cedar Point's year-round touring group, will amaze the audience at this year's Friday Night Stage Show, which will kick-off at 7:30 p.m. at the Pigeon Recreation Park.

The 45-minute show will feature the popular music of more than six decades and will appear to concert-goers of all ages. The Revue performs everything from barbershop harmonies, big band classics and dixieland jazz to country/pop hits and Top 40 tunes.

MAGICIAN, TOO: Another special guest will be the appearance of comedian-magician Jeff Hobson, who has been called the "Ultimate Entertainer." He has performed for a variety of groups in theaters and nightclubs, conventions and banquets, from Las Vegas to New York, from Los Angeles to Dallas.

Gail and Rice Productions is in charge of these performance bookings for the 1988 Pigeon Farmers' Festival.

Concert-goers can expect a traditionally large crowd and are invited to come early for best viewing. The performance is free, sponsored by the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce, which is becoming well-known throughout the Thumb for providing first-class Festival entertainment. Guests are urged to bring comfortable seating and prepare themselves for top-notch entertainment!

Achievements

Curtis Wright of Farmington Hills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelmer Wright of Pigeon, has been promoted to Staff Claim Analyst, the highest ranking position for a claim representative in the adjusting capacity.

Wright, 41, has been employed by Allstate Insurance since 1969.

The former Pigeon resident is a 1964 graduate of Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port High School and a 1969 graduate of Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky. He and his wife, Kathy have two children, Clint, 14 and Kerri, 12. The Wright family resides in Westland.

CURTIS WRIGHT

Grades were recently released by the Interlochen Arts Academy for the final semester of the 1987-88 school year.

Earning all A's in both her academic and music areas was Julie Lepprandt of Pigeon. Lepprandt was a student at IAA for her junior year and maintained a 4.0-plus average for the year.

She is the daughter of Charles and Doris Lepprandt.

Janet Renn, daughter of Terry and Joanne Renn of Elkton, is among four Huron County 4-H members who were announced as district winners in the Tel-Award program — a tool used to select district and state award recipients in selected project areas.

A member of the Laker 4-H Club, Renn has raised sheep for five years, developing a knowledge of them through breeding, raising and showing her ewes. Her other activities include foods, sewing, photography and flower arrangements. Renn is presently attending Baker College, where she majors in accounting.

Huron County is part of a 17-county district from which winners are chosen to interview for a chance to be named State Tel-Award winner and attend National 4-H club Congress.

Mark L. Harder, son of Joanne Harder of Bay Port, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of chief warrant officer two.

Harder is a hawk missile system technician with the First Air Defense Artillery, West Germany.

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Mark D. Wilson, son of Linda A. Acmoody of Elkton, recently departed on a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific.

He is currently serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Carl Vinson, homeported in Alameda, Calif.

A 1983 graduate of Mt. Clemons High School, he joined the Navy in December, 1984.

Daniel Drabek, son of Thomas and Suzanne Drabek of Bay Port, has earned a Bachelor of Business degree from Baker College in Flint. Drabek, a 1983 graduate of Laker High School, completed his studies in the Accounting/CIS program.

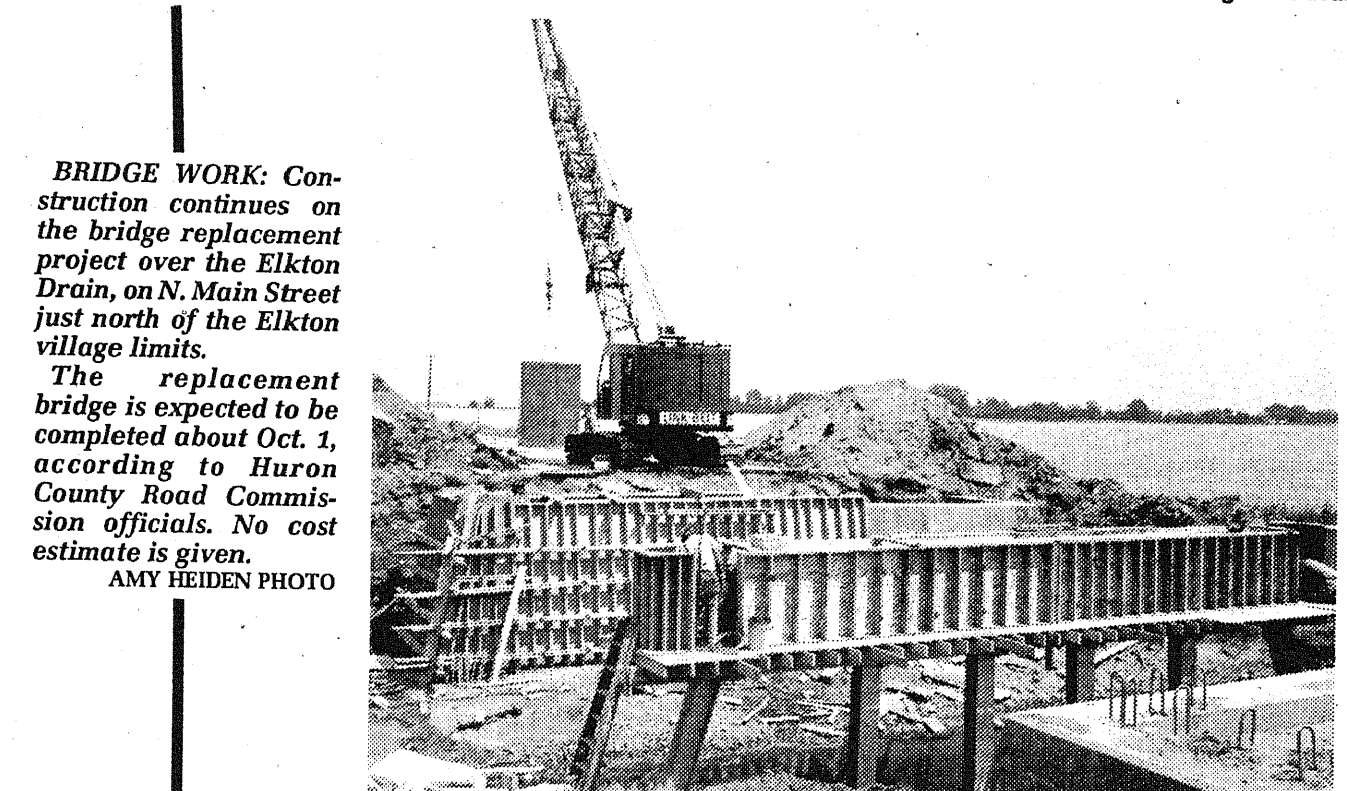

Baker College is an independent, co-educational business and technical college with campuses located in Flint and Owosso.

Red Cross Bloodmobile visits Pigeon

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will make its regular visit to Pigeon on Monday, Aug. 1 from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Pigeon VFW Hall.

Members of the Pigeon Worth While Club will call past donors to make appointments. New donors or those who did not get calls should drop-in at the site during the above hours.

"Blood is urgently needed during the busy summer season," urges local coordinator Kathy Swartzendruber.

BRIDGE WORK: Construction continues on the bridge replacement project over the Elkton Drain, on N. Main Street just north of the Elkton village limits.

The replacement bridge is expected to be completed about Oct. 1, according to Huron County Road Commission officials. No cost estimate is given.

OBSERVATIONS BY CO-PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!

WATCH NEXT WEEK'S PAPER: Pigeon's 15th annual Farmers' Festival kicks off next week, and we'll be covering it all for you (and most of Huron County, too) in our annual Farmers' Fest issue, our biggest of the year.

To give everyone plenty of time to read — and use — this keepsake issue, we'll be publishing it TWO DAYS EARLY next week only. That means copies will be on newsstands by mid-afternoon Monday, and mailed copies will be received one day early, next Tuesday morning, July 26.

Deadline is 9 a.m. this Friday, July 22 — to be included! — 30 —

COULD IT BE HALF A CENTURY AGO? Do you know what famous event happened almost exactly 50 years ago, on July 18, 1938? Douglas Corrigan left New York in his small airplane, headed for California. However, he later said he misread his compass — and landed in Ireland... thereafter to be known forever as "Wrong Way Corrigan."

