the Republican party is hopelessly di-lided upon the liquor question; (2) that the Anti-saloon Convention was not at all representative of the party p that the call for the convention saked for a convention of 1,700 delegates, from 46 states and territories, and was composed of less than 200 delegates from 20 states and territories, while 4 of the 20 were represented by only one delegate each and 5 others by only two each : (3) the party managers and the party press are nearly unanimous in either being allent about the convention, or opposing it and its objects; (4) the temperative men in the party are daily growing less, and the opposition; therein are thereby being left more in the control of party affairs. > Governor Warren has submitted his an nual report, showing the material development of Wyoming territory during the past fiscal year. The tide of immigration, he says, has been sensibly checked by the severe requirements of the general land office. As an evidence of the effect of department rulings in the matter of entries, he cites the fact that only two patents of 120 acres were received last year through the Wyoming land office, though the territory has 60,000,000 acres of government land. Attention is called to the poor mail facilities, it being stated that in 1570, when the population was 60 per cent less than it now is, mail facilities were as good as at ! present. The governor renews the recominendation of his former report that another judge be provided for the territory, and that the number of members of the legislature be increased.

Commissioner Sparks's annual report shows that the sales, entries, and selections of public lands under the various acts of ; congress amount to 20,201,957 acres: Indian lands, 1,162,596 acres; total, 22,124,565 acres, an increase over last year of 1,129,-050 acres. The public surveys during the year embrace 2,802,070 acres. 1910,057 cases of entries investigated, 1,168, embracing 175,000 acres, were canceled as fraudulent, embracing 6,410,000 aeres, and proceedings; to do. to compel removal of tences have been re-commended in eighty eight cases, and final decrees ordering removals obtained in thirteen cases. But this is not the whole story. The acreage disposed of in 1884 was 507,834; and the total entries were 2,928. The acreage disposed of in 1886 was 453,-572, and the total entries were 3,512. In the latter year there were 589, or about one-fifth more entries than in 1884, which one-fifth more entries than in 1884, which does not look as if the policy of the general land office was discouraging immigration.
