Scares and chills await visitors... at 13th annual spook house!

By AMY HEIDEN

Strange happenings have been reported at Jim and Linda Clabuesch's shed behind their home on South Caseville Road, Pigeon.

Neighbors have reported seeing some rather eerie apparitions going in and out of the shed, and have heard weird noises from inside the structure.

One neighbor who wished not to be identified said that for the past 12 years, strange things have gone on in the shed around Halloween, and said, "This is the 13th year that there has been some pretty strange goings-on there, and this year they've gotten even weirder and weirder."

CHECKING IT OUT: Our extremely brave investigative reporter ventured over to the Clabuesch residence and discovered that the shed is definitely haunted with spooks and goblins and all manner of apparitions.

"It's pretty scary in there," says owner Linda Clabuesch. "It's only like this two days out of every year, but since this is the 13th year, it might be even scarier than usual."

Clabuesch said area residents will get a chance to see this Spook House on Halloween weekend, this Saturday Oct. 29 from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m., and 6:30 to 9 p.m., and again this Sunday, Oct. 30 from 1 to 4 p.m.

(Remember to set your clock back Sunday morning so you don't get to the Spook House too early!)

BIG CAST: About 25-30 people will be helping to investigate the haunting this year, Clabuesch says, and she invites the public to attend to lend their assistance to the process.

Since the investigation might turn up some pretty scary sights, Clabuesch suggests leaving younger children (less than five or six) at home — but even the faint at heart should have a thrilling, spooky good time.

A free will donation will be accepted to defray the cost of the haunting investigation.

Elkton's United Way '88-'89 goal: $4,000

Elkton has kicked off its annual Elkton Area United Fund Drive, hoping to raise $4,000 to benefit 14 local agencies during 1988-89.

Chairman Ben Phillips has announced the Oct. 18 through Nov. 8 fund-raising dates, and local residents have received a donation letter and return envelope.

"You are a vital part of a caring community," Phillips' letter says in part. "We know you care, please give the United Way."

Barb Thompson is vice chairman and Phyllis Tamblin is secretary-treasurer of the Elkton Area United Fund.

Directors are Judy Ewald, Ed Bumhoffer, Beverly Lackie, Merlin Farver, Dr. George Hay, Donna Schuette, John Champagne, Dee Esch, Dennis Ropp, Jayne White and R. Brent Woodward.

Persons considering gifts can send them to P.O. Box 532, Elkton, MI 48731.

Credit Union grand opening celebrated

Grand opening ceremonies were conducted Monday afternoon for the Education Employees Credit Union's new office at 4970 Railroad Street, Elkton, and lots of local and EECU officials were on hand for the celebration of the area's newest financial institution expansion.

The building cost about $75,000 to construct and has 1,250 sq. ft., according to EECU General Manager Don Pilon. Irvin Hoofhood of Akron was builder, and the EECU has other offices in Caro and Saginaw.

The cooperative business started as the Active Credit Union, then became West Huron Community Credit Union, operating in Elkton for the past 32 years. In March, 1986, the Credit Union merged with EECU and three employees now serve members.

"Before we merged, people up here wanted to know what a big Credit Union was going to do up here. They thought we'd come in and take over and go back to Saginaw.

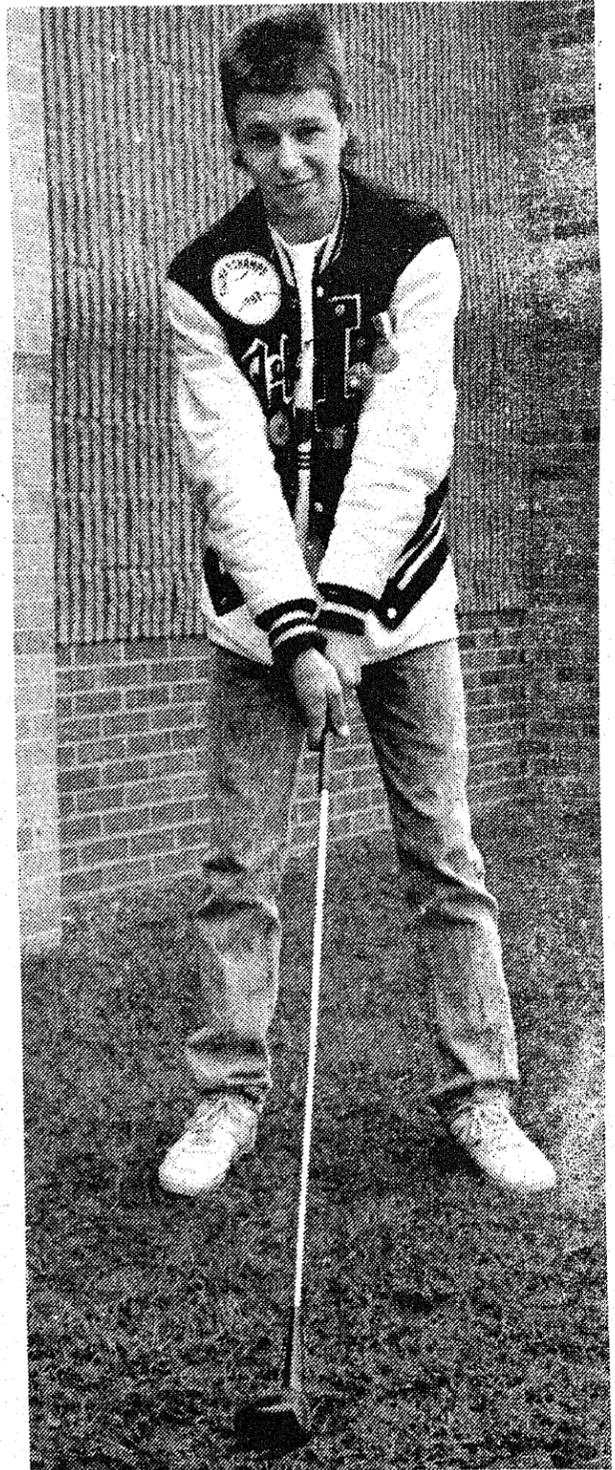

"It's apparent that hasn't happened," Pilon says. "We said if the members here would support us, we'd stay — and they have supported us. We really enjoy doing business here. The Village of Elkton has bent over backward to help us with the new building, and I don't think we could have done it without their help," Pilon says.

Judge Clabuesch Probate Court THE TREND CONTINUES

His opponent may not understand it, but Judge Clabuesch's cost cutting trend continues. The monthly costs of out-of-home placements since March of 1987 are:

It is Judge Clabuesch's policy to take these savings and reinvest them in good local programs for troubled children (i.e. quiet room, counseling, tutors, electronic tether.) With a little hard work, Judge Clabuesch's opponent could have given you the same information, but elected to take easy way out. Some things never change.

Caseville School names winter sports coaches

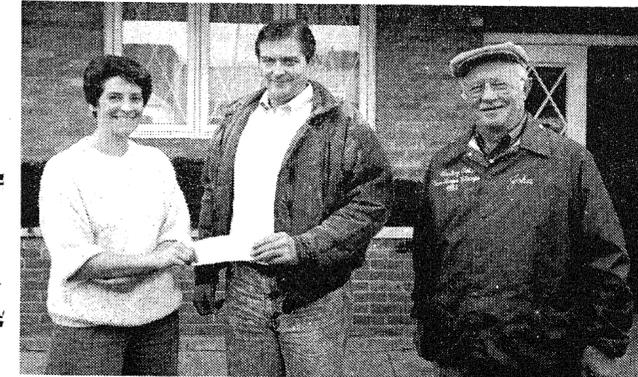

By AMY HEIDEN The Caseville School Board named its winter sports coaches for the upcoming season at its meeting last Monday night. Supt. James Stahl said Robert Merlington will be the varsity boys' basketball coach, Richard Moffitt will be the junior varsity basketball coach, and James Burner will lead the seventh and eighth grade teams. Ann Davison will be coaching varsity volleyball, while the JV team will be led by Kathy Briesmeister. Looking ahead to the snowy months ahead, the board hired Shoreline Plowing to take care of snow removal needs. The district will pay $600 for the entire winter season. CLEAN-UP: Some minor asbestos abatement procedures in the school building, which will cost $1,054, will be performed by Asbestos Control Services of Saginaw. Stahl said the company will be putting up a barrier in an old boiler room, along with removing small amounts of the material from two classrooms. The board also approved the school's participation in an adolescent health project which will involve seventh through the 12th grade students. Last year the Huron County Health Department had conducted a survey to determine areas in which students needed or wanted basic information. In this school year, a county nurse will visit the school and lead sessions on alcohol and drug abuse, along with sexual activity. SECURITY: During the Halloween period, the school will be patrolled by a security guard, Stahl said. "We've never had a problem before, and maybe this is why. We just feel it's better to be safe than sorry."

POLITICAL LOW-LIGHTS: Thank heavens we're just two weeks away from the Nov. 8 election. I'll enjoy Halloween more this year than the election, because at least at Halloween you know you should be expecting TRICKS, along with TREATS. In this year's election — on local, statewide and national levels — we're just getting the TRICKS.

