THE KID

WONDERINK

WE DEDICATE the 1933 Wolverine to Robert S. Shaw, president of Michigan State College, during the 76th year of its existence—a year of world-wide depression, prevalent with skepticism, discouragement and criticism.

President Shaw came to Michigan State College in 1902 as professor of practical agriculture, after resigning his position at Montana Agricultural College. In 1909 he was made dean of agriculture and his work at this post was one of outstanding significance. In 1924 he was made president of the college.

The development of the college since that time is a monument to his untiring efforts. Under his direction and guidance the one-time agricultural school became a class "A" college on the approved list of the American Association of Colleges and Universities.

In spite of barriers constantly being placed in his path by unsympathetic influences, his administration has maintained a continuous upward course. The trials of this passing year have revealed the infiniteness of his loyalty and courage.

MICHIGAN STATE CAMPUS

STATELY forest trees breaking the broad expanses of well-kept lawn. Towering pines and lordly oaks, gracefully drooping spruce, and spreading maple. Majestic structures of brick and stone » » » of the modern spirit in architecture » » » quaint little old red brick buildings of an age past, lending a touch of the picturesque » » » meandering paths through extravagantly colored flower beds » » » broad vistas of shade and sunlight. A wide ribbon of soft grey winding gracefully » » » a sobering theme through this noble symphony of green. This is the beauty that is State's campus. But we who breathe this beauty and feast our eyes upon it day after day, smile at any puny attempt to describe what we know cannot be described. Just be still and know that here nature has spared none of her artistry in creating this glorious scene.

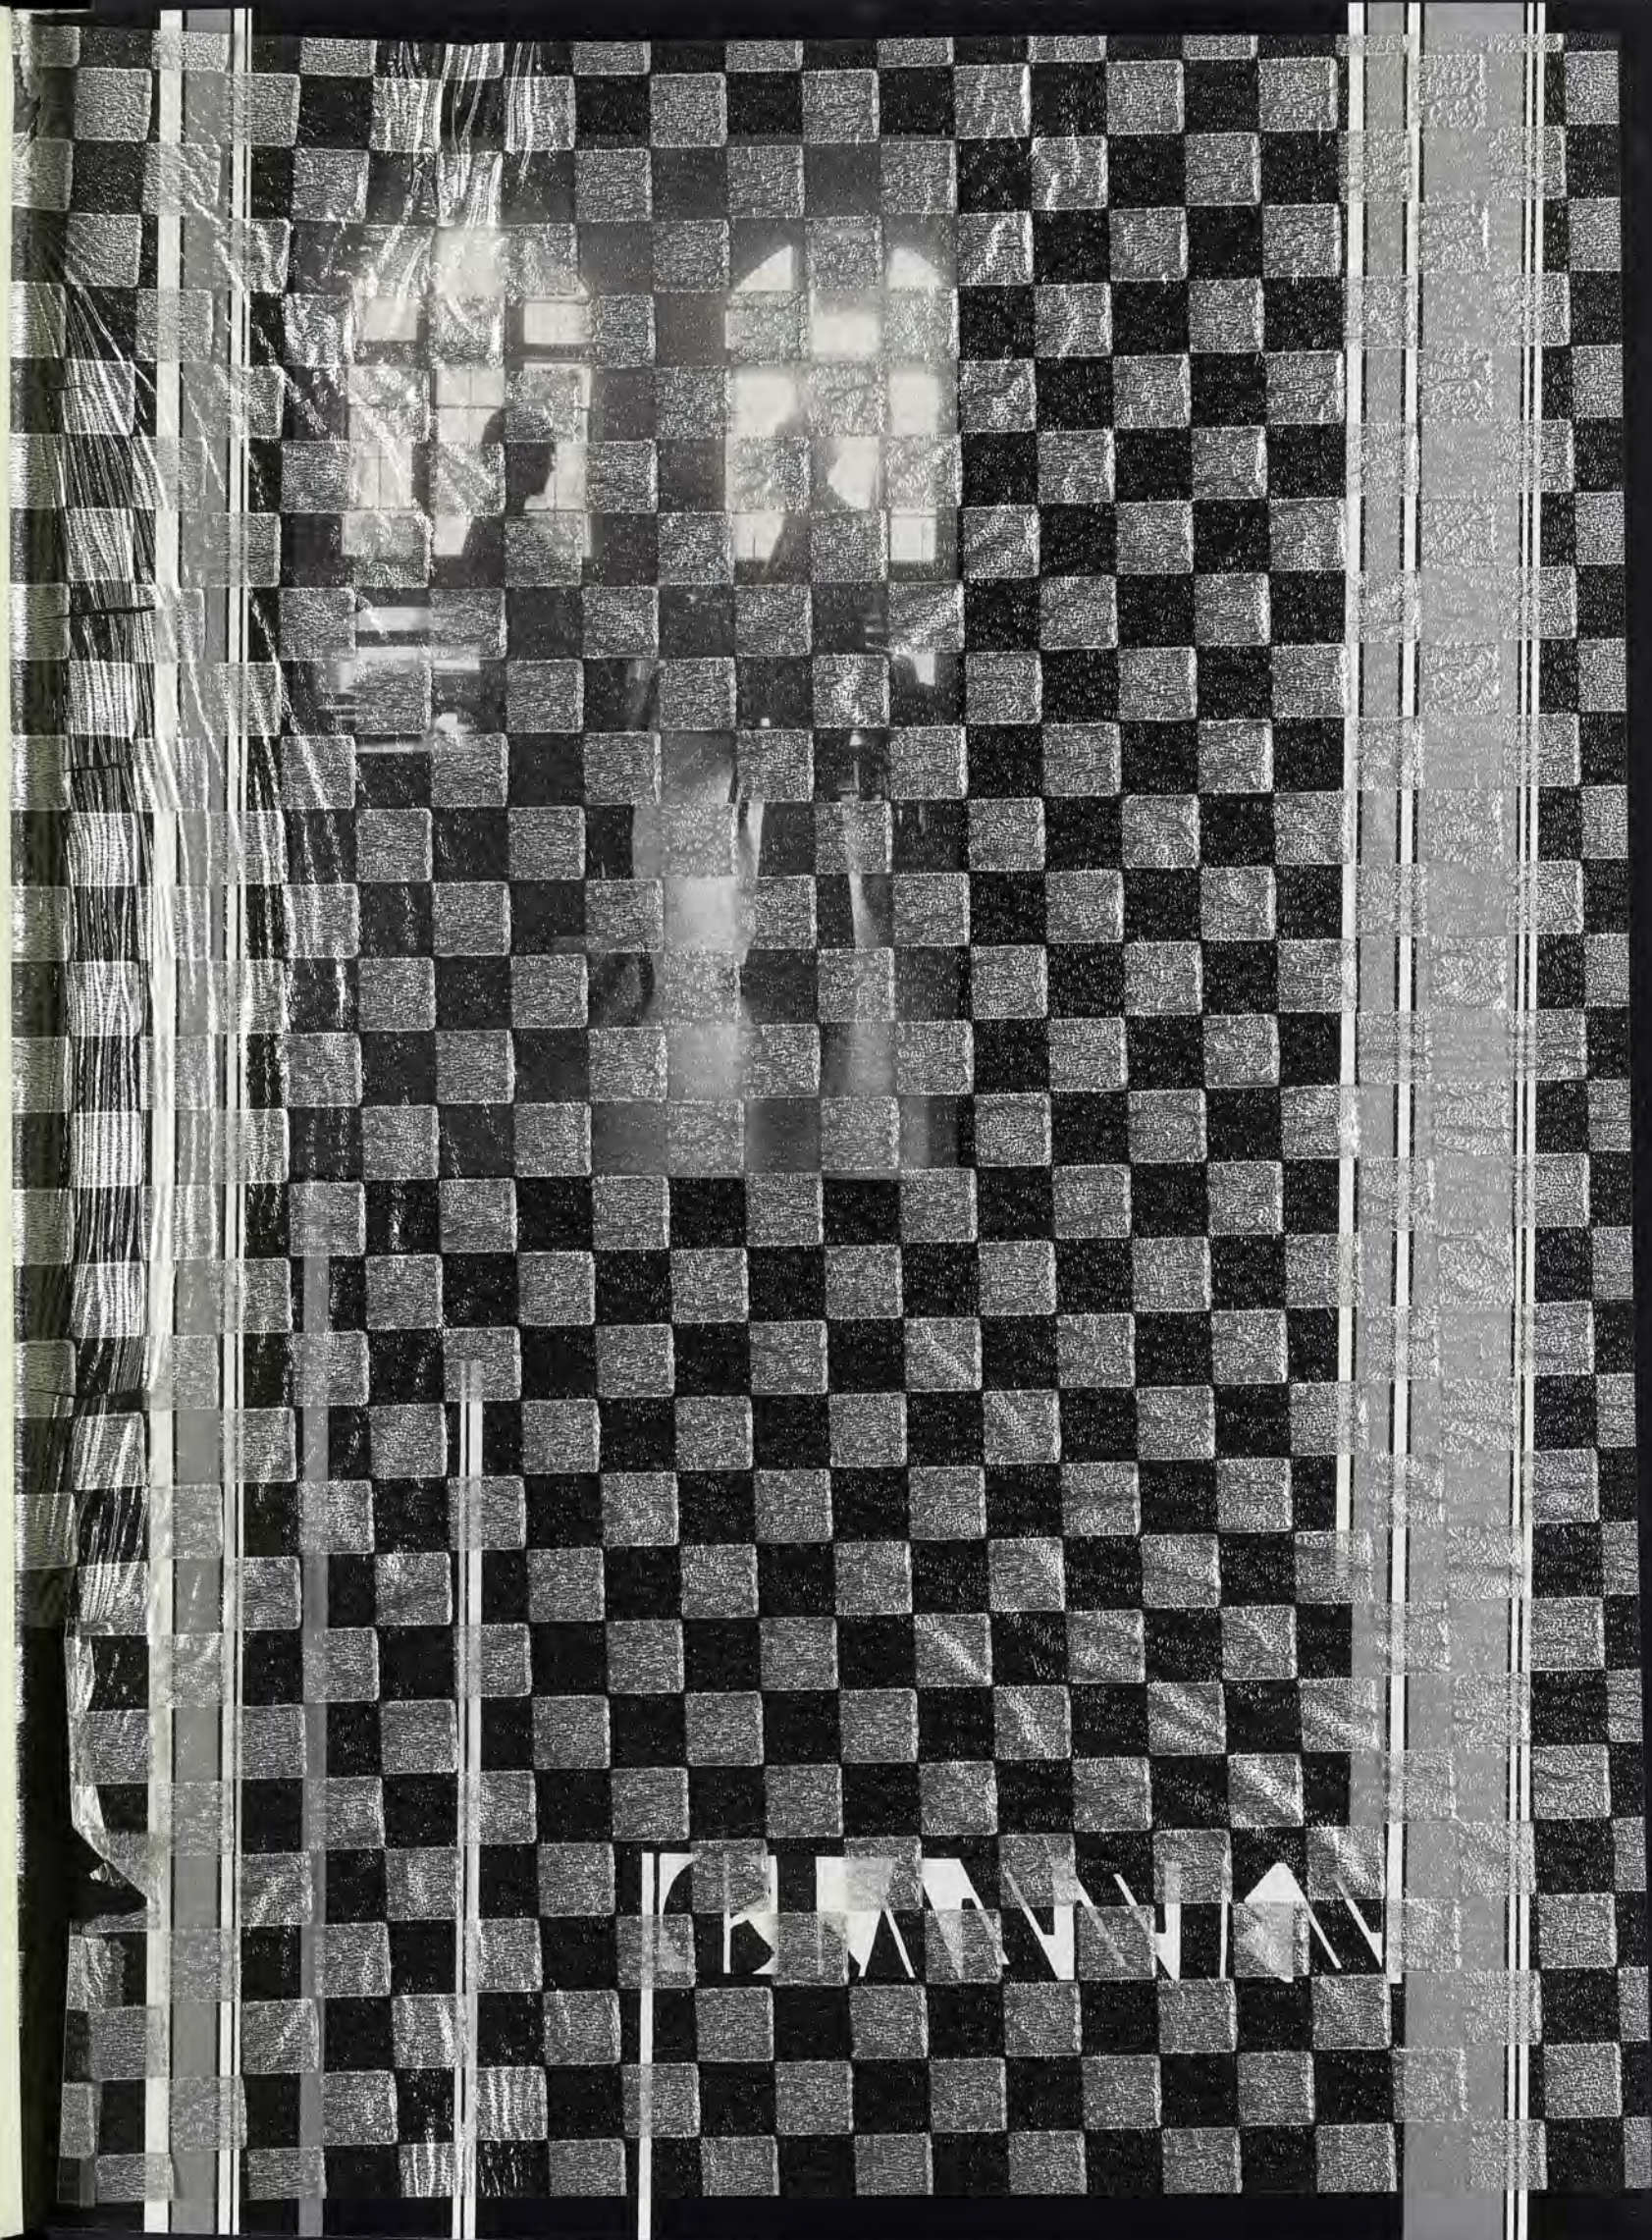

Come! Let us go down to the river. Here on the edge of the campus, turning our backs on the college buildings, we are magically transported out of civilization » » » away from man's tampering fingers. Here before us lies a veritable jungle » » » a scene primordial » » » nature in wild caprice, untouched. The winding Cedar curves gently beneath hanging luxuriant green foliage. At places the trees from both banks almost meet over head, leaving only a patch of blue sky visible. At night it is a thing of sinister beauty, dark, secretive, haunting » » » a jungle stream. In the daylight only the number of brightly colored canoes remind one that he is still in inhabited land.

In the Winter when most of the trees have lost their green beauty, and everything is covered with a white blanket of snow, a different type of loveliness prevails. Color is gone; the natural noises are reduced to whispers » » » extravagance gives way to simplicity, the broad sweep fades before delicacy, exquisiteness. The inter-twining of thin snow-lined branches, lacy daintiness. The pervading stillness strikes awe into the on-looker, a feeling that behind this silence lies asleep a powerful giant dreaming of his next wild orgy in violence.

If you have been guilty of passing these things, oblivious of their loveliness, shake yourself out of your false sophistication. No need to ask you to appreciate such exquisiteness. Only open your eyes and look about you. Too soon will you have to leave this beautiful spot 'close beside the winding Cedar'. When you can look upon it no more, your campus will exist in a precious corner of your memory. Enjoy it actively while you can.

WOLVERINE 1933

SENIOR CLASS

OFFICERS

PRESIDENT.....	WILLIAM VONDETTE
VICE-PRESIDENT.....	MARGARET LASSEN
SECRETARY.....	CORRINE GOULET
TREASURER.....	GEORGE THOMAS

JUST as in the past years, the Senior Class reached the height of success in many departments of the college and assumed the positions of executives for the under-graduate body. It is appropriate in this space to mention the people chosen from the class to take over the executive duties: Milton Dickman, President of the Student Council; Athenia Andros, President of A. W. S.; Clarence Van Lopik, Managing Editor of the Michigan State News; Ronald McDonald, Managing Editor of the College Yearbook; Charles Blakeslee, Managing Editor of the Agriculturist.

The Senior Class presented the Water Carnival this year with Richard McDonald in charge. The theme was entitled "The Song of America" written by Paul Kindig; it included a reflection of the literature, oratory, art, and song of the United States. The reproduction of American songs related the advancement of the country from the coming of the white man through the world war until the present day of depression.

The class presented its senior play "Little Women", directed by Professor E. S. King. The production is an annual event in the Forest of Arden.

The first swing out was June first and Lantern Night, June fifth. The Baccalaureate speaker was Dr. Fifield of Grand Rapids and the Commencement address was delivered by Dr. W. D. Henderson of the University of Michigan.

The morning of June twelfth, the military men held their colorful graduation parade, and Lt. Colonel Rodney presented the commissions of Second Lieutenant to each man.

FRESHMAN CLASS

OFFICERS

PRESIDENT.....	LAURENCE HUTCHINSON
VICE-PRESIDENT.....	ANN G. CLEARY
SECRETARY.....	HELEN ANTHONY
TREASURER.....	GORDON BRYCE

