Pigeon offers wood chips

Pigeon's new wood chipper is working well, the Pigeon Village Council learned at last week's meeting. DPW Supt. Jim Kohl told Council that village workers have been using the chipper and have wood chips available on a first-come, first-served basis at the village garage on North Main Street.

That chipper may come in handy in May when the village has its spring clean-up days. Village Clerk Janet Heckman says the dates of the clean-up are Thursday and Friday, May 13 and 14.

In other business, Pigeon Village Council:

- Formally approved the hiring of Allen Glaza, who will be a part-time village police officer. Glaza began work April 1;
- Signed an annual maintenance agreement with the state Transportation Dept. for M-142 upkeep through the village;
- Approved May 13-14 as the dates for the Tip of the Thumb VFW Post's annual Poppy Sale downtown;
- Gave permission for Lyle Gascho of L.J. Gascho Furniture Co. to hold its annual tent sale at the Farmers' Market during Farmers' Festival;
- Agreed to send Police Chief Van Johnson to a seminar on handling guns and Officer Glaza to radar school;
- Agreed to send councilman Ken Licht to the Region 5 meeting of the Michigan Municipal League April 22 at Hidden Harbor Golf Club in Caseville; and
- Heard a report on the 1992-93 audit from Pigeon CPA John Walsh, who reported the village is in good financial health.

USA borrows against taxes

USA School District's Board of Education last week approved borrowing $400,000 against anticipated tax collections, to be received later this year. This is a common procedure that school districts use for cash flow until tax money starts coming in. The USA Board also:

- Granted tenure to middle school teacher Lisa Barrigar;
- Approved the new Thumb Sports League Constitution;
- Set Wednesday, May 19, as spring athletic banquet;

Darcy Haag is state FFA writing winner

Learning about agriculture is vital to our nation's future, according to Darcy Haag, 15 of Sebawaing — state winner in FFA New Horizons magazine's "Up With Agriculture" Writing Contest.

Haag receives $50 as the state winner. Chapter advisor is Carl Kieser.

FFA members from around the nation wrote about education in the contest.

"Agriculture affects our lives daily in ways we often take for granted," writes national first place winner Jennifer West, 18, of Hesperia, Calif.

"From the sheets on our beds to the food on our tables, we owe our lifestyle to the American farmer."

Seth Derner, 18, national second place winner from Bartlett, Neb., explains that "agriculture is leading the pack in biochemical, mechanical, nutritional and environmental research."

"The research being done in laboratories now is reshaping agriculture forever. I want to get involved in a field that holds the promise of promoting new and positive change for the future."

The "Up With Agriculture" Writing Contest is sponsored for FFA New Horizons magazine as a special project of the FFA Foundation by ICI Seeds. FFA New Horizons is the official publication for FFA members who are students of agriculture.

Here is Darcy Haag's state-winning entry:

Agriculture affects every person, every day of their life. Many of us are unaware of the variety of ways that agriculture affects our lives.

I feel that education combined with agriculture will be a learning experience.

High school agriculture classes provide opportunities to students through a variety of experiences. Students are challenged with real life experiences, future hypothetical problems, experimental techniques and a variety of skills resulting in a well-educated background.

Agriculture holds many hopes and promises for the future. There is always something new and challenging being discovered.

I feel that the future of agriculture is waiting for the youth of America.

Pigeon Food Pantry helped 56 families at Easter time

The Pigeon Community Food Pantry filled requests for 56 boxes for Easter giving this past holiday.

Ham, potatoes, bread and butter, milk, eggs and a fresh vegetable were included, as well as canned goods, cereals, paper products and an Easter treat.

Two cases of eggs were donated by Active Feed of Pigeon, among donations.

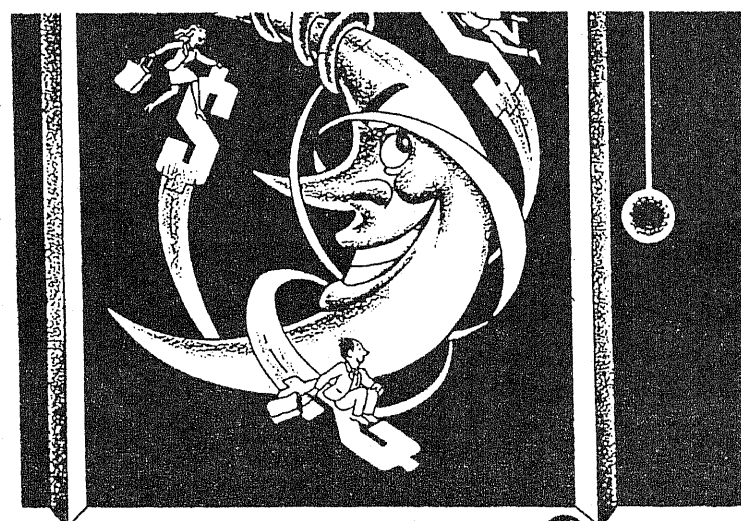

Filling and delivering the many boxes kept committee members and volunteers very busy, organizers say.

