FOREWORD

THE Class of 1915 humbly present for your approval, students, alumni, faculty, and friends, another Wolverine. We offer no excuses or apologies for the imperfection you will find; we only ask that you withhold your censure until time has tested its justice.

We have given to its production our time and energy in abundance, with no reward in sight except the satisfaction and pride we may feel if our effort pleases you. Your best appreciation will come in later years, and it is then we hope you will find many happy moments through perusal of these pages.

The Wolverine as an annual college publication is now firmly established. We feel that it is slowly progressing, and it is our earnest hope that it will continue to grow stronger and better until it is complete in all that M. A. C. is and stands for. We thank the Wolverine Boards of the past for their excellent example; we wish those to follow us all the success that good fortune can bring.

We have much to be proud of this year at M. A. C., and we shall find ourselves glad, when time has silvered our hair, that we have such an aid to our memory as the 1914 Wolverine. Our patient faculty, our sympathizing classmates, our wonderful athletic teams, the influence of our college organizations, our pleasant social events, and the countless touches of M. A. C. spirit that only you and we can understand; these we have faithfully tried to record in this memory book.

SENIORS

The Class of 1914

Officers

Secretary, Winifred Bell
Treasurer, O. F. Jensen

President, E. H. Burt
Vice President, Janet Renwick

THE very air was rarified about the president's office on that warm September day when the worthy Class of 1914 lined up for admittance into the halls of learning. It is said that the ivy leaves, which still twine about the windows of that inner sanctuary (Prexy's office), rippled with enchantment in the breathless sunshine. It is also said that a benign smile lingered upon the features of the presiding dignitary (Prexy), for he had a presentiment of the glory that was to be.

So, with the passing days this class experienced the joys of prosperity and the pains of adversity. We came to know how true were the things our mothers had told us. We formed abiding convictions about life—the most serious thing in the world to us then.

Then as the swift seasons rolled there came a time when we saw another line of blooming young humanity at our gates. We compared them with ourselves. We watched their progress with something more of pity than of pride. We put them to the test of might, and when we saw them in the light of the vanquished, our pity strangely turned to pride.

Thus we lived on in the blessed peace of our self-esteem, with our colossal past behind us and an easy future before us. We were in the judgment seat now, and what a sweet complacency it gave us!

The end of our second summer after entering the temple of wisdom saw us beholding a new and strange line knocking at our portals. The air about them was devoid of glamour—and 'tis said that Prexy's smile had waned. But we cared not to ponder long on this scene. It was all too childish, and, besides, greater things filled our minds, such as freedom and dignity of position and gala days. There was the greater gala day, a shining and alluring light of our future! When what had shone so brightly in the future became a memory in the past, we turned our thoughts to serious things without a shadow of regret.

Swinging into line on September 24, 1913, was a triumph fraught with some pain. Being measured for our shroud and mortar-board had in it as much dread as exultation. We formed the habit of not gazing at dear landmarks too steadily, fearing them to become too dear. The days became a little more precious and the moments a little more golden, until we arrived at the commencement of life and a fuller appreciation of our gratitude to our Alma Mater.

The Class of 1915

Officers

President, A. L. Bibbins

Vice President, Anna Cowles

Secretary, J. W. Nicolson

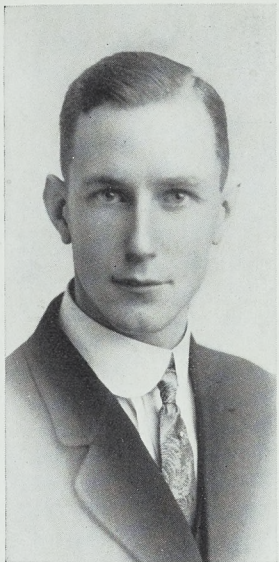

Treasurer, F. O. Adams

AS I sat on the sand and gazed to where the sky and sea met, I noticed away off in the distance a ripple. It was a small, retiring, watchful ripple, just the 1915 freshmen. It advanced slowly, cautiously, and almost fearfully. However, it soon grew larger and more confident and overwhelmed three of the four other ripples that met it in all-fresh football games. It rose triumphantly, but was ignobly flattened by a powerful wave, known as sophomores, in a combat called "The Rush."

After a time it rose again, as all ripples do, and became a wave itself. This wave was stronger than its predecessors. It rose so high that it saw the coveted shore when it won the basketball championship in 1913, and when it annihilated most completely the freshmen ripple.

It has risen to the pinnacle of its strength so sank, only to rise again more dazzling, more resplendent, in a high white-capped breaker. Juniors! It sent sprays, as varsity men, in all branches of athletics, and had a long roll in Alpha Zeta, Tau Beta Pi, and Omicron Nu. It formed on its crest a Junior Hop which it defied all ripples and waves to criticise. A treacherous, misguided rock sought to lower this summit of its glory, but the breaker, being in the true course, was uninjured by this unjust criticism, and rose still higher. So it remained a proud and loyal class of juniors.

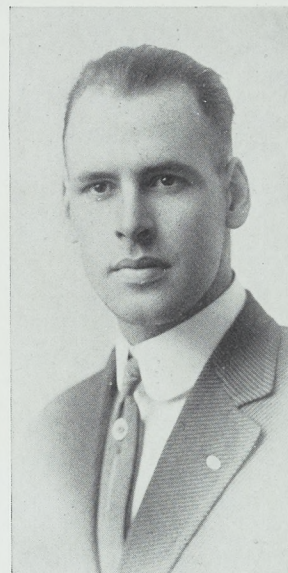

With pride we hold our standard high
And work for one year more,
Until we then as seniors land
Triumphant on the shore.

The Class of 1916

Officers

President, T. W. Kennedy
Vice President, Sadie Bates
Secretary, Ethel Taft
Treasurer, H. H. Miller

THE Class of 1916 entered M. A. C. on September 23, 1912 and was then recorded as the largest freshman class in the history of the institution. In the year 1913-1914 many things have been done by the sophomore class which are worthy of note under the guidance of its capable officers.

Poster night proved very exciting for all those concerned, as well as for many of those not concerned. The barbecue, needless to say, was an attractive and successful event. The Sophomore Hop was held on Friday, April 17th, and it, too, proved a huge success.

We have among us classmates who have become prominent along athletic lines. The proud possessors of monograms are B. Miller, H. Miller, Chaddock, DePrato, McCurdy, Smith, Vaughn, LaFever, Fuller, Alderman, and last, but not least, Miss Ethel Taft, who won her monogram with the racquet.

Next year, we hope, will bring us many more successes along the social as well as the athletic field.

Freshman Class Officers and History

Officers

President, W. D. Thompson
Vice President, Marjorie Moore
Secretary, Phyllis Fitzgerald
Treasurer, Edward Walker

THE clear-sounding bell of his high school grew fainter and fainter, and with anticipation, not unmixed with feeling of doubt for the future, he awoke in a new realm, surrounded by new things and breathing a new atmosphere. 'Tis thus we first beheld it, the freshman class, a stranger in our midst, but O! how welcome! Day after day it grew until its numbers far exceeded our anticipation, and now we behold it as a necessity to the existence of our college. Interested, we watched its growth in organizing, and in its contributions to the athletic forces of this institution. How well each member present remembers his first class meeting—how unanimously it chose "Billy" Thompson for its first president. And then, bravely facing the adverse forces in the class rush, how it overpowered them and stood victorious over the vanquished sophomores.

Thus the Class of 1917 has made its first indentations in the history of our college, and we prophesy that the capabilities of its members will equal those of the other classes that have gone before.

The Class of 1918

Officers

President, W. E. Biber

Vice President, K. R. Crawford

Secretary, D. A. McIntosh

Treasurer, E. F. Kent

ALTHOUGH the sub-freshman class at M. A. C. is not considered a regular college class, it is very much interested and enthusiastic about everything that concerns M. A. C. The Class of 1918 has the honor of being the last class in preparatory work to be enrolled in the college, and is highly appreciative of the distinction. Surely the last prep class at M. A. C. will endeavor to prove itself worthy of the honor, and be ever true and loyal to its Alma Mater.

