Storage is their business

CASEVILLE MINI-STORAGE owners Sam and Barbara Patrick are excited about their new business

By AMY HEIDEN
 More and more businesses are springing up in and around Caseville, and one of the newest is the new Caseville Mini-Storage.

Owners Sam and Barbara Patrick of Marlette opened the new facility this month, and already many of the storage units are in use.

The storage facility, located on North Caseville Road, features 35 storage units, some 10 ft. x 20 ft., and others 5 ft. x 10 ft. The building is fully weathertight, Sam Patrick says, and vented to allow moisture to escape from the building.

HOW IT WORKS: A customer renting a unit provides his own padlock and is the only person with access to his property. Although there's no office at the storage site, a customer calling the Patricks can have almost immediate access to a unit. The Patricks also own a cottage on Sand Point and are in the area much of the summer and the fall.

EXPERIENCED: The Patricks, who own and operate Marlette Roofing, also own a mini-storage facility in Marlette.

"We've had no security problems there at all," Barbara Patrick says. "We're not dealing with city people here, so there's just been no problem. Since we opened the Marlette storage, we've expanded it four times. That's how much demand there is for this type of service."

The Patricks opened the mini-storage here because they believed the demand for temporary storage is in the area. Many summer residents, Barbara Patrick said, don't like to leave furniture or other expensive items in their cottages over the winter, and mini-storage would be the perfect solution to the problem.

SAW A NEED: "Location is everything in this particular business, and Caseville seemed like a good location," Mrs. Patrick said.

If the demand is strong enough, the Patricks have enough property to add even more storage units in the future. "I think this is a nice addition to the Caseville area, and we're proud to be here," Sam Patrick says.

YFC Auction Saturday

Saturday's Auction will feature a bake sale, fresh doughnuts, whole-hog barbecued pork... and a HUGE auction of all types of new and used goods!

with a hard shell case will be sold. "The name Alvarez has always meant something to the guitarist, and this particular model is just a little bit special," Gascho says.

YUMMIES FIRST: The bake sale is always a popular attraction, he says, and will start at 9 a.m. featuring baked goods from kitchens across the Thumb.

Esther Steckley will be there cooking up her fresh doughnuts, and whole hog barbecued pork sandwiches, coffee and soft drinks will be available all day.

THEN THE AUCTION: Although the auction is sure to bring a large crowd to the Pigeon Recreation Park, Gascho admits he isn't expecting the affair to raise as much money as last year, when over $23,000 was netted.

"Last year, we had 400 registered buyers. There were several events going on in the county that day, and we thought we wouldn't do too well."

"But there was a combination of things that caused it to turn out nicely. One was there was just enough rain to keep people under the tents and bidding."

DONATIONS: Great Lakes Auctions and Albrecht Auctions have both donated their services to the auction, Gascho says. There will be tents to provide shade or cover in case of rain.

All proceeds from the auction and bake sale will go into BYC's general budget, Gascho says. The organization currently has five full-time staff members, and a part-time secretary.

BYC sponsors a variety of activities for area teens, including breakfast clubs in the schools, trips, and the weekly M.A.D. house, which offers an evening of activities for area teens. "We're kind of underground," Gascho says.

"Our work is done with kids and adults don't go to our activities, so they don't see it. As a result, some people don't know too much about us."

NEW JUNIOR HIGH WORK: BYC will be starting a new ministry to junior high students this year, with Redford Maust coordinating those activities.

"The junior high years are very emotional and formative years. We feel it's important to reach them at that age," Gascho says.

"I'm really excited about the junior high program. It adds a new dimension to our work, and it also adds another burden to our budget."

He estimates the junior high ministry will add $30,000 in wages, benefits, and costs of support materials to the budget.

FUNDING: The organization's budget is supported in two ways -- by a number of churches who include donations to BYC in their budgets, and by many individuals who regularly donate to BYC.

"As much as we appreciate all the support, it isn't enough to support our budget. That's why we have the auction, to raise money to supplement our budget," Gascho says.

Thumb Weekly News Round-Up

1,000 FEWER FARMS IN STATE

There are 1,000 fewer farms in Michigan in 1989 than one year earlier, according to figures from Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service. That means the present number is Four honored for 35 Active years

Four workers at Active Industries, Elkton, have been honored for 35 years of service to the industry.

Each man was presented a plaque by Plant Manager Paul Taylor and General Manager Don Stern.

