Barn theme band shell will be 'raised' this spring!

By SALLY RUMMEL

A ribbon-cutting ceremony for Pigeon's proposed "barn shell" facility is set for May 26 and according to Strategic Planner Coordinator Rob Steele, the date to open the facility for summer 1991 should be close to "on target."

Architect and Pigeon native Dennis Diener, Jr. of the Pontiac firm Richard P. Jarosz and Associates and Pigeon Lumber draftsman Fred Fortsch were on hand at last Monday's Strategic Planning meeting, eyeing specific plans (see blueprint drawings illustrated here) for the music facility.

The barn shell, which is designed primarily for use by summer music groups, will be built with a barn theme, coordinating with Pigeon's theme as the "premiere agriculture capital of Michigan."

Its stage dimensions measure 45 x 24 -- large enough to accommodate the needs of most performing groups.

"You might as well build the band shell large enough the first time so you don't look back wishing you built a larger stage," says Jay Dubey, who has researched the stage requirements of many groups who have performed for Bluewater Youth for Christ.

Diener, who brought blueprint drawings and a cardboard model of the proposed facility, designed the barn shell with a two-step building process in mind.

Initially, the stage and storage area could be built -- with the rear area, including wheelchair access, men's and women's changing areas and bathrooms, following as finances allow.

Presently, the Village of Pigeon has pledged $10,000 of its 1991 budget to be used for recreation and the Winsor Township Board has promised to investigate its role in helping to finance the barn shell.

Says Steele, "I've been delighted with the response so far from the Village and Township officials." Several Village officials were also present at Monday's meeting.

Steele is hoping that local service groups will help finance the summer entertainment, as well as a "pass the hat" arrangement during each summer event.

When you say 'Denbrock', it means MUSIC at Lakers!

By AMY HEIDEN

For the past 29 years, Bill Denbrock has been standing in front of Laker band students, conducting, encouraging, and sometimes badgering them to do their very best.

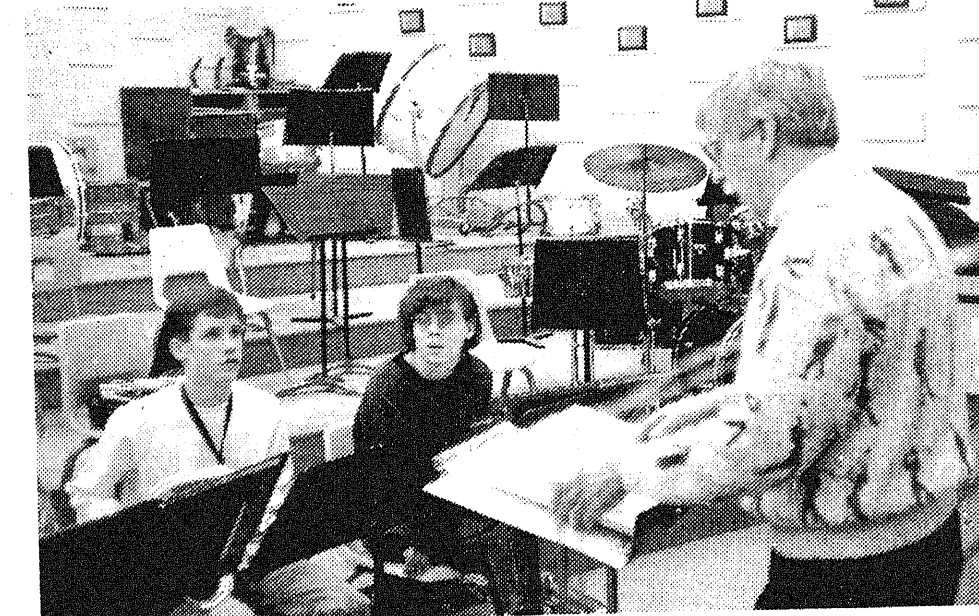

But when the school bell rings for the last time this June, Denbrock will hang up his Laker band uniform and retire.

In his 39 years of teaching and directing (10 of those with two other schools), he's seen tastes in music change along with tastes in clothes.

What hasn't changed, though, is Denbrock's commitment to and love of music in all its varied forms, but especially the big band sounds.

A native of Marshall, Denbrock came from a family that didn't play at all, but one that encouraged him to get into music. During his junior high years, he learned to play the saxophone, and taught a friend to play that instrument in exchange for clarinet lessons.