Some historians say he actually performed the stunt for the publicity and attention which resulted. No matter, the 81-year-old Corrigan was the main celebrity this past week, in celebrations in Ireland. After all, he's the one who brought them all the publicity... — 30 —

WHAT'S THE STORY? — Do you know what trampoline, lanolin, cube steak, nylon, yo-yo, escalator, raisin bran, corn flakes, high octane and aspirin all have in common?

Each was once a trademark "owned" by a particular company (usually the inventor). But, as a recent Xerox ad campaign shows, the owners failed to take precautions which would have helped them have a long — and prosperous — life. Fascinating, yet true. (Aspirin is still a brand name in Canada, by the way.)

Xerox is running the campaign because their own name is in danger of also coming into the public domain, as have those other words. People who say "I'm going to Xerox these posters" are improperly using the trademarked name.

Xerox should only be used as a proper adjective, the company says, as in "Xerox copying machines" or other uses.

If not used properly, that name will join linoleum, kerosene, dry ice, shredded wheat and mimeograph in the "trademark graveyard"...

HELP DAVE'S PROJECT: Longtime Laker High supporter and athletic booster Dave Arsenault has a great community pride idea — but he needs some help. Dave would like to compile a video featuring some of the best glimpses of Laker High sports over the past 27 years.

Anyone with videotape, pictures or movies of Laker sports scenes should contact Dave in Bay Port, by calling 656-7102. Sounds like a great idea, Dave!

EVERYTHING HELPS — A very nice person who signed herself "A Farmer's Daughter" offered a prayer for Farmers and Farm Families at Grace United Methodist Church, Lansing, last Sunday, July 10.

We know because we got an acknowledgement card from the church — and we'll bet she's a P-A reader too. Thanks so much, friend!

Caseville Walleye tourney continues!

The Budweiser-Caseville Walleye Tournament is in full swing this week, as anglers try to catch that one large fish that will bring home the $1,000 first prize award.

Dan Tomczak, tournament manager, says prizes will be awarded at 4 p.m., Sunday July 24 at the Caseville Road and Gun Club on Dunn Road, following a fish fry.

The public is invited to the fish fry which starts at 1 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

More winners announced in Pigeon summer raffle!

Adding $100 to her wallet from Friday's drawing of the Summer Celebration Raffle, sponsored by the Pigeon Chamber of Commerce, is Sue Heilig of Pigeon.

Other winners this week are $50 winner Sandy Heck and $25 winner Donna Ziel.

Summer Raffle tickets are available now at a reduced price as half the weekly drawings are now completed. Persons wishing to purchase raffle tickets may buy them now at a price of $15 each or two for $25.00.

"We'd like to have even more people have a chance to be a weekly winner," says Pigeon Chamber President Dave Jarvis.

Caseville Board okays school insurance policy

Following a recommendation by the Michigan High School Athletic Association, the Caseville Public School Board of Education approved the purchase of $1-million catastrophic insurance policy, at last Monday's monthly meeting.

The policy, from Ruedlinger Corp. of Topeka, Kan., will cover student injuries resulting from school activities.

Parents will be able to purchase insurance for their children through the school, with various rates for different types of coverage. Parents of kindergarten through sixth grade students can purchase coverage for $6 per year, and coverage for seventh through 12th graders will be $14 per year, according to Caseville Supt. Jim Stahl.

NEWBOOKS: Botany and history students will be using new textbooks in the coming school year as the board purchased 22 new botany textbooks for $580.80, and also new U.S. history textbooks for $599.25, in their action.

A truth in taxation hearing is planned Aug. 15, according to board officials. The public hearing will be held to gather comments on a proposed millage increase of .1599-mills.

ELECTION: Officers of the school board will remain as last years: Kenneth Hill, President; George Pittenger, Vice-President; Jacqueline Miller, Treasurer; and Helen Kopack, Secretary.

Fred Fertsch will be the board's liaison to the Michigan Association of School Boards and the Huron County Association School Boards Association.

CORRECTION: Todd Wisenbaugh of Pigeon was incorrectly listed as not wearing a helmet, in a Progress-Advance news report July 6 of an accident involving his motorcycle and an auto on Berne Street in Pigeon, which occurred June 28.

In fact, full police records show, Wisenbaugh was wearing his helmet.

The Progress-Advance regrets the error.

Thumb Weekly News Round-Up

CURTIS NEW HURON ADMINISTRATOR
Charles Curtis of Tawas City was hired last week as Huron County's first administrator, to be paid at a salary of $31,500 per year in a two-year contract. The new administrator, will function as the County Board of Commissioners' day-to-day liaison for county business.

Commissioners voted 4-2 last Tuesday to hire Curtis, the former Isoco County Administrator. Bruce Kuhl and R. Dale Wertz opposed the hiring, saying such a position is not needed.

County Board Chairman Jean Talaski said commissioners need the expertise and abilities to manage the multi-million-dollar budgets the county has.

MEANWHILE, Sheriff Richard V. Stokan says he will gather petitions to force a ballot question in November, seeking public approval of the administrator's position. Stokan says most county residents do not want such a person on the public payroll, and will not support the expenses involved.

SEBEWAING YOUTH ESCAPES, IS RECAPTURED

Steven Osterhout of Sebewaing escaped from the Otsego County Jail in Gaylord last Wednesday but was recaptured about five hours later. The 16-year-old climbed a 15-foot wall around a recreation area about 10 p.m. July 13 and was captured about 3 a.m. Thursday in rural Clare County, on the way to his grandmother's house near there.

Police from five counties were involved in the search, and Osterhout led police on a 45-minute chase along rural roads in a stolen truck.

Osterhout is being held without bond while awaiting trial for the April 12 shooting death of Cheboygan businessman John Lyons.

BOAT RACE THIS SATURDAY

The biggest power boat race in mid-Michigan is scheduled off Bay City this Saturday, when the second annual Bay Harbor Charity Classic is run in Saginaw Bay.

The race, featuring some of the most powerful racing boats in the country, follows a course from the Bay City State Park north toward Point AuGres and back again, with six turns in all. An estimated 200,000 persons will attempt to watch the event which begins with a parade of race boats from Bay Harbor Marina to the start/finish line. The race begins Saturday at 12 noon.

Prior to that, a parade of boats is planned down Center Avenue, Bay City, at 5 p.m., and boats may be viewed all day Friday at Bay Harbor Marina and Vet's Park.

WATER SPOUTS SEEN ON BAY

At least four sightings of water spouts — tornadoes occurring over water — were reported to the U.S. Coast Guard and area police agencies last Monday night, July 11. Water spouts are caused when the water temperature is higher than the air temperature.

All four sightings were reported between 8 and 10 p.m., in areas including off Sebewaing and near Quanicasee. These were the first spouts sighted in at least four years, Coast Guard officials say.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

In 73rd District Court, First Division (Huron County), District Judge John Schubel recently heard the pleas of or passed sentence on:

■ George J. Gembarski, 19 of Port Austin, pled guilty to impaired driving; ordered to pay $450 fines and costs and loss of driver's license for 90 days;

■ Bruce J. Langley, 18 of Caseville, pled guilty to malicious destruction of property, $100 or less, following a March 21 incident involving a sign at Caseville Public School, as investigated by Caseville Village Police; ordered to pay $75 fines and costs and make restitution of $21.28;

■ Donald Ousley, 44 of Bay Port, pled guilty to impaired driving; ordered to pay $450 fines and costs and loss of driver's license for 90 days;

■ Scot J. Williamson, 30 of Newport, Mich., pled guilty to driving with license suspended, following an incident on Port Austin Road (M-25) in Hume Township, investigated by Huron County Sheriff's Deputies; $150 fines and costs;

■ Richard L. Kaczor, 18 of Uby, pled guilty to tampering with a motor vehicle, following a May 31 incident involving a Youth For Christ bus in a church parking lot in Bad Axe, investigated by Bad Axe Police; $100 fines and costs;

■ Bonnie J. Farver, 19 of Pilon, pled guilty to retail fraud, second degree, following loss of property at a Bad Axe store on July 14, investigated by Bad Axe Police; $100 fines and costs.