Active Industries began in Elkton in 1945 and employs 850 workers. Major products are stampings for auto parts, serving Chrysler, General Motors and Ford Motors.

55,000, of which just 5,800 had gross sales of $100,000 or more.

In the past 10 years, the number of Michigan farms declined by 11,000, from the 1979 mark of 66,000 farms.

More than 18,000 farms had gross sales between $10,000 and $99,999. The remainder, about 31,200 farms, had sales of $1,000 to $9,999.

Total land in farms at 10.8 million acres, declined 100,000 in one year, the figures show. Compared with 1979, the number of acres was down 600,000.

In the U.S., there are 2.17 million farms, down about one percent from the 2.2 million in 1988. The total land in farms for 1989 is 991 million acres, down fractionally from 1988.

Since the number of farms declined at a faster rate than land in farms, the average size of farms increased from 453 acres in 1988 to 456 acres in 1989.

NEW MUTUAL LEADER NAMED

J. Michael Hofmann has been named President and Chief Executive Officer of Mutual Savings and Loan Association, F.A., according to the board of directors. Hofmann, 46, had been employed by First of America Bank Corp and replaces J. Ronald Gaffe, who since April has served as Mutual Savings' interim president.

Gaffe, also chairman of the Mutual Board of Directors, will assist Hofmann during the upcoming transition period.

Hofmann had served as President of the Lansing and Detroit affiliate FOA banks, and graduated from Michigan State University in 1966.

"We are delighted Mr. Hofmann has accepted the challenge," Gaffe says. "He brings to us over 20 years of banking expertise. At a time the thrift industry, as well as Mutual Savings, is undergoing many changes, his experience, professionalism and willingness to lead give Mutual the additional strength we have needed."

Mutual Savings is the sixth largest savings & loan association in Michigan. It has assets in excess of $900 million and operates 35 offices statewide, including local branches in Pigeon, Sebewaing and Cass City.

ANY food can cause cavities, if you snack often enough. Contrary to popular belief (says a USA Today story), it's not what you snack on -- but how often you snack that's the real culprit in tooth decay, says New York University's Dr. Stephen Moss.

In fact, non-sugary foods such as crackers may be more likely to cause tooth decay. Why? All foods contain starches and sugars that can lead to growth of the bacteria that cause tooth decay "if they hang around in the mouth long enough."

The key to healthy teeth? "Snacking in moderation and daily brushing with a fluoride toothpaste," says Dr. Moss...

Favorite ice cream flavors? As a percent of total sales, vanilla (of course) is first at 35.1%, followed by chocolate at 12.4%, Neapolitan at 7.4%, chocolate chip at 5.9%, strawberry at 5.6% and all others at 33.6%...

Finally, as school time nears, we recall this (summer rerun) tidbit from last year: Carrolton Public Schools send out for 95 pizzas every Friday. The cafeteria feeds 650 Carrolton (outside Saginaw) students fresh pizza by ordering cheese and pepperoni pies every Friday -- and it costs the same as the frozen pizzas the schools have been reheating for lunch. And, the kids like 'em just fine, officials say...

Laker Board changes science-ag credit system

The Elkton - Pigeon - Bay Port "Laker" Class of 1993 will be required to have two science credits to graduate and -- following Monday night's Board of Education meeting -- students who take two years of ag classes will earn one science credit.

Currently, the Laker District offers four years of ag classes. Laker Supt. Robert Drury enough science is presented in the ag classes to grant the credit.

"Students also are required to have more and more credits to graduate, so many students are losing the chance to take ag," Drury says. "This way, the students may take ag classes instead of an elective."

ASBESTOS: Board members also learned all asbestos has been removed from the boiler rooms at Elkton and Pigeon Elementaries and the high school building, along with pipe wrapping used near the boilers.

All air quality tests have been passed, Drury adds. The removal program was performed for $61,000. The Board has budgeted $85,000 for all such removal, except for the high school auditorium, leaving $24,000 for re-insulation of the boilers and pipes.

GIRLS: Sarah Ruth and Stacy Terchenfield.

