MICHIGAN/STATE COLLEGE

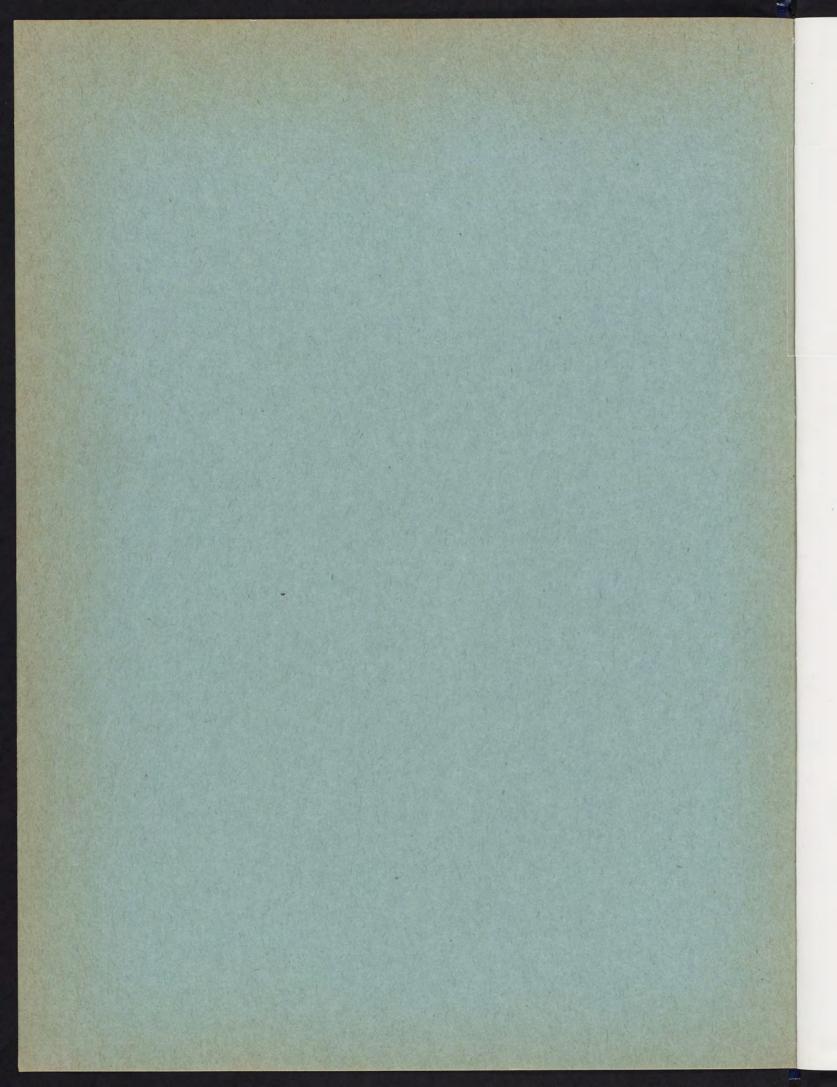

IN DIE

CHEAN TALE

1944

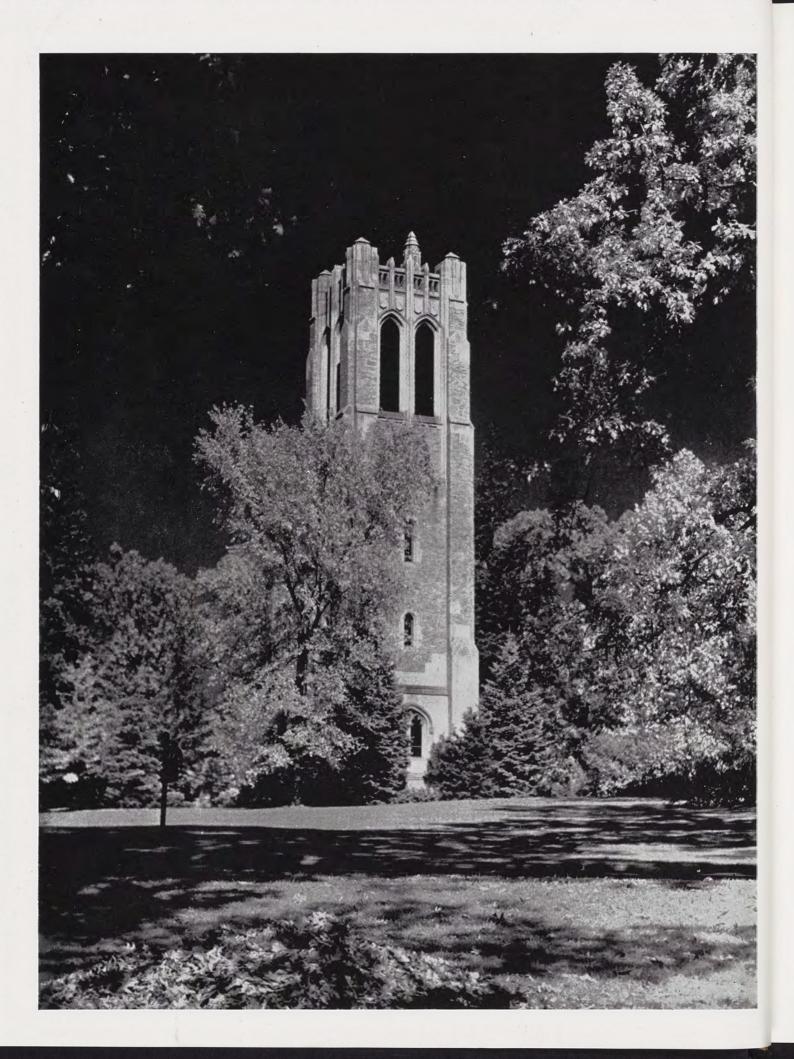

WE POINT WITH PRIDE

For the past few years Michigan State College has been making a noteworthy place for itself in the state and national picture and has manifested an influence even in foreign countries.

Its progress in the fields of applied science, agriculture, home economics, veterinary medicine, engineering and liberal arts has resulted in nationwide acknowledgment of State's superior educational facilities and its activities in research work.

MICHIGAN STATE ANSWERED

THE WAR CHALLENGE

STATE men left to give their best in energy and ability to help win this war with confidence in their hearts that M.S.C. will be the same friendly, progressive college that they left . . . They've answered their challenge, and we can do no other than to answer ours . . .

to keep their memory of M.S.C. unchanged . . .

In years to come they will tell their sons of the really great spirit with which students and faculty made 1943-1944 a year that none can ever forget . . . the momentous year pictured in your Wolverine . . . Yes, M.S.C. has answered the war challenge and answered it completely . . .

With Men

MICHIGAN STATE ANSWERED . . .

Vets are instrumental in seeing that the livestock of the country is well cared for . . . Engineers build for the future by learning of past discoveries and striving in the present . . . M.S.C. men are fighting for freedom on every battle front . . .

With Women

MICHIGAN STATE ANSWERED . . .

EVERY girl can't be a mental marvel or an accomplished athlete, but she can do her part in the war effort . . . Pratt-Whitney students and C.A.P. enthusiasts are only two examples of the ever-growing number of campus women eager to do their bit . . .

With Brains and Machines ...

MICHIGAN STATE ANSWERED ...

WHETHER it be at a drafting board or at a lathe, M.S.C. men are putting in extra hours to insure the United States of the best in machines and expertly trained individuals . . .

With Food

MICHIGAN STATE ANSWERED . . .

Constant research and experimentation are being carried on to aid farmers in their endeavor to raise more and better crops . . . Food is one of our greatest weapons; the campus canning factory provides State's contribution to the ammunition supply of the nation . . .

So Proudly We Hail . . .

of Freshman week until the regretful finality of commencement, M.S.C. is the center of her students' lives . . .

The war has intensified every student's loyalty and affection for his Alma Mater and has added to the influence dealt by the college through her research department and agricultural services. So proudly we hail her service . . .

To The Student ...

A good liberal education consists of a general knowledge of the world and a special knowledge of one certain field . . . What better service could be offered than a condensation and digestion of numerous books presented by interesting professors in their lectures . . .

The library is maintained for those ambitious students eager to do research work and all students who must do their daily assignments!

Dr. Harry Kimber

To The Student ...

The student lecture course under the direction of Mr. Crowe is something

State is noted for all over the country. The best people available are brought at very little expense to the student . . . The ballet dancers below came here in November with the Ballet Theatre.

HERE ARE THE FACTS

A shortage of classrooms available for A.S.T. students has necessitated the use of the old music hall and men's gym for study purposes . . . 15-20 hours of fall term sociology classes were devoted to field trips . . . The library has a staff of 15 professional workers and 40 student assistants . . . Over 8,000 cases reported to hospital clinic last year . . .

Nothing could more adequately provide practical training in the various fields of study than laboratory work, whether it be with rock specimens or oils and a canvas . . . Students must be well. Therefore, Olin Memorial Health Center provides them with the best of medical care and treatment at no additional cost . . . Campbell dormitory this year started something new in the Campbell varieties every Wednesday evening. It was a grand chance for the girls to know each other better . . . learning to live together.

HERE ARE THE FACTS

The Speakers' Bureau within the last five years has given over 1,600 programs to combined audiences of over 200,-000 people . . . Civilian ice cream output has been cut 65% while the army rightly gets all it wants . . . At registration students may sign up for any one of a number of defense courses such as Morse code, first aid, and airplane spotting.

To The Community . . .

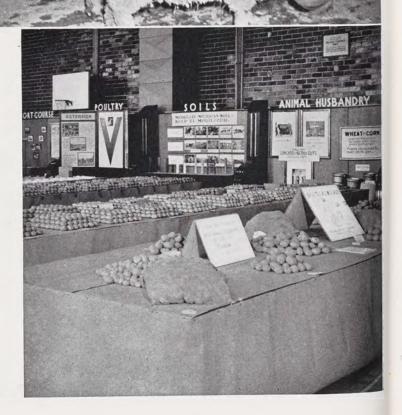

LIKE many of the workers on the home front, these people working in the Dairy and learning how to identify airplanes, let the heroes get all the headlines.

Isaac Peters, Joanne D'Arcy, and Professor Paul Geisenhoff

Local residents have access to the college's many facilities with special emphasis placed on the experimental gardens, where they learn to develop the "V" in victory into vegetables . . . first aid classes . . . the dairy building . . . defense classes, one of the most interesting of which is airplane spotting . . . and the Speakers' Bureau, which is a constant source of educational and entertaining programs.

MICHIGAN STATE College
truly lives up to its name as a state college and has established a fine reputation for service in many ways. WKAR, the college station, reaches all homes in the lower peninsula with its varied and helpful programs. Constant streams of students gain valuable and concentrated information in Short Courses.

To The State . . .

FARMERS' WEEK and the extension services have proved invaluable aids to the state at large, while the Veterinary Clinic lends its service to all. Michigan farmers have access to State laboratories where samples of their farm soil can be tested. People have come to Michigan State to be a servant to those who can use her numerous facilities.

HERE ARE THE FACTS

WKAR broadcasts reach 86% of the state's population . . . Extension service is offered in agriculture and home economics . . . There are enough recorded symphonies at WKAR so that no one symphony could be repeated in a year . . . 4-H clubs and home demonstration agents are sponsored by M.S.C. extension servive . . . And everyone knows that those handsome campus police are our future Michigan State Police . . .

To The Nation . . .

HERE ARE THE FACTS

EVEN the Red Cross uses M.S.C. bulletins . . . Two brigadier generals are numbered among the alumni . . . The output of bulletins is 28 times more than that of former years . . . Three M.S.C. coeds were among the first group of enlisted WACS . . . The Air Corps' training period here lasts five months, one of which is spent in actual flying.

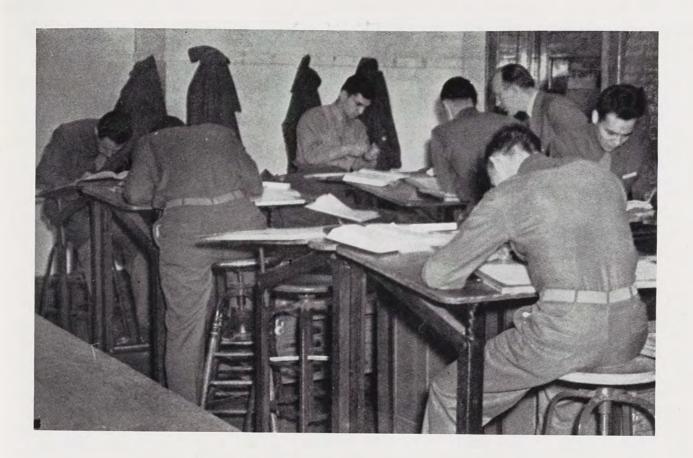

The services of Michigan

State College are indeed farreaching. The Air Corps training program established last spring has done much to advance its usual service to the nation at large. War conditions have increased the demand for bulletins which contain instructions on victory gardens and meals requiring less meat, sugar, and butter.

MSC alumni are daily striving to honor the name of their alma mater;
many have achieved their goals and thus has M.S.C. served its country.

News for the alumni Record is compiled by Miss Gladys Franks in the Alumni office in the Union. Another of the many things state students do for the war effort is rolling bandages for the Red Cross.

A room is maintained in the People's Church for this worthy endeavor.

November of '43 saw the traditional Mardi Gras prove one of the outstanding dances of fall term for the third successive year. Before a background of colorful streamers and black cardboard masks, the AST Yardbirds and the Hep Fliers provided music for those who had come to see the coronation ceremony. Surrounded by her court and attended by two tiny train bearers, Queen Jane Malicki was crowned by Michigan's Secretary of State, Harry Dignan. The money obtained by balloting and the sale of tickets was given to the Spartan Victory Loan Fund.

Other contestants for the crown of Queen formed the traditional queen's court at the Mardi-Gras.

The AST Yardbirds who became a campus tradition, played for the Mardi-Gras.

Janie Malicki, Mardi-Gras queen, is congratulated by her mother and father and sister, Evelyn. Both Janie and Evie are Alpha Gams.

Surrounded by decorations of shadow silhouettes, the rhythmic music of Gene Devine's orchestra set the pace for the annual Blue Key Sweetheart Ball. Blue Key is the national honor fraternity for outstanding junior and senior men.

The crowning of lovely Neva Ackerman as Blue Key Sweetheart came as a climax to the evening's events. Former president of Michigan State, Mr. Robert Shaw, gave the coronation address and presented Miss Ackerman with the traditional Blue Key necklace.

When the last vocal selection was over and the final drum beat heard, every couple agreed that it was one of the year's most successful dances.

Andy Pavlin of the Chicago Tribune who writes "Youth on the Campus," visited Michigan State College in February. He is the proud owner of an Alpha Gamma Delta pledge pin. This newest "Alpha Gam Man" blinds the Englehardt twins with the glitter of his hardware.

IFC really had something there when they invited Earl "Father" Hines to officiate on the bandstand at the IFC-PanHel Ball. Patrons Dr. Leonhardt and Dean Elisabeth Conrad agree that it was a successful dance.

The Senior Ball brought the winter term to a colorful close to the music of Fletcher Henderson and his orchestra.

of Agriculture; the state superintendent of public instruction and the president of the college serve as ex-officio members.

The Board controls and supervises the college and all property belonging to it.

It also has the power to adopt ordinances and regulations not in conflict with state laws, to decide what books shall be used, and to appoint the secretary and the treasurer of the college.