NO SPECIAL ED TAX VOTE

Here's one election which will not be held. The Huron Intermediate School District will not seek one additional mill for operations this October, as its Board of Education was seeking. Officials said more funds are expected from the state Department of Education, and so the additional request will not be needed.

MEANWHILE, HSD leaders were re-elected for another year, in organizational matters. 1988-89 leaders are President Wilfred Binder, Vice President Edward Schubring,

CREMATION AND FUNERAL CUSTOMS

Most of the customs and rituals that normally make up the funeral are not significantly altered if cremation is requested. There can still be a visitation and viewing of the deceased. A funeral service or ceremony with the body present can be held. There can also be some form of committal services included in the funeral.

The body may still be accompanied by the family in procession to the crematory, but is generally not practical due to the distance. There, usually in a chapel setting, the casket or other container is placed into a specially designed furnace called a retort. Operating at an extremely high temperature it reduces the body to a few pounds of bone fragments and ashes.

Most of the cremated remains are then placed in an urn or canister and carefully identified. Your funeral director usually will have a variety of urns from which the family can make a selection. The family then has the choice of installing the urn in a columbarium, burying the remains, or scattering them.

Meandering the Midwest

DETROIT FREE PRESS columnist Judd Arnett has long bragged proudly about the wonders of "Michigan, My Michigan." Once relocated to Florida for what he thought would be a permanent change of location, Arnett returned to Michigan to stay. His testimony is one of a long-time love affair with the state, a love affair that I've admired from afar for all the years that I've been a reader of Arnett's columns. During this past week I've traveled through northern Illinois, the east side of Wisconsin (almost top to bottom) and across the Upper Peninsula and down Interstate 75 and up into the Thumb again. This is my second trip in a month across the U.P. It is my third out-of-state trip in five weeks (I saw northern Ohio three weeks ago) and I'm finding myself beginning to exclaim, "Michigan, my Michigan" with Arnett every time I cross back into Michigan.

Let you think that my Wisconsin roots are being forgotten, I'll let you know that I finally brought back a wonderfully warm Bucky Badger sweatshirt to wear among the maize and blue and green and white. I figure my days in Ash Creek, Bear Valley, Marshfield, Pittsville, Ripon, Neshkoro and Fond du Lac warrant my wearing the Wisconsin badger in Michigan.

Wisconsin and Illinois are pictures in contrast this summer. Near DeKalb, Ill., just 75 minutes from O'Hare Airport, the corn crop is withering into nothing. Some fields are already becut cut for forage. Other fields bear a second look as the dry, curling leaves almost look like sorghum at first glance. As I drove west from DeKalb on Saturday, even the soybeans were willing in the almost 100-degree heat of yet another sweltering day.

Heading north into southeastern Wisconsin, there isn't too much change until just south of Hartford, Wis. Then I noticed a greening that was like the raising of a curtain on another act of a play.

Corn is lush deep green. Roadsides flower. Hayfields roll in the wind. Pastures offer green contrast to the black and white Holsteins grazing there. Lawns aren't yellow-brown.

For 20 or so miles, a strip of Wisconsin has been getting moisture that makes it look like the Garden of Eden compared to the rest of the land I'd seen. At my parents' farm the raspberry crop is small and seedy and not worth picking. A field of corn planted just before the Fourth of July now is about a foot tall and will make feed for sure since they've had several nice, hard rains this week. Some of Mom and Dad's garden is already producing well, but they've been watering right along.

Once into Michigan's west U.P., I noticed that the roadsides are already greening up from the few rains of last week. Even the brown cast that the trees were getting seems to have lessened.

There is a burned section of the western Hiawatha National Forest that U.S. 2 runs right through. On our way west last Sunday, that charred area stood in mute testimony to forest fire during drought conditions. Yesterday, shoots of green grass pressed up from the blackened forest floor, some trees had been cut and the whole area smelled strongly like a wetted down campfire.

The Lady of Lakes, Lake Michigan, pulled car after car to the roadsides as people swam and waded and enjoyed the regenerative water that we in Michigan are blessed with. Michigan roadsides are clean, our highways are being repaired and our waysides and rest areas are reliable, restful stops.

The scenery along U.S. 2 and I-75, even during drought conditions, is a delight for world-weary eyes. We never seem to tire of crossing the Mackinac Bridge and count flue skies and the taste of Great Lakes at the Straits area as worthy of a longer stop on almost every trip.

The flattening farmlands of the Saginaw River valley and the Thumb signal home on every trip. The land draws one in as if that is where we belong. I feel that strongly on every trip out of the Thumb, this tremendous draw upon my soul as I travel back home.

I suppose Judd Arnett's "Michigan, My Michigan" is his celebration of place. I can sing that song along with Arnett and add to it an exclamation of how much of a Midwesterner I've become. Place marks us and finds us and claims us. And that's a good subject of another column.

I'm just glad to have traveled the Midwest again and am especially thankful to be back in Michigan and in the Thumb again. For today, that's enough!

where DON'T need words from columnists like Michael Kinsley -- as if things aren't bad enough.

The writer for The New Republic penned an opinion piece July 5 titled "You Can't Please Farmers," in which he says our growing brethren are crybabies... and worse.

Just a few years ago, our TV screens were filled with farmers "moaning about overproduction... (which was) lowering prices, depressing land values, destroying a way of life, etc.," Kinsley writes. "The farm crisis today, simply put, is a case of having too much grain with nowhere to go," he quoted one expert then.

Now, Kinsley says, "you turn on the tube and there's that same farmer still moaning -- this time about the drought... It would be easier to sympathize with farmers in their current plight if they weren't so clearly victims of that old Chinese curse: 'May your dreams come true.'" He calls the drought the farmers' chosen instrument for their own salvation -- which he says will be higher prices.

Kinsley says agriculture gets direct governmental subsidy payments of more than $20 billion a year. He says farmers are working to get their subsidies from people's tax bills, instead of their food bills, since tax bills are less noticeable.

The writer says all farm subsidies should be eliminated, and -- tongue somewhere near his cheek -- says every farmer should be offered "at least" a minimum wage for life of, say, $10,000. "All he'd have to do in exchange is: (1) turn over all his farming assets to the government for sale to the highest bidder willing to operate without further government subsidy; (2) get out of farming, if it's making him so miserable; and (3) stop whining.

Kinsley's comments could deserve response, but there's enough comedy included in his words to realize he's trying (very poorly) to make a funny point. We wonder how he'd like the world if there WEREN'T enough food in it... and if he had to pay four times as much for life-sustaining manna. That's what SOME people already must do on their own.

Kinsley should stop his own whining, if he's ever to be taken seriously by people in real trouble -- like so many all around us here.

Elkton native says she appreciates resort publicity; meets local reader, too!

DEAR EDITOR:

Thank you very much for the article you published on our purchase of The Village Breckenridge Resort. Both Ron and I really appreciate receiving the publicity.

I received a copy of the article from an unexpected source -- one other than my mother! A couple of weeks ago, I attended a meeting of the Breckenridge Festival of Film Committee where I met a Mrs. Pat Hubbard for the first time. Upon being introduced she said to me, "Greetings from Elkton, Michigan!"

Naturally I was surprised that this total stranger knew my origins! It turns out that her mother is a resident of Caseville and had seen the article in The Progress-Advance. Yes, indeed, it IS a small world!

Our summer season is really booming -- more so than usual this year. We're exremely pleased! We're in the midst of our Breckenridge Music Institute's "Bach, Beethoven and Breckenridge" series. Last weekend was our "Genuine Jazz in July" festival, held annually at The Village (on a floating dock in our own Maggie Pond).

The first annual Breckenridge Country and Bluegrass Festival will be held in August and the Festival of Film is scheduled for Sept. 15-18. (For all of these festivals, The Village is the host resort and press center). The Festival of Film will feature Karl Malden and Marsha Mason this year.

My family is planning to visit in August. We're looking forward to showing them around.

Come out and visit us sometime -- there's always plenty to do in Summit County!

