USA Bazaar tops $2,000

More than $2,000 was raised Saturday at the Holiday Bazaar in Unionville, sponsored by USA Elementary School. The 6-foot tall Raggedy Ann Doll was won by Anna Eurich of Unionville and the Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy were won by Marta Streu of Caro in the raffle.

6% of beets delivered

About 40,000 tons of sugar beets were delivered to the Sebewaing Plant of Michigan Sugar Company in the opening days' delivery, according to Agriculture Manager Dick Jacoby. That amounts to about 6% of the estimated 650,000-ton harvest.

Sugar content in early processing amounts to about 18% which Jacoby called "very good."

Delivering began Monday morning, Oct. 3, and continued until Friday, when weather/storage conditions forced halting deliveries.

MICHIGAN "by the numbers"

WHAT WOLVERINE? We know our state has been known as the "Wolverine State" since 1847, but do you know why? Actually, wolverines probably never have inhabited the state. Some friendly neighbors from Ohio — who regarded Michiganders as mean and vicious as a wolverine — may have first given us the nickname, during the dispute over possession of the Toledo Area. We accepted it proudly...

600 tires are collected

Tuscola County's first tire-recycling collection in Caro earlier this month was successful, as 600 tires were turned in. "Not too bad, considering this was our first time," says Tuscola Recycling Coordinator Sharon Mika. "I had hoped to get 1,000 tires at the site, but we came close."

People who had 50 or more tires could make arrangement for pick-up service, which added about 250 more received.

"Many landfills are no longer accepting tires because they float to the top and break the cover on the landfills," says Mika. The tires collected Saturday are for recycling for fuel and other products.

Residents paid from $1.25 per car tire to $5 for semi-truck and tractor tires.

Village Bach Fest near

Plans for the 16th annual Village Bach Festival next month in Cass City and Caro are in place.

Caro festival is Tuesday, Nov. 22, at First Presbyterian Church, and Friday-Sunday, Nov. 25 - 27 in Cass City.

Concerts are at 8:15 p.m. except for the 3:15 p.m. Sunday concert. Included is J. S. Bach's music and other baroque, as well as modern chamber composers, says organizer Holly Althaver.

The Everest Quartet of Texas will perform for the first time this year in both Cass City and Caro. Also, clarinet soloist Frank Kowalsky will return after several years' absence to perform Aaron Copeland's "Concerto for Clarinet."

"Each successive season of the the Village Bach Festival proves to be interesting and rewarding with music-making of the highest order," says Althaver.

Dr. Ning enjoys Thumb Area

By SALLY RUMMEL

The only thing that's diminutive about Dr. Luningning Gatchalian is her size.

The petite, soft-spoken new doctor at the Scheurer Family Medical Center in Pigeon is actually a giant in terms of her medical accomplishments at age 34 — and her ability to overcome obstacles to practice medicine in the U.S. rather than her native Phillipines.

Dr. Ning and Scheurer Hospital Administrator Dwight Gascho just received word that her long wait for immigration papers allowing her to practice medicine in the U.S. is over and she is stepping into the established practice of the Scheurer Family Medical Center.

Graduating from the top of her residency program at Warren Hospital in Phillipsburg, NJ, Dr. "Ning" literally had the choice of practicing family medicine anywhere she wanted — and she has chosen Scheurer Hospital in Michigan's Western Thumb.

A classmate of Dr. Jim Greenfield, who now practices at Sebewaing Family Medical and Dr. Scott Reiter, who will be coming to Scheurer Hospital next summer, Dr. Ning garnered the respect of all who knew her at the Warren Hospital Family Residency Program, scoring in the astounding 99th percentile on her national residency boards. Dr. Ning is now Board Certified in Family Practice.

A graduate of the Emilio Aguinaldo College of Medicine De La Salle University in the Phillipines, Dr. Ning graduated at the top of her class in 1985 and knew she wanted to bring her medical skills to the U.S., while still helping her native country.

As a teenager growing up in Manila, she spent her vacations visiting squatter areas and helping the poor.

She continued volunteering her services after she became a licensed physician in the Phillipines, dispensing medicine, visiting refugee camps and prisons and was responsible for establishing a day care center in Manila that

GOING TO CHURCH WITH OLD-FASHIONED HORSE-POWER: The Arnold Sticken Family came to services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Linkville in a traditional way last month — by horse! Known as "The Mayor of Hooterville (Linkville)," Sticken and Family arrived at "Old Fashioned Sunday" services in this carriage rig, driven by its owner Elery Fritz. St. Paul's is celebrating its 100th Anniversary Centennial this year.

Recycling is definitely in Sebewaing's trash future

By WALT RUMMEL

"What's happening on the recycling front for Sebewaing Village" is a story that Village Trash Committee Chairman John Pitcher wants to get out to every resident. The village has four years remaining on a five-year contract with Waste Management to handle and pick up residents' trash.

As the entire Council agrees, the state's requirement to pick up and separate recyclable materials is coming nearer with each passing day, so the Trash Committee is thinking of how best to mesh the matter of recycling with trash collections.

Pitcher thinks his committee will try to make a four-year recycling contract, to correspond with the already-enacted trash contract.

"The best way, of course, is to take recyclables out of trash pickups, which would greatly reduce the volume of trash," he says.

Presently, the newspaper drop-off point on the village recycling lot west of the village government complex is open Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon, so residents can drop off their stacks of newspapers.

The tin/metal drop-off program ended when the attendant who was on duty each Saturday morning returned to college about a month ago. Further, Rifkin Scrap Iron Metal Co. of Saginaw which owns the dumpster for metal recycling, picked up its container as not enough metal was being turned in. Rifkin had left the dumpster here without charge in exchange for receiving the metal cans that were brought in.

"It wasn't economically feasible to have a village worker on duty three hours Saturday mornings just to accept old newspapers," Pitcher says.

When a full program for recycling is enacted by Sebewaing village, then glass and plastics will be picked up by a truck crew in addition to paper and metal from cans.

There is a lot of explaining and teaching to be done before a town can begin a recycling program, Pitcher says, including:

- Glass will be sorted by brown, clear and green colors;
- Plastics will be divided into 6 or 8 categories. Many containers now show an identifying mark into which the various classes are separated;
- Generally, only regular newspapers are acceptable, he said, and not the slick-paper, smooth-finished magazines;
- Metal, such as tin or aluminum cans will have their own necessary style in handling—whether cleaned, whether labels are removed, or whether crushed—all need to be determined with the recycling company and then the procedures have to be taught to residents.

"So, it's a form of training, maybe lasting several weeks, will have to be undertaken before we could begin a program," Pitcher says. "You can't just decide to go into it and then start picking up recyclables the next week."

Another problem is to discover the best route to take—whether trash and recyclables are to be picked up together, or the same day or on different days.

Pitcher says perhaps it would be most convenient to have the job finished on one day, but possibly no recycling company could coordinate such a program with simultaneous trash pickups.

Most communities are on an every-other-week recycling pickup, rather than on a weekly schedule, he says.

"We need to look this all over seriously, and come up with the best plan possible to fit our residents' needs," he says.

USA Schools seeking adult volunteers

By MARY DRIER

Some little VIPs need VIPs. Some USA School children need a special friend—and to help meet that need, the school has created the Volunteers In Partnership program.

Adults, both male and female, are encouraged to participate in the program. The only requirements are a listening ear, a big heart and a little time, organizers say. Volunteers spend about an hour a week with a child. During that period, the volunteer and child can talk, play educational games, read books, provide support for school assignments or work on a craft.