"We are most appreciative of our volunteers and for the donations of food and money from our generous area donors," says spokesman Harriett Collins.

Two additional churches have joined in to official membership of the Food Pantry group. Kilmanagh United Methodist Church and Fair Haven Mennonite Church.

She's headed to Brazil in exchange

By AMY HEIDEN

When Dawn Schuette travels to Brazil this month, she'll be the only professional woman in her group.

But that doesn't faze the Elton native.

She'll be well able to discuss retail management with her counterparts in the city of Sao Paulo, as part of a Rotary International Group Study Exchange.

She's one of six professionals from throughout the Rotary Club's District 6310, which includes Pigeon, Midland, Bay City and Saginaw Areas.

While in the South American country for six weeks, her group will be studying all aspects of Brazilian business and manufacturing and exchanging ideas on making business more efficient.

Schuette manages and does the buying for three gift shops owned by Zehnder's in Frankenmuth and was nominated by her employer for the Exchange. She was interviewed by a panel of Rotary members from the district and

Corn sign-up underway

Disaster payment sign-up for the 1992 corn crop has been under way about one week — and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices in Huron and Tuscola Counties are busy.

On Good Friday, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy announced disaster payments would be available to some Michigan corn producers who suffered losses from adverse weather conditions last year.

The program marked the first time the U.S. Ag Department has made disaster assistance available on quality loss rather than just on quantity loss.

Under the disaster aid plan, farmers could get a 50% reimbursement in emergency cash crop payments for eligible losses. Also, it makes possible forgiveness of some loans made by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Michigan Farm Bureau estimates weather conditions created over a $100 million loss to corn producers. Corn is Michigan's top cash crop, with 2.7 million acres planted.

Tuscola County ASCS Director David Claerhout said from April 14 to Friday morning his office had about 100 producers sign-up. He anticipates up to 400 more coming in to register or assistance.

However in Huron County, officials expect the sign-up race to begin this week. "We haven't been very busy this week, but next week we will be real busy," said Director John Porath Friday morning.

Huron County has about 1,500 to 2,000 producers with about 135,000 acres of corn. The sign-up ends May 7.

chosen as a person able to well represent Michigan business.

And as the daughter of a farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schuette of Elton, she's the only one of the group with any background in agriculture. She says she'll be the one to answer questions about Michigan's farming businesses on her trip.

"There aren't many women in the work force in Brazil, so I may be something of a curiosity there," Schuette says.

The Exchange group will be staying with host families during their six-week stay and will make presentations to various Brazilian Rotary Clubs on American business management.

But first, they'll spend a week learning Portuguese, the Brazilian national language, at the Berlitz School of Language in Chicago. And while there, they'll meet another group of Brazilians coming to take their places here in Michigan.

"This trip will give me a broader outlook not only on life, but on business practices also," Schuette says.

O-G round-up coming April 26 in Gagetown

Kindergarten round-up for the 1993-94 school year for the Owendale-Gagetown School District is Monday, April 26, at the Gagetown Elementary School gym.

Students with last names starting with A through L register 9 to 11 a.m. and students with last names starting with M through Z register from noon to 2 p.m., according to elementary Principal William Britt.

Also, hearing and vision tests will be done at that time.

To register, parents must bring the child's birth certificate and immunization record.

The school nurse and speech pathologist will be on hand to answer questions.

Trains do what trucks can't

By MARY DRIER

The invention of semi-trucks and development of a vast highway system making door-to-door delivery possible has had a great influence on business practices — while limiting dependence on trains.

For years, trains dominated as passenger and freight hauls, but as the automobile industry developed reliance on trains decreased.

However on Wednesday, the Huron & Eastern Railway had an opportunity to prove the "iron horse" is still a viable delivery method.

If the railroad hadn't been available, the $1.5 million construction project at the Cooperative Elevator in Akron would have been stalled until spring load limits on M-138 are lifted.