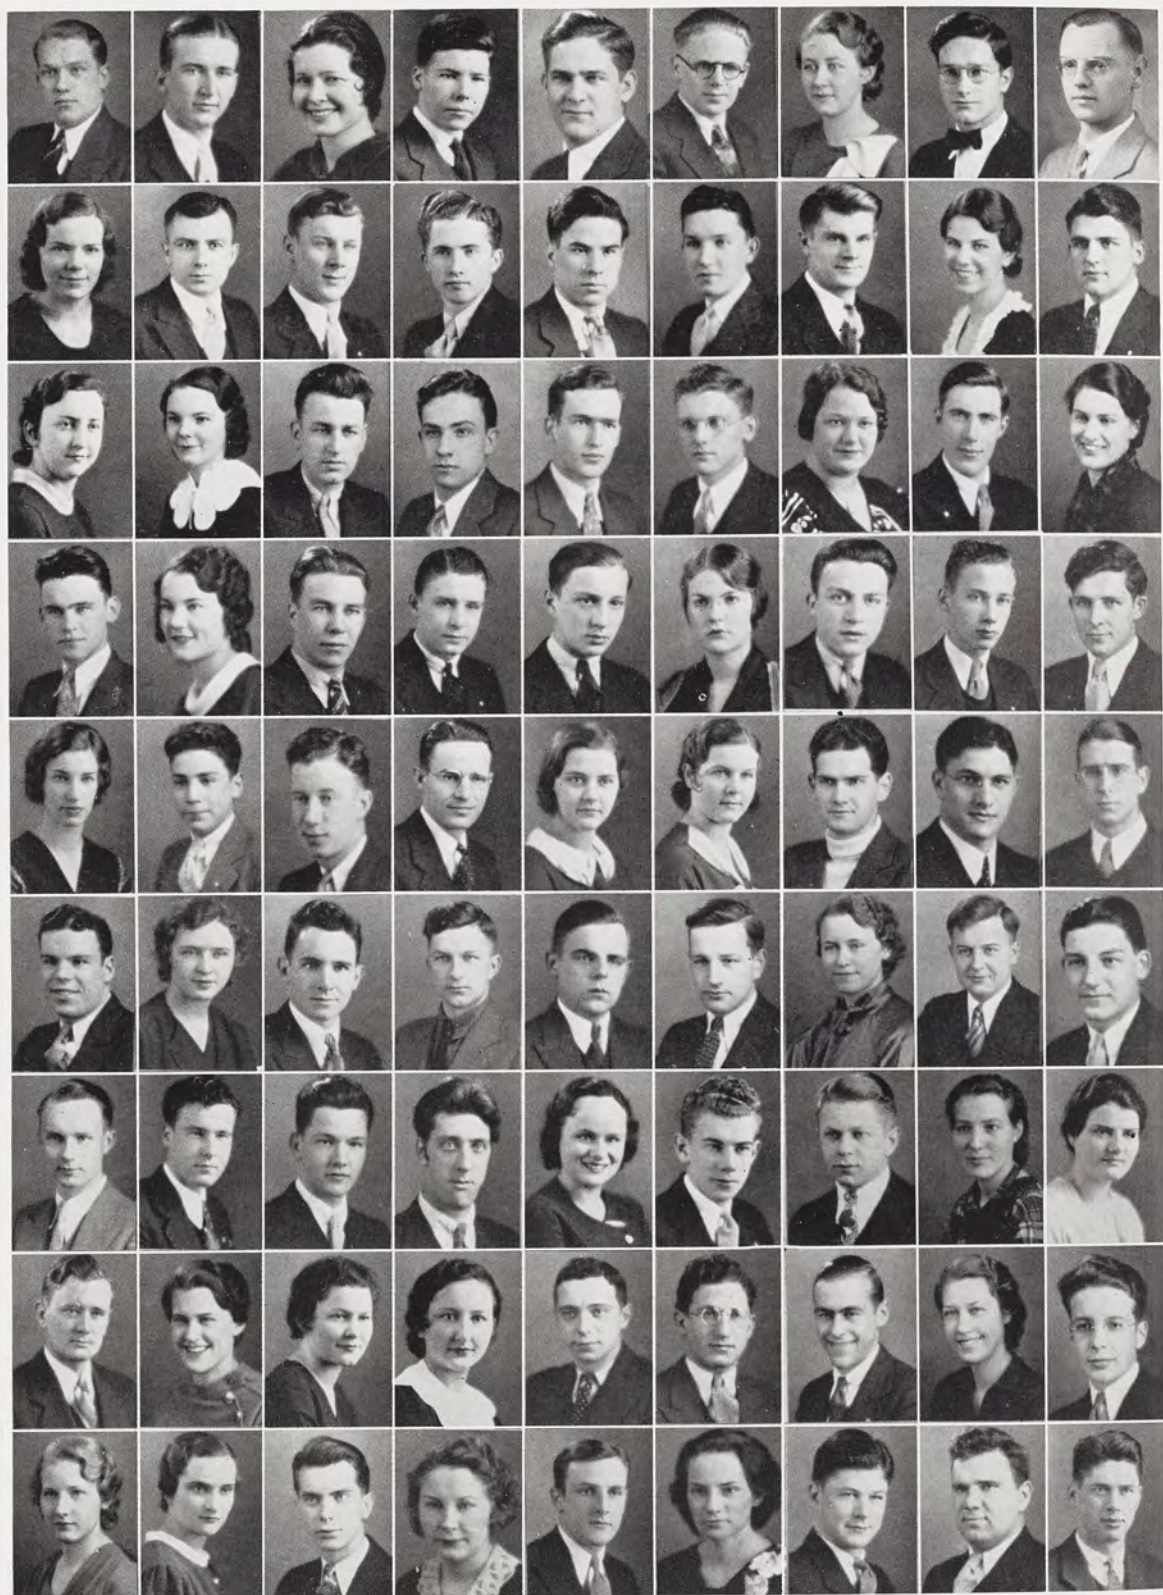

AGAIN, Michigan State has a host of wearers of the green. This year's enrollment surprised every one concerned, because the Freshman Class came in larger than ever. They have taken up the Spartan Spirit of the college and entered into a great deal of the extra-curricular activities on the campus. They turned out the strongest of athletic teams and as usual on the annual "Class Day" they were rated as the "under dogs", but whipped the tar out of the Sophs. Scholastically, these "Amoebae" have held their own with any class that has gone before.

This class has contributed its share of feminine pulchritude, having the largest enrollment of women in any Freshman class. Not only does it have quantity, but the quality is far above the average. Many of the male students completely lost their desire to continue bachelorhood.

It will be interesting to follow the advancement and development of this class. It shows infinite possibilities and should be one of the best classes that has ever entered Michigan State. In years to follow let us hope that it takes advantage of the great many opportunities offered it and makes a great success of its college career.

RALPH H. YOUNG

RALPH H. YOUNG, director of athletics, has been with the college in that position for ten years. During that time he has succeeded in building up a department with an enviable record. Director Young was largely instrumental in securing the services of Charles Bachman to fill the vacancy left when Coach James Crowley took up a post at Fordham University.

Under the directorship of Ralph Young new phases of athletics and new minor sports have advanced until they now hold a prominent place in campus athletics.

WOLVERINE 1933

JAMES H. CROWLEY
Coach

COACH James Crowley culminated his short career as a football coach at Michigan State College by putting out a highly successful varsity squad. Under Crowley's efficient tutelage the team won seven games and lost but one. Formidable teams from the East bowed to the strength of the Crowley men.

Coach Crowley was interested and took part in many of the campus activities. He spoke at convocations during his stay on the campus and was in great demand as an after dinner speaker on the campus as well as off.

His success and popularity were due to a keen wit and an unceasing vigilance for details. He made for himself a place on the campus and was a part of it.

FOOTBALL COACHES

LEAHY

COACHES James (Sleepy) Crowley, Glen (Judge) Carberry, Miles Casteel and Frank Leahy were the men who were instrumental in turning out one of the most successful football teams that the college has ever known. Under their capable coaching the team turned in seven wins to one defeat. In the coming year Miles Casteel, reputed to be one of the best football "scouts" as well as an able line coach, will be the only one of the four to be retained at the college. The other coaches, Crowley, Carberry and Leahy leave the college with the best wishes of the students and the faculty and the realization that they have assisted in producing a great football team and have established Michigan State as a formidable foe on the gridiron.

MORRISON—Manager

COACH Jimmy Crowley's Iron Men went through a successful season with seven wins and one defeat, tackling teams whose records have inspired awe in lesser opponents.

The Green and White began the season by defeating the hard fighting team from Alma by the score of 93-0. The reserves started the game and after running up a sizable score in the first part of the game were replaced by the regulars. At first the varsity men were somewhat stiff and played a loose brand of football but later got into the stride and tallied point after point. A unique instance occurred when a touchdown was made by the State center, Frank Butler, who intercepted an Alma pass and romped for a touchdown. According to Coach Ralph Young it was the first time that such a thing had taken place on the campus. The victory was decisive and hopes were high for a victory over the University of Michigan the following Saturday.

But State's football fortunes suffered a severe reversal when the Green and White was defeated 26-0 at the hands of a very efficient U. of M. eleven. On the second play of the game Eliowitz broke through left guard and sprinted 80 yards for a touchdown but the play was called back for a double off-sides. The Maize and Blue then opened up with an aerial attack that resulted in a touchdown in the first quarter. Another trip to the goal left the score at 14-0 at the end of the half in favor of the University eleven. State, drawing numerous penalties, was unable to make up for the ground lost. The Wolverines continued with their offense throughout the game and outplayed the State team in the aerial attack. The Iron Men were unable to click and did not succeed in scoring during the game although the Wolverine goal was threatened a number of times. The Spartans played for the most part a defensive game. The game ended with a score of 26-0 and the U. of M. team was again threatening the Spartan goal line.

The following Saturday, October 8, State met the Grinnell College team from Iowa on the home field and defeated them by a score of 27-6. The comeback proved to be a prophecy for the outcome of the games for the remainder of the season. State rolled up 328 yards at scrimmage against the 191 for Grinnell. The total yardage, including passes, for State was 401 and for Grinnell the total yardage was 326. While Grinnell attempted and therefore completed more passes than did State, the average pass gain for the Green and White was over 18 yards as compared to the average pass gain of 13.5 for Grinnell.

Still better was the account that the Spartans gave of themselves the following Saturday when they played the Illinois Wesleyan eleven on the home field. By trick plays and but few line plunges the Green and White started off the game with a touchdown in the first quarter. With the score 7-0 the Spartans withdrew to a more defensive game until the end of the third quarter. From that time to the final gun State played a fast, strong, offensive game that crashed through the Illinois line three times for the same number of trips to the goal stripe. The score at the end of the game stood 27-0 in favor of Michigan State. The Iron Men had in the second game of the season learned the value of an aerial attack and now gave proof that their own sky threat was being perfected. The Spartans gained 94 yards by passes as compared to the 14 yards gained by the Illinois Wesleyan eleven through passes.

When the Spartan eleven journeyed east to play Fordham University at New York, the student body felt about the same as at the time State played the Army during the previous season. The Rams were a heavier team and was given the edge by the majority of the sports writers at the time. However, the Rams were playing against an inspired team. In the first few minutes of the game Monnett ran 80 yards for a touchdown. Throughout the game State played like a smooth machine and had but 30 yards in penalties called against it. The Fordham eleven on the other hand had 60 yards in penalties. In this encounter State depended more upon a fast running game to defeat the highly touted Rams than they did on aerial attack. Five of the eighteen passes of the Rams were intercepted by the Spartans while only 1 State pass was intercepted by a member of the Fordham eleven. Of the seven passes tried by the Green and White three were completed, three were incomplete and one was intercepted. For the Rams, 18 passes were tried, 7 were completed and five were intercepted. In the play from scrimmage State chalked up 371 yards with 11 first downs and Fordham accounted for but 208 yards with 18 first downs. When the smoke had cleared away and the dust had settled the final score stood at State 19, Fordham 13, and the Iron Men from Michigan State college had established a name and a reputation to be remembered on the coast.

With four wins and one defeat to their credit the Spartans went to Syracuse the following Saturday. The game was played in the rain, which, with a rather stiff wind, seriously handicapped both teams. According to statistics Syracuse outplayed State but threw away numerous chances to score. Following a scoreless first quarter, State blocked and recovered a Syracuse punt and started on the way for a trip to the first stripe. McNutt plunged across the final marker after Monnett had covered 30 yards in two tries through the Orange line. The half ended with the score at 7-0 in favor of the Green and White.

Syracuse was penalized for appearing late on the field at the beginning of the second half.

■ ILLINOIS

The Spartans after a 15 yard holding penalty took to the air and in two passes had added another touchdown. This one was scored by Monnett. State later intercepted a Syracuse pass and again started on the road for another tally. On a fake through center Eliowitz broke through and raced 17 yards for the third touchdown of the game. Monnett added the extra point as in the two preceding touchdowns and the score stood at 21-0 against Syracuse.

The Orange came up from behind, fighting for every inch and pushed 80 yards for a touchdown but then failed to add the extra point. Within a few more minutes, however, McNutt sneaked around right end for the fourth State touchdown. This time the point after goal was not made. With the Orange playing with terrific force the Spartans were forced back and the Syracuse eleven was able to tally another score but again without the added point. With the Score at 27-13 in favor of the Green and White the game ended. Due to the weather conditions, fumbles and mistakes, the game was weird, and the ability to take advantage of the other team's mistakes counted far more than the ability to play high caliber football.

However, seven fumbles on the part of the State eleven kept the team from scoring more heavily. A rather loose brand of football characterized the game. State rolled up 504 yards from scrimmage to the 203 yards from scrimmage by South Dakota and accumulated 19 first downs to the 8 of the western team. In this game the State team again used an aerial attack to good advantage gaining 54 yards in passes while the South Dakota team completed no passes out of the seven attempts. The scoring for State was all done in the first half. The final score stood at 20 to 6 in favor of the home team.

Following a two weeks lay-off in which to rest the somewhat worn out Iron Men, the Detroit team came to the campus to play the final game of the season.

State had not defeated the strong Detroit eleven since 1923 and had never defeated them since the position of head coach had been taken by Charles Dorais. Consequently, the Red and White was slated for another win over the Iron Men. Some 10,000 spectators saw McNutt go for the one touchdown that was made by either side to give State the victory by 7-0. The run that brought the score was a run of 34 yards. During the entire game Detroit threatened only once while State had numerous chances to score, but could not because the Red and White had the extra reserve to be called forth when the goal line was being threatened. Detroit had staked its hopes for a win on an aerial attack and threw 26 passes in the games, seven of which were completed. State depended more upon a ground play and rolled up 324 yards from scrimmage as compared to the 180 yards from scrimmage accounted for by the Red and White. The one score made in the game came in the first quarter and for the remainder of the game the ball changed hands frequently, without much advantage being shown by either side. The final score was 7-0 in favor of the Michigan State eleven, breaking a nine year jinx.

Hi-lites of the season were the 80 yard run by Monnett in the Fordham game; the 63 yard run by McNutt in the Fordham game; a 34 yard run by McNutt in the Detroit game; the 80 yard run in the Michigan State—U. of M. game, although it didn't count, made by Eliowitz.

suddenly found himself in a new position, that of an end. Frank Butler rose from the ranks to become an outstanding center. George Handy, guard, due to injuries, played in only 3 games. His shoes were filled by Russell Lay, whose work showed up to best advantage in the Fordham and in the Syracuse games. Bernard McNutt, another lad that made good, was kept out of the first three games due to injuries received before the season. Kircher came up from the reserves to be the guiding hand and field general of the team. Much of the success of the team must be given to the Poker-faced Kircher. Monnett and Eliowitz, State's great backs, added to their past reputations and were largely responsible for the many victories of the Iron Men. Monnett was rated as the lead point scorer in the middle west having produced 10 touchdowns and 20 points after touchdown for a total of 80 points.

WELCOME BACHMAN

THE spotlight of athletic interest is focused on a new figure, Charles W. Bachman. Bachman comes to Michigan State to fill the position of head football coach, succeeding Jimmy Crowley. In his hands lies the future of Spartan grid fame. What will he make of it? The entire athletic world will be watching with interest next fall. Spartan followers have registered expectations for a greater season than ever. A glance at the physique of the man, and an acquaintance with his personality would reassure the most doubtful. Bachman comes to State with an enviable record. He was a former Notre Dame star, playing both guard and fullback positions. Of course, he is an exponent of the Knute Rockne system of play. Bachman has previously coached at Northwestern, Kansas State, and Florida University. His successes at these places are well-known football history. Bachman commands the respect and recommendation of all leaders in football.

Bachman has already won his way into the hearts of his new supporters. He was formally welcomed at an all-college convocation, March 9. Since that time he has been making his own place in the life of Michigan State College. Whatever the outcome next fall, he may feel sure that everyone will be pulling with him.

BEN F. VANALSTYNE
Coach

COACH Ben VanAlstyne, basket ball mentor, completed another successful season by turning out a team that won ten victories and lost but seven games. In the light of the teams played, and the caliber of the opponents, this was a highly successful season. Van Alstyne has a reputation as a coach that takes mediocre material and shapes it into collegiate material of the first class. His teams have always upheld the basket ball reputation of the college.

COACH Ben VanAlstyne retained his record as an outstanding basket ball coach when his team turned in ten victories to seven defeats after a complete change in the Spartan method of offensive.

The team, led by co-captains Kircher and McCaslin, helped Coach VanAlstyne to round out a team that finished the season with a total score of 440 to the 397 of the opponents.

The first game of the season was taken from Albion by a score of 31-29. This did not indicate the strength of the Spartans as the reserves played most of the game. The game was played at the Vocational School in Lansing before a fair sized crowd. The State line-up consisted of Patchett and McCaslin at forwards, VanderRoest at center, and Kircher and Vondette at guards.

The Spartans' second encounter was with an old rival, the University of Michigan. After a fast floor game the score stood at 20-17 in favor of Michigan State. This was the last game before the Christmas holidays. While State often defeats the University on the floor in East Lansing, it is seldom that the Green and White down the Maize and Blue on the Ann Arbor court.

The next game played came during the Christmas vacation. The game was played with the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Wisconsin. Playing a lethargic style of ball, the State five was defeated 16-26. The starting line-up for State saw Patchett and McCaslin at forward, VanderRoest at center, Kircher and Vondette at guard. Herrick, VanFaasen, Muth, and Keast substituted in the game.

Following the defeat at the hands of the Wisconsin five, State rallied and won the following game from the University of Syracuse. The game was played on the home court in East Lansing. Coach VanAlstyne had discovered a new center for the quintette, Arnold VanFaasen, who led his team with an individual score of eight points. The final game score was State 23, University of Syracuse 16.

State played the next game on the home court with a powerful Notre Dame five. The entire State squad saw action in this game. The starting line-up consisted of Patchett and McCaslin forward, VanFaasen at center, Kircher and Vondette at guard. Although Coach VanAlstyne tried different combinations, he was unable to find one that would stop the powerful drive of the Irish. State lost the game by a score of 19-36.

The sixth game of the season was played with Marquette University on the home court in East Lansing. The game was close throughout, at no time did either team have a wide margin over the other. However, due to superior work from the foul stripe, the Marquette five tallied 32 points to the 18 points by State. VanFaasen led the State five with 12 points. McCaslin came second with 4.

The next two games were played away from the campus. The first one was played with the University of Buffalo, State won the game with a comfortable lead. The final score was 29-18. The regular line-up of McCaslin, Patchett, VanFaasen, Kircher, and Vondette started the game but the combination was later replaced by Herrick, Snyder, VanderRoest, Duffield, and Riordan.

The second game of the eastern tour was played at Colgate University. The game turned out to be a race for high scorer. VanFaasen finished the game as high point man having scored 20 points. McCaslin came next with 12 and Vondette aided with 8 more. The final score stood at 40 for the State five and 26 for the Colgate University squad.

The Spartans returned home from the Eastern trip and encountered the Olivet five for the ninth game of the season. The quintette from the south failed to furnish much opposition and State won the game 35-13. VanderRoest replaced VanFaasen at center, the latter having been forced to the campus hospital due to tonsillitis.

The flashy five from Xavier met defeat at the hands of the now efficient State quintette to make the seventh victory for the Green and White. The close score of 19-16 indicated the comparative strength of the two teams. The starting line-up saw Patchett and McCaslin at forward, VanderRoest at center, Kircher and Vondette at guard. The high scorer for the game was Vondette with a total of six points.

State, already with five consecutive wins to its credit, stepped out to win from the fast midget team from Japan by a score of 63-15. Due to the extreme differences in height the Japanese men were unable to stop the Spartan offensive. The entire State squad was used but the score continued to mount. VanderRoest led the team with 13 points and Bill Vondette came next with 10 points.

Kalamazoo was the next team to fall before the Green and White wave. Again the entire squad appeared on the court before the final shot was fired and the final score stood at 29-12 in favor of State.

The State five was scheduled to meet next the University of Michigan for the second State-U. of M. game of the season. Although State had won the previous game by the slight margin of 20-17, the Maize and Blue came to East Lansing fully determined to reverse the score. The encounter proved to be a close one during the first half. At the half time the University squad led 13-12. However, the State quintette weakened during the last half and the game ended with a score of 28-16 in favor of the University of Michigan. The starting line-up included Patchett and McCaslin at forward, VanderRoest at center and Kircher and Vondette at guard.

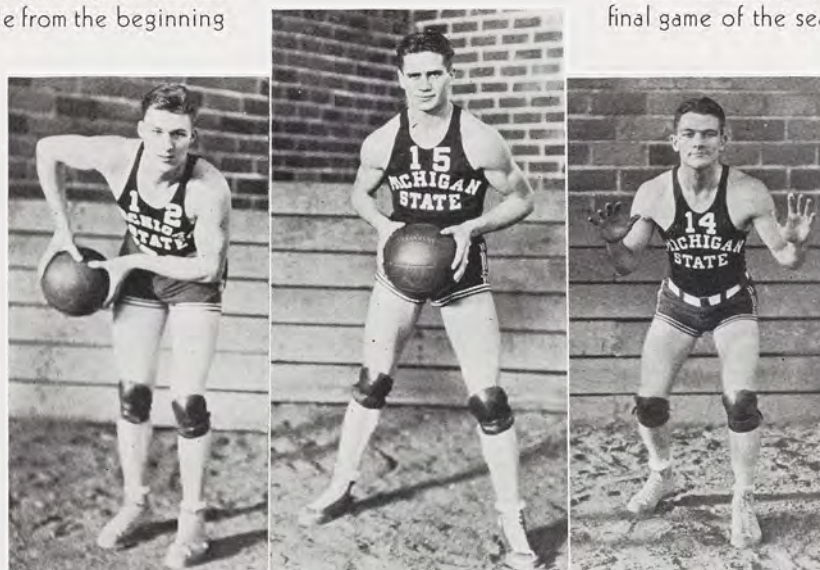

The following Wednesday the University of Detroit appeared on the East Lansing hardwood court. The game was a battle from the beginning of the second half to the final gun. A number of times the game refused to go according to Hoyle and almost degenerated into a free-for-all. A number of the Detroit men were forced to leave the floor because of fouls. A drastic shake-up in the line-up put VanderRoest and Herrick at forward, Dekker at center, and Kircher and Riordan at guard. The game ended 30-28 with the State five at the long end of the score.