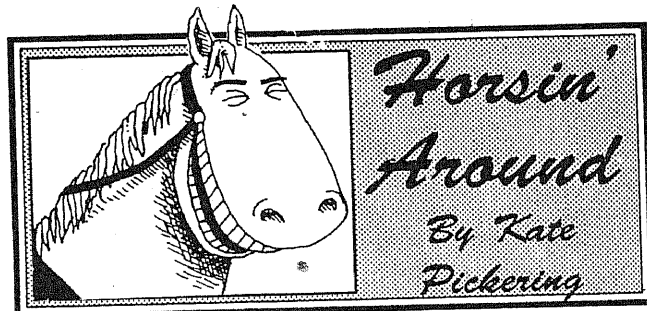

BOYS: Dustin Gordon (age six), Adam Webber (age seven), Brian Collison (age eight), Anthony Spencer (age nine), Jeremy Ruth (age 10) and Joel Gorseguier (age 11).

Old originals vs. new technology!

Ah, technology. It gives us so much — but it also requires our patience, effort and attention. Take the case of bags at the grocery store. More and more stores are using plastic bags, which often come with little carrying handles attached. In fact, most people prefer them to the old traditional "brown bag" paper sacks. But environmentally, plastic bags can be bad news. They're usually made of materials which do no disintegrate EVER, in a year or a century. These bags will likely be around for 100 years longer than their contents, unless they're burned. So, our modern experts are trying to perfect biodegradable plastic bags, which will fall apart when exposed to moisture and oxygen — or photo-degradable bags, which need light to decompose. But, THEN problems continue if such bags are buried in landfills, where no light, water or air can get at the bags to help them fall apart. What's a concerned environmentalist to do? Well, several companies — including Petoskey Plastics here in Michigan — are trying to make biodegradable plastic for beer or pop can holder rings, using corn starch and vegetable oil. Such rings would fall apart in as few as 90 days, ending terrible problems of wild geese or ducks choking on such items or getting hopelessly caught in them. But, back at the grocery check-out line, such 90-day bags would be greeted with great support. Grocers would be happy to offer them to customers, as an improvement over today's varieties. But, when it all is totaled up, the good old paper sack is still the most energy efficient. It can be burned easily, biodegrades by itself — and it's recyclable, too. Sometimes, old ideas just might still be the best...

OUR NEW TRAILER

In 15 years of horseownership, my sister and I never bothered with a trailer. We started out mighty slowly as it was, learning about horses, riding and equipment as we went along. Over the years there have been many occasions when we tagged along with friends who have 4 horse or stock trailers, or if my neighbor's husband had to work the day of a trail ride, she would graciously invite my horse to occupy his half of their 2-horse trailer. But lately I'd been looking at some rag-tag, beat up, over used trailers as something to start out with. I stopped and inspected many along the roadside, followed tips and checked out leads from fellow horsemen, and answered numerous newspaper ads. I learned a great deal about height, width, brand names, axles, flooring, hitches, light hook-ups, options and prices. I sort of knew what we had to have, in terms of size (large - our horses are a bit bigger than average,) in terms of condition (no rotten floors please!) and in terms of price - (way cheap!) I knew the maximum I could spend, but I figured if I could talk sis into matching that, together we could look for something a little newer, and a lot more reliable.

I didn't really spark her interest though, until I told her about a very large, "slightly" used, humble, yet attractive and affordable trailer I had spotted parked on a trailer dealer's lot. I had looked at it and checked it out from stem to stern, but I thought Mary should see it as well. So I asked her to drive out with me to have a look, and she complied.

To my dismay it wasn't on the premises when we arrived! I rushed in the store and inquired about it. I received a most icy reply...

"WHAT blue trailer?" a middle aged man asked. "A navy blue, 2-horse Monarch that's been for sale here for some time."

"It's at my house..." he replied and turned away to other customers. I looked out the front window and noticed my sister inspecting the other trailers on the lot.

I persevered. Tapping the gentleman on the shoulder I asked,

"Has it been sold?" He replied, "No - I used it to take my horses to a show this morning and it's being cleaned."

Again he turned away.

With dismay I walked out and joined my sister. "I like this red trailer. It's big and sturdy," she said smiling. "Yes - I like it too. The fellow inside is being 'evasive' about the blue trailer." I whined.

"Well, this red one would be nice, don't you think?" "Well, yes - but the blue is ever so much more 'stylish, more 'horsified.'" This red one is a cattle trailer... but... yes... it's... nice..."

I knew that I should just be humble, and dare not wish for the fully-padded, 7 foot high, 6 foot wide, spring loaded ramp, metallic blue trailer with the treated wood floors, full rubber mats, steel butt bars, smoked plexiglass windows with screens, spare tire with mount and more. Yet - I was angry with the store keeper for his surly, condescending attitude. I wondered, did he only accept trailer inquiries from MEN???