And because most professional musicians were drafted during those World War II years, he and a group of other amateur musicians got together to play at dances throughout the area.

Playing his music in the band also provided extra money, Denbrock says. "I played all through high school, and playing with the band practically paid my way through college," Denbrock said.

While attending Michigan State University, where he earned his Master of Music degree, specializing in public school music, he decided that teaching would be the perfect way to make a living with his music without taking the risks of going on the road.

After graduation, he spent five years with the Harbor Beach schools and five years with Suttons Bay schools before coming to Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port. His first year with the Laker district was the second full year after the consolidation in 1960.

In his years, he's seen a couple of generations of Laker students pass through his hands. He starts them early, directing the elementary and junior high bands, then on into high school.

The size of the school has decreased from over 700 students 20 years ago to around 400 now, and the size of the band has decreased accordingly, but the students' interest hasn't waned at all, he says.

"The kids are just as interested now in music as they were before," he said.

Many of his students were exceptional, he says, and he refuses to single out a top ten from the thousands who have passed through the Laker bands.

But one former student, Louise Dixon, now plays flute for the Chicago Symphony, and another Laura Shetter Witzczak, teaches music in the Laker elementary schools. Tammy and Deedee Bauman are two more students who went on to make music a significant part of their lives and careers, and many other Laker band graduates count Denbrock's instruction as vital to their musical success.

Denbrock had to think a bit before naming what he considers his biggest achievement during his Laker years, but finally he says that the Jazz Band would have to be it.

"I've tried for 29 years to get a jazz band. I just kept working at it. That's also my biggest regret, that we didn't get it going sooner," Denbrock said. The Jazz Band has proven to be very popular with its audiences, playing in concerts and for various organizations throughout the Thumb.

After his retirement, Denbrock plans to pay some serious attention to his photography hobby, and will continue to lead the Bill Denbrock Big Band in its performances. He took over the band's leadership from Bob Olsen about four years ago, and continues to play the sounds of the Big Band Era he loves so much.

He may also find time for judging solo and ensemble and other competitions, and may be offering private music lessons.

Denbrock leaves behind a rich legacy of musical achievement at the Laker schools, and he says he hopes to leave behind a bunch of people who love music as he does.

"I hope I've taught them to appreciate music. I wanted to give kids the same great experiences I had when I was growing up," Denbrock says.

CAN AREA WASTE PLAN SURVIVE?

Representatives from Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac and Lapeer Counties have decided that building an incinerator isn't in the area's regional waste disposal plans -- and perhaps that view will help get the four-county landfill concept off the ground.

Representatives met last week to discuss why the regional landfill authority concept approved in 1989 has never gotten off the ground. Members agreed with Huron County Commissioners Martha Thuemmel and Julia Heilig that the original consultant's plan included building a large incinerator, which isn't part of the group's objectives. So, the regional group will meet March 11 and plans to discuss future options with a new solid waste consultant.

Thuemmel and Heilig say the regional authority should plan building a landfill and encourage recycling, to curb disposal problems. Authority members say a regional landfill, operated by governmental agencies, is needed to create competition in the solid waste management business. The only large-scale disposal company, Waste Management Inc., has been buying up trash hauling businesses and has plans to enlarge its own landfill near Sandusky.

TOUR 'LAKE GUARDIAN' SUNDAYS

The federal Environmental Protection Agency research vessel "Lake Guardian" berthed at Wenoona Dock, Bay City, is open for public tours every Sunday afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m. Tours will continue until June, when the vessel begins its Great Lakes research work.

The ship's crew is available to answer questions and conduct tours, according to U.S. Cong. Bob Traxler (D-Bay City). Groups of 10 or more should call the Lake Guardian's officer-in-charge one week prior to the visit at 894-2805.

The vessel has a crew of 11 and is 180 feet long, displacing 850 tons. It has a galley, laboratories, lounge, messroom and exercise facilities and can accommodate up to 31 additional scientists for research activities and monitoring cruises, Cong. Traxler says.

CG STATION WORK PROGRESSES

Construction is continuing on schedule for the new Saginaw Bay station for the U.S. Coast Guard, being built on Tawas Point across the Bay from Caseville.