JOHNA. HANNAH

THE enormous responsibility of guiding a college and maintaining its facilities during wartime rests on the capable shoulders of President John A. Hannah, the youngest president ever to govern Michigan State College. He negotiated to have the Army bring its training program to the campus.

President Hannah, who graduated from the college in 1923, is a man well qualified for his position. In 1935 he became secretary of the college and remained in that position until he was made president six years later. He received an honorary degree of doctor of laws from President Alexander G. Ruthven of the University of Michigan, after being the first head of MSC to address a university graduation.

JOHNA. HANNAH

This citation was read in conferring the honorary degree on President Hannah:

"John Alfred Hannah: President of the Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science, whose constructive efforts to advance the range and effectiveness of its work have brought distinction to the institution which he serves. An educator alive to both the immediate problems and the ultimate purposes of teaching and research; an administrator endowed with broad vision, resolute will, and the capacity to achieve."

Elisabeth W. Conrad Dean of Women since 1928 who is invited to, and graciously attends, all formal functions.

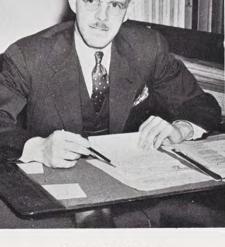

Fred T. MITCHELL

Dean of Men for the past nine years.

Mabel Petersen
Housing supervisor for women; has an interesting collection of what-nots.

GEORGE R. HEATH
Assistant to the Dean of Men and identified with the physics department.

ADMINISTRATION

The administrators are the coordinators, the balancers of the college. They endeavor to maintain a superior teaching and research staff to continue and improve the standards of the college, and to determine the requirements and essentials of a good college curriculum. Their job is to bring together educational ideals and college social life so that the product will indeed be worthy of their constant efforts.

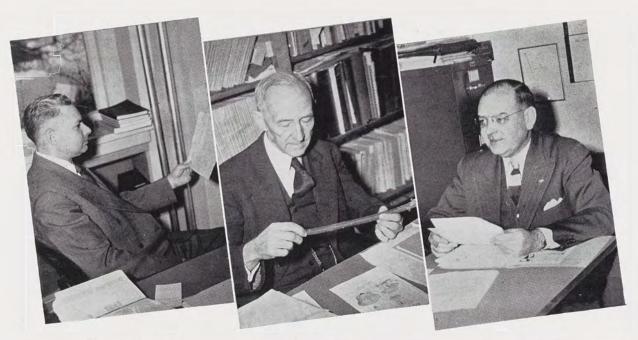

ADMINISTRATION

KARL H. McDonel Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture and camera fiend of the first order.

Charles O. Wilkins
Treasurer and comptroller, who very capably keeps State's budget balanced.

STANLEY E. CROWE Director of summer session, general curriculum, and lecture course head.

ROBERT S. LINTON
Registrar, has hunting as his favorite pastime.

Ernst A. Bessey
Dean of Graduate School and head of the botany department.

GLEN O. STEWART
Alumni Secretary, you'll find his office in the Union annex.

Ernest L. Anthony
Dean of Agriculture Division

From every state in the union

come students eager to benefit from the courses offered in the agricultural division. Michigan State College is recognized as one of the country's foremost agricultural schools, and graduates of this division are well qualified for their chosen profession.

During the spring of 1943 and throughout the summer the campus saw the return of the junior ROTC students. These men were able to live a comparatively normal college life and enter into the various campus activities. They held presidential and chairman positions and made it possible for many men's organizations to function again. So it came about that many of the BMOC's were from the ranks of these returned ROTC men. The ROTC's, however, left at various times during the school year to enter Officer's Candidate School. Consequently, the ceremonious saber no longer glints in the sun during Tuesday afternoon parades but rests in the racks, unused, until the day the ROTC's return to stay.

Hail to the underclassmen who haven't yet experienced that senior sense of confusion, that "what have I learned and what would I do with it anyway?" feeling. They do their share and more toward keeping the campus running.

WITH the approach of spring term these juniors put a little more effort into their literary genius . . . they are preparing themselves for publication positions which the seniors will vacate upon graduation. The Juniors, prospective seniors themselves, will naturally lead campus activities in their next year . . . editing the many and varied publications will be one of their largest assignments. With three years of college life behind them, these ambitious juniors will ably qualify for positions the seniors have so capably held for the past year.

The second year of college is much easier and somewhat more profitable than the first; by then, students have become oriented in the functions and methods of college . . . they have adapted themselves to campus life. Because they have made such strides toward the necessary adjustments, sophomores are relied upon by the freshman. Therefore, members of the sophomore class may be found serving as big sisters, dormitory officers, and freshman orientation leaders. These sophomores have two years ahead in which to maintain their established standing and fulfill their hopes for accomplishment.

Upon their arrival at Michigan State at the beginning of fall term, the freshmen were at a loss to understand the complex processes of Freshman Week and registration. Their confusion was lessened, however, by the help and co-operative understanding of faculty and upperclassmen. It wasn't long before they knew that European history meets in the Hort building and Spanish on the 5th floor of the Home Ec. building. By the end of the year, freshmen could keep pace with any upperclassman and felt like the "old veterans" they had become.

Military

Indicative of the constant rise in the standing of Michigan State College in the eyes of the nation is the establishment on campus of the Army Air Corps, the Army Specialized Training, and the Reserve Officers' Training Corps programs. Herewith are presented the men who add to State's prestige and take with them, when they leave, the best in learning and every wish for continued success.

GROVER B. EGGER,
Col. Inf. U. S. Army
C. O. 3655 S. U., M. S. C.
E. Lansing, Michigan

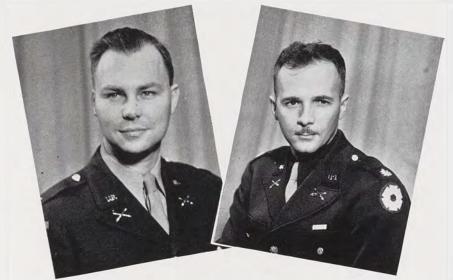

A.S.T. PROGRAM

Col. Egger has had continuous service in the army since 1916, having served in Europe during World War 1 and later with American troops in China. He is a graduate of the Infantry School, Command and General Staff School, and came to Michigan State College from General Staff Duty Sixth Service Command.

Major Speckman was assigned to MSC in 1942, after service at Fort Bragg, N. C. He received the degree of Bachelor of Science from Ohio State University.

Major Thompson is a graduate of Michigan State College, holding the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Civil Engineer. Commissioned after ROTC training at MSC, Major Thompson was assigned to the Military Department in 1940 as a CAC Instructor.

Major Stewart came to MSC in 1941 from the "West Coast" where he saw duty with a CAC barrage balloon battalion. He is a graduate of Oregon State College, holding the degree of Bachelor of Science in Forestry.

James H. Speckman, Maj. FA AUS Hq. Detch. Cmdr.

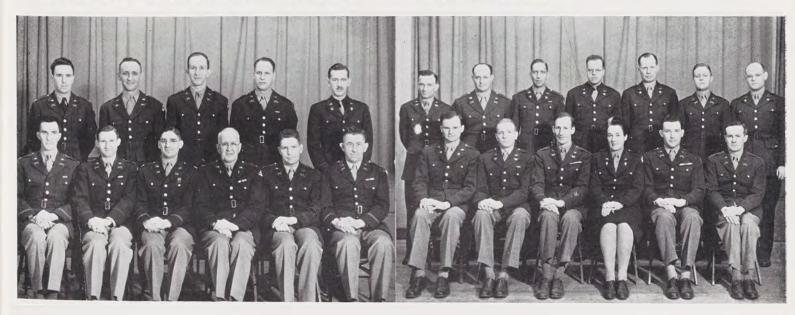

Hugh J. Stewart, Maj. FA AUS Plans and training officer

The Army Specialized Training Program was organized by the War Department in collaboration with civilian educators, in the War Department 18 December 1942.

General George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff, United States Army, in explaining the objective of the ASTP stated: "The Army has been increasingly handicapped by a shortage of men possessing desirable combinations of intelligence, aptitude, education, and training in fields such as medicine, engineering, languages, science, mathematics, and psychology, who are qualified for service as officers of the Army. With the establishment of the minimum Selective Service age of 18, the Army was compelled to assure itself that there would be no interruption in the flow of professionally and technically trained men who have hitherto been provided in regular increments by American colleges and universities."

THE Army Specialized Training men came to State in July of 1943. They lived in barracks in North Hall, Wells Hall, and various fraternity houses. Special classes and professors were obtained for this program, and the terms were subdivided independently of the regular civilian set-up. With the exception of the Veterinarians (who were originally State men under the AST Program) these army students finished their training here in April, 1944 and left for various ports of embarkation. The veterinary students are remaining here until they finish their course.

The ASTP Term was a twelve-week period, number of terms varying according to curricula. The general program was divided into two phases, basic and advanced. The special program included languages and pre-professional and professional veterinary studies.

H O U S E S

THE basic phase was roughly equivalent to the first one and a half years of college. It comprised three twelve-week terms. (These studies, preparatory to advanced instruction in one of several branches of engineering involved basic studies in general engineering.)

The advanced phase opened with courses normally found in the second half of the sophomore year. Trainees in this phase were assigned to studies in a particular branch of engineering ranging from one to four terms, including Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering.

Training in the field of foreign languages and areas was intended to develop the soldier for a wide range of uses in the war effort. Trainees were expected to attain fluency in the language of the area of their anticipated assignment. Languages at Michigan State College included French, Spanish, Italian and German. Other languages were taught at other colleges.

AST Units were organized and administered under the Cadet System. The trainees were organized into Companies and Battalions. Within the Units acting officers and non-commissioned officers served in rotation, under the supervision of regular officers and non-commissioned officers.

Training in Veterinary Medicine is divided into basic and advanced. The preprofessional phase and the professional phase. Upon receipt of his degree as Dr. of Veterinary Medicine, the trainee will be discharged from the AST in order to accept a commission in the Veterinary Corps of the Army of the United States.

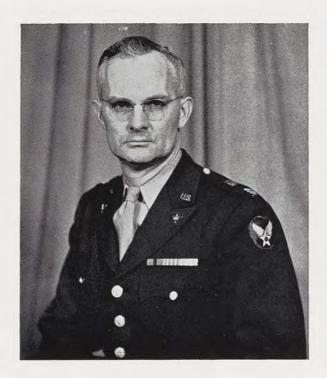

These army men were well received on our campus, filling the need for men caused by the very few civilian men here this year. They not only attended classes at our college, but thoroughly affiliated themselves with the college; working on the various campus publications, working with the other students and faculty on various programs, and really becoming true Spartans. Michigan State College mourned the loss of her army men spring term. While they were here, State and the regular students did everything possible to make these nephews of Uncle Sam happy.

THE AST's receive service from the Lansing Red Cross chapter which, like every Red Cross group, endeavors to give round-the-clock service to the men and women of the armed forces wherever they may be, to link the serviceman and woman with their home communities in a constant two-way flow of service, to represent the American people in their desire to provide human comfort and aid to the armed forces, and to fulfill the charter obligations of the American Red Cross in wartime.

AIR CORPS PERMANENT PARTY

Through the Commanding Officer and his able staff of officers, the Army Air Force enlisted permanent personnel has carried out a full military, academic, and physical training program of the air cadets for the last fifteen months at Michigan State college. They have succeeded in preparing pilots for future service to the United States who will not only be a credit to their country but to the men who have devoted their every minute to training them.

Developing their bodies with the army PT training, airmen sweated six hours a week keeping in form, and also developed their KP sense by weekly floor scrubbing. Another ritual for the "birdmen" was the flag raising each morning. Mason and Abbott Halls, which housed the squadrons will hold many pleasant memories for the groups of airmen who lived there during their training period.

Activities

One of the most valuable opportunities offered to college students at Michigan State is the selection of varied and numerous outside activities.

Every department has something to add in the way of organizations and extra-curricular activities to the college program of student government, social, and general interest groups.

Student Council

THE student government at Michigan State College is grouped under the able leadership of the Student Council. This Council represents the student body in the administration of their own affairs. It directs and controls all student policies, organizations, elections, and activities. It also provides adequate student-faculty relations and meets the common needs of the student body. The Council expresses the opinion of the students in matters of interest to the college.

Situated in a new and well-equipped office in the Union annex which it shares with AWS and CDC, the Student Council has carried out its many plans for the year 1943-44. A large campaign was staged for the Spartan Victory Loan Fund. This drive was established last year and the money that is raised will be used to help students on the campus and to provide for the post-war education of returning students. The Mardi Gras, an annual dance sponsored during fall term by Student Council and backed by all campus organizations, furnished money toward this fund. Every group on campus is asked to contribute from its treasury to swell the fund.

THE large number of soldiers on campus has required some alteration of plans. So that the council would meet the needs and wishes of the students, a suggestion box was placed in the Union to give students a chance to take a more active part in student government. The Council also is responsible for the college calendar which is presented to the student body during winter term.

The Student Council is now busily engaged in making post-war plans, so that it will be able to cope with the new problems which are bound to arise in the near future. The Council is striving to become flexible enough to adapt itself to any forthcoming changes. It has endeavored to restrict all campus activities to a wartime level and minimize such functions. The Student Council is affiliated with the National Student Federation of America.

Student Council is under the capable leadership of Gordon Hueschen, president; Anne Eldridge, vice-president; Helen Muncie, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Tom King, Mr. J. T. Caswell, Dean Elisabeth Conrad, and Dean Fred Mitchell, advisers.

Associated Women Students

Associated Women Students is the strong self-governing body which leads the women students of Michigan State College. Every woman enrolling at MSC is automatically considered a member of the organization and is entitled to attend its bi-monthly meetings held in the Union on Wednesday evenings. Consequently, AWS is active and prominent in the lives of all women on campus. Incoming girls receive an AWS handbook printed by Matrix, the journalism honorary for women, which explains the traditions, customs, functions, and rules governing the campus.

The purpose of AWS is to help establish and maintain high standards of conduct, both social and moral, at Michigan State College; to emphasize the spirit of campus friendship and cooperation; and to increase each girl's capacity for accepting and carrying out responsibility.

The elected representatives of AWS try to attain this purpose by conducting themselves in such a manner that they can be a distinct credit to the school and pattern for all women students.

In addition to its elected officers, the president and vice-president, the board is made up of the presidents of all the women's organizations, representatives from other important organizations and elected members from each class.

JUDICIARY Board, which is subordinate to AWS, enforces, supplements, and revises the rules for State women. AWS also controls the Freshman counselor and orientation systems.

This year, AWS initiated a new system called the "Time Ration Plan" whereby girls were allowed only seven nights away from a college residence and were given stamps to turn in for these nights together with stamps for late permission and late minutes. They were also required to have their lights out at 11:30 and to rise at 7:30. The "Time Ration Plan" was the first system of this kind in any college in the country and its success is of nationwide interest. The plan was highly commended by Kate Smith on her radio program. President Pat Stone spoke over a Chicago radio station during Christmas vacation, explaining the new plan to the whole country.

AWS is active in promoting friendship and high standards and likewise supports campus activities. The Mardi Gras, Spinster Spin, and all campus drives receive the help and co-operation of the Council.

This year's officers are: President, Patricia Stone; vice-president, Lorna Jean Ball; secretary, Kay Guess; treasurer, Barbara Poag; and adviser, Dean Elisabeth Conrad.

