TRADITIONALLY YOURS ...

THE 1948

It's a Tradition at State...

● Here it is, your 1948 Wolverine. Yearbook, annual, school log, or whatever you care to call it, this is your ready reference to all college activities.

The annual portrayal in story and pictures has been a tradition at State for over half a century. With MSC's expansion program at its fullest, we, your '48 Wolverine staff, found an enlarged assignment. You will find that many new aspects of college life as well as the old have been presented.

Whether you are a graduating senior taking this Wolverine along as a permanent reminder of days at State, or whether you are one of the underclassmen using it as a guide to school activities, we feel sure you will always be proud of the 1948 Wolverine.

And In the State Tradition

"CLOSE BESIDE THE . . ."

The autumn gold and russet of State's campus provides a kodachrome backdrop for the traditionally favorite sport . . . spectacular in its own right.

Crisp air tinged with smoke from burning leaves . . . throngs of milling students, old grads and townspeople . . . that ever present excitement experienced by all . . . action-packed battle between the "visitors" and State . . . stirring band music . . . half-time antics and pageantry . . . highly-seasoned hot dogs and warming coffee . . . singing the alma mater . . . cheering crowds yelling the fight locomotive . . . unforgettable afternoons of life at State.

Who wouldn't feel friendly, walking through the unmarred beauty of central campus on a sunny spring day?

SMASH RIGHT THROUGH . . .

The traditional "Spartan Spirit" is most colorful during fall term when the football season is at its peak. Every home game sees thousands of enthusiastic students, insulated in their favorite scarves and ear-muffs, hurrying toward Macklin Field in a vain attempt to avoid the rush.

What is there to compare with the color of a football game, as loyalty and sportsmanship vie for the limelight? No other sport can match the exalting excitement of the kickoff when even the most under-rated squad looks like a champion.

Sunshine or rain, Michigan State Spartans are ever-faithful to their team. Cheers ring out with the vigor of their enthusiasm and interest mounts with each new play. Football season is a time for all of us to show where our heart lies—and we don't miss.

THE "NEW LOOK"

Where the Forestry Cabin used to stand secluded and the Red Cedar ducks lived a peaceful, quiet life—here lies South Campus, a new center of campus activity.

The long trek to misty morning eight o'clocks, the foot bridge teeming with students rushing to Berkey Hall or the Union, and hours wasted at the Snack Bar have become an integral part of college life. Seniors and freshmen all find themselves among the massive throng.

Here through sunshine, rain, and snow those undaunted throngs trudge the long way together.

HI SPARTY!!

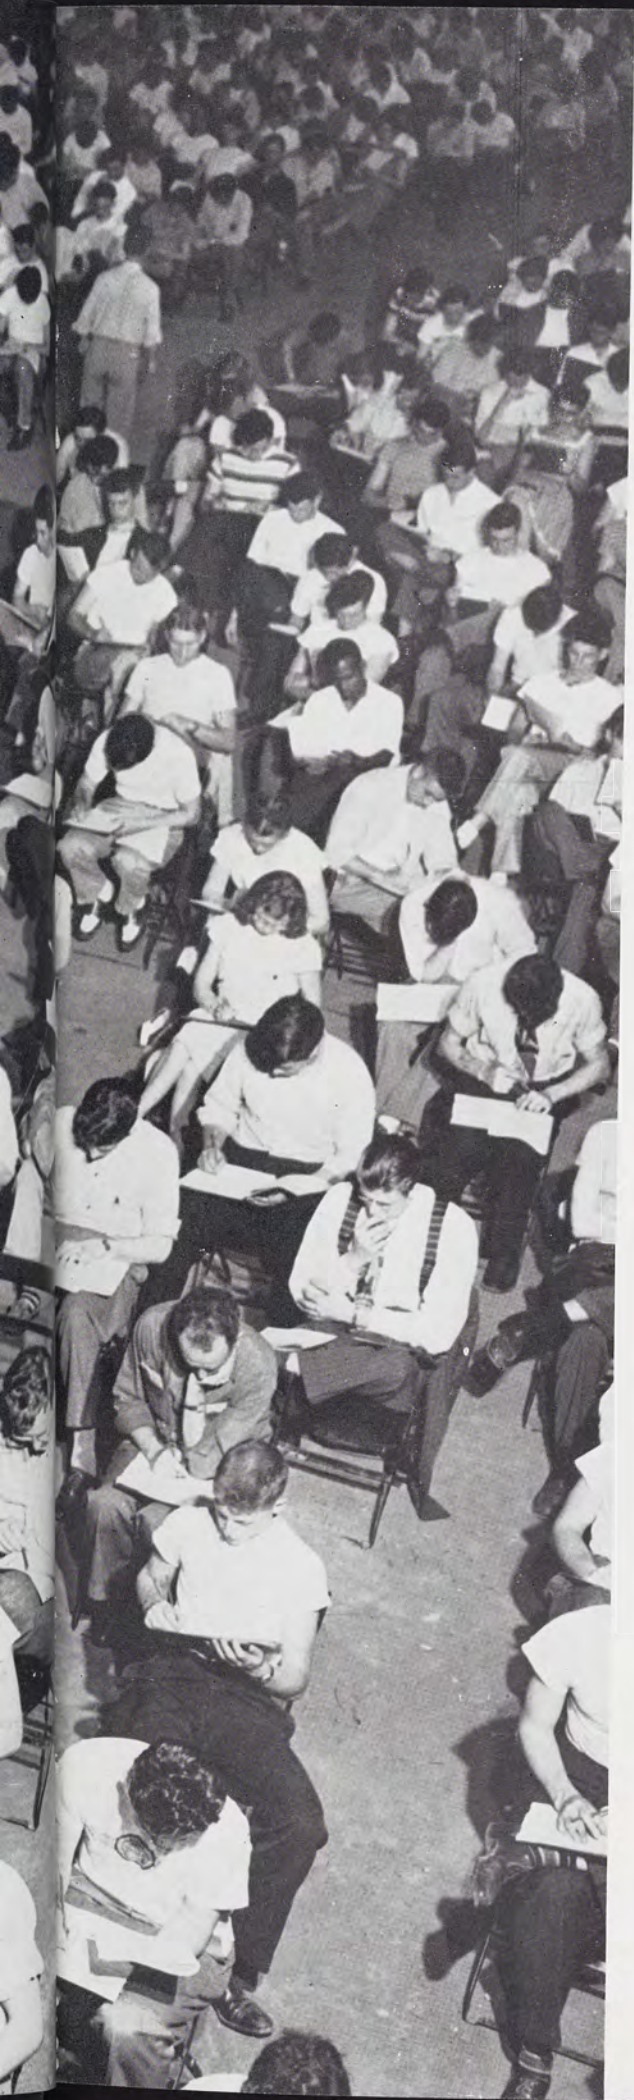

"GLAD to meet you, Bill," says a fraternity man after checking the name on the HI SPARTY namecard. "I'm Ray Smith of . . ." etc., etc. This prospective fraternity man is meeting his umpteenth host and is being told the virtues of another fraternity. Bill hasn't seen anything like this since the President's Reception. Smoke drifts overhead. He is one of hundreds who stand in similar groups, downing cokes, taking advantage of free cigarettes, and being saturated with fraternity talk.

ONLY STATE...

CAN SAY that it offers comprehensive examinations to students who can qualify after one or two terms' work and receive a year's credit.

These fearful, dreaded comps offer great opportunity to ambitious students and serve as boosters for hurrying veterans.

NERVE CENTER...

RESPON-

SIBILITY for efficient directory of a college swollen almost beyond its limit is centered in State's sixty-six year old Administration Building. Here one may find the offices of President Hannah, the registrar, the comptroller (financier, that is), and other important college administrators. Completion of the new East Wing has satisfied long-standing demand for additional office space.

HIS DREAM GIRL...

HE has passed his pin! Her friends cluster around to see the shining emblem. They sigh . . and smile . . with the prospect of a coming serenade.

Dark male figures file silently below her candle-lit window . . . faces peek from behind the curtain . . . the melody flows upward. Her man will sing a solo especially for her . . . at the moment it is a dream world. The girl's voices echo out the open windows as they sing back their answer.

In the stillness a few girls slip quietly from the room . . . for the traditional follow-up. They turn on the cold water . . . in she goes. The dreamy silence changes to an atmosphere of hilarity . . . pulling, pushing, struggling, screaming . . . "but I haven't got my hair up" . . . "in you go." Wet, cold, and smiling she emerges. Congratulations are in order for the newly-pinned.

NIGHT SHIFT...

THE teletypes vie with the typewriters. The helter-skelter rush of the day has settled down to a grim fight to get the paper over to the Campus Press as soon as possible. The last tag ends are being tied up. There is always someone who misses the three-o'clock deadline. Copy must be rechecked, heads written, and room made on page one for the latest news. The layout must be scanned once again.

The paper is finally set up—across Grand River it goes where it can be "put to bed." Galleys are run off, hastily examined for errors, and things are tucked in for another night.

ANYTHING GOES...

FALL term is known for its variety in weather and activities. One might see ice cream cones and tennis one week while the next week brings on football and fur coats. But you can count on seeing mobs of exuberant Spartans lining the banks of the Red Cedar to view the annual Soph-Frosh Tug-of-War.

Last May 22, after many months of cross challenges and verbal tussles, the two classes lined up on opposite banks of the river to settle the question of class superiority. On the north bank Captain O'Rourke and his freshmen leaned hard. On the south bank the sophs, led by Jim Hazen, pulled equally hard. The big moment was at hand. Then . . . the rope broke! After sinking the rescue canoe while trying to mend the rope the sophomore class surged across the railroad bridge. It was nip and tuck as sophs and frosh tossed one another into the drink. Spectators not wishing to mix with the over-enthusiastic dunkers scrambled to the safety of the trees and bluffs behind Wells Hall. The battle ended in a draw.

STATE'S LIBRARY...

SIX steps up . . .
twenty-two ahead . . twelve steps down . . three left . . five down . . and twenty-three straight ahead. Our blind students often walk this unseen route to the Reading Room for the Blind where Mortar Board members read aloud their daily assignments. Each girl reads two or three hours a week to ease the shortage of braille texts on the campus.

More familiar to the student body are the reading rooms, the rare book room, a graduate room, conference rooms, and a variety of others. The library operates on a $100,000 budget with twenty-four full-time workers and over a hundred students to help. Each year 10,000 volumes are added to the stacks as well as bound periodicals.

SOPH PROM . . .

ONE of the first big formals . . . when vacation is not far behind and we still show signs of a summer tan . . . is our underclass prom. It comes at the height of college fall when we don't mind walking and exams have not yet asserted their ugly reality. The girls have a chance to swish around in new formals . . . to Casaloma rythm of Glen Gray . . . and many frosh experience their first big college dance.

IT'S BEEN TRADITIONAL AT STATE

(some of these still linger)

ORIGINALLY the story goes, senior men pushed their girls in special senior swings which stood in front of Morrill and Old Abbot Hall. Senior Swing-out has changed with the years but it is still one of our most sentimental traditions. It seems to mark the end of college even more than graduation.

Today, the class officers set out from Beaumont Tower and swing around the campus, picking up cap-and-gowned seniors who are grouped near the buildings en route. The procession ends at the Auditorium. This is one of the simplest and most beautiful ceremonies that we have.

MANY MOONS AGO in the year 1909, two tribes of sophomores and freshmen smoked their peace pipes and buried their tomahawks at a barbeque. This was to become an annual tradition. War between the two classes had ceased, and the hostile tribes were at peace.

The fearless sophs played hosts to the valiant frosh in a night of feasting and council before the great wigwam, Wells Hall. A knife, a token that the bonds of hatred had been cut away, passed between the chiefs. Neighboring tribes of seniors and juniors were invited to partake of the merriment. A great feast there was, and plenty.

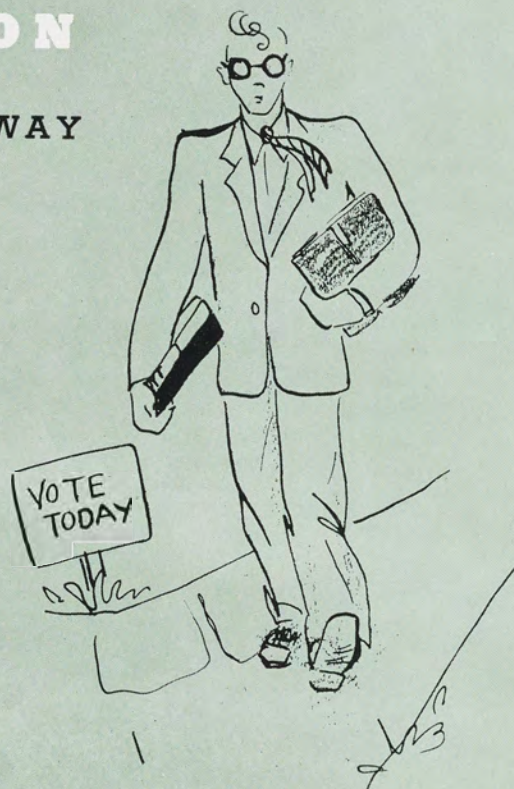

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a frosh. Exhausted by the trials of his first registration, he staggered from the auditorium, only to encounter a squad of varsity men. A welcoming committee! But a committee intent on a purpose, that of selling frosh pots—those felt caps which denote frosh-hood.

IT'S A 'STATE' TRADITION

THAT ALL PLAY IS NOT THE STATE WAY

REGISTRATION..

LEAVE IT TO STATE to devise the most unique method of registration in the world. The confused freshmen and bewildered seniors find themselves in a mystic maze when they first enter the Aud. They soon discover they really can come out alive—in at least four or five hours, providing they survive the small (?) flu shot. Of course they must follow directions and not lose equilibrium.