The $1.7 million station had suffered from construction delays due to bad weather, but recently improved conditions have brought the project back on schedule, according to Tawas Coast Guard Station Chief Robert Moore. Construction should be completed by July 1.

Phase one includes a two-story building to house the 25-member Coast Guard crew, measuring 120-feet by 50-feet. Phase two will be built later this summer, and will include a vehicle garage and 60-foot by 30-foot boathouse.

OBSERVATIONS BY CO-PUBLISHER MARK RUMMEL AND ANYBODY ELSE HE CAN GET TO WRITE 'EM!

OUT OF ROOM: We've said it many times before, but here goes again: The size of each Progress-Advance issue is based on the amount of advertising sold. So, sometimes we receive more news than we have room for in the paper.

That's EXACTLY what happened (again) this week. So, next week we'll be presenting several features that were submitted for this issue. Thanks for your patience -- and please realize the stories and ads appearing here are being read by more local folks than ever before!

DESK-CLEARING: The currently-empty chiropractic office in Pigeon will likely be filled in the very near future. There's quite a bit of interest in that prime downtown office location...

There's more business competition ahead than just the Wal-Mart in Bad Axe. Meijer's has announced it plans to build a big (175,000 sq. ft.) store near M-25 and Knight Road, east of Bay City. It will replace the "smaller" Meijer Square store on this end of Bay City -- and the $20 million project will have 600 employees, up from 175 now...

It's now official that EVERY issue of our paper contains recycled newsprint. We've used the popular type of paper off-and-on as it's been available for several years. Now, we're happy to say it's available all the time from our suppliers...

Watch for the new "USA TODAY Baseball Weekly" paper coming out April 5. The weekly will focus on baseball (obviously) and will sell for $1 at newsstands...

NEWS NOTES: As we keyboard these words, the Allies' ground war against Iraq may be leading to a rapid end to the Persian Gulf War. Let's all hope so.

Meanwhile, TRILLIONS of words have been spoken and written about this conflict in the past six weeks, and it's dominated all types of news stories on TV, radio and in print for a long, long time.

Some people have been angered with the "biased" reporting of CNN's Peter Arnett in the Iraqi capital of Baghdad. But aren't Arnett's obviously-slanted viewpoints better than NO news at all? That's exactly what we'd be getting if he weren't there.

So, remember that his stories ARE being censored by an obviously-frustrated Saddam Hussein. But isn't half a loaf (or half a report) better than none at all?

And, as much as I LOVE news, I'm looking forward to less second-guessing and half-stories about the war. Let's end it, get our troops back home... and get on with living!

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "For most people, a toupee is a top secret!"

Sign-up in March for Conservation Reserve Program

Secretary of Agriculture, Clayton Yeutter, has announced a 10th Conservation Reserve Program sign-up to begin March 4 and run through March 15. Under the new CRP program provisions, bids on eligible land will be accepted based on environmental benefits obtained per dollar of cost to USDA's Commodity Credit Corporation.

Yeutter cautioned producers that they should not rely on bid amounts which have been accepted in the past sign-up periods. "In the past sign-ups, there was a high expectation that a producer could rely on no change occurring to the bid amounts which would be accepted," he said. "Producers wishing to enroll in CRP should be aware that there is increased competition." Land eligibility will be expanded from past signups to include not only highly erodible land, but also other cropland acres that reduce the impairment of water quality. To increase water quality benefits under CRP, producers offering areas such as filterstrips, sod waterways, shelterbelts and contour grass strips will receive additional consideration during the bid evaluation process. Yeutter said that bids for enrolling wetlands will not be accepted during this sign-up. There will be a Wetland Reserve Program announced at a later date that will address these areas. CRP bids will only be accepted for contracts beginning in 1991 and bid acceptance determinations will be made after a nationwide review and evaluation. Selection will be based on the environmental benefits received from placing the land in CRP when compared to dollars of cost. Yeutter said that producers will be permitted to enroll their land into CRP and to sign up into the Acreage Reduction Program simultaneously and later withdraw from the ARPO program if their CRP bid is accepted. Fifty percent cost-share will still be available to all successful applicants and 10 year rental payments will also be paid to recipients based on their bids. Further details will be made available to producers in the near future through their local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office, including offices in Bad Axe and Caro.