CONSIDERING PROPOSAL A: Let's objectively look at State Proposal A, to decide whether abortions should be denied to women on welfare. The words "abortion" and "welfare" cause enough disagreements by themselves, but putting them together guarantees many heated discussions. Proposal A would deny welfare mothers the option of having an abortion paid for by the state, as is now state policy. It's been policy under Republican Gov. Milliken and now Democratic Gov. Blanchard, by the way. Many Michigan residents don't think that's right. Since they personally don't believe in abortion themselves, they want to pass this proposal to ban the state from paying for poor women's abortions — imposing their own beliefs and viewpoints on people they don't know and on conditions they're not familiar with. So if you've stayed with me this long, read through to the end, please. I understand the intent of Proposal A supporters. But this isn't the right way. They won't deny abortions to women, they'll just cause tens of hundreds of poor women to have more babies. We'll pay for the births of those babies (roughly 10 times the cost of an abortion) — and then we'll pay to support that unwanted child for about 18 more years, unless he or she is given up for adoption (which happens very seldomly). Once again, what people THINK they're voting for — and what they're really doing — are two different things, because the slick TV commercials don't tell the whole story. If a poor woman wants an abortion, which is legal in Michigan, she should be allowed to get one — and she alone will be responsible for the guilt, shame, sorrow or other emotions she feels because of her actions. If she chooses to spend her own (obviously limited) money for an abortion, she'll do so, but that's unlikely. One more mouth to feed at home means there will be a bigger monthly welfare check, which you and I will pay for many years. You can't legislate morality. You shouldn't try to impose YOUR beliefs on someone else. You SHOULD vote "No" on Proposal A, because what it's backers say it will do — and what it really would do — are two different things. As always, your opposing (or supporting) viewpoints are always welcome here...

PREDICTION: Maybe we'll make a guess or two here next week about politics, but I'll make another kind right now: I predict TV western will be back someday soon. I watched an old Lone Ranger show with Clayton Moore as the Ranger and Jay Silverheels as his trusty sidekick Tonto over the weekend, and found it wonderfully amusing and fun! It's nice to see the "good guys" in white hats, the bad guys so easy to spot, and the subject being taking over a western town or changing the course of a river. Today's cartoons feature inter-galactic warriors intent on blowing up the world or causing nuclear destruction. No wonder today's kids are worried about war — the cartoons pitch it constantly. Now, the good old western was clear-cut, believable — yet still exciting. I'll wager there will be more in the future, if some smart programming people see the light...

ANOTHER LOSS: The North Branch Gazette published its final edition last week, blaming a lack of advertising for its demise. The Gazette, begun at the turn of the century, was being published lately by the Brown City Banner. Both papers were bought by the Oakland Press last year, but even big-time owners Capital Cities couldn't (and wouldn't) keep The Gazette alive. Another Thumb community has lost something irreplaceable...

Donations sought Christmas in Caseville

It's time again for the Caseville Community Christmas Fund appeal, and new chairman Colleen Poisson is coordinating the area-wide gift giving tradition. "We are asking for your help with donations to help needy families in our community," Poisson says. "We'll be compiling and delivering Christmas food certificates and gifts, to help bring a brighter Christmas to many persons in our community." Church leaders and service clubs are now being contacted to seek donations from members. As the project gets nearer, actual gift handling, wrapping and delivering will also need to be done, she says. Persons interested in donating should contact their minister or Poisson at 856-3181, with gifts of money or time. GOP, DEMS BOTH WORKING...
Both Democratic and Republican Presidential candidates have been in the Saginaw and Bay City areas this past week, as the Nov. 8 election nears. Vice President George Bush brought his Republican caravan to Saginaw last Wednesday, and cautioned cheering supporters to not be over-confident before the election. The day before, Democratic hopeful Michael Dukakis flew into Tri-City Airport and spoke at a rally at Arthur Hill High School. G.O.P. Vice Presidential hopeful Sen. Daniel Quayle spoke last Monday to Republicans at Caylord, Mount Pleasant and other smaller-town stops.

BONDS OK'ED FOR MH BUILDING
Huron County commissioners last week authorized the sale of $240,000 in bonds to finance an addition to the county's Mental Health Services Building just west of Bad Axe. The bonds, which should carry an 8% interest rate, would be repaid over 10 years with $110,000 in interest. No election is needed to sell the bonds to investors, but the bond sale could be held up if 10% or more of the county's registered voters oppose the bond issue by signing petitions. The Huron County Building Authority will sell the bonds and own the 6,400-sq.-ft. building addition. Lease payments from the mental health board will repay the bonds, mostly from state and federal dollars. After 10 years, the building will become Huron County's property.

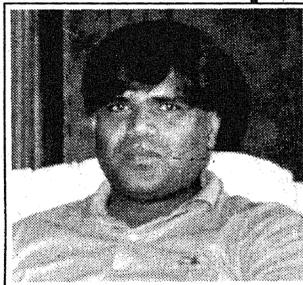

NEXT BOAT RACES JULY 22, '89
The Bay Harbor Charity Classic in Saginaw Bay lost money in 1987, but did a turn-about and raised about $150,000 in 1988, sponsors say. After expenses and prizes are deducted, the powerboat races have $6,600 to be donated to community foundations and local hospitals in Bay, Saginaw, Midland and Arenac Counties, they add. Next year's race is scheduled for July 22, as part of the Offshore Professional Tours as sanctioned by the Lake St.

Clair Offshore Racing Association. National sanctioning is by the American Power Boat Association, which oversees other similar races in Traverso City and Grand Haven annually. An estimated 200,000 people watched part of all of the 149-mile race and related events in the three-day affair, between Bay City State Park and Point Lookout off Au Gres.

USA BARGAINERS TO MEET AGAIN
Negotiators for the Unionville - Sebawaing Area School District and its teachers' group will meet this Thursday for further bargaining. Officials said no progress was made at the last session. The teachers, represented by the Tri-County Bargaining Association, have been working without an agreement since June. The board and union have agreed on the school calendar for the year, in a separate agreement. The school day on Nov. 10 will end at 11:30 a.m., as parent-teacher conferences start. Then, on Nov. 25, the day after Thanksgiving, no school will be conducted. Christmas vacation begins Dec. 21, and school will reopen Jan. 4. Easter vacation starts March 24 through April 6, and the final day of school for the 1988-89 school year will be June 8.

COURT PROCEEDINGS
In 73rd District Court, First Division (Huron County), Judge John Schubel recently heard the pleas of or passed judgment on:
■ Bruce S. Hirschberger, 24 of Port Austin, pled guilty to impaired driving; $450 fines and costs and loss of driver's license for 90 days;

As We See It...EDITORIALLY

We humans have more compassion for animals...

It's been fascinating to watch those whales caught in heavy ice at Point Barrow, Alaska for more than two weeks now. Not fascinating that animals are trapped, but amazed at the worldwide public interest in and support for their plight. Environmentalists, oil company officials, governmental leaders and other volunteers have banded together voluntarily to help free them from this ice situation — groups which don't always work together well in such a manner.

We Americans — as well as human beings in general — are truly caring people, deep down. As Nightline's Ted Koppel pointed out last week, we euthanize millions of cats each year — yet get one cat caught in a tree and the police, firemen and rescue squads all rush forward to help. That's certainly an admirable and wonderful quality, that we so graciously help out those in need, whether humans or animals.

From this viewpoint, the problem comes in when some "animals" (notably those of the human variety) CLAIM to be in trouble, when in fact they're not. Coming to mind first are TV evangelists who simply NEED a donation from you NOW ("check or credit cards accepted, and operators are standing by now") to build their "city of dreams" or their "medical training school" or whatever today's cause is.

Then, there are welfare cheats or lottery losers who waste too much money — or simply spend too much of the little they have — and take advantage of something that's not theirs. We're reminded of people who have altered lottery tickets to try cashing in on millions of dollars. We're also reminded of people with multiple names or addresses... trying to get something undeserved... that they're not entitled to.

How about people at work, who look as though they're busy, but don't do their share of the work? They're stealing from their employer PLUS co-workers, who ultimately must do work not done by the slackers.

Or, what about people who make big promises or pledges that they don't keep? It's easy to pledge $50 or $100 to Jerry Lewis on Labor Day, but 5% or more of the people who make the promises to pay don't really do so, in the end.

Finally, how about the "over" people — over-drinkers, over-spenders or whomever. They too abuse something and seek to gain that which is not theirs.

Watching the plight of these whales is doubly ironic, in that if they simply had proceeded southward as migrating whales do, they would likely have been quietly KILLED by Japanese whalers. Those persons take more than their share of whales from the oceans to sell their products back home in Japan. These whales would have been just unknown stragglers.

We would have known nothing of these whales if the world's attention had not been focused on them through the media. This time, at least, we have national media to thank for focusing attention. As an example, almost everyone knows there were three whales at first, now reduced to two when the smallest whale stopped surfacing in the dozens of "air holes" carved by Eskimos and the aforementioned volunteers.

At least in this instance, we can thank the media for making this story known to us. But when you consider how little of poor peoples' plight RIGHT HERE is really broadcast and printed, we can see where human priorities are. We can see why some people spend more money on pet food than they give to their local charities... or churches...

Ours is truly an amazing world. Not a world that's all bad — as our concern for their whales proves — but not one that's perfect, either.

Lakers' Brunet backs Judge Clabuesch

DEAR EDITOR:

In the upcoming November election, voters in Huron County will be asked to decide on one candidate to fill the various county offices. Each of these offices has a distinct role in the success of or failure of our county system of government.

This letter is being written in behalf of our current Probate Judge David Clabuesch. I am doing this because of his job performance since his appointment by Gov. Blanchard. Judge Clabuesch did not ask for my endorsement.

It is strictly voluntary. Oftentimes you have heard people say, "if we had found out sooner, something could have been done" or "Why didn't someone warn us that our son/daughter was heading for trouble?"