Coordinating Defense Council

ONE of the most active and important organizations on campus is the Co-ordinating Defense Council. Organized almost immediately after Pearl Harbor by the war-conscious students at Michigan State College, it has continued to maintain and control the many war agencies on campus. It is entirely an emergency organization designed to take care of any problems arising from the war.

The sale of war bonds and stamps is one of the most vital functions of C.D.C. Defense classes are all under the control of this organization. These classes are well attended and range from bandage rolling to Morse code and airplane spotting. The entertainment of men at army camps and hospitals is also carried out with great success through the action of C.D.C.

A true spirit of democracy is found in the campus defense council because its representatives are selected from every dormitory, house, and organization on campus. The council meets two times a month to unite the defense courses and keep them running smoothly. The adviser and inspiration of the group is Mr. Tom King, head of the Police Administration Department and of the College Placement Bureau. C.D.C. chairman is Vera Gardner and its publicity chairman is Margaret Peterson.

FIRST ROW: Swengel, J.; Dowling, C.; Peters, R.; Peterson, M.; Seifert, S.; Gardner, V.: Anderson, S.; Simon, E.; Greenfield, M.

War Production Board

THE W.P.B., War Planning Board, is the executive body of the Co-ordinating Defense Council. This board formulates all plans and activities for the C.D.C. Although W.P.B. meetings are held separately from C.D.C. meetings, it is an integral part of the latter organization.

The officers of C.D.C. are automatically members of the War Planning Board. The War Activities Board, which is regulated through the control of the W.P.B., sees that the military angle is not overlooked when it comes to social functions. Date bureaus and open houses are held through action of C.D.C. and W.P.B. These enable the soldiers on the campus to become better acquainted with the students. Although this year the male civilian enrollment at Michigan State College has decreased considerably, the enthusiasm and vigor with which these students attack their work has not.

War Planning Board chairman is Sally Seifert; publicity chairman, Margaret Peterson; and chairman of Activities Board, Ruth Peters.

Publications Row is a hubbub of questions and the Wolverine Office has more than its share — but there's always someone with a ready answer 'n a good one to boot. Editor Joy Randall had to spoil the effect of the Wolverine letterheads by changing her name March 5th, much to the delight of one Lt. Len Rowe, Army, Chemical Warfare. During her absence Sui Foo handled the reins in her capacity as assistant editor. Business manager Kay Sprague proved capable of handling the money and subscription end of the book. Susy Averill wore out pencils and telephone wires accumulating copy. It's common knowledge that the Englehardts are identical twins and even now several staff members are a bit hesitant in telling them apart: Dorothy is organizations editor and Doris, classes editor. The Triumvirate — Leon Guide, Abner Salon, and Lou Kaye, AST men — were a definite male asset to the Wolverine staff; and a permanent office fixture was Betty Amos, office manager, who proved to be as essential as a typewriter ribbon.

M.S.C. VETERINARIAN

ONE of the newest publications on campus is the MSC Veterinarian, for it was organized just three years ago in 1941. This paper is classified as a quarterly trade publication and keeps undergraduates in contact with the latest veterinary methods and developments.

The publication is of interest only to persons active in the field of veterinary science since it contains mostly scientific material. Every issue must contain at least one article written by a student, while the remainder of the material is usually written by faculty on the campus.

The size of the Veterinarian has increased from thirty to forty-eight pages since last year. The publication is read in nearly all parts of the world, as exchange copies are sent to all veterinary libraries. Every veterinary army camp in the country, two hundred and seventy-five in all, receives a copy; and every veterinarian in Michigan receives the publication, too.

The energetic, unpaid staff does its working and planning in the Veterinarian office at 134 Vet Clinic. The importance of the MSC Veterinarian at Michigan State is shown by the fact that it is represented on the College Board of Publications.

Board of Publications

YES, there is some order out of the chaos that surges from Publications row! That the frantic activity observed in the basement of the Union Annex is really directed toward achievement is evidenced by the printed pages of the Spartan, State News, and Wolverine. This is accomplished under the guiding hand of the Board of Publications which assembles monthly to settle the immediate problems before the board and to determine the editorial and business policies.

Composing the Board of Publications are the editor, business manager, and faculty advisor of each publication. Dean Kuykendall, Prof. A. A. Applegate, and Dr. C. F. Cairy are the advisers. The Board of Publications and all members of the Spartan, the Wolverine, and the State News staffs sweep the papers off their desks onto the floor for the publications open house, held this year in November. Climax of the Board's activity is the selection of the publication heads for the next year who are introduced at the annual publications banquet held in May.

Board of Publications is under the guidance of Jane Millar, chairman, and Dr. C. F. Cairy, secretary-treasurer.

Matrix

Matrix, honorary journalism fraternity, which honors women journalists in colleges and universities, celebrates its sixth birthday this year. Only women who are journalism majors, hold a position on one of the three State publications, and have a high scholastic standard, can aspire to its membership.

This year Matrix women held important positions on the State News. As in past years, Matrix published the A.W.S. handbook for women students. This year, for the first time, Matrix was the sole sponsor of the annual publications open house, held for the purpose of acquainting the students and faculty with the activities and staffs of the State News, Wolverine, and Spartan. Matrix plans and hopes to affiliate soon with Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism honorary.

Matrix has proved this past year how well she can accomplish her part in a college at war, and will take an even more active part in the affairs of publications row in the future. Its officers are: Neva Ackerman, president; Kay Besemer, vice-president; Peg Middlemiss, secretary; A. A. Applegate, adviser; Roberta Applegate, alumnae adviser.

Theta Alpha Phi

Delta chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics honorary, is each neophyte's goal when he takes part in his first Studio Theater production at State. He spends two years acquiring the points necessary for membership in addition to maintaining an all-college one point. At initiation the new member learns that the organization's chief aim is to promote the interest of the campus in drama and to improve the quality of its productions.

Since its 1924 advent into campus societies, the fraternity has founded Studio Theater, a club enabling freshmen and sophomores not eligible for Theta Alpha membership to acquire points and to further their work and interest in dramatics. The group has charge, also, of the production angle of the all-college term plays. "Claudia" and "Guest in the House" were creditably smooth productions. The organization serves as a professional aid and stimulus for its members after graduation.

Professor C. H. Nickle and Professor D. O. Buell of the speech and dramatics department are the fraternity's chief advisers. President is Gloria Bell; vice-president, Jacqueline Meehan; secretary, Myra Buchholz Dillingham, treasurer, Richard Jones.

Pi Kappa Delta

Speech courses and activities concerned with speech have always been a popular part of the curriculum at Michigan State College. Persons who display special talents in this field are invited to join Pi Kappa Delta, national speech honorary. This organization has been extremely active at MSC since the local chapter was established in 1921.

Among its many worthwhile activities, Pi Kappa Delta sponsors the Student Speakers' Bureau, Intercollegiate Debate, Extempore Speaking, and Oratory. Poetry and prose readings are regulated and maintained by Pi Kappa Delta. The popular Speech Conclave, where interested and talented students gather to display their abilities, is also sponsored by this honorary speech fraternity.

Although many organizations have been forced to curtail their activities this year due to the war, Pi Kappa Delta has been able to remain, as before, an enthusiastic and energetic group. President is Nancy Grayson; vice-president, Virginia Briggs; and secretary-treasurer, Dorothy Benjamin. Mr. Paul Bagwell and Mr. J. D. Menchaffer are the advisers.

Music

Women's Glee Club

THE Women's Glee Club finds enjoyment in music and gives pleasure to others through its well-rewarded efforts. An added list of sixty-one girls to last year's twenty-five makes the largest enrollment in the history of the club. A large percentage of the girls are non-music majors — and that means real enthusiasm. The Glee Club presented a series of fifteen-minute broadcasts over WKAR during December and again from February through May. A new double quartet proved very successful in the various works it presented. The group gave two well-received concerts: a Christmas program in December and a Spring concert.

Dr. William Sur, formerly with the University of Wisconsin, is the new director. The club works along democratic lines, and the girls have chosen all their own songs. Programs presented included the works of Bach, Schumann, Chesnokoff, Respighi, and several modern composers.

The Women's Glee Club owes a vote of thanks to its officers for their able leadership during this past year. President is Dorothy Horn; vice-president, Ava Jean Humphrey; secretary-treasurer, Rena Cole; and publicity chairman, Inez MacAdams.

Orchestra

Music has always played an important part in the lives of MSC students. Some of the finest music heard by the undergraduates has been played by the MSC Symphony Orchestra, under the skillful direction of Professor Alexander Schuster. The orchestra was organized in 1929, and since then its membership has increased steadily. It has grown in popularity among students and faculty whose interest is not academic but merely inspired by love of fine music. This past year the orchestra has been active in playing for Farmers' Week and Collegium Musicum. At Christmas a joint concert was given with the Women's Glee Club. The annual spring concert will be given again this year.

Membership in the orchestra is not limited, for any student of music may join. Through the study and practice of the works of great composers, the MSC Symphony Orchestra has made itself one of the truly worthwhile organizations on campus. Marjory McLain is president; Dick Dean, vice-president; and Florence

Lazarski, secretary-treasurer.

Band

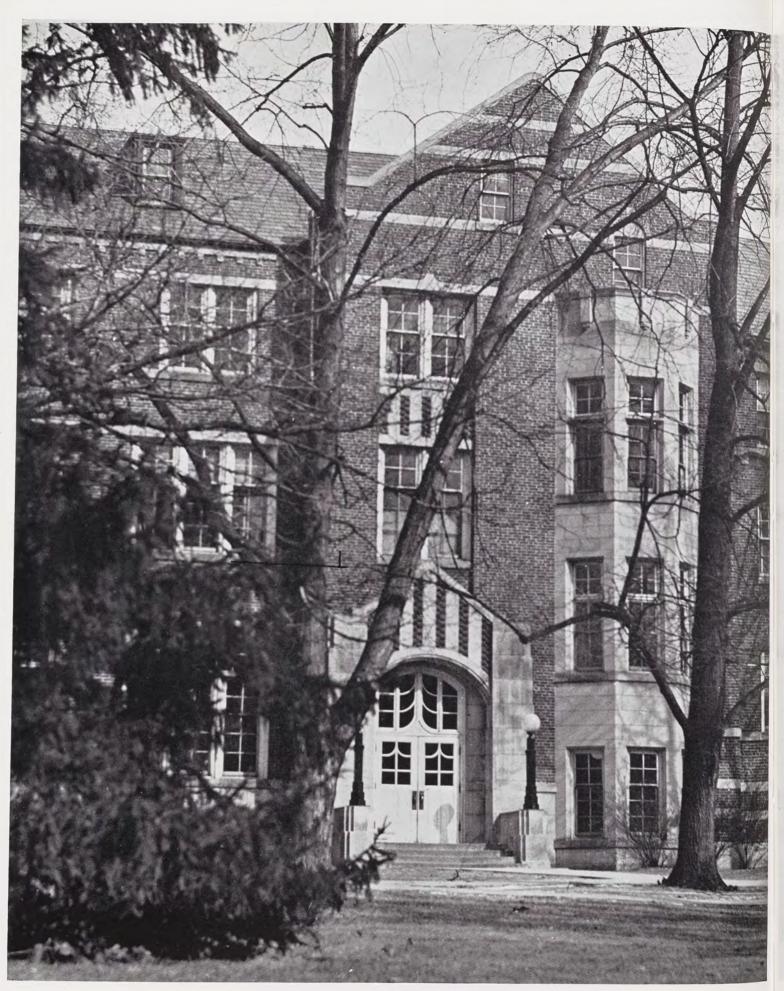

THE Michigan State College band, organized as a concert band for the duration, plays at all the important college functions during the year. Concerts are played each term and performances are given at athletic events, Farmers' Week meetings, and convocations.

This year, for the first time in its history, girls are playing in the band and compose approximately one-quarter of the band's forty members.

The band is again under the direction of Mr. Leonard Falcone, who returned to the campus last fall. Mr. Falcone spent a year on leave of absence and subsequently served nine months in the Army where he organized bands for the Air Corps.

President of the band is John J. W. Gray; vice-president, David F. Cole; secretary-treasurer, Albert J. Saur; and manager, John F. Samuelson.

make social contacts and learn to acquire a sense of responsibility. This development often leads to their becoming earnest members of worthwhile honoraries.

Phi Kappa Phi

Twice a year seniors who have maintained a high scholastic rank during their four years in college, with a two point average or better, are elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary. Both men and women from any division are eligible, but usually only eight per cent of the graduating class make the grade. Michigan State's chapter was founded in 1897. Since then the organization has annually awarded a fifty dollar scholarship to the sophomore with the highest all college point average. Phi Kappa Phi also presents, each year, three plaques to schools of a rating of "A" and "B" and three of "C" and "D" combined. These plaques are presented to the high schools from which the three highest ranking freshmen come.

This year's officers are: President, Miss Irma Gross; vice-president, Dr. Anders Orbeck; secretary, Miss Katherine M. Hart; treasurer, Mr. Clive E. Russell; and journal correspondent, Dr. Claude M. Newlin.

Union Board

Union Memorial Building is the center of college activity and is managed by the Union Board. It acts as a coordinating administrative body in the affairs of the students and functions on their behalf.

For the first time in its career, Union Board is headed by a woman, capable Betty Simpson. Miss Simpson and the Board have had special difficulty in the planning of student entertainment because of restrictions placed upon the military units of the campus. Despite this, Union Board has scored a hit by furnishing plenty of entertainment for the students and army alike. Mardi Gras queen candidates were introduced to the student body at one of the numerous tea dances held on Saturday afternoons from 3 to 5 in the Union Ballroom. If other organizations failed to provide some means of entertainment over the weekends, Union Board could be counted upon to sponsor a Saturday night dance. The group keeps a watch on the whole Union building to see that students don't misuse the facilities. Bridge tournaments and various other entertainments were planned for and by the students.

This year's officers are: President, Betty Simpson; vice-president, Don Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Lois Hotte; advisers, Emory Foster, Mrs. Leone Warren.

Spartan Women's League

SPARTAN Women's League is an organization whose purpose is to create a stronger bond of friendship among the college women and to develop campus leadership. The league is composed of six different interest groups: Art, drama, personality, social, publicity, and radio. Each group has a leader who represents her group at the weekly board meetings. During the past year, members of the organization worked in the defense office as well as on committees for Women's Day activities and the Mardi Gras. Plans for the Transfer Tea, which featured a style show, the Vocational Information Conference, and radio programs were carried out successfully. The girls also worked on the Spinster Spin.

Because of the influx of service men on campus, SWL also planned social hours for service men and dancing lessons were given Friday evenings for air cadets. In place of the all-college Variety Show, the group sponsored the College Carrousel.

President of SWL is Meribah Rowlette who has as her cabinet: Kitty Mitchell, vice-president; Mary Ellen Haack, secretary; and Vera Bleil, treasurer. Miss Mabel Petersen and Miss Dorothy Greey act as faculty advisers for the organization.

Tower Guard

To work together for the good of the college and the women students; to further the aims of aspiring and progressive womanhood through the upholding of high standards of character, scholarship, leadership and service; and to aid and support all worthy campus activities — this is the purpose of Tower Guard, women's sophomore honorary. The members are chosen from the freshman class and are tapped at the May Morning Sing. They meet in Beaumont Tower and are the only persons entitled to this distinction.

