A quaint, old fashioned [illegible] one and a half-story [illegible]. We are met at the door by [illegible] who tells us she is a descendant of the Hathaways. We follow her into the [illegible] the living room, here is the [illegible] old wooden bench, beside the fireplace, in front of a window, where Shakespeare used to sit and say sweet things to his Anne. 'Tis delightful to sit here and think of his wooing, look out of the window, into the fireplace, and around the room, only Shakespeare didn't sit here alone, and if he was at all like the English boys of to-day, whom we saw out with their best girls yesterday celebrating, he probably had his arms [illegible]. Well, this is delightful, to sit here and let fancy play run into the past, but it won't take us over England. We climb a flight of stairs, and are in the Hathaways' spare chamber, with its old bedstead of carved oak, four hundred years old, then we came down again.

A room with a low ceiling will seem higher if the window-curtains hang to the floor. Lambrequins may be used to extend the curtains to the ceiling and thus carry out the effect.

A London medical man says: "Be careful in your dealings with horse-radish. It irritates the stomach far more than spice, and an overdose will bring on an unpleasant sensation for days."

For excessive perspiration of the feet one part of alum with two parts of glycerine should be rubbed on the feet at night and a light open sock worn. In the morning the feet should be washed with tepid water.

Distributing His Favors.

Young Mrs. Greene: "Henry, dear, do you think so much bread and molasses is good for Harry?" Young Mr. Greene: "Certainly it's good for him! Don't you know 'bread is the staff of life?'" Young Mrs. Greene: "Y-e-e-s but so much molasses, you know!" Young Mr. Greene: "Well, what of it? He doesn't eat the molasses; he leaves that on the door-knob.—Puck.

The Fair Pokerist.

The fair poker player was pleased with the game,
For the betting was free and the limit was high,
But affected reluctant to bet all the same,
And pushed in her chips with a bit of a sigh,
Oh, this fair poker player was wonderful sly!
[illegible] she looked on the pot with a smile that was bland,
[illegible] a laugh when they made the last raise,
[illegible] with four aces she held in her hand,

Wild Animals in India

A letter from Calcutta reports that a herd of [illegible] wild elephants has been captured in Mysore. Also that there were [illegible] deaths by snake bites in the northwest provinces last year. In Madras [illegible] cattle were killed by wild animals and [illegible] persons lost their lives by snakes and wild beasts.

These [illegible] with [illegible] announcements [illegible] annotated [illegible] future [illegible] will become acquainted with the merits of so good a [illegible] universally known. Annually, with a system like the rising and setting of the sun, these greetings, which bear health and happiness to the people, make their show. It is a good sign of the standing and influence of a paper—if we may say so—to have its columns graced by the attractions of such reliable matter, and to have dealings with a house of such a character. With the newspaper fraternity such transactions are known to be always attended by fairness, promptness and unfailing integrity on the part of the proprietors towards the publishers. Nor do the mutual relations between the two end with these considerations. It is a pleasure and satisfaction always to know that what they say as advertisers is as reliable as their word of honor, which, in turn, is as sound as gold. We give place, therefore, and make our column rules a frame to the picture of the good old monk, and to all that may be said in behalf of the great remedy for pain, St. Jacob's Oil, with a surety of its truth and with a surety of the virtues of the compound. Their advertising this season is beyond their standard, always of the strongest and most effective kind, and the testimonials for the year 1889 to the efficacy of this far-famed preparation, are as convincing as ever.

The Most Popular Princess.

"Everybody speaks of the Marchioness of Lorne," says the London correspondent of the Liverpool Mercury, "as the most popular of princesses, and one got to understand why from a single incident. She caught sight of Mr. Sala and cried out with delight, 'Is not that Mr. Sala? I know him.' Thinking it would please the dozen of our profession to hear of the princess' recognition I told him what had happened. In return he told me a story which I hope he will forgive me for repeating. In Rome lately he was quietly descending a palace staircase groping his way, his eyesight not being what it was, when a voice cried out, 'Is not that Mr. Sala?' 'Yes, madame,' he replied. 'Ah, you do not know me?' Touched by the assumption that his interviewer was somebody worth knowing Mr. Sala replied, 'No, madame, are you a duchess?' 'No, but I'm Princess Louise.'"