As a professional educator, I have shared many heartaches with parents when their children were arrested and booked for a law violation. It seemed like on certain occasions their wrists were slapped, then they were turned loose to build up a nightmare of criminal offenses.

This past year Judge Clabuesch introduced a fresh approach for handling the county's juvenile offenders. Through the Huron County Commissioners, Sheriff's Department and local Boards of Education, a corrective program called "Quiet Room" was put in force.

What is a Quiet Room? It is a supervised study period lasting approximately seven hours per day that is administrated by a Sheriff's Deputy.

A youngster placed in the Quiet Room is not the typical school suspension. Under the supervision of the Sheriff's Department, the offenders are given a taste of law and order — sort of an indoctrination of what could happen if they continue breaking the law.

It is not a cure-all, but it is the best preventive program we have seen thus far.

RECOLLECTIONS Of By-Gone Days
BY GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR:

Last Sunday while I was eating my dinner at the Dutch Kettle, I heard Orville Yackel and Wayne Sturm talking about harvesting their beans. I didn't get all of it, but I heard Orville say something about stacking the beans, but nobody wants to do it now.

There are a lot of young farmers who don't know what stacking beans is. It is the way a lot of us used to harvest our beans years ago.

Everybody hauled their beans in the barn and anybody who didn't hauled them in to the barn and thrashed them out of the field. People said they were lazy and today people say if you'd haul your beans in the barn, they'd say you were crazy.

Well, they'd both be right but we older people know that you could haul beans in the barn pretty wet and if you put the green ones against the wall or over layers and leave them there six weeks, then thrash them, they come out nice and clean. But it was very hard work and very dusty and if the wind was blowing a certain way, you'd almost choke.

I helped one man thrash his beans in February and that was the only time he ever chewed tobacco. I used to take some real strong lico-rice and put it under my upper lip and it helped break the dust. But one thing that always helped was the good meals we got. If a woman was alone a neighbor wife used to come and help. They'd put several tubs of warm water on the porch and lots of soap and towels and 'til we got done, the water was a little thick and the towels were pretty black.

used to come and help.

They'd put several tubs of warm water on the porch and lots of soap and towels and 'til we got done, the water was a little thick and the towels were pretty black.

Then people started to stack their beans but back in those days, people only had maybe 50 or 70 acres of beans. And if you got your family and a few men together, you could stack a lot of beans in a day. And if you left them there for awhile, they came out really good, even if they were green or wet.

Once in awhile when you had your beans all raked up in windrows and the wind got pretty strong, they'd blow the beans against the fence or into a ditch. Back then if your beans made 20 to 30 bushels per acre, they were good beans. Well, Hugo Leipprandt said he once got over 90 bushels per acre but he explained that the wind had blown his beans into a corner of the field and he just thrashed them off of the pile.

Looking forward in the economy

October rains are well in swing here in the Thumb. One farmer, my brother-in-law Dave Eichler, reports over 2 1/2 inches within the last seven days and it's still raining! Wouldn't we have liked to sprinkle some of that rain into the long hot summer of '88? Just a few cooling showers here and there would have put us into a different mindset for the summer.

But that mindset was not to be. We rolled through the Great Drought of 1988 and into another wet, difficult harvest season. When will it end, this pressure against the farm economy and because much of the Thumb depends so heavily on agricultural businesses, against the economy of our area?

That, too, is a question we can't see through right now. In last week's FARMWAYS section of The Progress-Advance, the Cooperative Elevator Company's Wes Edington painted a fairly upbeat picture of the farm economy as things roll ahead this fall. Wes' optimism, welcome to our ears, isn't shared by everyone. There's a lot of "We're holding on for now" and "We'll wait and see" out there, too.

THREE YEARS AGO, a rural church group that I belong to spent a day with Dr. Myron F. Kelsey of Michigan State University. The topic of the day was the ag economy and how it affects communities (and churches, too). Mike, as he's known to many Thumb Area farmers, painted a bleak picture for a five-year period (1985-90) on the basis of trends alone.

He didn't foresee the flooding of 1986, nor the immensely dry years of 1987 and 1988. What he did talk about was debt-to-asset ratio and the need for everybody, farms and businesses, to ride out the next five years. He saw a slow, bottomed-out five years ahead for Michigan agriculture back then.

Some things have changed since then, with weather being the most obvious change. We always think that weather can't get worse, but it can and does! The 1987 Congress gave us the Farm Credit Act of 1987 which tended to make lenders and farmers think twice about their credit situations. Much of that act is still being put into place, but its enactment was a sign of hope for smaller family farms.

THE OTHER BIG UNCERTAINTY, perhaps not to be a change, will take place when we all traipse to the polls on Nov. 8. Changing to a Democratic administration could give the feeling of putting farm policy up for grabs, a feeling that agribusiness may not like. Then, too, staying with a Republican administration might feel like more of the same rut.

Right now, in the middle of this slowdown, there are good signs:

1. We're tougher communities for having faced head-on the school financing difficulties which the slump in ag land values has brought. We're learning how to tighten up and go forward with excellence in education on budgets that we thought wouldn't work. AND, we've learned that minimum money gives us minimum education. We've backed millages when we've known that they're needed.

2. If we can talk about a five-year slowdown, postulating that from the figures that Ag Economist Kelsey worked with three falls ago, then we're through the center of the woods and are on our way out toward the back forty.

3. Somehow, the coming of Thanksgiving and Christmas and the looking forward to those times of family and faith always has a bright side. Lots of old timers tell about the Christmases when things were tight and call those the best of all. While we wish holiday prosperity for all, Christmas is more appropriately celebrated with tradition, faith and family at the forefront. Economics, though it plays a major role, really has little to do with satisfying holidays and real Christmases.

SO WE LOOK FORWARD this fall to the end of another difficult harvest, to holidays when through families, friends and faith we will sustain each other, and to some hoped-for upturns in the farm economy.

Christmas is a ho-ho-whole lot more fun when you plan ahead

Christmas bells quickly turn into Christmas bills. Many of us overspend in order to make the holiday memorable for our families and friends, only to be hounded by bills when January comes.

And yet, as Mr. Scrooge can tell you, it's no fun to be a miser at this time of year. So how can you escape the wrath of Christmas Past-Due? It's easy. Join the hundreds of wise customers who already know how valuable a Christmas Club Account can be. It's easy because you set your own savings pace. Just meet with a personal banker and discuss how much you can realistically set aside each month. That's all there is to it.

Then as you add to your Christmas Club account, we add interest! (Now there's something even Scrooge would approve of!) And if you have direct deposit, we can arrange to have your funds deposited into the Christmas Club account automatically. We want to help you have the merriest Christmas ever next year!

"AS I SEE IT..." By HARRY J. BRUNET

Laker Football: a story of success

surprised a lot of people.

Many had written the Lakers off into obscurity. After all, we had missed the playoffs the two previous years. The following year, 1987, we were riding the crest of another fine season of football. Our old nemesis Vassar, with a so-so team, stuck the pin in our bubble. Instead of pouting and quitting, this team of a year ago rebounded and once again qualified for high school post-season play.

This marked the Lakers' fifth appearance in a seven-year period, not too shabby for a small Class C high school. The next feature will be an overview of past Thumb football teams.

FOOTBALL RECAP: This past Friday the Lakers traveled to Bad Axe for a football game that would determine whether or not the Lakers would become the undefeated champions of the Thumb B Conference for 1988.

The Lakers were successful in defending their title by posting a convincing 42-18 victory. The Lakers established overall superiority by scoring five touchdowns during the first half of play. The Laker defense held the Hatchets to the first down and very little yardage gained. It was apparent that the outmanned Bad Axe team could have been devastated if the Lakers kept the same pace during the second half of play.

Bad Axe kicked off to the Lakers to start the third quarter and quickly moved in for another touchdown. With the score 42-0, Coach McLellan began to substitute at all positions.

This move definitely rejuvenated the Bad Axe offense and they were able to score three well-earned touchdowns during the second half of play.

The fact that the Hatchets were able to salvage a certain amount of pride is a surprise to many.

PURSUIT: Laker linebacker Ed Bach (44) closes in to tackle Bad Axe running back Rob Dhont (29). RICH SWARTZENDRUBER PHOTOS definite credit to the caliber of the Laker coaches. There was not a show of greed or an attempt to run up the score against a Bad Axe team that has been riddled by injuries this football season.

SCORING RECAP: The Lakers took a Bad Axe punt on their own 30-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Shawn Parrish broke off to his left side into the open for a 50-yard gain, seven plays later Parrish went in for the first Laker TD. The extra point was good, Lakers 7-0.

Lakers scored again with Vince Gentile going in from two yards out. This drive was highlighted by three outstanding runs by Ed Bach, Mike Kosinski and Shawn Parrish.

The third TD was set-up on a pass interception by Mark Kretzschmer at the Bad Axe 45. It was Shawn Parrish taking the ball in with 11:54 remaining in the second period. Once again, the extra point kick was good and the Lakers were on top 21-0.

With 7:51 remaining in the second period, Lakers scored their fourth touchdown. This drive was highlighted by a 30-yard pass from Bill McLellan to Mark Kretzschmer. The drive also featured a 12-yard pick-up by Mike Kosinski.

The touchdown was scored with 7:51 remaining in the second period, again extra point good. The score now reads 28-0.

On the Hatchets next possession, they fumbled the ball with John Conrad making the recovery at the Laker 45-yard line.