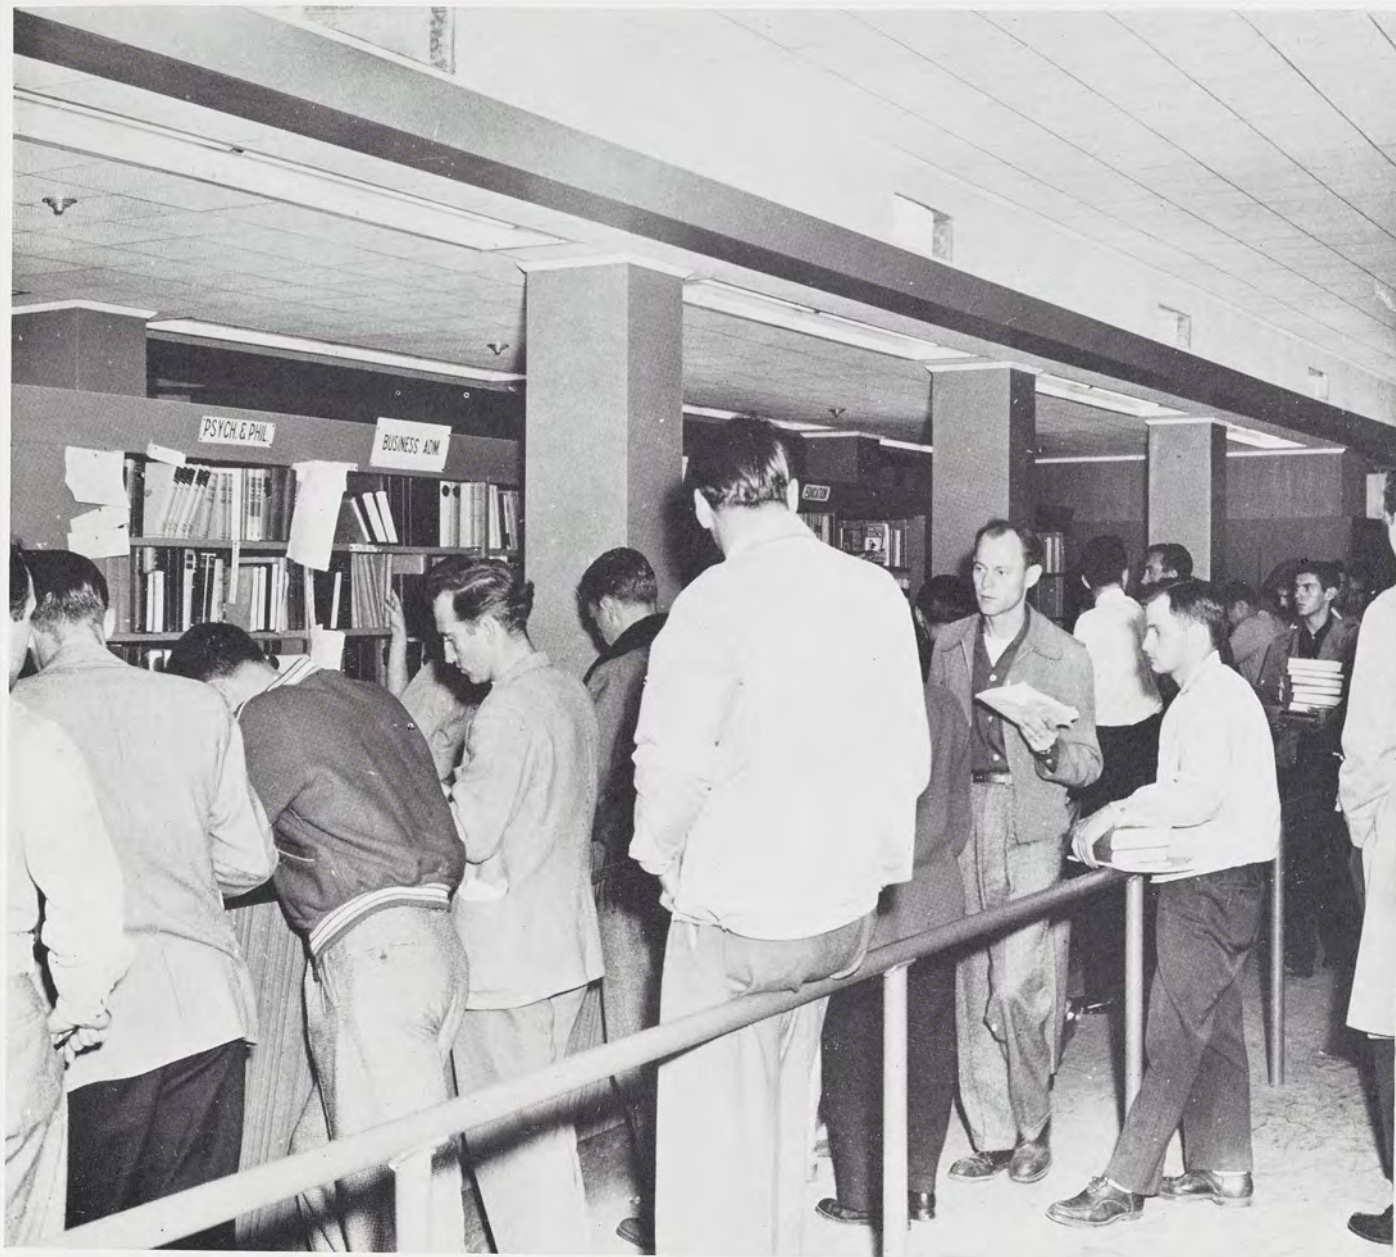

Although registration may seem a first-class rat race to most of us, educators from other colleges consider it an efficient system for handling thousands of students as quickly as possible.

THINGS ARE ROUGH ALL OVER

"G' afternoon." You jump a foot. It's him—your adviser. "What do you want that we haven't got?" "I'd like . . . oh oh . . . fouled up again." "Yes . . . Basic 104b, Basic 3650x—what's that? . . . Why, it's mumble-mumble . . . oh yes, and Bus Ad 313 . . . Thank you. Next!!!"

You head for a quiet spot to decipher. "Basic 104b — OH NO! Basic, Basic, Basic. And I thought I'd take it easy this term."

IS IT A TRADITION AT STATE?

Those long, never-ending book lines. When a student finally manages to reach the counter he is blithely told that they are sorry but "those books" are sold out . . . "Yes, we expect them within a week."

Last fall the College Book Store and the Union Book Store combined to open a large, modern, and very complete store in the new Union Annex. It has helped immensely to alleviate the age-old book lines.

THE UNION GRILL

A transplanted wailing wall and culture center where Spartans gather coffee stains, phone numbers and cigarette coughs . . . catch a quick coke . . . relax . . . cut a class . . . do calculus problems—it's a known fact that four out of every ten students flunk calc in the Grill—the others do it in class. In the Grill you meet your friends—usually meeting someone else—and get looked up, booked up, picked up . . . and stood up.

BACK TO THE DORM

Vacation days are over . . . MSC students return once more to their dorm homes. After a summer of fun it takes time to settle down to labors under the study lamp. Trunks are unpacked and the rigors of registration completed . . . Spartans are ready for another term's quest of knowledge.

College life is not entirely composed of toil and tests. Everyone comes back with an expectation of parties and fun as well, and State is not lacking in this respect . . . maybe it isn't so bad being back after all . . . we hope.

PERSONALITIES

We call them Personalities but they are really like the rest of us . . . just students who pass a faster football, wield a heavier gavel, snap a better photo, or punch a more talented typewriter. It was not the Pepsodent smile, or the extra turn on the trouser cuff, or the slap on the back that is forgotten after election time that got them there. They just looked around, saw some things going on, and decided they would take a whack. They found their spot, worked hard, got a lot of the right things done . . . and took their place as a State tradition.

"PRES" Truly a big wheel, Jerry Warren would burn anyone called him that. Sigma Nu and Student Council head, it is people like Jerry who make MSC a friendly school.

"CON" C. S. P. Williams combined his funny stories with good ideas when he took over the newly-revived campus humor magazine . . . among other things.

"JANI" Jani Hite is a corps sponsor and a journalism major and takes part in Student Council. The future should see her as a smooth editor of a slick fashion magazine.

"LIL DYNAMITE" Pride of the Michigan State football squad and its rooters, George Guerre didn't let a plaster cast keep him from participating in campus activities.

"MARGO" Margo Green is Delta Gamma president and probably packs more power per square inch than any other coed. Despite her leisurely appearance she turns out a lot of work.

"PAT" When Daniel Patrick McCarthy is not conventioning or shaking hands with Harry, you will find him trying to maintain a semblance of order in the S'News office.

"SIDELIGHTS" So named for his versatility in speech and dramatics plus knowledge of little facts on big subjects, Al Beck is in Theta Alpha Phi, Excalibur, and Blue Key.

"BY-LINE JIM" Known for his articles in the State News, Jim McCartney brims with ideas. He is East Lansing's contribution to Blue Key and SAE. Jim's abilities were most ably shown in the WSSF drive.

"DAD" Al Berglund is father to the mob that runs in and out of the State News office. If it takes a healthy roar and a desk full of neckties to be a successful editor, "Dad" has them.

"GIL AND JUDY" When describing the AWS Boards, these girls might be called the long and short of it. Ginny Gilhooley and Judy Longnecker do important things without seeming to.

"VAL AND NAN" Between the State News office and the Theta house, Nan Vandervoort and Valerie Wilder didn't have much time for classes. In their hands State News advertising has prospered.

"ROLLIE" It was Rev. Young you saw and heard at football games. A Phi Delt, he was also in Excalibur and Blue Key . . . in his spare time he edited the Wolverine.

"THE CHINKS" The majority party in the newly-patented dark, dark room. Give the Bransdorfers a flash bulb, beautiful girl, scenic background, and they're happy . . . but who isn't?

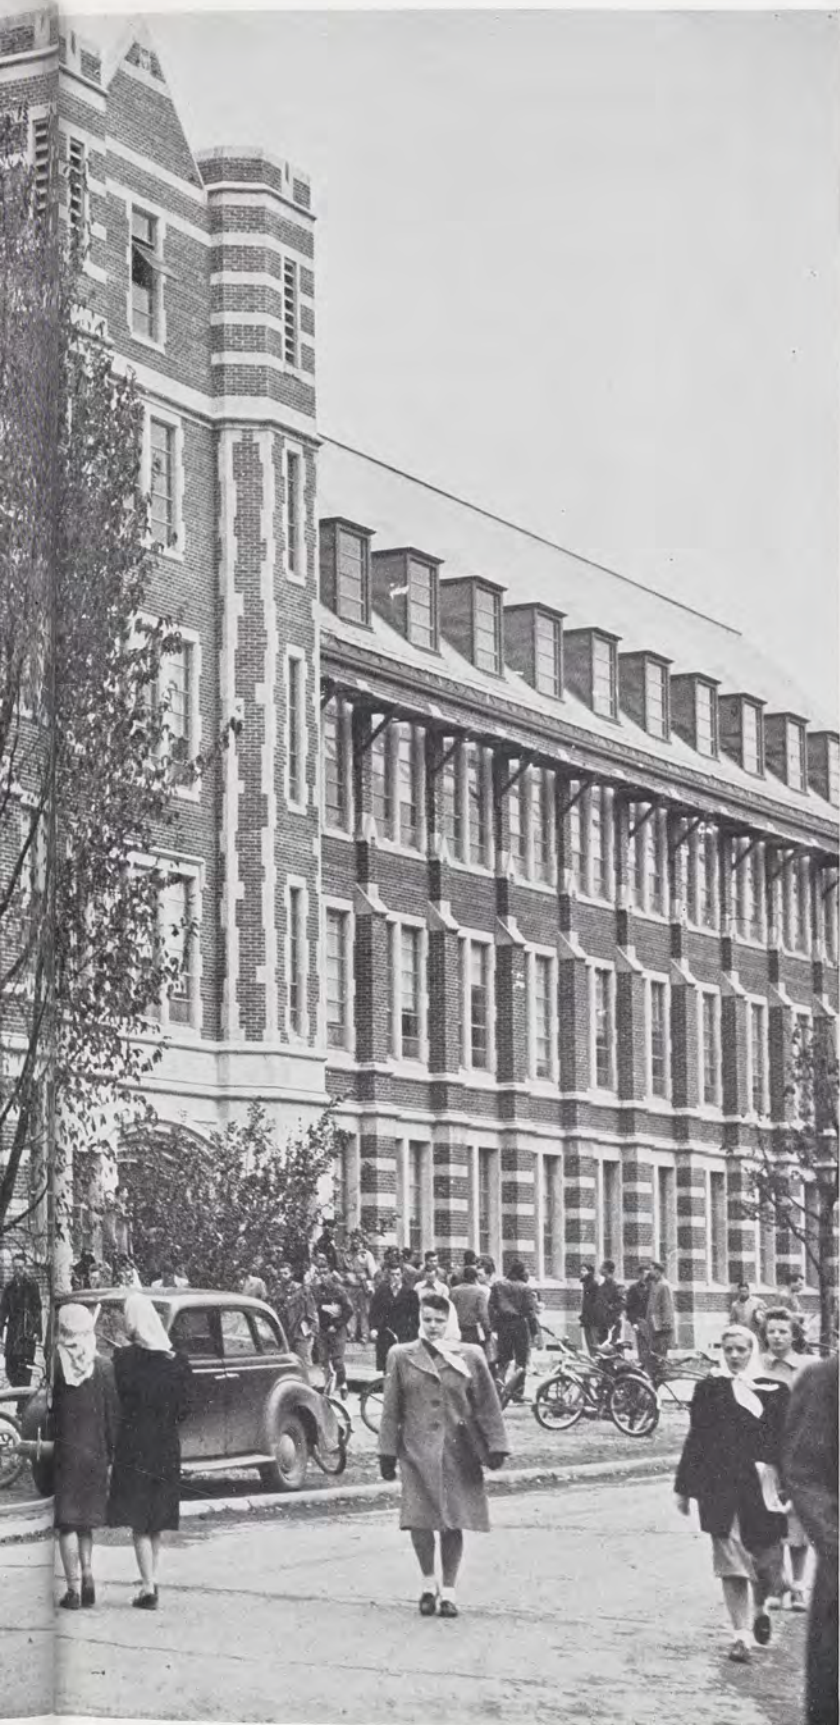

"MIKE" Ruth Meinke, who is senior vice-president and a member of Mortar Board, confesses that she has no special likes or dislikes. Perhaps that is why Spartans find the Meinke charm so attractive.

"KERNAL" The words "at ease" have a double meaning for Don Ball. He is not only a top man in the ROTC but he and his wife are gifted ballroom dancers and participated in Orchesis.

CLASSES...

Students come and go but classes never end—from early in the morning until dusk covers the campus. Spring, summer, winter, and fall. Lectures, labs, recitations, and those lovable comps. Professors and students alike—we'll remember our classroom years.

MUSIC

Activities of the Music Department are by no means limited to music students. The two college bands are open to any musically inclined student, and the Glee Clubs also include many persons not in the department. In addition the department maintains a circulating library where records or albums may be checked out for parties or personal listening.