In a moment of forgetfulness the [illegible] teemed New York Tribune permits itself to lament "the disappearance of the original American stock from the farming districts" of New England. Effort is being made to resettle that unhappy district, which once contained the flower of American manhood, by offering tillable and titled lands at $3 an acre. But the effort is vain; too much protection has driven the American farmer out of New England, and reduced his whilom rich estates to a merely nominal value. Wherever protection flourishes the farmer is poor and mortgage ridden. [Chicago Herald.

A snake-charmer and mesmerist traveling through Indiana a few weeks ago enticed the 10-year-old son of Israel Wyant, of Marion, to accompany him. Nothing was heard of the boy until Tuesday, when his father received a letter from him, saying that he was held against his will. Officers are in pursuit.

Attachements for over $17,000 were issued at New York Wednesday against the failed firm of Belford, Clarke & Co., of Chicago, and similar attachments were issued in Brooklyn, Philadelphia, and Connecticut, where this firm has assets. It is stated that the failure is likely to be the cause of extensive litigation.

Mrs. Josie Gurley, serving a term in Joliet Ill., for abducting littte Annie Redmond, has made a confession, stating that her alleged husband, Harvey Gurley, Dick Ryan, Annie Allen, Mrs. Parsons, and a man named McGee, of Toledo, were in the conspiracy, and that they intended to train Annie to sing and dance on the stage.

Apropos of current reports that ex-President Strong of the Atchison is to become president of the Missouri Pacific young Edwin Gould says: "My father has always looked after his own roads. He is president of the Missouri Pacific and will continue in that capacity, as far as I know. He does not intend to give up the position."

At the Indiana yearly meeting of Orthodox Friends, Thursday, at Richmond, a lively debate was held on the general report cautioning Friends in joining in G. A. R. and Decoration Day parades, many believing that the work for universal peace and arbitration was such that they should not interfere with the affairs of old soldiers.

At the Massachusetts Republican State Convention Wednesday the following ticket was nominated: For Governor, J. Q. A. Brackett; for Lieutenant Governor, William H. Haile; for Secretary of State, Henry B. Pierce; for Treasurer and Receiver General, George A. Marden; for Auditor, Charles R. Ladd; for Attorney General, Andrew J. Waterman.

Fire Sunday afternoon destroyed an entire block in the business part of Butte City, M. T. A strong wind prevailed during the fire, and for a time it was feared a disastrous conflagration could not be prevented. The loss will reach $300,000, with an insurance of about $150,000. Three firemen were fatally hurt. The fire was of incendiary origin.

President Manvel, the new president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, states that the details of the policy of the new management have not been decided upon. The only decision arrived at so far was that of the changes of the president's office to Chicago as well as that of the general traffic manager. The remainder of the offices would remain at Topeka.

The New York Republican State Convention met Wednesday at Saratoga, with Chauncey M. Depew as temporary and George B. Sloan as permanent chairman. A ticket was nominated, headed by John I. Gilbert, of Malone, for Secretary of State. The resolutions affirm faith in the tariff, congratulate President Harrison upon the success of his administration, and arraigns Governor Hill for his various vetoes.

Another fissure is visible in the overhanging rocks at Quebec and the cliff is somewhat bulged out. The Kioski at the end of the Dufferin terrace is also inclining over gradually. It is the general opinion that a couple of days more of rain or a night's frost will result in another landslide. Notwithstanding this the city authorities are having a roadway built over the fallen rocks just as if there was not the least danger.

News has been received of a new attempt on the life of the Czar of Russia. A chest of dynamite exploded in the Peterhof Station just before the Czar's departure for Copenhagen. The station was wrecked and a railroad employe killed. It is supposed the explosion was meant to have occurred at the time the great Russian autocrat passed through the station on his way to the train and that the premature crash saved his life.