FINAL STATS: Quarterback McLellan completed two passes, one of 25 yards to Gentile, and one of 18 yards to Mike Kosinski taking the ball down to the Bad Axe two-yard line. It was Shawn Parrish going in for a TD, again the extra point kick was good, making the half-time score 35-0.

The final Laker touchdown was the result of a 50-yard pass from McLellan to tight-end Kendall Wertz. Again Wertz kicked the extra point, making the score 42-0. Kendall Wertz had an excellent night going 6-6 in his extra point attempts.

Time runs out for Lady Lakers

By AMY HEIDEN

The Lady Lakers have been busy in the past few weeks building momentum, working on team play, perfecting their moves. They've had some tough teams to play and have given a good account of themselves.

They've won more than they've lost, and while some of their victories have been easy, none of their losses have been easy to swallow.

COMING-GOING: Last week's games were a perfect example of easy-come, easy-go. The Lakers were expected to defeat Bad Axe, a team that hasn't won a single game all season, and they did that handily with a score of 61-37.

But then came North Branch, an undefeated, state-ranked Class B team to make the Green and White work overtime, only to lose in a closely-fought contest.

BAD AXE FIRST: This was the type of game that gives the subs a chance to play, according to Laker coach Paul Beachy. "They're a tall team. They boarded with us in the first half, but in the second half, we started boxing them up and getting the ball down the court," Beachy said.

The Lakers led throughout the game, ending the first half with a 30-21 score. The end of the third quarter found the Lakers opening up their lead 48-25, and the Hatchets could only get 12 more points on the board by the end of the game.

Brenda Buschlen paced the Lakers with a season-best

Lady Lakers split

18 points, while consistent scorer Connie Schulze put up 10 and Marilyn Kranz scored nine in the game.

With less than three minutes left on the clock, North Branch came back to lead the Lakers by two points, making the score 41-39. As the crowd got more and more vocal, the Lakers seemed to lose some of their patience and missed all their shots.

Even the free throw attempts refused to drop in the bucket. Laker junior Brenda Buschlen sank in a two-pointer, the only Laker points of the quarter, just as the ending buzzer sounded, sending the teams into overtime.

In the overtime period, the Broncos got on the scoreboard first, going in front by two. After Tracie Henne was fouled, she made both her charity attempts and North Branch rebounded the ball—just to have it stolen back by Henne.

Her pass to Kim Dubs set up the next two points, tying the game 45-45.

The Lakers came within two points after two good FT's by Buschlen, but North Branch continued their press, making three out of their four FT attempts.

After Connie Schulz brought the Lakers within one point of the Broncos with 18 seconds to go, it looked as if the Lakers just might be victorious.

But Bronco Marty Goodfellow went to the FT line and made a successful bucket to put the Broncos in front 51-49, and that's where the score stayed.

Laker Tracey Roestel made a valiant shot just before time ran out, but the ball hit the rim and bounced away, taking with it the hopes of a Laker victory.

COULD HAVE BEEN: "This game could have been ours," Coach Beachy said. "Offensively we didn't work as a unit, but defensively I couldn't have asked for more. It was an exciting game, but I guess we lost our patience. In the fourth quarter, we started to rush shots and didn't get the type of shots we'd like to get."

Stacy Lamphere was the key player for North Branch, hitting some key shots in the last quarter and ending the game with 21 points, including six in the extra period.

The Lakers once again hit a good percentage from the free-throw line, with 19 of 29 falling into the basket—except for the awful fourth quarter, when the Lakers couldn't get the ball into the hoop on any of their six tries.

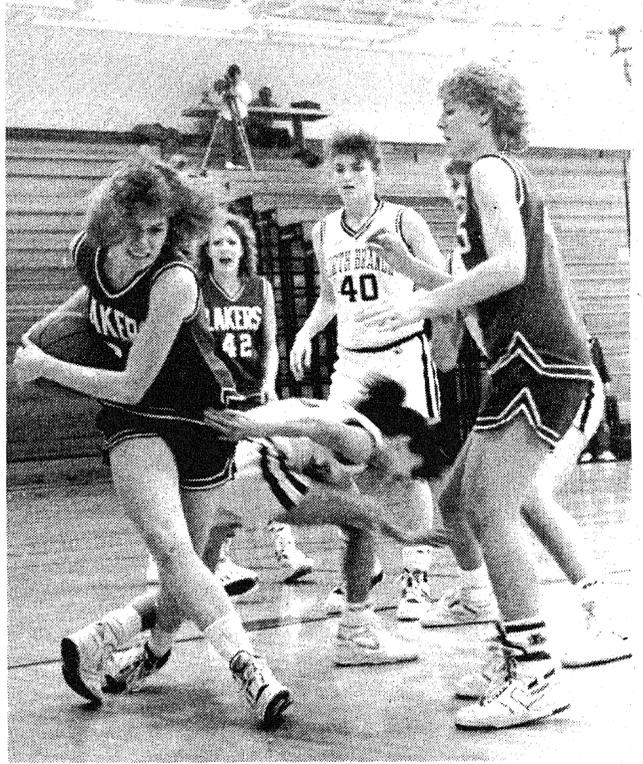

Brenda Buschlen was the scoring leader for the Lakers with 14 points, while Connie Schulz put up 13 and Traci Henne had 10 points.

The team's season record now stands at 9-5 overall and 4-4 in the conference.

THIS WEEK: The Lakers will have their work cut out for them this week when they meet Cass City and Imlay City, both of which Beachy said are tough teams.

The last time the Lakers met Cass City, they lost by one point, and they have beaten Imlay City earlier this season. But Imlay City has defeated Cass City, so the games should be a toss-up.

"We have to be ready to play ball this week. I'm hoping we can realize we can play with any team in this state, that we can be disappointed and still play well in the next game," Beachy said.

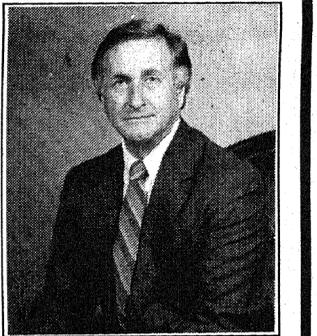

MINE! Laker Marilyn Kranz rips the ball away from Bronco defender Kara Baker, as Lakers' Connie Schulz (42) and Kim Dubs (right) and Stacey Lamphere (40) of North Branch look on. RICH SWARTZENDRUBER PHOTOS

United in marriage

Kube-Shuart

Jill Elaine Shuart, Filion and Brian James Kube, Bad Axe, began their married lives together on Saturday, Sept. 24 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Bad Axe. The Rev. Mark A. Jenkins officiated at the double-ring ceremony which united the children of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Shuart, Filion and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kube, Bad Axe.

Music selections included "Theme From Ice Castles,"

"The Canon" and "Edelweiss" from The Sound of Music. The organist was Dr. Erich Heidenreich, Marshall and soloist was Rick Ayman, Bad Axe.

The altar was decorated with two handwoven baskets of garden flowers with an overlay of lysiphilla. Oil-burning lamps were placed on the window sills and decorated with static and baby's breath.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin brocade gown with a sweetheart neckline and off-the-shoulder pouf sleeves. The skirt featured a dropped waistline softly gathered in front and bustled in back. The floor-length gown ended in a full flare and was hemmed with hand rolled roses.

Her headpiece was a crown of silk leaves and sprays of tiny seed pearls, topping a cathedral-length veil.

The bride carried a bouquet of hand-tied bridal white roses, stephanotis and freesia blossoms, accented with sculptured satin loops. Bridesmaids were Kimberly Kay Shuart, Filion, sister of bride; Holly Lynn Shuart, East Lansing, sister of the bride and Mary Ann Warschelsky, Utica, friend of the bride.

They wore springtime design ecru dresses of polished cotton, featuring off-the-shoulder pouf sleeves extending to form a ruffle on the low-cut V-neckline in back which extended to the waist. The floor-length skirt fell in graceful lines.

The attendants wore sprigs of baby's breath and static in their hair and carried bouquets of European design, garden flowers and static in shades of mauve, pink and blue, hand-tied with all stems showing. A band of satin ribbon and a small bow accented the arrangement.

Flower girl was Abigail Gage, Caro, niece of the groom.

The groomsmen wore

James P. Shuart, Bad Axe, brother of the bride and friend of the groom; Ken Krinkle and Rob McKnight, both of Bad Axe, friends of the groom.

Ushers were Clark J. Shuart, Kalamazoo, brother of the bride; Ben Shuart, Filion, brother of the bride and Keith Kube, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a white-on-whitejacquard silk gown with butterfly sleeves. The bodice featured a shoulder overlay that draped to the tea-length skirt. She wore a corsage of Sonia roses accented with rhinestones, ivy leaves and tied with picot satin ribbon.

The groom's mother wore a rose beige chiffon satinae gown featuring elbow length sleeves banded in alencon lace. The semi-fitted bodice of satinae was adorned with alencon lace and a double strand of pearls. She carried a single Sonia rose nosegay surrounded by handwired loops of satinae chiffon.

After the ceremony, a reception was conducted at the Verona Hills Country Club.

The bride is a graduate of Michigan State University and is currently employed at McKenzie Memorial Hospital, Sandusky, as a registered nurse.

The groom, a graduate of Ohio Diesel Technical Institute, is presently employed at Thumb Tool and Engineering, Bad Axe.

The newlyweds enjoyed a one-week honeymoon throughout Michigan, then returned to Bad Axe where they are making their home.

United in marriage

Hurlburt-Hyzer

Dawn M. Hyzer, formerly of Bad Axe and Dave J. Hurlburt, formerly of Elkton, united their lives together in marriage on Saturday, Sept. 24 at St. Francis Borgia Catholic Church, Pigeon.