Football Season, 1913

RIGHT this way, gentlemen; right this way! We have with us tonight the Michigan Aggies—twelve bold, brave men and true, conquerors of the West! Straight ahead, gentlemen, you see Coach John Farrell Macklin, handsome, haughty, and heady. On your right is Ion J. Courtright, second coach, a diplomatic and resourceful man; while on the other hand you may observe F. J. “Sun” Yuhse, student football manager and grand high guardian of the money bags. Here you have them, fifteen all told—the gridiron sensations of the season. Walk right in, gentlemen. The performance is about to begin with a line-buck by “Carp” Julian.

Thus might be introduced the M. A. C. football squad of 1913, but the work of the team was too great, too glorifying as it were, for such tawdry treatment. A review of the Aggies’ performance last fall must start with this statement—it was the greatest year ever seen in M. A. C. football history.

Such a summarizing as is embodied in that declaration is justified. A look at the score board is all the proof needed. A reviewer might talk until doomsday and never say half as much as the figures—M. A. C. 12, Michigan 7; M. A. C. 12, Wisconsin 7. That little combination of numbers will stick in the minds of M. A. C. students long after such trifles as 3.1416 are forgotten. As the esteemed Dean Shaw would say, if he was discussing football, the scores represent what might be termed the “pivotal point” in M. A. C. athletics. They mark the graduation of the Michigan State Agricultural College from the minor into the major class.

But to begin at the beginning, M. A. C. never before saw a football season like that through which it passed in the fall of 1913. Coach Macklin was on the job early in September. He handled the Varsity recruits while Assistant Coach Courtright ran the scrubs. Then followed three weeks of preliminary training which ended with the first game on October 4th.

Just then things started to happen, things which set the entire west rubbing its eyes, and later rubbing its head. Olivet was first, and softly laid away by a score of 26 to 0. A week later Alma came to East Lansing. This time there was more soft music and Alma was put under the sod, 57 to 0.

These games were but preludes, however, to the Michigan game on October 18th at Ann Arbor. M. A. C. rooters had a sort of premonition that something of great historical moment would upset the world at just about that time, so two thousand of them crowded the stands at Ferry Field. And the expected came to pass. Michigan was defeated by the Aggies for the first time in the annals of intercollegiate athletics. Coach Macklin outgeneraled Yost, and his men outplayed the Wolverines.

The student body had hardly recovered its sanity when the team went to Madison, and there on another fateful day, worked a new wonder. The University of Wisconsin eleven was beaten 12 to 7, a performance which stood the entire Big Nine on its ear.

After the Wisconsin affair there was nothing to it. Victories got so common that they almost ceased to be topics for conversation. Buchtel, Mt. Union, and South Dakota played in East Lansing on November 1st, 8th, and 15th respectively. When the mud of battle cleared away, all three were discovered limping off with the same trouble that had smitten Michigan and Wisconsin. The 19 to 7 defeat of South Dakota ended the year.

For weeks following the finish of the playing season the press of the country united to sing the praises of the Aggies. Coach Macklin was hailed as one of the really big football generals of the west, while members of the team were classed among the best in the game.

And there was a reason! Captain Gifford, at right tackle, showed a wonderful knack for smashing up opposing lines. The holes he made had much to do with the gains made by the backs. Then again, Quarterback Gauthier, with the cunning of a fox, was quick to realize the value of the captain's ramming power and to make use of it.

The quartette in the backfield lugged the ball in beautiful style. Julian's specialty was hitting the line, and he did it even better than could the father of the flock over in the sheep barn. Incidentally watch Mr. Julian next fall, and consider before choosing an all-western fullback. Blake Miller also managed to cause a stir. His end runs were among the really wonderful football occurrence of 1913, and won him a place on Collier's all-western. Hugh Blacklock, at left half, was one of the finds of the year. Though a mere freshman, unacquainted with college football, he broke into the game under the skillful coaching of Macklin, keeping up with Julian and Miller. The man behind the guns in the backfield was, of course, dainty George Gauthier. He showed great finesse in doping out the weakness of opposing teams, a faculty that enabled him to use his men in the right place at the right time and in the right manner to do the most good.

On the line there was Ralph Henning at right end, Capt. Gifford at right tackle, Howard McCurdy at right guard, L. F. Vaughn at center, F. V. Leonardson at left guard, G. E. Smith at left tackle, and O. R. "Dutch" Miller at left end. Hewitt Miller served throughout the season as reserve backfield and end man.

In "Dutch" Miller and Henning in the extremity positions the Aggies had two barriers which effectually stopped any long runs by opponents. Both men won honorable mention in reviews of the western season. As tackle mate of Captain Gifford there was that tall colored gentleman, and Mr. Smith was "suah some tackle." He blocked well and tackled better. As a usual thing, when a play hit Mr. Smith it ceased to be a play. But as football prizes there were few men in the west who excelled Howard McCurdy and "Dutch" Leonardson as guards. Guards are ordinarily considered as minor factors in the gridiron game, but the M. A. C. pair refused to be bound by custom. Leonardson's punting time and again pulled the team out of tight pinches, while McCurdy did perhaps as much tackling as any other man on the squad. Vaughn at center completed the varsity line, and to him much credit must be given for stability and cool-headedness. He passed with great precision, and in the coming season is expected to be of great value to the team.

Last but not least comes Hewitt Miller, official extra man. His ability to fill his brother's boots when the need arose won him a monogram, and in all likelihood will make him a regular member of the varsity eleven next fall.

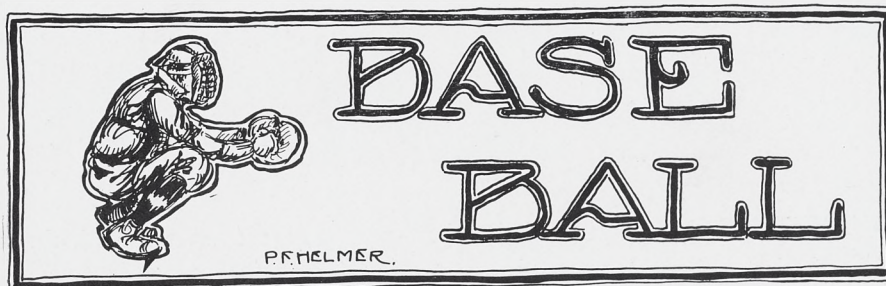

In sizing up the team, however, the coaching of Macklin must be counted as the chief factor in the season's triumphs. Macklin gave the team a style of play which was more diversified than that of any other eleven in the middle west. It was a fine combination of the old-fashioned hit-the-line method and the modern open game of the forward pass. The result was an offence and a defense which remained impregnable throughout the year.

Baseball Season, 1913

STARTING the season with brilliant prospects, we were forced, through injuries, to be content with a mediocre season.

Bradley did not return to college. Dodge and Spencer, our only veteran pitchers, hurt their arms; and Capt. Gorenflo was forced to the bench with a broken ankle.

Even though this combination of hard luck could not be entirely overcome, the team proved themselves good fighters, and lost only seven games out of nineteen starts. This was very good, considering that five of the games lost were with two of the best college teams in America last season, namely the universities of Georgia and Michigan.

Blake Miller was the brilliant light of the pitching staff, and ably supported by Peterson and LaFever, all green in college baseball. Bibbins did good work behind the bat, and held up the team well in the tight pinches. Griggs at first showed that he could hold his own with any initial sacker in college baseball, and Trowbridge at second, although called on in mid-season to fill Capt. Gorenflo's shoes, did remarkably well. The rest of the diamond was kept successfully filled by changes among four men—Vatz and Fuller at short, and Dancer and Thomas at third. The outfield was our stronghold, and contained those three most capable fielders, Harvey at center, Mogge in right, and Dawson in left.

With nine of last year's monogram men to fall back on and with Dodge returning to the fold, we should obtain a place high in the college baseball world during the season of 1914.