Tower Guard members undertake a wide variety of activities and services. Freshman week finds them engaged in welcoming freshmen at dormitories, maintaining information booths, and helping with registration. Helping to sponsor the Spinster Spin, entertaining off-campus freshmen and transfers at an informal party, and acting as hostesses at the all-college dance are highlights of their activities.

Mortar Board

BLUE KEY, national honorary society for junior and senior men, has undergone many changes due to war, especially in its state of officers. At the head of the organization for fall term were president Roger Holmstrom, Lou Brand, vice-president; Bob Cardinell, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Edgell, corresponding secretary. When the ROTC's were sent to Officers' Candidate Schools, it was necessary to elect a new executive staff who will officiate next year and for the remainder of this one.

Main undertaking of the year was the yearly project. Continuing on under the supervision of Mr. G. R. Heath, faculty adviser, a drive was conducted for used textbooks to be sent to prisoners of war in Europe, co-ordinating townspeople, faculty, and students. The printing of a permanent scroll for the explanation of the Michigan State College Coat of Arms displayed in the Union Building was also undertaken.

The outstanding eligible junior and senior men were tapped at the Annual Blue Key Sweetheart Ball, January 22. With most of the 14 members around for fall term of 1944 Blue Key hopes to keep its chapter active during the war.

Blue Key

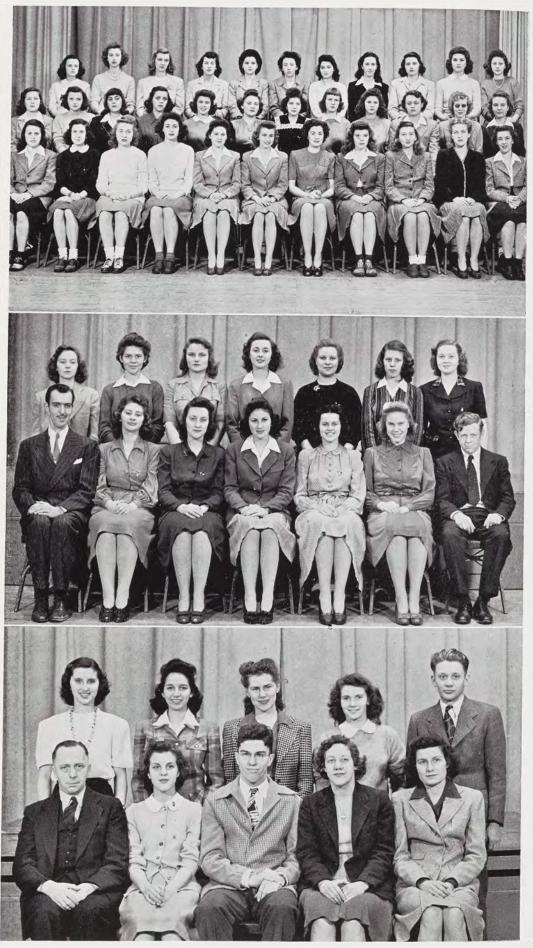

If you happen to run into a girl wearing a small black and gold pin in the shape of a Mortar Board, you know she is one of the outstanding senior women on campus. She has been chosen for this honor, membership in Mortar Board, because of the service she has rendered, because of her high scholarship, and because of leadership she has shown. Michigan State's organization is a chapter of the well known national honorary society for senior women and was established at the college in 1933. It aims to stimulate college unity, promote the spirit of fairness and fellowship among women, encourage leadership, and further high standards of scholarship among the student body.

New members take the oath each year at the annual May Day tapping at Beaumont Tower and are recognized at Lantern Night in June. Mortar Board sponsored the All-college Women's Day Convocation fall term and the marriage course in the spring. It also brings the different college organizations together to back important enterprises.

The officers are: Roberta Taylor, president; Ida Mihay, vice-president; Grace Sidoti, secretary; Marjorie Jehle, treasurer; and advisers, Mrs. Leone Warren and Mrs. O'Neal Mason.

La Cofradia

EACH year La Cofradia, the local Spanish honorary, elects its members from students who have studied the Spanish language for two years or more, maintaining a B average or better, and who have shown interest outside the regular course of study. All meetings are conducted in Spanish; not a word of English may be spoken after the meeting begins.

The purpose behind La Cofradia's organization was to promote better Pan-American relations and to encourage a more active interest in the study of the Spanish language. Both of these purposes appear to be well carried out as is evident from the number of South American young people who have become either honorary or active members of the organization. This year La Cofradia held its annual banquet to initiate new members, at which the South American countries were well represented.

Alice Knott is proving herself an efficient president this year and is well supported by vice-president Connie Campbell, secretary Shirley Springer; and treasurer

Ginnie Lyon.

Beta Alpha Sigma

The answer to every art student's dream is Beta Alpha Sigma, local art, landscapearchitecture, and floriculture honorary. Membership is limited to majors in these three fields. In addition, membership is based on scholarship, leadership, and accomplishment in the arts. Tapping takes place in the fall and spring terms. The organization, which has been on campus for the past ten years, provides direction and leadership among students of the allied arts in addition to furthering art appreciation.

The group's annual Art Mart, long a campus tradition, was held this year with contributions by student artists. Paintings, industrial art models, floral arrangements, and ceramics were exhibited. With a program keyed to present wartime activity, the fraternity has assisted in civilian defense, particularly through serving the civilian defense poster committee. Another outstanding service furthering local appreciation has been the exhibits in the campus art gallery.

Charles Pollock is the group's faculty adviser; Carol Edmondson, president; Jacqueline Sharkoff, recording secretary; Enid Cheeseman, corresponding secretary; and Jacqueline Scott, treasurer.

Tau Sigma

The scholastic goal of all liberal arts and applied science students is Tau Sigma, honorary society. Organized in 1923, the fraternity proposes to promote better understanding between the arts and sciences. Each year one student in liberal arts and one in applied science who is credited with the highest scholastic standing for his freshman year is awarded a plaque bearing the symbols of the organization: the lamp of learning and the open book of knowledge.

The students who maintain the highest scholastic average in each of these two divisions during each year are chosen for membership in the honorary fraternity for their junior year. Dean R. C. Huston, of the applied science division, and Mr. John De Haan, of the psychology department, are the faculty advisers of Tau Sigma. Promoting and advancing the ideals of the organization are its faithful and hardworking officers under the leadership of Warren Brandt, president; Evelyn Tussing, vice-president; Gloria Bishop, secretary; and Pat Jones, treasurer.

Five Year Nurses

THE Five Year Nurses training program is a course offered by the Home Economics Department here at MSC and affiliated with the Sparrow Hospital. The training itself is identical with that which would be given at any hospital; but by this method one has all the added benefits that go hand in hand with campus life. The graduated students receive a Bachelor of Science degree as well as a registered nurse's certificate.

The girls enrolled in this department function not only as an educational group but also as a social group due to their close association in work and study. While at the hospital the girls are under the supervision of Director of Nurses, Faye Harden; on campus Dr. Hawkes of the Home Economics Department has charge of them. This year MSC is proud to send forth more young women to help in the world's battle for life.

Home Economics Club

THE Home Economics Club provides a closer relationship between the student members of the home economics division. All students in the Home Economics division are associate members but only those who pay the required dues are counted among the active members.

This year emphasis is being placed on activities that will help in winning the war. The catering service was organized last spring term; this service assists the women of Lansing and East Lansing who need help with dinners, weddings, and other special occasions. Another group of girls are taking care of children for mothers. Other interests include Red Cross work and Farmers' Week luncheons. Freshmen Board did its part by maintaining a Snack Counter in the Home Ec. building which sold cider and doughnuts and, together with the Sophomore Board, gave parties for the short-courses boys and freshman girls. Student-faculty teas are given once a month. Radio talks, which deal with home economics subjects, are presented every other Saturday.

This year's officers are: President, Jean Oviatt; vice-president, Marjorie Graff; secretary, Barbara Christiancy, treasurer, Janet Keasey, adviser, Miss Jeanette Lee.

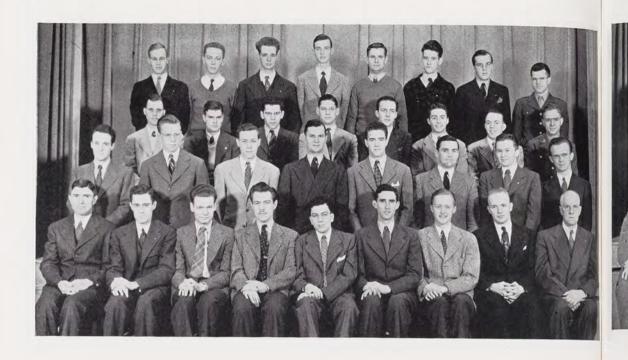

Omicron Nu

To further student-faculty relations is the ultimate purpose and function of Omicron Nu, the national Home Economics honorary. The members have numerous outside activities in addition to promoting scholarship, leadership, and research. Each spring term they present a tea for all home economics students having a B average or above. At this time the Snyder scholarship cup is presented to the sophomore woman who has done the most outstanding work in home economics and who has had the highest marks during her freshman year.

Ella Richards, founder of the Home Economics course, is honored every fall term at a luncheon given by the members of MSC's Alpha chapter of Omicron Nu, and a tea for the entire department is given later in the day to further commemorate Miss Richard's work. Other activities of the club include the sale of aprons to home ec. students here on campus and the maintenance of a bulletin board featuring the activities, honor rolls, and "Who's Who" in the Home Economics Division.

This year's officers are Alice VanAken, president; Agnes Mae Hough, first vice-president; Evelyn Graham, second vice-president; Anita Dilley, secretary; Jeanette Yoss, treasurer; and Miss Helen Baeder, adviser.

SINCE the field of engineering covers many divisions, it is impossible to have one central association for all engineering students. Therefore, the field of engineering is divided into four main groups. The ASME, or American Society of Mechanical Engineers, enables students in that field to become better acquainted. Men actively engaged in mechanical engineering are interviewed and asked to speak at the regular meetings. In this way members are kept up-to-date on theories and practices in the field of mechanical engineering.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers, AIEE, was established in 1918 and is still active in promoting friendly relationships between the members of the campus chapter and the members of the national organization.

The fourth division is for students in the field of civil engineering. The local chapter of the ASCE was founded in 1924. The purpose of the group is to keep members of the society posted on recent civil engineering problems.

Tau Beta Pi

TAU BETA PI is a national engineering honorary for those "who have conferred honor upon their Alma Mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates in engineering, or by their attainments as alumni in the field of engineering to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges of America." Candidates for membership are judged on the basis of scholastic achievement and ability. The purpose of the honorary is to promote necessary high scholarship among the engineers on campus and increase their interest in the engineering fields.

Regardless of reduced membership, the Michigan State chapter continues normal operation. Three men were pledged summer term and six were pledged at the traditional fall term initiation banquet.

Its efficient and capable officers are: Wilfred Bennett, president; Morse Bettison, vice-president; Jack Mitzeleld, recording secretary, Bruce Wangen, corresponding secretary; B. L. Sweet, treasurer; with H. B. Dirks, P. DeKoning, M. M. Cory, and C. H. Pesterfield as advisers.

Engineering Council

Engineering Council. The purpose of this organization is to secure united action on the part of all branches of the engineering division. It serves as a clearing house for projects and exhibits concerned with engineering. The function of the group, however, embraces social as well as academic activities. All the details of the popular Engineers' Ball are handled by committees formed under the auspices of the Engineering Council.

The council maintains a broadminded and democratic view because its members are representatives from all classes and fields of engineering. For example, two representatives each are chosen from the sophomore and junior classes, several representatives from Tau Beta Phi and Phi Lambda Tau, honorary engineering fraternities, are also on the council, and the representative to the Student Council is automatically elected to the Engineering Council. Through the expert help of Dean Dirks and Professor Kinney, the Engineering Council is an important and influential organization at Michigan State College. President is Thomas Stein; vice-president, Jack Peyton, secretary, Roy Smollet; and treasurer, Lester Shelden.

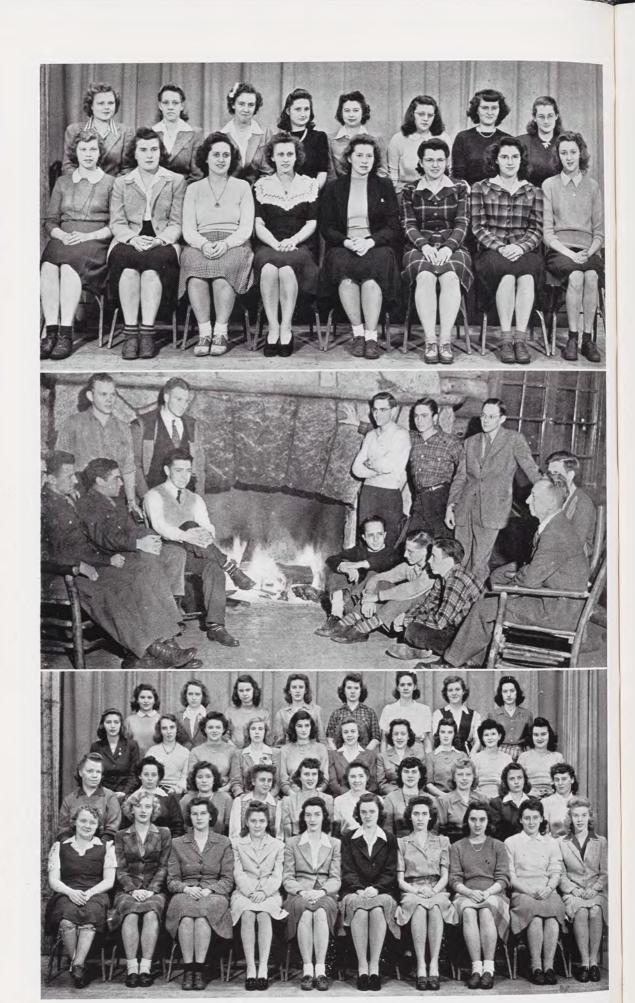

Phi Lambda Tau

PHI LAMBDA TAU, local engineering honorary fraternity, has had a most interesting war history. Through a stroke of luck the organization was temporarily able to continue its activities in the year 1943-44. This stroke of luck was the return of the junior ROTC's; for, among the full seventeen members of Phi Lambda Tau, there were numbered thirteen ROTC students. With this small, compact, and interested group Phi Lambda Tau undertook its usual constructive program, for the group stresses service and activity rather than scholarship. They reorganized and laid plans for reactivation after the war when new members will be admitted. At this time, all of the present members have either graduated or left Michigan State College to serve their country. Consequently, no meetings are being held and the group is inactive for the time being.

Four - H (lub

THE 4-H Club at Michigan State, an affiliate of the International 4-H Club, is both social and educational. Meeting on alternate Thursday evenings in the Agricultural Hall, the club provides movies, lectures, and discussions on timely and appropriate topics. A number of the programs are provided by the State 4-H Club. Its primary purpose is to provide social activities for all former high school 4-H Club members now enrolled in college, and to encourage them to provide leadership for 4-H Clubs throughout the summer. Both short course and full time students are eligible to become members. Throughout the year, numerous parties and dances are sponsored.