Near Bucattunna, Miss., early Wednesday morning, a Mobile and Ohio mail and passenger train was stopped by three bandits, who robbed the express and mail cars, getting about $3,000 in money and a number of registered packages. The robbers overlooked $70,000 of government funds en route for Florida. After securing their booty the desperadoes disappeared in the undergrowth, and are now being hunted by a posse and detectives.

A large cave sparkling with gold, silver and sapphires was discovered yesterday in Lincoln mine at San Pedro, New Mexico, which has long produced ore of great value. The cave is about one hundred feet long by fifty wide, and the sides are thickly studded with the precious metals and stones, while bowlders of carbonate were found scattered on the floor. The company only recently refused $250,000 for this mine, which has since been leased to J. C. King. The camp is greatly excited.

About a year ago a number of English capitalists tried to purchase the immense foundry and machine shop of J. H. Bass of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and an offer of $3,000,000, it is said, was refused at that time for the property. The plant includes mills at Chicago and St. Louis and valuable iron mines in Alabama. Negotiations have now been opened by an English syndicate and another bid has been made on the property which is now under consideration. It is not thought that Mr. Bass will sell out.

The Gospel Meetings at the 4th ward Union Chapel, Sunday, were very interesting, as follows:

Morning: Praise services conducted by Mr. Richards; Discourse by Rev. J. Storrer; Experience and Song conducted by Mr. A. Amspoker.

Evening: Revival Service, conducted by Mr John Brooks; Discourse, by Rev. J. Storrer; Inquiry Meeting, led by Mr. Richards

Services of the same order will be held next Sunday.

PROFESSIONAL NURSE.—Mrs. K. R. Staplin, for many years a professional nurse in different towns in New York and Michigan, has located in this city and will respond to calls in city or country. She cites best of references from many eminent physicians, among them the following from this State: Drs. H. Williams and H. D. Leach, East Saginaw; Dr's Hugh McCall, A. H. Thompson, F. Jackson, Wm. A. Jackson, W. H. Fanning, G. Wirt and Hathaway, Lapeer; Dr's L. C. Davis, Richard Mareis and P. Allen Cullis, Vassar, and many others. Her residence is on Elmwood street, third house from King street, east. See card in another column.

—Rev. J. O. Cutts is to give up the pastorate of the Church of Christ (Disciples) on account of his health. He will go to Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Cutts have been held in high esteem during their six months' residence in Owosso. They have been popular, not only in their own communion and religious work generally, but also in social circles, and their departure will be greatly regretted.

Hoyt's "Bunch of Keys" was produced last evening at the Bush-street Theatre for the first time and the auditorium was filled to overflow with the admirers of the comedy playwright. The play this year is produced by the Sparks Company, under the management of Daniels and Riegal. Although it is the same old bunch of keys, they have grown more polished with usage.—San Francisco Daily Report.

—John Shaw is getting around again after four weeks sickness.

[illegible] these laws are the death penalties to many of our people, about one thousand being lost in this state in each year from typhoid fever. The saving of a large proportion of these lives is the real reason for the effort, in which it is hoped all our people will join, for the restriction of typhoid fever and other dangerous diseases. By the State Board of Health

—The mixed school of the 6th and 7th grades, boys under the thorough management of Miss Lola Dunbar, and also the ungraded school, Miss Edith Seeley, teacher, opened this week in the new Times block on Main street east. This school is known as the Main street branch of our public schools.

We are informed that the new school desks from the Noble School Furniture Co., of Goshen, Indiana, placed in the new school room in the Times block by their agent, W. S. H. Welton are a marvel of strength and beauty, and give entire satisfaction to the Board of Education.