On Saturday night of the same week State played a return game with Detroit at Detroit. This time the Green and White lost 16-27. The game was close up to the end of the first half, Detroit only leading 10-8. The strain of the past season was too much, however, and the Spartan team gave way to the Red and White. Riordan led the team with a total of six points.

Friday, February 24, Coach VanAlstyne took the team to Notre Dame where they engaged in forty minutes of real basket ball. The final gun, however, saw the fighting Irish victorious, on the long end of a 25-30 score. The State lineup consisted of Herrick and McCaslin at forward, VanFaasen at center, and Kircher and Vondette at guard. McCaslin led in individual scoring with ten points.

The following night the Spartans played the final game of the season at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where they battled the strong Marquette University five to lose 21-28. It was a close game up to the second half with the score standing 10-12 at half time in favor of Marquette but again the Green and White lacked the final punch. The entire squad of VanderRoest, Patchett, McCaslin, Herrick, VanFaasen, Dekker, Kircher, Muth and Vondette saw action in this game.

THE State nine gave promise of being one of the most successful teams in the history of the college following the southern trip taken early in the spring of 1932. Heavy slugging and consistent mound work gave the Kobsmen an edge that predicted many later wins. The field work, however, was not all that could have been desired. Numerous errors contributed to the loss of games.

Out of the entire season State won ten games, lost thirteen and tied two. Two of the games, Georgia Tech and the first game with the University of Michigan were called because of darkness. The latter ran for sixteen innings and then died a slow death.

Of the southern trip little can be said other than that outside of the promise shown for the remainder of the season, the figures only gave State an even break. On the trip the Kobsmen won three, lost three and tied one. Nothing could be more even. Beginning with two defeats, one from Fort Benning to the count of 8 to 6 and the other from the same school with a count of 5 to 4 the team picked up and began to play a smoother brand of ball. In the second game eleven innings were necessary to down the State nine. State then came back and took Fort Benning to the tune of 6 to 3.

State next played Georgia Tech but due to darkness the game was called at 4 to 4. Leaving Georgia Tech the State nine next swapped games with Vanderbilt University in a double header, losing the first game 2 to 1 and winning the second 8 to 4.

The final game of the southern trip was with Xavier University and was won by the State team 7 to 6. Of the three wins Pete Brose accounted for two and Jerry McCaslin accounted for the other. Of the losses Griffin dropped two tough ones and Brose the other. In the Georgia Tech game Pemberton pitched the entire game and did an unusually good job of twirling. Eliowitz thumped one home run against Vanderbilt and cleared the sacks of two men who were waiting to run home. All in all State totaled 77 hits for the trip. Madonna led the squad in batting average with a count of .500. Abe Eliowitz came next with .360. Others included in the list as running above three hundred were Fawcett with .319, Gafner with .313, and Lange with .333. The average of the team for the trip was .299.

Returning to the home field, the State nine swarmed over the St. Viator lads to take the first home game 6 to 1. Again the State players exhibited the same type of ball as on the southern trip, the batting and pitching making up for the poor fielding. Five errors were marked up on the State record sheets. Charlie Griffin on the mound was hard pressed to make up for the errors, but managed to hurl himself out of a number of tight places.

In the following game with Central State Teachers College, nearly everyone but the bat boy, at one time or another, ran the base route. Twenty-two men including three pitchers and the same number of catchers aided in rolling up the 19 to 2 victory. Mc-

Caslin pitched the first four innings of hitless ball and then gave way to Pemberton who also pitched a hitless game. Pemberton left the mound at the end of the seventh to make way for Pete Brose who allowed two hits in the eighth. An entirely new team with the exception of Madonna at shortstop played the last three innings. State scored seven runs in the first inning. By the fifth the local nine had tallied eleven, then settled down to take eight more in the remaining few innings.

The next game, with Luther College, told another tale and left the State nine on the short end of a 3-1 score. The Kobsmen connected with but five of the offerings of Archie Bell, star Luther pitcher, and did not score until the ninth and then only after several pinch hitters had been sent in. Pemberton and

McCaslin pitched for State, both hurling ball that would have won most games.

Another Iowa institution, the University of Iowa, invaded the campus and suffered a 12-4 defeat at the hands of a revised State nine. In this game the hitting average for State soared above .300 with Madonna leading the race with .444 and Fawcett hitting the .375 mark for two games.

In the second game with the same University, the State nine again won by a score of 4-3. The game looked like a loss for the local lads but a hit by Fawcett and a double by Morse tied the score in the ninth and a triple by Kircher in the tenth was stretched into a run by a single by Madonna. In the first of the two games Kircher hit the first home run of the season on Old College Field.

In the University game, as can be easily imagined, neither team had an edge over the other. The U. of M. lads played and the State nine played and between the two the only thing accomplished was three runs apiece in sixteen innings. The game was finally called on account of darkness.

The Michigan Normal College took the local nine for a ride to the tune of 7-3. The efficient pitching of "Lefty Michaelis", Ypsi twirler, allowed only five hits from the State bats. The Northwestern University—Michigan State struggle was postponed due to rain. The Hillsdale game was unmarked by any outstanding playing and the State nine emerged the victor by a count of 8-5.

In the following game with Notre Dame, State came to the front with a burst of speed in the fifth to take the lead, a lead which was held throughout the remainder of the game. The Spartans were trailing 2-1 in the fifth when Morris cleared the sacks with a double and a moment later loped onto the home platform to make four runs for the inning. Griffin for the third time in his college career downed the Irish on the diamond. With the exception of the fourth inning Griffin's control was perfect. The game with Ohio University the following week saw the final score stand at U. of O. 10 and Michigan State 8.

The second game of the season to be played with the University of Michigan was characterized by about the worst brand of ball playing seen on the college diamond. In six starts Griffin had never before lost a game to the Wolverines. However, at no time could the State ball tosser be sure of his support. Poor batting also seemed to be the order of the day so far as the Kobsmen were concerned.

The Wolverines left but four men on base while the Spartans left nine stranded. In the sixth State attempted a weak rally but this was quickly squelched by good fielding of poor batting. Gafner was the outstanding State batter accounting for two singles and a triple in his first three trips to the plate. McCann with a triple and a single and Griffin with two singles were two other State men who apparently took a distinct liking for the Wolverine type of pitching. Due to the soggiess of the field caused by a downpour just previous to the game neither team played its best.

Playing the Central Teachers away from the local field, the State nine was defeated 6-5. Another defeat came when the Spartans were taken by a score of 5-2 by the Western State Teachers. Teachers, no matter where they came from, evidently were a jinx for the Kobsmen.

The Green and White nine went into action against the University of Chicago and took the game by a slight margin of 7-6.

The final three games of the season were played away from home. The first was played with the Michigan Normal and ended State 0, Normal 1. Two days later the State nine met defeat from the University of Notre Dame to the tune of 6-3, almost a complete reversal of the 5-2 score previous in the season when State defeated the Irish.

The last game with Western State Teachers was marred by numerous errors and erratic fielding.

Gafner smashed a home run while Langer and Cuthbertson hit triples.

On the whole, while the team started with some promise, the later results proved that the season was unsuccessful, having lost 13 games and won but 10. The outfield work was of fair caliber but the infield failed to come up to par. Numerous overthrows and bad heaves in no particular direction accounted for runs for the opponents that should have been only singles or doubles.

Home runs for the season were hit by Madonna, Griffin, Eliowitz (2), Gafner, Kircher, and Glaspie. Madonna led the batting list with a total of .349 with McCann coming next with .342. The season's outstanding man was Griffin while the outstanding first year man was Bill McCann.

■ RELAY TEAM

HURDLERS ■

THE indoor season was off to a good start at the West Virginia Relays, run at Morgantown, February fifth. State placed in seven of the events, Clark Chamberlain, State star, winning the only first for State in the mile.

Ohio Wesleyan came to East Lansing for the first dual meet of the season. In this meet State swept all places in the mile, the half mile, high jump, and shot put to win by a score of 73 1-2 to 35 1-2.

The next meet found the State team at Marquette. The local lads were defeated 64 1-2 to 44 1-2. However, track strength was shown in the mile event by Chamberlain, Cobb and Pongrace, all of whom placed.

In the sixth annual Intercollegiate Indoor Meet held at Notre Dame, State placed fifth with but 10 points. Chamberlain ran the two mile but was defeated on the last lap.

The medley distance relay team turned in a brilliant performance to climax the indoor season at Chicago. The team, composed of Keast, Warren, Pongrace and Chamberlain set a new National indoor college record in the medley relay.

The outdoor season started with an overwhelming victory for State when they met Detroit City College in the local stadium. The Green and White harriers swept most of the events, winning every first place except in the shot-put.

The most thrilling meet of the season took place two weeks later when Notre Dame came to the campus with a team favored to win by a comfortable margin. The outcome of the meet rested on the broad jump. Liberty sailed through the air to take a third place in this event which gave the Spartans the meet by a score of 65 3-4 to 65 1-4.

The trackmen continued to win at the expense of the University of Detroit. Taking all places in the 120 yard high hurdles, the pole vault, and the discus, the State men took the meet by 96 1-2 to 34 1-2.

At the Annual Central Intercollegiate Track and Field meet, held at Marquette the local team took fifth place, Ypsilanti Normal holding a one point lead. The State mile relay team defeated the Notre Dame team and established a new record.

The men sent to the National Collegiate meet at Chicago and to the I. C. A. meet at Berkeley, California failed to place when pitted against the best in the country.

The winning of four dual meets out of five during the past season upheld the Spartan tradition of a well-balanced team. Mike Casteel again produced able hurdlers, Liberty and Bath. Coach Brown had distance men in Small and Elliott who showed much improvement over the previous season. Pongrace, when changed from the mile to the half mile, won the junior A. A. U. title with a time of 1:56:3 during the season.

T R A C K

The blonde haired cinder cruncher that led State on the rounds of the track had set an enviable record before he ever hit State. Tom Ottey continued his record breaking upon entering the college. In his first year chalked up five firsts to his credit. In the first all college run Ottey placed second with a time of

■ OTTEY

27:57.5, and in the all frosh run he placed first with a time of 26:43.7. Both of these races were six mile runs. Tom then took first in the Fall Track Inter-class. On the 6 1-4 mile run held at Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, Ottey again took a first. Dropping down to a ninth place in the Nativity C.C. Street Run, Ottey again resumed his winning streak and took second in the Soph-Frosh meet. Another highlight of the year was the National A. A. U. Indoor held at Madison Square Garden, N. Y., a three mile run in which Tom came through with a fourth with a time of 14:29.

■ FRESHMAN TRACK

THE frosh harriers started the season with two telegraphic meets and lost both by narrow margins. The local boys next defeated Grand Rapids Junior College and Detroit City College in the first outdoor meet of the year. Alma was the next victim and was taken to the count of 70-92. To top off the successful season Adrian was swamped by a score of 90-41.

Class numerals were awarded to N. B. Belles, L. H. Bradley, H. K. Casselman, H. C. Cook, D. A. Craig, W. B. Flannery, K. H. Fraser, J. P. French, R. A. Gardner, R. E. Gaylord, F. W. Gettle, F. E. CROSS-COUNTRY

STATE'S record in cross-country this last Fall was a shining one. The Spartans traditionally strong in the harrier sport went through the season undefeated and placed fourth in the national meet at Van Courtland Park. In this meet Ottey attempted to repeat for State what Chamberlain accomplished in 1930, but was nosed into third place by Barker and McCluskey who finished first and second respectively.

The State team faced unusually strong competition this season and is to be congratulated upon its splendid record. Among the larger schools who fell before the Spartan speedsters, were Butler, Notre Dame, and the University of Michigan. Tom Ottey, blonde sophomore who was the United States entry in the 10,000 meter run in the Olympics, was the outstanding performer of Coach Lauren Brown's fast team. Others who helped State to finish on top of the scoring column were, Walter Wissner, Otto Pongrace, Ralph Small, John Hammer, Robert Elliott, and Loring Fullerton. Five men of this year's team are members of the Trimoiria fraternity.

Coach Brown was fortunate in having on this year's squad a wealth of underclass material, some of whom performed like veterans. The prospects for a strong team next year are unusually bright and State should again find a place among the nation's leaders.

THREE victories out of eight meets was the record for the varsity swimmers. Although this record may not seem a brilliant success, Coach Daubert was satisfied with the showing of the team. Matching strokes with two teams, Michigan and Northwestern, that were entirely out of their class, the varsity swimmers dropped both meets after stubborn battles. The other six meets were with teams that ranked in the same class as State. Daubert's tankers won three and lost three for an average of .500.

Michigan State Normal and University of Cincinnati offered the toughest battles that State met with all season. Defeating Michigan State Normal earlier in the season, the Spartan team dropped the return meet after being tied up to the last event, Ypsi winning the relay and the meet. The University of Cincinnati meet brought out the fastest swimming that the State team showed all season. Each event was decided by a close margin.

Two of the greatest swimmers that Daubert had ever developed swam in their last meet as varsity men against Northwestern. Evans Boucher, captain of the varsity swimming squad and Lyle Hauger both swam their last for Daubert or Michigan State.

THE State wrestling team completed a highly successful season in winning four major matches and losing but one. Meeting Toronto University, the State matmen brought home a 41-0 score in their own favor. The high point of the season was the match with the University of Michigan. In this the Spartan gruntand-puff men tallied 14 1-2 points to the 13 1-2 points by the Wolverine panthers. This was the first time in the last five years and the third time in history that State had downed the University squad on the mat.

The next victim was the Mechanics Institute which was won by a decisive score. Syracuse also bowed to State to the tune of 20-6. But the four game win came to an end against Indiana as the State men went down to defeat by a score of 5-25. In the national meet Michigan State was represented by Stan Ball, Gordon Reavely, Lee Marsa and Norman Stoner.

TENNIS

THE 1932 tennis team developed into a very powerful team, finishing the season with a record of 9 matches won to 2 lost. Much of the credit for the remarkable success must be given to Coach Ball, one of the best in the state.

Stan Wietz, the Grand Rapids ace, is undoubtedly one of the best racket wielders that State has ever had and featured his first year of competition with a brilliant three set victory over Colby Ryan, star of the Michigan team. Rex Norris, product of Lansing courts, and big Hilding Olson alternated at the number two position with Olson getting the call the latter part of the season when Rex fell into a bad slump. Stonebreaker, Link, Loose, Pinneo, Gee, and Hammer-schmidt completed the lineup.

This was the first time in many years that State was able to even score on Michigan. The Western State meet was the closest of the year but was not very interesting from the viewpoint of the spectators, being marked with sporadic and listless play on the part of both teams.

With most of the squad being only sophomores and having two more years of competition and with several bright prospects from the Freshman team including Sexton, Schultz, and O'Dell, and Nordwall of the '31 frosh team, things look very rosy for the future of tennis at State.

AFTER getting away to a poor start in the spring of 1932, and losing the first four games, the State golfers settled down and took the last six games in a row. Duffield, Mitchell, Turrill, and Mueller swung the clubs that launched a flock of balls. Inclement or bad weather held the team up in its practice, but later results proved that the team was highly successful. Coach VanAlstyne was the golf mentor. Among teams included on the schedule were University of Michigan, University of Detroit, Detroit City College, and Ypsilanti.

FENCING

WITH five victories and only two defeats the State fencing team closed an unusually successful season. The two defeats were at the hands of the blade wielders from the University of Michigan. The season closed with an eleven to four victory over the University of Detroit. In the last meet with the Wolverine squad the State lads lost 10 to 7 by bouts but won 62 to 57 by count of points. Outstanding on the squad were Captain Murphy, Stonex, Krentel, Lutz and Glass.

POLO AT Michigan State has become a prominent minor sport. This game has been given a great deal of attention and time because the annual Horse Show has been called off on account of the economic conditions.

Captain Voorhees took the place of Lieutenant Martin as head coach and with the assistance of Captain Newell and Lieutenant Bates whipped the team into shape.

The first two games were rather ragged but State managed to eke out two close victories over the 119th Field Artillery. This same ragged play cropped out later in the season while State was dropping close matches to Culver Military Academy, Detroit Riding and Hunt Club, 119th F. A., and the Grosse Pointe Riding Club. State played better polo, however, in beating both Culver and the 119th F. A. in return games, and also a team from Gull Lake. An exhibition game was also played for the benefit of the Sea Scouts in their annual Winter Cruise.

An unusual feature of the season was the playing of Kate McCutcheon. She was one of a very few girls that played on any team in the country last year.

Russ Miller usually occupied the No. 1 position and contributed some brilliant playing throughout the season. Ralph Dickie and Cassleman alternated at the No. 2 post and Ron McDonald usually held down No. 3.

The junior members of the squad were: J. Hansen, Ken Lafayette, James Cochran, Bob Wilson, Frank Du Byne, Harold Howard, David Falconer, and Henry Nelson.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

IN THE first baseball game of the season the S.A.E. fraternity defeated the Pi Kappa Phi by a score of 18 to 6. The Eunomians followed the next week with a 11 to 7 victory over the A. G. R.'s. The same day the Hermians took the Lambda Chi Alpha to camp to the tune of 6 to 2. The S. A. E. fraternity showed that the first game was only a small indication of what might be done in the next game which was played with the Phyleans. In this game the S. A. E.'s emerged the victor by a 20 to 2 count.

The Aetheons, due to their out-of-town position are able to train their men in base running more efficiently than other groups. This training showed to advantage in the Aetheon-Phi Kappa Tau game which the former won by 10 to 1.