Father Ben Skornia officiated at the double-ring ceremony which united the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hyzer of Bad Axe and Mr. and Mrs. Sid Hurlburt of Elkton.

Special wedding music included "The Wedding Song," "Household of Faith" and "Joyful, Joyful," provided by Dobi and Dale Ackerman of Elkton.

COUPON COOKBOOK CORNER

Marion Joyce

In France, in 1869, Mege-Mouries invented margarine. Napoleon III needed something other than butter to feed his Imperial Navy because butter spoiled so readily, so he ran a contest for a butter substitute. Margarine won, and Napoleon introduced margarine to the world. Over 30 years ago, BLUE BONNET introduced the first yellow margarine. It is now one of America's best recognized brands. In 1985, BLUE BONNET introduced BLUE BONNET BETTER BLEND. Now BLUE BONNET has reformulated BETTER BLEND to be healthier while maintaining the same buttery taste and high quality. BLUE BONNET BETTER BLEND is a combination of soy oil and butter. As a 75% oil spread product, it is a delicious product for all cooking, baking, and spreading needs. Moreover, it has 95% less cholesterol than butter. It comes in a 1 pound bowl for soft, easy spreading and is also available in 1 pound lightly salted and unsalted sticks.

Last spring I was visiting with Dennis Gaskill, veteran biology teacher at Laker High. During our conversation, a youngster with an uncontrolled eagerness interrupted. His comments were quick and a positive plus, "Mr. Gaskill, guess what? Two Bs and the rest all Cs."

Dennis returned a quick, "See, you found out that you can be just like the others." Mr. Gaskill then explained that this young man had a one-way ticket out of Lakere prompted by poor grades, poor attendance and being a trouble maker.

Our High School Principal James Ballard petitioned for a hearing for the student's placement in the Quiet Room. The results in this case were extremely favorable.

I am urging all voters to endorse David Clabuesch for his re-election to the position of Huron County Probate Judge. He has proven his ability to work cooperatively with the County Commissioners, law enforcement agencies and all local school districts.

Leitch wins big at Quarter Horse Show

A Huron County horseman, Jerry Leitch of Elkton, has proven to be the best at the world's largest breeders' futurity.

Leitch won the Non Pro Three Year old Gelding Class with his horse, Heza Two Bar Jack at the Michigan Quarter Horse Breeders' Futurity held Sept. 22-25 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit.

Heza Two Bar Jack graduated as a three year old from the Michigan Breeders' Futurity. He had a successful three years as a yearling. He was first in the Geldings, reserve champion over Junior and Senior geldings.

As a two year old he was a sixth place gelding out of 32 in his class. As a three year old, he won the Non Pro and was eighth in the Open out of 22.

Leitch has owned and shown this horse for the past three years.

Competing against 14 entries, Heza came out tied for the top in the composite scores of two judges. The victory netted Leitch $69.13 and the right to boast Futurity Champion in the above class for 1988. The total purse for this class was $262.50.

The American Quarter Horse Association is the largest breed registry in the world. Historically, the Quarter Horse is known as the cowboy's horse, capably working cattle on the western plains, then going to town on Saturday night to take on all comers, even Thoroughbreds, in short quarter-mile sprint races.

In the 20th Century, the Quarter Horse has become America's family horse, because of its docile temperament and athletic ability.

Leitch has been raising Quarter Horses for 10 years.

Questions for the SUPERINTENDENT

By ROBERT DRURY, Laker Superintendent

Q. Can you give us a breakdown of where our district receives its money and how it is spent?

A. Here is our 1988-89 budget for Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port Schools.

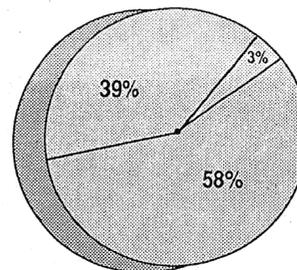

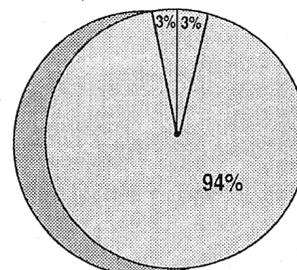

The pie charts detail the areas of revenues and expenditures.

Chart #1, revenues, show that 94% of the money our district receives is from local sources such as property taxes, building rental fees and interest on savings accounts. State revenue of 3% is received in the form of State Aid to be used for transportation, vocational education, special education and driver training. Lastly, federal money totaling 3% is received for operating our Chapter I and Chapter II Programs.

Chart #2 shows the percentage of expenditures in three areas. The largest one, instructional costs of 58%, includes classroom textbooks and supplies, salaries for teachers, teacher aides and substitute teachers, workshops and conferences and fringe benefits.

The second category, Support, includes expenditures in the areas of guidance and counseling, library, board of education, administration, buildings and grounds, pupil transportation and fringe benefits for the above. The last area, Other, representing 3%, is in the area of capital expenditures.

In summary, there is a total of 16 revenue areas and 189 expenditure areas that make up our school district budget.

Improvements in food service are noticed!

Pat Leitermann

Three years ago administrators in the EPBP School District felt they could save money by consolidating elementary cafeterias. At that time, the Pigeon Cafeteria made enough food to be transported and served at the Bay Port Center.

Two years ago, because of the success, the Elkton Center was added. Last year the food preparation was moved to the Laker center and all the food was trucked to the elementary schools.

This year, more improvements were introduced. The EPBP Food Service began the year by hiring a new supervisor who would be in charge of personnel, menus, ordering and the day-to-day operation of our cafeterias.

The administration chose Pat Leitermann, a nine-year veteran cook and baker at Bay Medical Center, to head up the food service program and under his direction, the four cafeterias are in full operation.

Saving money is the main objective for the consolidation and the cost-cutting became obvious with a reduced kitchen staff and big savings through large volume purchasing and preparation.

The process is fairly simple. All the food is prepared in the central kitchen at Laker High School. From there it is placed in insulated containers, loaded on a large truck and ferried to Elkton, Pigeon and Bay Port, in that order.

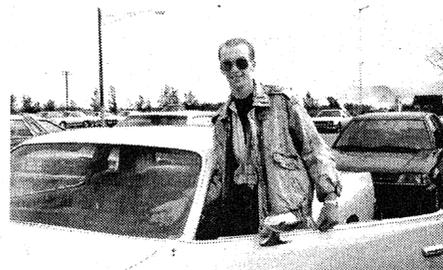

The truck's driver, Brenda McAlpine, acts as a server in Bay Port and then picks up the empty containers by traveling to the elementary schools in a reversed order.

A sample survey conducted with students gives the new hot lunch program good marks. Numerous menu options are open to the individual students with many salad bar items to fill up those with a big, big appetite.

If you would like to see the operation firsthand, a standing invitation to "have lunch with us" is always open.

Parking stickers have arrived at Laker High

"A car is blocking me in and I have a dentist's appointment in 15 minutes. What should I do, Miss D?"

"There's a car with its lights on in the parking lot. I don't know whose car it is and besides, it's locked! What do I do?"

These two situations have occurred on a number of occasions at LHS. We have employed a variety of techniques to solve the above situations in the past, but none of them have been simple or efficient.

The idea of car registration and numbered stickers easily solves the noted situation quickly and efficiently. All a student would need to do is come to the office and tell us the number of the problem vehicle. We'll look up the number and find the student whose vehicle is blocking another or whose lights were left on.

The whole process takes about a minute - a vast improvement over the old system.

From the PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE

By CRAIG DOUGLAS, Secondary Principal

Parent-Principal Coffee

On Oct. 3 our first parent-principal conference was held at Laker Junior and Senior High Schools. A nice turnout of over 30 parents greeted me with excellent questions.

2) Activity Pass — Mr. Guenther and I have discussed this with Mr. Drury. We would like to sell students a pass at a discounted price which would admit students to home athletic events, one school dance and one assembly or drama production without charge.

STUDENT DANCES

Some questions were asked about a scheduled high school dance which was postponed. Student Council has been told by me that any home football or basketball game on a Friday night is a potential dance date.

PARKING LOT

Parking regulations were discussed. This seems to be a sore point with a few parents and students. I understand the willingness for students to want to drive to school.

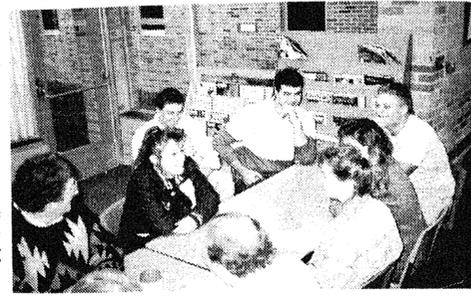

We have placed a big emphasis on driving slowly and safely. Parking stickers have been issued to help us identify student drivers to school.

STUDENT ID CARDS

What will they be used for? That is an outstanding question. Here are a few ideas we have in mind:

1) Identification of Students — especially away from school on field trips... like our eighth graders (who travel to Washington D.C.), agricultural students (who travel to Kansas City), seventh graders (who travel to the state capitol at Lansing) and other groups who travel out of the area on school-related trips.

Discipline Committee and Student Council at work

Brenda Schulze making her case at the meeting

"Sweat pants" were the main issue of concern at the Sept. 29 meeting of the Disciplinary Committee.

Several members of Student Council and the LHS student body were present to support Brenda Schulze, spokesperson of the group, as she conveyed the students' concern that sweat pants be considered acceptable dress for students at Laker Junior and Senior High Schools.