The program is about two years old. Its first emphasis is on elementary students, but this year the program will expand to the middle school at the fifth-grade level only. Depending how the program is received there, other grades may be included, organizers say.

This year, volunteers hope to form a formal board and possibly publish a newsletter.

Initially leaders had planned to seek a state grant to help operate the program, but the grant requirements weren't right for the goals of the local program, says Sue Wiese, a volunteer who coordinated the meeting.

The first VIP meeting of the 1994-95 school year was held last week and about a dozen people attended. Organizers found that encouraging because only two people attended the first meeting last year.

There aren't enough volunteers to go around and several children are on a waiting list—waiting for a new friend. For more information, call USA Elementary Principal Matt Airgood at 674-8718.

NEWSWEEKLY UNCOVERS MYSTERY: Be sure to see Dad Walt Rummel's "Yarns From The Thumb" on Page 5 this week, to see who held up that "Sebewaing-Owendale" sign on the TODAY show last week. (He got the phone call with the answer, so he should get the credit!)

The start of Fall has been both happy and sad for me since the early 1960s—happy because it brings such great colors and smells, but sad because evenings are longer, nights are colder... and winter is coming.

My most-memorable Fall times were about the time I started high school, and Friday nights meant football games. It was a GREAT feeling to be out, meeting new friends and checking out "new" girls at the game and at the Blue Line Dairy Bar. Some of the great smells I always recall from Fall include:

- That great sweet smell from Sebewaing's Sugar Factory;
  - The earthy, just-picked smell of a truck-load of sugar beets going by;
  - Leaf-burning smells of fall, best if the pile is a block away or so;
  - Newly-mown grass, since it's about the last cutting of the year.
- How about you? I'll bet you have lots more favorite smells. Drop us a note—we'll share a few of them here.

• Speaking of great smells, here are a few year-round ones:

- Home-baked bread coming out of the oven (or, these days, the bread-making machine!);
- The overall smell of a full-fledged turkey dinner at Thanksgiving;
- A real Christmas tree, as you enter the room;
- That new-car smell, so fresh and ready for action;
- A whiff (but just one...) of gasoline going into that car;
- Chocolate chip cookies headed into the oven;
- The light smell of freshly-caught fish, or that fishy smell just before a storm...

Once again, I'll bet you've got lots more. Let us have 'em... — 30 —

SARAH & ANDREW UPDATE: About once a year, we try to bring you up-to-date with the Rummel Ranch crew kids:

■ Sarah is a sweet 13-year-old eighth grader who loves school (and doesn't even mind her homework too much.) Our tall (and pretty) daughter still loves to dance and is very busy baby-sitting several nights a week. With Mom Sally's help, Sarah saves half her baby-sitting money and uses the other half to carefully buy clothes and occasional treats. Favorite foods: pizza, pasta and steak, but she'll try almost anything.

serves 40 children age three to six.

"I can do more to help my people by working and helping from here," says Dr. Ning in a full-length feature news article written about her "medical mission" in The Morning Call, Easton, NJ.

Scheurer Administrator Gascho says he is very excited to have the quality physician that Dr. Ning represents on board at Scheurer and interested in working in a rural area.

"It's a marvelous accomplishment what Dr. Ning has already done in her medical career," he says.

Gascho also has praise for the immigration help he received by Congressman Jim Barcia's office. "We couldn't have gotten the process through so quickly if it hadn't been for Jim's efforts on Dr. Ning's behalf."

The feeling seems to be reciprocated too. "I'm impressed by the people here," says Dr. Ning, who is already encouraged by the number of patients she is beginning to see.

Dr. Ning's practice at the Scheurer Family Medical Center is open Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Phone number is 453-2141.

Fire wrecks historic cottage

A home belonging to Dr. Robert Morden was completely destroyed by fire last week, Oct. 2. The home, on Point Charity Drive, was the first house built on Sand Point, local historians say.

The house apparently burned Sunday night, but wasn't detected until Monday morning, according to Caseville Township Fire Department Fire Chief Ken Hill. The fire apparently started in the center of the cottage, but no cause of the blaze has been determined. The State Fire Marshall was called in to investigate and ruled the fire of suspicious origin.

There was no damage estimate and the home is fully insured, Hill said. Dr. Morden lives in the Birmingham area and was not at the cottage when it burned.

$122,562 for Tuscola kids

Thumb health departments are among 22 agencies sharing $3 million in grant money from the state Department of Social Services, as part of Michigan's "Healthy Kids" initiative. The money will fund local programs to promote children's health-care coverage.

Tuscola County Health Department will receive $122,562 for oral health care services. Plans are to utilize a mobile dental van for dental care at 18 rural sites in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties.

Also, Lapeer Health Department will receive $5,000 for ombudsman/advocacy planning for the county.

Corrections

■ The statewide Proposal seeking a constitutional amendment to establish a Michigan State Parks Endowment Fund will be listed on state ballots as Proposal P (for Parks.) The Newsweekly incorrectly listed its letter in our Oct. 4 issue.

■ Due to a printer's error, the "Helping Grandma dust" photo was printed in reverse. It should have been listed as helping Carole Forster dust were her granddaughters, Jenna on left and Amanda Buschlen.

As we see it What IS in a name??

Americans are joiners, even though we never seem to have enough time on our hands to do the jobs we're already late on! Yes indeed, according to one study as much as 80% of the nation's population belongs to at least one organization.

And it's not just the old standbys such as Kiwanis and Rotary, Masons and Knights of Columbus, Elks, Eagles, Moose, 4-H, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts either, notes columnist Lee Smith.

There's a group with some goal for just about everyone, she says. There are those who unite to Save the Whales, others who cry Destroy the Zebra Mussels. You can be Up for America or Down with Nuclear Power; are urged to Say Yes to Michigan but No to Drugs; be anti-gun or pro-life.

If you prefer your membership in capital letters, do it with MAAD or NOW or AARP or PTO or FFA or BPW; whatever combination you prefer.

Tecumseh resident Smith adds these possibilities, in case you CAN'T find a group to your liking:

"LETS—Let's Eliminate Talk Shows. This might be the ticket to clearing the tube of the morally-impaired, the perverts, the exhibitionists, the whackers (and all that other good stuff) they promote daily. Let's protest so we hear of one more Phil, Oprah, Jessie, Geraldo, Maury, Montel, Joan or Jenny. [Did I forget anyone?]

"STATION—The Society to Advance Trains in Our Nation. Every time I hear the distant whistle of a train or see AMTRAK clipping along, I yearn for the chance to take my grandkids on an old-fashioned train trip. The kind with all the amenities: white-linened dining car, seats that turn into berths (a private compartment if you're flush), a club car and, yes, even the rebirth of a swaying caboose. Think of the jobs a renovated rail system could generate if the D.C. clique wasn't so influenced by lobbyists.

"POPS—The Preservation of Older People Society. With 12.5% of the population at least 65 years old, it's time to consider senior citizens as more than old codgers, geezers, hags, bags.

"FEDUP—Fight Every Damn Uncaring Politician—those who kowtow to the monied special interest groups while ignoring their empty-handed constituents. Those same hands have the chance for revenge on election day by pulling the lever against those who ignored their responsibilities and saddled us with billions in taxes to atone for their cronyism.

"STOP—The Society to Oust Putting. Simply pick up and take two strokes once you're on the green. Think of all the frustrations and naughty words this method would eliminate," Smith says.