There are special curricula to accomodate every branch in the field. Prospective teachers may take an instructional or a general course. A course in theory is applicable to those who want to specialize in composition and form. Perhaps the most unique curriculum is music therapy in which one learns to utilize rythmn and harmony in conjunction with medicine. Music therapy majors must take classes in sociology, psychology, and human heredity in addition to their music studies.

The music department held their regular spring band concerts in the shell, weekly recitals which are open to the public, and a three-day festival in May on the works of Mozart.

ART

Summer Art School
at Leelanau.

In the fall of 1938 the MSC Art Department was having difficulty in supplying enough varied scenery for its creative students. A summer art colony was suggested. Immediately a delegate was sent to select a suitable location.

The beautiful and scenic Leelanau Peninsula on Lake Michigan with its waterfront docks, fish houses, and water craft was chosen. Leelanau has all the color and quaintness artists desire. It is within short distance of rolling hills, small farms, and inland villages. The main studio, which serves as headquarters for the class, was a gift of the Walter T. Best Women's Club.

It is not all work for the long-haired artists. There are many excellent beaches available for swimming, good golf courses, and tennis courts. Boating trips are also very popular. So if you are a brush wielder or a story-telling fisherman, visit Leelanau!

An exhibition of the students' work is held at the end of each session at Leland and at MSC.

SPEECH

Many students consider Dramatics the most interesting department in the college. Perhaps this is why it has drawn many of our most talented students. The curriculum is varied to give a general knowledge of dramatic history, literature, radio, and stage production, plus a practical knowledge of acting and stage direction.

The Speech Department works closely with dramatics. There are special sections in radio, dramatic and corrective speaking as well as the general courses. A Speech Clinic is maintained to retrain freshmen and recondition those who have serious voice defects. For those interested in oratory or debate, the Speech Department sponsors numerous campus and intercollegiate contests.

JOURNALISM

With the clatter of new typewriters the journalism department has settled down in its South Campus home. New equipment and an enlarged staff are coping with the increased enrollment. Photo-journalism, a unique addition to the curriculum, will utilize the recently-completed $15,000 darkroom.

Instructors in the department, one of the best of its kind in the country, serve as advisers on student publications. Journalism majors are required to do a summer's internship to gain practical knowledge in their related fields.

CHEMISTRY and PHYSICS

Test tubes, balances, and experimental reports all go to make up a day for students pursuing the wonders and mysteries of the scientific world. Physics and chemistry have taken on new importance in this age of atomic energy and synthetic materials.

The physics and chemistry departments at MSC have witnessed a steady growth in the past few years. New science and physics buildings under construction reflect the accentuated interest in science.

ENGINEERING...

Being predominantly a school of applied science, M.S.C. has gained a wide reputation in the study of engineering. Graduates take their places in every field of the applied sciences . . . metallurgical, electrical, chemical, agricultural, and civil engineering.

Laboratory and experimental work carried on in connection with agriculture and industry has enhanced State's place in the sciences. New methods and improvements developed by the staff are constantly being made available to all who can utilize them.

BIOLOGICAL SCIENCE

Biological Science might well be considered one of the more popular sciences here at MSC. Dealing with the study of human and animal life it holds practical interest for most students. Many parents and visitors who have passed the Bio Sci door have been intrigued by Percy the plaster man, or the bottles of frustrated frogs. Many freshmen, who have become acquainted with biology because of basic requirements, choose to remain in the field.

VETERINARY MEDICINE...

"Call the Doc quick—Billie broke a leg!" The ambulatory clinician and a veterinary student dash out. The student is in large-animal clinic and must go on farm service calls once a week.

This department, established in 1907, ranks high among the veterinary schools in the country. At present, staff members are studying the use of penicillin and sulphadiazine drugs in animal treatment.

Of the 373 students enrolled in veterinary school, 145 are medical technology students. After three years of training, med techs must put in a year of hospital experience.

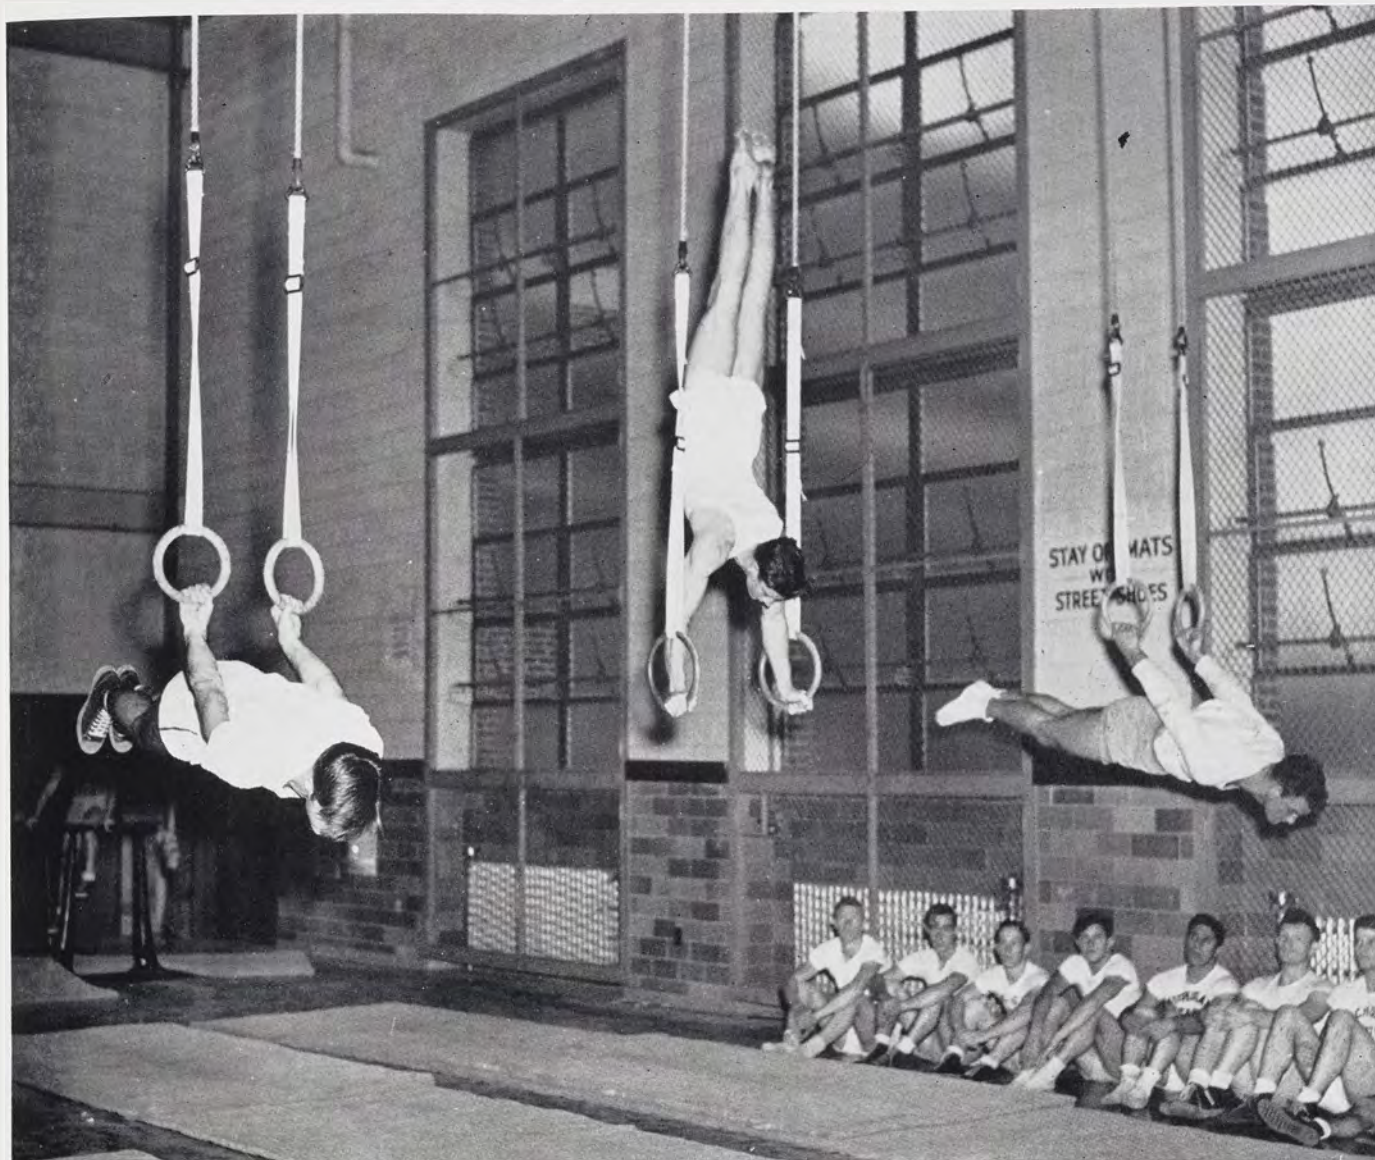

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Captains of industry may not be produced in any noticable quantity, but State is turning out increasing numbers of executives. The growing demand of industry and business in recent years for more and more college-trained administrative personnel has prompted State to expand its School of Business Administration.

The students who come to MSC for business training find instruction in merchandising, accounting, financing, taxation, and many of the other phases of management. From its beginning as an elective course, in 1925, the School of Business Administration has grown in scope and prestige until today it offers over half a hundred courses in modern business practice.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The Department of Physical Education, Health and Recreation has an important part in the curriculum at M.S.C. A wide selection of courses is offered. Those who prefer team sports may choose from hockey, soccer, basketball, football, and baseball. Individual sports include swimming, fencing, tennis, golf, and tumbling. The student has the opportunity to select a sport that will be of value throughout life.

State has fine facilities available for training purposes. Jenison Gymnasium has nine large activity areas, including six floors, a swimming pool, handball courts, and the fieldhouse. An entire building is also devoted to the women. It contains a large and small gym, a dance studio, and one of the finest pools in the country. This beautiful and modern plant is located near 72 acres of courts, fields, and diamonds which are used for the extensive out-of-doors program.

HOME ECONOMICS

In lieu of the Three R's, senior home-economic majors learn the Three C's—Cooking, Cleaning, and Caring for the children. A final requisite for these coeds is learning how to use the resources of a home to the best advantage. In this way MSC women supplement their formal education with practical experience in the beautifully-designed Home Management House, east of Olin Memorial Hospital. The new house was completed last fall to replace the old management houses which were torn down to make room for the new women's dorms.

Thirty-two girls live and work together for a six-week period, taking turns at cooking, shopping, budgeting, and planning every aspect of their living.

HORTICULTURE...

Michigan State's Department of Horticulture includes divisions dealing with flowers, fruits, vegetables, ornamental plants, and processing. The department has two sub-stations and 227 acres used for show purposes, known as the Hidden Lake Gardens.

The state legislature has appropriated $150,000 for the department to remodel the horticulture building. When finished it will be a technical research center having many laboratories and storage rooms of different temperatures. Research is carried on constantly. New products have been made to kill weeds and to keep apples and Christmas tree needles from dropping, to mention a few. The department has bred a chrysanthemum called Michigan State, and much time has been spent on consumer packaging of vegetables and flowers.

Members of the Horticulture Club gave State its first Flower Show last fall.

FORESTRY

These gentlemen are not enjoying the scenic beauty of State's expansive campus; they're studying forestry and learning that an oak tree is really a quercus alba and an evergreen is a pinus glabra.

With its nurseries, woodlands, and experimental stations, the MSC Forestry Department is well equipped to prepare students for all phases of the field. MSC graduates are working all over the world as rangers, forest supervisors, consultants, and other specialists in conservation and industrial forestry.

AGRICULTURE

Students Get Practical
Experience in M.S.C. Creamery

Whether it's animal husbandry, soil science, dairying, or irrigation, you'll find them, and many more, at MSC, for State has an unchallenged reputation for being one of the world's foremost schools of agriculture.

For over ninety years MSC has been serving the State of Michigan and the nation with its discoveries and developments in the field of agriculture. Its 3000-acre farm adjacent to the campus at East Lansing and its thirteen experimental stations throughout Michigan enable MSC to carry on effective research in progressive farming methods.

Radio Workshop Production

WKAR CELEBRATES

You, too, can be a "soap opera"—or a part of one, anyway. Students of MSC who have the requisite talent are gaining valuable experience through their work on WKAR'S programs. J. Kenneth Richards, who is in charge of productions, sometimes uses from 160 to 150 students a week in casts, as announcers, or in other capacities.

Every Thursday the Radio Workshop produces a 30-minute show, under the direction of Joe A. Callaway and J. D. Davis. The "workshop" is composed of students who are either enrolled in radio courses or who have been successfully auditioned. They go to work on their professional scripts and turn out a variety of shows, from comedies to mysteries.

Keeping WKAR running smoothly is its director, Robert J. Coleman. He, the students, and the regular staff are doing a fine job in presenting the programs that we, and at least 50,000 other listeners, hear daily.

"This is the 870 spot on your dial, WKAR East Lansing." Yes, that's the station identification of our college station, the pioneer station that has had an active broadcasting history. On August 18, 1947, they celebrated their Silver Anniversary to climax twenty-five years of service on the air.

Since their licensing in 1922, the staff and engineers have developed WKAR by leaps and bounds. The station's latest addition, a FM band, arrived a year ago March.

The current star show is "Adventure in Music", a musical education program which packs the Music Auditorium weekly with Michigan school children. WKAR's own soap Opera, "Life at Liberty Mills" and the Book-mobile Program are other popular "live" talent shows.

TIMES THAT TRY

Into each life some rain must fall— campus life being no exception. No matter what thoughts have occupied collegiate minds or what activities have claimed collegiate energies, all are eventually subordinated to the whip hand of the comprehensive. Three terms' work . . . !

CRITICAL PERIOD...

Anxious expectation characterizes the interim between exams and receipt of grades. When the mailman finally brings the ominous envelope, we realize the stark reality of a just reward. New resolutions are made and another term comes 'round. But the senior with cap and gown is not so sure of his feelings. After all, State is going to be hard to leave!