Basketball Review, Season of 1914

WE HAVE once more concluded a most successful season on the basketball floor. We lost four games at a time when our team was badly crippled, and gained decisive victories in eight games. One of these wins was over Notre Dame which had previously beaten us.

Our team was composed of clean, hard fighters. This accomplishment often got us into difficulties; numerous fouls being called on us, which resulted directly in the loss of the two games to the Detroit "Y". The new players showed up well, and with three veterans back with all the subs and with Hewett Miller as next year's captain, we have promise of an even better season in 1915. The loss of Gauthier, Goss, and Vatz will be keenly felt, however, for all three men were stars in their positions.

Review of 1913

LAST season's track team did not have the success which followed the rest of our athletic teams, but this is not unusual, and the sport has been of great value just the same. Track is a minor sport with us, and always will be until the present systems and conveniences are changed. We must get up among the leaders in this sport as well as others if we want preparatory stars to choose M. A. C. as their Alma Mater. We are striving towards such a goal.

We went one step in advance last season when we scheduled meets with the University of Michigan freshmen and with Western Reserve instead of the smaller colleges of the past. And with the Interscholastic survived and splendid material on hand we trust that enough interest will be shown to assist us to a higher plane in track events.

Class Football

THE past season was a very disastrous one for class football. The Athletic Department refused to sanction the sport and the student council took it upon themselves to conduct the series. They were handicapped in pulling off the games by the weather, and the final ones were played in a snow storm. More serious injuries occurred than ever before, and for these reasons resolutions have been adopted by the student council abolishing the sport. If possible a substitute will be found.

The seniors again proved their superiority in the gridiron game, winning the championship in the finals from the juniors.

Class Baseball

A GREAT deal of interest was shown in class baseball last spring and some very good games resulted. Some excellent varsity material was incidentally uncovered, which proves conclusively the value of inter-class sports. The championship lay between the three lower classes with the seniors outclassed from the start. The final battle was between the freshmen and the sophomores, and closely resembled a big league contest. The first year men came out victorious by a score of 2 to 1.

Class Basketball

THE class basketball championship was won by the freshmen in a hard fought series. The final game was between the freshmen and the juniors after the sophomores had made a hard fight for first place. Victory for the first year men came as a distinct surprise; the class of 1915 having such an easy time winning the previous year. This shows us that there is high class material coming to us in our freshmen, and gives us courage to bear the loss of our varsity seniors.

IN 1913 the season of tennis was rather short, only three touraments being held, one with Ypsilanti and two with Olivet.

Our first match with Ypsilanti started the season rather disastrously, but as the end drew near this defeat was more than offset by the excellent showing made by our girls against Olivet. The college was represented by Calrow and Ribback and the Misses Lorena Fuller and Ethel Taft. The team was extremely fortunate in having Mr. Arao Itano of the 1912 team as the 1913 manager.

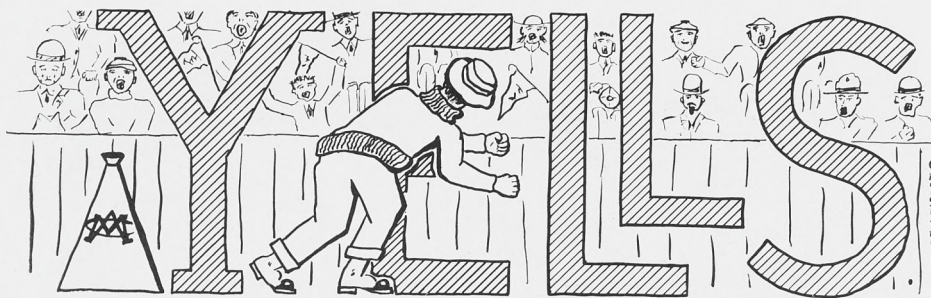

The prospects for a championship team in the spring of 1914 are very bright for a number of new men have shown unusual talent in the art of wielding the racquet.

The Green and White

Up, up with the colors,
 We'll raise them on high,
 We'll fight for our college,
 For her we will die;
 Let's rouse the dead echoes,
 Unfurl to the light
 The colors we honor—
 The Green and the White.

We'll all stand together,
 And honor will bring
 To our Alma Mater,
 Whose praises we sing;
 Let's rush to the fray then,
 Our foes put to flight,
 For the colors we honor—
 The Green and the White.

Tau Beta Pi Fraternity

Alpha Chapter of Michigan

THE chapter of Tau Beta Pi at M. A. C. was established in 1892. It was the first chapter of the fraternity in the State and also the first honorary fraternity at the Michigan Agricultural College. At the present time it has a membership of over six thousand, and has a chapter in nearly every important school of engineering in the country.

The Alpha Chapter of Michigan, at the present time, has eighteen members. These men are chosen from those who stand in the first quarter of their class at the beginning of the senior year, and those of the junior class who stand in the first eighth at the beginning of the winter term. It is becoming more and more the idea, in looking for new members, that they shall be not only good engineering students, but that they shall possess a good moral character, a congenial nature, and be able to grasp the idea of fraternalism.

The spirit of brotherhood has manifested itself in the meetings of the fraternity this year. They are held bimonthly in the rooms in the Engineering Hall, and at that time a good program is rendered on some current engineering topic of the day. A "feed" is always provided. Every member of Tau Beta Pi is behind the movement to have an Engineering Show, and are willing to expend their best efforts to further the cause. They hope that every other engineering student will feel the same way towards the betterment of our College and the Engineering Department.

Alpha Zeta Fraternity

Kedzie Chapter

THE Fraternity of Alpha Zeta is an honorary agricultural fraternity whose object is to raise the general standard of its members and aid them in any worthy work in which they may be interested, not only in college, but in after life. Twelve men are admitted from each class, and eligibility to membership is based upon the following considerations: First, scholarship; second, character; third, aggressiveness along a chosen line of work and in college activities; and fourth, fraternal spirit.

Omicron Nu Sorority

Alpha Chapter

ALTHOUGH not a very old organization, the members of Omicron Nu feel that they may be justly proud of the growth both of the chapter here and of the way it has spread throughout all parts of the country. There are now five chapters, of which the one at M. A. C. is the Alpha, New York State Normal College the Beta, Iowa State College the Gamma, Purdue University the Delta, and the University of Illinois the Epsilon. In addition to these have come applications from other colleges for admission.

The object of Omicron Nu is to promote Home Economics and a higher standard of scholarship among the students. By its literary meetings it aims to keep in touch with the advance made, to awaken new interest in the field of Home Economics, and to inspire others to future attainment.

Sem-Bot

DURING the past year Sem-Bot has been enrolled as one of the numerous organizations which form a part of the collegelife. Its members are chosen by the botanical faculty from those who have shown both proficiency and interest in botanical work while in college. While the subjects discussed are of a rather technical character, the meetings have proved to be both interesting and profitable to the members. Whenever the subject is of a more or less popular nature, the meetings are opened to any who wish to attend, and thus the talk is made available to the student body in general.

The organization is affiliated with several similar bodies at a number of the large universities, the idea having originated at the University of Nebraska about twenty-five years ago. It is to be hoped that the organization will improve in the future, and will become one of the permanent college clubs.

Scabbard and Blade

THIS year marks the founding at M. A. C. of Company K, Scabbard and Blade, an honorary fraternal organization made up from the officers of the corps of cadets in various colleges and universities.

In 1905, the officers at the University of Wisconsin united under the above name as Company A, to promote the standard of military efficiency and training in that school, with the view to expand and include all universities and colleges which possess a regiment or more of cadets. There was much room indeed for such an organization, and since that time eight more companies have joined, with three more probably in the near future.

Conditions were especially favorable for a chapter at M. A. C., for the officers are all seniors and juniors, no close organization was in existence for the purpose of benefiting the military conditions at the college, and there was a cadet corps of good size and standing. Above all, due to the effectiveness, congeniality, and ability of our new commandant, Lieut. J. B. DeLancey, the proper spirit and enthusiasm was existent, making the start easy.