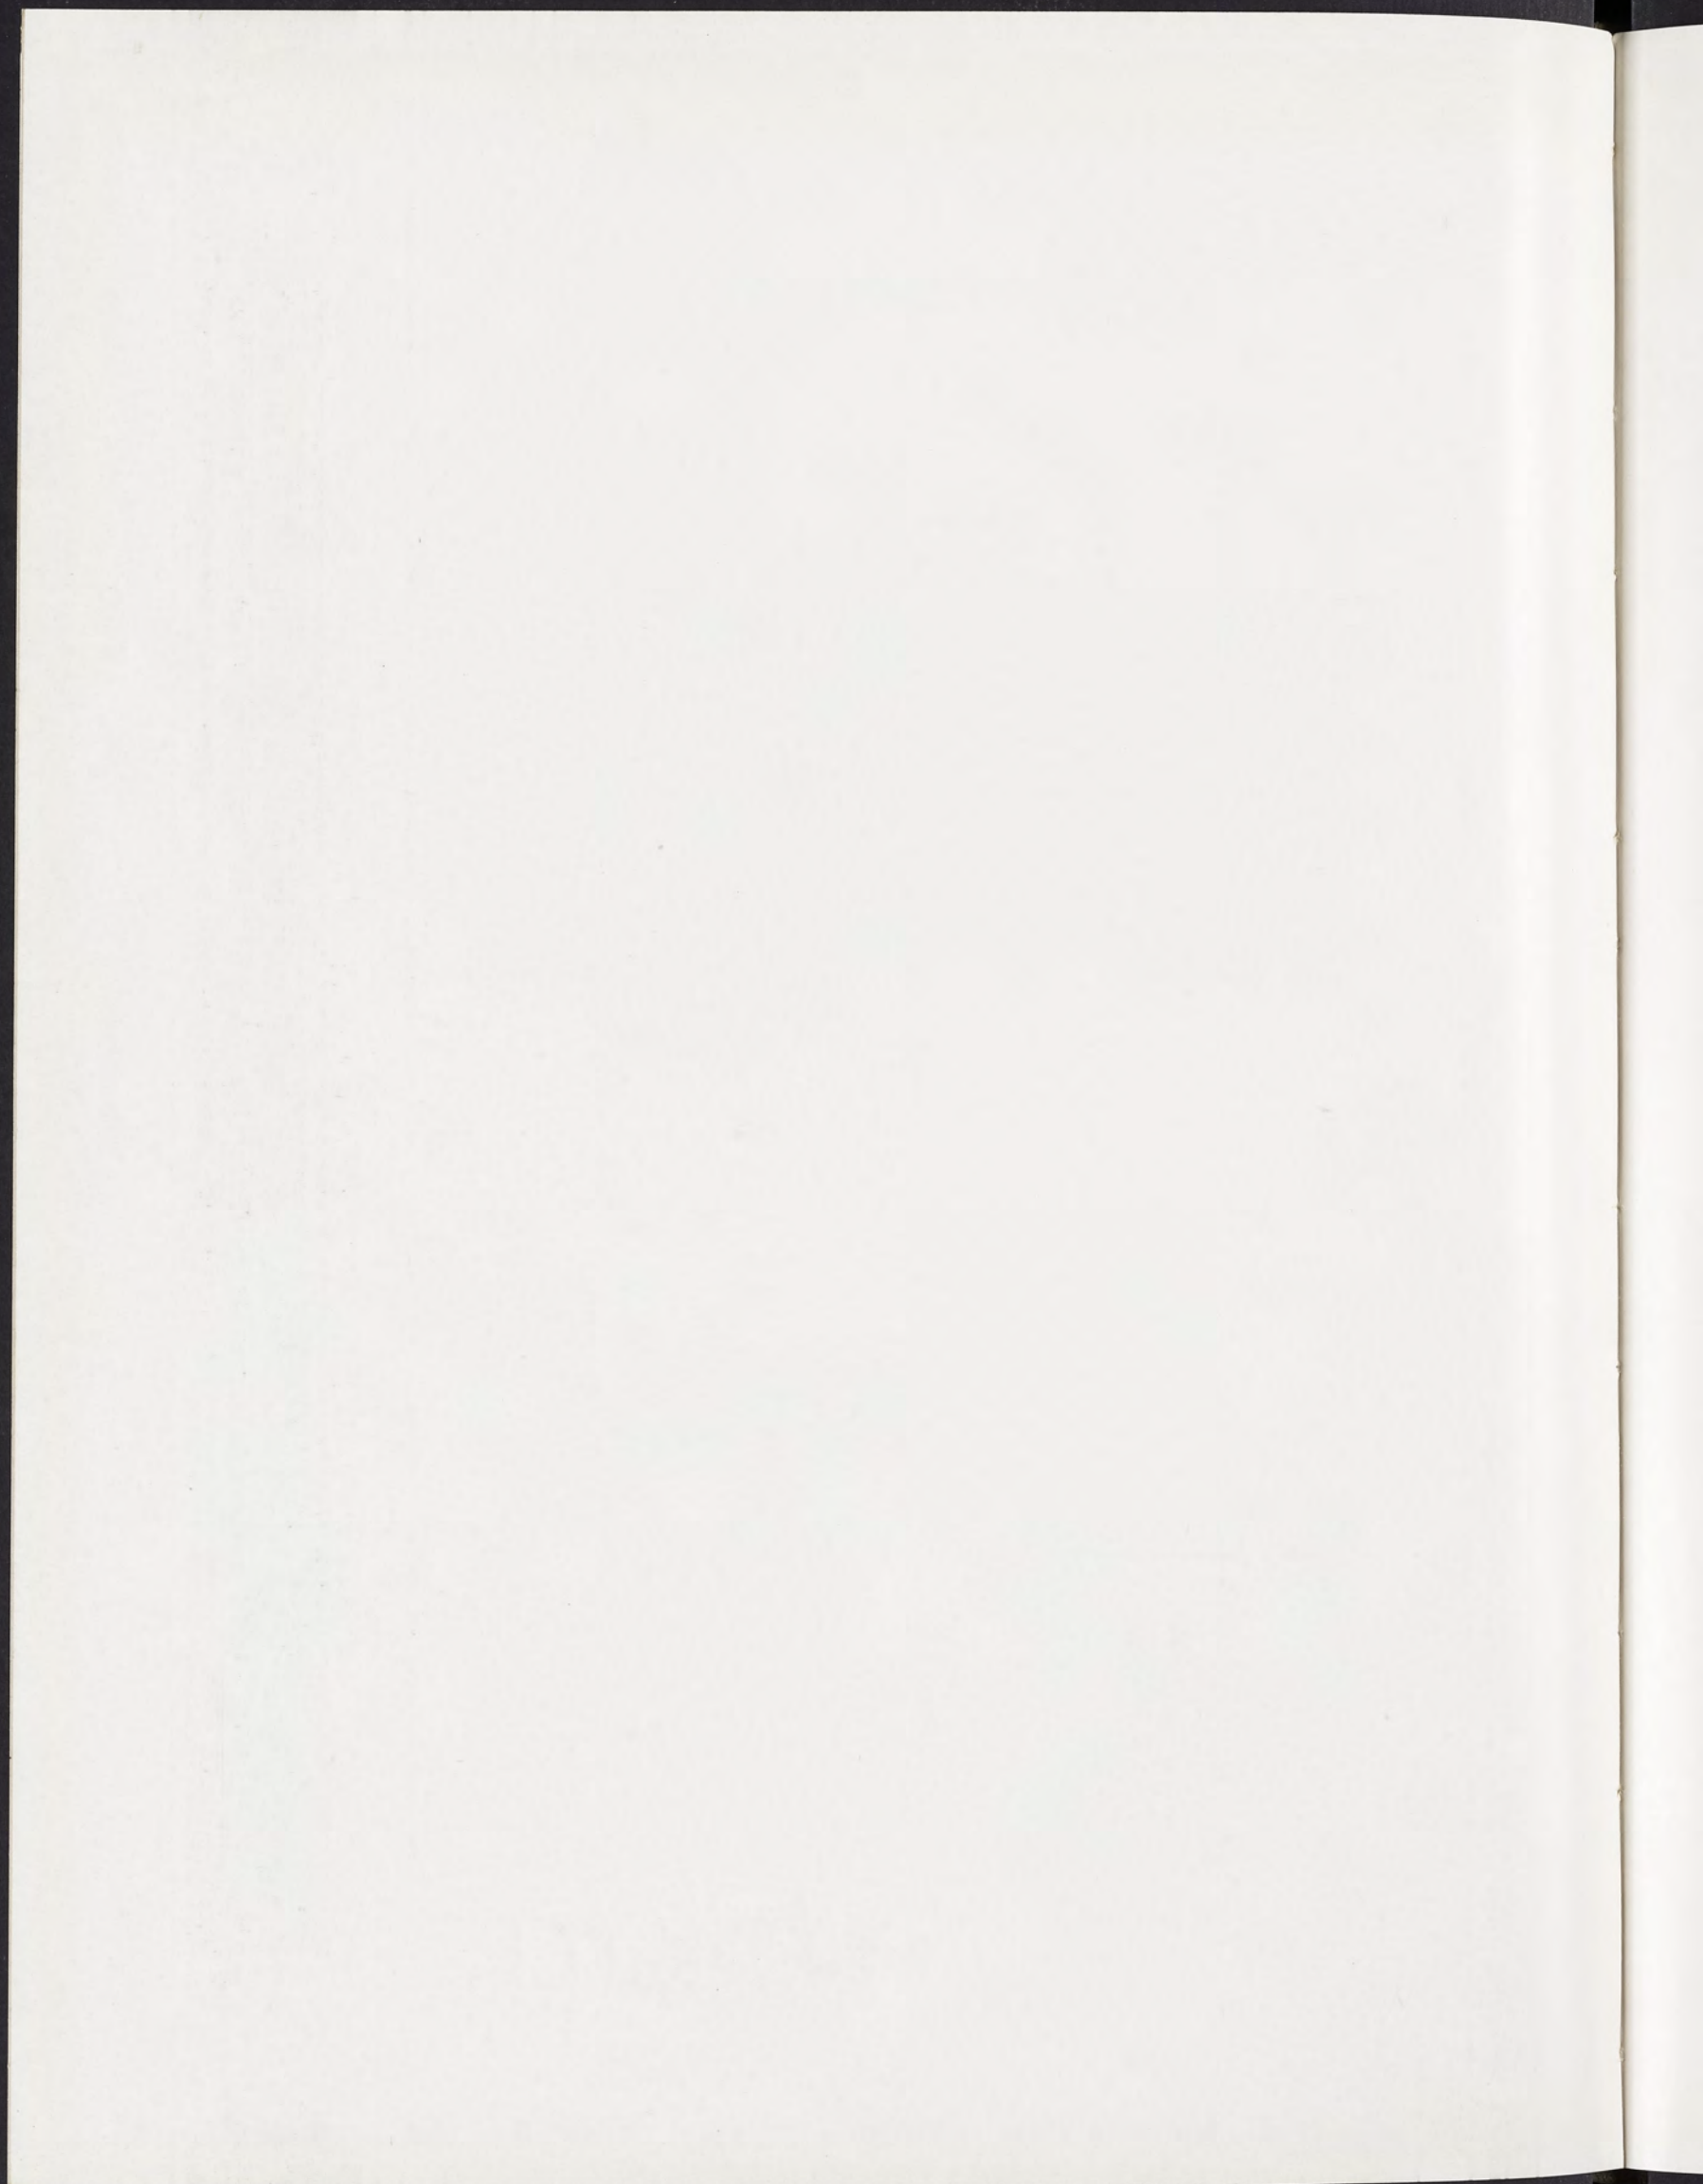

The Hermians, while they play catch every night, are somewhat cramped for room for batting practice and were only able to pile up five runs to the three runs tallied by the Union Literary batmen.

The Tics played a shut-out game with the Olympics, who rather failed to live up to the name, and won by an actual count of 10 to 0.

Perhaps the closest game of the season was the game between the Phi Chi Alphas and the Phi Delta Thetas. A battle royal, but, when the shrieks had died away the score stood at 11 for the Phi Chi Alpha swatters and 9 for the Phi Delta Theta dittos.

The S. A. E.'s also demonstrated their athletic prowess by defeating the Phylean group in a friendly game of tennis to the tune of 6 to 4.

THE Women's Athletic Association is an organization for the purpose of making athletics available to all women on the campus, regardless of individual skill. "Play for play's sake" is the motto of the group, wherein interscholastic competition is discouraged.

Girls with a point average of less than .8 may not earn more than 25 points per term in the association. 100 points is the amount set for admission to membership, 25 points every term thereafter to retain affiliation. Points awarded are scaled as concerning officers of the board, managers of sports, members of first teams, and of second teams. Awards of the association are numerals for first 100 points, small "S" for 500 points, English "S" for 1,000 points, and honor roll for 1,500.

DURING the winter term the girls' riding class is begun. Due to the large number of girls who wish to join this class only the very first applications can be taken care of. Capt. Voorhees who instructs cavalry, polo, and advanced military is a very able teacher. Coupled with equitation is a required course in hippology, at which co-eds learn just how much oats and how much hay is necessary for a horse's well-being. Riding permits are issued to beginners as rapidly as they are able to control their mounts so it is safe for them to ride alone outside the riding hall.

MICHIGAN STATE SPARTANS

THE Spartan section was introduced as a special feature in last year's annual, but due to its deserved popularity, the present editor has seen fit to incorporate it into college tradition by awarding it a permanent place in the pages of The Wolverine.

These eight seniors whom the college thus honor have been outstanding for their leadership during the past four years. This final gesture of appreciation will preserve a lasting record of their contributions to life at Michigan State College.

The choice of entries for the Spartan section is made on the basis of achievement. The Student Council and Associated Women Students organizations have jointly prepared a point activity system. Each student's activities are thus objectively measured. Those ranking highest are designated by this mention in The Wolverine.

STUDENT COUNCIL

MILTON DICKMAN

THE Student Council during the past year has been carrying on an active program and has secured some highly effective results. Campus traditions have undergone a complete change and no longer are hazing practices countenanced on the campus. The Student Council has attempted to replace some of the old outworn traditions by founding new ones.

Student election rules were revised and campus elections are now devoid of the fraud with which they once abounded.

The Council fostered a Spartan Day celebration to honor the grid athletes of the college at the close of the football season. Instead of disorganized students celebrating, the governing body has cooperated with college officials in staging an orderly event.

Needy students have been helped through the establishment of a $500 loan fund by the Council.

Cap Night, which had ceased to be popular, was abolished by the governing body. An active interest in current legislation has been taken during the last few months. Bills which would seriously affect the life of the college have been bitterly fought by the Council. By direct appeal and through campus advertising, students have been urged to secure the support of their parents in stopping damaging legislation. Members of the legislature were greatly influenced because of student activity along this line.

THE Liberal Arts Board arranges programs for the Student's Lecture Course. The group selects speakers from a list of nationally known orators. The topics are also chosen by the Art Club, from a list of subjects that the speaker is familiar with. All subjects are selected with the idea in mind of their being of special interest to the students in general.

This year the lecture course committee contracted six prominent men to speak before the student body. The speakers on the fall term schedule were: Daniel Frohman, theatrical producer, with the subject "Reminiscences of the Stage and its Stars"; Robert LaFollette, U. S. Senator from Wisconsin, spoke on the subject

"What the Progressives are Fighting For"; and E. Carlton Baker, U. S. Consul-General in Manchuria, presented "The Conflict in Manchuria." During the winter-term those contracted were: Robert Reynolds, novelist, who was recently awarded the Harper prize for his novel "Brothers In The West"; and Will Durant, philosopher and author. Hon. Lees-Smith, member of parliament and minister of education and postmaster-general in the British cabinet was scheduled during the spring term.

The board is made up of two faculty advisors and four students—two from both the Junior and Senior classes chosen during the all college elections.

THE Union Building is a club house for students, alumni, and faculty of Michigan State College. It is governed by a board of directors. Construction of the building was started in 1924 by use of funds obtained through subscription and gifts of students and alumni.

It houses the Wolverine office and photograph studio, Michigan State News, Student Council, and other groups. It is made up of a cafeteria, soda grill, main information desk, billiard, lounge, dining and hotel rooms, barber and beauty shops, and a large ballroom.

The latest activity it has undertaken is the registration of all freshman according to their interests and activities. These lists were filed and notices sent to heads of the various activities who were able to get in touch with new students interested in their division.

It conducts an intercollegiate billiard tournament, a one act play contest, matinee dances twice a week, Union parties, smokers, welcomes visiting teams, and other activities.

Each student is a member of the Union while in school and pays a life membership fee to continue after graduation. Life membership is made up of alumni and faculty.

In 1927, a group of agricultural students organized The Agricultural Council of Michigan State College with the purpose of advancing the interests of the Agricultural division. With this as its object, the council sponsors many activities, the more important ones being an All-Ag Meeting in the fall, an All-Ag Banquet in the winter, presentation of service awards to judging team members, and the presentation of an award to the best all-around agricultural student during his or her senior year.

The membership of the council consists of the Dean and Assistant Dean of Agriculture, Faculty committee, presidents of the departmental clubs, Master of the Student Grange, editor and business manager of the Michigan Agriculturist, and a representative from each department not represented by any organization.

This year the Council has been very active in sponsoring athletic contests in basketball and baseball between the various clubs in the division. By this method the Council further builds up the spirit of cooperation among the clubs. In addition, the Council plans to acclimate the incoming freshman to the organizations of the Agricultural Division.

THE Board of Publications is an executive body made up of the advisor of publications, president of the Student Council and the editors and business managers of each college publication. This body determines the eligibility of candidates for publication offices. They nominate the candidates for the all college election and settle any trouble or problems arising.

This year the Board was very instrumental in establishing the new Press Club. They also held a publication banquet and after a fine program presented Keys to outstanding staff members, and under the heading of business inaugurated the constitution of the new Press Club.

THE Wolverine Staff has desired to portray the more intimate scenes of student life, to record the every day activities, and the extra-curricular work included in the college year.

This year the Wolverine has been considered an honorary, and due to the fact that nearly one hundred students wanted to try out for the staff, a stiff eligibility test had to be passed. The positions on the staff were on a competitive basis and awarded according to the person's merit and amount of work accomplished.

Despite the fact of the depression the Wolverine plans includes a photograph of every student in college without charge to the individual.

Of course there are many students without the initiative to climb up to the tower ballroom of the Union, where the staff, in cooperation with Mr. Leonard Versluis, has fully equipped a photograph studio, built for the sole purpose of photographing only students. Besides Mr. Versluis we wish to thank Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company, Chicago; S. K. Smith Cover Company, Chicago, and the Franklin DeKleine Printing Company, of Lansing, for their splendid cooperation and commendable work.

MANY interesting things have happened during the last few months and sensation has followed sensation. There will be still more interesting things happening in the next few months and life seems to be a greater adventure each day.

At Michigan State recently we have had investigations, faculty shake-ups, budget slashing, a new football coach, and changes of all kinds. It has been a great experience to edit the college newspaper and we are glad to have had the opportunity.

At all times we have been free to state our opinions on any question we so desired and we have appreciated this freedom. Critical situations have arisen and we have tried to face them to the best of our ability. Perhaps at times we erred. At one time a faculty official threatened us with expulsion for articles we published.

It is not always easy to publish a real college newspaper, especially under the present circumstances. Today we are happy, however, in the realization that financially the Michigan State News is in the soundest condition in history.

College readers are hard to please. To satisfy everybody a college newspaper must be an impossible combination of straight news, scandal, humor, sensational and highly colored stories. Some want all college news and others think national and state topics should be touched upon. It is impossible to produce a paper to please everybody.

In the past, retiring editors have felt duty bound to impart some "choice" bits of wisdom to the incoming editor by means of a last editorial. Usually the editorial has been disregarded. Any advice that may be helpful to the incoming editor we have or will give him personally.

In the history of the Michigan State News each succeeding administration has published a better paper than its predecessor. We hope that in some ways we have improved the News during the past year and are sure the incoming editors are capable of publishing a still better paper. We wish them success.—C.V.L.

DICKERSON ■

FOR eleven years The Michigan Agriculturist has served as the official monthly publication of the students of the Agricultural and Home Economics divisions. Founded in 1921 the magazine has been published each year since then by an editor and business manager selected by members of the Agricultural division at the annual All-College elections.