CURRY-DAVIDSON.—Our enterprising hardware merchant, Mr. Ira G. Curry, has donned Benedictine honors, and brings to Owosso a bride. Their home will be with Mrs. Sayles. The marriage took place at Fenton, Sept. 26, and we copy the announcement from the Independent:

Miss H. Georgia Davidson, of this village, and Ira G. Curry, of Owosso, were married at the home of the bride's mother—Mrs. J. F. Davidson—Thursday evening at 7:30, Rev. J. S. Smart, presiding elder of the Flint district of the M. E. church, performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Curry took the evening train for Detroit, and after a visit at Flint and other points, will take up their residence in Owosso. The Independent extends congratulations.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lanckton, of San José, Cal., reached Shiawassee county Sept. 16th. THE PRESS was pleased to receive a call from Mr. Lanckton last Thursday; he is looking finely, and apparently enjoys his California life. Mrs. Lanckton is at present in Bancroft with her sister. They will go east before returning to California.

—Messrs Woodard Bros. last Monday presented the Young Men's Christian Association with an elegant set of book shelves finished in antique ash. This is a very generous gift, and the Association highly appreciates it. The Association as yet has very few books but with an example like the above before our people, doubtless books will not long be wanting. Here is an opportunity to show interest in this work by opening hearts and book cases simultaneously.

—In connection with the announcement of the failure of Packard's bank at Reed City, it was stated in the Free Press that Mr. Coles, who had sold his jewelry business and rented a store in Owosso, had $1300 deposited there. It was the Beebe corner that he had rented, and we are informed that Mr. Coles will come to Owosso all the same.

—A farewell party will be given at the Henderson rink next Friday evening, Oct. 4, J. Berner, manager. Committee: C. H. Allen, S. Henderson, Ed. Cady. Floor managers, J. K. Allen, W. H. Cady. The bill will be $1, supper included.

—It is stated that Mrs. Genevieve Thorn of Lansing, formerly of this city, will study music in Chicago this winter and go abroad next spring, a wealthy Toledo lady having taken her under her patronage.

J. F. Wildermuth is sole agent in Owosso for Chase's Barley Malt Whiskey. Rich and pure. It is a fine Tonic for the weak and the feeble. It strengthens the lungs. 4 7

MRS. K. R. STAPLIN, PROFESSIONAL NURSE, will attend to calls in the city or country. Many years' experience and best of references. Residence Elmwood Street, third house from King Street east.

[illegible] FOR MONEY.

[illegible] Young Atlanta [illegible] Society Girl.

A [illegible] in Atlanta [illegible] some [illegible] marrying [illegible] girls, says [illegible]

"I don't know," he said, "any poor girl in society whom I could afford to [illegible] money [illegible] none of them know any more about work than their wealthy sisters. I speak of the poor society girls, not of poor girls who make their living. The former you will invariably find has her gowns made and knows nothing of the practical economy of living. Now, how could I, just making a start in life, possibly support such a wife? It makes me sick to think of it, for I hate to see a woman poor. I hate her sad economies and self sacrifices, and I hate to think of the lines [illegible] her eyes and about her [illegible] that the stinted years would draw. I couldn't ask a woman like myself and with no means of helping me to spend the bright days of her youth in meager living and little economies. A poor girl, reared in idle luxury, as are all poor society girls, should herself marry a man of means if she wishes to be happy. For my part, I shall marry a girl who has something besides my income to support her during the early part of our married life. I don't want to marry a rich girl for selfish motives. I would gain nothing by it. It's simply for the woman's sake."

"And you don't care who the girl is, just so she is rich?"

"Indeed I do. She must be a woman I can love and admire; a pure, sweet woman, pretty and attractive."

"But suppose you should meet and fall in love with some poor girl?"

"I won't do it. I don't pay any attention to poor girls or allow myself to become interested in them. I say to myself, when I see one of this class unusually winning, 'yes, you are very delightful, but you are not for me and you've plenty of wealthy sisters who are just as bright, and out of whom I might find one to suit me and whom I suited.'"