Undaunted, I went back into the store with Mary behind me. I turned to her and whispered,

"I would just like you to see the blue before you decide on the red!"

I approached the stone-faced gentleman. Smiling, I began, "Could we somehow SEE your blue trailer, provided it is indeed, still for sale?"

"Welllll..." he drawled. He looked us up and down, "I

RECOLLECTIONS
 Of By-Gone Days
 BY GEORGE KEIM

DEAR EDITOR:

I guess some people think that I stay at home and just think about where I've been and what I've done, or wished I had done.

Well, I live alone and if I didn't go away from home once in awhile and see other people and talk to them, I'd get "funny."

Last Friday on Aug. 4 I drove up to Fairview to attend the Mennonite Relief Sale on Aug. 5. There's a very good road up to there and people were going up north for the weekend. I drove 60 to 70 mph and only went around one house trailer, who was only going 50mph.

I got to the sales grounds in good shape and there were a lot of people there. A long line of people waited for bean soup. I only ate a hot dog because I wasn't very hungry and besides, I wanted to see the things that were offered.

They had a very nice program with some very good singing. I drove to my niece's place overnight and was back again by 7:30 a.m. for a pancake and sausage breakfast. I ate all I could hold!

It was a very nice day and there were a lot of people there. You could get all the food and drink you wanted! The auction sale started at 9 a.m. and people were sitting all around.

I had my own lawn chair which I put in the shade. They sold a lot of good stuff. I got hooked for some old wrenches I didn't need. But every cent above expenses went for a good cause.

I sat there in one spot for two hours and decided to get up and walk around. I saw a lot of people from Pigeon and Huron County.

When dinner was ready I went through the line and got a half chicken barbecue and real good lunch and drink. I saw a lot more people there.

There were a lot of Amish men standing under a tree and I got in with them and had a nice talk. They talk Pennsylvania Dutch and because my parents spoke that language, I was right at home. It took awhile 'til I got it in gear but I could speak it pretty well.

When I got back to my chair there was a lady sitting on it and I didn't want to sit on her lap. She was too big to hold so I sat down on the bleachers.

They were selling quilts and comforters and they were bringing in from $250 and one went up to $2400, all tax deductible. All told, the sale brought in a nice sum of money and everybody was well pleased and quite happy.

I met a lady whom I meet there every year. She and her husband and I and my wife met there 15 years ago and we always got together for pie and ice cream. She told me she got some Boy Scouts to paint a house for some old people. The sale was for relief to feed the hungry.

In Prov. 27:7 it says, "To the hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet."

Well, very few of us have ever been that hungry. The first time I was in Florida I didn't have much money and I got pretty hungry. The man I lived with made soup out of chicken legs and I enjoyed it very much, even though I had to spit out the chicken claws.

But when I got my first paycheck, I went to a restaurant and got a real good meal and never got so hungry again!

Other campground opponents speak up

DEAR EDITOR:

Sometimes the rights of individuals are compromised for the good of the whole community and as citizens, we question these decisions, but through compromise and due process, the correct decision should prevail.

What is happening now is of a different matter. The zoning board is being asked to amend its reevaluation, not for the good of the whole community, but to line the pockets of a few individuals. Zoning laws did not come about to cause hardship and control. They were brought about to protect the businesses and homes in a community. The same as other laws such as excessive noise, vandalism, burglary and many others too numerous to mention here.

Our homes are one of the last places people can express their love and creativity. Many people in our community have spent countless hours building and improving their homes. A law that protects these homes should not be made weak.

When we look to the future of Caseville, we have to believe that good begets good and bad begets bad. We must work to keep law and order and preserve the quality of our lives.

Change will always happen. It is up to the people to make sure it is positive change.

EDITOR'S NOTE: A Caseville Township Zoning meeting has been set for Wednesday, Aug. 16 at 7 p.m. at the Township Hall. Interested persons are invited to attend.

He questions law-makers

TO THE EDITOR:

I read in the papers where Lansing is again trying to bring up some kind of a school financing plan.

The way it looks to me, Lansing has grown a monster and they no longer are looking for straw to feed the beast, they are looking for full bales of the choicest hay until it demands even more feed (which it will need in a few more years).

Before I vote yes or no on any ballot, I would like to see a copy of the law as it is written in Lansing, instead of the way they do it. This is how they do it now: "Do you favor a 2% increase in sales tax for school tax? Vote yes or no." My question is, how are we going to be assured of any of the money staying in our own district?