Profitable year predicted for pork producers

Most market analysts are predicting another profitable year for pork producers. The December 1 Hogs and Pig Report reports a controlled supply situation with little, if any, on-going expansion. Pork supplies are expected to be 1-2% higher in the first half of 1991 because of larger summer and fall 1990 pig crops. However, the USDA has yet to document a significant increase in the size of the breeding herd. The second positive is a healthy pork demand. Retail prices increased more than 16% in 1990 on a 3% reduction in supplies. The appeal of pork to meat consumers has improved significantly.

The recent acreage report lends even more confidence toward predicted pork profits. Intended feed-grain acreage for corn is 77.5 million, up 4.5% from the 1990 actual.

Although a lot can change, the prospects for another year of relatively cheap feed seem better and that's good news for livestock producers.

Farmers beware of hiring youth labor . . .

Last summer several farms in the Thumb-area were visited by federal officials from the Wage and Hour Division of the U. S. Dept. of Labor. These visits were part of a FARMERS NEED TO BE CAREFUL in hiring youths on their farm, especially since the U.S. Department of Labor has been "cracking down" on child labor issues.

"sweep" of Michigan by these officials.

A number of fines were levied for abuses of the child labor laws for agriculture.

It is important farmers realize, if they "allow" or hire any youth under the age of 16 to perform any of the jobs listed as "hazardous" by the U. S. Dept. of Labor, they place themselves in a position to be heavily fined.

Many farmers think that because they hire less than 10 workers, that they will not be visited by these federal officials. This is not necessarily true.

Although the officials are more likely to visit larger employers, they are free to visit any farm that hires workers.

Even more important is the liability risk a farmer who hires youth unlawfully faces. If the young worker were to be injured or killed while doing a job labeled as hazardous, a farmer faces the real risk of lawsuits which could bring about the loss of the entire farm.

MSU Bulletin AEIS #572 lists those jobs that are "off-limits" for youth under the age of 16.

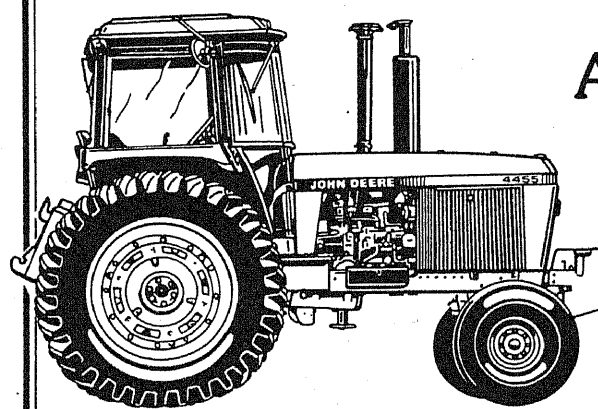

The Hazardous Occupations Order makes it unlawful to hire or even permit any youth under the age of 16 to do any jobs listed as hazardous unless:

- 1) the youth is working on a farm owned or operated by

New plans for Pigeon's Farm Market . . .

PIGEON'S FARMERS' MARKET, which has been sitting mostly idle for over a decade, will experience a new burst of activity this summer, when special events are planned each month, from May through October. "We are working on so many projects right now in Pigeon," says Chamber of Commerce President Rhonda Buehler, "and we feel we owe it to the original planners of the Farmers' Market to give it a chance to enjoy a revitalization. And it fits in perfectly with our hopes to target Pigeon as Michigan's premiere agricultural community." Buehler hopes that service organizations and churches will plan their summer schedules around these events. Here is the schedule:

- MAY 11: Spring Planting Items (flowers, landscaping needs, etc.)
- JUNE 6-8: Garage Sale Weekend. Individuals may bring items to sell there.
- JULY 6: Craft and Baked Goods Sale, "Swap Meet."
- FARMERS' FESTIVAL: Petting Zoo
- AUGUST 17: Fresh summer produce, jams and jellies, etc.
- SEPTEMBER 7: Fall items (gourds, pumpkins, cornstalks, etc.)
- OCTOBER 5: Fall Produce (apples, squash, pumpkins, apple cider).

Ag meeting March 1

Creating a Positive Environment in Agriculture will be the theme for a March 1 meeting at the Franklin Inn, Bad Axe.

The program is sponsored by the Huron County Cooperative Extension Service from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for a fee of $10 per person.