A very cool way and not a nonsensical one either of regarding the tender passion, provided it be carried out. I have often seen this theory proven satisfactorily by just such young men as the one I've quoted. This is the highest type of fortune-hunter, a type who wouldn't marry without love and equality. But the typical fortune-hunter careth not whether the girl be stupid, illiterate and homely—if she hath money it mattereth not; he is so anxious to marry a fortune that he takes the first he can get with it. And the fact that there are so many more women than men in the marriageable market to choose from makes a man's marriage for money an easier and surer venture.

A Philadelphia dealer, not being able to sell even a single pair of shoes of a certain grade at $1, thought to mark them down to cost. Instead of doing so, however, he took the advice of his [illegible] and boy and added 25 cents to the price and they went off like hot cakes.

Scribner's Magazine for October.

Scribner's Magazine for October contains an exciting exploration article, in which Joseph Thomson describes his remarkable and famous journey through equatorial Africa; a very practical paper on the best way to improve the common roads of the United States; an end paper by "Ik Marvel," the author of "Reveries of a Bachelor;" one of the most attractive electric articles showing modern applications of electricity to war, on land and sea; the end of Stevenson's great romance, "The Master of Ballantrae;" an unconventional travel article on Iceland; the second installment of Harold Frederic's romance of Colonia, New York; with other interesting fiction and poems. Most of these articles are richly illustrated.

"How I Crossed Masai-land," by Joseph Thomson, tells in fresh and concise form the story of the author's wonderful journey in 1883, from the African coast to Lake Victoria Nyanza, over a route never before trodden by a white man. The British Royal Geographical Society sent Mr. Thomson to make the journey to open up the route for communication between the equatorial province and the coast. The Masai, who hold this country, were reputed to be the boldest and most unscrupulous savages in Africa, and Stanley had said that the only way to cross Masai-land was "with a thousand rifles." Yet Mr. Thomson successfully made the trip with one hundred and forty men, and did not lose one of them by violence. His record of this perilous journey is a modest, clear, and rapid narrative, filled with the spirit of adventure. The illustrations, from the author's original negatives, give an adequate idea of the strange people and country.

The Most obstinate cases of catarrah are cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm, the only agreeable remedy. It is not a liquid or snuff, is easily applied into the nostrils. For cold in the head it is magical. It gives relief at once. Price 50 cents. 6

A careful estimate of the Chinese in San Francisco places the number at 40,000. The effect of this population upon the prosperity of the city is thus stated by a local paper: "These 40,000 Chinese earn at least one dollar a day each, over and above their board. That is $40,000 per day, or $1,100,000 for each month of twenty six days. That is over $12,000,000 per year which is being drained through various Chinese channels from a city of 300,000 inhabitants. The most of this money each year, directly or indirectly, goes to China, never to return."

NORTH WASHINGTON AVENUE,

Corner of Genesee Avenue, East Saginaw, Michigan. Dr. Elmslie & Co. are a company of regular Graduated Physicians, who have devoted many years to the study of CHRONIC, NERVOUS AND SPECIAL DISEASES. The physician in charge of this office is a graduate of one of the leading Colleges of the United States, and is registered in both hemispheres as an M. D. This enables them to treat all private troubles with excellent results. All sufferers applying to them will receive their honest opinion of their complaint. No experimenting; no Mercury used. They will guarantee a positive cure in every case they undertake, or forfeit $500. Their reason for doing so is this—where there is no organic disease, and nothing but an inorganic trouble, or in other words, a conglomeration of symptons producing certain results, there is no reason why it cannot be removed if the proper remedies are applied, therefore they guarantee. They wish it distinctly understood that they do not claim to perform impossibilities, or to have miraculous powers, they only claim to be skillful and successful physicians, thoroughly informed in their specialty. CHRONIC AND SPECIAL DISEASES OF MEN AND WOMEN. People residing at a distance can, by explaining their trouble in detail, be treated at their homes. A Mistaken Millionaire.

A very rich business man of Boston told an interviewer the other day how he began his business life on $1 a week, and how he advanced from that point to his present position by being temperate, industrious and honest. He ended by saying, "Any young man can do as well as I have done if he only will."