To focus the attention and lead the way, Mr. R. G. Saxton, a civil engineering instructor from the University of Wisconsin, and one of the fraternity's charter members, gave his help and influence to get a company at M. A. C. immediately started. The result was that on April 14th eleven men were made members of Company K and Lieutenant DeLancey honorary member by two national installing officers. One month later three seniors and eight juniors were added to the roll.

Though the purpose is strictly military, the Scabbard and Blade is essentially a fraternity. Being its first year and a little late in getting started, the social activities have not had their due, though two fine banquets were held in the spring, one at the Hotel Downey and one at the Wildwood Tea Rooms.

May the Scabbard and Blade fulfill its mission at M. A. C. the more ably with years, to raise the standard of patriotism towards the country and the college, that the men may be better soldiers in time of war and better citizens in time of peace.

Union Literary Society

INSPIRED by the accomplishments of our predecessors we have endeavored during the present year to conduct the society in a manner which would maintain the ideals that were responsible for its organization and contributed to its subsequent growth. To attain this end, various social and literary functions have been given, as has been the custom during the past. The Fall Term Party, at which many of our friends were entertained, was held in the armory. The Winter Term party was featured by a Christmas Party, the regular Winter Term Party, Faculty Night, Freshmen Oratorical, and Alumni Night.

The coming of June brings to an end the thirty-eighth successful year of the existence of the Union Literary Society. It is a year that the members point to with pride, for it has marked the furthering of the society's ideals of fellowship and character.

Eclectic Literary Society

THE Eclectic Literary Society dates its origin from March 12, 1877. Founded when M. A. C. was in its infancy, the organization has kept pace with the rapidly growing college of which it is a loyal unit.

In the beginning meetings were held in the members' rooms, then in society apartments in Williams Hall, and finally, in 1907 after years of sacrifice by the alumni, the present house was achieved.

The society's early history was filled with struggles for recognition and firm establishment, and some obstacles remain to be overcome; but we feel that the past year has been one of progress and success for us, as it has been for our great institution as a whole.

Olympic Literary Society

IN SEPTEMBER, 1885, eight students met in 105 "Old Wells" and took the initiative steps in the organization of the Olympic Literary Society.

At this time there were only two or three societies at the college and these were filled to their constitutional limit, and it was to supply the need of literary and social training to more of the students that this new society was formed. Meetings of the society were held wherever a suitable place could be found until 1887, when rooms were obtained in Williams Hall. These rooms served as a home for the society until the fall of 1912, when the present home on Abbot Road was acquired.

The high standard of social and literary privileges set by the organizers have been strictly adhered to as far as possible. The annual oratorical contest originated with the Olympics, and in this and other phases of college life we have endeavored to encourage and support those things which would be for the betterment of our Alma Mater.

Columbian Literary Society

THE past year has been one of great importance and significance to the members of the Columbian Literary Society, and the building of a new society home has not only brought about the realization of a dream, but has made possible the connecting link in the chain of true fraternal spirit.

Literary work, in which the society has always aimed for a high standard, has played no unimportant part in the development of its members, and the meetings have been interesting and of both educational and social benefit to the society and its friends. The social life of the society has included parties and open meetings, in which every effort has been made to increase the fellowship and bring out the ideals for which the society stands.

Themian Literary Society

THE ideal of fairness and fellowship is the goal for which the Themian Literary Society strives from year to year to attain, and we endeavor to maintain the standard formed and adhered to by those who have gone before us. We are always inspired and enthused by their far-reaching interest in us, and we are indeed glad to propagate the fundamentals of non-partisan friendship, scholastic ability, and sincerity in all things, upon which they based the Themian Literary Society.

Our earnest endeavor for interesting and instructive literary programs was especially achieved this year; and we have in no way neglected the social side of our lives. Our tenth annual German, held in the Armory on February 28th, did a joyous and merry justice of welcoming in the pledges and extending a hearty welcome to our friends and former Themians.

We aim to give the best we have to our friends and our college, and we feel that in the past that they have given their best to us.

Ero Alphan Literary Society

THE year of 1914 has been an important and eventful one in the history of the Ero Alphan Literary Society. It marks the end of the first decade of effort and achievement. Ten years have elapsed since the earnest group of young women met and organized. Their motto was "Love of the Highest and the Best," and we feel that we have lived up to the standard set before us.

In November we had our fall term party to welcome our pledges. Our annual dinner dance was given March 21st, at which many alumni were present. The social events of the year closed with a farewell party to our seniors.

Never have we felt the pride in our society that we do today, and in our work in years to come our thoughts will often turn with pleasure and gratitude to the Ero Alphan sisterhood.

Forensic Literary Society

WITH the rapid growth of M. A. C.'s popularity comes the added responsibility of keeping up the standard of work which M. A. C. has set for herself in the past. To accomplish this it is necessary that men of well rounded character and ability shall be sent forth from the institution, and towards this end the Forensic Literary Society has, in the past year, bent all its energies.

Coincident with this effort has been the marked growth of the society itself. Beginning in the fall term with twenty-nine men, it has gradually grown up to forty, and with this growth in numbers has come an added interest in literary and social lines of endeavor. Not the least important step in our growth has been the acquisition of new rooms in Williams Hall. This will, we believe, be an additional spur to greater things in the future.

Among the closest friendships are those of our honorary members, Dean R. P. Lyman and Mr. M. M. Cory. Their kindly interest, together with their helpful suggestions and ready wit and humor, make the cultivation of their friendships a rare privilege to every one of our number.

Delphic Literary Society

THE past Delphic year has been one of initiative, growth, and benefit. The flurry in the literary work during the fall term of 1913, caused by the wonderful success of the M. A. C. football team, was quieted in the winter, which brought forth excellent and beneficial programs. Along with the literary work, the social life of the Delphics has had the same fraternal standard as ever. During the spring term of 1913, our annual picnic, which was very well attended, was held at Pine Lake. Commencement week, a banquet was given at Club G in honor of our seniors and the alumni that were back, after which an informal dancing party was held in the Pine Lake pavilion.

Ionian Literary Society

IN ALL phases of life fraternal feeling is one great factor upon which a man is judged by his associates and friends. This, perhaps, forms a more prominent place in college, or at least it should, than in any other realm of life. At least college should form a most fertile soil for the production of the same. A knitting together of ideas, as well as exchanging personal sorrows and pleasures in an organization of men of practically the same makeup, is unquestionably a great factor in forming a foundation upon which a successful life can be built after our school days have passed into history.

We feel that these principles are being carried out in a satisfying manner in our society, and to this end we feel that this, our most successful year, has very largely contributed.

During the year many changes have been made in the rooms, such as re-decorating the walls, adding new furniture, etc., thus producing a very home-like atmosphere to the members and their friends.

Our one regret of the year is that of parting. This is especially true in regard to the seniors with whom we undoubtedly will never meet again as students.

Athenaeum Literary Society

ANOTHER year has passed into history for the Athenæum Literary Society—a year long to be remembered for its prosperity and good fellowship.

To dwell on past events which established the society and the progress this organization has made would be a mere repetition of past histories. The present society is as firmly established as it was when it originated, and the same unity of feeling and friendship dominates that has always been present. During the coming year the society plans to occupy a new house which is being constructed on Grand River Avenue, and we hope to make our new quarters attractive and homelike.

Phylean Literary Society

WITH a commencement party at the close of last year, which included a banquet at the People's Church and a dance at the K. of P. Hall in Lansing, the Phylean Literary Society finished a most successful year.

We returned in the fall to find our ranks very much depleted, but the organization was soon strengthened. Also a pleasant surprise awaited us, in that the society had moved into a new home, and this has greatly assisted in carrying out our motto of "Friendship."

Our literary work has been of a higher standard than ever before, and it is our aim to raise it to as high a degree of perfection as possible.

Our social life this year has been taken care of by our fall and winter term parties, and we are now looking forward to an enjoyable ending of a most successful year's work through our commencement party, at which we will welcome back many of our alumni and also bid farewell to thirteen of the Class of 1914.