As for someone destroying our American flag in public, I say "No way." I am sure if our fathers who wrote the Constitution had known what kind of people we have today, rest assured a law against destroying the flag would have been clearly written.

We do not have to change the Constitution, just pass a law. I bet there are a thousand laws on the books that do not fit the Constitution.

DEFINITE PREFERENCES

People who have definite preferences about the type of funeral they desire are inclined to pre-plan their funerals. They are not being morbid; they simply want to be sure these options are known and hope that the suggestions can be used in the funeral preparations.

These people agree that final decisions should be made by their families, but they want to be sure that their families are informed.

The definite preferences listed - which are usually limited in number - may include the place of the funeral, a specific musical selection or Scripture reading, the officiating clergyman or funeral director, the place of burial, or the manner of final disposition, as examples.

For some people, the concerns are quite serious. For example, a religious person may fear the possibility of a non-religious funeral. For them, it is particularly important to have their wishes recorded and known by those who would be responsible for the arrangements.

It's BACK-TO-SCHOOL time here in the Western Thumb!

Laker Schools outline 1989 -90 academic year

By AMY HEIDEN
Somebody must have pushed the fast-forward button on summer, because there are only two weeks left before the first day of school. Back-to-school sales are being conducted at all sorts of local merchants, paper and pens and notebooks are being stockpiled, and new clothes are showing up in kids' closets.

LAKERS: The Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port school district is ready for the influx of students, and the school year has already been mapped out.

Tuesday, Aug. 29, will be the first full day of school for Laker students, but students in grades 7-12 will be at the school Aug. 21 for orientation day.

They'll get their locker assignments, have their school pictures taken, and get their class schedules for the year.

On Aug. 24, sixth-graders and their parents will be at the junior high to receive their orientation, pick up their schedules and locker assignments.

This marks the beginning of the "big leagues" for these students, because for the first time, they'll be exposed to a high-school environment, with class changes and students from villages other than their own.

SPORTS: The new sports year will be kicked off on Friday, Sept. 1, as the Lakers host the Unionville-Sebewaing Patriots in the first football game of the season.

The Laker girls' basketball team will host the Bad Axe Hatchets in the first home game on Sept. 7. And the big event of the fall, Homecoming, will be on Friday, Oct. 6, at the high school.

NEW THINGS: There have been several changes in the program at both the junior high and high schools, according to Secondary School Principal Craig Douglas.

The junior high students will, for the first time, have a 12-minute daily homeroom period. "We'll attempt to do student announcements and bulletins during that period," Douglas said.

"It will also be an opportunity for group work on special projects. We're going to be real creative with it. It's a nice opportunity to get to know the students in a non-instructional way."

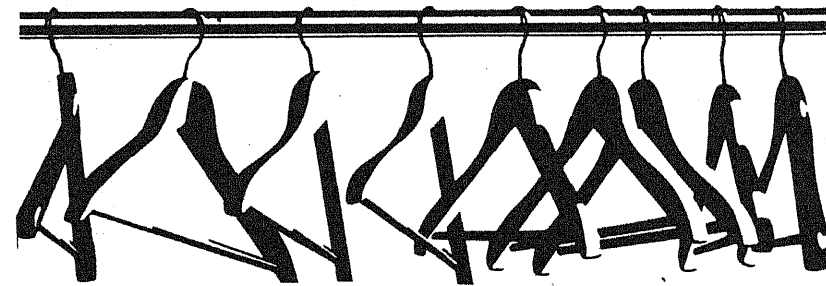

Other changes at the junior high level include a Algebra I class, and a health education exploratory class for seventh and eighth graders. A computer literacy class has also been added, Douglas said, because this year's eighth grade class, the class of 1994, will be the first to be required to have some computer literacy in order to graduate.

Junior high football has also been added, Douglas said, although a coach has not been named yet.

The new team will play at least four games, but the schedule has not been set because not every school in the league has junior high football.

WHETHER YOU TRAVEL OR STAY HOME, GOD IS THERE

Like Many of us, you may have a vacation looming on the horizon, and of course your budget will dictate where you will spend it. You may visit another part of the world, or just lounge around the house. In any case your vacation can be a very enjoyable and rewarding escape from the realities of everyday living. Moreover, wherever you are the Lord will be there to watch over you. Thank Him for his protection at any House of Worship, and even if your travels take you beyond the orbit of civilization, there is always the Bible. Put it on your list of things to pack in your suitcase. In fact, that's a good idea no matter where you're going. To borrow the advice of a well-known TV commercial, "Don't leave home without it."