And, if none of them suit you, Smith says, dream up your own name, print some T-shirts or bumper stickers and catch the attention of a TV crew... you're famous!

Resident applauds Sweet Adelines' performance

By HELEN WOODWARD, Elkton
Did you get to the Laker High School auditorium this past week?

Those of you who missed the Lake Huron Chorus of Sweet Adelines, International's Fall Concert on Oct. 1 missed an outstanding performance. They always have very good concerts, but this one was outstanding!

The theme was "Hoorary for Love" and the theme was carried out in music and action. "Sally" (Margo Phillips) and "Dick" (Richard Everts) were the two lovers traveling the rough road of love, described in well-chosen musical selections . . . and of course, ending happily.

Several quartets were featured, beginning with Lake Huron's own, followed by the featured quartet "Grand Prix" and several quartets from the visiting chorus, "St. Clair Shores, Sweet Adelines, Int." This group, a very large one, amazed the audience with their unity of music and action. They seemed to move as one!

It was a thrill to watch every director, starting with our Marston Rathje. What a fantastic job these ladies do . . . as do all the ladies they lead. This evening of rare entertainment makes us look forward to the next concert of the Lake Huron Chorus, Sweet Adelines, Int. Thank you for entertaining us!

USA-FFA thanks community for C.R.O.P. donations

By USA High School Future Farmers of America

The USA-FFA extends its thanks to the community for the donations and support of its annual C.R.O.P. Drive held Oct. 5.

With your help, we were able to collect approximately $1,500 on the first day.

This money will be sent to needy people in the U.S. and to other countries overseas. The effort was greatly appreciated.

It's mine, isn't it?

The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. Psalm 24:1

Have you seen my new car? Come over and visit my house. I'm buying another bond for my future.

All these things that are mine—or yours, or his or hers—all these properties that are so important, whose are they really? We may think we own the things of this world, but actually we don't. No one owns their property. No one has ever taken a single dollar, or even a spoonful of farmland with them when they leave this world.

That man in England who loved his car so much that his wife had him cremated, the ashes set on the driver's seat and the entire vehicle buried in the cemetery—he surely didn't take his car with him into death, either.

The point is, it is Almighty God who owns this world. He made it, He works in it, and He rules it.

Best of all, God also redeemed this world. The Son of God, Jesus, came to His earth, where He lived, was crucified and arose, thereby gaining eternal Heaven for all who accept Him as their Savior.

So, we who brought nothing into the world will surely carry nothing out. God has loaned us a small part of His world for a few years, but He owns it. Through His Son, God will someday lead all His children out of the world, into Heaven to spend eternity with Him.

PRAYER: Creator/Redeemer, help us do Your will while we occupy our little corner of Your world. Amen.

Concerned Parent of USA: Do you know what's going on at the USA School District? Do you even care? I approached a parent regarding a Board of Education meeting I had previously attended and the response was, "What were you doing at the Board meeting?" Apparently this parent and many others thought Board of Education meetings were just for the Board only.

Please wake up, people. School Board meetings are open to the public and are on the second Monday of each month at the High School. Show your care and voice your concerns in person. Thank you.

(You make some excellent points, C.P. We as reporters always have stories of Board actions following all local School Board meetings, but all taxpayers are invited to the open meetings. After all, it's your school. Watch for announcements in the Thumb Area Calendar, too, on the back page of each Newsweekly.)

I.L. of Sebawaing: I enjoyed the story about the young Wissner boy in this week's issue. But why didn't you tell who the parents are? That tells part of the story, too.

(You're right, and we goofed. Greg and Carol Wissner of Elkton are Jeremy Wissner's parents, in that particular case. We'll work harder at adding that to ALL stories.)

Grateful in Sebawaing: I am surprised no one has commented on the new spotlight at M-25 and Bay. I've heard lots of favorable comments. I really appreciate it. I've spent lots of time sitting on Bay Street, trying to get across M-25. I'm sure happy it's up. That has been a nervous corner for me, since a slight accident several years ago.

Agnes of Unionville: How many of you watched NBC Dateline Sept. 27 and 28? There was a special report on crypto-sproidium, a parasite that could be in our water systems. We know what it can do. So far there is no natural testing for crypto, but they said all drinking water should be boiled and that filters should be used. But they said some filters are like buying an umbrella full of holes, which won't keep us dry.

You need a good filter. So folks, do some research. Find how they treat your water, especially in municipal systems.

J. of Pigeon: I heard an interesting idea on the radio today, about how we should elect our Senators and Congressmen. The idea is, why not conduct a lottery, where all people who would like to be lawmakers would sign up? Then, we'd pick the first 100 of them for Senators and the next 535 of them for Congressmen, to serve regular terms.

We would get some average folks and some very good ones, probably, this way. You might get some ducks, but we elect some of them as it is. And, in a lottery, you wouldn't have all millionaires and lawyers, as you do mostly now.

P.P. of Sand Point: Now the hockey players are on strike, too? These sports teams have it all backwards. They think we can't live without them. They're wrong. Who needs hockey or baseball? They are over-paid and over-protected.

(Actually, P., the hockey owners have locked out the players, but I think we see what you mean. It's all about money, isn't it?)

Bill of Elkton: About these malpractice lawyers who always are on TV, they almost want a disaster to happen. They make money from tragedy. It doesn't make sense. A 40-year-old man who dies would have made $25,000 a year for 20 more years, or $500,000. But if he gets killed, a jury gives the family $2 million. They are better off if he's dead than if he's alive!

L. from Pigeon: I want to put my vote in for Marv Swartzendruber at Gettel's in Pigeon for salesman of the year. Marv is always cheerful and thoughtful, and he knows what he's talking about. Too bad all salespeople aren't as helpful and wonderful as Marv. He makes it a pleasure to spend money.

B. from Elkton: I liked the comments by Nicole Simpson's sister: if O.J. is so innocent, why do they want to suppress so much evidence in his murder trial? Sounds good to me.

Bob of Elkton: Could someone again explain to me why some of us celebrate Columbus Day and don't do our jobs, when almost everyone else still has to work? But, since some banks and the Post Office among others are closed, those of us who ARE working can't do their jobs completely anyway. We have no parades or anything, yet this stupid observance continues. Why?

■ On the evening of the day last week's Newsweekly was delivered, a call came from Bill Retford of Owendale. "So you're wondering who held up the 'SEBEWAING-OWENDALE' sign in front of the NBC Studio during the 'Today' Show a few mornings ago, are you?" he asked.

"Well, it was my wife, her cousin and her sister," he said. And so it was, Janet (Gettel) Retford, who is starting her first school year as a retired teacher, her cousin, Mrs. Vic (Kathleen Gettel) Engelhardt of Sebawaing, who retired from teaching several years ago, and Janet's sister, Mrs. Ron (Barbara Gettel) Svane of Texas, decided to take a color tour through New England.

While spending a few days in New York City, the ladies went over to watch part of the "Today" show through that now-famous window. Janet performed a sign to tell where they live. Quite a number of Thumb folks told The Newsweekly that they, too, saw the "Sebeawaing-Owendale" sign and — especially after seeing the item in The Newsweekly — every one of them was curious to know who had that PR touch and the presence of mind to gain the free advertising for this part of the Thumb.

Incidentally, Janet and Barbara are daughters of the late Frank Gettel and Kathleen is the daughter of Earl Gettel. Gerry Kohtz of Sebawaing, the first to report seeing the sign, heard about it, too, from many local folks and she was pleased that she could help spread the word. Thanks to all of you for telling it to The Newsweekly. . .