Sesame Literary Society

"SESAME" opened the doors of wisdom to the ancients. To the girls who founded the Sesame Literary Society, this was a dream of what "Sesame" would do for their successors. "Sesame" for us has opened doors through which each of us has come that together we may be enabled to live nearer a common ideal embodied in our society—the development of the educated, broad-minded, and democratic college woman.

Trimoirra Literary Society

THE Trimoirra Literary Society has now passed through its first and most difficult year, and the measure of success attained has been far beyond the highest hopes of its founders.

The object in the minds of the founders was to create an organization which would have a broadening influence on the college life of the engineering students.

Our programs have been along lines both technical and literary, and the aim has been to let neither overbalance the other. We desire to make the organization a complete success in a social and educational way. We are trying to do our part in making the life at this college all that the name stands for.

New York State Club

THE New York Club was founded several years ago for the purpose of bringing together the students from the Empire State. Its success has been more marked this year than ever before. The Fall Term Banquet, welcoming the new members, was very successful. The Winter Term Party, February 6th, was very well attended and enjoyed by all. The special car East at Christmas time, carrying New York Club members and their friends going to Eastern points, was more popular this year than ever. M. A. C. has more students from New York than from any other state outside of Michigan, and the number is constantly increasing, which greatly favors the progress of the Club.

Y. M. C. A.

THE symbol of the Y. M. C. A. is the equilateral triangle, the three sides of which are Spirit, Mind, and Body. It typifies the threefold development of man. Since the College itself emphasizes the educational and athletic sides of the triangle, the Y. M. C. A. bends its energies towards the spiritual side.

It does this both inwardly and outwardly. Inwardly it begins by aiding the new student on his arrival and in adjusting him to his new surroundings. The Handbook, Y. M.- Y. W. C. A. Reception, and the Y. M. C. A. Handshakes all help the students to become early acquainted. Then there are devotional meetings twice each week, and Mission and Bible Study classes which build up the balanced Christian man.

Outwardly, the work assumes the aspect of Deputation Bands, and Social Service, such as teaching English to foreigners, and sending college men into neighboring towns to aid in the County Y. M. C. A. work among the boys.

Thus inwardly and outwardly the greatest opportunity is offered to the college man: that of living the Christian life, and that of doing Christian service for others. The past year has been the most successful in the history of M. A. C. A maximum of 343 members has been reached, which makes the Y. M. C. A. the largest organization at the college.

SINCE its organization, two years ago, the Glee Club has advanced by leaps and bounds. The first year only one concert was given, and that was at home. Last year a six-day trip was made and concerts were also given at home and in Lansing. This year the Glee and Mandolin clubs were merged into one organization, and a much better entertainment was the result. The manager procured a trip taking up all of the spring vacation, visiting the cities of Portland, Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, St. Louis, Belding, Grand Haven, Allegan, and Battle Creek. The usual concerts were also given at home and in Lansing, and in every case the club was met by enthusiastic audiences.

The Cosmopolitan Club

THE Cosmopolitan Club was organized several years ago to meet a growing need of social organization among our foreign students, and is registered at the national headquarters as the M. A. C. chapter of the A. A. C. C. Its purpose is to extend the welcome of our school to those among us from foreign lands to whom an American institution may be something new.

In past years the organization has amply justified its existence in this regard. This year there are a number of foreigners with us, and the prospects for a good future are assured. It is the desire of the present members that the varied interests represented be drawn closer together, and to this end we pledge ourselves.

Saber Knot

IN concurrence with the general feeling last fall term that there was room for a new spirit towards drill, and that the monotony of the usual nightly company drills be broken, an organization was finally effected among the officers of the corps of cadets for the purpose, primarily, of staging some spectacular drills.

Two platoons in single line of 32 men and three officers drilled weekly previous to the winter term military ball, perfecting many fancy movements and several exercises with the saber. The first appearance of the Saber Knot was made on the evening of the military ball under the command of Prof. W. B. Wendt. For twenty-five minutes of steady marching the men went through the various movements without a hitch, followed by the manual of the saber.

To organize such a detachment was rather a problem, since the nature of it was so entirely new in the annals of the department and the time of the senior and junior officers so completely taken up. The qualifications were that all must be officers, willing to devote the time and energy to the project, and that the men have a good soldierly bearing. All credit for the efficiency of the men and their ability to drill so well is due to Professor Wendt, whose enthusiasm and military training made it possible.

This year was the first. Such an organization proved its value to the officers who were in it, through their ability to more easily handle the saber, appreciate good drilling, the proper steps and appearance. The ways being shown, and with so able a backer as Professor Wendt, the coming year should find at M. A. C. a crack drill company of officers that will be able to compete with any state drill company.

Veterinary Medical Association

VETERINARY medicine has been a part of the college curriculum at the Michigan Agricultural College continuously from the early days of the institution, and from its introduction has been under the charge of four veterinarians. Dr. A. J. Murray, now a resident of Texas, was the first veterinarian to undertake lectures in veterinary medicine to agricultural students. At the time of his retirement, Dr. E. A. Grange, at that time of Detroit, but now dean of the Ontario Veterinary College, accepted the position, continuing for a number of years. Following Dr. Grange, Dr. A. E. Waterman became professor of veterinary medicine, retiring in 1908 to take up farming. Dr. L. M. Hurt, graduate of the Iowa Veterinary College, succeeded Dr. Waterman.

In 1907 the state legislature approved an act establishing a Division of Veterinary Medicine, and in 1909 subsequent action by the State Board of Agriculture authorized a full course in veterinary medicine, and Dean R. P. Lyman was engaged at that time to undertake the establishment of the new division. In January of the year 1910 the first class in veterinary medicine was enrolled, consisting of five sophomores. During that year they organized the present M. A. C. Veterinary Medical Association.

IT IS the aim of the Chorus to offer training to the students along the general line of choral singing. Two standard productions are usually presented during the year. This year "The Deacon's Masterpiece" (Music by Fletcher, words by Holmes) and Haydn's famous oratorio, "The Creation," were given; the former in the winter term and the latter in connection with the May Festival. To those who desire practice in singing, the chorus offers unusual opportunities.

THE college year, 1913-1914, has been the most successful since the organization of the club in 1909, having won every match in the Intercollegiate Indoor Rifle League. The club belongs to the National Rifle Association of America under whose management all the matches were shot. Lieut. J. B. DeLancey, U. S. Army, was appointed judge of all matches by the executive officer of the association.

M. A. C. was placed in Class A, and shot against the eleven other highest colleges.

The following is the official schedule of the matches with the scores made by the M. A. C. Rifle Team and their opponents:

Iowa State University.....	953;	M. A. C.	965
Norwich University	910;	M. A. C.	973
University of California.....	934;	M. A. C.	973
Northern Georgia Agricultural College.....	913;	M. A. C.	965
Massachusetts Agricultural College	968;	M. A. C.	988
Purdue University	919;	M. A. C.	983
University of Minnesota	949;	M. A. C.	987
Massachusetts Institute of Technology.....	924;	M. A. C.	986
Harvard University	917;	M. A. C.	994
University of West Virginia.....	963;	M. A. C.	989
Princeton University	926;	M. A. C.	993
Average scores	934.18		981.45

The world's record of 988 out of a possible 1000 points was tied once and broken three times during the tournament.

The rifle squad was awarded twelve M. A. C. sweaters by the State Board of Agriculture at their meeting on March 18th, thus showing their appreciation for the work of our rifle team. We have won the championship of the United States, and have been awarded the Intercollegiate Indoor Trophy and ten silver medals by the National Rifle Association of America.

The following is a list of the men who have made the Rifle Team with their official average team scores:

M. R. Freeman.....	197.2	R. F. Giffels.....	195.5
R. A. Pennington.....	197.	J. A. Berry.....	195.
R. D. Kean.....	196.9	E. G. Sprung.....	194.
E. H. Pate.....	196.5	S. W. Harmon.....	192.
H. L. Publow.....	196.3	K. S. Clark.....	191.
A. J. Patch.....	196.25	B. Giffels	190.