RECOLLECTIONS Of By-Gone Days
BY GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR:

Last week I got my daughter to write my article for the paper and I was very well pleased with how she wrote about the way everything looks around home after being gone for 18 years.

All my children and grandchildren were here for a few days this week and it sure "done me good" to see them.

I've been going to auction sales for quite a while and picking up a lot of things, and I told them to each pick out what they wanted. I was surprised at what I had and what they wanted. Each could take a carload home and I'd still have plenty of stuff left!

My grandchildren like to play in my barn. There's a lot of baled straw up there and they've got tunnels and houses made. Even if it's hot up there, they still have a good time.

Whenever they talk about about a hay mow, we older people can tell anybody all about hay mows. Years ago people hauled in their hay loose and by hand.

We used to have hay slings and if we had a hip roof barn, we could swing the sling and throw the hay back in the corner until the mow was full.

Then you'd have to mow it by hand and if the sun was out and it was hot, I don't see how we could stand it. But if you were a little tough and got a drink of water once in awhile, a person could stand it.

I don't remember very many people dying of overheating. Once I worked for a farmer who wanted every-minute to count and he didn't like it if his hired man wasn't busy at least 14 to 16 hours a day. It was very hot and dry and we had a lot of hay down.

One morning it looked like rain, so we got the horses out and started to haul in the hay. I don't believe we ever loaded a load any quicker, but the rains came and we just got into the barn when it came.

It thundered and the wind blew. I guess the boss was scared. Anyway, he took off for the house. Well,

I was tired having gotten up at 5:30 a.m. and I had worked hard for over four days to get hay in. I believe all of us older people can tell you that there wasn't a nicer place to sleep than in a hay mow with the rain falling on the roof.

Well, it was a lot cooler with the rain, so I just went up on the wagon and went to sleep. I was tired and the rain lasted a little over two hours. When I woke up, I started to mow some hay back and the boss came out and bawled me out for not having the hay back while it rained.

Well, I got bawled out a lot of times, so it didn't hurt me, but it made me a little mad. In Prov. 10:1 it says, "A wise son maketh a glad father."

Well, both of my sons are well-educated and have good jobs and my daughters and daughters-in-law and my grandchildren are all in good health and most have good jobs. So I don't see why I can't be a glad father and grandfather.

SINCERELY YOURS,
GEORGE KEIM

Caseville lowers road speed limits

Acting out of concern for pedestrian safety, the Caseville Village Council has reduced the speed limit in the Harbor subdivision from 25 mph to 15 mph.

The area affected is bounded by Bay, Farmer, Dufty, and Harbor Streets, according to Village Controller Janice Prill, following last Monday's monthly meeting.

MORE DRIVERS: Traffic is increasing dramatically along M-25 from Caseville Road into town because of the Post Office relocation and the opening of other businesses, Prill said, which led to Council passing a resolution asking the state to lower the speed limit on M-25 from Caseville Road to Stephens Drive on the northeast side of the village.

Currently, limits range from 30 mph to 45 mph on that stretch of road, but council would like to see it lowered to 30 mph.

Thanks A Million

By PERCY ROSS

You may write to Percy Ross in care of The Progress Advance, P.O. Box 35000, Minneapolis, MN 55435. Please include your telephone number with your letter.

DEAR MR. ROSS:

I'm writing on behalf of my uncle who is unaware of this request, as I'm hoping to surprise him. He's a right leg amputee as the result of a motorcycle accident. For what it's worth — it wasn't his fault — a driver ran a stop sign.

With the aid of an artificial leg, he's maintained gainful employment and has been very self-sufficient for the past 10 years.

Recently, he was laid off from his job as a counselor working with troubled and disadvantaged teenagers — his artificial leg had become severely warped and lost the strength to hold his weight. He has since returned entirely to the use of crutches.

Due to his unemployment and the responsibilities of being a single parent raising two sons (abandoned by their mother), he's strapped for money.

His insurance will pay all but $1,000 for the cost of a new leg. This or a partial amount is what I'm requesting, to help him regain the mobility and confidence he had become accustomed to. It's the only way he'll be able to continue a productive independent way of life. If you can help, thank you very much. — Ms. S.W., Knoxville, Tenn.

DEAR MS. W.:

Your uncle is going to be sporting a new prosthetic leg thanks to the generosity of a lovely woman in Denver, Colo. This particular woman sent me a $1,000 check, specifying that it should be used for anyone I deemed worthy.

At first, I was uncomfortable with the responsibility of accepting such a generous donation, but then your letter came across my desk. Need I say more... except that her check is on its way to you!

DEAR MR. ROSS:

I'm a 33 year old Army medic who lives in Harlem. About a year ago, I started checking blood pressure for the people here, because so many blacks have hypertension.

If they could afford it, I'd charge $1 and if they couldn't, I'd do it for free. I felt real good about what I was doing.

So many people don't go to the hospital unless they feel sick, and with high blood pressure, you usually don't feel sick until it's too late. I always referred people to the doctor if they had a pressure reading higher than 160/96.

Then last week, some boys on 116th Street stole my pressure cuff and all my money. I'm asking if you can send me enough for a new cuff. I feel the people of Harlem really need this service. Should you shine favorably on us, they, as well as I, thank you for recognizing the need. — Sgt. M.G., New York, N.Y.

DEAR SGT. G.:

I love your community spirit and the invaluable service you render. I'm not sure what it takes to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor, but you deserve it in my book. And you also have my support in the form of a check. Go to it!

Local club news

CASEVILLE RETIREMENT CLUB

A total of 106 members and two guests attended the July 12 business meeting of the Caseville Retirement Club at the American Legion Hall.

President Tom Beadle introduced guests Gere Dominiak and Ethel Zarembo and asked all to stand and greet their neighbors. He led the group in reciting The Lord's Prayer before lunch.

The meeting opened with the Pledge to the Flag. The secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved.

Tony Zacheretti reported that the potluck on July 26 would be an indoor picnic, with hot dogs, sloppy joes and punch provided by the club. He also reported that 16 food baskets were assembled and delivered to needy seniors over the holiday weekend and thanked Peg and Hank Hill for handling the entire project.

Ray Gerrard reported on upcoming trip details.

Beadle thanked Viola Schuette and Helen Kolowicz for the "earlybird" goodies and to those who donated to the Food Pantry. Then he announced the birthdays of Esther Lehman, Gertrude Fisher, Henry Byer and Marion Langley and the anniversary of John and Anna King.

Beadle encouraged members to send cards to Muriel Bondy and Adeline Beadle, still patients at the Huron Medical Care Facility. Helen Stillwell and Theresa Fields are now recuperating at home.

Beadle announced that Huron County Commissioner Warren Krohn was to attend the July 19 meeting to discuss waste disposal problems. He also urged members to vote Aug. 2 on the Senior Citizen Millage.

Krazy Daze in Pigeon July 26-27—goofy, loony, nutty and saves you money!

10 YEARS AGO JULY 27, 1978

What a great beginning! On Sunday morning, July 23, the skies cleared, rains drifted away and lines formed down one block and around the corner as more than 5,000 people came to Pigeon's Ox Roast, served by Allison Eicher and his crew, and old fashioned picnic, to start the Diamond Jubilee.

94 entries were noted in the jubilee beard contest and winners included Jim Hartman, Ron Heckman, Bud Klein, Art Priebe, Norman Schulze, Bob Brueggeman, John Kohr, Jim Schwanitz, Doug Buchler and Jess Christner.

Pigeon's first fire engine, a 1927 Cosmopolitan—will be among nearly 200 units in the Diamond Jubilee Parade Saturday in Pigeon. Parade director is Roy Lawrence.

William J. Dinkel, 87, Kilmanagh, died July 23 at his home. He is survived by his wife, 3 daughters and 5 sons.

Herman J. LeBlanc, 72, Caseville, died Sunday, July 23. He leaves his wife, one son and one stepson.

FROM THE ELKTON ADVANCE FILES 57 YEARS AGO JULY 16, 1931

If the millions of fish files that swarm our Elktion streets evenings are natives of Canada, we favor a high protective tariff on the importation.

Elktion Mayor Wilson and head of the Municipal Park Commission James Bennett, are entitled to a whole lot of praise for the attention given our parks and streets.