Counties place load limits on designated secondary roads while the frost is coming out of the ground each spring. The amount of weight that can be hauled on the road is reduced so heavy loads won't damage the highway.

HERE'S HOW to move construction equipment from Sebewaing to Akron when road weight restrictions are on.

"Since we couldn't bring the equipment from Kemp Tilting in Sebewaing to the plant in Akron by road because of the weight restrictions, we had the equipment loaded to be brought in by railroad," says Ned Zagorski, vice president of operations with the Cooperative Elevator.

Cooperative Elevator is building four silos with a capacity of about 50,000 bushels each. The silos will be 112 feet high with legs 180 feet high. "We feel the Akron and Sebewaing Area has a lot to offer Cooperative Elevator Company, and we want to serve those patrons in those areas," says Zagorski of the expansion.

Completion is slated for Sept. 1. Huron & Eastern Railway Company operates about 196 miles of track in the Thumb Area, including the line between Sebewaing and Akron.

COW CHIP THROWING

Did you know that the "World Cow Chip Throwing Championship" is held in Beaver, OK., on April 19-24? This is a highly specialized athletic event which draws dung flingers from around the world. One spokesman said they have a special division for politicians, who are known to be highly practiced in this field, (if you know what we mean.)

Now that's a trophy to be proud of and to display for all to see.

Now that's a trophy to be proud of and to display for all to see.

USA prom breakfast coming May 1

Porky's Restaurant in Sebewaing will hold the USA High School Prom breakfast immediately following the annual prom Saturday, May 1, according to USA High Principal Richard Green.

Any parents wishing to help prepare and serve the food are invited to contact Sharon Edler at the restaurant or at her home.

Cannisters will be placed at various business places in the community for those wishing to donate for the meal.

RED BARON SHOT DOWN

On April 21, 1918, German flying ace Baron Manfred von Richtofen was shot down and killed during the battle of the Somme in World War I.

The "Red Baron," so named for the color of his Fokker Triplane, was credited with 80 kills in less than two years. Royal Flying Corps pilots recovered his body and the Allies buried him with full military honors.

VIDEO CARE

The Library wants to help you make the most of these commonsense precautions concerning video cassettes.

1. Avoid Moisture.
2. Don't use a cassette until it has reached room temperature.
3. Keep the cassettes in their boxes and away from dust.
4. Store cassettes vertically.
5. Don't bump or jar the cassettes.
6. Keep cassettes away from magnetic objects.
7. Store in a cool, dry place.
8. Rewind completely before storage.
9. Don't touch the tape.
10. Fast-forward and rewind all tapes that have been in storage for a long period of time.
11. And never press fast-forward or rewind white tape is playing. The result is a scratched tape, or a picture that's not so clear.

Daniel Butterfield is calling on all Unionville residents to join the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels for Life" Bike-a-thon on Saturday, May 1 at Unionville Elementary School. Time is 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Volunteer workers and riders are needed for this Bike-a-thon to raise funds for the research center in its battle against cancer and other childhood diseases.

"We're looking for riders and helpers who will contribute their time and talent to help children live. We really need lots of riders since they are the ones who can make this Bike-a-thon successful, Butterfield says.

In "Wheels for Life," riders ask sponsors to make a donation based on each mile completed. All riders turning in money will receive a certificate.

Those who raise $30 or more will get a certificate and a special St. Jude T-shirt. When $75 or more is raised, the rider receives a sports bag as well as the certificate and T-shirt.

Dawn Swartzendruber of Pigeon plays the role of "Tish" in the Central Michigan University Theatre production of "The Arkansas Bear" at 8 p.m. April 21-24 in Bush Theatre at CMU.

The play revolves around a girl named Tish who does not know how to cope with her grandfather's impending death, says Timothy Connors, play director and member of CMU's theater faculty.

"She runs away into the woods and to her favorite tree," he says.

"There she meets the World's Greatest Dancing Bear, who is literally running away from death. It's his time to die, and he's trying to escape it. Through her interactions with the dancing bear, Tish learns that death is part of life, and it's important to leave a little bit of yourself behind."

"The Arkansas Bear" is described as a Theatre for Young Audiences production, but Connors said adults also will enjoy the show.

Luckhard name is back in business in Sebewaing

By WALT RUMMEL

A 60-year-old Sebewaing business is undergoing a transformation and refurbishing — as the founder's granddaughter and family take over the business that grandfather began in 1933.

Sylvia (Simmet) Honey and husband Gene Honey are preparing Luckhard Gardens to succeed Luckhard Nursery with new plans, plants and programs.