The meeting will cover: research information from soil nitrate-nitrogen testing statewide, a local perspective on nitrate-nitrogen testing, procedures for sampling soil for nitrates, information on services and funding available from ASCS, and nutrient/livestock waste record-keeping.

Speakers for the event will include Drs. Maurice Vitosh and Lee Jacobs, from Michigan State University.

To make reservations, call the Huron County Cooperative Extension office at 269-9949.

Youth Labor

From FARMWAYS Pg. 6 the youth's parent or legal guardian, or

2) the youth has a training certificate which provides exemption from specific hazardous jobs, or

3) the youth is employed under a cooperative student-leader program in which there is a written agreement between the employer and the school.

"Farming Safely in the Thumb" is cooperating with the Huron and Tuscola 4-H council and the Farm Bureau Insurance Co. to provide classes in Safe Tractor Operation.

Farmers can protect themselves and the youth they employ by requiring any youth under the age of 16 to become certified.

duction this spring in time for what Pigeon planners hope will be a busy tourism season.

As a more long-term goal, the strategic planners are hoping to make Pigeon the home of "Michigan's Ag Adventure," an agricultural museum complete with hands-on exhibits and demonstrations, land test plants, research stations and more. Carol Stoeckle represented Pigeon at a recent Museum Seminar in Lansing and is continuing to gather information that will benefit the Pigeon project.

The next meeting of Pigeon's Strategic Planning Committee will be Monday, March 25 at 7 p.m. at the Pigeon District Library. Any area persons who have interest in seeing Pigeon prosper and grow in the 90s is invited to attend the meeting.

Gunden, 'Cornerstone' highlight March 10 concert

Former Pigeon/Bay Port native John Gunden, who is making his mark in the contemporary Christian music world from his home in Orlando, Fla., will be the headlining performer at a special "Evening of Song" set for Sunday, March 10 at 7 p.m. at Laker High School.

Sharing the stage with Gunden will be the Bluewater Youth for Christ singing group, "Cornerstone."

Gunden, who has been singing professionally for over 13 years, is presently the Rally Coordinator for the Orlando Youth for Christ. He is also the leader of the Rally Band called "the Gorillas," and performs as a singer/speaker for conferences, camps and retreats.

His musical style is a mix of rock and roll and rhythm and blues with hard-hitting lyrics that demonstrate his concern that people make a decision for Jesus Christ.

Prior to moving to Orlando, Gunden was a Campus Life staffer for Bluewater Youth for Christ. He and his wife, Margaret, have three children.

Gunden, who was raised in this area, says he enjoys ministering to young people from his "hometown."

Area churches which normally hold Sunday evening services are cancelling their services on Sunday evening, March 10 so that members of their congregations may attend the concert.

There is no admission charged, however, a free-will offering will be taken.

Evangelist Gene Riley will be special guest speaker at Caseville United Methodist Church this Sunday, March 3 at 7 p.m.

Gene and his wife Jackie serve their own church, Saginaw Valley Baptist Church, in addition to making nearly 100 concert and revival appearances each year.

After dinner, they returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Falst for fellowship. It was voted to have next year's February meeting in Florida again!

"JESUS CHRIST IS THE SAME YESTERDAY AND TODAY AND FOREVER." HEBREWS 13:8

Ash Wednesday, which marks the start of Lent, was celebrated nearly 2 weeks ago so the Lenten season is about one-third past. We're nearly at the end of February, so almost 2 months of the "new year" are past. Spring will be here in exactly 22 days.

Time rolls on mercilessly, using up hours, days, years and lifetimes. With the passing years change comes all around us. Fashions shift, clothes wear out. Cars rust and roofs leak. Human bodies grow frail and weak, highways and buildings break down. Everything changes.

While everything in the world changes, there is one constant, dependable, unchanging force, Jesus Christ Himself. He is not subject to time for He is the same yesterday, today and forever. Even the world recognizes His constancy as calendars and centuries are divided into B.C.—Before Christ—and A.D.—Anno Domini, "in the year of our Lord."

All time and all history converge in Christ, the focal point of history, the center of our lives. He is the one unchanging force in the world, but even that time is but the blink of an eye when seen in the context of eternity. What a blessed thought, eternity with Jesus Christ! The same forever!
GLORY BE TO YOU, LORD, NOW AND FOREVER. AMEN.