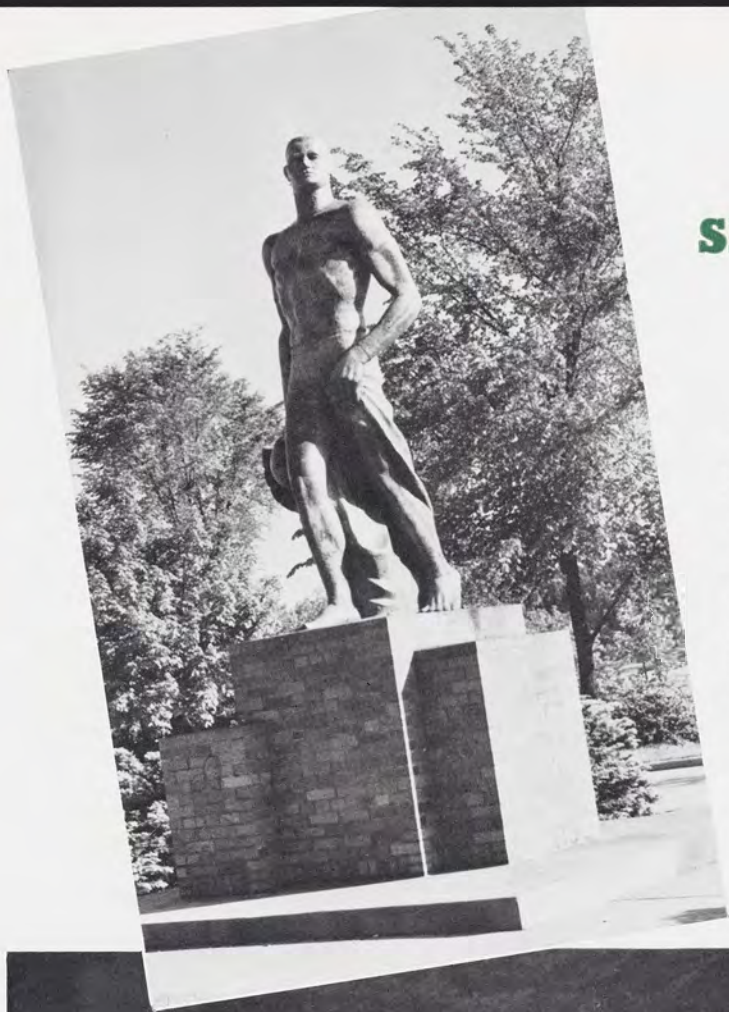

IT'S NOT ALL WORK

This year has been crammed with activities of every nature. Seats were at a premium at most sporting events; tickets to all-college dances and social functions were equally popular. Concerts, lectures, plays, and presentations to suit every taste dotted the calendar throughout the year, while interest-group and club activities ascended to an all time high. Spartans never had to look for things ings to do and places to go.

SENIOR TRADITION . . .

LONG a tradition at State, the annual spring Lantern Night spotlights the achievements of outstanding senior women. By the light of gaily-painted lanterns, the procession of upperclassmen threads its way across campus to the auditorium steps. Here, selected women receive their citations. Lanterns are handed down to the underclassmen in a ceremony symbolic of the lighted torch.

THE GREEK SINGS

Each spring the MSC bandshell is the scene of the sorority and fraternity sings. Sponsored by Panhellenic Council and Alpha Phi Omega, these contests have become traditional at State.

The Greeks prepare for the events with long hours of early-morning practice. Spectators come from miles around to sit on the grass and watch the attractively dressed men and girls, who lend charm as well as song to the occasions.

three nights. Colored lighting, picturesque floats, and the beauty of the Red Cedar by moonlight combined to make this one of MSC's most spectacular shows, and one that promises to gain a widespread reputation.

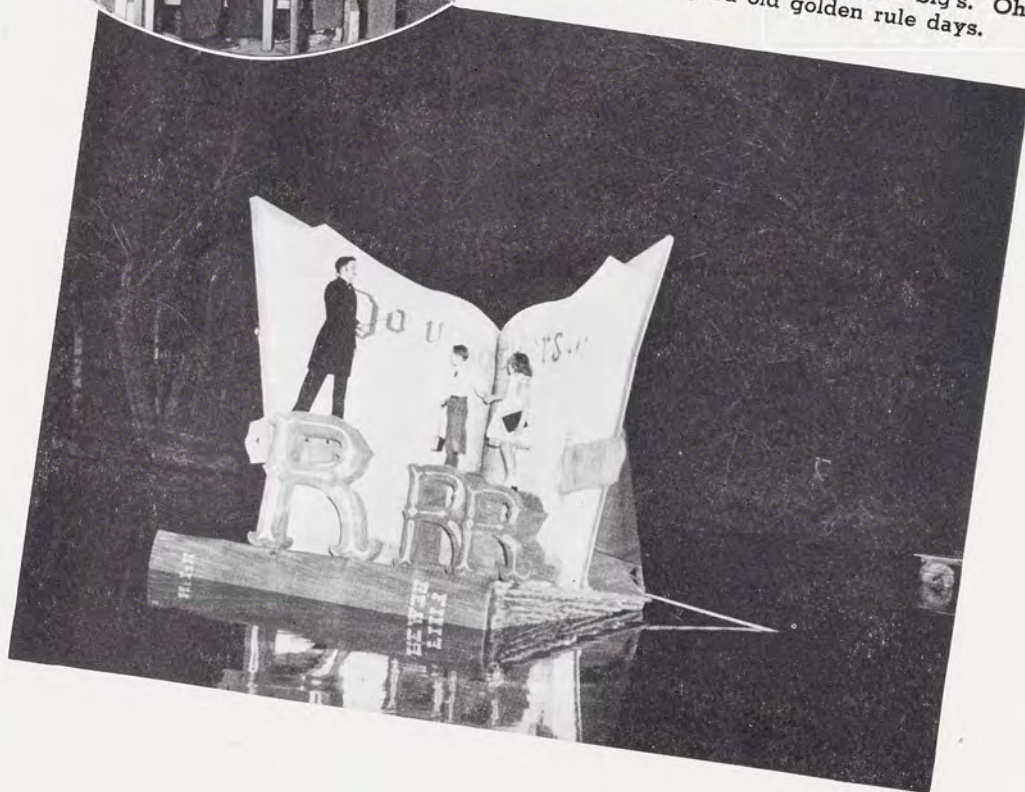

Harold Rockwell and Peg Frimodig preside as King and Queen of the Carnival.

Karl McDonel hands the trophy to Joe Greenhoe.

All entries were judged on ingenuity and effectiveness in carrying out their theme. With limited time to build, the students created such remarkable dimensional effects that judging was difficult. Applause showed that the audience agreed with the final decision.

MAY MORNING SING . . . SENIOR RECEPTION

The setting is Beaumont Tower. The clear chimes of the carillon ring out in the early morning air. Coeds of Michigan State College gather to await the great moment when Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, and Tower Guard, sophomore women's honorary, tap new members. A colorful note is provided by the voices of the Men's Glee Club. The psychological moment has been reached and those women who have outstanding scholarship and leadership are called forth to take their pledge.

Sorority houses, dorms, and co-op houses are serenaded the preceeding night by active members. The following morning, on the porch of the Union, President and Mrs. Hannah are hosts at a breakfast given for active Mortar Board members, the initiates, and their parents.

The President's Senior Reception was initiated in 1942 by President Hannah in his second year of office. Since then it has developed into one of MSC's well-known traditions. The Reception, at which tea and cookies are served, gives the senior students the opportunity to meet Mr. and Mrs. Hannah and members of the college teaching staff. The students have an unusual chance to enjoy the faculty in an informal atmosphere.

The student-faculty "Carousel," sponsored by S.W.L., is held each year for an enthusiastic crowd. Dancing, games, entertainment and refreshments are included in the evening's fun. The purpose is to bring about a closer relationship between faculty and students on campus.

INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL

The International Club, since its organization in 1941, has received widespread recognition. Each year the sixty-five members, who hail from all parts of the globe, present an International festival where their native customs and festivities are portrayed. The program, designed to broaden our understanding of foreign cultures, has been praised by statesmen from all parts of the world.

Since this festival was inaugurated a few years ago, Dr. Lee and the foreign students have received many encouraging and congratulatory messages from such men as Trygve Lie, Secretary-general of the UNO, the Premier of France, and President Ruthven of the University of Michigan.

... AND SENIOR HOPES

Coveted dream of MSC scholars is recognition on the Dean's list . . . a dream carried from first term freshman days until graduation. A 2.5 or better assures a place on the list which is posted on the upper deck of the Union by Mortar Board.

A new event was recently added to State's social agenda. This is the Senior Dinner which was first given in honor of graduating students at the end of last fall term. Wives and husbands of the graduates were also invited to attend. It was sponsored by the State Board of Agriculture and will be held every fall and winter from now on.

The first dinner was presided over by Dean Crowe with short speeches from President Hannah and Dean Emmons. By inaugurating this event the Board of Agriculture is satisfying a definite need of students who cannot participate in spring commencement exercises.

This is the closest some ever get to the Dean's list.

ALL PATHS LEAD TO

Occupying an imposing position on Grand River Boulevard, the MSC Memorial Union traditionally has been the center of State's activities since its dedication in 1925. With the completion of the new million-dollar wing, the union will offer outstanding facilities for the growing student body it serves.

Christmas is coming.

. . . THE UNION

Union Board sells MSC Appointment Calendar.

Early in the 19th century a group of Cambridge men, fired by a passion for free discussion, formed an attic debating society. During the next few years a similar group took hold at Oxford, then at Harvard. These organizations were sowing the seeds of what were to be the first college unions.

As they grew they developed broader functions, gradually assuming an all-college aspect.

For more than a century the union idea spread to other schools, incorporating new purposes as it grew. It emerged finally as the modern concept of the college union—an organization to promote student social and cultural life—a center of campus activity.

HOMECOMING . . .

Spartans gathering for the pre-game pep rally . . . smoking torches in snake dances to the bon fire . . . band music . . . school songs . . . husky yells . . . returning "bearded north woods alumni" canoeing in for their share of the humor . . . burning of Iowanians to ward off evil omens . . . and bring victory to the team. . . . Spartan spirit at a peak in anticipation of the game . . . and the lingering, exuberant crowds.

After the game . . . students and alums dripping with the weather and comments on same . . . bath towels and soiled clothing . . . part of it borrowed . . . preparations and plans for the evening . . . APO's Homecoming Dance . . . a staid tradition . . . good music by Jimmy Shafer . . . what a Saturday. . . but we wouldn't miss it.

STATE'S NEW LOOK

After the fashion feudin' was over, the gals resolutely took needle in hand . . . down, down, down, went the hemlines . . . and down, down, down, went the budgets to complete the metamorphosis. Gals bid adieu to their old favorite sloppy Joe sweaters and short pleated skirts . . . in their stead emerged the straight, lean-look skirt or the huge billowy skirt, highlighted with a neat Gibson-gal blouse . . . and soft cascades of curly hair tied back with a pert bow. Voluminous backswing coats, accented with huge collars or hoods, hovered over a peep of dark sheer hose slipped into conservative shoes. Yes sir . . . State's coeds grudgingly accepted, and were among the first to interpret, that new look. . . .

WORLD CITIZENS . . .

We must look to new horizons for world peace and better living through cooperation and understanding on an international level. If actions of the past year are any measure, most of the students at MSC believe in these new horizons. The successful activities of the WSSF, International Relations Club, UN Committee, Students for Democratic Action, and the International Club, all stand as proof of their sincerity.

In conjunction with the WSSF drive for funds, the SDA conducted a clothing drive for needy students in the American occupation zone of Germany. Other organizations on campus participated in similar drives for other areas.

Problems such as our relationship with the Soviet Republic were discussed under the sponsorship of the local UN Committee. This committee works under the general direction of the Student Council and has the help and cooperation of twelve organizations, with more expected to join.

Students of the world have come to the conclusion that widespread education and understanding of the way in which others live must be the basis for peace. The organizations of MSC should be proud that they are backing this belief with intelligent leadership and action.

ROYALTY AND MUSIC

Highpoints on the Spartan social calendar are the traditional Mardi Gras and Coronation Ball. Great anticipation surrounds the identity of the King and Queen before they are crowned during the colorful intermission at the Mardi Gras.

An equally beautiful and spectacular ceremony is built around the presentation of R.O.T.C. Corps Sponsors, when ten of State's prettiest coeds march beneath a line of raised sabers in their vivid capes.

The School of Agriculture annually presents the semi-formal Harvest Ball. The Harvest Queen is crowned during intermission by the head of the department, E. L. Anthony.

IDEALLY YOURS . . .

Top honors for feminine beauty and charm go to the many queens chosen annually at MSC. Whether elected by the student body or by a particular group, the women typify sparkling personality, sophistication, poise, vivaciousness and glamour. Selection as a campus queen is quite a feather in the Lily Dache hat of any coed—a feather proudly worn and remembered.

WINTERGREEN FOR PRESIDENT

Once a year all students have a chance to drag out their soap boxes and climb aboard one of the band wagons, as Senator Claghorns merge on the campus scene. Enthused constituents clean out the attic looking for English Syllabus 111 to read up on the "Art of Persuasive Speaking."

The attitude of most students is to take it calmly, but who could be nervous around here and stay long? One is likely to encounter anything from a conga line in the grill to an old V-8 banging down the sidewalk and urging everyone to vote for Higgenbottem, the handsomest boy on campus—whose party platform consists of "no more midterms for freshmen."

Although we joke about our Senator Claghorns, we are proud of them. We are prouder still that we live in a country where we can put them in office.

IT'S A 'STATE' TRADITION

ACTIVITIES . . .

Traditionally, State students are busy people, cramming endless activities into their college life. Opportunity is given for a second Dorothy Thompson to pound a typewriter or a protegee of Maurice Evans to emote in Fairchild Theater. The knack for cartooning or a gift for persuasive argument—all talents have an outlet in State interest groups.

Gerry Warren gets the Student Council meeting underway with the help of Helen Jeffords and John Hayes.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The investigation and solution of all problems pertinent to student life at Michigan State is the objective of Student Council. In an effort to develop consciousness and student interest, the council put out a weekly information sheet, took over a large bulletin board near the Union Desk, and placed suggestion boxes at convenient spots on campus.

As a result of written suggestions and requests from many students, members of Student Council took definite action on such matters as the revival of traditions, organization of the UN Council, student wages, and bike riding.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

A representative group known as the Association of Women Students touches the life of every coed by promoting the spirit of friendship and formulating rules of social conduct and scholarship. Composed of a Judiciary-Legislative Board and an Activities Board, AWS is a coordinating body for all women's organizations. It plans such projects as the May Morning Sing and Lantern Night.

MEN'S COUNCIL

Coordinating activities of the eighteen men's organizations on campus is the prime purpose of the Men's Council. Membership includes representatives from all men's groups at Michigan State.