Few towns are as neat and tidy as Elktion. Let's all do our bit to keep it that way.

Friends of Bill Shaw will be pleased to meet him in his new lunch establishment in the building next door to the Elktion Advance office. The building was previously occupied by Charles Hock, Elktion Library and Krohn Sisters Beauty Shoppe.

At the annual Elktion School meeting, the next year's budget was estimated at $12,000. H.C. Wales, secretary and G.W. Ackerman, treasurer, were re-elected. Bonds issued for the new building total over $73,000.

Miss Nina Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson, Elktion, was seriously hurt in an automobile accident in Detroit last week.

July Clearance Prices at Robert's Dept. Store, Elktion, Phone 20: Chipso, large pkg. 19c; P & G or Kirk's flake soap, 6 bars for 19c; Mothers China Oats, regular pkg. 32c; golden bantam corn, 2 cans for 25c; Quaker milk, tall cans, 3 cans for 19c; Quaker sauerkraut, 2 large cans 17c; red salmon, tall can 29c; Hart pork and beans, tall can 6c; can rubbers, best quality 5c.

Chandler News: An ice cream social will be held on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Watterworth Tuesday evening, July 28. The proceeds will go toward meeting the expenses of the coming Chandler Flower Show this autumn. The public is invited.

United in marriage

Richmond-Schwartz

Michelle Ann Schwartz, Gagetown and Douglas Alan Richmond, Bay Port were united in marriage on Saturday, June 25 at St. Agatha Catholic Church, Gagetown. The Rev. Julius A. Spleet officiated at the double-ring ceremony with Sr. Nancy Ayotte, IHM, assisting. The bride is the daughter of Frank and Ivernia Schwartz, Gagetown and the groom is the son of Frederick and Eunice Richmond, Bay Port and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schuette, Pigeon.

Music selections included: "Trumpet Voluntarie," "The Wedding Song," "I Have Loved You," "Our Father" and "The Recessional." Organist/soloist was Cathy Sullivan, Gagetown.

The altar was decorated with a large spray of fresh white gladiolas, lavender-tipped carnations, purple monk's hood, delphinium, purple status and baby's breath. A matching arrangement adorned the base of the unity candle. Whitesatin and purple bows decorated the church pews.

The bride, given in marriage by both of her parents, wore a white organza gown featuring a high neckline of Schiffl embroidery and fitted bodice, trimmed with pearls and sequins and long puffed sleeves.

The full, ruffle-edged skirt had a natural waistline with a white satin sash with a back bow trim and chapel-length train. Her headpiece was of white lace and silk flowers trimmed with dainty drop pearls and sequins that completed her fingertip-length nylon veil and blusher.

The bride carried a colonial bouquet of silk, white sweetheart roses, purple violets, lilacs and status, surrounded by tulle with pearl accents. Tulle and satin ribbon cascaded from the bouquet.

Brenda Schwartz, Gagetown, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a violet, taffeta gown with a Schiffl embroidery detailing the stand-up cmeo collar and short puffed sleeves with a full skirt. Completing her attire was a hat with a rolled side brim and matching flower trim edged with tiny pearls. She carried a white lace fan with a spray of silk white roses, lilacs, status and dainty drop pearls and matching cascading ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Theresa Schwartz, Gagetown, sister of the bride and Debbie Lange, Pigeon, friend of the couple. They wore matching gowns of orchid taffeta, similarly designed as the gown worn by the honor attendant.

Both wore matching silk hair pieces and carried matching fans with coordinating ribbons as the maid of honor.

The usherettes were Brenda Richmond, Bay Port, sister of the groom and Cindy Trost, Pigeon, friend of the bride. They wore matching gowns of purple taffeta, similar to the other attendants', with matching hairpieces and wrist corsages of silk white roses and purple violets.

Fred Richmond, Jr., Sebe-waing, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsman were Andy Manial, Elktion, friend of the groom and Henry Lange, Jr., Pigeon, friend of the couple.

Readings chosen were Gen. 2:18-24 and Col. 3:12-17, read by the bride's sisters.

The youth ministers at the altar were Sarah Davidson and Brent Fritz, both of Gagetown, friends of the bride. Eucharistic ministers were Tom Fritz and Fred Sullivan, both of Gagetown, friends of the couple.

At the guest book and greeting guests were Dorothy Hill, Snover and Colleen Lackowski, Alvin, Tex., both cousins of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a street-length dress of whitesatin, highlighted with pink flowers. Completing her attire was a silk corsage of pink sweetheart roses accented by iridescent flowers and pearls.

The mother of the groom wore a street-length dress of mauve lace overlay and flower trim. Completing her attire was a silk corsage of white sweetheart roses and iridescent mauve accents.

After the ceremony, a reception was conducted at the Pigeon VFW Hall for more than 350 guests attending from Germany, Texas, Washington, Indiana, Ypsilanti, Britton, Southfield, Farmington Hills, Detroit, Utica, Clarkston, Clawson, Clio, Fenton, Warren, Hamtramck, Peck, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Hemlock, Saginaw, Bay City, Burton, Davison, Caro, Cass City and the surrounding area.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Owen-Gage High School and an 1986 graduate of St. Clair Community College of Bad Axe and is currently employed as an LPN at Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon.

The groom is a 1978 graduate of Laker High School and is a self-employed dairy farmer.

After a honeymoon to the Pocono Mts. in Pennsylvania and Niagara Falls, the couple will reside north of Pigeon.

Thumb Area OUTDOOR REPORT

HOT WEATHER and brisk winds have tried to discourage Thumb area fishermen but reports indicate fishing is still good. Both Port Austin and Grindstone City produced good Lake Trout action throughout last week. Best bet for the fish was in depths nearing the 100-foot mark.

Walleyes continued to be very hot. Lots of great action was reported from the Charity Island area. Fish were hitting Hot 'N' Tots in 10 to 16-foot depths.

Perch were a little slow, but some reports of nice "keepers" came from the slot.

CONCERN CONTINUES about the possible increase in duck hunting regulations for this fall's hunting season.

Preliminary reports indicate that the Canada geese have fared very well, but ducks on the other hand, are in deep trouble. Answers from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service are expected at the state level sometime during the last week in July. Some feel restrictions may be as severe as they were in 1962, when a similar drought brought about a 25-day season and a two-duck limit.

EAGLES ARE DOING well in Michigan. During the 1988 winter survey, more than 1,300 eagle sightings were reported to the DNR. After sorting through duplications, the DNR estimates that almost 400 eagles wintered in Michigan. The DNR also indicates that 68 of Michigan's 83 counties had eagles spotted within their boundaries.

United in Marriage

Baerwolf-Lewis

Roger R. Baerwolf, grandson of Mel and Dorothy Baerwolf of Pigeon, was united in marriage to Laura Lewis, daughter of Alan and Sara Lewis of Seattle, Wash. on Saturday, May 15.

The couple married in Salt Lake City, Utah, where they met while attending college.

The bride, who is completing the thesis for her second master's degree, works for the Family Health Program as a Commercial Enrollment Manager in Long Beach, Calif. Granted a company transfer, she left Salt Lake City to assume her new job prior to the couple's wedding.

The groom, son of former Pigeon resident Delton Baerwolf, attended two years at Wayne State University on a four-year Merit Scholarship before accepting a cooperative job with Thiokol in Utah, where he worked on a filament project for NASA space shuttles.

Deciding not to return to WSU, Baerwolf completed his undergraduate work at the University of Utah, while working in a nuclear research laboratory, a camera store and some radio broadcasting. He is now attending graduate school at the University of Southern California to study film production.

The newlyweds now reside in Anaheim, Calif. and expect to be in Michigan in October to visit family and friends.

Buggy-Bivens

Over 300 family members and friends joined in the celebration of the wedding of Elkon native Melissa Elizabeth Bivens of Belleville and Michael Richard Buggy of Livonia on Saturday, July 9 at Our Savior Lutheran Church, Bad Axe.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was Rev. Randall P. Schultz, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of Davison and former pastor of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Caseville.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. John (Suzanne) Bivens of Elkon and Mr. and Mrs. John (Bonnie) Burlett of Canton.