Ms. Schulze stated that sweat pants are a comfortable form of attire and that students would learn better if they were comfortable. She also stated that green and white sweat pants are a display of school spirit.

The Discipline Committee, comprised of junior and senior high teachers and administration, expressed concern that when "sweats" were allowed in the past, some students wore the garments inappropriately. Some students wore "sweats" which had holes in them or were dirty or ill-fitting.

Committee members also believe that students need to dress for the activity in which they are involved. For example, "sweat" are generally worn in physical activity classes, not in academic courses.

A mutually satisfying compromise was developed by the two groups. "Sweat pants" may be worn on Fridays only, during football season, on a trial basis. "Sweats" must be clean and loose fitting; must be worn as sweat pants, not shorts; must be without holes and should be worn with a green and white emphasis. The Discipline Committee and Student Council agreed to meet at the end of football season to access the "sweat pants" compromise.

A LETTER OF THANKS

The VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary have again sponsored this year's "Voice of Democracy" speech contest.

As a speech teacher, soldier and member of this community, I feel they deserve a big thank! This year's topic, "Preparing for America's Future," is so very appropriate because in this and many other activities they sponsor, they help prepare our most valuable resource, our young people.

My father fought in World War II, my brother fought in Viet Nam, I serve in the Michigan National Guard and my son is a member of the ROTC at Michigan State. The members of the VFW have already served us well and yet through these programs, continue to help all of us by providing opportunities for the young people of our communities.

So to our "Vets" and the ladies in their lives, we offer a big "Laker Thanks!"

What's happening in Elkton, Pigeon and Bay Port Buildings

Here are some candid shots of Hat Day, fire hall visits and other fun at Bay Port Elementary

Pigeon kindergartners are busy!

By JEANNIE SWARTZENDRUBER, teacher

The Pigeon kindergarten has been busy studying the five senses in science. We've had fun at our science center with a tasting party.

We learned to listen for like sounds by putting a blindfold on and shake small jars until two sound alike. This week we will be trying our sense of smell for good and bad smells and trying to match the two smells that are alike.

We've also started our Tutor-Mom and Motor-Skill programs. Our Moms come in and drill us on many skills, as well as working on the computer. We've enjoyed the help from the fourth grade and Moms in Motor-Skills. This will help us get better in our fine and gross motor skills.

It looks like a fun year ahead of us, growing and learning together...

Second graders "Book It" for pizza!

By MISS ALBRECHT, Pigeon second grade teacher

The second grade in Pigeon Elementary have learned many things about the Autumn Season. They have brought in many "signs of fall" for our fall display. This month we have added ghosts and goblins around our classroom as well.

Our class is also participating in the National Reading Incentive Program entitled "Book It." It is designed to motivate children to read more, both at school and at home by rewarding them for their reading accomplishments. If the student reaches his/her monthly goal, s/he will receive a free "Pizza Award Certificate," redeemable at Pizza Hut Restaurants.

We're Special!

By BEVERLY WALSH, School Nurse

The third, fourth and fifth grades have meetings in Health Education every week.

Our #1 goal this year is to learn more about self-concept and self-esteem. Our recent project was to draw a picture of how we thought we were "special" as a person. This project was displayed in the halls of Pigeon and Bay Port Elementary Schools this month.

We will continue our effort to learn about health knowledge, health behavior and the importance of communication with our families in making decisions.

Third graders have Pen Pals!

By KAREN GEHRNS, Pigeon Elementary third grade teacher

The Pigeon Elementary third graders have been busy with many projects thus far this year. Some of the things we have been working on include Dioramas, windsocks, sprouting seeds and growing beans, writing stories and reading books for the Pizza Hut "Book It" program.

Several of the third graders have volunteered to write articles for the Laker Wave. We may have some "budding" newspaper reporters in our class!

We are again participating in a pen pal program with a classroom in Las Cruces, N.M. We have written letters and are anxiously awaiting answers to all of our questions. It should be interesting hearing about Hurricane Gilbert from children who have experienced it.

Later this year we hope to make a video of our class during the Christmas program. We hope to include some winter scenes on our playground.

We would like to send an aerial photograph of our town to our pen pals. Please contact Pigeon Elementary School if you can help us out.

Third graders speak out!

By RHONDA McLEAN

Reading is fun and the stories are good. The funniest story was "How to Get to Ripton," but I also liked "The White Stallion." It was about a little girl, Gretchen, who got lost when the wagon train stopped to fix an axle.

We have a "Book It" program at school. If we reach our goal, we will have a Pizza Party.

By AMANDA ORLIK

I like music class because we play games and learn songs. My favorite song is "Go To Sleep My Susie." You know it isn't true. I like playing the instruments best.

Elkton kindergarten learns math "their" way!

By MRS. TRUDI LANG, Elkton kindergarten teacher

MATH THEIR WAY
I hear, I forget;
I see, I remember;
I DO, I UNDERSTAND!

Our kindergarten class is using a new math program called "Math Their Way." The children are learning that math is a part of our everyday living.

The boys and girls have brought in beans, rice, golf tees, bottle caps, old keys, buttons and nuts and bolts. Sounds like a lot of junk! Junk for our junk treasure boxes — to sort and count by color, shape and size. We are using beans and rice to measure, estimate and compare.

Our "Math Their Way" calendar daily features: patterning, the days of the week, birthdays, missing teeth, weather graphing and the day's events. We are also learning to count by 5s and 10s as we tally how many days we've been in school. Our "Zero the Hero" puppet helps us count the 10s with a song and dance on "zero" days. The children remind ME when it's "zero" day (10, 20, 30, etc.). By using manipulatives brought from home and every day experiences, the boys and girls are learning many math concepts!

"Math Their Way" does it "their" way!

Students from Mr. Lang's fourth grade class are listening to Mr. William Kumbier "Mr. Bill, explain the use of a compass. The students discovered how to use compasses and calculators to find directions and their location.

Which way to go?

Mr. Kumbier presents science programs to elementary classrooms which bring excitement to the lessons and teach the application of scientific principles.

GOINGS ON AT LAKER JUNIOR HIGH

STUDENT COUNCIL...

The 1988-89 Junior High Student Council consists of eight eighth graders, four seventh graders and four sixth graders, including the following representatives:

SIXTH GRADE: Vicki Gascho, Matt Pauly, Jeff Talaski and Matt Esch. These representatives will be an integral link between the student body and the school.

MIDWEST TALENT SEARCH...

This is the third year that LJH seventh and eighth graders will be involved in the Midwest Talent Search.

Students who qualify by achieving at least a 95% on a standardized test will be eligible for the S.A.T. test on Jan. 28, 1989. At the high school level, the S.A.T. is used to measure achievement. At the junior high level, it is used to identify those students with exceptional skills in specific areas. Participating students will then the opportunity to sign-up for summer enrichment courses.

Four Midwest Talent Search students participated in a summer one-week program at the Huron Area Skill center: eighth graders Jennifer Maxwell and Becky Kropp (computers) and Meagan Duever and Russ Truemmer (foreign languages).

WALK-A-THON...

Junior high students walked their way closer to class trips by raising funds in a 10-kilometer

Walk-a-thon on Thursday, Oct. 20 on Sand Road near Sleeper State Park.

Money raised will benefit the sixth grade camping trip, seventh-grade Lansing trip and eighth grade Washington D.C. trip.

FUN NIGHT #1...

Students in grades six, seven and eight can enjoy their first "Fun Night" of the year with a costume dress-up event on Nov. 5 from 7 to 10 p.m. Students from Cross Lutheran and St. John's, Berne in the above grades are also cordially invited.

Students and parent chaperones will have the chance to enjoy a computer room (and games), our own library "diner," games in the high school gym (basketball and volleyball), a nine-hole regulation size putt-putt course in the cafeteria and a live D.J. from Rusch Productions in the LJH gym.

Tickets are available at the junior high office until Friday, Nov. 4. The $5 admission charge covers all activities except for putt-putt, eating in the "diner" or the purchase of "grab bags."

MINI-SESSIONS OFFERED...

Three-week mini-sessions are now on-going at LJH for enrichment purposes only. The first session involved an extension of the students' daily math experience. The second session, which began Tuesday, Oct. 18, involves creating writing. The third and fourth programs will enrich students in science and in the creating of "Rap" music.

Sign-up sheets are available at school in the junior high guidance office.

Anyone in the public who has an expertise to share with LJH students in a mini-session may call the LJH office for more information.

WELCOME, NEW STAFF...

The LJH staff warmly welcomes new staffers David Wojcicki (seventh grade social studies), a 1988 Hillsdale graduate; Terri Damrow (special needs students), a 1987 Central Michigan University graduate and Ellen Roth (Exploratory I), a CMU graduate with a Masters Degree from Western Michigan University.

We welcome their eagerness and enthusiasm and look forward to a super year with them!

PROGRESS REPORTING...

Once again the parents of LJH students are receiving direct communication from the school through our "progress report" program. Parents of sixth graders receive PRs every two weeks between marking periods, while seventh and eighth grade parents receive them every three weeks.

A LOOK AT LJH SPORTS...

This year's Girls Basketball is off to a successful start at the seventh and eighth grade levels. Mrs. Stahl coaches the eighth grade girls and Mr. Wojcicki coaches the seventh graders.

The sixth grade intramural program has also begun under the coaching guidance of Mr. Murphy and Mr. Beachy. Emphasis is on basketball skill building with the opportunity to put them to use.

WHERE TO TURN?