In co-operation with the 4-H branch of the Agricultural Department, the club takes charge of one radio program each term over WKAR. In February, during Farmers' Week, the club renders its valuable services. Because of the war, at the outset of fall term the organization had a membership of only twelve people; four-teen new members, however, have boosted the roster. Its officers are: Sophie Bimba, president; Ruth Collar, vice-president; Mildred Michaud, secretary; Bethel Taylor, treasurer; and Mr. M. H. Avery, adviser.

Forestry Club

LIKE other student organizations, the Forestry Club has had to curtail its activities. ROTC transfers and the draft have removed some of the most active foresters; now less than fifteen men remain of the old Forestery Club. Under President Douglas Bland, now in OCS at the field artillery base at Fort Sill, and Vice-President Bill Baumgart, the club functioned during fall term with much of its old-time vigor. Meetings were held at the forestry cabin every two weeks, featuring movies and talks by members of the college staff, the Michigan Department of Conservation, and a former MSC forester who returned from the rubber plantation in Liberia. Two "shindigs" were held at the cabin — the music supplied by the club's juke box. One encyclopedic issue of Pine Needles, the club organ, was published.

With less than half of its fall term membership remaining, only regular meetings were held by the club during the winter term. Vice-president Bill Baumgart continued as acting president, Keith Hudson as secretary-treasurer, and Craig Carpenter and Neuman Gordon as rangers. Dr. T. D. Stevens acts as the club's adviser.

Associated Medical Biology Students

THE Associated Medical Biology students (more familiarly known to us as the Med Bios) are fast gaining prominence on the campus as the call for laboratory technicians is becoming more and more urgent; the demand is now greater than the supply. They are needed at the fighting front and in our laboratories at home.

The organization, led by its capable officers Mary Ellen Stuck, president; Mary Clippenger, vice-president; Vera Bleil, secretary; Sue Boyce, treasurer; and adviser, Dr. H. J. Stafseth, is striving to promote the professional and social interests of the medical biology students.

Representatives from AMBS are included on the Veterinary Council which consists of members from all the organizations in that division. Therefore it takes an active part in all activities planned by that council. At the present time the Med Bios' organization is only local. However, formation of a national sorority to unite all such local organizations is being planned with the ultimate goal of fellowship among the organizations of the colleges offering medical biology study for the profession.

Sigma Epsilon

SIGMA EPSILON is one of the fraternal service organizations on the Michgan State Campus created to recognize creditable scholastic attainment by those who are following the college's business and economic training. The group's function and purpose is threefold: first, to provide a means for its elected members, who are students in business and economics, to maintain friendly contacts with each other; second, to offer students discussions of economic problems, political developments, and current events; and third, to bring to the campus representative speakers from the business and professional world.

Elected students must possess an all-college average of 1.5 with a 1.75 in economics. Meetings, which are held monthly, are both varied and interesting. They include discussions and informal talks by business and professional men and faculty members of Michigan State College. These talks offer an opportunity for members to become better acquainted with their field.

This year's officers are: President, Leslie Davis; vice-president, Anne Eldridge; secretary-treasurer, Robert Freeman; and adviser, C. S. Dunford.

Delta Gamma Mu

ELEVEN girls on the Michigan State campus belong to Delta Gamma Mu, national women's fencing society, and proudly wear the cherished crimson shield bordered with gold and with a gold foil running diagonally through it. In its five years here, Delta Gamma Mu has rapidy broadened its scope of activities, promoting interest in fencing through instruction and raising of ideals of sportsmanship.

The original plan of an annual national fencing convention has been replaced in the war picture by intercollegiate meets on campus. It sponsors an all-college fencing tournament yearly, thereby encouraging competition. Delta Gamma Mu cooperates with the men's organization in setting up a standard of fencing excellence. Membership is limited to undergraduate women who have a scholastic average of at least a one-point, and have passed the required standard of fencing skill.

The organization is directed by Pat Johnson, president; Pat Hathaway, vice-president; Beatrice Luce, pledge trainer; Doris Roy, treasurer; Miss Bishop, faculty adviser.

Pi Alpha

Pr Alpha is the local organization for students majoring in Sociology and for those interested in the problems of society. The purpose of Pi Alpha is to provide a medium for the expression of student opinion, to promote activities, to further student-faculty relations, to provide speakers on subjects of interest and value, and sponsor any other activities of interest to the group. One of the distinguished speakers they had this year was Professor Shao Chang Lee whose topic dealt with China and its problems. Mr. Russell White, president of the Olds local of U.A.W. C.I.O., talked on organized labor. Mr. French, a member of the Governor's investigation committee on juvenile delinquency, led a profitable discussion. These group discussions often deal with post-war development. Dr. Luis-Alberto Sanchez spoke on internal and external trends of the Latin American Countries.

The officers of Pi Alpha are: Mary Eleanor Ritenour, president; Dorothy Von Dette, vice-president; Kathleen Bliss, secretary; Cordelia Morrison, treasurer; Jennie Howard, program chairman; Betty Boatman, membership chairman; Roberta Cole, publicity chairman. Dr. Hoffer of the Sociology department is their able adviser.

A. V.M.A.

MICHIGAN State college student chapter of the American Medical Association was organized in 1927. The club has three main functional purposes: first, stimulating interest in the field of veterinary science and promoting a friendly relationship among its members; second, the sponsoring of the Medical and Veterinary Ball during winter term; and last, publishing the MSC Veterinary with its various articles on up-to-date veterinary practices and research work of the students, faculty, and alumni.

Well-qualified speakers and many kinds of entertainment are presented throughout the year at organized meetings which are held every two weeks. The softball and football teams have competed with various campus organizations. Most of the veterinarian students have gone G.I. and are serving in the United States Army Veterinary Corps while completing their veterinary degree at Michigan State. The rest of the students will take their place on the home front.

President for the year was Pvt. Clark Waterfall; Pvt. Junior Drudge, vice-president; Peter Buth, secretary; Pvt. Ben Mauck, treasurer; Dave Sullivan, program chairman; and adviser, Dr. H. J. Stafseth.

Alpha Psi

ALPHA Psi, national veterinary honor society, offers membership each year to veterinary students in the upper ten per cent of their class as well as to one faculty member who has done outstanding work in the veterinary field. The Iota chapter was founded at Michigan State College in 1914 by nine members who were eager to promote scholarship and fellowship among those enrolled in the division of Veterinary Science.

During the first and third terms the new members are selected and are introduced to the purposes and aims of the organization at the initiation banquet. The incoming members must, at this banquet, give a short speech on a certain aspect of veterinary medicine. Scientific talks, motion pictures dealing with the lives and work of leading men in the field, and talks on the practical aspects of the profession are subjects of interest at the regular meetings of the society.

Its capable officers are: Donald Krushak, president; Jeness Eastman, vice-president; Jack McClain, corresponding secretary; Sherman Curell, recording secretary;

Elementary Education Club

THE Elementary Education Club endeavors to promote interest and strengthen the newly organized Elementary Education department. The club was organized last spring and is open only to the members of this division. Although still pioneering, the enrollment in the club has more than doubled during the past year.

On Senior Day last spring, the members of the club worked with the Elementary Education division and invited girls from all over the state to visit Michigan State College. The members showed them around the campus and put on a splendid program for them. The purpose was to acquaint everyone with M.S.C.'s new and growing department. The meetings, held every other week, consist of business, social activities, and guest speakers. One of the many aims of the club is to be represented in women's politics on the campus.

The advisers are Miss Alma Goetsch, Dr. Cornelia Tomes, and Dr. A. J. Huggett. The officers are Mary Helen Driver, president; Mary Jane Mc Call, vice-president; Martha More, secretary; and Alice Wilkins, treasurer.

Pi Mu Epsilon

"Nor to make mathematics easier but to make mathematics more interesting" could be termed the motto of Pi Mu Epsilon, national mathematics honorary.

Pi Mu Epsilon strives to promote mathematical scholarship and interest among the students. Of course, the members hasten to tell you, the fraternity doesn't devote all its time to figuring out geometric equations. Each year it holds several picnics and new members are initiated at the annual banquet winter term.

The capable officers of the organization are: Anne Mandenberg, president; Albert Saur, vice-president; Armonia Sarasqueta, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Wilbur Mitchell, faculty adviser.

The Alpha chapter at Michigan State College is the only one of its kind in this state. Meetings are held twice a month at which time mathematical subjects of interest to the student and faculty members are discussed.

Sigma Chi Gamma

When Sigma Chi Gamma was organized, a need was felt for closer social and academic cooperation among women chemistry students of Michigan State College. The organization was founded here two years ago; and although still quite young, it has developed three purposes which it strives to fulfill, namely: to band together women chemistry majors for mutual advancement in academic and professional life, to promote interest in chemistry among women students, and to foster a closer spirit of friendship and cooperation among these women. Outside speakers, discussions, and social events help to accomplish these purposes.

All women chemistry majors with at least 15 credits in this subject are eligible for membership. Since chemistry is such a large and varied science and is growing so rapidly as a field for women, this organization has many branches of interest.

The organization owes much of the credit for its smooth running order and interesting program for the year to its efficient officers: Pat Jones, president; Mari-Lou Larsen, vice-president; Fannie Henderson, secretary-treasurer; Naomi Kaiser, corresponding secretary; and Marjorie Jehle, historian.

Newman Club

CATHOLIC students and servicemen automatically become members of the Newman Club upon entering MSC. The purpose and function of this club is to deepen the spiritual and enrich the temporal lives of the members through a balanced program of religious, educational, and social activities. These varied activities include communion breakfasts, discussion meetings, hikes, and dances.

The Club was founded in the St. Thomas Aquinas Parish in 1934 and has facilitated the development of the St. Thomas Aquinas Church through many unified activities. Recently the club's program has been adapted to include the needs of the large number of Catholic servicemen. Father Jerome MacEachin is the new club chaplain, succeeding Father Winters. The Newman Club at Michigan State College is a member of the International Federation of Newman Clubs. As such, the organization plans a dedication ceremony each December 3 in honor of Mary Immaculate, patroness of the United States.

Heading the organization are Charlotte Krippene, president; Beth Lonergan, vice-president; Ruth Peters, recording secretary; Mary Daly, corresponding secretary; Geraldine Daly, treasurer; Dr. T. A. McGuire and Mr. Daniel Sheehan, advisers.

Lutheran Student Club

LUTHERAN Student Club is an organization to stimulate and sustain students in using the Bible, in prayer, and in Church attendance. It is designed to help the Lutheran students on campus to develop a healthy social life, strong Christian friendships, and to make them conscious of the need of Christ in facing modern life.

A flexible and interesting program is maintained throughout the year, consisting of music, short devotionals, discussions of vital and interesting topics, and frequent parties. One of the important accomplishments is the organization of a strong Lutheran Student Congregation, unique in that it is the only such congregation in America where students hold all the elective offices. At present, students are raising $50,000 for a Student Chapel and Parish Hall.

The congregation welcomes all students to the 10 o'clock Bible Study and to the 10:30 worship service which are held in the State theater "for the duration." Milton Hagelberg is president and is assisted by vice-president, Margaret Harths; secretary, Corinne Knuth; treasurer, Marcia Griffen; and advisers, Prof. B. T.

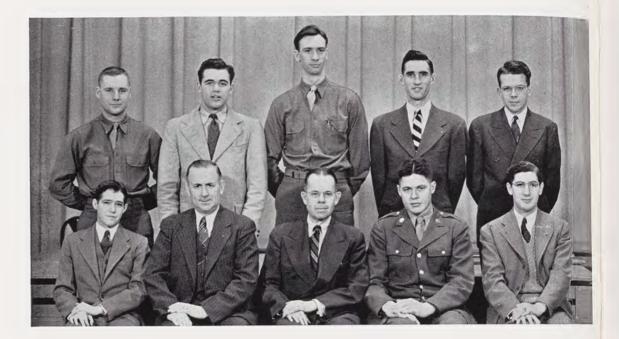

Ostenson and Prof. G. W. Radimersky.

Christian Science Club

The Christian Science Organization has been established to further the progress of the Christian Science movement. Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science, made provisions for colleges and universities to form organizations, under Article XXIII, Section 8, of the Manual of the Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. These groups may be established when there are a sufficient number of students of Christian Science to charter and organize them. Membership is extended to all students and faculty upon approval of the organization's board of directors. The meetings are held in accordance with the Manual of the Mother Church, and are the same as the Wednesday evening meetings held in Christian Science Churches all over the world. All these meetings are open to the public. During the year, a lecture is given on the campus by an authorized Christian Science lecturer.

The officers, who are required to be members of the Mother Church, are: President, Shirley Reckard; vice-president, Jo Ann London; and secretary-treasurer, Margery Hoffmaster.

Canterbury Club

CANTERBURY CLUB, for Episcopal Students at Michigan State College, was the first chapter in Michigan associated with the International Canterbury Foundation.

A small group of students then known as the Episcopal Student Group met in the Union with the club Chaplain, C. W. Brickman. When the group increased greatly in membership, Canterbury House was provided for the students as a home for fellowship, worship, and study. The Brotherhood of Saint Andrew and the Altar Guild, as well as other organizations, are opportunities for greater activity. In the Chapel of Christ the King, services are held every Sunday morning.

Canterbury Auxiliary is a very willing aid in providing for the house. The group meets regularly for prayer, project, and pleasure under the leadership of Mrs. H. C. Cunningham every Sunday evening at the house.

Hillel Extension

HILLEL is a member of the national B'nai B'rith Hillel family. To bring social, cultural, and religious activities to the Jewish students at Michigan State College, Hillel has gone all out in providing various types of social fun, lectures, and religious services. In the past the main position of Hillel's activities has been comprised of social activities for soldiers. They have sponsored dances, radio parties, hayrides, and informal get-togethers. Another activity has been a series of round table discussions on current books, political subjects, and current events. Lately Hillel has taken on a new variety of activities, one of which is bringing the full meaning of Zionism to Jewish students. Plans for this year included the annual award banquet for the purpose of presenting awards to the students for meritorious services to Hillel during their college career.

Their adviser is Dean Bessey and local counsellor is Rabbi A. B. Labowitz. The officers are Albert Chafets, president; Shirley Horowitz, vice-president; Elaine Resnick, recording secretary; Adia Winkelman, corresponding secretary; and Harold Milinsky, treasurer.

Varsity Club

The Michigan State College Varsity Club was organized by a group of letter winners in 1914 and is composed of members elected from the junior and senior major letter winners, which includes the managers and cheerleaders. The object of the organization is to promote a high standard of athletics and create fellowship among the varsity athletes recognizing service with membership throughout the organization. The organization was placed on an inactive basis at the final meeting of the 1942-1943 college year. The business affairs were delegated to three trustees for the duration or until such time as there was a membership large enough to permit resumption of normal club business. The three trustees appointed were L. L. Frimodig, the club adviser; Jack Heppinstall and Warren Burtt. The club invested the greater part of its funds in War Bonds.

When college opened in the fall of 1943 and the Junior R.O.T.C. men came back to the campus, there was a nucleus of members and also some additional men qualified for membership. Several meetings were held and the new candidates were initiated into the club. At one time there were seventeen members on the campus, but the spring term found only four members. The club did not elect officers and the meetings were of an informal nature. With the resumption of athletics next year it is hoped that the Varsity Club can return to its place among the honoraries on the campus.

Student Christian Union

STUDENT Christian Union is an interdenominational co-ed college group which welcomes into its program all interested students. Its Sunday evening program at the Peoples Church consists of an informal group meeting in the church parlors followed by a supper planned by the students, with fellowship, songs and musical numbers. The evening is terminated by a vesper hour in the church sanctuary where guests from campus, community, and out-of-state speak on subjects of the day.