Special wedding music included the solos "Flesh of My Flesh" and "Someday, Somewhere" and a duet "When Two Become One."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a shiny, floor-length gown of Raschel lace. The sweetheart neckline was accented with sequins. The gown featured short puffed sleeves, a ruffled hem and a double ruffled back bustle.

Jill Krohn of Elkon, a friend of the bride, preceded the bride down the aisle as her honor attendant, wearing an aqua lace tea-length dress with an over-the-shoulder ruffle. The ruffle-floated bottom was accented on the side with a bow.

Also joining the bridal party were bridesmaids Janice Bushey of Milwaukee, Wisc. and Teri Peterson of Belleville, both friends of the bride and Trisha Rosenthal of Elkon, cousin of the bride.

The bridesmaids wore identical dresses as the honor attendant's in shades of yellow, powder blue and lilac, respectively. The pastel colors were worn to accent the colors of the rainbow.

Completing her bridal party was flower girl Kristi Rosenthal of Elkon, cousin of the bride, wearing a pink tea-length dress identical in style to the other attendants'.

The groom selected a friend, Dean Bollinger, to be his best man, assisted by groomsmen Robert Buggy, brother of the groom; Daniel Bivens, brother of the bride and Thomas Buggy, brother of the groom. Junior groomsmen were Elijah Rosenthal of Bad Axe, cousin of the bride.

Helping wedding guests to their seats were usher John Baum and Paul Lewkowicz, both of Romulus, friends of the groom and Randy Jones

"Nutrition and Exercise in Pregnancy — Increasing Your Potential for Normal Birth" will be the topic of the July 21 meeting of Better Birth of Bad Axe.

Guest speaker will be Tracy Herzog, fitness director at New Image Racquetball and Fitness Center of Bad Axe.

This Thursday's meeting will be conducted at 7 p.m. at the Bad Axe Public Library (which in no way is affiliated with the program). For more information, persons may call Liz at 269-9485 or Karen at 269-2269. Pregnancy is not a requirement for attending the meeting, organizers say.

Crops

for oat bran and cereals containing oat bran move higher and higher.

That would mean a strong price to growers, too, Edgington said, except that supply will be extremely short this year. The first grain was taken off late last week, so the 1988 harvest is under-way, but there isn't much good news in the oat crop this year.

BARLEY—Michigan barley production is expected to total 1.8 million bushels, a decline of 35% from last year. Yields are expected to average 40 bushels per acre, 15 bushels below last summer.

FAITH SEES POTENTIAL BLESSINGS IN OUR EARTHLY HAZARDS

Throughout history, many parts of the world have been dramatically affected by volcanic eruptions. Islands have been created and destroyed by them, and they are frequently associated with earthquakes. You may well ask how anything good can result from such terrifying upheavals. The answer is: there are areas of dormant volcanic activity which emit steam from fissures in the ground, and which are seen as a potential low-cost and inexhaustible source of energy which could benefit millions of people. Indeed, it is already being harnessed for this purpose. The forces of nature can either cause great disasters or prolong and enrich people's lives. It all depends on man's willingness to use his God-given intelligence to create the necessary technology. Thank the Lord for this great opportunity He has given us, and pray that we will always make good use of it.

All partial evil, universal good.

TTLM staff hosts 'Singspiration'

A Singspiration is scheduled as Top-of-the-Thumb Leisure Ministries Vespers on Wednesday, July 20 at Caseville United Methodist Church at 8 p.m.

Members of the TTLM staff will lead the congregation in singing favorite hymns and gospel songs. They will also show and tell about their work in the summer program.

Seminarian Barry Maust is a native of the Bay Port area and a member of Pigeon River Mennonite Church. He is a graduate of Eastern Mennonite High School and attends Eastern Mennonite College in Harrisonburg, Va. Entering his third year of college, Maust majors in music and youth ministry. His job for the summer includes being Camp Host at Port Crescent State Park.

Shelda Heleski has returned for her second summer as a member of the TTLM staff. The Ugly High School graduate has completed her first year at Ferris State College where she is studying to be an optometric technician. She is a member of St. Columbkille Catholic Church and has been active in the music and education programs there. She enjoys swimming and cooking.

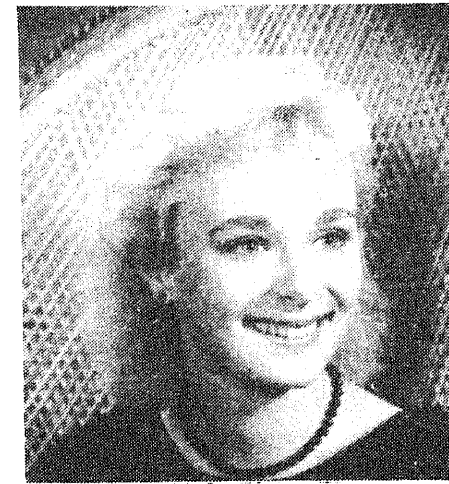

Completing the TTLM staff is Rachelle McKim of Kinde. She is starting her second year at Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky. in the fall with majors in elementary education and youth ministry. She is a member of Bad Axe Free Methodist Church and lists watersports as her main hobby.

She and Miss Heleski are in charge of children's activities, stories and crafts at four locations in Huron County each week.

The TTLM Board representative for the evening is James Swartzendruber, a member of Salem United Methodist Church in Pigeon. Refreshments will be served following the program by members of Elkton Missionary Church and Pinnacob United Methodist Church.

On Wednesday, July 27, Living Truth will present the Vespers program. Russ and DeeDee Tibbits and Tammie Barbret use their unique instruments and voices in a service of praise.

Georgina Kreh, member of First Presbyterian Church in Kinde, will be the TTLM Board representative. She will be joined by fellow church members and ladies of Kinde's St. Edward Catholic Church as hostesses for the social time.

Grace all the way home

Read Romans 3:19-24
Since all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, they are justified by His grace as a gift, through the redemption which is in Christ Jesus. Romans 3:23-24

In "The Hired Man," Robert Frost describes a poignant scene.

The farmer's wife hears her husband returning from town.

She hurries to meet him, saying, "Silas is back. Be kind to him, Warren. He has come home to die. He will not leave you this time."

"Home?" the husband mocks gently.

"Yes," she responds, "it all depends on what you mean by home."

The farmer mellow as he answers, "Home is the place where, when you go there, they have to let you in."

She answers, "I should have called home something you somehow haven't deserved."

That is grace! It is the waiting Father receiving home His prodigal son.

It is Jesus bringing home to His Father's mansion the penitent thief on the cross. It is Jesus forgiving us daily, claiming us as His brother or sister, and opening the heavenly home to us.

Having worshiped in church Sunday, we walk in God's grace all the way home.

On our homeward walk we can share the good news of His grace in Jesus Christ, His son, with those along the way, inviting them to join us and enjoy our Father's love.

HEAVENLY FATHER, for Jesus' sake, forgive us all our sins and grant us a place in Your heavenly home. Amen.

Bridges

I feel sorry for people who think the sole reason bridges are built is to carry cars and trucks over rivers and ravines. While transporting vehicles over obstacles may be one of the major reasons for their construction, there are many other features that make bridges unique.

Several bridges have played major roles in my outdoor memories, and rarely, do I pass over these creations without lapsing back into time.

The most memorable bridge of my early youth was a cement structure that spanned a trickling, scum-covered vein of water dubbed the South Creek, and therefore the bridge spanning it was aptly called, the South Bridge. On maps, the thin, blue line bore the name Wiscoggin Drain, but to the wild youth of Unionville, it was the South Creek and the South Bridge.

In the summer it was a gathering place. A place where an unsuspecting young boy might possibly hear his first dirty joke, puff on his first cornsilk cigarette, and take his first unabashed plunge in the mystic world of "skinny dipping".

It was a man's world, and to the best of my knowledge no girl ever ventured beneath the South Bridge. Although they were a frequent topic of conversation, their presence was not tolerated. During the hot, lazy summer days of the early 40's the South Creek was the community swimming hole, and the South Bridge was the beach. The water, murky and full of slimy bloodsuckers, was a pristine pool to its bathers, and their bodies, unencumbered by unnecessary swimwear, would slice through the water like tiny Tarzans.