Broadening its scope over former years, the Council extended its program to include a vocational lecture series. Designed to acquaint all students with various vocations, the series included talks by professional men as well as industrial and business representatives.

The group, comparable to AWS, acts as a channel to the administration. It aids the Student Council in its work and promotes all worthy campus activities. With help from the Dean of Men, the Council intensified and enlarged its orientation program to provide leadership training for first year students.

Reactivated after a wartime vacation, the Men's Council reorganized under a new constitution in 1946. This governing body for men was founded in 1940. Looking to the future, attention of the group is focused on publication of the all-college handbook, co-sponsored with AWS and the Student Council.

Visitors are welcome to the meetings which are held every two weeks. Petitioning and receiving two thirds vote of the group insures admittance of new members.

BIG SISTER COUNCIL

"I'm going to meet my big sister for a coke," said a freshman coed. "We've been writing all summer and I'm anxious to meet her." Her "big sister" was one of the sophomore, junior, or senior women who volunteered to help a new girl learn her way around. The big sisters meet with their "campus little sisters" and explain scholastic activities, social events and the traditions at MSC.

Members of the Big Sister Council are chosen from the petition blanks which are submitted each spring. Eligible women must have an all-college one-point and an above-freshman status. The members select big sisters for the next fall.

The 1947 Council assigned a big sister to over twelve hundred freshmen girls. This was done during the summer so they might become acquainted before the opening of school. They also worked in connection with the Counselor for Women's Office in sending out questionnaires to obtain information from the big sisters concerning their little sisters. These questionnaires are filed in Mrs. Gonon's office and used when information about freshmen girls is needed.

INDEPENDENT STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION

Although it is functionally a service organization, the Independent Students' Association gives independents an opportunity to develop leadership and responsibility in campus affairs and serves as a constructive force in promoting the ideals of our college.

ISA was formed at Michigan State during winter term of '46. Members attended the National Independent Students' Association at the University of Oklahoma that spring and soon after the group went national.

One of the numerous service projects in which the organization participated was the Ride Bureau. With Marty Martinez as chairman it was able to make connections between scores of hitch-hikers and drivers. Members cooperated with Student Council in sponsoring pep rallies before football and basketball games, and were responsible for the flash-card system.

A cup was offered to winners of the Men's Independent Basketball League and ISA entered a team. During fall term members held the "Turtle Hop" in the Union Ballroom.

Membership took a climb this year under the leadership of Erv Hoffman and remained partially active during the summer. A summer committee with Don Geiss at its head put on a dance in the Forestry Cabin as well as one in the Union.

HONORARIES

FORMING the hub of the campus wheel are the honoraries, organizations to which every student aspires. Members are chosen on the basis of special talents, leadership, and scholastic achievements. These Spartans have reached the peak in their respective fields and have been recognized for their outstanding abilities.

EXCALIBUR

A group of select seniors comprise the exclusive men's honorary, Excalibur. Election to membership in the group means that an individual has excelled in leadership, scholarship, campus activities and character.

Restricted to thirteen leaders in campus politics, student publications, athletics, dramatics, and service organizations, Excalibur stands as the goal of every freshman entering State. Membership carries with it the honor of wearing the dark-blue robe at tapping ceremonies which are held each year during the intermission of the Water Carnival.

The men may be recognized by their light-tan corduroy jackets emblazoned with a red "X" over the left breast pocket. The thirteen men wearing these jackets may be seen each week at the honorary's luncheon meetings where campus problems are discussed.

Ten seniors are tapped each spring and the remaining three are chosen fall term by the newly elected group. Excalibur is not affiliated with other campuses and is the only one of its kind at MSC.

MORTAR BOARD

Beneath Beaumont Tower early in the morning of May 1, Mortar Board actives traditionally tap their new pledges. Last May twelve junior women were chosen to wear the black-and-gold pin of Pi Sigma Alpha, the Greek letters representing the qualifications for membership—leadership, service to the college, and scholarship. Before it affiliated with the national organization in 1934, the group was known as Sphinx Society.

Mortar Board, the only senior women's honorary, was founded at Syracuse University in 1918. The members strive to stimulate college unity, promote the spirit of fairness and fellowship among women, encourage and maintain leadership, and establish high standards of scholarship within the student body.

In keeping with its high aims last year, the honorary sponsored three all-college mixers in the Auditorium for fall-term freshmen, in conjunction with Blue Key honorary; posted the Deans' List on the upper deck of the Union; assisted as hostesses at teas in the International Center; helped Town Girls and AWS in staging the Spinster Spin, MSC's only girl-bid dance; prepared and supervised Lantern Night for the seniors; and worked with the administration on the spring marriage lectures.

Members are known by their white jackets with the Mortar Board insignia on the pockets, which they wear each Thursday.

BLUE KEY

Each year fifteen to twenty top-ranking junior and senior men are called onto the stage at the Blue Key Sweetheart Ball to receive the blue and white sash of the national honor society. The honor is awarded to those men who have proven themselves as student leaders at State. Not only must they show themselves as superior in character, leadership, and initiative, but they must also present a record that shows more than a speaking acquaintance with studies.

Although Blue Key aims to honor leading Spartan men, it does not rest on its laurels with a little reciprocal back-slapping. Foremost among its aims is service to the students, faculty, and school. The group began the year by sponsoring a series of mixer dances in the College Auditorium. Its assignment for the WSSF drive was a half-time skit at the Santa Clara game.

Begun in the spring of '47, the Blue Key Bulletin came out again last fall to abet other campus publications.

Always a big event is the annual Blue Key Sweetheart Ball when the members present their ideal coed. This year the title of Blue Key Sweetheart went to Betty McLachlan.

TAU BETA PI

This engineering association, one of the oldest honorary societies in the United States, was founded at Lehigh University in 1885. The basis of its foundation is well stated in the constitution: "To mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their Alma Mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates in engineering, or by their attainments as alumni in the field of engineering; and to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges of America."

Tau Beta Pi has as its members many of the leading engineers and industrial leaders in this country and has a position of the highest standing in the engineering profession of America.

The Michigan Alpha Chapter of Tau Beta Pi is the second oldest, being founded in 1892. To be eligible for membership undergraduate engineers must have at least a 2.0 all-college average and rank in the upper fifth of their class as seniors or the upper eighth as juniors. Scholarship is not the only requirement, as both character and leadership play a part in the selection of members.

Michigan Alpha is proud to have Professor Merton M. Cory of the Electrical Engineering Department in the membership. Mr. Cory is now the National President of Tau Beta Pi. Mr. Cory was initiated into the chapter in 1909 and since then has taken an active interest in the chapter, having for many years served on the faculty advisory board.

TOWER GUARD

Tower Guard is the sophomore women's honorary corresponding to the male honorary Green Helmet. It is not, as one naive freshman suggested, a group of men who guard Beaumont Tower. Initiates are tapped at the close of their freshman year during the traditional May Morning Sing.

The Guards read to blind students on campus and tutor underclassmen in basic or elective courses. Many a lost and bewildered freshman has gratefully received registration aid from a member of Tower Guard. They also present programs in Beaumont Tower Gardens for the Youth Club of MSC, give Christmas parties each year for the blind students, and provide hostesses for the annual conference of high school principals and freshmen.

Tower Guard members acted as solicitors and canvassers for last year's World Student Service Fund drive. The group sponsored several teas and programs at the International House to acquaint foreign coeds with campus traditions.

State's expansion program ousted the organization from Beaumont Tower during the shortage of Basic College offices last year. Tower Guard hopes to retain their former headquarters and again be the "tower guard" in fact as well as in name.

GREEN HELMET

Green Helmet, the sophomore men's honorary, recognizes and rewards those sophomore men who have had a record of high scholarship and all-around achievement during their freshman year. Founded in 1939 by Jim Husted, it was active until the shortage of men forced a temporary retirement during the war years. In 1946 the honorary was revived with the tapping of twenty-one men. This year the green-and-white sash was given to sixteen men during tapping ceremonies at the Sophomore Ball.

Under the co-sponsorship of Don Buell and Kenneth Brown, Green Helmet has been responsible for a long list of services to the college. Principal responsibilities are to assist freshmen and to sponsor Freshmen Week program.

To help the WSSF drive last fall, Green Helmet conducted the faculty auction. Faculty members agreed to offer their services to the highest bidder, with all proceeds going directly to WSSF. On the morning of November 14 students had the unique pleasure of seeing three prominent professors clean the grill.

A local honorary, the Green Helmet was organized primarily to reward outstanding men before they reached junior status.

ALPHA DELTA THETA

With the national Alpha Delta Theta Convention to be held on the Michigan State campus in the fall of '48, the forty members of the Delta chapter are already inaugurating new ideas to assure the success of this important event.

The chief aim of this professional sorority for Med Techs is to encourage a friendly understanding among future laboratory technicians so that they might better work together from an intellectual and social standpoint.

Under the excellent guidance of Dr. Lois Calhoun and with suggestions from Dr. Henrik Stafseth, both of whom were recently made honorary members, the co-eds hold bi-monthly meetings to hear well-known scientists and physicians. Among the guest speakers from Detroit this past year were Dr. Hartman from Ford Hospital, who is also the president of the American Association of Clinical Pathologists, and Dr. Beaver, director of the laboratories at Woman's Hospital. Dr. Meulberger, from the Michigan State Department of Health, accompanied his talk on Scientific Methods of Criminal Investigations with colorful movies.

Social functions of the year included the annual Med Tech picnic, which is a student-faculty affair, and the initiation banquet for the new officers and members. Representatives of the sorority also worked on the Veterinary Council to aid in the sponsoring of several open dances.

GAMMA DELTA

Founded in 1934, the Alpha Omicron Chapter of Gamma Delta, one of sixty, is an international association of Lutheran college students governed by the Missouri Synod.

Their objectives include fostering Bible study, disseminating the scriptural philosophy of life, training Lutheran students for Christian service, and establishing fraternal relations among members.

Gamma Delta's activities are spiritual, social, athletic, and cultural. Benefits to the individual are directly in ratio to his or her participation in this four-fold program. With these thoughts uppermost in their minds, the local chapter meets semi-monthly for religious discussions and social functions.

During fall term Gamma Delta sponsored a delegate to the National Gamma Delta Convention held in Nebraska. The trip was not only educational, but showed the increasing strength and obligations this organization has in educational institutions today. The winter term was highlighted by the annual banquet and installation of officers.

Gamma Delta is honored in having the Rev. E. L. Woldt, as its advisor, and equally proud of Dr. L. Wolfanger, its faculty advisor. Dr. I. Gross, International Field Secretary of Gamma Delta, was a regular attendant at their meetings. Their success can be measured by the increased membership during the past year.

ALPHA ZETA

Promoting the interests of agriculture is the purpose of Alpha Zeta, national honorary fraternity. Alpha Zeta is represented on the MSC campus by the Kedzie chapter which has been prominent in school affairs since 1902, and is ranked high among the forty-five chapters in the nation.

Members of the fraternity are chosen as the finest students in the school of agriculture. To be eligible for the honorary a student must possess outstanding qualities of leadership, scholarship and moral conduct. In addition members must be proficient in activities of the campus and School of Agriculture. Many of America's foremost agricultural leaders have been AZ members.

The May Agricultural Field Day is a campus highlight for the Kedzie Chapter. High school seniors from all parts of Michigan who have expressed their interest in agriculture are invited to this important event. The program for the day includes explanations of the Basic Club, the Ag School and Ag campus activities. The day is climaxed by a tour of the campus and college farms.

Each fall the honorary holds a smoker to introduce prospective pledges to the organization. During winter term the Kedzie Chapter has its annual banquet and officially welcomes outstanding Ag pledges into the fraternity.

SIGMA EPSILON

Sigma Epsilon was founded at Michigan State in 1930 by a group of students majoring in Business Administration and Economics. By January of the next year it had added its name to the list of campus honoraries.

Changes in the constitution during 1946 limited membership to Bus Ad students but allowed for an increased number. These changes promoted greater interest in finance, production, and merchandising.

Membership in the organization is restricted to juniors and seniors with a 1.75 average in business administration and econ courses and an average in all other subjects of 1.5. With the increased enrollment in Business Administration, spring term of 1947 found the membership quota of fifty entirely filled. The fall initiation banquet refilled the numerous positions which were vacated by graduates.

The purpose of Sigma Epsilon is to maintain friendly contacts among its members and professors, discuss significant business problems and developments, and bring representative speakers from the business world to the campus. In this way the organization stimulates interest between students having a major interest in economics and business and encourages higher scholarship. It rewards those of outstanding scholarship by placing their names on a silver plaque.

PI ALPHA XI

Since its inception in 1928, Pi Alpha Xi has striven to promote high scholarship among its members and to establish friendly relations between floriculture students, educators, and professional florists. Membership in this national organization is limited to outstanding men majoring in floriculture. The group founded Kappa Alpha Sigma, the floricultural honorary for women, and was responsible for the formation of the Floriculture Forum.

Each year the organization assists faculty members and the department in presenting the Michigan State Florists' Convention which comes in January. Another annual affair in which Pi Alpha Xi members participate is the National Flower Week. Campus exhibits, arranged by local florists and floriculture students, are displayed in the Horticulture Building, in windows of Ag Hall, and in the Union. Members also provide floral arrangements in college buildings at other times of the year. Another phase of Flower Week is the distribution of chrysanthemums in downtown Lansing. Members of Pi Alpha Xi helped pass them out, along with Kappa Alpha Sigma and commercial florists.

Throughout the year the organization sponsors general floriculture meetings, discussions, demonstrations, and the Floriculture Forum.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Epsilon Kappa chapter of Kappa Delta Pi was installed on our campus in 1942. Membership in this fraternity requires a two-point college scholastic average, at least fifteen credits in education, and a sincere interest and desire to uphold the highest ideals in the field of education. The organization includes—in addition to juniors and seniors—graduate students and faculty members.

The pin of this fraternity is a scroll and stylus. A magazine, the Educational Forum is published quarterly by the society, as well as the Kappa Delta Pi Lecture Series, the Kappa Delta Pi research publications, and others.

The Sixteenth Biennial Convocation of Kappa Delta Pi was held at Madison Hotel, Atlantic City, New Jersey, in February. Two of the members from Michigan State attended it and brought back many new ideas.

Monthly meetings are held, at which outstanding speakers narrate experiences from their broad field of knowledge. Informal parties are also part of the program. An annual banquet is held each year following initiation of pledges to celebrate the event.

Dr. Alfred Noll, of the Michigan State Educational Department, acted as advisor for the year's program.