Wie weit geht ein quart honey?

Honey, oder Honig, wie die Deutsche sagen, war eine important Speise fuer die fruehe Settlers in diese Area. Obwohl local Residents hatten ihr eigene Beehives, oder Bienenstock, viele Settlers fanden ihr Honig von wilde Bienen in hollow Trees und Stumps.

Durch die Jahre hatten Dieticians und Chefs und Housewives ihr ups und downs mit Honig. Als war Honig hoch geprieses als health Food, oder even als Medizin. In andere Times war es nur eine susses Speise fuer sweetening, vor Sugar so plentiful wurde.

Even in die Bibel schon wir oft wie important und wie tasty Honig war. Ein incident das wir in die Pigeon Newspaper Office einst hatten macht mir denken about unser alter Publisher whenever ich an Honig denke.

Der alte Publisher hatte Honig evidently sehr gern, weil whenever er Honig sahe in Stores, hat er ein Quart oder ein Honeycomb gekauft. Oefters haben seine Farmer-Freunde ihn ein Quart gebracht als ein Present.

Der Publisher hat auch once in a while ein Drink genommen und als war er even somewhat unsteady auf seine Fuesse. Einst kamm er in die Office mit eine grosse Jar Honig und er hat es ge-sampled in Back Shop in die Druckerei. Das Outside an die Jar wurde sticky so wollte er die Jar abcleanen. Er hat die Jar an die Sink ge-bumped und hat doch die Jar ge-cracked.

Of course, er wollte den Honig saven, instead of down in den Drain runnen so ist er rum-ge-scrambled fuer eine Dish und Wipe Cloths.

Jeder der je Honig ge-handled weiss wieschnell mann sticky Honig ueberall an alles kriegt.

Es geschah ein Tag da er anyway unsteady war, so hat er seine sticky Haende an viele Places ge-touched. An die Sink, an Towels, an Doorknobs, an Drawers, even an seine Desk, an andere Desks und even in die Office waren seine Fingerprints und Thumbprints.

Even seine Car war mit Honig ge-messed including Steering Wheel, Handles, Keys und Trunk.

Seine Coat und Hut, sein Desk Stuhl, seine Pencils, even das inside Drawers — alles hatte kleine globs Honig gekriegt.

Fuer Wochen, even Monate, wenn die Drucker oder die Office Lady oder Visitors etwas in die Office oder Back Shop ge-touched haben, haben Sie ein touch of Honig received. Constantly mussten Arbeiter in die Druckerei ihr Haende washen. Honig war immer easy zu entfernen weil es ist ja water-soluble. Das ist gut, weil alle wurden so oft sticky!!

Fuer Monate, whenever Jemand eine sticky Hand oder Finger ge-catched hat von eine Drawer oder Switch oder Tool, haben Sie gesagt, "Oh, oh! Hier ist mehr Honig, courtesy of unser Publisher."

Die Moral in die Geschichte ist: Ein kleines Tropfen Honig, so wie ein kleines Tropfen Liebe, geht ein long, long Way.

Recollections Of By-Gone Days

by George Keim

DEAR EDITOR:

In this time of year when the harvest is on, I can see how everything is different than it used to be.

There aren't as many silos filled and those that are done with a field chopper and two men can do the work that it took eight or 10 men to do.

When I was a hired man, I worked for a lot of different men and I learned a lot of different ways of doing things. Some were easy and some were pretty hard, but I always managed to get it done.

Back in those days, somebody figured out to make a wagon called a silo wagon. I don't know who did, but almost every Mennonite farmer had one. One old man called it a Memmonite Wagon.

In those days, they cut the corn with a corn binder and it took only one man and a good team of horses or a small tractor. If you did it right, you could go along the row and load a nice load at 40 each.

And if we all worked together, we could haul a lot of corn — enough to keep a silo filler going.

One place where I helped fill, one man just couldn't load corn very well. He'd have bundles of corn cross-wise and some would stay on the wagon and he had an awful time.

Met him in the lane coming up from the field and I had to drive close to the fence to get past him. So I asked him why he couldn't load corn like everybody else.

Well, he said he had a poor wagon, so I told him I'd trade wagons and team with him. So I took his wagon and team and drove up to the silo filler and unloaded his wagon and it was an awful job.

I went back into the field for a load of corn. It worked pretty good. His wagon was alright and his team was well-trained and I got a good load on and took it up to the filler.

When I came back that other guy had my team and wagon and his load was all crooked and he lost some on the wagon, so I made him track back again. He said it wasn't the wagon, it was him!

I wasn't the best man on the job, but I could haul the biggest load and unload it as quick as anybody.

Once I helped thin beans out of the field and I helped a man pitch beans on the wagon. He put his beans on the side of the wagon and when we drove up the lane and got in the gate, the whole load slid off right in the gate.

Nobody could get out or in, but they had another gate to get through.

The man I was working with was a German and we always talked German together. When the beans slid off the wagon, he used some German words I never heard, but back in those days peoples helped each other.

If one had more than another, we'd always help each other 'til we were done.

It says in the Bible that you shouldn't look just after yourself, but also for other people's good.

People are still good to each other, and if a person needs help, if he has any neighbors, they'll pitch in and help him.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE KEIM

Dr. Morden uses new carpal tunnel surgery at Pigeon

By AMY HEIDEN

One of the most common health complaints among workers who do repetitive tasks is carpal tunnel syndrome.

Typing on a keyboard for hours at a time, grasping car parts, or even knitting can cause carpal tunnel syndrome, which causes tingling and pain in the hands, sending workers to the doctor.

If the pain persists, the doctor may recommend surgery to relieve the pain, but typically, that surgery meant weeks or even months of recovery.

But that may not be the case anymore.

Dr. Mary Morden, an orthopaedist who has a practice in Bad Axe and Pigeon and performs surgery at Scheurer Hospital, is now using a new type of instrument in carpal tunnel surgeries, one that promises to decrease recovery time significantly.

Carpal tunnel syndrome is caused by repetitive hand and wrist motions that compress the median nerve, which runs through the wrist to the hand.

Excess fluid or inflamed tendons can cause the nerve to become compressed, causing numbness, tingling, pain and burning and can eventually cause permanent nerve damage and a loss of strength in the hand if left untreated. Previously, doctors who operated on the wrist opened an incision in the palm of the hand, and recovery could take weeks or months.

But the new Agee Carpal Tunnel Release System, now available for Dr. Morden's use at Scheurer Hospital, allows the surgeon to make a small incision in the wrist instead.

The system consists of a disposable blade assembly, with a video endoscope inside. The endoscope is connected to a standard endoscopic video camera system, so that the surgeon has a clear view inside the wrist.

The surgeon positions the disposable blade assembly beneath the offending carpal ligament, then cuts the ligament with the retractable blade. Cutting the ligament relieves the pressure on the median nerve.

And patients who normally were prevented from performing some normal activities for several weeks instead can be back in action within days.

Dr. Morden is now using the new surgical technique when she performs carpal tunnel surgery at Scheurer Hospital, saying "This system is state-of-the-art which allows surgery without cutting much muscle. "Patients heal more quickly and it is a less-drastring procedure. I'm very happy to have this top equipment available here," Dr. Morden says.

Caseville Blood Drive invites donors Oct. 13

John Durocher, Caseville community blood drive coordinator, urges donors to come out to the Thursday, Oct. 13 Red Cross Blood Drive from 2 to 6:45 p.m. at the Caseville Eagles Hall.

