OVERTHROW OF CHRISTIAN INFLUENCE young people of the village had nothing to do but devise ways and means of amusing themselves.

It was not a difficult undertaking. In the heart of the mountains there was plenty of game and abundance of fishing, and pic-nics, berrying and croquet parties were in order nearly every day.

None of the young people cared to think of the end of their holiday time, but Harold was the only one among them who could count the days remaining to him on the fingers of one hand. His friends seemed as sorty to have him leave them as he was to go.

Rolcomb, or ing his reasons for vetoing the measure the Porter county; judges of the supreme court, W. E. Niblack of Knox county, G. W. Howk of Floyd county, and president déclares that congress has gone beyoud constitutional limits in granting favors to localities where the benefits to be attained are of a purely local nature. Referring evidently to the items injected in the measure by which votes were gained he says: "As the bill becomes more objectionable it secures more support." He also notes the great increase in the sums demanded from year to year. In 1870 only $3,975,900 was asked; in 1875, $6,648,-517.50; in 1880, $8,978,500; and in 1881, $11,451,-300. These objections could be removed and every constitutional purpose readily obtained should congress enact that one-half only of the aggregate amount provided for in the bill be appropriated for expenditure during the fiscal year, and that the sum so appropriated be expended only for such objects named in the bill as the secretary of war, under the direction of the president, shall determine; provided, that in no case shall the expenditure for any one purpose exceed the sum now designated by the bill for that purpose.

ceed the sum now designated by the bill for that purpose.

I feel authorized to make the suggestion because of the duty imposed upon the president by the constitution to recommend to the consideration of congress such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient, and because it is my earnest desire, that public works which are in progress shall suffer no injury. Congress will also convene again in four months, when this whole subject will be open for their consideration.

The Republican Press on Robeson.

From the Utica (N. Y.) Observer. If there is any one conclusion upon which the American people may be said to be agreed, it is that George M. Robe-son is a thief. When the present Congress was organized it amazed and abashed the Republicans to see the bloated, red-faced, brassy Jerseyman march to the front and calmly appropriate the control of their organization. When it was made apparent that he had not only dictated the committee appoinments of his crea-ture, Keifer, but had arranged a system of duplication by which he absolutely controlled both the Naval Committee body, the respectable Republican papers pasts it where he shall see it again.

A contemporary seks: "How shall see it again. Such straight party journals as the Boston Advertiser, the New York Times, the Albany Evening Journal, the Philadelphia Press, the Baltimore American, and the Chicago Tribune declared in plain words that Robeson's eminence in the House threatened to disgrace the party, and that if his party colleagues permitted him to improve the opportunities for theft which he had created, the whole party would explate that folly at the polls.

Coverage objections could be removed and every constitutional purpose readily obtained should congress enact that one-half only of the aggregate amount provided for in the bill be appropriated for expenditure during the fiscal year, and that the sum so appropriated be expended only for such objects. named in the bill as the secretary of war, under the direction of the president, shall determine; provided, that in no case shall the expenditure for any one purpose exceed the sum now designated by the bill for that purpose.

I feel authorized to make the suggestion because of the duty imposed upon the president by the constitution to recommend to the consideration of congress such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient, and because it is my carnest desire that public works which are in progress shall suffer no injury. Congress will also convene again in four months, when this whole subject will be open for their consideration. for that purpose.

The Republican Press on Robeson.

From the Utica (N. Y.) Observer.

If there is any one conclusion upon which the American people may be said to be agreed, it is that George M. Robeson is a thief. When the present Congress was organized it amszed and abashed the Republicans to see the bloated, red-faced, brassy Jerseyman march to the front and calmly appropriate the control of their organization. When it was made apparent that he had not only dictated the committee appoinments of his creature, Keifer, but had arranged a system of duplication by which he absolutely of duplication by which he absolutely controlled both the Naval Committee the noble red man. The secretary of and the Committee created to watch that body, the respectable Republican papers pasts it where he shall see it again. protested in a loud and emphatic chorus. Such straight party journals as the Boston Advertiser, the New York Times, the Albany Evening Journal, the Philadelphia Fress, the Baltimore American, and the Chicago Tribune declared in plain words that Robeson's eminence in the House threatened to disgrace the party, and that if his party colleagues permitted him to improve the opportunities for theft which he had created, the whole party would explate that folly at the polls.