DZV'S

The best music of all may come from Carnegie Hall, but if you like getting into a bull session on athletics, the best music of all comes from Charlie Washburne's Smoke "Shoppe." The basement of his little shoppe across the street from the Union is headquarters for DZV, the athletic brotherhood of Michigan State College.

DZV was formed in 1938 by a group of independent varsity athletes for the purpose of competing in intramural athletics during their time-off from varsity competition. In this respect the brotherhood has been extremely successful, having won more championships than any other organization on the campus.

Although the emphasis of the club is on athletics, the DZV has been active in upholding many of MSC's traditions. Last spring the brotherhood sent thirty members armed with brooms and dust pans to all corners of the campus to spark the "Clean the Campus" campaign. Another non-athletic activity of the club is supervising and organizing the recreational activities of a local community center for needy children in the East Lansing area.

At present the organization is working on plans for a memorial plaque to be placed in the new memorial center.

PORPOISE

The Porpoise Fraternity of Michigan State College is the Beta Chapter in the National Honorary Swimming Fraternity. The chapter was established here in 1930 primarily to sponsor and encourage all swimming activities.

Under the excellent advisorship of Coach McCaffree, the fraternity has made an enviable history. Members have established an award for the outstanding Michigan State swimmer of the year, and have assisted in water safety and life-saving programs on and off the campus. In the fall they sponsor the annual water pageant, one of our most colorful shows. They also help Green Splash with their Water Carnival each spring.

All male students of Michigan State who have shown superior ability and an active interest in swimming are eligible for membership. Each candidate must be scholastically eligible, according to the college rules governing Inter-collegiate Athletics. They must show their ability to swim a mile and swim various lengths using the crawl, back stroke, and breast stroke. They are required to dive, plunge, and float at various heights and distances—in fact, they must demonstrate practically everything except writing with an underwater pen.

One of Michigan State's celebrated scholastic honoraries is Phi Kappa Phi. Faculty, graduate, and under-graduate members are chosen from all departments of leading American colleges and universities. Both men and women from any division in school are eligible, but not more than ten per cent of the graduating class may be elected.

The objective of the society is to encourage scholarship and intellectual achievement. Each year the organization awards a fifty-dollar scholarship to the junior who has earned the highest point average in freshman and sophomore years. A plaque also is presented to the high school in class A, B, C, and D whose graduate made the best scholastic record in the freshman class at State.

ART GROUPS

"APPLICATION of skill and taste to production according to aesthetic principles": That is what A. Merriam Webster has to say about our musical, dramatic, dancing, and radio performers.

We seldom pause to realize that some of these students will some day be renowned artists. All of them have more than an ordinary amount of talent.

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE

Leonard Falcone, Director

The 1947 grid season saw the largest marching band in MSC history perform on Macklin Field. One hundred fifteen agile members went through their paces behind high-stepping drum major Jim Dye.

Plans for the 1947 football season were well underway the preceding spring when the band's program committee began thinking up ideas for interesting and novel formations and music. These ideas were then presented to the plans committee of the band whose task it was to outline the movements and draw up positions for each band member.

In the fall when the plans were complete, Professor Leonard Falcone mounted his fifty-foot podium on the drill field adjacent to the music building and, under the watchful eye of drillmaster Major William LaFarge, put the band through its maneuvers in preparation for the first Saturday afternoon.

Spartans all agreed that the '47 band was tops, and this fact was backed by the enthusiastic ovation received from Eastern grid fans when the band accompanied the State football team to Temple University. The marching band was also kept busy playing at basketball games and commencement exercises, and drilling with the Spartan ROTC unit when it held its weekly spring parades.

Though the Spartan masculine element dominates the marching band for most of its duties, each year women are invited to join its ranks for the annual winter concert in the auditorium and the outdoor spring concerts in the band-shell. These concerts feature classical orchestral works especially arranged for the band and are looked upon as some of the major presentations of the MSC Music Department each year.

To relieve the marching band of some of its duties and to provide an organization for men and women musicians who can't devote a large part of their time to band activities, MSC organized the eighty-five piece Varsity Band. Under the direction of Don Jackson, the Varsity Band played at many Spartan sporting events during the '47-'48 year and furnished the spirited music for those spectacular pep rallies.

The big event of the year for the Varsity Band was the popular concert it gave in the spring featuring light band music and popular classical compositions.

MSC SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Michigan State College orchestra, led by Alexander Schuster, is an organization of seventy-two musicians representing nearly every department of the college. In its numerous performances, the orchestra has approached a professional level in the interpretation of difficult works by such masters as Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms. Music by contemporary composers is also played, and several members of the music faculty have had their compositions performed.

Outside of its three regular concerts a year, the orchestra presents programs for Baccalaureate, the Michigan Educational Association Conference, Farmer's Week, the annual Christmas Concert, and other college functions. The Mozart Requiem was also performed in a joint recital by the orchestra and chorus.

In the past, the orchestra has accompanied many nationally known artists and this year has had the honor of playing with Ernest V. Walff, pianist and head of the piano department at MSC.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The Choir, as the name implies, is a smaller group than the all-college Chorus. Membership is limited to sixty voices but any student who can give a satisfactory audition may join when there is an opening. The auditions are held in the week following fall and winter registration.

The Choir is primarily interested in the study and performance of religious or quasi-religious works. The term "A Cappella" describes this church style but does not limit the group to unaccompanied choral music.

Credit for the exceptionally high musical standards of the A Cappella Choir belongs to Dr. William Kimmel who organized the group in 1936 and directed it until 1947 when he resigned from the Music Department. Under his leadership the ensemble gained an enviable reputation for technical excellence and fine taste. Their popular spring concerts have always been foremost on the Music Department agenda with numbers by Bach, Schubert, Palestrina, and other famous choral composers adding distinction. Many requests to appear before civic groups and broadcasts over WKAR have added to a crowded schedule.

Future plans for A Cappella Choir are being made by the new director, Gomer Llywelyn Jones, who also directs the College Chorus.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

Girls who like to sing have a fine opportunity in the Women's Glee Club. The group presents many concerts throughout the year, both on campus and in neighboring communities. They vary from the Thanksgiving program, for which the girls dressed in formals, to the performance for the Newcomer's Club. Other appearances included the Christmas Concert in the Auditorium, a trip to Jackson to sing for a women's organization, and the picturesque caroling in the Union with the members wearing white blouses and dark skirts. The annual spring concert is given near graduation time so that visiting parents may also hear the Glee Club.

Some of the selections were "I Waited for the Lord," three choruses from "Alice in Wonderland," the popular "Ave Maria," and "Going A-Maying" by Nageli-Luvaas.

In addition to the musical programs the girls plan many social activities, some in collaboration with the Men's Glee Club. Last spring they went on a picnic to Pinetum in lieu of the annual banquet. Awards are presented annually to those members who have been with the club for three or four years.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Michigan State College claims one of the largest men's glee clubs in America. Under the able direction of David Machtel, this one hundred-voice chorus sang at many college functions this year.

The purpose of the club is threefold—to provide the students and the people of Michigan with a quality men's chorus, to cultivate fellowship among those men on campus who are interested in singing, and to send out the name of Michigan State College in song.

The officers are men who have shown themselves to be outstanding members, both in musical ability and in other campus activities. All members who have served in the club for one year are presented with a pin or key; two-year men receive a large "S" blanket.

The Glee Club is proud of its director. In addition to being Assistant Head of Voice Instruction, Professor Machtel appears throughout the nation as a concert artist and choral director. Genial and well liked, "Mac" has welded the group together with his leadership and excellent direction.

The group has fostered many of State's beautiful traditions through its performances.

CAST ON STAGE . . .

"Joan of Lorraine," Maxwell Anderson's forceful drama of the life of Joan of Arc, was the spring production in 1947 for the MSC Dramatics Department. The play ran for four days at the Fairchild Theater and was the first production to be brought to MSC immediately after its initial Broadway showing. Mary Ellen Christiansen and Dale Bliss headed the cast with outstanding performances. Harold Hansen was the director and Ben Wampler had charge of the lavish stage settings.

The fall production for 1947 was "Mr. and Mrs. North," a three-act comedy by Owen Davis depicting the antics of a private detective in New York's Greenwich Village. Headliners of the cast were Barbara Karch and William Devereaux who portrayed the respective heads of the North household. It was directed by Don Buell.

The inquisition scene
Lorraine."

1948 was ushered in with the winter production "All My Sons," winner of the New York's Critics Award for the best play of 1947. This latest work of playwright Arthur Miller was a powerful story of a returned war hero who discovered his father had been producing defective materials during the war. In the feature roles were Gloria Patton and William Slout, under the direction of Stewart Chenoworth.

THETA ALPHA PHI

Founded in 1924 to promote campus interest in dramatics, the Michigan Delta chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic honorary, has enlarged its scope of activities until it now functions as an independent producing organization. Membership is limited to students who have earned a required number of points by work in campus dramatic productions.

Assuming full financial responsibility for the all-college term plays, members present a parade of successful productions. Last spring term Fairchild audiences applauded "Joan of Lorraine," and in fall quarter they laughed at the trials of "Mr. and Mrs. North."

Theta Alpha Phi was the first amateur group in the country to obtain production rights to the recent Broadway hit, "All My Sons," which won the Drama Critics' Award for the best play of the year. It was presented winter term in Fairchild.

As in past years, the organization fostered the activities of Studio Theater, the underclassman's training ground in dramatic work. This year they added a new theater workshop, Experimental Theater. This group began activities by presenting J. B. Priestly's imaginative study, "Music at Night" under the direction of Stuart Chenoweth. Soon after this, Experimental Theater staged "Barred Doors," an original melodrama written and directed by graduate assistant Reginald Holland.

PHI MU ALPHA

The Gamma Epsilon chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, the music society for men, has been active at Michigan State College for the past ten years. All members accept the aims of the fraternity: to promote the growth of American music, to establish comradeship and brotherhood among students of music, to develop a fine spirit among the members, and to encourage loyalty towards the Alma Mater.

This year Sinfonia again sponsored a weekly broadcast over the college station. These Sunday afternoon programs dealt chiefly with American music. Most of the preparations and performances were handled by Sinfonia members.

A province convention met at East Lansing this spring. The meeting was under the direction of Dr. William Sur, the provincial governor. Those who took part were primarily concerned with thinking out future policies of the society.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia was organized for those students who intend to make music their career; therefore this is the main qualification for membership.

ALPHA EPSILON RHO

The badge of radio excellence—a small pearl-studded microphone—is worn over the hearts of more than a score of undergraduates whose outstanding radio activities have earned for them the right to membership in Delta chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho. The local chapter was established in the spring of 1943.

The purpose of this national radio honorary is to encourage radio activities in all departments on the campus and to give recognition to personal achievement in this field.

Among the numerous projects undertaken by AER is the sponsorship of a half-hour dramatic show, "MSC Radio Workshop" which is heard over WKAR once each week. The honorary also does mock radio broadcasts for school and club groups in neighboring communities as a public service feature.

Points for membership in AER are earned by participation in college radio broadcasts and in projects of the Radio Guild which is an associative student group. Candidates must take part in approximately fifteen air shows as actors, directors, script writers, or sound technicians before they are considered for membership. The most deserving students are accepted into the fraternity.

Professor Joe Callaway, founder of Delta chapter, and Professor J. D. Davis of the Speech Department are the club advisors.

RADIO GUILD

In spite of its short history on the campus, Radio Guild is well known for its activities. The fifty members of the Guild take an enthusiastic interest in producing, directing, and acting in the weekly radio show over WKAR. Even the casting is done by the students. Each week a different cast is chosen for the fifteen-minute drama so that the parts are rotated.

The productions are adaptations of short stories. They are usually taken from books of radio plays but sometimes a story is adapted by the students. Every Thursday auditions are held for the following week and the cast which is chosen practices for two or three hours. The actors practice for another hour on Tuesday before the show goes on the air at four.

Membership is not confined to radio majors. The only pre-requisite is a real interest in all phases of radio work. The Guild provides an excellent opportunity for members to get valuable and practical experience in radio broadcasting. They alternate jobs, thus learning about all parts of a production from writing the script to watching the timing. Occasionally a student will act in the same show he has helped write. Radio Guild also helps the members get points which are needed for membership in Alpha Epsilon Rho, the National Radio Honorary.

PUBLICATIONS..

Student publications have long played a leading role in campus life at M.S.C. Being more than mere chronicles of college events, they reflect the spirit and attitude of the student body. The State News, Spartan, Veterinarian, and Wolverine are fine examples of student journalism.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS

Number one among student publications is the Michigan State News, which gives the student body a clear and concise picture of campus happenings. "If there's a story in it, we'll print it" has been the philosophy followed for the past year by the State News. Actually it is not quite as simple as that . . . to produce a daily newspaper which serves 15,000 students and consistently holds an All-American rating in the Associated Collegiate Press.

A staff of over a hundred students is required to gather, write, and edit news and feature stories, circulate the daily editions, manage the advertising, and look after numerous other jobs necessary to get the News out on time and keep up journalistic standards.

An aggressive policy of expansion has enabled the News to keep abreast of changes that have taken place on the campus. It has resulted in a bigger and better school paper.

With sober faces the Spartan editorial staff continues its quest for humor while the business staff carries on its mundane financial activities.

THE SPARTAN . . .

"What fools these mortals be" commented Con Williams as he thumbed through the year's ten issues of the Spartan, products of his reign as editor of Michigan State's humor magazine. Though those ten issues represent one of the most successful periods in the Spartan's eleven years of publication, Con points to the magazine's co-sponsorship of MSC's first Homecoming Queen as one of its biggest triumphs of the '47-'48 school year.

Cartoons, photos, satires, and feature stories all contribute to the make-up of the Spartan. The production of a campus magazine of such variety demands the services of a staff with diversified talents. Cartoonists, photographers, writers, and a host of others lend aid and create new ideas.

The circulation and general business of this year's Spartan fell to Business Manager Grant Turnbloom. Over forty circulation and advertising managers and assistants made up his staff. It was a big job, but the Spartan closed its books on the right side of the ledger and with a larger circulation than ever before.

After thumbing through your 1948 Wolverine, perhaps you would like to see the people who assembled it . . . the people who pounded out readable copy . . . the photographers who showed up at unusual places to get unusual pictures . . . the folks who did the office chores and mailed stacks of correspondence . . . the editors and business staff who wrestled with publication problems and financial contracts.