This year the lack of advertising has forced a reduction in size of the Agriculturist. This has necessitated more short articles and has given a chance for more individuals to work on the staff. Much student interest has been developed during the year and with the increased faculty interest will permit the magazine to further improve.

The editorial policy has been directed along three main lines. Students have been given a chance to secure training in magazine work. Information of value to students and other readers has been given publicity along with important events pertaining to the agricultural division. The third aim has been to secure a feeling of unity of agricultural students and to build up on the campus an appreciation of the value of farm life.

SPHINX is a women's honorary service organization whose members are chosen from the Junior class during spring term. Outstanding leadership, character, and scholarship are considered in selection. The object of the society is to promote democracy and serve the best interests of the college.

This year Sphinx cooperated with the chairman of Women's Activities from the Senior class in arrangements for Lantern Night, the annual ceremony marking the assumption of responsibilities by the Junior girls from the Senior girls. The society also had charge of a Women Student Loan Fund to which contributions were made by women's organizations on the campus. The members assisted A. A. U. W. and Y. W. C. A. in the entertainment of three foreign girls who visited from the University of Michigan where they were taking graduate work on Barbour Scholarships. These girls from China, Assyria, and the Philippines, Sphinx showed about the campus and feted at dinner during their weekend stay in the spring. The selling of M. S. C. song books was under the auspices of the society. A faculty tea at Valentine's time was given in honor of the Advisor and Patronesses. The wives of deans and professors, women professors, the presidents and one member of all sororities, dormitories, and women's organizations were invited. In conjunction with A. W. S., Sphinx gave a tea for honor Freshman girls during winter term. Other activities included a benefit bridge and fall and spring term parties.

At Michigan State College the membership is limited to honor students in Veterinary Medicine. A "B" average is required for three consecutive terms, and only students in the upper fourth of their class are admitted.

Besides social functions the society conducts a monthly seminar at which current articles of professional interest are presented and informally discussed.

ALPHA ZETA was organized to encourage and foster a high scholastic rating, leadership and character among the students in the Agricultural division. The first national honorary agricultural fraternity was formed at Ohio State University in 1897. The Kedzie Chapter was established at Michigan State College in 1903.

Among the various activities of the fraternity are the awarding of a silver cup to the freshman in the agricultural division who has achieved the highest scholastic average during his first year. Usually this person is taken into Alpha Zeta the spring term of his sophomore year as an additional honor. The other members are selected from the upper one third of the Junior and Senior classes. Those that have attained this high scholastic average are eligible and receive their appointment by election of the group. Members are formally initiated at elaborate semi-annual banquets.

The organization sponsors and arranges for the judges and a suitable place for the Annual Alpha Zeta speaking contest held for the Junior Farmers as part of their program during the annual Junior Farmers' Week in May at Michigan State College.

AS EARLY as 1920 several young men, enrolled in the Michigan State College Band, realized that they could promote a high degree of morale and at the same time aid the director Prof. A. J. Clark in his work by such an organization as the Band Club. This Band Club has grown more and more to mean the morale background of the Band. Under

Mr. Falcone's direction it has assumed the role of an aid to the Band's organization. Included among its activities this year was the promoting of the Band Formal, one of the first formal parties of the winter season. This spring an initiation was held in which seven new members were added to the Michigan State College Band Club.

THE Block and Bridle Club is a national animal husbandry club established at Michigan State in 1930. The organization is open for membership to only male students in the Agricultural division. Prospective members must show a great deal of interest in some phase of animal husbandry and have a high scholastic average. The organization initiates twice a year and is very active during the Farmers' Week on the campus. They are responsible for the huge success of "The Little International Live Stock Show" and the sponsors of the All-College Livestock judging contest. This club with its numerous other chapters in other colleges promotes a great deal of interest in Inter-Collegiate Judging Contests and brings about a closer relationship among the students and men pursuing some phase of animal husbandry as a profession.

THE Beta Alpha Sigma Fraternity was established at Michigan State College in 1928 for students who are outstanding in scholarship and achievement in the fields of Art, Landscape Architecture, Floriculture and Architecture. It sponsors artists, architects and prominent florists who visit the campus, and act as their hosts whenever possible.

Meetings were held every two weeks the past year in the Seminar of the Horticulture Building. The four departments which are represented in the membership of the organization furnish the programs in turn for the various meetings. Among the interesting speakers for this year was Mr. T. A. Pearson, a prominent Grosse Pointe gardener, who gave an illustrated lecture on "Rare Flowers—Old and New".

It is the desire of the students of the four departments represented to attain membership in Beta Alpha Sigma both as a recognition of their work and as a means of broadening their knowledge in the related fields.

GREEN SPLASH is a local Swimming honorary founded in 1927 and open to all girls on the campus. The purpose of the society is to instruct girls in Life Saving and the general technique of Swimming.

Meetings of the organization are held every Wednesday night in the swimming pool and at that time girls are invited to try out for membership. This year this organization instructed eighty girls in their Senior Life Saving and twenty-five of them were able to pass the examination for a membership in the honorary. The members sponsored a very successful Water Pageant called the "Gala Day at the Yacht Club" during the winter term with an attendance of over three hundred people.

As a specialty, the Green Splash put on two parties called "Date Nights" in which the public was invited to come and either dance in the Gym or swim and play in the pool.

This organization sponsors the girls varsity swimming team and held meets with Battle Creek, U. of M. and the Detroit City College.

LA COFRADIA a local Spanish honorary was established at Michigan State in 1927 with the purpose of promoting a greater interest in Spanish. The organization holds its meetings in the home of one of the members every two weeks. The organization is open to any student that has had two years of Spanish and attained the average of at least a "B" and having a "C" average in the rest of their subjects. These restrictions make it possible for only Juniors and Seniors to be a member of this honorary. The associate members are made up of the spanish speaking people on the campus. There are three initiations during the year and the banquets held in regular Spanish style. The meetings are held in the order of a Spanish holiday and a great deal of interest is awakened by the acting out of Spanish customs and traditions.

LAMBDA SIGMA is a local honorary established at Michigan State for the furtherance of better speaking. It was established by Professor Menchhofer as a speech literary society open to any male student in any branch of the college. The organization meets every Wednesday night at 7:30 in the seminar room of the Horticulture Building. They conduct their meetings for the cultural value obtained, in Parliamentary drill and discussion of current topics. Every member takes part speaking at allotted times during each term and after each speech helpful criticisms are made by the fellow members. Story telling and debating are included to stir up active interest in the organization.

Once during each term an open meeting is held and the public is invited; this is to take the place of the usual banquet. This meeting gives the public a chance to sit in on the real proceedings of the society and the active members a chance to look over prospective new members.

The society is exclusive in the fact that only twenty-five members are selected from the whole student body.

OMICRON NU is the only National Home Economics Honor society. It was founded at Michigan State in 1912. The National organization has 32 active chapters in various colleges with the purpose of promoting scholarship, leadership and research, and the furtherance of a world-wide movement of Home Economics.

The Honorary is very exclusive in the fact that the eligibility requirements are of such a high standard. The prospective girls must have at least a "B" average for the first two years and in their junior year they are admitted if they are of the ten highest scholars of Home Economics.

This year the honorary initiated twelve girls and before Christmas they sold Japanese paintings for Christmas gifts.

The society gave a freshman party this year to acquaint them with the importance of good scholarship and Omicron Nu. It so happens that girls selected to go to Merrill-Palmer are selected by scholarship standing so every Omicron Nu member is selected.

This year the national society holds its conclave in Milwaukee and the president of each organization will attend.

SCHOLASTIC excellence is the first requirement for membership in Phi Lambda Tau, but it is by no means the only qualification. Character, personality, ability to fraternize with other students, and service are also seriously considered.

Phi Lambda Tau aims to promote good fellowship among students, instill a spirit of cooperation between students and the faculty, and encourage a broad, tolerant spirit of friendly rivalry among its members. The fraternity maintains a plaque in Olds Hall upon which, each year, is inscribed the name of the senior engineer who in the eyes of a faculty committee, has achieved the highest degree of scholarship, fellowship, and service.

THE purpose of Pi Delta Epsilon in the past years has been to give recognition to students interested in journalism and student publications.

In the past Pi Delta Epsilon was responsible for the periodical appearance of a razz-sheet known as the "Eczema". The publication of this paper was banned in 1930 by the national headquarters. The local chapter took over the publication of the college blotter.

Due to financial reasons and the fact that its membership is limited, the organization has been abandoned in favor of the more inclusive Press Club. The executive council of the club will correspond favorably to the old Pi Delta Epsilon.

MICHIGAN DELTA CHAPTER of Pi Kappa Delta, National Honorary Speech Fraternity was organized June 8, 1921 in accordance with the ideals of the National Organization, symbolized by its title Pi Kappa Delta, the initial letters of the Greek words signifying "the Art of Persuasion, Beautiful and Just". Its purpose is three-fold: to establish friendly and permanent forensic relations with other Institutions, to promote forensic activities on the campus, and to provide merited distinction for representatives of Michigan State College engaged in forensic activities.

The Chapter has been very active this year, promoting a special September meeting for candidates for Varsity forensic competition, holding regular monthly luncheons, assisting in the entertainment of other colleges at the State Extempore meet and at the Annual Tournament of the Michigan Debating League, and contributing five members to Men's and Women's debate squads, and one representative each in Men's and Women's Oratory. Members of the Fraternity represented Michigan State College at the Province Convention at Grove City, Pa., and at forensic contests at various southern and eastern institutions.

The society holds bi-monthly meetings at which time its members present papers dealing with the various aspects of bacteriology. At these meetings the graduate students present the results of their research work, and from time to time various members of the faculty talk to the members on new developments in the field of bacteriology.

During the past year Dr. Colin Panton Beattie, Professor of Bacteriology at the University of Edinburgh and Travelling Fellow of the Rockefeller Foundation, was made an honorary member. Dr. Beattie, during his stay in America, spent the school year in the Department of Bacteriology studying the work which is being done on undulant fever.

THE National Society of Scabbard and Blade is a military organization founded in 1904 at the University of Wisconsin. At present there are 78 companies (chapters) at various colleges and universities throughout the United States where military science is taught. It has a total enrollment of 17,000 members.

K Company, 1st Regiment at Michigan State College, was the 10th company to be installed (1914). Its total enrollment since that time has been 253 members. The purpose is to raise the standard of military training in American Colleges and Universities, to unite in closer relationship their military departments, to foster the essential qualities of good and efficient officers, and to promote interest and good fellowship among the cadet officers.

In 1928 it was instrumental in procuring 3 credits for Advanced Infantry and Cavalry courses, where previously the students had received but 1 1-2 credits for the five hour course. At present it is trying to procure the same amount of credit for the Artillery Courses, which in the past have been taken without credit. Scabbard and Blade holds regular monthly luncheons in the Union, at which short speeches are delivered by men prominent in military circles.

Its members are selected from the advanced courses in Military Science and composes about one third of the total advanced military students. Members are inducted twice yearly after an initiation period of eight days.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt is the first president to be a member of the Scabbard and Blade.

TAU BETA PI was founded in 1885 at Lehigh University by Edward H. Williams Jr. an eminent engineer who was outstanding for his excellent scholastic record. He founded this organization primarily for the purpose of recognizing engineers who are outstanding in achievement and character and who have proved themselves worthy of scholastic recognition. Since its founding Tau Beta Pi has grown rapidly all over this country and at present there are sixty-three chapters in the outstanding colleges and universities in the United States. The chapter in this college has been very active, and since its founding in 1892 has done a great deal to stimulate achievement and scholarship in engineering. There are thirty-seven active members who have been chosen for their scholastic achievement and character.

TAU SIGMA is a Local Honorary Arts and Science Fraternity, founded at Michigan State College in 1923. It was organized for the purpose of honoring those students who obtain high scholastic averages in the Liberal Arts and Applied Science Divisions.

Each year Tau Sigma awards a cup to each of the two sophomore students who have in their freshman year made the best scholastic record in the Applied Science and Liberal Arts courses, respectively. These are presented at the Awards Convocation in winter term. This year Walter Kimen of the Liberal Arts division and Gertrude Rodney of the Applied Science department were awarded these cups.

THETA ALPHA Phi completed a successful season by presenting four three-act plays of unusually high caliber. The first play was presented in the first part of the fall term, a three act comedy, "Holiday". The play was well received and was a social as well as a financial success. Later the local honorary attempted an unusual play, "Death Takes a Holiday", a three-act fantasy. Although this play was presented during the week preceding exams the large crowd that witnessed the production proved that Theta Alpha Phi had established a campus reputation for high caliber plays.

"The Famous Mrs. Fair" was the first play to be presented in the winter term. This three-act play was presented as a class project before a student audience. The second play, "In Love With Love", a three act comedy, was also presented as a class project and attracted a large student audience. The Senior Play which is presented the end of Spring Term is to be "Little Women".

ALWAYS one of the strongest honorary organizations on the campus, the Michigan State Varsity Club has continued, during the past year, in upholding its high position. Selecting its members from the ranks of varsity sport letter winners, the club has an opportunity to produce leadership, enthusiasm, and recognition. The Varsity Club, as a direct representative of the athletic program itself, is growing rapidly in conjunction with the increasing popularity of State teams all over the country. As in previous years, the annual Varsity Party proved to be a highly successful affair with many alumni of the Club returning to greet the new members. The present organization wishes the best of luck and success to the oncoming groups in the future of Michigan State athletic activities.

THE American Institute of Electrical Engineers is the national organization representative of the progress of Electrical Engineering and Allied Arts and Sciences. Organized in 1884, it now consists of fifty-eight sections and one hundred and forty-eight branches.

The local branch was organized April 2, 1918. The object of the branch is to bring to the students of Electrical Engineering a better knowledge of modern advancement in Engineering and the Allied Arts and Sciences.

The meetings of the student branch have been held regularly every two weeks for the year of 1932-33 and at these meetings many interesting lectures and papers have been given by prominent men and students of Electrical Engineering. Several trips have also been arranged by the organization which have proven a real benefit to the members in making them better acquainted with the industrial world.

THE local student chapter of The American Society of Civil Engineers, was founded in 1927. This chapter is one of 103 student chapters which are located at various engineering institutions throughout the United States.

The purpose of this chapter is to make possible a closer contact between the student and the practicing engineer's problems. In the past year, there has been two joint meetings and banquets of the student chapter and the practicing group of the Detroit Section. Thirty student papers have been presented and nine lectures have been given by faculty members and practicing engineers at various meetings throughout the year.

THE Michigan State College Dairy Club was organized in 1923, under the supervision of O. E. Reed, head of the Dairy Department, now chief of the U. S. Bureau of Dairying. The club members put on the Dairy Club Lunch during Farmers' Week. The proceeds are used to send judging teams to the National Dairy Industries Exposition, Dairy Cattle Congress, and National Dairy Show. Medals are also awarded to winners in dairy judging during Junior Farmers' Week. The Dairy Club and Block and Bridle jointly sponsor the All-College Judging Contest in which more than one-third of the Agricultural students take part. Judging awards are presented at a banquet given on the evening of the day following the contest.

The Dairy Club is purely democratic and is open to any student interested in dairying who wishes to join. It has never lacked for members who were willing workers. The Dairy Club is not a "happy hunting ground" for the purpose of honoring past achievements, but an organization which expects its members to do their best work after becoming members.

THE Michigan State College Home Economics Club was organized for the purpose of bringing Home Economics students together in a unity of purpose to discuss subjects of common interest, to meet together for social purposes, to keep in touch with new developments in Home Economics, and to gain a more extensive knowledge of Home Economics problems.

The organization is affiliated with the Michigan Home Economics Association and the American Home Economics Association.

Each year beginning with 1932 the Home Economics Club gives a scholarship of fifty dollars to the Junior Home Economics student who best exemplifies the ideals of Home Economics training. The selection is based on the service she has given as well as high scholarship. This year the club is also working on the foods project planned by the affiliated clubs of Michigan as well as the clothing project which was planned by the clubs of Missouri.

The membership is open to all girls and at present there are about 250 members. All of the members are assigned to groups according to their interests. Some of the activities of the year were: a skit in the Co-ed Prom, a float in the Water Carnival, helping with the Big Sister Movement.

A faculty tea was given in honor of Miss Garvin and Miss Keuhl, also, a Senior girl's tea. Each term the organization held a large open party, all three of which were very successful due to their unique themes. One was called, "The Turkey Strut" and another "The Gold Rush of '49".

EVERY Christmas it is customary for the Glee Club to sing carols under the campus Christmas tree at the lighting ceremony. Its other activities include singing at the tower on May-Day, an annual concert in the Spring at Peoples

Church, and this year the biggest event was the grand opera, "Orpheus".

In June a farewell banquet is held at the Union, in honor of the old officers and as a welcome to those who are just taking office.

DURING the season of 1932-1933 the women's debate squad of Michigan State College participated in about twenty-eight contests. Most of these were held against colleges within the state such as: Olivet, Kalamazoo, Albion, Hillsdale, Adrian, Central State Teacher's, City College of Detroit, Michigan State Normal, Hope, and Calvin. Due to economic conditions the great majority of these contests were of the no-decision type. Many of these debates were held before off-campus audiences. In many instances high schools, churches, women's clubs, and other civic organizations sponsored the contests.

It can be said that the past season has brought out more mature speakers than ever before. Of the number originally trying out for the varsity squad, nine were retained to carry out the schedule.

Intercollegiate debating carries with it three hours credit as well as eligibility for election into Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity.

Following the regular debate season two members of the team were taken on a trip through Ohio, meeting Heidelberg University, Bowling Green State College, Hiram College and the University of Akron. They were then taken to Grove City to compete in the provincial debate tournament of Pi Kappa Delta. Although they did not win first place the team was the only one to defeat the Bowling Green team, winner of the tournament. In extempore speech Michigan State College placed third.

Intercollegiate debate is open to all women enrolled in any department of the college. Selection of the squad is by try-out. Previous experience is not essential.

THE debate team had a full season, participating in forty-one debates. The squad consisted of 12 men, each of whom took part in three or more debates. Eighteen of the contests were held before farm organizations.

On February third the college acted as hosts to eleven other debate teams from other colleges of Michigan. Thirty-three debates were held on the campus. Michigan State took part in eight of these debates.

The squad started out the year with the question "Resolved that the property tax in Michigan for state and local revenue, should be substantially replaced by other forms of taxation". Later the majority of the squad shifted to a consideration of the question, "Resolved that the United States should offer to participate in the cancellation of all inter-governmental war debts." These questions were debated using the conventional style, the Oregon Plan, and the Direct Clash system. Michigan State won seven and lost eight of the decision debates.

The season ended with a southern trip which was taken by four members of the squad and the coach. The itinerary included Cincinnati University, (which arranged a radio debate over station WLW); Berea College, Kentucky; University of Tennessee; Knoxville College; Maryville College; University of North Carolina; Randolph Macon of Ashland, Virginia; Catholic University of America at Washington D. C.; and Gettysburg College of Pennsylvania. The debate at Knoxville College was with a colored team and was the first inter-racial debate ever to be held on their campus.

UNDER the leadership of Miss Emma Sater, Y.W.C.A. Secretary, were held: an informal coffee for freshmen women; and the freshman mixer, besides a great deal of social work: such as sewing for unfortunate families; dressing dolls at Christmas; sponsoring a Christmas party for the under-privileged children, and working with the foreign children of Lansing.