Young men know that this is not true. Tens of thousands of young men, during the forty years of that merchant's successful career, have been as virtuous as he, without making much headway in business. They have been punctual, diligent, faithful and well skilled in their vocation; but there they are, about where they were years ago, working hard for moderate compensation, and seeing no prospect of much change.

It is not possible for many men to found great stores and make great fortunes in them, for the simple reason that the largest city does not furnish business enough for many such. These prizes fall to the lot of the few individuals in each trade who combine in themselves great talent for business with great tenacity of purpose. They passionately want to succeed, and they know how.

If our merchant had said that many young men could do much better than he had done, he would have come nearer the truth. In most of our great and famous places of business there are clerks who have done a great deal better than their employers. We saw the other day a young man of 29, salary $650 a year, whose father died ten years ago, leaving a wife and four children with little provision. This clerk was the eldest boy; he accepted the sacred duty which devolved upon him with cheerful courage. He has carried it gayly along ever since, and has won in it a really brilliant success—happy himself, and a cause of happiness to those dearest to him.

There are men whose natural vocation it is to control millions of dollars, and own a tedious superfluity of other things. Happily, most of us are spared this great trouble, and have a chance to discover how little is required for a truly successful and joyous existence.—Youth's Companion.

Drop a Nickel in the Slot.

The latest development of the automachine is a Doctor Cureall, in Holland. It is a wooden figure of a man, with compartments all over it, labeled with names of various ailments. If you have a pain find its corresponding location on the figure, drop a coin into the slot, and the proper pill or powder will come out.

A Paris paper devotes a column to "first class deaths." Will there be any first class resurrections, we wonder.

Better part with your dignity than your safety.

[illegible] In a winning manner he then offers to share his bill of fare with his companion. A friend was going with [illegible] If [illegible] he shows [illegible] dispatch. Should the victim refuse to partake he proceeds with the repast and afterward offers him cigars prepared as was his wine. They chat, he smokes, and the monotonous noise of the train, added to the cigar smoke, plunges the victim into a torpor which he can not conquer and by which he is finally overcome.

The chloroformist then opens his vial and places it for several seconds beneath the sleeper's nostrils. At the same time he gently puts over the mouth a sheet of very fine parchment to prevent [illegible] of the [illegible] This parchment is called the [illegible] it is shaped like the lower part of a carnival mask. The man is in a sound sleep, almost a corpse [illegible] Then the [illegible] takes the victim's [illegible] one or two [illegible] in it, after which [illegible] of the sleeper's jewelry. The [illegible] the next station. Two reasons act [illegible] depriving his victim of money. Having enough left to pay his expenses the latter is in less haste to make his complaint. The second reason is that, should the man die under the influence of the chloroform, being in possession of his jewelry and money his death will be attributed to natural causes and the authorities will not suspect that a crime has been committed.

Painless Execution of Criminals.

Modern sentiment opposes the execution of criminals by hanging, for the barbarity that attends it; garroting is scarcely less barbarous; decapitation, shooting and burning at the stake are horrible, and the proposed taking of life by electric shocks, although approved by the Empire State, is so uncertain that it can not be depended upon as a sure means of destroying life.

In the interest of humanity, and that the aims of justice may be promoted with unerring effect and in the most painless manner, without descending to barbarity, the writer would suggest the following method of "removing" condemned criminals:

Let the person to be executed be placed blindfolded and and naked, in an easy reclining posture in a bath tub through which a stream of blood-warm water is continually passing. When properly seated in the bath the body and lower limbs should be entirely submerged in the warm stream. Then, with a sharp lancet, let the attending surgeon open several veins in the calves and feet of the condemned. The thrusts of the lancet in the warm water would scarcely be felt. Many a man has adopted this painless method of committing suicide. The gradual loss of blood, mingled with the flowing stream, would be almost unperceived by the victim, who would gradually weaken and in a short time lose all consciousness and sensibility—a condition (known as syncope) from which there could be no recovery.