"This will be the third blood drive hosted by the Eagles Club," says Durocher. "Each time, we get more donors. This tells me the residents of Caseville really care for their community and each other. They know that blood is never given to people who are healthy... when someone needs blood, it's because they are in serious trouble," he adds.

To become a blood donor, a person must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health.

Downtown Sebewaing vacant building to be demolished

By MARY DRIER
Condemnation procedures will begin soon for a historic but vacant Downtown Sebewaing building.

members told village attorney E. Duane Cubitt of Bad Axe to begin condemnation proceedings for the former Esterline grocery store building, known locally as the Rummel building, at E. Main and S. Center Streets. "We have received many verbal concerns about the Esterline building and safety," said Police Chief Dale Koehler.

A local woman is interested in remodeling the next-door Aileen's clothing store building, but her insurance company said its connection to the Esterline building could cause problems, Koehler said.

Village Building Inspector Scott Millerwise, licensed contractor Carl Rummel, Fire Warden Don Beers and Koehler toured the building last week prior to the Council meeting.

"It is their consensus that the (Esterline) building is a potential hazard coming up," said Koehler, in recommending condemnation.

According to Carl Rummel's letter to Council, the building is an extreme hazard to people on the sidewalk and in the immediate area, since the roof and rafters are not capable of supporting workers for repair work.

He said several inches of snow this winter could cause the roof and part of the west wall to collapse.

In the fall of 1992, First of America Bank of Sebewaing gave the Esterline building and parking lot plus $6,000 for repairs to the Sebewaing Historical Society, who hoped to develop it as a tourist attraction.

"We had some good plans for the building, but unfortunately a few years have passed," said Historical Society member Dave Eberlein this week. "Work has been done on the building, but obviously not enough."

Eberlein noted about $5,500 of the initial money has gone to repairs, and that the society has about $200 budgeted to the project, which basically pays utilities.

As one of the more active members of the group, Eberlein initiated repairs to the Esterline building in 1992, and to the society's other attractions — Sebewaing Township Hall and adjoining Pioneer Home across from the Esterline building.

Original plans were to return the store to its 1910-era appearance to house a museum, retail store and as a center for historical society meetings.

In the early 1890s the building housed the Schwalm and Schluchter Mercantile Business, and then was operated for several years by John Rummel as a general store. The property stayed in the Rummel family for about 75 years.

Mike Esterline purchased the store in 1985 and closed the business in March, 1988.

While attorney Cubitt studies condemnation, several issues remain — including cost of razing the building, ownership of the property, land use after the building is gone and ownership of salvageable items from the building.

In other action, Council members:

- approved hiring R. Burditt Consulting, Inc. of Midland for $1,000 to train DPW workers to meet state health and safety requirements. The village recently received a $150 citation for a minor violation.
- voted Trick or treat hours are 5 to 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 31.

Picking the right blind

The only thing better than owning 200 acres of prime deer land is to have a benevolent brother who owns 200 acres of prime deer land. I just happen to have an older sibling who fits that description.

Along about September, when you walk around the corner and a cold northwester hits you in the face, is the time to start some serious thinking about your deer blind.

Each year for the past two years, I have built a portable deer blind in my garage and transported it to the deer camp for placement in a location pre-determined the year before. The objective is to have enough blinds for everyone's use, with a few left over.

Presently, with the one I built this year, there are 11 blinds on the 200 acres. Three are ground blinds, three are strictly rifle blinds and the other five could be used for either rifle or bow hunting.

There are no tree blinds on our property. At one time there were some, but several years ago it was decided that any hunting would be done from the ground.

Some of the blinds use bait, while others rely on normal deer movement and natural food.

The objective of having so many blinds is that we are able to cover a large area safely if we should have that many hunters at one time (which we never do).

The fun comes when you

By Duane Guenther

try to outsmart the deer by being able to pick the right blind at the right time (which I never do).

And nothing proves my theory more correctly than the opening weekend of this year's bow season.

The rain began near sundown on Friday before the opener, and before we hit the sack it was pelting the cabin roof with increasing intensity.

Several times during the night, when I rose to feed the fire or answer nature's call, I would check to see if it had subsided, but the downpour continued.

We had selected blinds earlier that evening and I, with a sudden rush of nostalgia, had picked a weather-tight house located on the edge of a power line that traverses the southern edge of the property.

I had built the blind the year before, but some unforeseen surgery which prevented me from pulling my bow that year, had left the blind vacant during the archery season. I hunted out of it during rifle season and had aptly named it Chernobyl, for it was devoid of deer life that November.

However, this was a new year and I was a stubborn romantic who was bound to bag a deer out of that blind. When the alarm sounded on Saturday morning, I was the only one who rose to meet the call of a new day, that being the sound of a driving rainstorm attempting to beat its way into the cabin.

While my three hunting companions continued to purr like contented kittens, I pulled on my clothes and swathed myself in a camouflage rainsuit.

I had dallied in my morning ritual and as I plodded down the trail towards my blind, a faint light was beginning to edge its way into the heavy stand of poplars.

I kicked a deer out at the first corner and then two more about 50 yards down the trail. This was good, I thought to myself, at least the deer are as dumb as I to go out and about during a rain such as this.

As I neared the blind I slowed considerably, in case a deer or two would beabout, I did not want to spook them needlessly.

I had guessed correctly, for when I got within 20 yards of the blind, I could just make out ghostly shapes of several deer milling around the front of my blind. It is located on a major runway and by the signs viewed earlier in the year, I was sure that at least two bucks were using the trail regularly.

Upon spying the deer, I dropped to my knees and hunched myself into a ball. Perhaps these were really dumb deer and would mistake me for a Realtree stump.

A doe and two fawns moved silently to my left, stopping about 10 yards away. They seemed unaware of my presence and after checking the air for scent and sound, began munching on a couple of maple seedlings.

A movement to my right caused me to sneak a peek and I soon became pinned down by another fawn that had strayed ahead of his mother. This one was only five yards away.

The suspense lasted for about 10 minutes while the deer eased me and I eased the deer. Satisfied that no bucks were about, I rose and spooked the herd into a scattered deer explosion.

Before the last one disappeared I counted 14. Not bad for a nuclear wasteland, I thought.

The rest of the morning I babysat for several motherless fawns. At one time there were five nubbins bucks in front of my blind at once. Should have plenty of four and six-pointers next year.

That afternoon while I remained in the same blind, a 14 year old hunting within 100 yards missed a four-point. I began to think about changing blinds.

The next day I moved to the north end of the property. I was using a ground blind which had been really hot last year, and one which was high on my son Doug's list as a potential place for bigbucks. The evening hunt was perfect.

A slight breeze in my face, a quiet woods and a nice little pit blind with lots of cover. The 14-year-old stayed put and arrowed a fat doe about 5 p.m. and my brother, who was less than 100 yards up the road, had two six-pointers in front of his blind at the same time.

It looks like it's going to be one of those years...

Where Can Our Seniors Go For Help?