The Y.W.C.A. sent two delegates to the Geneva Conference for the furtherance of leadership among college women, and later helped with an All-National Banquet. Regular meetings are held every month. The Campus Girls Assembly, a lively discussion group, meets every Sunday at 12:00 in the parlors of the church; every co-ed is invited.

■ FRESHMAN WEEK

NINE hundred and more freshmen came through the winding boulevard entrance to the campus of Michigan State College, passed the black and brass identity sign, and filed in the open front door of the Union building to open the fall term of nineteen hundred and thirty-two. They found the campus customs somewhat different than others who had come before. Hazing was no more, sophomores were less cruel, and President Shaw greeted them with open arms. But if the people were changed, the "Campus Beautiful" was the same. The Red Cedar still flowed at the back of the campus, no longer a terror to errant freshmen, the same tall trees, now turning red and brown with autumn, waved over their heads, the grass was still green and the walks still curving.

■ DORMS

Freshman men, many of them, went to live in Wells Hall, for the first time in an all-freshman dormitory. Freshman women got rooms in Mary Mayo Hall or the Women's building. Around Mary Mayo, the most beautiful and comfortable of the three, grass planted last year was getting a good start, and the shrubs and bushes were taller. Young trees, the better for a year's growth, shaded the windows. The Women's Building was much the same as in the past—a long rambling building with big halls and big windows, and the steps in front where many generations of women had gone up and down.

Freshmen held their first mixer in the Union; the following night they met in the Peoples Church, always a meeting-place for new and older classes. The big building, holding a commanding place where Grand River avenue runs off from Michigan, was crowded with new-comers on that fall night.

■ RUSHING

Rushing activities soon began for both men and women. Parties in all houses, dinners and teas for the sororities and smokers and sessions for the fraternities, entertained the freshmen. All society house doors were open day and night to the continual stream of visitors going in and out of them. At last it was over, with about three hundred persons pledged.

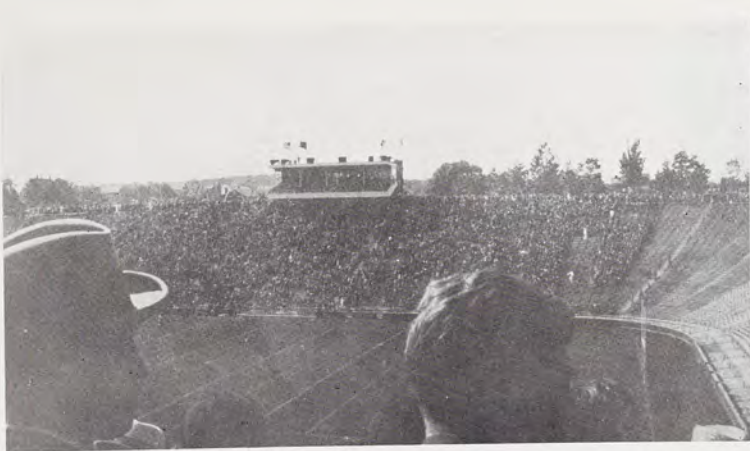

invasion against Fordham and Syracuse arrived. A big send-off, with pep meets and dancing, was given the team. Many students accompanied the team east, but most were content to cluster about the Union and the Smoke Shop, and hear the returns as they came in over the telegraph and were announced through the horns. Victory, and the town went crazy; a second victory, and it went more crazy still. The team was the idol of the hour.

■ IRON MEN

FOOTBALL came in with a rush and took the center of the stage. The Michigan game was early this year, the second played, and excitement and hope for a victory had never been higher. After a great defeat of Alma, the team was ready and willing, but Michigan's team, which afterward wiped up most of the Big Ten and other opponents, was too strong for it.

Other opponents came and went, until the time for the Eastern

■ MILITARY INSTALLATION

FALL term was the occasion of the installation of honorary military sponsors, and this brought up memories for some of the summer camp, where it was all hard drilling, (except for moments of horse-play), and there were no colorful ceremonies and pretty girls to enliven the tedious hours. But in Demonstration Hall war looked to be a very charming thing. The arch of sabers, the officers in their trim uniforms, the music, the crowds, and the five girls who had come to the culmination of their college careers. Cheers, cheers, and strike up the band!

■ HOME COMING

CROWLEY'S "Iron Men" were a part of the magnet that drew thousands of alumni back to the campus for Homecoming, and the game with South Dakota University. Society houses were decorated in gay colors and fantastic designs. The Hespies won, for the second year, the Interfraternity Council cup, and their set-up, with the Iron Man shoveling Dakota wolves out of the field, was deemed especially unusual. The Ero Alphan Sorority received honorable mention, by transforming their circular porch into a stadium full of cheering people. Other houses showed: "Welcome", all over their porches and lawns.

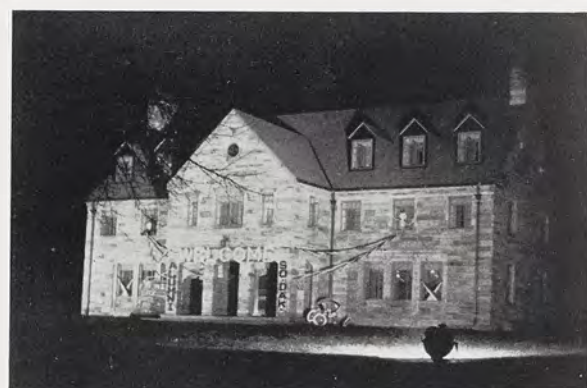

■ VICTORIES

Parties, and more parties were held that night. Every house was lit up, and perhaps some of the people. Rejoicing was in the air, and it lasted through the sensational game with Detroit, our traditional rivals. 7 to nothing, and again the click of bottles was heard in the land.

All this chimed out one of the most successful seasons the Michigan State Spartans have ever had.

Remember: The All College Mixer after crushing Alma; how "nothing" could dull the sorrow at Michigan; how the crowd at Fordham sided with us to whip the Rams; the nice bunch of girls the Syracuse Women's League furnished at their party; how peculiarly Niagara Falls acted for all the boys; train trips, bus rides, headaches, insomnia; and how subdued Detroit acted this year after a real beating.

■ CLASS RUSH--BARBEQUE

FRESHMAN activities continued with the class games. Sophomores and yearlings clashed in the contests, such as obstacle races, tug-o-war, and the like, a substitute for more dangerous rushes of former years. The class of '36 emerged the victor. The defeated sophs did not let this hinder them in preparations for the annual barbecue, and cider and buns were free to all at this November event. A huge fire flamed in the middle of the Plains of Sherburne, all the college came out, ate and listened to speeches.

Other items of interest thronged the term. Bob LaFollette, the Wisconsin senator, spoke on the lecture course. The co-eds pranced in their annual prom, costumes were wide and various, heavy and scanty, and the orchestra contained the only men who were present. Pan-hellenic held a banquet. The investigation ran its course, and like all the others, pood out ingloriously. Prof. Steward warned everybody that "WA's" were dangerous. The annual faculty concert was held, and the campus heard Fred Patton, new head of the voice department, for the first time.

RAIN, rain, rain. The campus was drenched all during that unlucky month—November—with cloudy downpours that made up for the famous drouth of two years ago. Slickers and trenchcoats, rubbers and galoshes, were standard for the well-dressed undergraduate. The rain partially spoiled Spartan Day, the new celebration in honor of a successful football team, when school was dismissed, an all-college convocation was held, and the State Theatre had a free show.

■ VISITORS

FARMERS' WEEK brought out a huge crowd of agriculturists to throng the campus, attend the meetings, and watch the exhibits. Norman Thomas talked to students at the same time. No connection between the two items, however.

As the bank holiday fell on Michigan, the college was discussing the possibility of a new coach. The first rumors of another investigation darkened the horizon, already cold and bleak enough, what with the lack of money and prospects of spring.

Forty-five merchants asked the State Board to ban the Wells Hall eating club and all campus competitive institutions, but Wells Hall survived the shock and carried bravely on. The revived club had a successful season, feeding many hungry men for low cost.

As a Detroit paper came out with a scarehead on co-eds starving at M. S. C., a campus poll was conducted but not many of the damsels were discovered. On the contrary, all that could be found seemed to be plump and happy, able to run as fast as a cross-country man.

■ CHRISTMAS

Christmas brought the annual tree-lighting ceremony, when the tall pine in front of the Women's Building was lighted, to stay so for many weeks and many nights, keeping the girls in the north end awake. But then, everyone had gone home for Christmas vacation.

■ HELL WEEK

WHEN the pledges came back from the holidays, they were greeted by the dismal prospect of Hell Week. While old friends were greeting each other merrily, fraternity pledges were shoveling the walks, mopping the back porch and the sun parlor, shining the brothers' shoes, and answering the telephone. Then the fateful week, and "assume the position". Long walks in the moonlight (but alone, and with the whistling wind chilling the tips of their ears) for ten black cats, or for the signatures of all the members of the Union Board, or on any of the other delightful games cooked up by their loving companions in the bond.

■ FORMALS

Winter term is synonymous with parties. The J-Hop, the Varsity Party, the Engineers Ball—all with their accompaniment of stiff shirts, shining shoes, floating ball dresses, corsages, favors, programs, and perhaps the sly pop of the elusive cork in the corner. This year more good bands played here than ever before. Maurie Sherman played for the Soph Prom, Husk O'Hare for the Engineers' Ball, Herbie Kay for the J-Hop and Varsity Party. Dancing has always been a popular sport at State, and it reached a new high level in the winter term.

■ ORPHEUS

WE HAVE never been accused of possessing cultural refinement and other students have berated us for exhibiting the mediocrity of the masses. Be that as it may, the finest entertainment we have ever attended in our four years of college, was the opera "Orpheus." It will be one of the things we shall always remember from our collegiate career.

It would be futile for us to act as a critic of the operatic production as our capabilities along such lines are extremely limited. The staging of the opera could hardly have been done better by professionals. The soloists, the flawless music, the symphony of colors and the grace of the ballet all held us in their spell. We couldn't explain our reactions to the opera in the terms of a maestro but » » » for two hours life's realities receded.

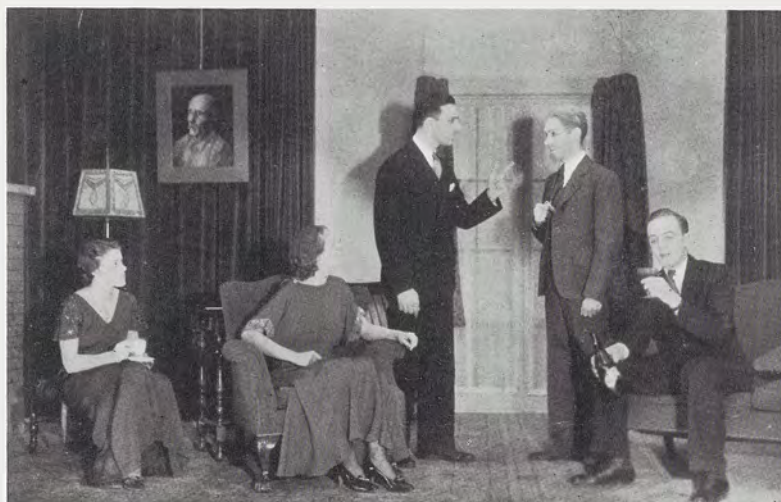

■ ORPHEUS

It seems to us that the opera in a way was a beautiful and subtle protest against the attacks made on Michigan State in recent months. The cooperation of the various departments of the college was never more manifest. They had united for the common purpose of staging a production worthy of the institution. They succeeded and "Orpheus" stood out like an oasis in a desert of heated controversy. The music department and those that cooperated presented an irresistible argument. They have a definite place here and a definite educational importance.

We have not tried to eulogize anyone but merely expressed our sentiments concerning the opera. We wish to extend our congratulations and appreciation to those who helped to present "Orpheus."

The complete cast numbered over 200 people, including 25 in the ballet, the chorus of 130, and an orchestra of 50 pieces. Beatrice Brody was exceptional as "Orpheus", Naomi Van Loo played "Euridice", and Mary Ellen Davis was "Amor" the God of Love. Everything of the production was handled so well that a return engagement was fulfilled at Lansing Eastern High School and the complete cast was taken to Detroit to fill the bill at the Wilson Theater on Saturday evening of April 29th.

■ "HOLIDAY"

ONE of the highlights in the theatrical events of the year was the production of Barry's famous "Holiday," presented by the Theta Alpha Phi. "Holiday" is a three-act comedy of modern life, fresh off Broadway. The popularity of the piece among big business men on the Great White Way was equaled by the enthusiasm of campus Little Theater-goers. "Holiday" contained a very clever plot with the logical ending concealed until the final curtain. There we find a convincing climax exposing the talents of Phil Schwartz and Josephine Gibson, who played the parts of Johnny Case and Linda Seton. The fast moving pace and tempo of the play brought out the dramatic virtues of Wanda Falarski, Richard Macomber, Howard Conrad, Kenneth Bellinger, Maurine King, Robert Kline, Harriet Rix, Virgil Button, and Mary Kidder. The careful skill with which Prof. E. S. King had trained the members of the cast was clearly evident.

■ "DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY"

"Death Takes a Holiday," given by Theta Alpha Phi, fall term, had a startling success on the campus. Death became a living, fear-inspiring person through the marvelous interpretation of Paul Jewell. Stage effects managed by Professor Nickle's drama class helped produce the feeling of horror which completely overwhelmed the would-be skeptical college audience.

■ THETA ALPHA PHI

THETA ALPHA PHI, a national dramatics honorary, is responsible for most of the theatrical productions on the campus. It is from these play productions that future members are selected after each have successfully portrayed a required number of roles. This year they presented four three-act plays all of high caliber; first: "Holiday" then "Death Takes a Holiday," and during the winter term, "The Famous Mrs. Fair," and a comedy "In Love with Love".

Each spring term the Senior Play is given out doors in the Forest of Arden by this honorary.

■ ART

ART work done by faculty members and students was shown in the Faculty dining room, rapidly becoming a museum for the exhibition of art works. Student painters looked forward to getting outside and painting in the open air, seated on camp chairs and with their easels before them, while winter was still in full force, they contented themselves with inside work.

■ LITERATURE

The Library, under the administration of the new Librarian, Jackson E. Towne, made noticeable progress in economy of means and unification of departments during the year. With a large stock of books, which is constantly being added to, the Library has become a vital part of the student's education. Apart from the amorous opportunities it offers, reading material can also be taken out and even read.

"There is no such thing as an attractive home without books". This was definitely borne in mind when Mary Mayo Hall was planned with a good sized library, so that within its living rooms the girls may enjoy the comforts of home.

■ POLITICS

And now for those elections. Campus politicians had ranged up and down the halls of various buildings, harangued in society houses, and spoken bitterly over cokes in Mary Stewart's, and it all ended in eliminations and the final girding-up for voting. Lobbyists packed the usually serene Union lobby on the big day. From eight to five, bustle and stir, cigar smoke and perfume in the air (for the co-eds campaigned as bitterly as their stronger brothers), curses and appeals splitting ears. No graft, apparently. And when they were all over, cigars made the rounds, up in the Wolverine and State News offices hands were shaken in farewell, strong men wept as they cleaned the cigarette butts out of their old desk drawers, floors were swept for the first time in months, and an air of desolation settled on the empty offices.

■ SPRING

SPRING term brought relief. The President began his reforestation project, and State men were hired in droves. The snow was melting, and the Red Cedar at high water, even driving some people out of homes. Students went out to paint up the old canoes, and stop up the more gaping holes.

Gala Day at the Yacht Club was a swimming exhibition staged in the spring, Green Splash and Porpoise cooperating. Novelty stunts and fancy diving were featured and much atmosphere was created by beach furniture and an enormous trophy cup.

Tennis kept command of the individual sports, though Riding rode on its heels. Spring rains spoiled the courts often, but the students played when they could. Ping— and over the net; pong— and back again; and so on until it was too dark to play.

When the band played the cadets all began marching down the cindery road and up to the old drill field (for the Plains were too wet to march on) and all lined up across from the reviewing stands. Marched by under the efficient command of their student officers. Every Tuesday afternoon till the end of school—parades. But the campus never tired of them, though the cadets may have.

Along the dewy (or muggy) evening banks of the Cedar two wandered hand in hand or maybe arms around waists.