THE determination to keep up the reputation of the Farmer's Club as one of the most successful organizations on the campus was undertaken in the fall term under the leadership of President G. R. Wheeler. This was carried out fully and culminated in one of the best banquets ever given at M. A. C.

As manifested by the large attendance, great interest has been taken in the meetings during the winter term. The club has been fortunate in securing good live talks by members of the faculty and other successful men. The chief aim has been to combine the scientific with the practical and that this has been carried out is beyond question.

The Short Course men took a great deal of interest and many were the words of praise uttered by them.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY

THE object of the Engineering Society, the bringing of technical subjects not given in the class room to the attention of engineering students, has been fulfilled during the past year under the able leadership of Presidents S. M. Dean, H. E. Aldrich, and I. J. Fairchild. Membership has increased and the interest of the men has been held by the subjects presented at the meetings.

The Student Council

UNDER a new and more potent constitution which was granted to the Student Council by the faculty this year, the object of the organization as stated was "to enable the student body, through representatives, to effectively manage such affairs of general interest to the student body as are established by precedent or by general consensus of opinion to rightfully fall under the jurisdiction of a student body."

Pursuant of this policy the Council organized student mass meetings and celebrations, provided for the accompanying of the band with the football team, organized the incoming classes, conducted the inter-class athletic contests, the freshman-sophomore class rush, and the general student elections.

To enforce laws concerning the lower classes, to represent the student body, to place important questions before the student body in the form of a referendum vote, to act on petitions from the students, to enforce campus rules and customs, and to arbitrate between classes, departments, and individuals, are duties of the Student Council which have made it an important factor in college activities.

The Council, as elected by the various classes, was composed of the following men during the past year: G. E. Gauthier, '14, president; D. W. Francisco, '14, secretary; C. C. Cox, '14; P. S. Armstrong, '15; H. P. Henry, '15, and C. P. Reynolds, '16.

The Liberal Arts Council

THE Liberal Arts Council consists of three members of the faculty, one senior, and one junior. It provides for some entertainment which is of educational value to all students, growing out of the old Liberal Arts Union. It is a progressive step in the attempt to use a portion of the money derived from the blanket tax to the best advantage.

One-sixth of the blanket tax money goes for this purpose. The council endeavors to use its best judgment in selecting those people who are to entertain and the class of entertainment which they render. This has been shown very strongly in the past year. The speakers and entertainers were people of national fame in their respective lines of work.

This is one of the opportunities a student has to obtain a broader minded education. Then, too, the student should realize that it is an expenditure of his or her own money by capable hands which brings these people here. All in all, the Liberal Arts Council is supplying a very important part of a student's college career.

The Intersociety Union

THE Intersociety Union is a college organization composed of two members from each men's society of the college, one senior and one junior. The junior member becomes the senior member each following year, when a new junior member is appointed by the society. The offices pass in rotation among the societies each year.

The functions of the union are those of representing the literary societies of the college in their common interests and controlling some college activities. The management of the society tennis courts, baseball league, relay race, and the annual football banquet are among the essential functions the Intersociety Union performs.

In view of all the common benefit which can be performed by the union, its force should be advanced with the college.

Debating

THE past school year marks our first attempt at interstate debate. The first debate took place in the winter term with Iowa State College.

It was a dual affair, the team remaining home taking the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, That the states should establish a schedule of minimum wage for unskilled labor, constitutionality conceded." Unfortunately, we lost both sides of the debate.

Teams

Affirmative at M. A. C.

R. W. Snyder.

G. H. Myers.

F. B. Meisenheimer.

Negative at Iowa.

E. Hart.

A. I. Margolis.

G. Cochran.

The second debate took place April 24th, and was between M. A. C. and Purdue University. The question was: "Resolved, That the states should enact laws for the compulsory insurance of working men against injury and death in the course of employment, constitutionality conceded." In this debate we were more fortunate, losing at Purdue, 2 to 1, but winning unanimously at home.

Teams

Affirmative at M. A. C.

E. Hart.

G. T. Hayes.

A. I. Margolis.

Negative at Purdue.

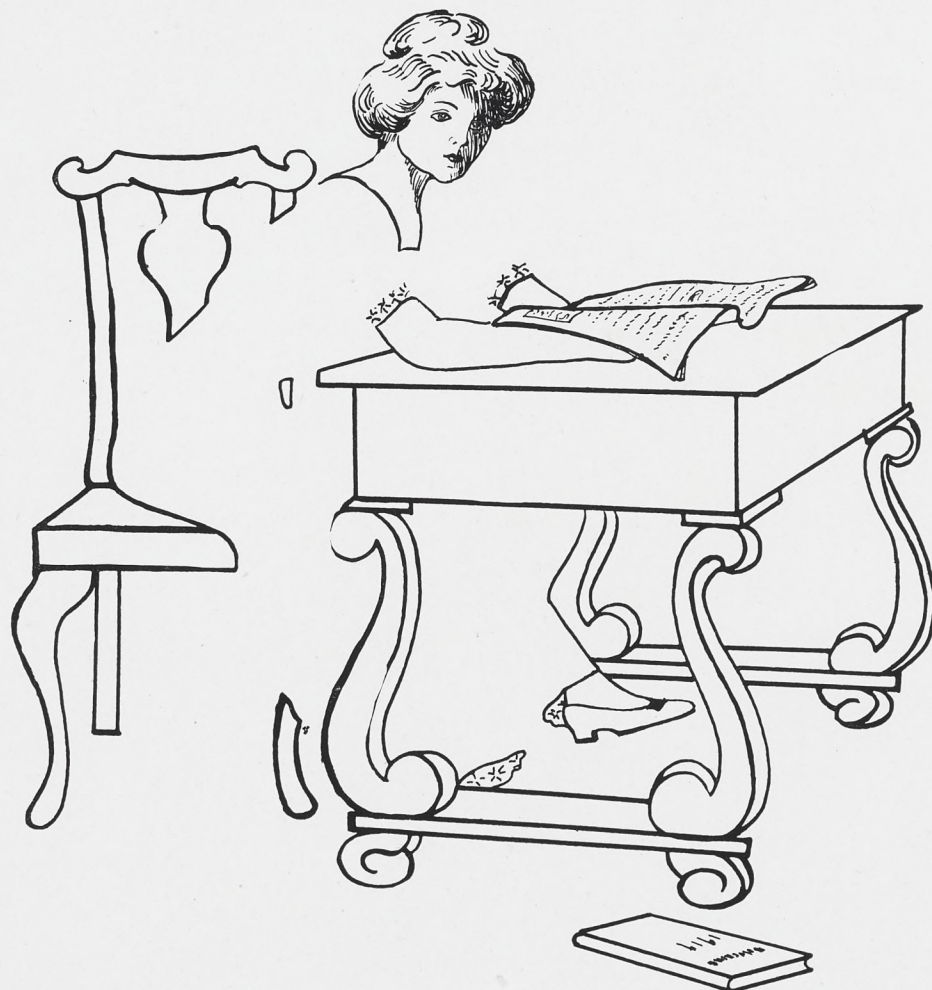

S. Rabinowitz.

W. J. Atchison.

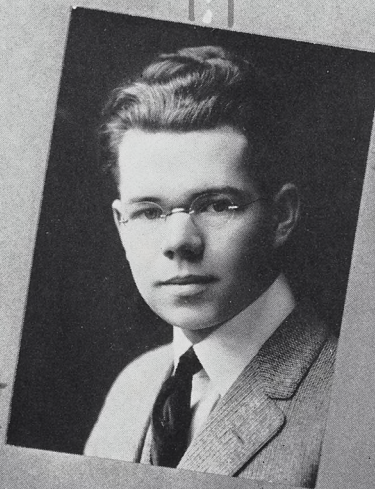

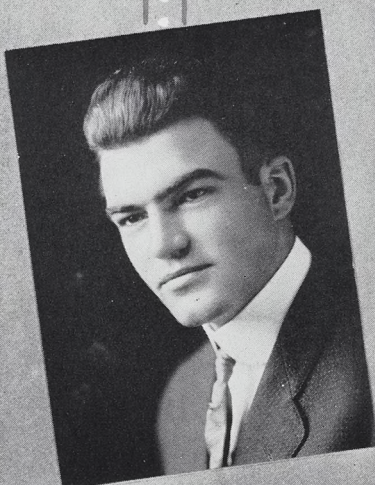

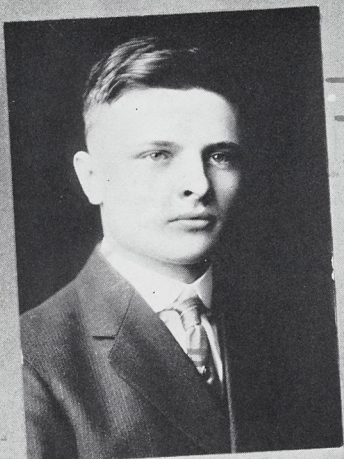

F. B. Meisenheimer.

Mr. H. P. Henry acted as manager for the debating teams throughout the year.