The work of gathering information and planning pictures on hundreds of clubs and scores of activities furnished plenty of work for the large editorial staff. Selling and distributing eight thousand copies of the '48 Wolverine plus going out and getting ads put many more students to work in the circulation and advertising departments.

Exuberant Rollie Young was responsible for co-ordinating the work of the staffs, and diminutive Margo Green did a man's job in her role as Business Manager. It is for you to judge the success of their efforts.

MSC VETERINARIAN

The MSC Veterinarian, the quarterly publication of the Michigan State chapter of the American Veterinary Medical Association, is unknown to most State students although it is one of the top periodicals in its field. It serves the dual purpose of a scientific journal and an alumni bulletin.

Scientific articles, practical papers, case reports, and other scientific data are included in each issue, as well as news of activities on the MSC campus.

The first Veterinarian appeared in 1940 on a trial basis. Since that time the Veterinarian has grown into a thousand-issue publication with subscribers in South America, Europe, and Asia, as well as most of the States.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

High court of Michigan State's growing list of student publishing efforts is the Board of Publications. A meeting ground of student and administration interests, the Board's membership is made up of editors, business managers, and faculty advisors of the State News, Spartan, M.S.C. Veterinarian, and the Wolverine along with a sprinkling of administration officials.

The Board's main work is concerned with the coordination and direction of campus journalistic work. In their monthly business meeting, the members review problems confronting the publications, consider proposed changes and generally make each publication toe its respective mark. In the spring of each year the Board selects the students who will take charge of Publications Row for the coming year.

Appointments are announced at the annual publications banquet. Here the publications present their outstanding workers with awards.

THETA SIGMA PHI

Theta Sigma Phi is the national honorary fraternity for women in journalism. It is a professional group for those women interested and active in the field and includes some of our most capable and reputable contemporary journalists. For this reason it is an honor for undergraduate women to be members. They wear a gold badge shaped like a miniature linotype matrix, on which the Greek letters, Theta, Sigma, and Phi are superimposed beside a flaming torch which stands for freedom of thought, and courage in expressing it.

Alpha Psi chapter was installed at MSC in 1944. Membership is limited to those women majoring in journalism, with a "B" average in their major. In addition, a candidate for membership must intend to enter this profession after graduation. Each of the members is required to be active on a campus publication.

Besides sponsoring a series of professional meetings, many of which are open to the public, Alpha Psi chapter publishes the AWS handbook each year; contributes to the success of the campus High School Journalism Day; and works with other organizations on campus projects.

During fall term the fraternity met with Miss Dorothy Thompson, after her appearance on the lecture-concert series. Miss Thompson is an honorary member of Theta Sigma Phi.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

A student branch of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic professional fraternity, was established on our campus in 1940. It not only provides for the close association of outstanding students of journalism, but also carries on activities in the professional field by organizing the members into professional chapters. The members keep alive the high ideals of journalism—nourishing the student and strengthening the professional.

Association of students with newspaper men has been stressed during the past year. At regular dinner meetings, at initiations, and at special journalistic convocations, the student members of Sigma Delta Chi have found excellent opportunity to discuss common problems with their professional brothers.

Sigma Delta Chi cooperated with Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, to sponsor Journalism Day on October 17, 1947. This was the first annual gathering of high school journalists for forum discussions. Highlight of Journalism Day was the awarding of plaques to outstanding high school publications.

Members of Sigma Delta Chi are selected mainly from active workers on the three student publications—State News, Spartan, and Wolverine. Membership is also extended to other qualified journalism majors.

KAPPA ALPHA MU

Nu chapter of Kappa Alpha Mu became nationally affiliated almost before the local group was fully established. It is one of the first chapters of this national photo honorary, and was installed on our campus May 6, 1947 to enable student photographers and others interested in Photo-Journalism to exchange ideas and techniques, thereby raising both individual workmanship and improving campus photography as a whole.

Mr. McIntyre, advisor, guided the original group through its infancy and was a big help in the establishment of Nu chapter. Professor A. A. Applegate was of great aid in formulating a campus policy and school program for the organization.

The purpose, as outlined in the constitution, is to extend special recognition to those persons displaying talent for, and interest in, the field of Photo-Journalism; to uphold the highest ideals for the professional photographer; and to promote achievement and advancement in the field of Photo-Journalism.

Al Brandsdorfer, as president of K A M, is a member of the Journalism Dark-room Committee and took part in formulating the college regulations governing the new darkroom.

Previous achievement for the charter chapter was the Homecoming Queen activities surrounding the Iowa State game last October. Future plans include the second Homecoming Queen activities and presentation of the 50-print National Collegiate Photography Exhibition.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

APO at State doesn't mean Army Post Office as an ex-GI might be led to believe. Those are the Greek initials of the National Service Fraternity. This organization of former Scouts has a long and impressive record of service on MSC campus. Membership is open to any former Boy Scout who is interested in serving the college, student body, faculty, and local community. Through its many projects Alpha Phi Omega develops leadership and a spirit of fellowship among its members.

The '47-'48 school year began for APO with the sponsoring of the annual Homecoming Dance, netting $1,000 for the War Memorial Fund of the campus. During the winter term registration, APO resumed the old practice of finger-printing seniors for their permanent identification.

The Inter-Fraternity Sing, one of the highlights of spring term, was originated by APO and is conducted by its members each year. Some of the other projects carried out during the year were helping the committee on beautification of Tower Gardens, aiding hospitalized students, working with the local scout troops, offering guide service at several conventions held on campus, aiding the WSSF drive, and contributing to many of the relief drives conducted on campus.

FORESTRY CLUB

The forestry cabin, favorite spot for informal parties on the campus, is the home of the Forestry Club, State's social and professional organization for forestry students. Every two weeks the club holds its meetings in the cabin to present motion pictures and speakers with themes of interest to majors in forestry.

The highlight of the club's activities is the annual Foresters' Shindig, held during winter term. Plaid shirts and jeans are the order of the evening for the co-eds while the male element is bound by the "no shaving" rule—an unwritten law of long standing on the MSC campus. The club also presents radio parties and other social get-togethers for its members.

Each spring the organization holds a field day at Grand Ledge with all the competitions that are traditional to woodsmen—crosscutting, railsplitting, tree climbing, and others. Fall and spring finds the members busy planting trees in the Toumey Arboretum, just east of the campus, in commemoration of the forestry students who died in the two World Wars.

Once a year the MSC Forestry Club has a joint meeting with the foresters of the University of Michigan. Here is where tall tales are spun in competition for "Blue Babe," a miniature carving of Paul Bunyon's famed blue ox.

THE INTERNATIONAL CLUB

Every Friday evening of the school year finds the International Center, the little brick house between Campbell and Landon, buzzing with activity in the form of a business meeting or social "clambake." Not only foreign students, but all students, particularly those taking language and Foreign Studies, are welcome to drop in, enter a conversation, join a game, swap a few stamps, or "just listen" to one of the many languages heard throughout the house.

International Club, a purely student organization under the guidance of Dr. S. C. Lee, Director of the International Center, was established in the spring of 1945. Since then it has grown from a handful of students to nearly eighty members from the United States and thirty-one countries. Its purpose is to provide opportunities for the exchange of customs, cultures, and ideas. Through its various activities—Cultural programs, games, sports, teas, dances, and just plain chatting—the members prove that persons of differing nationalities CAN work and play together.

Pooling talents and ideas from many continents, the Club has presented three annual International Festivals. With the theme of world unity, the Festivals reveal glimpses of the music and customs of many nations, all of them represented in our student body. These have aroused nationwide interest and recognition. In addition to the Festival, students of similar geography have presented "Nights" of entertainment: "Latin American Night," a "Night in India," and "Chinese Night."

In striving for recognition International Club athletic teams have competed in intramural sports. Several members are active in the Speakers' Bureau.

The club anxiously awaits the day when the Memorial Center will be built and the larger, more convenient facilities of the new International House will be available. Until then the students make the best of their crowded situation—roll back rugs for dancing, bring in extra chairs for meetings, and sit on the floor for the movies and slides. The Club publishes a monthly magazine with announcements of events, write-ups on certain members, stories, articles, and other material aimed at promoting international understanding and good will.

LATIN AMERICAN CLUB

The Latin American Club was conceived in the spring of 1946. Although it works closely with the International Club, the LA Club functions independently. Its primary purpose is to provide a policy-making body for the Latin-American Students.

Meetings are held at the International Center at 2:00 p.m. every Sunday afternoon. Among its various committees, the club has a disciplinary committee that advises newly-arrived foreign students and administers discipline when necessary. Other committees emphasize sports, scholarship, and extra-curricular activities. Soccer is one of the sports in which the Club has entered teams. Several members have offered free tutoring in Spanish and Portuguese to American students.

The Latin American Club has 60 active members, all of them Latin-American students. Membership is open to any student from a Latin-American country and newcomers are always welcome.

The organization is responsible for the presentation of "Latin-American Night," one of a series which foreign students have presented in cooperation with the International Club. The theme for the presentation is a portrayal of world cultures. LA Club members also take an active part in the annual International Festival.

THE PRE-LAW CLUB

The end of the war and the return of the veterans to MSC's campus brought about a large increase in the number of students planning to enter law school. The Pre-Law Club was organized two years ago to serve the needs of these students, and since that time the rolls of the Club have swelled.

Its purposes are several. The Club serves primarily as a medium to bring outstanding lawyers, legislators, and judges before the members. These men have been invaluable in inspiring and advising the future lawyers as to the long and difficult road ahead. Over the third cup of coffee at Estill's Cafeteria, the Club has listened to and been stimulated by a large array of legal talent in the Lansing area.

Secondly, the Club offers an opportunity to become acquainted with the intricacies of the State's pre-law curriculum. It was no mean feat for Dr. Kimber, the group's adviser, to explain this complicated set-up at the opening session of the organization.

Membership requirements are simple. Any student in the pre-law course or who intends to attend law school is eligible for membership regardless of previous training.

MSC HOTEL ASSOCIATION

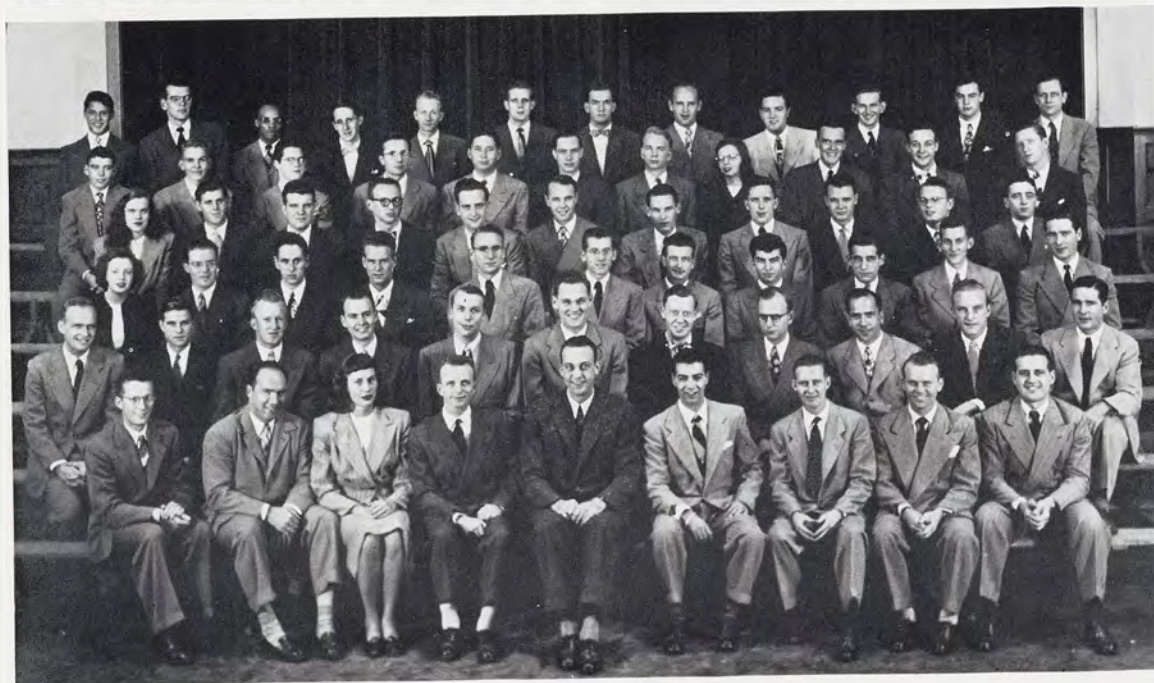

Membership in the Association is open to men and women enrolled in Hotel Administration. Their primary aims are to provide an opportunity to associate with hotel men and to furnish a better understanding of the hotel industry. Members sponsored a smoker, an informal dance, and the annual Paul Simon Memorial Banquet at which a scholarship was awarded to the outstanding student in hotel accounting. They also cooperated with the honor fraternity, Sigma Gamma Upsilon, in presenting the Bell Hop.

Prominent hotel people and recognized authorities in hotel fire prevention, insurance and accident prevention, sanitation, and food control were guest speakers at meetings and informal discussion groups. Students had a chance to question the speakers and gain an understanding of professional problems.

The Hotel Association has established an employment committee to aid its members secure their required summer employment. A survey of positions held by students in the past uncovered many new contacts and ideas. The committee also contacted prominent hotel chains and several individual hotels in an endeavor to create a firm student employment program.

The activities of the group were broadened by the recent formation of an alumni association. The student and alumni associations plan to work closely for mutual benefit.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The MSC Home Economics Club works on projects of professional and general interest and offers women an excellent chance to develop leadership experience. It is affiliated with the undergraduate branches of the American Home Economics Association and the Michigan Home Economics Association.

A large membership makes it advisable for the club to be divided into small "majors' groups" and "interest groups." Five "majors' groups" hold regular meetings for their members. Prominent people in the different fields of Home Economics come in as guest speakers.

Freshman and sophomore groups within the Club hold their own meetings and plan their own activities. These professional meetings acquaint them with many opportunities for careers in the field.

Each year the Home Economics Club contributes to the International Scholarship Fund of the American Home Economics Association. This money is put toward scholarships for foreign students who wish to study Home Economics in American universities. During the fall of 1947 the International Group sponsored a Silver Tea to finance a collection of books which will be sent to students in the Philippines.

Most of the social activities are carried on within the smaller groups, but in the spring the entire organization gets together for the annual Home Ec Club banquet.

TOWN GIRLS

Town Girls' Club offers an opportunity for off-campus girls to become well-acquainted. They meet every other week for a luncheon or an afternoon social hour followed by a short business meeting. Membership is open to all girls living with parents, relatives, or friends in or near Lansing and East Lansing.