The Friendship Sunday School Class of the Elkton United Methodist Church held their February class meeting in Bradenton, Fla. on Feb. 9 with 19 members and friends attending.

Members greeted each other at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Reibling. Following the meeting, they attended a dinner at Mrs. Appleton's Restaurant.

After dinner, they returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Falst for fellowship. It was voted to have next year's February meeting in Florida again!

Outdoor Report

The MUCC has gone on record supporting a split in the Natural Resource Commission. Their plan calls for one committee to handle environmental protection and another committee to oversee the natural resources of the State. The MUCC's concern stems from the fact that the conservation job has become too big for one Commission and that hunting and fishing is beginning to take a back seat to environmental problems. The resolution also comes at a time when the DNR is looking for a replacement for the departing David Hales.

Die-hard outdoorsmen might want to head to Detroit this week to take in Outdoorama. This famous late-winter outdoor show is hosted by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and runs from noon to 10 p.m. for the next 10 days. The show is held at the State Fair Grounds in Detroit each year and features something for everyone. If you have never seen it, you owe yourself a treat.

Huron Skill Center offers career options for all

By SALLY RUMMEL
College-bound students have as much knowledge to gain at the Huron Area Skill Center as the non-college bound. Getting that message across to students from throughout Huron County is the number one challenge facing the five-year old vocational education center, according to Charles Dumas of Pigeon, vocational director at the center. To meet that challenge, the HASC invited all Huron County sophomores to a special meeting on Friday, providing tours and information about the HASC program for the school year 1991-92. Currently, 378 high school juniors and seniors from Lakers, Caseville, Owen-Cage, Bad Axe, North Huron, Port Hope and Uby call the Skill Center their part-time school "home," taking courses of study ranging from Accounting and Computing to Metal Machining and Welding. Other courses of study offered include Agricultural Mechanics, Auto Mechanics, Construction Trades, Cosmetology, Data Processing, Drafting, Food Services, Health Occupations, Human Services, Marketing and Distribution and Office Occupations. "The Huron Area Skill Center programs are designed to give students entry level skills to enter the workforce or can be used as a basis for continued education," according to Dumas. Out of the graduates from 1989, 38% of students continued their education, going on to more extensive training in their field of interest, either at a four-year college or more specific training at a vocational trade school. Over half of the graduates were employed either full or part-time, according to the statistics. Touring the Skill Center for the first time, one is awed by the facilities offered in each field. When one walks into the Construction Trades area, there are buildings being built; in the Auto Mechanics area, students are working behind garage doors on real automobiles donated by area dealers; in the Cosmetology area, soon-to-be hairdressers are working on mannequins in a real hair salon atmosphere, and they also take appointments by the public for hair care. In other words, the Skill

Center appears to the visitor to be a miniature scale of real-life industry. And an observer also notices that the students seem very busy and interested in what they are doing. "When a student is interested in a particular field or career, he or she is much more likely to put their heart into it," Dumas says. In addition to offering high school students a chance to get a taste of real-life careers, the Skill Center is also home to about 57 adult students who are either completing their high school education or striving towards career goals.

St. Clair County Community College offers courses at the Skill Center in a special arrangement between the Huron Intermediate School District and the home campus of St. Clair County Community College in Port Huron.

The Cosmetology Program is unique at the Skill

Center in that students work on their state license in cosmetology while they are taking classes as juniors and seniors, or enrolled as adults. After completion of the Cosmetology program, students are required to take their state boards and are then fully licensed cosmeticians, ready for employment.

STEVE GEIGER of Lakers uses a center wiggler on the metal lathe, under instructor Tom Main's guidance.

JASON WAYMASTER and BRIAN EDLER of Laker High work with metal to make a wood-burning stove, in metal-working class.

The Cosmetology Program also operates a full service salon open to the public, called "Visions School of Cosmetology." Students operate the salon and on a monthly average serve 93 clients.

The Skill Center's administrative staff includes Dumas, director of vocational education; Richard Holdship, principal; Hilary Cook, student services coordinator and Ellen Moorman, adult and community education coordinator.