STARTING the year under favorable circumstances, and with these same favorable circumstances following during the year, the Holcad is now in a fair way to become permanently on its feet. Through the agency of President Snyder's office, the Holcad was sent to three hundred high schools in the state last spring, thus becoming an active factor in advertising M. A. C.

The business department, under the direction of J. L. Snellink, was very successful in the matter of securing advertising, getting much new business in addition to the old. The subscription manager passed all previous bounds, with over one thousand paid-in subscriptions. Many alumni, wishing to keep in touch with student life and activities, were among the subscribers.

The staff members were capable and efficient and were on the job every week, making it possible to carry out some much needed reforms in the paper. The Holcad still offers much room for improvements, some of which can only be brought about by the support of every student in college. Mr. Fisher, upon whose shoulders falls the task of editing the sheet for the next year, is capable in every respect of keeping up the policy of improvement, and a bigger and better student weekly is expected.

M. A. C. RECORD

GEORGE C. SHEFFIELD, Editor

WHILE our Alma Mater was yet in its infancy, away back in 1869 to be exact, a number of its loyal sons formed the Alumni Association. This organization, as such, enjoyed a continuous existence until the Triennial Reunion in 1913, when several changes of sweeping importance were authorized by those present.

One of these changes was the decision to employ a permanent secretary. This office was to be filled by a graduate, who was to have offices on the campus, and whose principal activity was to consist in getting in touch with and uniting the alumni and former students of the college. Another duty was the management of the M. A. C. Record, a publication formerly administered by the college, which was transferred to the M. A. C. Association by an act of the State Board of Agriculture.

George C. Sheffield, a member of 1912, was chosen as the first secretary of the new M. A. C. Association, and took office in September, 1913. After his graduation, Mr. Sheffield was for over a year a member of the staff of The Detroit Tribune, and the experience thus gained has been turned to practical application in the management of the Record. A consistent effort to enliven the nature of news printed has been made, and the paper is now enjoying a larger purely alumni circulation than at any time in its eighteen years of existence. While it is intended eventually to make the Record an incidental feature of the association, it furnishes at the present time a splendid means of enlisting the interest and support of the alumni and former students in all parts of the country.

The secretaries of local associations furnish the connecting links between the main office and the members. Through them the general secretary learns of births, deaths, marriages, and changes of address in each group, as well as items of interest concerning the activities of individuals in any line. This news, printed in the Record, gives to the whole body interesting items of a general nature.

Considering the lack of any previous organized effort to unite the alumni and old students, the results of the first year's work are gratifying. With the experience gained thus far it is hoped that future years will show a corresponding revival of alumni interest in the growth and progress of the college we all hold dear.

Alma Mater

Close beside the winding Cedar's
Sloping banks of green,
Spreads thy campus, Alma Mater,
Fairest ever seen.

(Chorus):

Swell the chorus! Let it echo
Over hill and vale;
Hail to thee, our loving mother,
M. A. C., all hail!

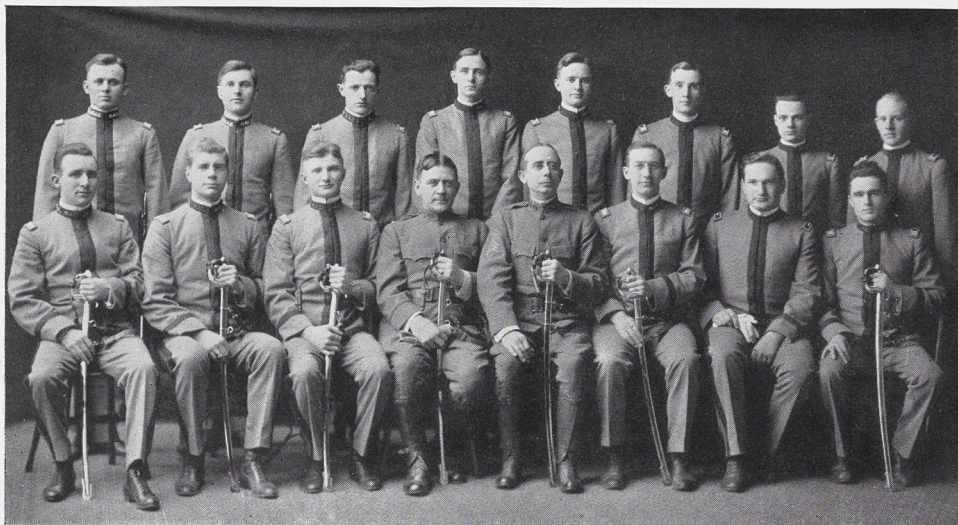

First of all thy race, fond mother,
Thus we greet thee now,
While with loving hands the laurel
Twine we o'er thy brow.

Backward through the hazy distance
Troop the days of yore,
Scenes and faces float before us
Cherished more and more.

College Hall and Wells and Williams,
Abbot and the rest,
Halcyon days were those spent with you—
Days of all the best.

Fold us fondly to your bosom
Alma Mater dear,
Sing we now thy endless praises
Sounding cheer on cheer.

The "J" Hop

DON'T attempt, Mr. Pessimist, to make a member of the 1915 junior class believe that Friday the 13th is an unlucky date. Ideal weather, a delicious banquet, a fairy garden in which to wander, entrancing music, and above all a most charming companion; do these spell bad luck?

On arriving at the Masonic Temple the juniors and their guests were received by the class officers and the patrons, President and Mrs. Snyder, Dean Peppard, and Professor J. F. Macklin. After the reception they entered the banquet hall where a sumptuous feast was spread. The room was transformed into a rose garden and lighted by softly shaded candles. At the close, President Bibbins, acting as toastmaster, proved his ability as a man of unusual wit and humor. He, with those who responded, did much to make the time go swiftly.

Immediately after the banquet came the grand march. The long line of juniors and their friends filed slowly into the ball room which had been made into a veritable fairyland by multitudes of poppies and nasturtiums, festoons of smilax, and a flock of homing pigeons driven by little Dan Cupid. In such an enchanting place, and amid such a friendly company, the hours sped only too rapidly. At 2:30 the juniors were reminded that the "J" Hop was only a matter of history.

But such history! Only one date and only one name to remember.

The Barbecue

WAR had ceased, and the hostile tribes were at peace. The brave and fearless Sophs had at last come to an understanding with their old enemies, the valiant Freshies. This tribe had, on a never-to-be-forgotten day given the Sophs a decisive defeat. In view of the coming era of peace the chiefs and the wise men of the two tribes set aside October 30th as a day of feasting and council. They invited to the feast the neighboring tribes, the Seniors, Juniors, and Preps, and asked them to take part in the merriment.

Shortly after the sun had set the drums were heard calling the people to gather 'round the council fire. When many had assembled, Medicine Man Fisher arose and told the multitude the purpose of the great gathering. Then Big Chief Kennedy spoke long and earnestly, imploring his tribesmen to smoke the peace pipe and bury the tomahawk. Next Silver Tongue Thompson arose and thanked Big Chief Kennedy for his promises, and accepted the peace offering in behalf of his tribe, the Freshies.