The group is very well directed by John W. Price, Director of Men Students of the church and Miss Emma C. Sater, Director of Women Students. Chairman is Ruth Kistler; secretary, Marie Stone; and treasurer, Floyd Harwood.

Student Club is also part of the college student program at Peoples Church. It is a co-ed social and recreational group whose purpose it is to provide creative, varied, democratic, and inexpensive leisure for all interested students. The group's activities include bicycle hikes, swimming, parties, picnics, sleigh and hayrides, skating parties, dancing, and group recreational games. Chairman is Florence Philp; treasurer, Carolyn Tracy; and secretary, Irene Kraski.

Y. W.C.A.

Y.W.C.A. has as its purpose the ideal of giving all college women an opportunity to make firm, lasting, and varied friendships through recreation and constructive discussion. It also gives women a sense of belonging to an ever-active organization which holds large individual small group meetings every week. Y.W.C.A. sponsored monthly visits to faculty homes and musical programs featuring talent of members. A series of discussions on post-war problems pertaining especially to women was conducted in panel or small group discussion form.

For the first time in its history, Y.W.C.A. held a joint meeting with S.W.L. that proved very successful. Program planning was carried on by the cabinet with the help of Miss Sater, secretary, and the Advisory Board. Two noteworthy speakers were sponsored. Dr. Tomes spoke to the organization on "The Future of Education," and Mrs. Lucia Nesom, member of State's speech department, gave an hour's selected readings.

President of Y.W.C.A. is Jean Barnum; Doris Frank, vice-president; Evelyn Tussing, secretary; and Sue Boyce, treasurer.

Spartan Christian Fellowship

AIMING to enrich the spiritual life of the student through fellowship, Bible discussion groups, and prayer meetings, the Spartan Christian Fellowship is in its fourth year at Michigan State College. It is affiliated with the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, a national association of Christian students in the universities and colleges in the United States, Canada, and other countries throughout the world.

The Michigan State group has sponsored social events of many types through the year, including parties, conferences, and banquets. This year's work also included helping the Inter-Faith Council to sponsor the Religious Emphasis Week winter term. Spring term the Fellowship held tea hours every Sunday afternoon at Bethel Manor. Using student talent, local Christian leaders, and out-of-town speakers, the organization held weekly meetings, open to any student.

The officers for the past year were Mary Cornell, president; Mary Phillips, vice-president; Betty Snell, secretary; Neuman Gordon, treasurer; and Mr. Paul DeKoning, Prof. L. G. Miller, and Mr. R. W. Tenny, advisers.

Town Girls

CREATED by the A.W.S. Council, Town Girls' Club was organized in the fall of 1939 to unite Town Girls in a closer bond of friendship and to encourage them to participate in campus activities. Throughout the past year they have engaged in many campus activities including a five o'clock social hour, Air Corps party during the summer session, an A.S.T.P. pre-Thanksgiving party, cooperative work on the Spinsters' Spin, and Friday night social get-togethers. The club is working on a Cartoon Scrapbook which will be sent to a Servicemen's Hospital. On Saturday evenings, Town Girls hostesses sponsor games and dancing for the servicemen on campus. The club has extended its facilities to the Kellogg Short Course Girls and to the Off Campus Women's Organization. Highlighting the year's activities was the formal tea given by Town Girls for freshman women during fall term and the spring term installation ceremony for new officers. Officers of Town Girls include: Doris Bennett, president; Mary Beam, vice-president; Betty Lou Harris, secretary; and Ruth Thorburn, treasurer.

Alpha Epsilon Rho

MICHIGAN STATE'S chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho, national honorary fraternity, has been in existence on the campus since June 7th of last year. Only the cream of the experimental radio workshop are allowed into the honorary membership of Alpha Epsilon Rho. To obtain this membership, one must satisfy the high requirements; and, once a member, must live up to high standards to which they have subscribed. The prospective members must obtain a certain number of points which are acquired through appearing in both major and minor roles of at least twenty productions put on during their period of membership in the experimental radio workshop.

All persons must be capable of doing excellent work. Once having reached this goal, they are awarded honorary membership. Members are extremely versatile and often give programs over WKAR, the college station. Alpha Epsilon Rho boasts Barbara Hacker as its efficient president and Mary Jeanette Martin, secretary-treasurer. Active adviser is J. A. Calloway and Paul D. Bagwell, honorary adviser.

Radio Workshop

THE Michigan State Experimental Radio Workshop is open to any student wishing to join. The members acquire practical experience by broadcasting a variety of shows over the P.A. system in the classroom-studio ordinarily used for radio courses offered by the college. They work with the best equipment available, for Michigan State College's equipment is superior to that of any other college in the country.

These shows are put on every Thursday and benefit the members greatly. By participating in the weekly shows, one gains valuable and practical experience that will help in obtaining further distinction. Among all the members of the experimental workshop there exists a co-operative and congenial atmosphere.

Although the radio workshop has no official officers, there are three of its members who should be acknowledged as the "powers that be" in the group. They are three graduate students who are in charge of radio workshop and, at the same time, work with the members, guiding and assisting them in their efforts. These graduate students are Mary Jeanette Martin, Marie Robinson, and Lenore Tallmadge.

Orchesis

ORCHESIS, national dance organization, is divided into two groups, Junior and Senior Orchesis. Those wishing to become members may try out any year of their college career but it takes at least a year to obtain membership in Senior Orchesis. The girls are often chosen for tryouts after outstanding work is shown during their first term dance of Modern Dancing in Physical Education. Prospective members must show composition and expression through their dance form. When they have acquired enough technique they obtain Junior Orchesis rating upon approval of the present members.

Once having obtained advanced technique, plus original composition with due consideration to time, meter, and measure, the girls are then eligible for senior membership. The rhythm for the dances is usually furnished by the beat of a tomtom. Besides the composition of original dances, the girls take part in yearly recitals.

Mrs. Wanda Wesslund is their adviser and the officers are Kay Videk Dickson, president; Kay Mac Cormick, vice-president; Shirley Thayer, treasurer; and Marie Angove, secretary.

Green Splash

Green Splash, the women's swimming honorary, was organized in 1927 with the purpose in mind of promoting interest in swimming among college girls. To become a member, a co-ed must have an all college one point, the unanimous acceptance of all members, pass senior life saving, and have participated in intermural, inter-class swimming meets.

Informal initiation is held at the Women's Gym pool and formal initiation is held at the spring term banquet. Fall term the club helped girls to pass their senior life saving in keeping with Red Cross activities and sponsored mixed splash parties all year around. They are keeping their club activities with water ballet formations and synchronized swimming.

Officers for Green Splash this past year were Rosemary Yanz, president; Lois Newman, vice-president; Jean Rheinfrank, secretary; and May Slucter, treasurer.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association provides opportunity for all girls on campus to participate in some form of physical activity. At present membership is the largest it has been for some time. In order to become a member a girl must have earned at least 100 points and be initiated; to retain this membership, she must earn at least 25 points a term. A person, upon earning 100 points receives numerals; 500 points, a small "S"; 1,000 points, large "S"; and for 1,500 points, she is eligible to sign the honor roll.

Instead of holding the Athletic Federation of College Women Conference here this year, WAA wrote to all colleges asking questions about their programs; from the answers received, a script was compiled and used in a radio broadcast presented from the college station, simultaneously being broadcast from six other stations.

The officers for the past year have been Margaret Mahoney, president; Lois Newman, vice-president; Marjorie Smith, secretary; and Jean Shaver, treasurer.

Informal initiation at the Alpha Xi Delta House.

THERE are thirteen sororities having active chapters here on campus. The friendships made and the pride in belonging to such a large sisterhood are valuable and unforgettable parts of every member's college life.

PanHellenic Council

SPRUCED up and trembling rushees attend a meeting each fall to clear up questions concerning sororities. These same uncertain students later relax at the annual Sunday afternoon open house given by all sororities at the conclusion of Freshman Week for the sole purpose of meeting new women and helping them to become familiar with each sorority house on campus. The PanHellenic Council aims to integrate all intersorority relations. The Council is composed of a junior and senior from each house and is designed to represent each sorority officially. It strives to coordinate sorority activities, regulates rushing, and brings about a better co-operative relationship between the different sororities.

Under the gavel of president Doris Johnson, PanHel, as it is affectionately known, meets on alternate Thursdays, and suggestions for new activities are offered to supplement the usual duties of the organization. It works with I.F.C. on matters which concern both fraternities and sororities and serves as a middleman between the sororities and the Dean of Women.

The plans for this year have attempted to conform with the student patriotic attitude. Expenses for rushing were kept at a minimum. Council members resumed the job of selling stamps in the defense booth. A new program to take the place of the annual PanHellenic Banquet was instituted in the form of a convocation with speaker and a coffee at each house following the talk. This program was scheduled for fall term and postponed until a later date.

The president, Doris Johnson, depends upon these other officers for smooth running: Jean McKerring, vice-president; June Graham, secretary-treasurer; and advisers, Mrs. Donald Robinson and Mrs. Lucia Nesom.

Alpha Chi Omega

'Member all the gabfests up on third when we didn't discuss politics? Ah me . . . fourteen wise and fair Alpha Chi seniors about to make their respective dents in the world.

Wonder what it will be like without the phone calls at peculiar hours for our newspaper woman, Janie Millar, business, and otherwise (Dutch) and Clover who could always "fix it." If we ever seem hard to convince, blame Vieve's tall stories . . . we've hardened — and puns, well! . . . Lois never missed a chance. What's "E" stand for? You guessed it - efficiency - Dottie Felkor's middle name . . . Such industrious people — seniors. Marge, our president, and L. J. both sporting Mortar Board pins . . . pledges, please take note. Reine, our rush chairman . . . and by the way, these last two of our sisters, the Ladies' Home Journal classified delightfully as "young matrons." Sounds intriguing . . . so are Mitche's dimples. Our glamour kid, Kay, Air Corps Queen . . . the hard-working Soc majors, Cordie and Verna . . . Mary, C.D.C. representative, and H. G. with her nightly long distance calls from ever lovin' Peter, completes the circle.

Alpha Phi

This has been a different kind of year for seniors to remember as their last. Still, even with things quieter than usual on the M.A.C. front and all strategy held in reserve for the correspondence campaign, it was a good year.

It won't be hard to remember president Mickey Peterson, surrounded by diet charts and vitamin lists, but managing to keep her sunny disposition just the same . . . Mary Ellen Tappan, absorbed in the latest "Ladies' Home Journal" while the rest of us get frantic over finals . . . Barb Ballard celebrating the end of her stay in practice house with a trip to Annapolis . . . Betty Ann Wendland, chortling in her own inimitable style as she whips up items for her "defense column" . . . Doris Johnson, Pan-Hellenic president and our nomination for the "girl getting most phone calls of the year," walking down our winding stairs in white satin and bridal veil . . . Dotty Horn, our song-leader, patiently bringing harmony out of discord . . . Katie McGill, taking time out from her test tubes to catch up on talk . . . Jeanne Moffett, our near-sighted gnome, squinting at the mail-box in hopes of getting her weekly special delivery from Billy . . . Mouse Marinson brewing black coffee in the town girls' room to keep us awake during final week.

It's June again and time to bid a fond farewell to our seniors. We wish them luck on their new adventures. President Alice Wilkins, endeared to us by her charm, will make "little angels of little brats" . . . B. J. "That Did It" Stoner is debating between teaching and a Psi Upsilon pin . . . Anita Dilley - just returned from Merrill Palmer — leaves us again to face a cruel, cruel world . . . Peg Wilber Parmelee and Jackie Sharkoff Windahl both got the drop on the rest of us and will be keeping house G. I. style . . . Mac McCall and Peg Griffin, elementary teachers, will carry home polished apples and test papers . . . Arleen Wood, also an early El, is back in Odessa, New York and plans to spring the progressive method she learned here . . . Margie McDonel Lange, another one of the girls who changed her name this year, will be having in-laws and Theta Chi's in for dinner - they're bringing their own points . . . Peg Hirth plans to get at the heart of Washington through it stomach and Doris Geske is grinding off some more of her nose while interning . . . Bette Sullivan will clutter up her office with news copy and Lieutenant J. G.'s who own Phi Delt pins . . . Nancy Locke and Buff Nacker will set the world on fire and burn up all literature and speech books . . . Margie Bohn will return to Iowa, to her horse, and to the Army knowing a lot more about Home Ec. than she did when she came here four years ago . . . And Jane Wilkinson will toss her Home Ec. books into Nancy and Buff's fire. Bye, Kids! Remember our date -February 29, 1952, at the house. We'll see you.

Chi Omega

"CHI OMEGA GIRL" is one of the favorite songs of Xi Gamma Chapter. Thus we choose it for our parting serenade to ten Chi O girls — our seniors.

To president, Joyce Hemenway, our song means off to the bright lights, the big city, New York. We'll miss her gamin grin and constant good humor . . . To Lois Quinn Searl and Alfreda McKenzie Roberts the song symbolizes our congratulations as they join the larger fraternity of wartime brides.

Vacancy: girl wanted. But we doubt if we'll really ever find anyone to qualify for Jean Swengel's position as dispenser of sweetness . . . and we'll think of tres charmant Rae Annette Loeffler often for her busy willingness and industry. We think her activity slogan should have been "Never Let a Day Go By - Without a Meeting!"

What will we do without? Why almost anything except Marjorie Crandall, whose job as Chi O house manager was just practice for her duties following this summer's wedding bells . . . Marion Goss we could never forget. She introduced us to art, and even talked us into liking surrealism.

Betsy Blandford's constant calm and ever-ready smile leave a blank in the picture too; without her we'll never know how to "dood it" when it comes to interior decorating . . . And to Anne Bottorff and Betty Lou Mitchell, our best on the completion of Med Bio internship.

Wasn't it fun?

Tears oozing from the type, another June pokes a hole in the Zeta Stocking that we won't be able to darn . . . A sad farewell to Betty McCoy, our president and an original Zeta "Bobby Sock" girl. With her goes Mary Shearer, whose rendition of the "Mooch" we can't forget. To our Prior twins, Maryetta and Rayetta, "so long giggles and chatter" . . . and to our own Kay Sprague, Wolverine supersalesman and Business Manager, who is making plans to be a June bride . . . Gerry Schubel, our female Sinatra . . . Betty Stell, our typical "Blue 'n Gray Gal." Gone . . . M. A. Kotila, the Pratt-Whitney kid. Best of luck . . . keep 'em howling! And a part of the Air Corps joins us in wishing Janet Webb, our vice-president, fondest memories. We give her our heart for keeps . . . It's been a grand four years.

Epsilon Chi

Members of Epsilon Chi were one proud group of girls upon receiving the Pan Hellenic Trophy first among all other sororities in scholastic achievement this past year.

Increased membership made possible the giving of a mixer with the service men on campus; a highly successful winter term formal where the whole theme centered about our sorority pin; and a scavenger hunt which the pledges gave for the actives. Other highlights were Epsilon Chi girls all out in selling of Defense Stamps and Bonds, participation in bowling, tennis and ping-pong, and the annual spring hike.