I shall have the prayers of the church to preserve all that travel, by land or water.
Jonathan Swift

This week's Woods & Waters By Duane Guenther

Poachers

We had just sat down to supper when the jangle of the phone caused me to start. "Who in the world could that be?" I questioned my new bride. It was the first week of our marriage; the first day in a newly-rented home located in a strange Up-North town; and the first phone call. "Hi," the voice was friendly on the other end of the line. "I'm your neighbor," he continued, looking up at the sun, "this heat isn't doing me any good." I followed him in the garage and wasn't quite prepared for the scene inside. There in the center of the floor, with a rope tied around its neck and then slung over a reinforced rafter in the ceiling, was a fat, sleek whittail doe. My first thought was that perhaps he had hit it with a car, but an oozing bloody hole near the base of its neck quickly told me otherwise. Although very uncomfortable about the situation, I pitched in and lifted the dead doe enough to take the strain off the rope and allow him to hoist it into a skinning position. "Aren't you afraid of getting caught, bringing home something like this in the middle of the day?" I asked. I remember his answer as if it were yesterday. With absolutely no feeling of remorse he simply stated, "Lunch hour is always the best time to knock one down. Game wardens go home for lunch, too." "To my new neighbor, violating game laws, or poaching as it is more commonly called, was a way of life. And during the several years that I lived up North, I found that most people felt the same way he did. Poaching probably got its beginning in Europe where wealthy noblemen controlled all the land, and hence all the game birds and animals. Poorer folks, especially those who were hungry, would trespass upon the land and pilfer game from the owners. Those who were adept at their trade soon built reputations and became local heroes. However, when immigrants began to fill America, and eventually Michigan, the poorer hunter found that he had all the land and game he could ask for and this period of "open hunting" continued all the way to the 1900's when some of the first game laws were finally written. Today, amid encroaching civilization, most species of game fish, birds and animals struggle for survival, and hunters and fishermen are strangled with volumes of regulations. Within this fragile framework the poacher still exists. Remarkably, like his European counterpart, he is considered a hero. What makes a person shoot a deer in June, or take home 20 Walleye rather than the legal 5? Recreational psychologists tell us some actually do it for the food, but the vast majority poach game to fulfill the desire to succeed. Just recently, I was aghast when a local told me he was going to have to get noise suppressors for hunting pheasants next year. At first I thought he had a hearing problem like myself and suggested that he get ear plugs. "I don't think that will be enough," he remarked, "that old 12-gauge really rattles my head when I touch it off inside my pickup cab".....

Club news

PIGEON LIONS CLUB
The Pigeon Lions Club met at the Pigeon VFW Hall on Wednesday, Aug. 9. Lion President John Walsh called the meeting to order and 51 Lions responded to roll call. President Walsh passed out organizational sheets for the year and thanked Al Abbott for pulling the Lions float in the parade. George Gardy, second vice president, reported a $7,835 net income on the Lions Safari and thanked the Lions for getting behind the project to make it a success. President Walsh announced the Tiger outing will be Aug. 18 at Tiger Stadium and the annual Owendale Corn Roast will be Monday, Aug. 21 at 5:30 p.m. Two committees are starting to work: Membership and Scholarship. October is Membership Month and Membership Guest Night will be Sept. 27. The Pigeon Lions will meet again Aug. 23 at 6:30 p.m. for their annual family Steak Fry, co-chaired by Dick Pauly and Chuck Dumas. The cooks will be Pat Walsh, Jack Sturm and Rob Steele.

Outdoor Report

The cooler weather during the past weeks is a sure indicator that fall is just around the corner and the late summer fishing has picked up considerably. Walleyes are showing up in several locations around the Bay. The best bet is still in the vicinity of the Charity Islands, but reports have filtered in from the Lone Tree island area are very promising. Salmon action, as well as Lake Trout, is improving at Port Austin. Grindstone and Harbor Beach. Local fishermen are bracing for a good run of Kings, which hopefully will take the sting out of the below-average trout fishing year that has taken place in most of the Great Lakes. Duck hunters should take notice that the Saginaw Valley Waterfowlers Clinic will be held in St. Charles on Sunday, August 20. The popular event has been held at Potter's Lake for the last 12 years, and local duck hunters are excited that this great event is finally coming closer to home. The clinic is free and visitors will get a chance to view, up close, the best decoy competition in the state. There will also be a swap and sell, duck and goose calling contest, water fowl identification clinics, and numerous other events. If you're a dedicated waterfowler, or have just a casual interest in waterfowl art, you shouldn't miss this great show.