Finally Medicine Man Fisher invited everyone to partake of the feast which the Sophs had prepared. Venison there was and plenty, also fire water which had undoubtedly been stolen from the white men on the frontier.

Cap Night

JUST at dusk queerly arrayed personages could be seen gathering in the vicinity of Engineering Hall.

Guided by a myriad of red lights the procession wended its way past the "Coop," the occupants of which were saluted by a volley of Roman candles. The march continued until the place of ceremonies was reached. Here quiet was restored in order that the multitude could listen to Master of Ceremonies Lacey and his band of entertainers, namely, Dean Shaw, Burt, Loree, and the Glee Club.

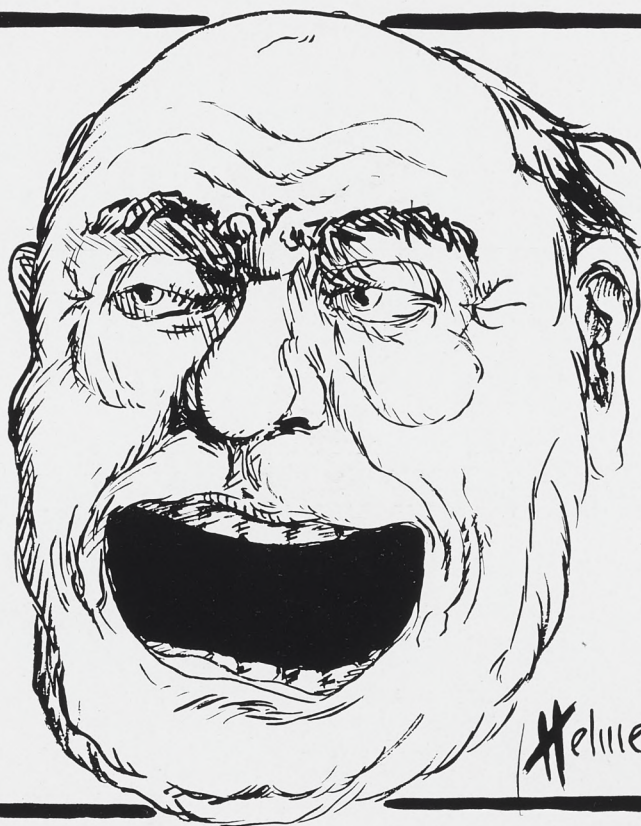

Such good order and enthusiasm was too much for the devil, who suddenly made his appearance and danced impishly to a large caldron situated in the center of Sleepy Hollow. Strange to say, the seniors followed in his wake and offered his Satanic Majesty their books as a sacrifice. These he burned in fiendish glee.

The freshmen and preps were then allowed to burn their caps in the bonfire which had been blazing high for some time.

To the Seniors

The HOLCAD staff is striving to make the paper appeal to the Alumni.

We know that each man and woman in the class of 1914 has the best interests of the paper at heart.

We believe that your criticisms and suggestions as Alumni subscribers would help us to make the paper a real pleasure to those men and women who have left their Alma Mater.

We are asking you to give us your subscriptions before leaving college.

SCIENTIFIC AGRICULTURE

Has made it possible for us to adopt this trade mark because only the most scientific and up-to-date methods are employed in our nurseries.

Our Trees are Whole Root, Pedigree Bred and Full of Life. Buds and scions for grafting are taken only from bearing orchard trees with a record. No expense is ever spared in the production of the ideal tree for orchard, park or lawn. All of the growing power of every tree is absolutely retained during storage in our frost-proof storage cellars, which are the largest in the world.

The Childhood of Fruit Trees—Our recent publication, presents in a delightful manner, the history of fruit tree propagation and development in our nurseries. Upon request we will gladly mail a copy to you free.

We are Looking for Good, Reliable Agents to represent us and help sell our millions of trees, shrubs, vines, roses, etc., etc. Our commissions are liberal and our prices reasonable. No experience necessary. Write today for our terms to agents.

Announcing the New Typew

We announce an amazing model—the OLIVER NUMBER 7—a typewriter of super-excellence, with automatic devices and refinements that mark the zenith of typewriter progress. A marvel of beauty, speed, and easy action. Typewriting efficiency raised to the *n*th power.

The OLIVER 7 Typewriter No.

The Standard Visible Typewriter

The OLIVER NUMBER 7 embodies all previous Oliver innovations and new self-acting devices never before seen on any typewriter. A leap in advance which places the Oliver ten years ahead of its time. So smooth in action, so light to the touch, so easy to run, that experts are amazed. A model that means to the typist delightful ease of operation. A model that means a higher standard of typewriting, longer and better service.

The NUMBER 7 is now on exhibit and sale at all Oliver Branches and Agencies throughout the United States.

OLIVER BOOK DE LUXE—We are just issuing a richly illustrated catalog describing

THE OLIVER TYPEWRITER CO. OL

ewriter—OLIVER Number 7

The new model has more improvements, refinements and new uses than we can even enumerate here.

The "cushioned keyboard" with "anchor keys" and the new automatic features mean less work for the hands, less strain on the eyes, less manual and mental effort.

With all of these masterly mechanical improvements we have made the machine more beautiful and symmetrical. From every standpoint the OLIVER NUMBER 7 attains superlative excellence.

Nothing you could wish for has been omitted. The new devices, refinements, improvements and conveniences found on the NUMBER 7 represent an enormous outlay and vastly increase its value—the price has not been advanced one penny. We shall even continue in force our popular 17-Cents-a-Day purchase plan, the same as on previous Oliver Models.

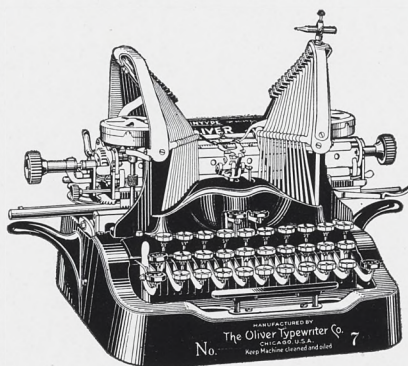

The OLIVER NUMBER 7, equipped with the famous Printype, if desired, without extra charge.

You owe it to yourself to see the new machine before you buy any typewriter at any price. Note its beauty, speed and easy action, its wonderful automatic devices. Try it on any work that is ever done on typewriters. Try it on many kinds of work that no other typewriter will do.

It is a significant fact that the typewriter that introduced such epoch-making innovations as visible writing, visible reading, Printype, etc., should be the first to introduce automatic methods of operation.

Many Words and Promises

Many words with little meaning and many promises without fulfilment are moss covered and moth eaten arguments for trade, yet they are still used and many folks "stand for them" at the cost of their time, money and self respect. Fair prices for good goods and the truth about them in the fewest words, that is one of our arguments for your trade. Other arguments are: Promises kept to the letter. A deep sense of justice to the customer. An endeavor to please regardless of the amount of the purchase. Promptness. Courtesy. Willingness.

Shakespeare's Married Life

On the "Twelfth Night" after "The Tempest" he married "Cymbeline," one of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," because the King Lear (ed) at him. While engaged in "The Taming of the Shrew" he met "Two Gentlemen of Verona," by name "Julius Caesar," a friend to "Hamlet" and formerly a "Merchant of Venice," and "Titus Andronicus," a brother of "Macbeth" and formerly "Timon of Athens." The latter, by making "Much Ado About Nothing," discovered the "Love's Labour's Lost" was "A Comedy of Errors," and that even if "All's Well That Ends Well" marriage is not "As You Like It" and no "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Prof. of Physiology—"Why is it necessary to acquire a correct carriage in youth?"

Ruth B.—"Why, I suppose if they don't have a carriage they will try to walk too soon and become bow-legged."

Prof. Johnston (quoting in English class)—"Fools ask questions that wise men cannot answer."

Helen K. (to herself)—"I wonder why I flunked that chemistry exam."