A small ledge, with a rock perched on top, was the diving platform. Here, naked bodies arched and twisted through the air in poor imitation of the swans, somersaults and gainers they dreamed of doing. However, the height of machoism came when someone garnered enough courage to throw his naked body from the bridge itself. Although the water was not deep enough for a dive, an air-clawing, leg-kicking, feet-first plunge was the epitome of manhood -- especially when the act was performed just as a car passed over the structure.

Later in life another bridge took its place. This engineering marvel was fashioned from wood and steel at the turn of the century, and still offers safe passage for all those that traverse its length. The girders look like the skeleton of a skyscraper. Stretching this way and that in a seemingly senseless pattern, they all meet at the right spot and form a perfect pedestal for the thick oak planks that make up the bed.

This is not a swimming bridge, for the water that lies beneath its span is only inches deep. It is easy for one's eyes to measure the depth, for the liquid that flows over the rock-covered bottom is as crystal clear as that which flows from the tap. No, this is not a swimming bridge, this is a fishing bridge.

I discovered it years ago when I chanced to park my truck nearby and use it as an entrance point to fish the river that flowed through private land. Like most other fishermen I have encountered, none started to cast his fly until he had traveled a considerable distance from the bridge.

One day when I decided to rest on the grassy banks that extend from the abutment to the waters edge, I chanced to peek into the gloomy shadows beneath the main structure. Once my eyes had become accustomed to the darkness, several nice-sized trout could be seen in the shallows. Plucking a grasshopper from some nearby weeds, I impaled it on a hook and sent my flyline curving beneath the bridge. I was instantly rewarded.

To this day, when I return to my parked truck fishless, I pause beside the grassy bank and land a trout or 2 for the larder. But now when I hear an approaching car I don't flout my naked body -- instead, I toss my rod in the grass and grab a book from my fly vest.

"Catching any?" the proverbial question comes. "Nope," is my pat answer, "I always wait until I get a little farther down river."

Pigeon native coordinates Harvard project in India

Robert Libka, formerly of Pigeon, has moved with his family to New Delhi, India, as of July 2.

After 13 years as Director of Student Activities and Koehnke Community Center at Concordia College in River Forest, Ill., Libka has resigned to take a position with Harvard University as Project Coordinator for India.

His primary focus for the next one to three years is a Smithsonian-funded project, where he will coordinate the efforts of 15 translators working on Ameer Khusro's Ijax-IKhusravi. The 700-year old manuscript is some 2,000 pages long and is written in several languages: hindustani, turkish, persian, urdu and sanscrit.

In addition to working with the translators located in several remote villages of northern India, he will be negotiating with librarians in European cities, Saudi Arabia and Moscow to obtain additional manuscripts for a simultaneous editing of Khusro's work.

Khusro was a prolific writer, having completed some 90 works of huge proportion. Only 26 of his manuscripts are available, and none have been translated into English until now.

MORE TASKS: Libka has the additional responsibility of locating the other 70 works in vaults beneath shrines and temples in India and bordering countries, as he negotiates with religious leaders with in the Moslem and Hindu faiths to release these manuscripts which have been locked, in some cases, for nearly 700 years.

In addition to having been a genius of poetry and prose, Khusro developed the language Hindustani, the forerunner of the current-day Hindi. Further, he invented several musical instruments, including the Sitar and Tabla. He classified music and developed several song styles and musical traditions which are still popular in India today.

FAMILY PLANS: Between jungle safaris and treks into the Himalayas, the Libka children hope to attend the American Embassy School in New Delhi.

Robert's wife, Bonnie, has been contracted to produce educational videos on teaching Urdu and will be working on a documentary of the Taj Mahal for PBS with Dr. Wayne Begley of the University of Iowa.

While traveling to and from the project, Libka plans to work on developing his own company "Attitudinal Dynamics International" in Germany, France, China and Japan. When he returns, he plans a lecture/seminar tour on the topic, "A Global Perspective on Time Management."

The Libka family asks for the prayers of family and friends as they begin this new adventure at the following address: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Libka, Michelle, Kim and Jennifer, Hamdard Foundation, Hamdard Nagar, Tughlaqabad.

Wanted: Quilts for the annual Quilt Show at the Pigeon District Library. Please call to register your quilt for display. And for more information, call 453-2341. Thank you.

To the dumb person (woman) in the green car: Put out your cigarettes in the ash tray or on the floor or somewhere else, but stop throwing them out the window. You could start a fire that way and we don't need it.

Elkton Club 59 is seeking entrants for their Teen Queen Contest at the Elkton AutumnFest Labor Day Weekend. Queen candidates are to be between ages of 14 and 16, live within the Laker School District and be sponsored by an Elkton business, organization or individual. Anyone interested in more information should call 375-4269 and ask for Diane or 375-4504 and ask for Robin. Thank you.

Wanted: Lip sync and parade entries for Bay Port's Fish Sandwich Weekend, Aug. 6-7. Call 453-3638 or 656-3011 for information. Thank you.

If we've prayed for rain in recent weeks, have we thanked the Lord for the rain that came?

What's with the guys from Elkton anyway? There's this really neat dude who I could die for who used to live with his mom and works on cars. I've got looks, brains and everything he would want, but he keeps on truckin' it back to his old girlfriend in Bad Axe who's a real zero-nothing! Come on guy, give a girl a break! Signed, Caseville.

Two times in the past week, I've had trouble with skateboards. They've got to be more careful, where they go, on the street, or there will be a problem.

Just what we need, another bridge being repaired in Elkton. Why are there so many right now? Doesn't seem like good planning, although the traffic light signal is neat.

When is Elkton going to show off our young queen, who was crowned at last year's AutumnFest, in neighboring village festivities? The Chamber wanted the Woman's Club to sponsor a contest, but now we don't see her representing our town. P.S., please don't put her in the taxi.

For city people who move back to the Pigeon Area, it may seem small and a hayseed place to you. But still, even here, children should not be in the road playing on bikes, scooters and etc. A tragedy is going to take place on W. Beme Road, if something isn't done to keep these small children off the road. Signed, a concerned parent. Thank you.

People who water their lawns and have their sprinklers spray on to the road should have more consideration for other people. Is it necessary to get people and their newly-washed cars wet? Please have a little consideration. Thank you.

Lost Classmates from the Elkton High Class of '58: There will be a Reunion on Aug. 13 at Hitching Post Inn, Elkton, at 6:30 p.m. Those who have not been contacted may call Mike Weaver at 872-3613.

There are just too many signs for candidates, on the corners and in other places. With especially the big ones, it makes it hard to see around them when people drive. I hope all the people who put them up take them down, too, and right after the election.

From the Ground Up

Drought conditions 'urgent' for lawn and garden

By ED HUTCHISON

The experts are worried now. They're worried about your lawn, your garden and your bushes. The "dry spell" has grown serious.

"There's not much to say about gardens except that if

A BLANKET OF STRAW or shredded bark is an ideal way to keep soil moist and cool, and may be the difference between life and death in the garden.

VILLAGE OF PIGEON
The following is a copy of an Amendment to the current Zoning Ordinance. Effective date of such ordinance is July 11, 1988

ARTICLE 10 SUPPLEMENTARY REGULATIONS

Sect. 10.1 Required Access
No dwelling shall be built on or moved to a lot unless the lot is fronting upon a street.

Sect. 10.2 Essential Services.
Essential services shall be permitted as authorized and regulated by law and other ordinances of the Village of Pigeon. It being the intention hereof to exempt such essential services from the application of this Ordinance.

Sect. 10.3 Fences (Residential)
Fences are permitted, or required subject to the following:
A. 1. In residential areas all fences shall be constructed of posts sunk in soil at least two (2) feet and be constructed of posts, boards or other materials without barbs or projections likely to cause injury. Posts shall be erected upon the property owner's side, with the finished side toward the adjoining property owner.

2. Fences on all lots of record in the R-1 Residential Districts which enclose property up to six feet in height, measured from the surface of the ground, shall, not extend toward the front of the lot nearer than the front of the house or the required minimum front yard whichever is greater. Fences and hedges may not exceed six (6) feet in height.