- The primary concern of many Seniors is that their affairs are properly tended to by their guardians and conservators. Seniors frequently need easy access to court, and the Huron County Probate Court maintains that easy access all year long.
- We're willing to accommodate Seniors' needs. I even conduct hearings in hospitals and nursing homes when necessary. I also excuse Seniors from coming to Bad Axe by assigning a special visitor to interview them at their home or hospital.
- Many people are not aware that there are over 2,000 active fiduciary files (guardians, personal representatives, trustees and conservators) all monitored by the Huron County Probate Court.
- I pledge to maintain easy access for Seniors to our Probate Court. That's why I have, at my personal expense, instituted a hotline for questions from seniors or those charged with caring for seniors.
- I invite you to call me on my Senior Hotline with your questions and ideas anytime of the day or night at:

FIGHT FIRE WITH FIRE PREVENTION

National Fire Prevention Week
 October 9 - 15, 1994

We Are Grateful To You For Your Dedication!

Caseville Hosts Fire Prevention Day This Saturday

Smokey the Bear will be on hand with free hats and balloons. The Caseville Fire Department will display its newest firefighting equipment, along with antique fire trucks.

They'll demonstrate the Jaws of Life and smoke house too, filled with non-toxic smoke to demonstrate the proper way to get out of your house if necessary. Bring you fire extinguishers to be tested, and if needed, refills will be available for purchase.

Scheurer Hospital's new ambulance will be on display, as well as the Flight Care helicopter, at noon.

Kids can bring their bikes over for a safety check by the Caseville Police Department from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and County Sheriff's Department will be on hand to help parents I.D. their children.

All Fire Prevention Day events will be held in the lot between the Bay Window Restaurant and the Caseville IGA on Main Street.

Follow these Fire Safety Ideas!

1. Keep fresh batteries in your home smoke detectors to maximize potential escape time.
2. Always make note of where fire exits are located when entering any building.
3. If your clothing catches on fire, roll back and forth on the floor to put it out.
4. In heavy smoke conditions, cover your nose and mouth with a cloth and get down on your hands and knees.
5. If you're caught inside during a fire, never enter a closed room unless the door is cool to the touch.

Pats spoil Sandusky Homecoming

By AMY HEIDEN
With only three games left in the season, the USA Patriots are facing the possibility of winning at least a share of the Thumb C Conference American Division title.

But first, they needed to get by a tough Sandusky team on Friday night.

Sandusky wasn't going to make it easy for the Patriots, but the scrappy USA team fought its way back from a 14-8 halftime deficit to get a 26-14 win, their fifth in a row.

That also puts them atop the state computer rankings in their region, leading up to the Nov. 4-5 playoffs.

The Patriots scored on their first possession of the game, when Jason Martens grabbed an Aaron Eurich 16-yard pass in the end zone. Eurich then found Calvin Fuerst for the two extra points.

But Sandusky dominated the second quarter, with James Minard scoring on a 10-yard run and a one-yard run, along with the two-point conversion. Minard gained 109 yards in the first half alone.

But the Patriots came out of the locker room after the half-time break ready to seize back the initiative, and that they did, with Craig Vermeersch scoring on a eight yard run to tie the game.

Vermeersch scored again midway through the fourth period on a four-yard run, and with four minutes left on the clock, again found his way into the end zone, this one on a 58-yard run.

USA dominated the second half offensively, running 34 plays on the ground to Sandusky's 14.

"Our defense held Sandusky to only three plays in the third quarter," Coach Tim Travis said. "They didn't get the ball much in the second half and that allowed us to drive down and score."

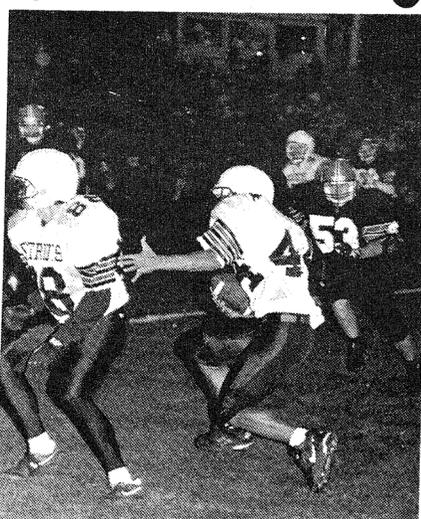

And our offensive line helped us hold onto the ball and we were able to score when we needed to."

Vermeersch had a super night with 212 yards gained on the ground in 27 carries, while Jeff Ertman had 95 yards in 14 carries. Eurich completed six of his 14 passes for 77 yards and Martens grabbed two of those for 42 yards.

Defensively, Tim Beringer had 13 tackles, and Dan Sweetman and Greg Arebello each had eight tackles. Arebello also snatched an interception late in the fourth quarter.

The Patriots host Mayville on Saturday at 4 p.m. in their Homecoming game. Mayville only has one win on the season, but can't be counted out, Travis said.

"They have a pretty good offense, and while they've given up a lot of points, they can score," he said.

PATRIOT MATT KUHL (88) blocks for ball carrier Greg Arebello (44), in USA's win over Sandusky.

JUNIOR VARSITY: The USA JV team also defeated Sandusky, 14-7. Shawn Gainforth scored both of USA's touchdowns, one on a four-yard run and the other on a 30-yard pass from quarterback Tom Betson.

Gainforth also kicked the two extra points, and he gained 74 yards on the ground in 22 carries. Mike Koepf had 30 yards in 11 carries, while Betson was three for six in the air for 52 yards.

On defense, Dave Spannagel got 13 tackles, Koepf had eight and Eric Hines and Brandon Gettel each had an interception.

USA'S LINDA DAVILA sees nothing but net from where she is, during last week's game with Sandusky. She was top scorer with seven.

Lakers surprise All Saints, 22-19

By AMY HEIDEN
When the muscles are weary and the spirit seems at its lowest ebb, athletes with heart will find a way to win.

And the Lakers reached down deep into themselves and found they had that elusive quality, pulling off a miraculous 22-19 victory over new Thumb C Conference foe Bay City All Saints, after falling behind 19-0.

"We found out we got a big ticker sticking in there," said Coach Bill McLellan.

"It's pretty easy when you're down 19-0 in the first quarter to pack it away."

The Lakers had never fallen so far behind so early, on their own field, on Homecoming night no less.

After falling behind 19-0 in the first quarter, the Lakers found a way to come back from what looked to be a heartbreaking defeat.

The Cougars scored on their first possession of the game, with Jason Fritz plunging in from the two-yard line with 7:59 on the clock. A seldom-seen extra point kick gave BCAS the early lead.

And that lead was extended on the kickoff, when the ball squirted away from the Laker receivers and a host of Cougars pounced on it.

Two plays later, Scott Rybak grabbed a 43-yard TD pass from quarterback Chris Bannigan, with the extra kick falling short.

The Cougars scored on their next possession, too, with Fritz running 17 yards for the third TD of the evening.

But that early lead sounded the wake-up call for the Lakers, who didn't fail to heed the warning in the second period.

With the Cougars facing a fourth-and-two, they got a costly holding penalty and were forced to punt. The Lakers took over, drove the field, and finally Matt Keefer dove through the line for the score. Matt Esch added the two-point PAT, with the halftime score at 19-8.

Esch and Heath Krohn brought down crucial passes in the third period to set up Keefer's second TD, this one a four-yard run. Keefer added the two points, and the Cougars were facing the possibility of a loss for the first time that night.

Yellow flags fluttering in the breeze might be a pretty sight to some, but they sure weren't to BCAS Coach Jeff Bisel.

The Lakers were driving for the go-ahead TD when the Cougars were called for pass interference.

Wes Stanton picked up the crucial first down on fourth-and-two at the Cougars' 16-yard line, then Krohn grabbed a Nate Gotts pass at the four-yard line. Stanton then ran in for the TD and the 22-19 lead.