The time that would elapse before death could be determined only by the amount of blood to be drawn and the tenacity of life possessed by the condemned. To hasten the culmination of the affair after syncope had been established, the surgeon might puncture the femoral artery.

The stream of warm water continually passing through and from the bath during the entire execution, would rob it of its most repulsive features, by carrying off the blood as fast as it flowed from the veins of the condemned, and leave the body ready washed for burial. Henry M. Hugunin, in Chicago Journal of Commerce.

On a motion for a review of a decision rendered by Secretary Vilas in December, 1888, revoking and setting aside [illegible] swamp list known as No. 5 Lake View land district in the State of Oregon, Secretary Noble has refused to reopen the case, holding that no great harm can result to the State under the decision as made, and on the contention of counsel for the State, that the legal title to the land was by the certification vested in the State, the Secretary says, without expressing an opinion, that conceding this to be correct, the department is without jurisdiction to entertain the motions and appeals of the State, and the whole question is remitted to the courts.

CONGRESS OF AMERICAN REPUBLICS.

The delegates to the international American congress, which is to convene in Washington next month, are among the ablest and foremost men of the countries they represent, and the sessions of the congress promise to be not only of great benefit to the nations represented, but interesting because of the ability and talents of its members. Honduras will send Geronimo Zeloya, a prominent lawyer, about 55 years of age. Dr. Fernando Cruz, the representative of Guatemala, is the new minister to the United States, having succeeded Francisco Lienfesta. Dr. Cruz is probably the foremost literary man of Guatemala, as well as a politician of high degree. Much public interest attaches to the forthcoming tour of the country, which will be the first business of the congress. The party will leave Washington Oct. 3.

WILL TAKE LANDS IN SEVERALTY.

Secretary Noble Monday appointed R. V. Belt, assistant commissioner of Indian affairs, A. M. Tinker, an Indian inspector, and G. W. Parker, a special Indian agent, as the commission to negotiate with the Sisseton and Wahpeton Indians of Dakota for the surrender of their 789,000 acres of land. The Indians on the Sisseton reservation have already agreed to take lands in severalty and 1[illegible] acres have been set apart for that purpose. 1,[illegible] acres have also been reserved for church and other purposes. The commission is instructed not to enter upon its duties till after patents in severalty for 1[illegible] acres have been delivered, which will probably be done within the present month. Each male Indian of the Sisseton and Wahpeton tribes over 21 years of age who receives his lands in severalty under the general allotment act of Feb. 8, 1887, thereby becomes a citizen of the United States.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Canadian and American capitalists have applied to the Canadian government for a charter for a railroad from the Canadian Soo to Hudson bay. Recent discoveries of coal have been made on the Moose River, about 260 miles north, by the stipendiary magistrate of that district. The road will be 370 miles in length and will cross the main line of the Canadian Pacific at Windermere, 107 miles due north of the Soo. The country is said to be rich in pine and mineral. The idea of the men interested is to open up this county. The Dominion government will be asked for aid.

The defalcation of the Louisiana state treasurer is growing larger. The statement is now made upon what appears to be good authority that irregularities have been discovered in what is known as "baby" bonds, commencing at No. 102000, with some slight irregularity previous to that number. Nearly all of the "baby" bonds above No. 102000 are fraudulent. The state auditor and treasurer will soon take up this branch of the investigation. Attorney-General Rogers admits that "baby" bonds have been abstracted or otherwise tampered with to the amount of $400,000. According to Judge Rogers's figures, the defalcation already in sight will reach more than $1,200,000.

Etta Robinson, a 17-year-old horse-thief, whose good looks and winning ways have made her a favorite and interested many prominent people in her case, is on trial at Parkersburg, W. Va. Within the last six months she has stolen four horses and taken dare-devil rides in the wilds of West Virginia, swimming swollen streams and hiding in the mountains. For the first two thefts she was not prosecuted. For the third she was placed in jail. She managed to make a hole in the prison wall and fled with a horse taken from the jailer's barn, but was recaptured ten days later. She is given credit for stealing for the pure love of the excitement of the thing.

