If I should raise a thousand children (on contract) from earliest infancy, they would all know how to mind, before they could talk or understand talk. I would talk to the little foreigners by signs just as we do with earthly foreigners. Who hasn't seen a bouncing baby make a room full of people miserable with consummate skill? Now, I should take such a child out in the wood house, and without saying a word make signs or motions toward him until he became quiet. Next time he began his tantrums, I'd motion at him with my dexter finger and almost likely he'd understand me without any conver-sation or need of repeating the previous talk out in the wood shed. So, if I had the floor, I would place him tenderly ly and quietly exposing a portion of his pody, I would imprint upon it a lesson -it is cruelty not to do it.

There was a more or less general acquiescence, and then he walked to the middle of the table, placed his skinny fingers toocther, and, in the tone of a Methodist preacher, calmly laid down the rule of the game. He spoke with labored politeness, and looked around from face to face with a friendly smile as he enunciated word after word distinctly. He seemed to be a long while getting it out, but it was evident that he was anxious to give the players time to cool off a bit. After his harangue he solemnly added: "There can't be a question of doubt, gentlemen, about this decision. CONGRESSIONAL.

FER. 23.—Senator Hoar to-day called up the bill appropriating $250,000 for the erection of a monument in Washington city to the memory of Gen. Grant.

Mr. Plumb thought the bill ought not to pass. He was sure that he voiced the wish of the great soldier whose fame the prowhen he (Mr. Plumb) said no such monuwhen he (Mr. Plumb) sald no such monu-ment was necessary. No monument had been erected, or thought necessary, to the memory of Lincoln. Gen. Grant's fame did not depend on monuments. The feeling for both Grant and Lincoln was deeper and more lasting than any monument could witness. A monument would be idle as a festimonial of the nation's love and regard testimonial of the nation's love and regard testimonial of the nation's love and regard for Gen. Grant. It had come to be too much thought that the expenditure of money was the best way to show regard for the distinguished dead. Mr. Plumb thought the widows of the men whom Gen. Grant commanded, and who made Donelson, Vieksburget the Wildermass and Amenimates. burg, the Wilderness, and Appoinmatox possible, were entitled to the grateful and urgent consideration of the government, yet, though the war had ceased for more than twenty years, we did not find senators urging the senate to set aside all other business in order to pass bills granting them a pittance of a pension.

Mr. Hoar was sure Mr. Piumb was as sincere as anybody in his respect for the great meinory which it was proposed to comemorate, but, Mr. Hoar said, all civilized nations konored trees real leaders by the erection of more week. Fee-24. The Education bill was taken np to-day, and Mr. Blair addressed the senate in reply to the objections and crid-cisms made against it. He denied that the people of the south were opposed to the measure, and insisted that they favored it. It was very easy, he said, to criticise, but that was not the way to remedy an evil.

Mr. Van Wyck called up, and the senate without debate passed, a bill for the relief of settlers and purchasers of lands on the public domain in Nebraska and Kansas. It appropriates $250,000 to be expended for the purpose of reimbursing persons and their purpose of relimbursing persons and their legal representatives who, under the land lays, settled upon or purchased lands with-in the grant made to aid in the construction of the Northern Kansas railroad, to whom patents have been issued for the land, but against which persons decrees have been rendered by the circuit court on account of the priority of the grant to the railroad. FEB. 25.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Tellet offered an amendment providing that the President may allow homestead settlement by citizens of the United States on each niternate quarter section with the Indians who are holding lands under treaties upon payment to the Indians for the same. Mr. Teller thought the best way to civilize the indians was to hold up before them the adyantage of civilization, and if alternate pieces of land were settled by white and red men, school houses and churches would spring up and be attended by both red and children and thus the Indians would the bill was then passed.

The educational bill was discussed without any special interest being manifested.

and at 0 o'clock the Senate adjourned. FRB. 20. Senator Mitchell (Ore.) spoke in the senate to-day in support of his anti-Chinese bill. He justified the proposed re-peal of the Burlingame treaty, and argued to show that congress had a right to abro-gate it. He read newspaper articles to show that the recent anti-Chinese disturbances in the west were not the work of an irresponsible or hoodlum element. They were sponsible or honest labor, he said, the wail of indicanant toll, struggling for life in the manual contest for service labor. If the government of the United States would do its duty and construct this canal the people of the northwest would save 50 per cent of the present rate of transportation, and save enough in one year to build the canal two or three times over. The United States has formidable competitors in the Liverpool market, and if the rates of transportation were not reduced it would soon find itself without the market.

Mr. Morrison called up the bill to tax tractions of gallons of distilled spirits, and set the other. Congress should pay out the millions of dollars that were now rusting in the treasury for the Hennepin canal and other much-needed public works, and this action would result

The average appropriation for pensions for the last six years was $77,499,000, showing that the appropriation contained in the pending bile was elow the average. FEB. 26.-Mr. Morrison (Ill.) reported to the house to-day from the committee on rules a substitute for the Hanback and Pulitzer resolutions directing an inquiry into the Pan-Electric relephone matter. The substitute provides that a select committee of nine make inquiry into any expenditure on the part of the government incurred relative to the rights of the Bell and Pan-Electric telephone companies to the priority of patents, and also to inquire into the issuance of Pan-Electric or other stock to any person or persons connected with either the legislative, judicial, or executive department of the United States to whom where, when, and for what consideration In money or influence said stock was de-livered and report whether either of the telephone companies or their officers, agents, and employes have in any manner

Third, You save 25 per cent of the mortar. Fourth, Your Mason can put on 50 yards more per day, and do better work. Fifth, You save the cost of the lath, and labor of putting it on. Sixth, It will not crack as much as on the common lath.

It is the Common Sense Method.

We are aware that parties who have large stocks of common lath to sell, will be slow to handle our sheathing for the benefit of their customers. But if they do not keep it, For sale at the Owosso Lumber Yard. Always on hand ready for use. L. E. WOODARD.