NAME THAT FARM... WIN A PRIZE...

Tell us whose farm this is . . . and we'll send a year's subscription to the Progress-Advance to you, or to the person of your choice.

AND . . . just to make the contest a little more competitive . . . be advised that this shows the farm AS IT WAS around the Middle 1950's! So, you can name the owner of that period, or today, or even if you just locate the farm . . . it will count toward your prize.

Remembering When....

This series of aerial photos is about 30 years old, but the pictures have never been seen by anyone except staff of the newspaper.

You'll be amazed at how these farms have changed in 3 decades. Some old homes have been taken down and new ones built. Many farms have new owners, perhaps their children, or even grandchildren are living there now. Almost all of them have far fewer buildings today than they had in the 50's. In some cases you'll notice that fields are larger today than earlier. Roads are better today. Some trees have been cut down; all of them have grown. On some farms, herds of cows are seen in the barnyards or in an adjoining pastures or orchards.

These oldtime pictures will prove a genuine history book of changes in farming during the past decades.

The Progress-Advance is no more acquainted with the names of the farms than the readers, as they were "shot" by Bill Hurdelbrink and his pilot flying from town to town, and farm to farm. So put on your thinking cap, then call, 453-2331 or deliver or mail your answer to our office. Winning entry will be drawn at the close of business Friday from all correct entries received. Decision of judges is final.

THINK ABOUT IT

"Take Time"
Take time to WORK, It is price of success.
Take time to THINK, It is the source of power.
Take time to PLAY, It is the secret of perpetual youth.
Take time to READ, It is the fountain of wisdom.
Take time to WORSHIP, It is the highway to reverence.
Take time to be FRIENDLY, It is the road to happiness.
Take time to LAUGH, It is the music of the soul.
Take time to DREAM, It is hitching your wagon to a star.
TAKE TIME TO LIVE.

Time to stop the cycle of abuse

DEAR MR. ROSS:

There's a place called "Woman House" in St. Cloud, Minn. It is a safe place where children and their moms can go to get out of a bad situation. These women and their children have been physically and emotionally abused by boyfriends or husbands. Thank God there is a safe place for them to go. I thank God — because I, too, had to use this place. The house does receive some grants. But inflation being what it is, money only goes so far. The immediate needs are for two items: a TV for the kids to view special videos and a ceiling fan to help circulate air. Both items can be purchased at a pawn shop for $210.94 (including tax). The men who run Security Coin and Pawn are good guys, but they run a business and not a give-away service.

This house has helped so many abused persons who have been all but beaten to death. I know a TV and ceiling fan won't transform anyone or be a miracle to free these people, but it would be a miracle to help make the transition easier during this time of terrifying upheaval. Could you help these victims of domestic violence? — Ms. W.P., Sauk Rapids, Minn.

DEAR MS. P.:

The mere thought of domestic violence fills me with vengeance for the offenders. It boggles my mind that anyone could physically beat his spouse and children.

However, I must remember that in many cases the offenders were once victims of the same abuse.

We must stop the cycle. We must teach our children not to abuse their children, and we must do it through example. My check will cover your request. I ask that the additional money I've included be spent to promote education for prevention of physical abuse.

—SSSSSSSSSS—

MR. ROSS:

These past few years, I've learned a lot about people and you can bet I've got your number. You and your column are phony. Sure, you probably get stacks of mail and do give some money out. Yet the letters you publish are from people with insignificant needs.

You're no dummy! You are getting publicity and what you donate isn't putting the slightest dent in your bankbook. Redeem yourself. Send me $5,000 right now and restore my faith in humanity.

This will probably be the first good thing you've ever done for a truly needy person. Knowing you, I won't hold my breath. — Mr. R.S., Detroit, Mich.

DEAR MR. S.:

I sincerely doubt you or anyone else who writes a similar type of letter expects to receive any assistance from me. So why am I printing it? Occasionally, I simply like to allow people with differing views to air them in the column.

—SSSSSSSSSS—

DEAR MR. ROSS: I've been thinking maybe you'd help me get a new breast prosthesis. I lost mine in the garden and the dog found it before anyone else did.

Medicare bought my first one, but no more. I suppose I could get along without it, as I am 74. Truth is, I'd really like to live to see 80 and would feel a lot better about myself if I appeared intact. — Mrs. L.T., Medaryville, Ind.