Charles Luckhard and his wife, Rosa (Volz) Luckhard, moved from the Bach-Area farm they had founded in 1923, to their new location on Sebewaing Road, two miles east of Sebewaing.

They started Luckhard Nursery, selling trees and shrubs and supplying landscape architecture for Upper Thumb residences and businesses.

Following the Luckhards' retirement, they were succeeded in the business by their daughter and son-in-law, Hilda and James Simmet. Mr. Simmet died in 1986.

Their daughter Sylvia and husband Gene began serious consideration last year to the idea of rejuvenating the nursery and emphasizing herbs. They opted for perennials and shrubs along with decorations, wreaths, flavorings and scents, spices and trims.

Both Honeys are graduates of Eastern Michigan University.

sity and have been on the faculty of Woodhaven School District, south of Detroit, where they are special education instructors.

She is a 1965 graduate of Sebewaing High. They have three daughters, Jenny, Heidi and Angela.

Last summer the Honeys restored a pre-World War I brick structure on the Luckhard Nursery farm, providing new supports and complete new roof.

They also laid down timbers for flowerbeds and planted a picket fence-enclosed formal herb garden, which now awaits its new plants.

A large lawn with shade trees selected long ago by Grandfather Luckhard will be converted into a series of gardens, including a fragrance garden, silver and culinary gardens, perennial and identification gardens and even a "Bible Garden," planted with herbs named in scripture chapters.

In the future, besides greenhouse plants, herbs, shrubs and flowers, they will sell wreaths and herbal wreaths, potpourri, lace, fresh herbs and spices, recipes and ingredients for personal preparations of scents and tastes.

The new owners will be open for business Saturday, May 1, and will have open house over Sugar Festival weekend, June 25-27.

They plan to be open Wednesdays through Sundays each week until October.

From the opening and through May, the Honeys will operate their business Saturdays and Sundays. The business will be open Wednesdays through Fridays under management of Gene's brother, David Honey, an experienced gardener, nurseryman and maintenance manager.

After Woodhaven School closes for the summer, the Honeys will be on hand Wednesdays through Sundays. They are planning open hours for 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"We're anxious to become acquainted and re-acquainted with the people of this vicinity," she said, adding that they want people to stop "for a visit, a cup of herbal tea, dips and other taste treats."

"Grandpa Luckhard and our dad Jim Simmet would be pleased with the plans we have for the nursery that he founded back there in 1933," she added.

SYLVIA (Simmet) HONEY and husband Gene show some renovations and history at their new Luckhard Gardens east of Sebewaing.

PAST EASTER, TOWARD ETERNITY

"But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept... For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." I Corinthians 15: 20 and 21

Another Easter has passed. The beautiful triumphant musical notes have died away, the Easter sermons have become memories. The lilies that graced our churches on Easter Sunday have been taken home. Yes, even the last colored eggs have been eaten, or thrown out.

Easter, 1993, has passed into history. So, has the Easter story ended? Fortunately for us, that doesn't mean the blessings of Easter are lost. Thank God, those blessings continue all through the year—as long as we have breath and heart beat.

The Savior who was born as a child, grew up, preached and taught is still with us.

The suffering Savior who was persecuted, humiliated and executed did not remain dead. He was brought back to life as He promised and thereby the wrath of God against our sins was wiped out.

Those miracles, so secure, so often told and re-told on Easter are our assurance that the Bethlehem Child was really true God, and that through Him our salvation is already accomplished.

The entire Easter story, the culmination of God's redemption plan, is the greatest news mankind has ever received. We have it, too. It is good for our entire lifetime. It is repeated each year, to reassure us that we need never wonder or doubt.

Hold fast to it, believe it! Your hold on eternity depends on it.

PRAYER: Dear Jesus, thank you for your Sacrifice, remember us and help us into eternity with you. Amen.

The trip wasn't all work and no play, though. Some of the delegation enjoyed a white water rafting trip, while others toured a rain forest, swam in a campground pool and took a shopping trip to Sarchi, famous for its fine wood and leather crafting. Another highlight was a trip to the volcano at Poas.

Although they all worked hard enough to experience aching muscles and tired feet from lots of walking, none of the 29 got sick while down there, although brothers Seth and Justin Maust both came home feeling ill.

"We really felt blessed by this whole trip," says Gladys Maust, who is already talking about making another trip to Costa Rica.

There was plenty of "KP" (kitchen patrol) duty, too, with the ladies preparing breakfast and dinner daily using very limited equipment and keeping up with the laundry needs of 29 people.