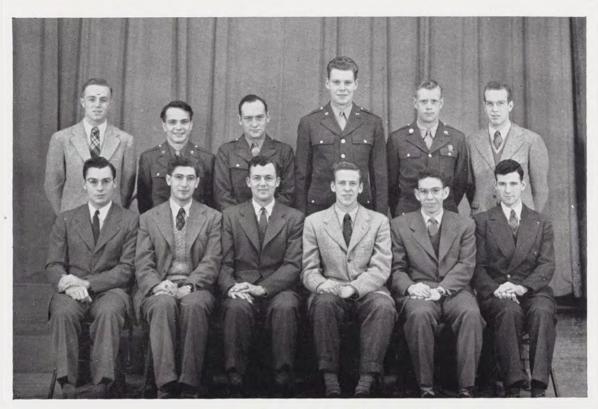

The Epsilon Chis tearfully bid farewell to two graduating seniors. Roz Friedman Marks, president, who pulled a fast one on us last summer and got married, and Elinor Pick, vice-president, alias Elsa Maxwell, who really knew how to put over a social function.

Plans for a house and possibly going national in the coming year are seriously under consideration.

Inter - Fraternity Council

REGARDLESS of the lack of fraternity men, the Michigan State Inter-Fraternity Council is still carrying on. The war has caused a man shortage as far as fraternity matters are concerned, but the campus saw an increase in energy and enthusiasm on the part of remaining members for carrying out fraternity functions.

In spite of the necessary curtailment of activities, a smoker was held last fall term for all men interested. The big event of the year was the I.F.C.-PanHellenic dance, given in the college auditorium. It was a big success with the King of Jive, Earl "Father" Hines, and his orchestra on the podium and the certain special atmosphere that formals lend to a college dance. Pledging, with hell week and hazing and all the ceremony, went on this year as usual, but on a smaller scale. No, the war can never down the spirit of fraternity men; and I.F.C.'s purpose of keeping the ball rolling is being upheld . . . more power to them!

The Inter-Fraternity Council is composed of president, Pete Buth; vice-president, Bob Rosso; secretary, Jack Carrier; and treasurer, Herman Birnbaum.

Alpha Epsilon Pi

With only a few members remaining to carry on its traditions and activities, Alpha Epsilon Pi has managed to function normally. The fortunes of the past year, influenced greatly by the war, were not very kind, as brother after brother left our ranks for Uncle Sam's forces. When our membership had dwindled it soon became evident that a house could no longer be maintained. So with heavy hearts A.E.Pi men gave up the house for the duration.

In February our annual dinner dance was curtailed to a dinner preceding the I.F.C.-PanHel Ball. Many informal parties were also held during the year.

During winter term, brother Theodore Gordon, of the famous "lost squadron of R.O.'s" received his call to O.C.S. in Camp Lee, Va. Herman Birnbaum, of the Saratoga Springs "racing" Birnbaums, wound up his business at State in March '44. In August Norman T. Freid, E. R. Zingeser, and Milton Lipson, Army Veterinary students will graduate. Edward Cohen answered the beckoning finger of Uncle Sam's Army in January, and departed for an anti-aircraft unit in California. Fred Aaronson, a veterinary student was pledged and will go active soon.

With a deep nostalgic feeling, A.E.Pi men pass the site of their fraternity house and recall better days of the so recent past, but in the future we look toward a revamped, reinvigorated fraternity. Those brothers still remaining have agreed to maintain the fraternity ideals and the name of Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Alpha Gamma Rho

Due to the wide dispersal of our brothers in the army, navy, and marine corps, we can safely say that the sun never sets on the A. G. R.'s. By everyone helping to shoulder the burden, and under the able leadership of our untiring president, Peter Buth, we are functioning as nearly normal as the times permit.

This year a few more brothers will be leaving, having completed their stay at Michigan State College. Peter Buth, steady and unassuming . . . Jerry Fries, sympathetic and cheerful . . . Max Colton, the handsome boy of the bunch, eager and willing if there is any mischief going on . . . Gus Eastman, short and sweet. Don't worry, Gus, one doesn't have to be a giant does one . . . Bill O'Rourke, one of the great line of O'Tooles from Wisconsin, carrying on in the good old Irish style . . . Ben Mauck, a man who lives on schedule, if not at the A.G.D. house or eating, he is sleeping . . . Don Wallace, Angel of Mercy, trying his best to keep people believing that Ag. boys should still be recognized as students . . . Ed Greer, silent and studious.

We all join together in saying to those who are not, and cannot be here, "Thumbs up — Best of luck — God bless you and hurry home."

Alpha Tau Omega

Epsilon Eta sports a bumper crop of wearers of the Maltese Cross, in spite of the "drouth" caused by the onslaughts of war. On March 5 seven men, including Joe Miller, Jack Ashley, Bill Mac Reynolds, Bob Buckenhizer, Bud Smollett, Don Healy, and John Van Wagoner took active.

Last winter chapter ranks were depleted when ROTC's Reeder, Slade, Gunnell, Thornton, and Tyrrell left. Other brothers, Blanchard, Geer, Turner, McIntyre, and Healy left at the end of winter term.

Representing ATO in Blue Key are Bob Rosso, civil engineering senior who will graduate next September, "Connie" Gunnell, and Johnny Blanchard, now in the army.

Brother Don Coohon, who graduated as a "Vet" last December, is now practicing, and Chuck Henricks, shown in the picture, happened to be home on furlough when the shot was made.

Promising to uphold chapter tradition for maintaining athletic supremacy on campus is Jack Breslin, who was pledged fall term 1941. Jack returned to State last fall term and went through informal initiation in February. He will be formally initiated sometime this spring.

Brother Joe Thompson, familiarly known as "Kansas Joe," returned to school last fall, and plans to stick around till graduation. Brother Paul Chapman left school at the close of winter term and is now in the army medical corps at Wayne University.

Delta Chi

Delta Chi lost most of its seniors during the fall term exodus of the Advanced RO's, when five upperclassmen left for officer candidate schools. Returning to school under a program that required liberal arts and business ad students to struggle with calculus and physics, they brought new vigor to the chapter. President "Happy" Dick Colville, genial leader of the group . . . Dale Kissel, trying to keep his secretarial duties and his letters to his girl back home straight . . . Doug Jewett, whose position as social chairman embraced everything that had to be done along any line . . . Stan Dickson, "Let's go East" . . . and Dick Arms, who followed Stan . . . Don Cudworth, snatched from us to OCS at the end of winter term.

Underclassmen who heard the call this year include brother Jim Colville, who is awaiting his opening in med school, and Graydon Forrer, of the Wells Hall AST.

Carrying on after the seniors leave we have the remaining actives led by Tom "no relation" Gable. Bill Thelicke, from down under Australia, Jim Sitar, Bob Asher, Sam Hampton, Bob Price, and Jerry Kenney complete the actives list.

Delta Sigma Phi

THE Delta Sigs, reinforced by the return of the ROTC men, started the year with a fine group, but the service has been taking its toll of both new initiates and old members.

Soon after their return to the campus, Al Ludwig, Hal Diegel, and Dick "Sam" Verkler transferred to the Air Corps. Leaving soon after them were the QM boys, Alex Dillingham and Jack Kronstedt. At the end of winter term, Pres. Harold Rockwell and new initiates Howie Wilson and Bob Vandervoort left for Army Engineers' OCS. Chuck Milner of the Signal Corps returned for three weeks before leaving for his OCS. Another new initiate, Joe Greenhoe, left for the Navy two days after going active. Also of the Navy are Tom Mainzenger and Bob Hamer, both awaiting orders.

On the civilian front we bid so-long to John McLaughlin, who has gone to Dental School, and Morie Bettison, who graduated. Acting president Ned Mann, Bob Bowen, and Chuck Calkins are still carrying on, with the help and guidance of Curly Belknap and Harold Balback. So ends another year, with an uncertain future but no lack of spirit in the Delta Sigs.

Farmhouse

When we returned to school this year, our group consisted of two Vets, both in uniform, twelve RO's back from basic training, and one civilian. Our house, taken over by Uncle Sam, was turned into AST barracks, but we held meetings regularly despite difficulties.

Garth Snider was the first RO to return to OCS . . . Bob Vaughn and Bill Brewster made things definite with sparklers . . . Marv Eppleheimer is still looking — Good luck Ep . . . Bob and Herb Holmes, the twins from the East are still side by side at OCS . . . Don Satchell still huntin' insects every night along the Red Cedar . . . Speed Demon Arny Schaefer, late in returning to State, but here just in time to go again . . . Tim Grossfeld, hoping to get away from here before the war terminates . . . Cerny Kline, for once, not late when the Army called him . . . Prexy Carpenter, now Corporal, would have given his heart to have been here for the party . . . Bob Manby and Ken Frey passing their Pearls and Rubies to the flames of their lives . . . Ab Parlin, our only seven-year man, and Bud Freeland spending their time dissecting horses, chickens, and poodles in Vet Clinic.

All of us, no matter on which front we are fighting, are looking forward to that Alumni Day when we shall gather at 526 Sunset to chat about the past and lay plans for the future.

Kappa Sigma

The strains of "Come gather all ye merry men" or the "Sweetheart" songs no longer ring throughout the campus, but the memories of Kappa Sigma ferverently live on in the hearts of its men here and afar. Most of the members pictured above are in the States in OCS or some other Heaven, yet two members are still clinging to the walls of Michigan State College. Robert Burnham and Tommy Barber are both studying Veterinary Medicine and are both living up to the standards of Kappa Sig by keeping the interests of the house above everything else. Bob recently passed his pin to one of the girls that now lives in the house. There are only two houses on campus that have been used by the college as domitories for some of the girls, and Kappa Sig is one. The college has made extensive repairs on the house and turned its rooms into beautiful dwellings for the fairer sex.

Some of the girls living in the house have kept the fraternity songs and customs alive even to the point of keeping the monogram on the chimney shiny, and so when the boys return they will find nothing changed except that the rooms will probably have a faint, permanent making of perfume and powder odors. Lambda Chi Alpha

This was an unforgettable year for the wearers of the Cross and Crescent. It saw most of the brothers of Lambda Chi leave for active duty. In their memories, however, are thoughts of the Haslett Hamlet and the bells will ring when the lads return.

Who can ever forget the quiet, thoughtful mastery that Art Muschler exerted over our "gang"? . . . And we'll never forget handsome George Betker who always was game for a short beer bust or a long walk down Abbott road.

Last fall saw amazing efficiency crop up in our midst in two places . . . our scholastic average rose from last among the fraternities to third from the top . . . We're having it framed, boys, so you can all see it when you return. Another great accomplishment was the establishment of Jerry Luptak's efficient "Combined Operations Center" in Detroit's Wonder Bar. With the aid of Lt. Jerry Anderson, who will admit, when coaxed, of having been in countless battles . . . many blonde and brunette beachheads were stormed . . . Swede Wendahl joined the ranks of the married men and recommends it as a sure cure for all troubles . . . Boogie Bush left for Infantry O.C.S. with a laugh on his lips but his heart remains in the Alpha Chi house . . . Ross Linstrom, tall Ken Krakow and Lee Brink have also left for O.C.S. . . . Charlie Buck has transferred his accounting prowess to Pontiac . . . Last, but certainly not least, is Bob "B.C." Clark. We owe him an unpayable debt for his diligence in writing the newsletter . . . So gals, we are off to war but the plans are all set for the "Hell-Za-Poppin" when we return.

Phi Delta Theta

"THE Grand Old Fraternity" has been no exception in feeling the results of a college at war. With Navy calls and Junior R.O.'s taking their share, Phi Delta Theta faced the start of 1944 with smaller numbers but with the same old spirit. The election of officers was the signal for activity to equal the brothership and organization of the peacetime standards. In the social light, too, the Phi's were always well represented, and North Campbell Hall was made aware of Phi Delta Theta's activity by a serenade. The latter was occasioned by the passing of Brother Fredrickson's pin.

Many Phi's have left for the services since the start of the current school year. Actives are Bill Adams, Charles Marshall, Herbert Hoover, Tom Lorring, Glen Johnson, Jack Boorsma, Lee Cahill, Charles Bachman, Rudy Herzog, Bill Faust, Dick Fredrickson, and two pledges Jack Johnson, Bob Kobs. When all our brothers will return and with hopes for the future, the Phi Delts will continue to keep the home fires burning under the leadership of the remaining men.

Phi Kappa Tau

Another year has passed for the Phi Taus but what a different year . . . one that only a war can bring forth. It seems that our brothers couldn't be more widespread by a sprinkler. Our small group still on campus keeps their fingers crossed that all the Phi Taus after the war may find their way back to the Phi Tau abode on Delta street to resume the brotherhood.

The objective of Phi Kappa Tau this year has been an endless attempt to maintain a nucleus upon which a strong fraternity can be built in post-war college days. Another main activity is a continual effort to learn the ever-changing new assignments of Phi Taus by the Armed Forces, the addresses of each are sent to all other brothers.

Our farewells are few due to the withdrawal of ROTC men. The three seniors we're to lose this year are Bill Zeches, "The Minnesota Vet" . . . Bob Donnelly, "the superman engineer with medals" . . . and Otto Siegmund, "Chief of the Spartan Rag cook-ups."

One farewell all Alpha Alpha boys will keep in their memory is that of Brother Sheldan Hatch '43. We are indeed proud of "Shel" who gave his life for his country as a Navy Air Corps pilot in the Atlantic area.

Pi Kappa Phi

The most pleasant surprise of the past school year has been the return of the Junior R.O.T.C.'s who warmed many a lonely heart. Among them was I.F.C. representative Max Bottomley who took upon himself a sentence for life with the words "I do" . . . Wes Ritchie also took time off from the Army to follow in Max's footsteps . . . Then there was treasurer Tony Simpson, who never got past the State News office on a library pass.

In answering to Senior Roll Call we have — Archon Dan Ciernick who could always be found at Norm Kessel's or tripping the light fantastic with one of his girl friends. Don Bush who was always partial to Med Bios, spending a great many of his week-ends in Grosse Pointe — on research work??? Don Briggeman bearing a silly grin until he was roped by one of those "Texan Gals."

Then there are undergraduates Milt Morse and Hank Anderson who kept the average up so the rest of the boys could play.

Last of all we of Alpha Theta would like to extend our sincere wishes for the best of luck to all of our Brothers who would have been with us if not for the present World Conflict and a safe return to their Alma Mater.

Psi Upsilon

"Welcome brother old and young, welcome ev'ry loyal son . . ." The words of this old Psi U song rang clear for the first time in our fraternity's infant chapter . . . when on April 17, 1943, Epsilon Nu chapter was formally installed. State men added their names to the long list of illustrious brothers of Psi Upsilon.

But with the birth of our chapter there came the call to arms for Psi U sons . . . and when the bugle sounded these men answered the call . . . U.S. Army, Lt. Bill Patch, Lt. Bob Ryskamp, Lt. Art Underwood on duty . . . Officer candidates Bruce Mac Arthur, Erv Tallberg, Dick Helwig, Tom McGurrin, Ed Laing, Ray Graver, Em Hough . . . Serving on duty, Ed. Glacy, Dick Smith, Don Young . . . Air cadets, Dick Slavens, Jack Wawirka . . . and for Dentistry training, Dick Speir.

"All who wear the emblem of the chosen few; Let us loud our voices ring,

And each brother gladly sing . . ."