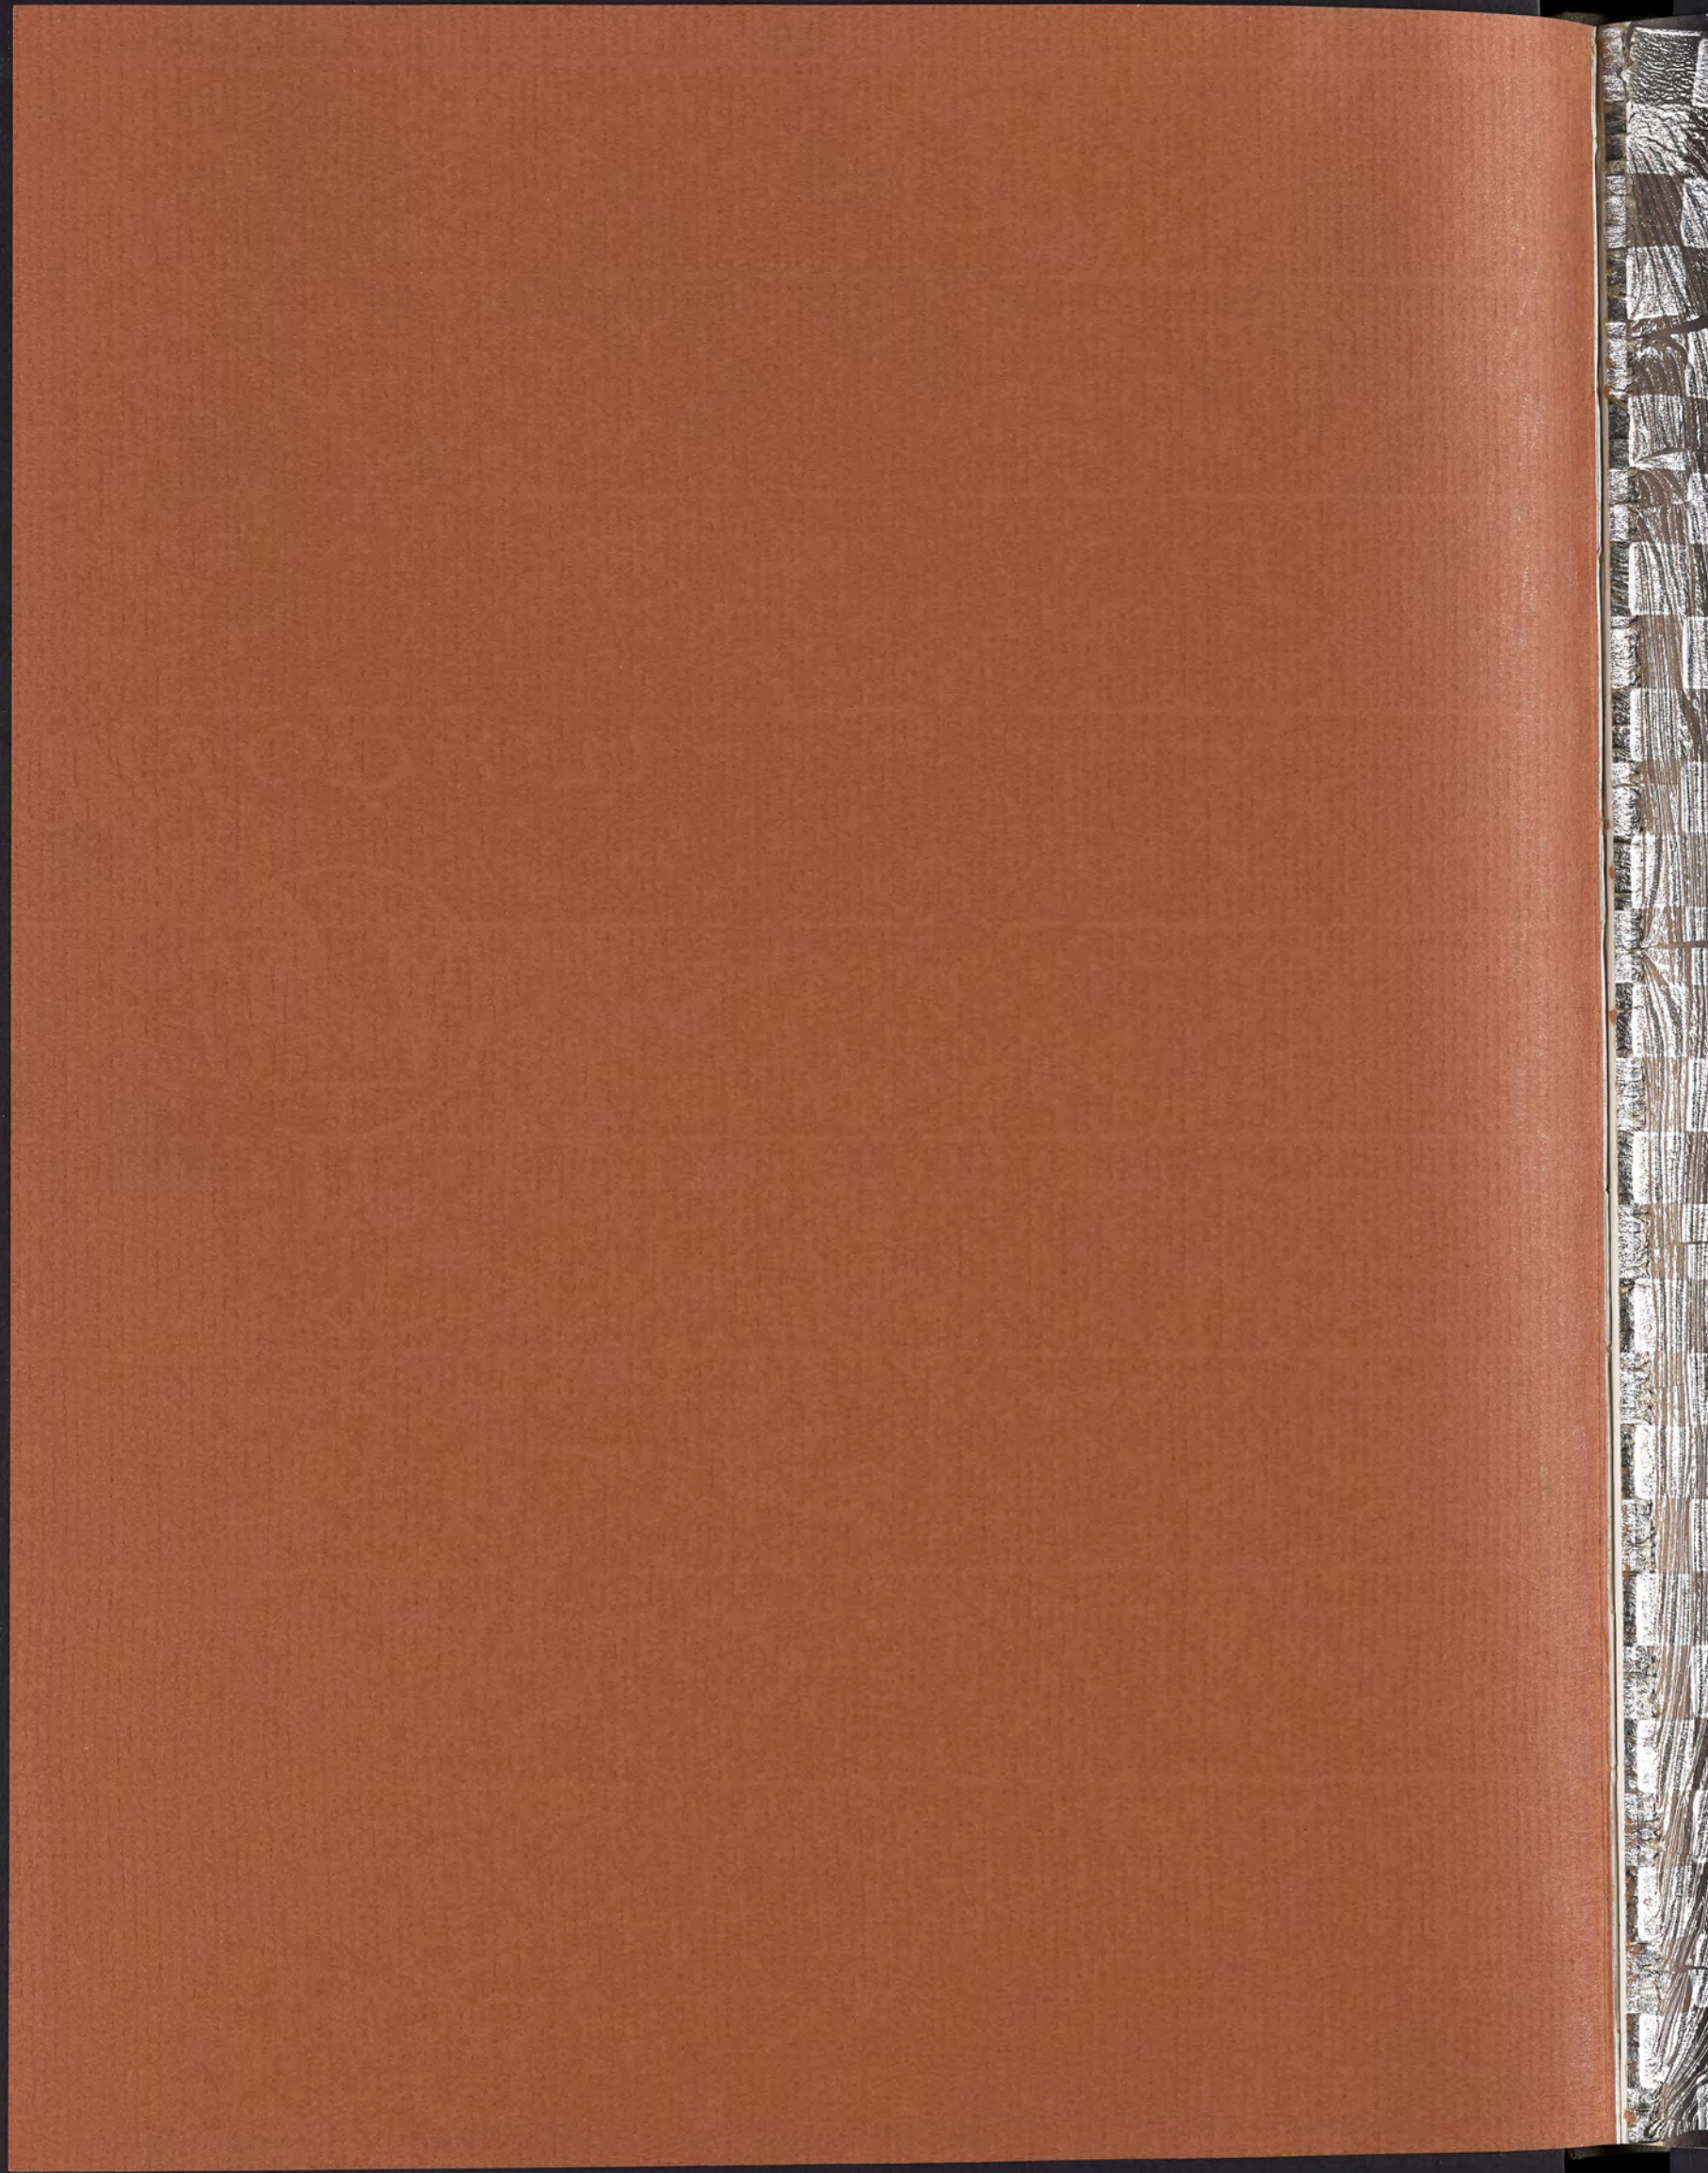

No one is looking and no harm is done. Canoes drifted silently, except for a slight drip of paddles, down the silent stream. In the Botanical Gardens (O harsh and ill-sounding name, certainly the christening of an ill-favored and sour anti-romanticist) all the seats were full and couples floated to and fro on the paths. As Herbert said, you couldn't walk for the drool. But Herbert was no lover. Over all, the patron saint, Dean Conrad, smiled benevolently—as long as it wasn't after ten o'clock. Come Keats, come Shelley, come Burns, come Herrick, come Petrarch, come Horace, come Sappho, come Homer.

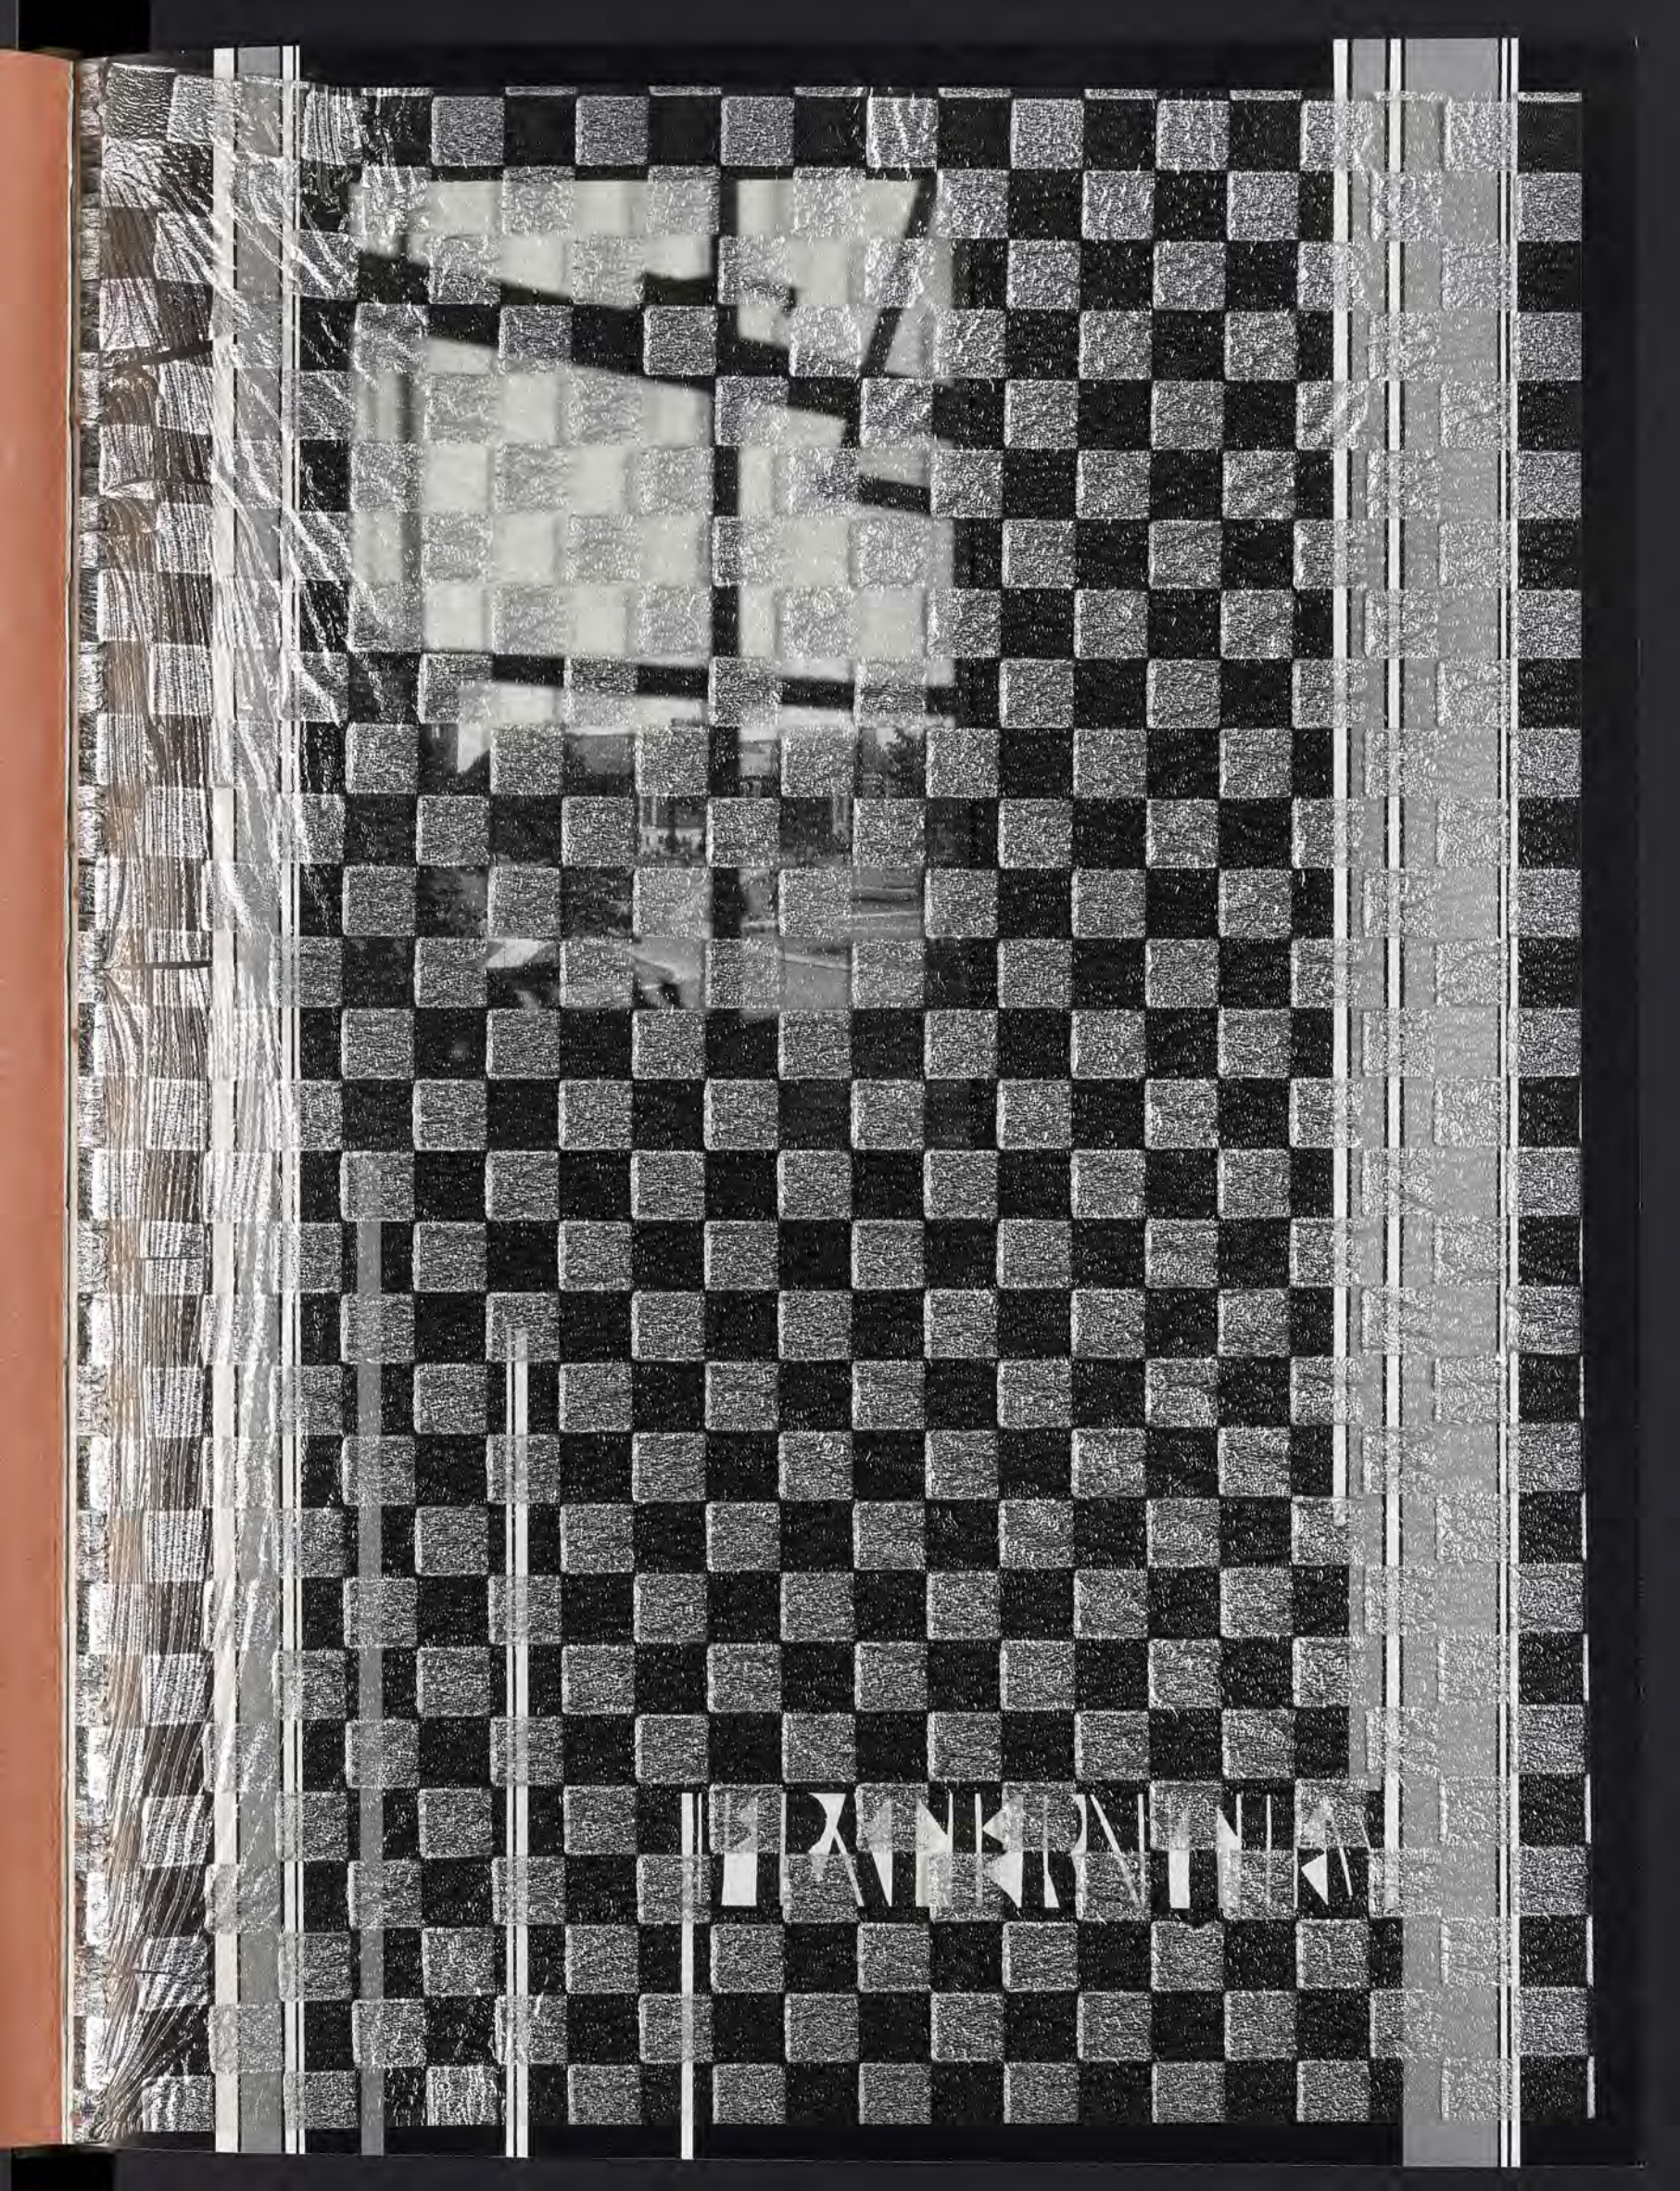

As the seniors began their parties and plays, so did they with their commencement plans. In this last portion of the year, seniors had the spotlight. After four years they intend to go out with banners waving, the chimes strike. Another school year is just a memory.