When a parent has concerns about their junior high schooler, where do they turn?

For problems of a social-emotional nature, academic progress or lack of progress, or for arrangements for teacher contact, parents should call Mr. Todd Bigger in the guidance office.

In situations involving truancy or discipline, parents are advised to contact Assistant Principal Lisa DiCamillo. For a question on curriculum or an area not listed above, parents may contact Principal Mr. Craig Douglas.

If in doubt as to who to speak to, a call to 453-3131 during school hours will put you in contact with secretary Deb Herzog, who can direct you to the proper person.

Homecoming

Each year at Homecoming time, Laker High class members and their sponsors scramble for a place to build their floats. At the homecoming parade, and later at the game, most parents get a chance to view the finished product of countless hours of student work.

However, no one is aware of the generous, self-sacrifice that parents give, not only with a facility to build the float, but also as judges in selecting the best float.

This year, special thanks go to George and Linda Gardy, Sid and Kay Smith, Dale and Joyce Christner and Glenn and Carol Richmond for allowing Laker students to use their tool sheds for float construction.

Also, special thanks go to Carol Diener, Linda King and Mary Otto for serving as judges for the Homecoming floats.

HERE, the judges look over the winning float with the "M-A-S-H" theme, the Class of '89.

Writer's Corner... featuring Bay Port Elementary Third Graders

The Wizard

By KIM GASCHO

There once was a wicked wizard. She was a witch with black, long hair. She had a wizard dress with blue stars on it. She was very powerful. She had a magic wand. It was a star wand that says "Poof!" She even had a frog for a pet.

She had a picture of two things on her wall. One was a rabbit's foot and a bat's eye on her wall. She was very evil as well. The witch's name was Vicki.

One day Vicki met a handsome man. He was very handsome! He was tall with brown hair. He was thin and cute. He had dark colored skin. The witch liked him. His name was Travis. Travis did not like her at all so she did not like him either. She found someone else anyway and they lived happily ever after.

The Witch and the Happy World

By CHRIS THICK

Once upon a time in Bay Port, some kids were playing in the woods. An old house was in the same woods. There was a witch and she was making a spell. For the spell, she needed two frogs, a rabbit's foot, 10 bat's eyes, one coin and one prince and princess. The five kids saw the house and went in. There were spiders hanging on the wall. When they leaned on the wall, it turned around and the witch was right there. She was an evil wizard. She put them in a jail and gave them fly's wings to eat. Then she hypnotized them. When she was done, she said, "Go rob the bank."

So they said, "Yes, master." Then they went and robbed the bank.

Then she said, "Go get a handsome prince and princess." So that is what they did. When they got back they had them. The witch was so happy she gave them a gold medal. She said, "Abra cadabra hocus-pocus" and waved her magic wand. "Poof!" They were free and she let them go. She made the whole world a happy place.

The Sorcerer and the Witch

By MATT HENNE

One day the Sorcerer was fooling around. He made a ghost. The ghost went outside. The ghost met the witch and the witch met the ghost. They both screamed. The ghost did not like the witch. The witch did not like the ghost.

They started a fight. You could see them a mile away. It looked like fireworks. The Sorcerer saw what was happening. "Poof!" He was gone! He got there just in time. They were really at it.

The Sorcerer waved his magic wand. "KA-BOOM!" The air was full of smoke. The ghost was gone. Everyone lived and the fight was settled.

The Princess and the Frog

By MINDY COLLISON

Once there was a king that was a brave king. He had a daughter and her name was Jessica. She was the prettiest girl in the whole world. But a prince was somewhere in the world.

One day Princess Jessica was walking and she saw the prince. He was a handsome prince in the window of Gargamel's castle. Jessica fell in love with him. Then Jessica wanted to go in the castle and get the prince. Instead, she got her father to get him out of Gargamel's castle before Gargamel cast a spell on him.

But they were too late. The prince turned into a frog with fly's wings, bat's eyes, a rabbit's foot and spider's legs. After the prince turned into a frog, Princess Jessica kissed him and the frog turned into a prince again. Jessica's father had a wedding for them and they lived happily ever after.

Parents, children & reading

By FRED JOLIS

Suggestions on how to help your children become better readers from "Becoming a Nation of Readers," the Report of the National Commission on Reading.

Most children will learn HOW to read. Whether they will become GOOD READERS depends in large part upon your help and encouragement. As a parent, you can:

- 1) Help your children acquire a wide range of knowledge. A variety of experiences will provide your children with the background knowledge they will need as they learn to read school textbooks. Your children's ability to understand even simple stories can depend upon their having both common and not-so-common knowledge.
- 2) Talk with your children about their experiences. When you talk with your children about their experiences, you help them learn new words and understand what these words mean. Talking with children also helps them learn from their experiences and use this knowledge to understand what they are reading. As a result, they will better understand what they are reading.
- 3) Encourage your children to think about events. Ask your children to describe events; this makes them reflect upon experiences and helps them learn to give good descriptions and tell complete stories. These activities help your children learn about how stories are written and better understand what they are reading.

4) Read aloud to your children. Reading aloud is probably the single most important activity you can do to encourage your children's success as readers. It is an especially important activity during the preschool years. When you read lots of picture books with them, you are helping them build the store of knowledge they will use when they begin to read in school. The benefits of reading aloud are greatest when you encourage your children to participate in this activity by identifying letters and words and talking about the story and meaning of the words.

5) Provide your preschool children with writing materials. Writing is an important way for children to learn about letters and words. Children are often very eager to learn how to write and you can encourage them by having paper and pencil or crayons in your home and helping them when they start drawing letters.

6) Encourage your children to watch TV programs that have educational value. Watching television programs that teach about reading and language have a positive effect on your children's learning. You can make sure they watch these programs regularly. You can also help them learn from these programs by asking questions about the shows and relating what they are seeing to other situations and experiences.

7) Monitor how much TV your children watch. Watching quality television programs up to about 10 hours per week can have a slightly positive effect on your children's achievement in school, including their reading achievement. As the number of hours of viewing per week increases however, TV watching becomes a negative influence on your children's school work. Most children who watch TV 2 or more hours per week do not do well in school.

8) Monitor your children's school performance. When you visit your children's teachers, observe their classrooms, find out about the reading programs in their schools and participate in home-school programs, you can get a good idea of how your children are doing in school and how you can help them become better students. Research shows that children tend to become more successful readers when their parents have an accurate view of their school work.

9) Encourage your children to read independently. The amount of reading your children outside of school influences how well they read in school. Most American children don't read very much during their free time. One of your top priorities as a parent should be to encourage your children to spend more time reading. You can help them read more by having plenty of books, magazines and newspapers in your home and visiting the library regularly.

10) Continue your personal involvement in your children's growth as readers. Set a good example for your children by reading newspapers, magazines and books. Suggest reading as a leisure time activity and make sure your children have time for reading. You may want, for example, to establish a bedtime after which reading is the only activity permitted other than going to sleep.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the community college of the Air Force.

She is a 1982 graduate of Laker High School.

Colleen Kopack of Caseville was recently awarded a scholarship and a certificate for the successful completion of the Johnson & Wales University Summer Work Experience Program.

The program, the first of its kind, was designed to combat the summer labor shortages in the Rhode Island resort communities of Newport and Narragansett, and in the city of Providence.

Through the program, high school juniors and seniors

earn money for college, gain experience in the hospitality industry and qualify for a scholarship at Johnson & Wales University. There were 137 students representing 27 states and 21 employers in the program. Outdoor Report

Duck hunters have had mixed results during the past week. Big water blinds indicate an absence of flight ducks in any significant numbers. Some Redheads and Bluebills have already visited the area, and even some Canvasbacks dropped into the decoys on occasion. For the most part, Mallards have been the bill of fare for the first part of the season.

Field hunters are reporting the best goose year they can remember. Even though the large gray and black birds have survived the onslaught of 3 openers, they are still frequenting farm fields in great numbers. Mallards are also in great abundance through the farm fields that surround the Bay, and hunters who are willing to go through the toil of setting decoys and concealing themselves adequately are reaping the harvest of the decade.

October 20 came and went with little, if any, fanfare. The traditional opener of the Thumb pheasant season caused little excitement among its ranks of hunters. While most of the Thumb is closed to hunting, even the northern sections that are open saw little action. At this writing only one rooster was reported shot during the opening day.

On Tuesday 90 lucky hunters will head for the woods in quest of a Michigan elk. The hunters were drawn from a pool of unsuccessful permit applicants from last year's spring hunt. One Thumb area resident, Dick Koehler of Elkton, is among the group.

Big and small game hunting accidents in Michigan increased during the 1987-88 hunting season compared with previous years. Last year 100 hunters suffered injuries or death, up from 81 accidents in 86-87, and 85 accidents in 85-86. Michigan is still far below the national average with only 6.43 accidents for every 100,000 licenses sold, compared with a national average of 8.1.

This week's Thumb Area Woods & Waters

By Duane Guenther

Loggers

...His back had healed, his callouses had hardened and his vocabulary enriched. But above all, he had experienced life in one of Michigan's most romantic periods...

On the west side of my house, sitting astride my lot line, are the skeletal remains of a row of Lombardy Poplars. Planted 12 years ago to form a windbreak, they have weakened and died of old age. Four remain, and before the winter snow makes life miserable, I should get around to cutting them down. If only Ed were still here, he would know just how to go about the job.

My Dad, Charles Edward Guenther, was born in 1885 near Warsaw, Poland. In 1890, along with my paternal grandparents, he emigrated to Detroit and a couple of years later established a homestead on 40 acres in Beaver Township, just west of Bay City.