To the U.S. Navy . . . Ensigns Fred Rowe, Guy Dygert, Phil Althen . . . Midshipmen Charles Brethen, Dea Meadows, Ralph Gillett, Bob Sicklesteel . . . Air Cadet Bob Brown . . . U.S. Marines, Jim Burnett and Dick Curtis . . . and Serving on duty Hugh McPherson . . . Discharged from the services . . . Robert Edgell, Ed Jolly, John Hickey, Bill Kirkland . . . "

"Sing the praises of our own, our loved Psi U . . ."

We, who remain behind wish success and quick return to our brothers in arms.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

This year found our chapter made up of three civilians, nine soldiers (ex-sergeants) and two pledges. The old SAE spirit and fellowship dominated the limited periods we were allowed together. Changes came rapidly, but adjustments kept along with them. Howie Grasher was elected president. A few weeks later he was transferred but he had no more luck than Howie, for he left for Infantry OCS along with Glenn Deibert and Bill Maddox. Under the direction of our new president we held an initiation and made plans for future rushing.

In spite of many difficulties our rushing program progressed with the result of a careful selection of nine new pledges. They were properly instilled with the ideals and traditions of SAE. By the end of the term, Bob Mandenburg had left for the Naval Air Corps . . . Bob Weyland graduated and left for OCS with Pete Secor and Bill Peterson . . . Bob Freeman also graduated and took a position in Dayton, Ohio.

The SAE activities were continued throughout Spring term under the leadership of president Bob Azelton, Bob Brezsny, Bob Arendshorst, and Fred Stillman . . . more rushing, more pledging and another initiation. However, we lose Bob Arendshorst and Fred Stillman through graduation this June.

We wish all our brothers in the service the best of luck and their return again after the war. May the war end soon!

Sigma Chi

GAMMA Psi of Sigma Chi here at MSC is well along into its second year as an active chapter. With the war, came many hardships to all the fraternities on the campus and as a whole they have not succumbed to the circumstances. Sigma Chi has maintained an active chapter in the true sense of the word, keeping alive that true fraternal spirit that should never die. Missing the fellowship of the Chapter House, the Sigs have substituted an even closer communion with their brothers.

Some of the year's social activities included the Winter Term Formal Party, the First Anniversary Banquet and many informal radio parties, smokers, and hayrides.

Those Sigs left in school miss their brothers in the service and are always glad to hear from their respective theaters of war, ranging from Burma to the "battle" of Fort Sill. We have already a few names to add to our Roll of Honor here at Gamma Psi; names that mean a great deal to those of us remaining and inspiring us to train ourselves the best way possible to do our part when our time comes.

Sigma Nu

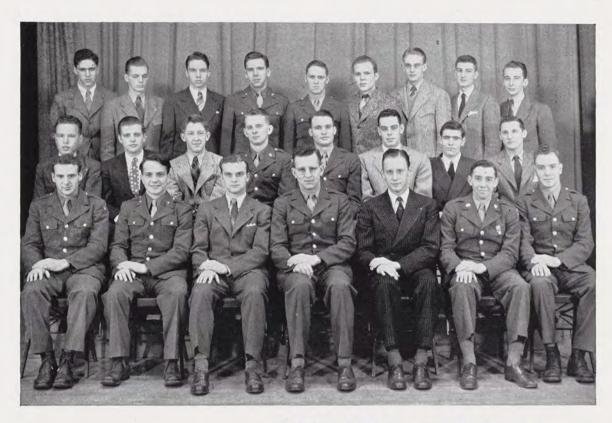

EVEN under adverse conditions the Sigma Nus are still entrenched solidly at the battle for the Union Grill. During the Fall phase of the encounter our casualties were low . . . only losing Frank Foster, that lover of Abbott Road, to the Merchant Marine, John Chapman who answers the call of the cows, chickens, and horses who were asking for his knowledge in Veterinary Medicine, and Don "Dady" Hatch who couldn't stand the tension of this great conflict and finally went to work.

Our Commander, expecting such circumstances, ordered reenforcements from other areas. Answering his call came twenty ROTC's ready to do their bit. Also from outlying posts came Jim Valrance and Jack Carrier from the Navy, Jim Bibbins from the Marines, and Gil Haley from the Army.

After one term of hard fighting we found the situation well in hand, and released Bill Beardsley, Don MacPhail, Bob Drake, Bryce Dunlop, Ed Lord, Phil Currier, Jack McKnight, Buck Newsome, Bill Loomis, and Phil Emmons for active duty on other fronts.

After the Winter lull we lost Earl "Fatty" May who was called to serve under the four star General Electric, and who now has the Mazda situation well in hand. During the Spring campaign Jim "C1" Valrance was given an honorable discharge from services after receiving injuries from a splintered chair.

It is to these Veterans and the boys we have sent to other fronts that we extend our best wishes for success and happiness in future years.

Theta Chi

There are many faces in last year's Wolverine that are not with us this year. But we want to talk about two especially . . . Officer Candidate Robert E. Parris and Ensign Lee C. Hiller.

Pfc. Parris . . . Bob to us . . . left for the army last June after graduation. He was a senior ROTC in Field Artillery his last year here at State. He was not what could be called a BMOC, but to know Bob was to like him. It was in August when Bob wrote us of his appointment to OCS at Fort Sill. In September we heard of his death due to spinal meningitis.

Ensign Hiller was an instructor in torpedo bombers at Pensacola. Lee was a member of the class of '44. He left us to enter the Navy Air Corps winter term of '42. Lee did as well with his flying as he did at State. We saw him fall term of this year when he was here on furlough, looking better than ever in his Navy Blue. It was just before Christmas vacation that we heard of Lee's death in a crash at his base.

War has hit Theta Chi . . . and we wish to pay tribute to two grand fellows. They did their jobs well.

Alpha Chi Sigma

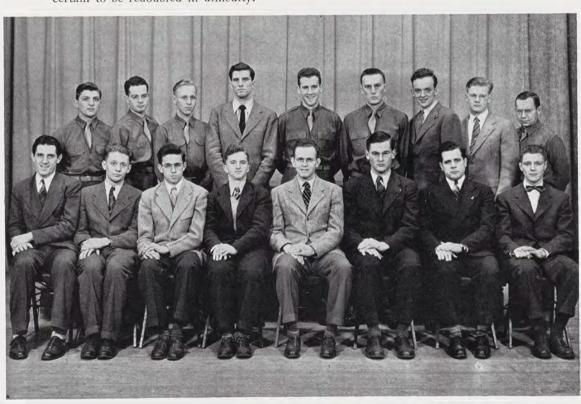

IT HAS not been easy to hold the fraternity together in these days. Uncle Sam came in and left us with a handful of members.

We dedicate this page to Ron Warren, our very able adviser, who has worked with us for the past twelve years and to whose tireless efforts we owe the unbreakable bonds which hold us together. We are sorry to see him make a partial break from us. His new and higher position in the fraternity will again show his capabilities. We now say "Hello" to our new adviser, Berwyn Robinson.

The fraternity has carried on, retaining many of its annual activities. Pen Pringle and Bob Stipek gave us their time and energy to make possible our Winter term party. Regular meetings have been held each week in addition to the customary smokers and initiations.

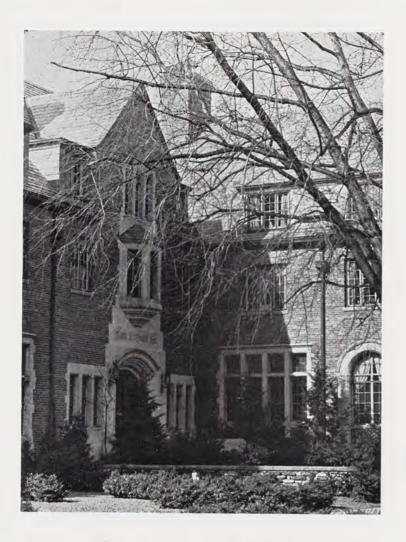

The actor, Dick Jones, will be missed . . . our long time lover, Ben Mihay, will don the new olive drab and leave his beautiful blonde at MSC . . . Fred Satchell and his wife will be gone . . . the fraternity's high average will miss the great help that Norm Pennels has given it. Who will take the place of easy going Fred Buttner? . . . Always willing Ted Sprague . . . and Dave Smith, whom we could never find because he was always going to Detroit.

We, the graduating seniors, leave the field to those new men coming into the fraternity who have been chosen because of their outstanding qualifications. It is doubly hard to leave at a time when the burdens that we must pass on to others are certain to be redoubled in difficulty.

Louise Campbell

YES, it might be said that Campbell set the pace this year, with its full calendar of activities and its spirit, regardless of setbacks which wartime is bound to bring. Chalked up on her Victory chart are the facts that North Campbell won the swimming meet for winter term; sent the V-Mail Review, a group of girls with real talent for entertaining, to Fort Custer and the Percy Jones Hospital.

Campbell initiated the Canteen, a novel form of entertainment for the fellows on campus, and one which spread after its first success. They sold war bonds and stamps to the co-eds with a drive all their own in the lobby each Wednesday. They were the first to be featured at the Saturday Tea Dances by Gene Devine's Orchestra. Other events to boost morale and keep the home fires burning included bridge and ping-pong tournaments, installations and term parties with original themes, a Red Cross Bandage Roll, and Wednesday evening talent programs.

Fall term officers for North Campbell were Doris Protheroe, president; Gloria Crawford, vicepresident; Averil McLean, secretary; Lettie Straayer, treasurer; and social chairman, Jeanne Meserva.

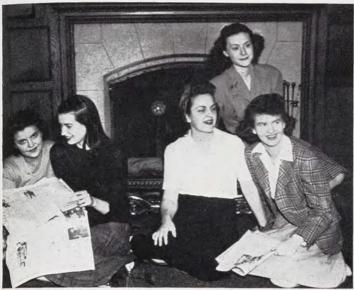

President for South Campbell fall term was Laurine Dryer; Markine Traynor, vice-president; Ruth Hauffe, secretary-treasurer; Jo Ann London and Joan Brissenden, social chairmen.

Despite wartime shortages, the new ration system that limits the number of times women students can go home, plus rising-and-going-to-bed hours, and the added 62 girls housed, Mary Mayo dormitory has its parties and dinners — fewer, it's true, but with more MSC spirit than ever. Her spark of enthusiasm also shines in sports activities — volleyball, basketball, bowling, and baseball.

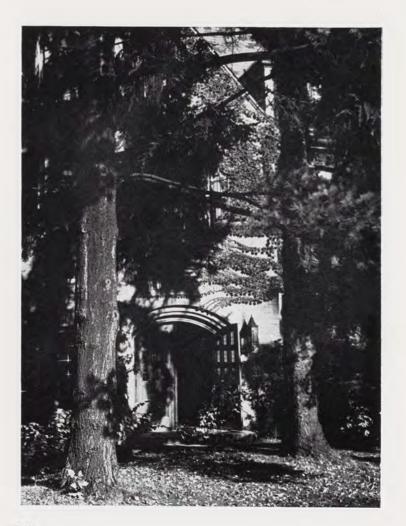

Lots of things at Mary Mayo have changed this year. Men in khaki and blues sit in her lounges, waiting for the day's date, instead of boys in flashy sports jackets. All meals are cafeteria style, and the girls from the Kappa Sig House eat their meals at Mayo. There is an added number of diamonds, fraternity pins, silver wings, anchors, ad infinitum, proudly displayed by the girls.

The girls sell war savings stamps in the lounges and knit afghans for the soldiers at Percy Jones Hospital in Battle Creek.

East Mayo's officers are: Jean Carol McNicoll, president; Marcia Geib, vice-president; Peggy Troup, secretary; and Marilouise Foss, treasurer.

The governing body of West Mayo is well represented with Patricia Much, president; Grace Racine, vice-president; Marion Heckel, secretary; and Esther Gardner, treasurer.

Sarah Williams

THE versatile girls of Williams have been very active this year. The changes in domitory life caused by the war haven't dampened their spirit.

Fall term, Williams held a mixer for the cadets. It was the very first time the girls had tried anything of this nature, but in their able hands, how could it fail? They are not only taking bows because of the success of the dorm's social functions, but also their superior athletic skill in the tennis field which won for them the 1943 tennis championship.

The purpose and goal of every Williams resident is, of course, to put studies first and make her grades. But the girls know that there is more to college life than "plain book larnin'." As a result, they go further and consider living with a group of girls as an education in itself. They get acquainted and are quick to meet the needs of their friends. Through these friendships and through daily contacts with acquaintances, they broaden their outlook on important and fundamental subjects. Discussions arise that last for hours, and the girls go away from these conversations in deep thought. Politics, religion, and aspects of the war and life in general seem to hold interest for these girls. Yes, Williams girls have gained an understanding of how to mix the serious and social sides of college wisely and in the right proportions and they have true Spartan spirit!

Representing South Williams are: Pat Darr, president; Barbara Quayle, vice-president; Ginny Kirkut, treasurer; Doreen Koebel, social chairman; and adviser, Mrs. Gilhooley.

Carrying on for North Williams are: Virginia Lee Fellows, president; Norma Jean Oviatt, vicepresident; Marijane Bird, secretary; Helen Miller, treasurer; Dorothy Dearing, social chairman; and adviser, Mrs. Thompson.

THIS is the first year Alice Cowles house has been operated as an annex. Before this it was used as a co-operative house, but, because of the crowded conditions in the dormitories, it was necessary to take over dorm annexes.

It houses approximately twenty-five girls. All live together as a large family in a congenial atmosphere. This year 80% of the house was made up of freshmen, 10% transfer students, and the remaining 10% were girls who had returned to M.S.C. Plans were made and carried out by the group as a whole, since this organization wanted to be a self-governing body. Plans for a formal term party turned out to be a big success. Like other dorms they held open houses for the Air Corps men here on campus and did their part in the war effort.

The Cowles aim is to learn to live together harmoniously and, judging from the fun they have had, their goal has been reached. Any Cowles girl will tell you that living at 1 Faculty Row is a wonderful experience.

The girls who have helped to make this such a success are: Barbara Caldwell, president; Barbara Clarke, secretary-treasurer; and Marie Schwarzkopf, social chairman.

INDECO GUIDES TO BETTER ANNUALS

RESULTS

Since the turn of the century the Indianapolis Engraving Company, Inc., has maintained the highest standards of quality and intelligent cooperation, thus accounting for the continuous use of our service by many high schools, colleges and universities.

Indeco quality is the finest that modern equipment and skilled craftsmen can produce. Every engraving is unconditionally guaranteed to be a perfect printing plate and to give a faithful reproduction of your engraving copy.

Our service includes help in planning and designing, suggestions on how to get the best pictorial effects, assistance in preparation of engraving copy, and solving the many problems arising in making your book both an editorial and financial success.

The latest ideas in yearbook construction are offered to make the annual best meet the requirements of your particular school. Our "Service Manual" is a complete guide for the staff in their work.

Indeco planned yearbooks have long been recognized as being among the outstanding annuals of the country. You will be agreeably surprised, too, at the purchasing power of your budget. Write us asking for a complete explanation of the Indeco plan.

"United We Stand"

"United we stand, divided we fall" is a saying that is proving its worth today as the allied nations all over the world pledge their word toward the destruction of inhumanity and barbarism wherever it may exist.

We cannot hope to succeed in our endeavor unless we apply the principle of unfailing unity — standing shoulder to shoulder in every crisis.

This same principle applies to yearbook covers — for they serve to bind together into an enduring unit the pictures and other features of college yearbooks. Therefore it is our aim to preserve these college memories with a beauty of design that will be admired throughout the years.