"There were always clotheslines all over the place and they were always full," remembers Vicki Gascho, age 16, one of the youths along on the trip.

One thing the visitors learned was not to hang blue jeans on the line for long, because while violence is a rarity in Costa Rica, petty thievery is not. Blue jeans are a favorite there as they are in the U.S. and jeans and t-shirts are often stolen.

I WOULD LIKE TO THANK my family, friends and neighbors for the prayers, flowers, cards & visits, while I was a patient at Bay Medical Center and since returning home. Special thanks to Pastor Hagenow and Vicar Helbig. Joanne Smith.

THANKS & MEMORIALS

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair
Perhaps you sent a floral piece,
If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
As any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much whatever the part.

Harold Weisenbach Sr. & family

IN LOVING MEMORY of Arno G. Ruthenberg, who passed away, May 13, 1967, and Adele Ruthenberg who passed away 5 years ago, April 21, 1988. We do not ever walk alone. God promised He will stay beside us as our friend and guide each step along life's way. When our hand is clasped in His there is no doubt or fear, and all the cares that once loomed large suddenly disappear! How sweet the hours spent at His side—How blest the miles we've trod; We do not ever walk alone when we love and trust in God.

Laundromat for Caseville meets utility brick wall

By AMY HEIDEN

A Howell businessman wants to build a laundromat in Caseville, but he says high water and sewer rates may scuttle his plan. Jim Brennan, who also owns the Caseville Dairy Queen, appeared before Caseville Village Council last week to complain about what he considers an excessively high tap-in fee and high water rates for his proposed business.

Brennan wants to build the laundromat at the corner of M-25 and Huron Street. It would have 24 commercial washing machines and would employ four people year-round, he says.

But Brennan said the fee to tap into Caseville's new water and sewer system is too high, and water rates are too high — and he may cancel his plans.

"Caseville has no laundromat now and it has a big tourist trade," Brennan says.

"But Caseville is the only district that I checked that the more water you use the more rates go up."

Bob Schoenberg, chairman of the village's water and sewer committee, says the village's hands are tied.

"We're doing all the law allows," Schoenberg says.

"We're working diligently to reduce the rates not only for him but for other businesses as well. We are following up on this. We know rates have to come down. But we're living with the rules set forth by Farmers Home Administration."

The water and sewer system was partially financed with loans from FmHa and bond sales, and attorneys from the bonding agencies told village officials in a letter that tap or connection fees must be imposed uniformly.

Schoenberg and other village officials were to meet with bonding attorneys this week to discuss ways of lessening the burden of those fees on prospective businesses.

Brennan planned to spend over $200,000 to buy property and build the laundromat, but he says he may forget about the whole deal.

"I'm only two years from retiring from Ford and I had planned to move up there. But I can't see retiring there if I can't make a dime.

"I've never asked the village for anything like a tax abatement. I've upgraded the store and put a lot of work in that place. All I ask is a reasonable water rate," Brennan says.

"I like Caseville, the people there have been good to us, but it doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out if you put water rates up, you drive businesses out," he says.

Council also accepted a petition from residents of the Harbor Subdivision requesting a fence be built around the breakwall parking lot and that the parking lot be paved.

The petition was referred to the Parks and Recreation Committee, according to village treasurer Shelley Lisowski.

In other business, Caseville Village Council:

■ Agreed to sponsor a candidate for the 1993 Miss Caseville contest;

■ Supported the Chamber of Commerce's plan to have a cruise night and sock hop on July 17-18;

■ Donated $500 to the Chamber's fireworks fund;

■ Appointed Mike St. John to the Planning Commission;

■ Accepted a bid from People's Oil and Gas of Pigeon for super regular gasoline at 82 cents per gallon and diesel fuel at 85 center per gallon. The contract is for one year.

■ Approved the appointment of Colleen Poisson and Jeff Crowley and re-appointed to the Downtown Development Authority.

A "jury" will be selected from the community and the courtroom audience during each performance of the Port Austin Community Players' "Night of January 16th" by Ayn Rand on April 23 through May 2 at the Port Austin Playhouse.

Karen Andre (Rhonda Cook) will stand trial for the murder of Bjorn Faulkner. District Attorney Flint (Patricia Reid) is confident of a guilty verdict, however, Defense Attorney Stevens (Steven L. Mausolf) vows he will prove his client innocent.

Other members of the cast include: M. Richard Knoblock, C. A new "unprejudiced" jury will be selected for each performance, according to Publicist Penny Pearson.
