To is a fact that can be substantiated by the most respectable testimonials ever offered in favor of any proprietary medicine, that the Radioal Curr for Clatarra does in every case afford instant and permanent relief. No matter of how long standing, or how severe the disease, the first doce gives such evidence of its value in the treatment of Catarrhal affections that confidence is at once felt in its ability to do all that is claimed for it. The testimony of physicians, druggists, and patients is manimous on this point, and the accumulating evidence is in point of respectability superior to any ever before obtained in favor of a popular remedy. The proprietors, therefore, may justly seel proud of the position this remedy has attained, and believe it worthy of its reputation. -The Postmister-Coneral has ordere that all persons receiving mail matter h der fictitions names shall be identifi d the postoffice before the mail is delivered

Washington's first name was George. purpose He was the Father of his Country, which was the only child he had, and which has since grown so big and proud as almost to have forgotten its parent and his wise teachings. He was a Virginian by birth, and that colony having gone into rebellion. (a habit it has) against the then general government, he became a rebel brigadier, and sabsequently a major-general and commander-in-chief. When the war was over he was elected President twice in succession, and the people would have been glad lined, telling them plainly that it would bill to place certain articles imported and be a dangerous thing for them and their used in the manufacture of paper on the liberties when they came to believe that any one man was so necessary for the salvation of the country that he should be elected again and again to rule over them. When he retired from the Presidency he didn't start out on a tour of the world to hob-nob with kings and princes, emperors and tycoons, but, solemnly warning his country against having anything to do with foreign kings or governments, he retired to his farm and occupied himself with a faithful performance of the duties of a private citizen. He voted regularly in Alexandria, Va., joined the fire company in that town, and was often seen at the brakes helping to save the property of his fellow

After his successor, John Adams of Mas--achusetts, had been President four years, and the time for an election had again come round, there appeared to be much popular dissatisfaction with the administration. The federal leaders, the Conklings, Camerons, Logans and Chandlers of those railroad companies against the reduction days were angered because Adams wasn't "stalwart" enough in his federalism, while the masses of both parties were somewhat disgusted with him for other reasons. Some teared he could not be re-elected if he ran for a second term, while others did not want him elected if he could be. It struck thing to bring Washington out again, and improvement of the Mississippi river at tablished at Copenhagen, Denmark, with are frequently seen to come up and browse one of them wrote him announcing that if St. Charles. he (Washington) had no objection, he (the foot down on the proposition right there at the outset. Wm. Cook offers a very desirable Will. Cook offers 2 very destrable farm for sale at Henderson Crossing—130 acres with 26 acres of wheat in the ground. Will sell in two parts or all together if it suits the purchaser. Forty acres lie at the Station, with a good house and other out buildings, a small orchard with a variety of fruit—Apples, Pears, Plans, Cherries and Peaches also currants and two graperies.

This would be a very destrable place for a store or a wheat elevator, or both, as the boundaries of said 40 seres come up to the station, and 30 acres lie 30 rods from the station, with a good surrounding community. Terms easy.