A section of the St. Louis express was telescoped by another at Palatine Bridge, New York early Saturday morning. The first section broke down and stopped for repairs. UTICA STANDARD FOUR DOME FURNACE!

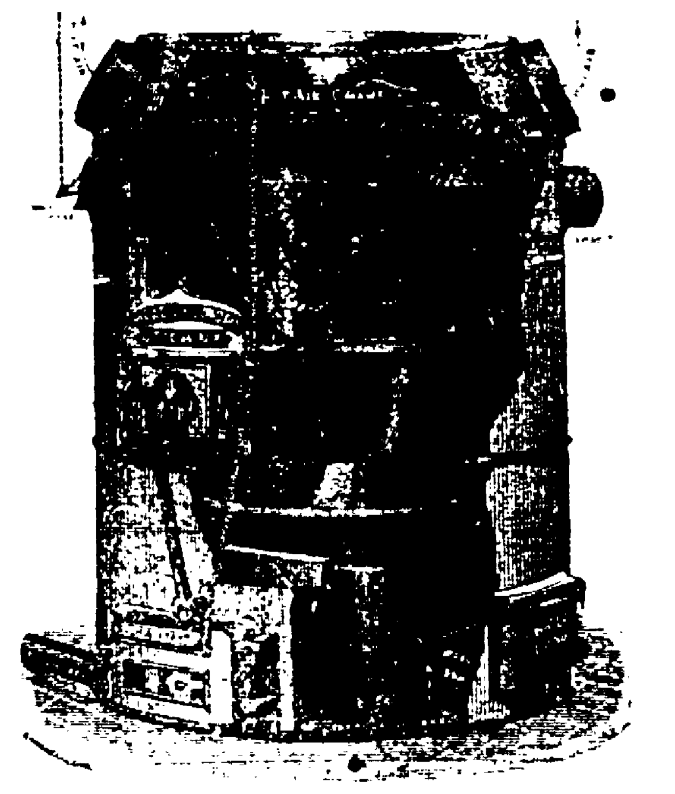
More than [illegible] in Actual Use.

No Experiment. Reputation Established.

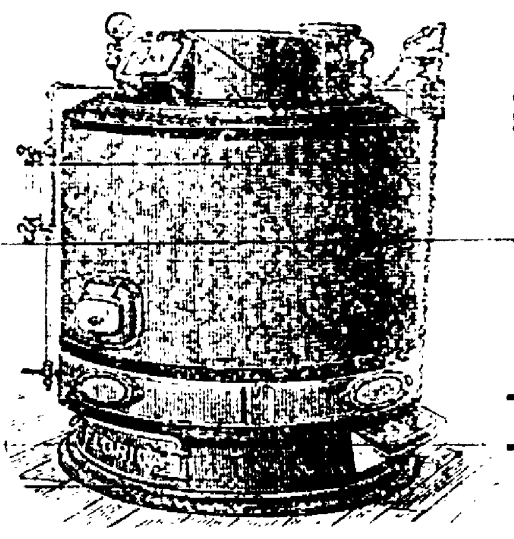
Has Heated Where Others Failed



The great demand is caused by FOUR DOME RADIATOR, which has a larger amount of Radiating Surface than any other Furnace ever made. The construction is such that the heating surface is nearly double that of any other Furnace, and is SELF CLEANING.

In this particular alone the Standard Furnace is the most highly spoken of by those who have used it the longest, insuring a perfect draft, and as good results after ten years use as when first put up. See It, Be Convinced, and you will BUY NO OTHER.

THE FLORIDA



Steam and Hot Water Heater.

BURNS HARD COAL, SOFT COAL OR WOOD.

NO GAS! NO DUST! NO TROUBLE!

Simple in management, and never out of order, the greatest amount of heat from the fuel consumed is obtained by this system of low temperature warming, which is uniform, pleasant and healthful.

☞Estimates of cost for heating all kinds of buildings made upon request.