3. No wall or hedge planting shall exceed a height of three (3) feet within any residential front yard. Clear vision fences are permitted in front yards but shall not exceed four (4) feet in height. On a corner lot or parcel, no fence, wall or planting shall be allowed except as may be permitted by the Zoning Administrator who shall be reasonable assured that such fence, wall or planting will not interfere with traffic visibility across a corner.

4. On a corner lot or parcel, fences with enclose property shall not exceed six (6) feet in height, measured from the surface of the ground, shall not be placed nearer the side lot line than the required front yard setback, only walls and hedges less than three (3) feet in height or clear vision fences up to four (4) feet in height shall not be subject to setback requirements.

B. Fences on lots of record shall not contain barbed wire, electric current or charge of electricity.

C. To build or to cause to be built a partition fence or grow a hedge or cause to grow a partition fence, in a residential area, any person shall obtain written permission from the owner, or owners, of the adjoining lots, granting him permission, to build a fence or grow a hedge and granting him access to their property for the purpose of maintaining such a fence or hedge. A partition fence may be built by adjoining owners if all parties involved sign the permit, and provide for maintenance thereof; and any such permission shall run with the land and may be terminated only by mutual consent.

D. Fences which enclose public or institutional parks, playgrounds, or public landscaped areas, situated within an area developed with recorded lots shall not exceed eight (8) feet in height, measured from the surface of the ground, and shall not obstruct vision to an extent greater than twenty-five (25) percent of their total area.

E. Fences and hedges must be maintained so as not to endanger life or property. Any fence which, through lack of repair, type of construction, or otherwise, imperils life or property, shall be deemed a nuisance. The Zoning Administrator of the Village of Pigeon shall notify the owner of the property upon which the fence is located of the existence of such a nuisance and said nuisance must be abated within thirty (30) days after receipt of such notice. Notice may be written or printed and served personally or by certified mail upon the owner or occupant, or by posting the same in a conspicuous place upon the premises. Said notice shall specify the work to be done and state that the same may be done by the Village and the expense thereof assessed against the premises and the Village Council is hereby granted power to perform such acts and levy such assessment.

Sect. 10.3 Fences (Industrial)
Protective Measures Fence - A fence erected for the expressed purpose of protection of the enclosed area and its contents in all areas of Business, Industrial and all areas other than residential areas. When such protective measures fence employs barbed wire along the uppermost edge, the minimum height for such fence, below the barbed wire extension, shall be six (6) feet.

you don't water, you won't have one," predicts Dr. Lee Taylor, professor of horticulture at Michigan State University.

His colleague, Dr. Lowell Ewart, is concerned that soil moisture is so abysmally low that many trees and bushes will die from thirst over the winter.

And Dr. Paul Rieke, another MSU expert, predicts that without quenching rainfalls this month and next, many lawns will die.

PLANT VIGOR GONE: It's no secret that no rain, high temperatures, low humidity, hot dry wind and 16 daily hours of sunlight have robbed the vigor of plants. Not so apparent is the sad lack of moisture three and four feet deep.

What concerns Dr. Ewart is that even normal rainfall, should it return, will not be enough to replenish what's been lost and that trees and bushes will perish over winter. "There's little moisture below the freeze zone now so when winter's cold wind and low humidity blows through, it will be like pushing the button on the electric chair."

"Even established plants will die because they simply can't replace the moisture that is lost during winter months," Dr. Ewart predicted.

BEGIN MOISTURE RECOVERY NOW: He recommends homeowners hedge their bet on nature by beginning a moisture recovery period now. Water trees, shrubs and evergreens with root feeders (don't use fertilizer in them now) or soaker hoses to begin returning some moisture to the soil. A few hours of watering each week, every week, between now and Labor Day will help a lot.

What scares Dr. Ewart and other horticulturists is that homeowners will declare the crisis over after a few rains have fallen.

"No way," says Dr. Ewart. "It's going to take rainfall well above normal to get the water table back to normal and relieve plants of the danger they now face."

HOW TO SAVE GRASS: Dr. Rieke's survival plan for lawns is simple: One-half inch of water every three weeks is enough to keep the grass plant alive until — hopefully — cooler temperatures and ample moisture return in the fall.

Generally, a sprinkler will distribute that much water over a 200 square-foot area in about 30 minutes. It's easy to measure the flow. Set an empty can on the lawn midway in the sprinkler's area of coverage and time how long it takes for it to fill the can to the desired depth.

This survival plan is just that. It will keep like in a lawn, but will not turn it green.

So crippled are lawns that it's best to leave weeds alone, including crabgrass, that is growing handily now.

Weed killers work best when weeds are actively growing. That's why spring is a good time to dispatch dandelions and other broadleaf weeds while mid-July is ripe to get rid of young crabgrass plants.

For weed killers to do their stuff, there must not be moisture for 48 hours. A 48-hour abstinence from a sprinkling program is enough to turn a green lawn brown. Leave the weeds alone for now.

Consider Dr. Rieke's "half-inch" program — one of survival that includes rebuilding a drought-stricken lawn beginning in late summer with an application of fertilizer on Labor Day and again on Halloween. Grass roots grow well into December, so given some semblance of normal moisture and plentiful food, a lawn has an excellent chance of rebounding.

SAD GARDEN TIMES: Drought has led to sad times and poor production in the vegetable and flower garden. Moisture has not been sufficient when plants needed it.

In the flower garden, petunias and marigolds are doing okay, providing they've had some watering. Heat does not bother them. Impatiens are struggling, as are many annuals that need moisture and cool soil temperatures to thrive.

Tomatoes and other fruiting plants are having trouble setting fruit because moisture is so low. Sweet corn ears will not fill out well and potatoes and onions will not be their plump selves.

The solution is to manage water. Water deeply and help the soil hold the moisture with a blanket of mulch. Use soaker hoses rather than sprinklers or nozzles. Direct water to the root zone rather than spraying in the air.

And keep your fingers crossed that one day, or many days, the skies will cloud and rain will fall.

PIONEER PURCHASES CABLE COMPANY

Pioneer Cablevision recently announced the acquisition of Northern Telecommunications, which serves the cable customers of Onaway, Atlanta, Hillman, Millersburg, and Tower, Michigan. This purchase will add approximately 1,000 customers to Pioneer's subscription list, and accordingly to company officials, plans for upgrading and reconstruction should add nearly 3,000 cable subscribers.

The company also announced that Douglas Germaine, Sr., formerly general manager, now holds the office of president of Pioneer Cablevision, replacing Peter Christiano, who is now president of Pioneer III, a sister company of Pioneer Cablevision.

Pioneer operates cable TV systems serving Pigeon, Elkton, Caseville, Sand Point, Port Austin, Uby, Brown City and other Thumb Area communities from its office in Caseville.

If You Had To Fly To Detroit Or New York.... What Kind Of A Pilot Would You Want?

Bob Finkbeiner...
The ONE Man Who Can Do The WHOLE Job!

Of course you'd pick the Most Experienced Pilot you can find, one who has flown for years, licensed and certified.

You'd want a pilot who knows every switch, every light, every dial and gauge on the Plane, a Pilot who knows navigation, who can read maps, a man who's a qualified mechanic, a radio operator, an air controller and every other experience that would bring you safely to your destination.

Whether you're in a Plane, or whether you are attacked by the criminal element, or drug pushers, or burglars...you want the best man, the most experienced, the smartest, toughest person you can find fighting for you, taking care of you and your family.

For your Pilot, you wouldn't pick a person who has never even sat in the Pilot's Seat, who doesn't know a rudder from a wheel; You wouldn't fly with a person who tries to kid you into thinking he's a pilot because he wears a pilot's cap, or says he has read the pilot's manual. You wouldn't fly with a person who says he has a friend who'll help him fly the Plane.

When your Home, your Family, your Very Life depend on Experience in Law Enforcement, you wouldn't take a well-meaning amateur, who just doesn't know the business of Law Enforcement.

There's an Experienced Professional who has spent 24 Years, his entire Career, fighting crime and catching criminals.....