DEAR MRS. T.:

You know what makes your request so unique? Not that you lost your presthetic breast in the garden — anything can get lost. And certainly not that the dog chewed it — dogs are also notorious for chewing hearing aids and dentures.

What makes your request so unique is that you live in Medaryville, Ind., which is one place I never heard from until now. So, here's to feeling good about your appearance as you live each day in Medaryville. My check is on the way.

I think today's music is terrible. The singers, if that is what they are called, are not good examples for young people. Plus, the music isn't done well. Why do people buy this trash?

Here's a list of plant hosts for sugar beet growers...

The Department of Entomology at MSU has made a partial list of cultivated and weed plant hosts of sugar beet growers in the selection of fields," states Bill Bortel, Tuscola County Extension Director.
All Tuscola County and Michigan sugar beet growers should avoid planting land with these crops or weed problems if the land is to be used for sugar beet production.
This should be mandatory for farms with known sugar beet cyst nematode infestations.

During the past 30 years, the Michigan sugar beet industry has done an excellent job of managing potential sugar beet cyst nematode problems through rigorous use of appropriate crop rotations. These have included the basic 3-year rotation for Rhizoctonia control.
This system has significantly reduced the risk of sugar beet cyst nematode. In fields where sugar beet nematode infestations are known, a minimum of a 5-year rotation has been a recommended agricultural practice.

In some sites, Michigan sugar beet growers with sugar beet cyst nematode infestations have been able to demonstrate an economic benefit from rotations as long as 8 years. In all Michigan sugar beet sites known to be infested with the sugar beet cyst nematode, soil sampling for nematode analysis is recommended prior to planting the next sugar beet crop.

A list of cultivated and weed plant hosts of Heterodera schachtii include: Redroot Pigweed, Common Chickweed, Mangel, Red Table Beet, Sugar Beet, Lambsquarters, Yellow-Rocket, Common Mustard, Shepherds-Purse, Wild Radish, Common Hemp-Nettle, Smartweed, Curled Dock, Purslane, Nightshade and Black Nightshade.

New bean types, more production necessary

The Michigan Bean Commission is more than 20 years old, and this year is the best opportunity to promote beans as never before.

But that takes money, and that's why it's so important for Michigan bean producers to vote in the Aug. 28-Sept. 8 referendum and to approve the increased assessment.

Jim Sahr, Saginaw County farmer and chairman of the Commission, said "The health and nutrition benefits of dry beans are well known here and throughout our industry."

Then he continued, "But we must make consumers aware of the attributes offered by dry beans."

LIMITED PROGRAM IS 'NOT ENOUGH'

Concluding, Sahr stated, "I think that dry bean growers of Michigan need more than a limited program. "We must continue to have a presence in Washington

CORRECTION

The Owendale Community Picnic will be conducted in the community building instead of the village park, due to other commitments. Date and time are Sunday, Aug. 27 at 1 p.m., and all Owendale residents and persons in the surrounding community are invited.

PAST PROGRAMS 'PUT MONEY INTO GROWERS' POCKETS'

"Many of these activities put money into the pockets of Michigan dry bean producers, and at the time, they were necessary," Sahr pointed out.

With an income for the Commission reduced to $125,000, there simply wouldn't be enough money to do much of anything.

NEW BEAN TYPES, NEW VARIETIES NEEDED

"The reason we're asking for the new assessment is to be able to maintain a professional staff, create an aggressive promotion program for Michigan dry beans, help develop new products using dry beans and work with researchers to develop new varieties of different bean types," he explained.

It's important to produce different types of beans, because Sahr feels Great Northerns and Pintos can be grown more successfully with better varieties. "We should even look at pinks and other types of beans," he added, "if there are good markets for them."

and Lansing, especially with the new Farm Bill already being considered. For example, changes are likely in the Crop Insurance program, and if we aren't there, our interests won't be represented.

"Besides, this year we have the opportunity to promote dry beans, as never before."

A Thank You
We want to thank all of those who showed their care & support with cards, flowers, visits, memorials & food following Frank's death. We especially thank Pastor Raymond Orth for his comforting words & assistance, the Shetler-Bussema Funeral Home for all their help and support, and the ladies of Cross Lutheran Church in Pigeon, for serving a delicious lunch. We share with you many happy memories of our husband, father, and grandfather. We appreciate all your thoughts, prayers, and love shown to us in this time of sorrow. God Bless You All.