ELKTON SENIOR CITIZENS

President Mike Renn welcomed 35 members and guests to the Feb. 19 meeting of the Elkton Senior Citizens. A special guest was Duncan Campbell. Harold Gray offered the table prayer before the potluck meal. Ardis and Clayton Gemmell were in charge of music. The afternoon session opened with the group singing "America." The Pledge to the Flag followed. The Birthdays of Alvina Walsh and Della Trudgen were recognized with "The Birthday Song." Marie Hoffman reported that a get-well card had been signed for Leta Wilson. Program Chairman Hazel Beach introduced a documentary film on the state of Hawaii. Duncan Campbell showed the film, which gave the history of Hawaii, as well as picturing its natural beauty. Sherman Day was to chair the Feb. 26 program. Sheriff Mike Cage was to be the guest speaker.

PIGEON WORTH WHILE CLUB

The CFWC Pigeon Worth While Club met at the home of Eleanora Trost on Feb. 5 for the group's regular monthly meeting. Twenty-five members recited the Pledge to the Flag and the Club Collect. Guest speaker was Terry Sheehan, manager of Sleeper State Park in Caseville. He has been with the State Department for 25 years. He says that the park, which is a popular spot for summer visitors, is now using a recycling program. Pamphlets on Michigan State Parks were given to each member. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, as was the treasurer's report. A report of the Fall Home Tour showed the event realized a sizeable profit, with $1,000 being donated to Scheurer Hospital, $1,000 to the Pigeon District Library and $150 to the CFWC Huron County Womens' Clubs' Arboretum project. It was noted that Amanda Barry, a sophomore at Laker High School, will be the HOBY Representative for 1991, attending the spring HOBY Leadership Seminar. Eleanora Trost reported that the Red Cross Bloodmobile netted 70 good pints of blood at its recent drive. Thirty pints were processed in the first hour, she said. Achievements

Teri Lou Damm of Maple Shade, NJ, formerly of Pigeon, has been accepted into General Electric's Financial Management Program (or FMP).

Former Pigeon resident Ann Shetler has joined the faculty of Goshen College.

TERI LOU DAMM

ANN SHETLER

"The Financial Management Program is the first stage in the development and training of General Electric's top financial management. The program is designed to provide participants with the skills required of a well-rounded business manager and the specific technical knowledge required to address the financial stewardship of the company," according to GE spokesman.

This challenging program, which will take Ms. Damm two years to complete, requires successful study as well as continued excellent job performance, adds GE spokesman. She has been with GE for approximately 1 1/2 years.

She is the daughter of Robert and Karen Damm of Pigeon.

Shetler is assistant professor of foods and nutrition, teaching human nutrition, meal management and the senior seminar. She began work Jan. 1.

A 1986 graduate of Goshen College, Shetler is a registered dietitian and has been staff dietitian for the University of Iowa student health office and athletic department. She received her master's degree in counseling and human development from the University of Iowa in December, 1990.

The daughter of Les and Frances Shetler, Ann graduated from Laker High School in 1982.

Goshen College is a four-year liberal arts school owned and operated by the Mennonite Church. About 1,000 students attend the college in Goshen, Ind.

Janice Hall, formerly of Pigeon, now of Alabama, was selected the Alabama Home Economics Teacher of the Year for District D (which includes Birmingham and seven surrounding counties) in a special ceremony in December, 1990.

It was announced Feb. 15 that Hall will receive the State of Alabama Home Economics Teacher of the Year recognition at their state convention at Auburn University on this Friday, March 1.

Hall is an occupational child care teacher and director of the Infant Care Center, with its 20-bed nursery, at Ensley Magnet High School in Birmingham. The Young Mothers' Program has received local, state and national recognition for its exceptional work with pregnant and parenting teenagers.

Richard Arrington, Jr., mayor of Birmingham, wrote "I commend Mrs. Hall for her dedicated and tireless efforts to help the vulnerable young women and their children to become better Alabamians in spite of adverse circumstances. The Infant Care Training Project, as part of the Young Mothers' program, is an asset to Birmingham and to the State of Alabama."

Janice and her husband, Donald Hall are both 1970 graduates of Laker High School and are the parents of two sons, Jeffery and Timothy. She is the daughter of Charles and Doris Leipprandt of Pigeon.

Hall earned her bachelor of science degree from Western Michigan University and her master's of science in teaching from the University of Montevallo, Ala., where she graduated with highest honors (4.0) and received the Outstanding Home Economics Student Award. Her graduate research project became the basis for setting up the Infant Care Training Project at Ensley Magnet High School.