My Dad was a coal miner. I remember how embarrassed I used to be when forced to list my father's occupation on some grade school form. But I was young then and, like most youngsters, throat-throated by self-inflicted peer pressure. I'm not ashamed anymore, for with maturity I found that coal mining was hard, but honest work, and my Dad was very, very good at it.

He worked in the coal mines for most of his life, starting as a ditcher when he was 14 years old, and ending as a superintendent when he retired in 1946.

However, when he was 19 a large piece of slate fell on his back and the local doctor thought it would be a good idea if he chose a less strenuous type of work until the injury healed. My Dad agreed and grabbed the next train for the north woods and became a logger.

For the next 2 years my Dad worked for the Ohio Match Company which owned several lumbering camps scattered between Wolverine and Aton in Michigan's Cheboygan County. The year was 1904 and the great lumber boom, which had lasted nearly a half century, was nearing its end.

When he first told me stories of the north woods, I thought he was just spinning one of his famous tales. Whenever I would show skepticism he would dig deep into the wooden trunk stored in the attic and produce a faded, yellowish-brown picture featuring a group of stern-faced men standing in front of a log building with logging paraphernalia scattered about. There, in the second row with his face partially rubbed off by the searching fingers of relatives, stood my Dad.

The work year lasted from October until March and during those 6 winter months most loggers stayed wet from both snow and sweat. My Dad started out as a swamper. This was one of the lowest jobs in the rigid class-system society that made up the logging camp. The swamper cleared the underbrush for the skidders. Dad proved to be a good worker and within a month was elevated to the position of a cutter, making stumps from daylight to dark, 6 days a week. For his labor, he earned a dollar a day and keep.

Keep included a well-stocked mess hall and a small, tightly-packed bunk house. Meals were simple and fast. You could have all you wanted, but you had to fight for it as the hordes of men with voracious appetites made short work of the mountains of food placed on the tables.

Salt pork and corned and pickled beef were the main fare when available, but usually the meat dish at a meal was a concoction of various types of wild game all mixed together. According to my Dad, it was best not to question what you were eating. For breakfast you had morning glories, the slang word for flapjacks. And at every meal there was plenty of bread for fillers and pies for sweeteners.

The bunk house was an experience in itself. Sometimes a tent, sometimes a log house, they all were filled with drying socks, body lice and snoring men. Dad started out by sleeping in a muzzle-loader. This was a 3-tier bunk that you entered from the end and was located the farthest from the pot belly stove gracing one end of the sleeping quarters. You moved out only if someone nearer the stove quit, got fired, was injured, or died. Within the first year, Dad was nestled next to the stove and kept that position for the remainder of the time he spent in the camp.

Dad's job as a cutter was very hard work, and sometimes dangerous. The operation began when the scaler measured and marked the trees to be cut. The topper then climbed the tree and lopped off the top portion that held most of the branches. The cutters then converged and using a brier, lumberman's slang for a 2-man cross-cut saw, dropped the tree in a designated spot.

The cutters' skill was determined by how fast they cut the tree down and how accurately they dropped it.

Two years later Dad was back at the mine. He had given up his staged pants and hobnail boots for rubber knee boots and a carbide lamp. His back had healed, his callouses had hardened and his vocabulary enriched. But above all he had experienced life in one of Michigan's most romantic periods.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE DICK ALLEN... A RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

Since taking office in 1983, Dick Allen has worked tirelessly to improve the economic life of Huron and Tuscola Counties. His efforts have brought back into the Thumb thousands of dollars in your tax dollars...

Each year, Dick travels in excess of 35,000 miles attending meetings and events both with individuals one-on-one and with organizations in his district and Dick comm

INFLUENTIAL LEADERSHIP

Dick's unique position on the important House Appropriations Committee and his credibility and influence with colleagues in both political parties have been an added asset to his district.

HELP FOR AGRICULTURE

In 1986 and 1987, respectively, Dick was one of the chief architects of the $200 million 'No-Interest' and later the $200 million 'Low-Interest' farm loan programs: He wrote key amendments to the PCB silt removal bill which helped many farmers in his district in 1986; he sponsored the $15 farm license plate bill, and he's still looking out for the interests of the agri-business community as a member of the agriculture subcommittee on appropriations.

FOR THE RECORD...

Working side by side with local officials, Dick was successful in obtaining the following: $1.6 million for construction of mass transit bus facilities for Huron County • $153,300 to Caseville Township for mooring expansion and $400,000 for harbor expansion • $10,500 in development funding for Fairhaven Township • $15,500 for senior center renovations and unmet needs • a $15,000 child abuse grant for Huron County • $75,000 in Housing Assistance grants • $8,000 for development of the Sebewaing park • $286,500 in Clean Michigan Fund monies for construction of transfer stations • $5.2 million in supplemental funding for

ENHANCED ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT & BUSINESS GROWTH

His Bed & Breakfast legislation this year removed excessive red tape, leading to the establishment of numerous Bed & Breakfast businesses in the Thumb:

In February of 1987, Dick originated the Lake Huron 'Circle Tour' concept, and he has been responsible for additional dollars used to help promote the regional tourist industry involving the Thumb area. He has worked with local fishing groups to vastly increase fish plants in Saginaw Bay and Lake Huron and has helped gain numerous grants for harbor expansions and boat launch access sites, efforts which also resulted in expanded tourism in the Thumb. And when the DNR designated all the super salmon for Lake Michigan, Dick formed a coalition with his Lake Huron colleagues and succeeded in gaining half the catch for Lake Huron!

shoreline erosion, much of which was spent in Huron and Tuscola Counties • $97,189 for the Caro Thumbbody Express transit system and $61,105 for the Huron Transit Corp. • $12,453 in transportation funds for the Village of Caro, and much, much more. Dick also obtained matching funds used to purchase a new search and rescue helicopter for the Huron County Sheriff's Dept., he personally obtained matching funds to complete the Bird Creek dredging project in the Port Austin area and he led the fight which forced the Michigan Correction Dept. to back off from using the Port Austin Air Base site as a new prison system.

DICK ALLEN'S OTHER ACCOMPLISHMENTS INCLUDE:

TWICE LOWERING TAXES

Dick and his Republican colleagues led the successful effort to twice lower Michigan's 5.1% income tax rate first to 4.6% and again to its present 4.4% level. He was the chief sponsor of the minimum prison fencing bill • Sponsored or co-sponsored legislation to limit excessive welfare spending and establish residency requirements for those seeking benefits from out-of-state • Revised worker's compensation laws • Crime victim's rights • Income tax exemptions for those 80 and over • Supported pending prescription drugs bill for senior citizens • Grandparents' visitation rights • Alzheimer's disease grant fundings • Mandatory imprisonment legislation, and he opposed the Wayne County 'Bail Out' proposal.

HELPING TO BUILD BETTER ROADS

Dick was also instrumental in speeding up extensive highway improvements along M-25, M-53 and M-19 and his efforts have resulted in the state transportation department's initiating work on the M-24 extension route from Caro into Huron County.

EARNING A 100% PRO-EDUCATION RECORD

Not only did Dick vote in favor of SJR "K" (H-15), the House passed education finance reform bill which is now in a Senate conference committee, but he has supported numerous "prudent" educational proposals over the years.

HERE'S WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT DICK ALLEN:

"Dear Dick: I've received your letter from Blue Cross and I thank you very much for helping me. I never thought anyone in government would help anyone on a one-to-one basis. My vote is with you." — Jerad Brade, Bad Axe

A FORMER NEWSPAPER EDITOR FOR 18 YEARS, DICK WAS DIRECTLY INVOLVED IN ALL ASPECTS OF THUMB LIVING ... Parenthood, Military Service and Property Tax-Paying for 21 years.

DICK ALLEN'S EXPERIENCE, INTEGRITY AND ACCESSIBILITY ARE NEEDED TO CONTINUE THE WORK STILL TO BE DONE!

The workshop is sponsored by the Huron Intermediate School District. Mrs. Diana Tanton will lead the parents and children in a fitness routine through simple stretching and aerobic exercises. "Sparklers" should be dressed appropriately, suggests Tanton. Mrs. Mary Kain will coordinate art activities using various foods. Mrs. Cindy Engelhard will lead science-related activities. Students will also participate in language arts activities assisted by Mrs. Susan Hass.

While the children are busy with these projects, parents will attend a workshop on nutrition with suggestions for snacks and meals for young children, led by Mrs. Donna Sageman, a former Ugly Home Economics teacher.

To register for the workshop or to be put on the mailing list for future SPARK workshops, parents may contact Linda Zibbell, Gifted Talented Department, HISD, phone 269-6406.

32tfn-coMA Friend Is A Gift of God
Among the great and glorious gifts our heavenly Father sends is the GIFT OF UNDERSTANDING that we find in our loving friends, for in this world of trouble that is filled with anxious care, everybody needs a friend in whom they're free to share the little secret heartaches that lay heavy on their mind, not just a mere acquaintance, but someone who's "JUST OUR KIND". For, somehow, in the generous heart of loving faithful friends, the Good God in His charity and wisdom always sends a sense of understanding and the power of perception and mixes these fine qualities with kindness and affection. So when we need some sympathy or a friendly hand to touch, or an ear that listens tenderly, and speaks words that mean so much, we seek out true and trusted friend in the knowledge that we'll find a heart that's sympathetic and an understanding mind... And often just without a word there seems to be a union of thoughts and kindred feelings for GOD gives TRUE FRIENDS communion.
