The Policy of Fusion.

At every Greenback convention we statement reiterated that fusion is death would only "cut loose from entangling alliances," "stand up and be counted,"

The fact that in every state where the Greenback party has never fused it has completely "petered out" never made any difference with those who made the dependent action.

It is lamentable, but true, nevertheof voters unless there is a prospect of success. The straight ticket of 1880 and paign of 1882 strengthened it wherever a local success was obtained.

It is all right to oppose fusion from principle, but the recent election is only another proof of the error of supposing that straight tickets strengthen a party.

Thousands of Republicans have claimed Instead of the Greenback vote being increased by a straight ticket it has been cut down from forty-two thousand for Butler with the fusion of '84 to twenty-eight thousand in '87. And this twentyeight thousand also includes the tremendous vote which the Union Labor Party-which has never been "killed by l fusion"-was to have pulled !!! As we have said before, there may be good reasons for opposing fusion and for running straight tickets; but the man who talks about a new party springing up and sweeping the state in one or two campaigns talks like a fool.-[Harbor Springs Independent.