THE Inter-Fraternity Council, composed of representatives from eleven local and eight national fraternities, constitutes the governing body of these organizations. It regulates rushing and initiation and sponsors inter-fraternity athletics. The Council awards a scholarship cup each year to the house with the highest scholastic standing and in the fall awards a home-coming decorations cup which this year goes into the permanent possession of the Hesperians for having won it twice. Phi Chi Alpha is the present holder of the scholarship trophy. The Council also sponsors two parties annually in addition to those of the individual fraternities.

Meetings of the Inter-fraternity Council are held twice a month. Among its outstanding accomplishments achieved in the course of the past year was the bringing back of radio parties which were abolished during the fall term. George Culp, president of the Council, attended the meeting of the National Undergraduate Inter-Fraternity Council in New York City last November 25 and 26.

THE Ae-Theon Society this year has been more widely represented in campus activities than during any one year in its history.

In the realm of sports they have Len Montgomery and Neil Hanson who were prominently active on the swimming team the past season, Montgomery having been elected captain for next year. Matt Lentsch and Joe Buzolits, who played freshman football last fall, are good prospects for the varsity squad next season; and in track Walt Dysert completed his third year of varsity competition.

Several Ae-Theons have been favored with memberships in the various honoraries: Marc Betwee, Scabbard and Blade; Al Collier and Don Montgomery, Blue Key; Ed Hartman, Tau Beta Pi; Bill Streit, Sigma Epsilon.

The debating team has the services of Russel Gramer. Don Montgomery and Doug Graham are at present engaged in the business and editorial staffs of the Michigan State News respectively, and Marc Betwee is associated with the Wolverine.

The society was formed in Wells Hall in 1915 and it has grown in membership and power until January of 1931 when they built their new home at the corner of East Grand River and Woodmere.

NATIONAL Professional Chemical Fraternity founded at University of Wisconsin in 1902. In 1928 the local chemistry society, Chi Rho, was granted a charter as the Alpha Upsilon chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma. Although Alpha Chi Sigma is neither a social nor an honorary fraternity, but a professional society, the fact that many of its chapters maintain houses, and the high scholastic requirements for membership give it the qualities of both. Because Alpha Chi Sigma is a professional fraternity it cannot be a member of the inter-fraternity council.

Professional activities of the chapter include the sponsoring of the annual "Chem-Show" for Farmers' Week and the preparation of permanent wall exhibits in the chemistry building.

At present the fraternity has 34 active members. Twenty-seven of these are chemical engineers, while the other 7 are majoring in chemistry. Among the members engaged in various campus activities are: John Loree—Delphic, Phi Lambda Tau, Band Club, Alpha Epsilon Mu, and Interfraternity Council representative; E. E. Boucher—Captain of Swimming team and Porpoise; Roger Parsons—President of Porpoise, Swimming team, and Phi Lambda Tau; R. F. Durfee—Phi Lambda Tau and Mortar and Ball; D. E. Pierce—Hermian, Tau Beta Pi, Scabbard and Blade; G. F. Simons—President of Alpha Chi Sigma, Tau Beta Pi; J. D. Avery—Delphic, Tau Beta Pi, Band Club; W. D. Roeller—Hesperian, Glee Club.

The fraternity is proud to have a large faculty membership of 29 members, who are well known on the campus and very popular for party patrons.

ALPHA LITERARY SOCIETY was organized in 1929 by a group of Michigan State Students for the purpose of creating a common bond between the members on the campus; to promote a feeling of fraternalism; to establish an organization of those students that are desirable and eligible; and to provide a home with congenial surroundings for the members.

Of the numerous men they have out for various sports and activities a few have made names for themselves. R. Schwartz and I. Schulman are candidates for backfield positions on the 1933 football team. Schwartz has also gained a reputation as an outstanding performer in various dramatics circles. Schulman also is recognized as one of the best hurdlers on the freshman squad. E. Bartman now holds for two successive years the welterweight boxing championship of Michigan State College. M. W. Glass has been a member of the Varsity fencing team for 1932 and 1933, and is captain-elect of the '34 squad. G. Lachar was a member of the freshman fencing squad.

In September 1930, the fraternity moved into their first home at 637 E. Grand River. Several months later they acquired a more spacious house into which they soon moved at 419 Linden where they are still residing.

On January 3, 1933, Alpha Epsilon Pi, national fraternity formally pledged Alpha Literary Society.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO is one of the largest fraternities at M. S. C. It is one of the first national fraternities to be permanently established on campus; starting in 1922, its membership has swelled from fifteen to the present total of one hundred and seventy-four.

Due to the large membership the fraternity has been unusually active in campus affairs. The monthly magazine, Agriculturist, is edited by C. Blakeslee and G. Dickerson is the business manager. Basil McKenzie was president of the Agronomy club, a soils organization, H. Robison was president of the Agricultural Economics Club, O. Lepard, president of Dairy Club. Besides the above officers there are also other members from the house in each, in Alpha Zeta alone there are ten members. P. Jewell was president of Theta Alpha Phi.

On the Animal Husbandry Judging Team there were four members, on Dairy Judging Team, two, and on the Crop Judging Team, two. These teams are composed of the best members of each class.

The fraternity has been well represented by Captain Ball, Lepard, and Cox on the 1933 Wrestling team. Pemberton pitched on the Varsity baseball nine.

Two alumni chapters exist, one in East Lansing and one in Lansing. The local chapter consists of all Tau graduates, while the downtown group includes all Alpha Gamma Rho men located at Michigan State and in and about Lansing.

THE Delphic Literary Society was founded about twenty-five years ago in what was then called Old College Hall. Although the group started with but a few men, it developed rapidly and has become one of the outstanding societies on campus. The present membership includes men prominent in many organizations and honoraries. J. H. Loree, Alpha Chi Sigma and Phi Lambda Tau, is president of the band and of the Band Club, and secretary and treasurer of the Inter-Fraternity Council. Kunze and Avery are members of Tau Beta Pi. Kowatch and Buss are on the Varsity Football team and Greenaway and Avery are all-college wrestlers. Gardiner, Allen, and Sutton are track men. Grattrick and Schreur are members of Scabbard and Blade. The latter is a Phi Lambda Tau, Engineering fraternity. Greenaway is a member of the Band Club and Laraway acted on the Senior party committee. This society is now residing at the home they built at 453 Abbott Road.

DELTA SIGMA PHI is an international fraternity, having 49 chapters throughout the United States and Canada. The local chapter is well represented in college athletics, campus activities and honorary organizations and is above the average in scholarship here. Delta Sigma Phi numbers among its members the baseball captain and the Senior class president who are members of Excalibur. In addition the fraternity is represented in varsity basket ball, varsity golf, polo, Blue Key, Xi Sigma Pi, Beta Alpha Sigma, Scabbard and Blade, the Block and Bridle Club, the Varsity Club, Athletic council, Student council and the Band. Two Delta Sigs are on the State News staff and one on the Wolverine staff.

The membership of Alpha Pi Chapter of Delta Sigma Phi has grown steadily until it is now one of the largest social fraternities at Michigan State.

In February, 1932 Alpha Pi Chapter of Delta Sigma Phi moved into its new home. This modern Indiana limestone home can accommodate forty-two men. It is on property that is terraced back to the Red Cedar River, and is situated on East Grand River Avenue, east of the city limits.

THE Olympic Society was founded in 1885, and since that date its existence has been uninterrupted. The first meetings of the Society were held in Old Wells Hall, continuing to be held there until the present house was built on North Abbott Road.

The Society has been ever-prominent in its list of notables, excelling in both Athletics and Scholarship. During the past few years, such men as M. Gross, Captain of the football team in 1932, member of the Varsity Club, and Excalibur; and, J. Madonna, captain of Varsity baseball in 1932, member of the Varsity Club, and also a member of Excalibur, have graduated from State. At the present time, we have Abe Eliowitz, co-captain of this year's football team, Vice-President of the Varsity Club, and now playing his second year of varsity baseball; G. Muscott, whose list of activities is growing rapidly. He is a member of the Blue Key, treasurer of Beta Alpha Sigma, President of the Art Club, member of the State News Staff, and on the J-Hop Committee. Others worthy of mention are Kiebler, Blue Key; Norton, Blue Key, captain of Frosh Football, and on the Varsity baseball team at the present time; Patchett, newly-elected President of the Varsity Club, and on the basket ball team of this year and last; Morrison, Varsity Football Manager, and a member of the Varsity Club; and, Disantis, member of the Lambda Sigma. New members are Meaders and Perkins, both members of Porpoise.

The Society has enjoyed a successful year and hopes that that success will continue in the future.

THE Trimoiria Literary Society was founded February 10, 1913 in old College Hall.

The membership of the new organization was limited to Engineering students. The Cornerstones of the society were laid upon the three branches of engineering taught at that time. The society was later expanded to admit science students and still later all restrictions were raised.

In 1923 a house was purchased on the corner of E. Grand River and M. A. C. Avenues.

In 1928 this property was sold and the present property on Burcham Drive was purchased.

The members have been very active in campus life during the past year. Among them are the President of the Union, Vice-President of the Inter fraternity Council, members of Varsity Club, Blue Key, Excaliber, Tau Beta Pi, Scabbard and Blade, Mortar and Ball, Alpha Zeta, and other honorary Fraternities. Five members won Varsity letters on the championship cross country team last fall and several more are expecting Varsity letters this spring.

All indications point to a very active group for next year with a member of the student Council, a member of the Union Board, and memberships in various honorary fraternities already established.

IT WAS not until 1922 that the Pan Hellenic Association became a formidable group on this campus. Previous to this time, practically all the sororities were local chapters, and the Pan Hellenic Association did not exert the controlling influences which it now does over the social groups. The organization rapidly improved in effectiveness as the sororities became national, and finally in 1929 membership was granted to the National Urban Pan Hellenic Council. This continued until 1932 when the council dissolved its membership and joined the National Pan Hellenic Congress, made up of all colleges.

Each year Pan Hellenic holds a banquet at which the sorority which has the highest scholastic standing during the past year is presented with a scholarship cup. Sigma Kappa received the award this year, making this the third successive year they have attained this honor.

The purpose of the organization, which consists of two representatives from each sorority, is to form an interfraternity compact binding on all member chapters and to regulate matters of fraternity interest to all groups.

IN 1921 national fraternities were allowed on State's campus for the first time, and the first sorority was Alpha Gamma Delta. Previous to this time a group of girls had organized into a society which they designated as Chi Lambda, but anxious to make use of the new ordinance, they petitioned Alpha Gamma Delta during its following summer convention. The petition was granted them. One of their first accomplishments was to organize the Panhellenic League of which the first president was one of their members—incidentally as is the case this year.

This chapter is well represented in various activities on campus, and also claims many officers of organizations. The associations which include A. G. D. members are: Y. W. C. A., Green Splash, W. A. A., Beta Alpha Sigma, Mu Phi Epsilon, Theta Alpha Phi, Tau Sigma, Spartan Woman's League, Home Economics Board, Liberal Art Board, and State News. Alpha Gamma Delta was runner up in the intramural sports and had twelve girls on the honor roll.

IN THE fall term of 1931 the foundation was laid for the newest sorority on State's campus—Beta Gamma. Residing on Abbott Road through the fall term, a group of girls decided to organize into a society. After having selected the name Beta Gamma, they established themselves in their new home on Harrison Road. On June fourth, 1932, the charter members of the newly formed organization held their formal announcement dinner in the Wisteria Room of Olds Hotel. The fall term party took place this year in the Little Theater as did the spring term party. The winter term formal was scheduled at the Kerns Hotel.

The capability of this group is reflected in many different lines and Beta Gamma is rapidly becoming known for her accomplishments. The girls are active in various associations, among which are Omicron Nu, Home Economics Club, Women's Varsity Debating Club, Spartan Women's League, and W. A. A. Also, Claudine Burkhart, a member of the Junior class of Beta Gamma received a scholarship prize, the Marantha Judson award.

SIGMA KAPPA, founded in 1874 is one of the oldest national sororities. As a national project the group annually extends aid to the Maine Sea Coast Mission for the education and care of its island people.

This year Sigma Kappa received the Panhellenic Scholarship cup, which having been earned three successive times, becomes the permanent trophy of the sorority. In addition, the group was awarded the hockey plaque for victory in the intramural tournament.

Outstanding members include Athenia Andros, president of A. W. S.; Freida Brief, president of W. A. A.; and Elva Covert, president of Y. W. C. A. and vice-president of Sphinx of which the trio are members. Wilma Sackett and Margaret Berry were initiated into Tau Sigma which increased the membership to five from the house. T. Carr, E. Colbert and M. Berry have been active members of Mu Phi Epsilon, musical honorary. There are members in Green Splash and four girls are on the W. A. A. board. The M. S. C. scholarship for women was awarded to Christine Connor.

The society was first organized as the Pythian Literary society in the spring of 1922 and in 1927 became the Alpha Tau chapter of Sigma Kappa. To celebrate this event and to strengthen the bonds of the Society, everyone including the alumni, get together on a Sunday in May and canoe up the river to Pinetum for a delightful morning breakfast.

MICHIGAN STATE MILITARY

LIEUTENANT COLONEL DORSEY READ RODNEY
In command of the entire Michigan State Military Department

THE R. O. T. C. holds a distinguished place among the activities of the men of the United States because it is beneficial morally, intellectually, physically, and it is honorable. It is morally beneficial in that it springs from the fact that traditional teachings of the corps emphasize and insist upon the truth, fair play and an equal sharing of all burdens. The teachings of the R. O. T. C. confer upon the student outstanding intellectual advantages since there can be no disorderly or slovenly habits of thinking in the military courses. Precision is the very essence and the first requisite of these studies. The physical benefits of the R. O. T. C. are obvious.

They are superior because they are positive and precise, cultivating the co-ordination of mind and body. The various commands at drill require for success instant understanding by the student, his instant converting of understanding into decision and resolution, followed by suitable physical reaction. It is honorable in that every man has a chance to acquire and practice those decent attitudes toward other men, and those physical comforts of life for which humanity must be destined if we grant that it has any destiny at all.

BURL D. HUBER, Infantry Lieutenant Colonel

IT HAS frequently been noticed by impartial observers that the average Michigan State student is more earnest and business-like than the students of most colleges. . . The raccoon coat, the rah-rah boys, and the type that fritter away the hard earned money of his parents while absorbing nothing but "College Life", are features that are entirely missing from the picture here in East Lansing.

The same business-like attitude is completely personified at the Michigan State Armory. While the whole-hearted support of the President and the faculty and the ability of the instructors are big factors in the success of military training, the Corps would not attain its high state of efficiency unless the members of it were earnestly interested in their own work and in the prestige of the Corps as a whole. You can go into the Armory at any time and see raw recruits being made into men of purpose and precision. You will see alert interest and zeal in every eye, and it is with these qualities that any affair staged by the members of the Corps, is invariably "Put over" well.

An evidence of the spirit and zeal of the Corps is shown by the number of students that are always about the armory, and in every activity. There are three complete Polo teams besides fifteen to twenty men that are continually working to take someone's position on a team; a crack Rifle team; faculty and co-ed riding classes, and active chapters of the "Officers Club", "Scabbard and Blade" and "the Mortar and Ball".

THE Infantry battalion is instructed primarily in unit drill, rifle marksmanship, and the manual of arms. Classroom material delves into more advanced principles, mainly theoretical, due to limited facilities for practical application. This includes scouting and patrolling, and problems concerning battle formations. Map reading and the automatic rifle are also included in this course, and the cadet becomes acquainted with the various other weapons. During the spring term, the infantry is expected to make a superior showing on the parade ground, due to its more advanced study of drill and rifle handling.

The advanced course consists of field engineering, military law, military history, anti-air craft tactics, firing problems, and is a fine addition to an engineer's course.

The unit is equipped with two anti-aircraft machine guns; one 75 m.m. gun, drawn by a 10 ton tractor, range finding apparatus, and all instruments for setting up communication.

The advanced course includes pistol marksmanship, machine gun, machine rifle application, map reading, sketching, military history, cavalry tactics, and a broad knowledge of advanced equitation in the line of jumping and polo.

The Cavalry unit has always maintained the highest merits in the Spring Parades and promises to be the outstanding unit of the R. O. T. C.

This unit stages the annual Horse Show in which many of the Cavalry students participate.

WOLVERINE 1933

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE MILITARY BAND

THE Michigan State College Military Band enjoys a national as well as a state reputation. At one time the band was primarily a marching unit and performed at military parades and athletics of one kind or another. Now, however, the band under the direction of Leonard Falcone, is not only one of the best marching bands but ranks highly as a concert organization.

Beginning the fall term by playing for the football game the band was somewhat handicapped by the presence of an unusually large number of first year men. These men after weeks of stringent drill were able to help round out a highly perfected marching unit. With the close of the football season the basket ball season began and the band was again called upon to appear at these games.

During the basket ball season the band began the rehearsals for the spring concert. Due to the caliber of the music played at these concerts much rehearsing is necessary and the members of the band willingly donate their time to improving the selections.

Farmers Week brings the band out for the first appearance in concert formation. During the week the band plays for many of the meetings and has taken an outstanding place on the program. The organization is always highly commended by the visitors to the campus.

The highlight of the season for the band is the series of spring concerts which start the second week of May. The series includes four concerts which are held out of doors in the Forest of Arden. A large canopied bandstand is erected and the band is built up in tiers much in the style of the symphony concert stage. The audience is comprised not only of students but people from Lansing and East Lansing who have as much an interest in the work of the band as do the students of the college. During the concerts student soloists are featured.

Strict and rigid tryouts must be passed before the musician is eligible for band membership and it is due to this rigid elimination process that the band is able to maintain its high standards of music and the selection of high caliber numbers which are presented at the concerts. Not only must the tests be passed but a musician must maintain his standard of playing to hold his position.