With less than two minutes left in the game, the Lakers took over, but fumbled the ball on the first play and the Cougars recovered at the Laker 23-yard line.

The Hail Mary pass to Rybak near the end zone, which could have given the Cougars the win, was batted down by Esch to seal the Homecoming victory.

The win was the Lakers' fourth in a row and fifth overall. That puts them first in the Thumb C National League and could move them up in the state's computer rankings, where they were in third place in the region.

Stanton gained 69 yards in 19 carries for the night, while Gotts completed six of 12 passes for 85 yards.

The Lakers travel to Bad Axe next Friday for their final conference game.

JUNIOR VARSITY: The JV team trounced the All Saints Cougars 44-22. BCAS took the lead but the Lakers struck hard and quick to earn a 24-8 halftime lead.

Lady Pats improving

By AMY HEIDEN
The Lady Patriots matched up last Tuesday with Sandusky, one of the top teams in the Thumb, and while they played hard, fell to their opponent 76-24.

"They dominated us in every phase of the game except free throws," said Assistant Coach Todd Cramer.

"They're one of the best teams around."

Sandusky got out to a 26-9 first quarter lead and continued to pour it on through the next quarter, leading 42-13 at the half, and holding the Patriots to only 11 points in the final half.

Linda Davila was the leading scorer with seven points, and point guard Leah Collon had 10 rebounds.

The team had a better night on Thursday, but the Mayville Wildcats handed the Pats a 56-47 loss.

The Patriots battled fiercely through the first half, outscoring the Wildcats 27-21 at the halftime buzzer. But Mayville's Kari Robinette exploded in the third quarter, ending the game with a game-high 27 points.

The Patriots were hampered somewhat by Angie Gremel's bout with bronchitis, which limited her playing time, and her troubles with fouls.

"We played a great first half but we came out flat in the third quarter," Cramer said. "It was a tough game by both teams."

Collon was the leading scorer for the Patriots with 13 points and L. Davila followed with 11 and Gremel ended the night with seven. Davila and Collon each pulled down seven rebounds.

200th win for Lakers' Paul Beachy

Last Thursday's victory for the Lady Lakers had special meaning for head coach Paul Beachy. Not only was the win satisfying because it was over long-time rival Bad Axe, but it was especially important because it gave coach Beachy his 200th win at the varsity level at Lakers.

As a reward for his efforts, the team put him in the showers in a post-game celebration.

The Lakers had little trouble disposing of the Hatchets, thanks to a strong defense and a fast start at the offensive end. At the end of the first period the Lakers led 24-7, thanks in part to Carolyn Bollenbacher's two triples and another one by Kristen Damm.

The second half saw all of the Lakers contributing to the offense, and at the final buzzer, the score read Lakers 77, Bad Axe 46.

Details of the game showed Angie Weidman leading the scorers with 21 points and 10 rebounds. She was followed by Betsy Drury with 15 points, Carolyn Bollenbacher with 13 points including three triples, Nicole Kolar with 12 points, Jenny Smith and Kristen Damm with five points each, Michelle Bolda with four and Jody Herbert with two.

As a team, the Lakers had good success at the free-throw line, canning 15 for 23.

This victory brings the team to eight wins against three losses and a perfect 5-0 in division play.

This week sees the Lakers in action at Ubyl on Tuesday and home against Cros-Lex on Thursday.

JUNIOR VARSITY: The JV team got an easy win over Bad Axe 55-38. Marie Hurren led her team with 15 points, while Kate Damm followed with 14 and Deanne Jaworski canned 12 points.

FRESHMEN: The freshman team also had little trouble with their Hatchet opponents, dumping them 52-29. Everyone on the roster contributed to the victory, with Shannon Pionk leading the way with 14 points.

EVEN THOUGH the Caseville Lady Eagles lost Tuesday's game to Kingston 51-41, Karla Pittenger had her best game ever, scoring 22 points. Here, Stephanie Maust goes for the basket as teammate Kristin Lisowski looks on.

LAKER SOCCER TEAM MEETS FREELAND

Experience was the key to the game, as a more experienced Freeland team defeated the Laker soccer team 5-0. The game did have its bright spots, as the Lakers had at least a dozen shots on goal. The ball just couldn't find its way into the net, said Coach Mark Weidman.

Outstanding players for the game were Scott Dorland at sweeper, Joel Salsbury at left wing, and Trevor Carrievau.

Horsin' Around

by Kate Pickering

A joyful noise

When I was little, I used to fancy myself an undiscovered "Annie" of sorts (You know, of hit Broadway musical fame?) I would gladly do my best off-key Ethel Merman for anyone foolish enough to listen. And fortunately for me, my sister's proficiency on the piano got me quite a few gigs. I sang on WLEW's "Barney Schubring Show," at 4-H talent contests and in Christmas pageants. Sometimes we even made homemade cassette tapes to send to relatives not "fortunate" enough to see us perform live.

But... I was pretty bad! Oh, I could carry a tune, but not with any quality, control or general "pleasantness." Then as I began to mature, my loud, childish, "Tomorrow, Tomorrow, I Love Ya, Tomorrow" voice began to mellow somewhat. Though still not big on quality or control, by the time I was 14 or 15, my voice was at least becoming - maybe - a little bit pretty?

Then I joined the Laker High School Chorus... and in the years that followed, the inimitable Mrs. Sharon Zaleski helped me to hone what little talent I might have had. During those four years, I enjoyed stints as both a first and second soprano and even sang alto my last year.

And those were some of the best times of my life - learning to use and control my voice, to understand and appreciate music and to start the year as a fidgety bunch of uncooperative teenagers and end in the spring with live, on-stage performances which were impressive - if not exactly awe inspiring. So it dawned on me that maybe I had found my niche. I knew that I enjoyed nothing better than singing to the heavens with all the force and air I could expel... but it became apparent that my soft and uninteresting voice was best showcased in a group, trio or duo.

After that, the joy and fulfillment I came to know whenever I was allowed to lend my little talent for harmony and back-up singing far surpassed any "Ethel Merman" spotlight I thought I'd enjoyed early in life.

But after high school there was not a lot of opportunity to strike up with wandering minstrels and on top of that, my lifelong accompanist/sister moved far away to the big city. Suddenly I was left music-less.

Oh, I did a half-hearted stint as a cantor in church, but found being alone in front of the microphone just too stressful and nerve-wracking, albeit interesting and educational. Besides, there was just no getting around the fact that I preferred singing with people!

Now a couple of years have slipped by and I have not made a "joyful noise," except to hum along with the radio or lend my own harmonic arrangements to a favorite cassette tape.

And I have found I have regressed! Unfortunately, any musical blossoming I might have done or any level of pleasantness I may have achieved in my singing is now gone. Sitting at the piano with my sister just a couple of weeks ago, I found the shrill, flat, off-key voice of the eight year old "Annie-wannabe" was back, and the quiet, clear voice Mrs. Zaleski had perfected was gone.

Well, maybe Mrs. Z. can do some private tutoring now that she's retired... ya think?

USA HIGH SCHOOL'S Future Farmers of America participated in the recent C.R.O.P. Drive (Christian Rural Overseas Program) and helped raise more than $1,500.

FFA members (in front) Heather Joles and Kristy Hout-hood were among USA Chapter members who help collect funds. Pam Wiltse and DeShayla Reinke of Dr. Jim Greenfield's office were among the area businesses canvassed by the group.

"The money will be used to help people in the United States in need and people overseas with food and equipment to grow food," said USA's C.R.O.P. Chairman Trevor Balzer. Another monetary use is the development of wells for fresh, clean water.

Envelope please - and the winners are...

DEAR READERS:
I ran a contest over this past summer for children ages 6 to 16. The essay question to respond to was: "What can you do this summer to make a positive impact on your life?"

By Percy Ross

I asked that the kids and teenagers write me in c/o "Future Taxpayers" and for every response printed, I promised I would award $200.

Let me tell you what a treat those letters were to receive! The bad news, is due to limited space I can only print five of the winning entries.

However, the good news is there's a generation coming up that is very volunteer-minded, that's willing to say "no" to drugs, gangs and guns, and is concerned about the elderly, homeless and animals.

There's been a lot of tree planting and recycling going on. Our young entrepreneurs have started small businesses of lawn mowing and baby-sitting.

These kids have addressed responsibility, attitude, sharing, setting examples for their younger siblings and the value of a dollar. They exercise and try to eat healthy foods.

I'm impressed... and the winners are:

■ "I ride my bike and I clean just being a Christian makes a very strong impact on my life. Thanks for the wonderful idea." - Claire Gilbert (age 9) Lawrenceburg, KY

■ "My name is Mark and I am 10 years old. My brother's name is Christopher and he is 6 years old. We would like to enter your contest together. If we win we will share the $200.

In answer to your question our answer is simple. Writing this letter to you will and has already made a positive impact on our lives because instead of fighting and arguing we are learning to work together toward a common goal: winning!

It is also helping us to practice our writing and spelling. It will also help us with our reading because now instead of reading the funnies and my room and I read my books and I eat with my mouth closed." - John Vergovuen (age 6) Petersburg, MI

■ "Learn to swim. Help Keith to learn to talk since he's hearing impaired then he'll be more fun to play with. Push Kyle in the stroller while mom makes dinner to earn my allowance." - Kevin Graden (age 7) Zionsville, IN

■ "I never have thought about that question you asked before. My papaw on my dad's side of the family will not be around forever and sometimes he can use the Lord's name in vain.

Maybe I can help him understand who he's talking about and that will not only make me a better person but a better Christian as well, and sports pages, we will look forward to reading our letter in your column. It is also teaching us to share which is what our mom and dad say you do every day.

It is OK if we don't win because our mom and dad tell us it is better to try and lose than to not try at all." - Mark and Christopher Barrow (ages 10 and 6) Hayward, CA

■ "I am a 15-year-old girl who gets stressed out from grades, because I am working hard for a scholarship. When summer vacation rolls around and final exams are completed, my face radiates with a satisfied smile. The best way I can spend my summer is by taking it each day at a time.

Each day I... pray, smile, relax, laugh, phone a friend, take care of my brothers, take care of myself, read, listen to music, dance, sing, pretend, cherish a loved one, treasure a memory, make an effort to look my best, eat at least one healthy meal, try something new, have faith, trust, love, share, spend some time alone, take out the garbage, form shapes out of clouds, wish on a star, don't give up, read the comics, and live life.

Living everyday like this will lead me to a successful life full of happiness and love." - Esther Stiger (age 15) Winter Haven, FL $$$$$

Write Percy Ross, P.O. Box 39000-B, Minneapolis, MN 55439. Include your phone number and say you read it in "The Newsweekly." All letters are read. Only a few are answered in this column; others may be acknowledged privately.

SUPERSTITIONS

The term "supernatural" is often taken to mean beliefs concerning magic, supernatural invisible forces or natural lore, witchcraft, the evil eye, omen, signs, ghosts and a variety of spirit beings.

Some of the beliefs may seem strange today. Here's just a sample of common superstitions:

- Avoid the number 13 or a crack in the sidewalk;
- People with large ears live longer;
- It's unlucky to spill salt;
- Itching palms may be token money;
- Black cat crossing your path means bad luck;
- Bad luck follows if you break a mirror;
- Friday the 13th;

What superstitions can you think of?

Donations needed for Pigeon history video

Pigeon will have a special historical video on sale before Christmas — detailing the town and area's history from 1850 to 1950.

But to make it as successful as possible as a fund-raiser for the Pigeon Historical Society and Pigeon Chamber of Commerce, some last-minute help is needed... right now.

That's the word from Edwin Eichler, who is handling fund-raising to duplicate the hour-long video "History and Pioneers of Pigeon 1850 to 1950."

Professional videographer — and Pigeon native — Allison Eichler has devoted several hundred hours to creating the video, using old photos, home movies, recreations and recollections of local residents. "This is something Al has wanted to do for his hometown, using his 40-plus years in the movie and media business," Ed Eichler says.

He estimates costs at up to $10,000 have been invested already, and now duplicating costs must be paid for, so profits from selling the videos can go directly to the Pigeon Historical Society and Chamber projects.

The volunteers hope to sell the tapes at $19.95 beginning in early November. Eichler is seeking two tiers of donations to the video project:

- Corporate Sponsors, at $1,000 each, who would get prominent listing on the video box and tape, plus receive 35 tapes, with a value of $700.
- Family Sponsors at $100 each, to be listed in the credits and receive three tapes, with a value of $60.

"That means the net cost to Corporate donors would be $300 and the final cost for Family sponsors would be $40, because of the tape copies included," Ed Eichler says.

"We believe this is an excellent investment, to insure that the costs thus far and ahead are covered. That provides more funding for the Historical Society."

Tapes will be on sale in the next month at Chamber member businesses, but help is needed in the fund-raising immediately, Eichler adds.

Eichler and Eichler both say another video could be created in 2003, for Pigeon's 100th anniversary, to cover the 1950-2003 period.

Persons or companies interested in more information about contributing should contact Ed Eichler at Pigeon Telephone Co., 453-4321.

"We need help in raising the money right now, to help put this unique project over the top," Eichler says. "We will appreciate your consideration."

"This will be a memorable video, similar in interest to the Pigeon Diamond Jubilee Book of 1973," when Pigeon turned 75 years old.

The Agriscience classes assisted in testing for nitrates, phosphates, silica, dissolved oxygen, carbon dioxide, pH and hardness.

This hands-on experience helps to teach the students about different chemicals and how they affect the environment, says Advisor Carl Kieser.

Later, results will be shared with the Sebawaing Chamber of Commerce and the community.

HERE, Amy Kinney, on left, and Darcy Haag read the final results on nitrates in the water of Sebawaing River. Other students checked the dissolved oxygen in the river water.

Bowl Oct. 22 to 'make a difference'

A ramp or a special piece of furniture can make a big difference in the life of a disabled person.

But there are cases in which funds are limited, and insurance won't pick up the cost of building an access ramp or buying special furniture.

That's where a new fund administered through the Human Development Commission comes in — and volunteers from Scheurer Hospital hope to make a major impact on that fund and "make a difference."

In honor of the nationally-recognized Make a Difference Day, Oct. 22, workers of Scheurer Hospital are holding a bowl-a-thon at Pigeon Lanes.

The volunteer bowlers are taking pledges for each game, according to Phyllis Yoder, Scheurer's director of community and staff education.

Scheurer employees will be joined by workers from Wal-Mart in Bad Axe for the bowl-a-thon, and pledges to those volunteers will be matched by Wal-Mart Cor., Yoder said.

Other local businesses are donating food and prizes for the bowlers.

To make pledges to the bowl-a-thon, call Yoder at Scheurer Hospital at 453-3223.