Town Girls' activities this year began with a tea for all freshmen and transfer students during orientation week. During the year they gave several dances and parties, winding up the year with a special meeting honoring their graduating seniors. The Spinster Spin is sponsored by this club in conjunction with several other women's organizations.

Town Girls' was organized in the fall of 1939 for the purpose of uniting the members in a closer bond of friendship and to encourage them to participate in student affairs.

Due to the fact that the original Town Girls' lounge is being used as a part of the Union Dormitory, the girls have been without a room. When the Union is finished, the club will have a new lounge where members can meet, relax, and study.

SPARTAN WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Spartan Women's League has a program designed to build leaders, promote friendliness and understanding between faculty and students, and establish a friendly relationship between sorority and non-sorority women. It is run on the assumption that "there is a spark of genius in everyone and we try to find this spark and bring it to light so it may burn more brightly."

Miss Peterson and Pearl Parrin founded SWL in 1931 to give the girls on State's campus a chance to show their ability and leadership. The group is composed of seventy-five members divided into several groups according to interests and abilities. These groups are Art, Personality and Social, Student-faculty, Recognition and Service.

The Carousel is held in the fall of each year to encourage better student-faculty relations. 1947's Hoedown was an unforgettable occasion with lots of originality. Together with Mortar Board and Tower Guard, League members sponsored the Spinster Spin during spring term. In addition to their social functions this last year, the girls made layettes for overseas shipment—one of their many service projects.

JUNIOR AMERICAN VETERINARY

The student chapter of the AVMA was founded on our campus in 1927 with twelve charter members. Any undergraduate student enrolled in Veterinary Medicine is eligible for membership. The primary objectives of the organization are to promote friendly relations, provide opportunity for the members to gain additional professional knowledge, and make the facilities of the national organization available to the members. Their main social event each year is the "Medicine Ball," sponsored by the veterinary and medical technology students.

In pursuing an educational program, speakers who are well-qualified by outstanding service in the veterinary and closely related fields are asked to present topics of student interest. Some of the speakers who appeared during the school year were Dr. M. A. Emmerson of Ames, Iowa, who presented a film on X-ray therapy; Dr. C. N. Beasley of Chicago who spoke on "Newer Developments in Fracture Reduction"; Dr. L. H. LaFond of Detroit who discussed the "Problems of a Race Track Veterinarian"; and Dr. Wayne Riser of Evanston, Illinois speaking of the "Problems of a Small Animal Practitioner."

An anomaly this past year was the absence of a senior class due to the post-war deceleration program.

AGRICULTURAL COUNCIL

To organize the student body of the School of Agriculture; to coordinate the clubs within the Division; to promote stronger student-faculty relations—these are the aims of the Agricultural Council.

Formed in 1927 to perform these duties, the Council has a member from each class and club in the School of Agriculture. In addition, there are three faculty advisers to give needed suggestions and to represent the faculty in school activities.

The goal of the Council is to sponsor at least one major activity in the Agricultural Division each term.

The most popular of these has proved to be the Harvest Ball, an all-college semi-formal held during Fall term. The highlight of this annual event is the crowning of the Harvest Queen who reigns over the School of Agriculture for the year.

During Winter term, the Agricultural Achievement Banquet was held in People's Church. Here students in Agriculture were honored for scholarship, leadership, and service.

Spring term found the Council and the Ag. student body engrossed in the Ag. Field Day. Held at the Stock Pavilion, it drew a large crowd for an afternoon and evening of competition and fun.

CAMPUS 4-H

"I pledge my Head to clearer thinking; my Heart to greater loyalty; my Hands to larger service; and my Health to better living for my club, my community, and my country"—that is the pledge of 4-H clubs scattered through all of Michigan and the nation. It is also the personal pledge of every Campus 4-H Club member.

Most members of the Campus Club have been active in 4-H projects in the past and many are still leaders of local chapters. However, membership is not limited to former 4-H'ers—anyone interested in the social and educational leadership of rural youth is invited to take part in the group's activities. Short course students are especially welcome.

The Campus 4-H is largely a social and service organization. Parties are held each term, and at each meeting the members enjoy group singing, games, illustrated lectures, and other forms of entertainment. In addition, the Club prepares and presents a monthly program over WKAR in cooperation with the State 4-H Office.

Noted for their friendliness and spirit of cooperation, each 4-H'er tries to live up to the motto, "To make the best better!"

DAIRY CLUB

After its first post-war year of activity, the Dairy Club is continuing to expand its activities and membership in an endeavor to carry on the tradition of strengthening relations with men in the field and providing an education outside of the classroom. This year's program well exemplifies this.

Early in the fall quarter a Dairy Cattle Judging Team was sent to the National Dairy Show and Collegiate Judging Contest at Waterloo, Iowa. The team consisting of Tom Anderson, Dick Rann, Clarence Smith, and Bob Dancer placed twelfth in a contest with twenty-nine other college teams. The annual Homecoming Breakfast was held in the Forestry Cabin with a capacity crowd of Alumni and Dairy Club members present.

This year for the first time since the war a Dairy Products Judging Team entered inter-collegiate competition. The men on State's team were Richard Huckins, Bob Warner, Leonard Hill, and Clarence MacBride. They placed fourth in all products judged, and Warner was first in butter judging. There were nineteen teams in this contest at Miami, Florida.

The dairy staff again treated the Dairy Club members to their Annual Bean Feed near the end of the fall term. Both judging teams were honored at the program, which featured slides accompanied by an explanation on "The Agriculture of Japan."

During the winter term the Dairy Club's interest turned to the Little Dairy Cattle Congress and the Farmer Frolic. It was a profitable year for the Dairy Club, as its program has grown and developed in the direction its members desire.

BLOCK & BRIDLE

The Block and Bridle Club is one of MSC's major interest groups. This organization assumes an important role in campus activities, and serves as a spokesman for those students majoring in animal husbandry and livestock breeding.

Livestock production as a profession is one of the aspects of agriculture the club stresses to its members. The organization's meetings feature speakers, and forums on animal husbandry, and provide information valuable to all people affiliated with agriculture.

Club activities provide a busy calendar for members during each term of the school year. Sponsored annually is the "Little International," an exposition of local livestock; and the all-college student judging contest which tests the accomplishments of Ag. majors.

The Farmer's Frolic, featuring an exhibition of student agricultural products, is another activity the club sponsors in the better interests of farming. An annual stock roast is designed to stimulate new friendships among club members.

Farmer's Week, when the leading stock producers of the state come to MSC for a week's convention, rounds out the organization's participation in projects designed to further the science of agriculture.

HORTICULTURAL CLUB

This year the Horticultural Club started a unique experiment. Because of the increase in enrollment in the School of Agriculture and consequently in Horticulture, there was enough interest in Floriculture, Pomology, Olericulture, and Landscape Architecture to warrant the formation of separate forums, one for each of these branches. As a result, interest in each of these groups has run high, and as organization develops, there promises to be many activities. Already a flower show has been presented, assistance was given during Farmers' Week, and some interesting field trips were conducted.

Some outstanding speakers from the fields of production, processing, and manufacturing of horticultural products were invited to attend the meetings. These men, all experts in their field, opened up new outlooks and substantiated the theories presented in class. In the future the club plans to hear more from these men who can present the practical adaptations of the theoretical education obtained at college.

This spring, as every spring, the trip to Hidden Lake Gardens at Adrian served to climax the year's activities. These gardens have been turned over to Michigan State College in order to promote gardening interests among the students.

SPARTAN BOWMEN

The Spartan Bowmen were organized in 1947 to provide recreation for the many students who have an interest in archery. The activities of the group consist of purely "social" competition at the present time, but there are a number of organized archers in this region who serve to keep the Spartans on their toes.

Michigan State archers have managed to win a good proportion of their competitive meets. A noticeable aspect of these contests is the spirit of courtesy and respect among the competitors which is seldom found in other forms of athletics. Recently there has been a move toward inter-collegiate competition between archery clubs in the major colleges of the country.

The Spartan hunters did some pretty good shooting in the north during the deer season and were able to come back with several animals.

Members of the organization have a lot of good times together and are one of the closest knit groups on the campus. There are also a few women members who seem to enjoy archery as much as the men enthusiasts.

WINGED SPARTANS

More than two years of flying instruction and airborne fun has been entered in the log of the college flying club. Students with previous flying experience and flying enthusiasts who are anxious to become licensed pilots are banded together in a non-profit corporation. Membership is limited to forty students; they are assisted by three C.A.A. instructors who are also college students.

The club owns two airplanes, a 1946 and a 1948 Piper Cub, both of which have 65 horsepower engines and have nearly the same mileage cost as an automobile. Flying hours for each member are scheduled weekly, and ground school subjects are presented tri-monthly. Professor Bratten of the Engineering department, who holds a private license, is the club's faculty advisor.

Because of its more-private and less-commercial aspects, the Aero-Manor airport southwest of Lansing is the center of operations for the club's varied activities. These include flying instruction, solo cross-country flights, engine maintenance orientation, and the ever-present "hangar flying."

Regular flying meets are held with the University of Michigan. The two schools alternate as hosts for the contests, which includes flying competition and talks by aviation authorities. Spot landings, bomb dropping, and flying proficiency determine the awarding of prizes.

Activities include field trips, lectures, discussions, and social events. The organization has hopes of becoming the first college branch affiliate of the American Society of Professional Geographers.

SKI CLUB

One of the most recent additions to State's ever-growing roster of interest groups is the Ski Club, organized two years ago to serve as mediator for the many winter-sports enthusiasts on the MSC campus. Last year the members voted unanimously to join the Central U.S. Ski Association and the National Ski Association. The result of this move was a shower of invitations to participate in several inter-collegiate ski meets throughout the middle west.

Among the meets at which MSC was represented were the Caberfae Inter-Collegiate Ski Meet at Cadillac, the Central Slalom-Downhill Championship at Houghton, and the Central Form Event Championship at Leland.

On week-ends during the skiing season, the club makes regular trips to the Caberfae ski slopes at Cadillac. Business committees are appointed to arrange for the members' lodgings, and social committees see to it that everyone has an enjoyable time. The club also holds weekly meetings during most of the school year where members see motion pictures concerning their favorite sport. A scrap book committee is charged with recording all the activities of the club in an illustrated volume.

SAILING CLUB

The Sailing Club is an organization to promote intra- and inter-collegiate sailing for the sailboat enthusiasts of MSC. The members have purchased three racing dinghies of the Penguin class and any fair day one may find them making good use of the boats on Lake Lansing.

On week-ends in the spring and fall, the club holds regattas among its members and with other midwestern colleges. The club sponsored a team which went to the National Regatta on the east coast last spring term.

During winter term, the members strive to increase their knowledge of the sport by inviting speakers and movies to the meetings. For beginning sailors, the club operates a sailing school which features nautical nomenclature, maneuvering, racing tactics, safety, and maintenance of a sailing craft.

Membership is divided into two categories—skippers and crew. The skippers have proven their sailing ability while the crews are still in the apprentice stage. A crew member cannot use a boat unless accompanied by a skipper.

The Sailing Club is a charter member in the Mid-West Collegiate Sailing Association and was recently accepted as an associate member in the Inter-Collegiate Yacht Racing Association. This makes the members eligible for all mid-western and national regattas.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

The Michigan State College branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers is an organization for students majoring in this field. Its purpose is to better acquaint members with the engineering profession and to give them an opportunity to make professional contacts.

At each monthly meeting, the members hear speakers of recognized authority and see special process movies of interest to mechanical engineers. Other activities of the student branch include field trips through local industries and utilities and an annual meeting of the ASME Regional Student Conference, Section 5. One student from each school in the district attends, representing the states of Ohio, West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania, Michigan, and the province of Ontario. Last year, the MSC branch acted as host for this event. At the 1947 conference, a student from Michigan State received second prize for a paper on the measurements of air speed.

Membership in the organization gives each student a subscription to the official journal of the society, "Mechanical Engineering." In addition to this periodical, the members have access to a reference library of 150,000 volumes and 1200 technical periodicals.

Through the ASME, future mechanical engineers receive invaluable training and an opportunity for learning to assume responsibilities in a field of ever-increasing opportunity.

THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

The AIEE is composed primarily of Electrical Engineering students who have the option of joining either the American Institute of Electrical Engineers or the Institute of Radio Engineers. Each of these organizations has a separate branch at MSC, but they hold joint meetings regularly.

The object of AIEE is to develop closer contact between practicing engineers and students; to develop mutual friendship between the Electrical Engineering Majors in the various classes; and in general to encourage the growth of high ideals of citizenship and professional performance.

The national dues are three dollars per year and cover the cost of a monthly magazine which is mailed to each member. Local dues of one dollar per year take care of the annual picnic, expenses on the Engineers Ball, and other functions of the organization.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers was founded in 1884 for the advancement of the theory and practice of electrical engineering and the allied arts and sciences, the maintenance of a high professional standing among its members, and for the development of the individual engineer. The Institute has largely contributed toward the remarkable progress in the electrical field. It has been an important factor in advancing the interests of its members and the entire engineering profession.

Formed a little more than half a century after the national, the local branch has a membership of 80 as compared with a national total of 30,000 in the 126 chapters.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS

The American Institute of Chemical Engineers is a national organization of professional engineers devoting their efforts to the betterment and advancement of their profession. The student chapter at Michigan State College is closely affiliated with the parent organization and obtains many benefits from this close relationship. Membership is open to all students enrolled in Chemical Engineering.

The AIChE provides the undergraduate and graduate students with excellent opportunities to acquaint themselves with chemical engineering as applied in industry. Experienced and well-qualified speakers are obtained from various fields of engineering.

Last fall many of the State members attended the fortieth annual convention of the Institute held in Detroit. At this meeting many interesting papers were presented and the delegates took trips through several chemical plants in the area. During these sessions the close association between students and the parent organization was apparent.

Throughout the year informal presentations of engineering topics were given by guest speakers. Members held the annual banquet and spring term picnic and were instrumental in presenting the "Engineers Ball" under the auspices of the Engineering Association.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERS

The Ag Engineers originated in 1937 as the Ag Engineer's Club and were accepted into the parent society in 1938. The club includes students of the technical and non-technical curricula. To be eligible for membership the student must be an under-graduate in the School of Agricultural Engineering, and show more than academic interest in this field.

The student branch tries to create a better understanding between the student and the faculty and tries to give members some idea of what Ag Engineering can offer as a vocation. Many of the members also belong to other clubs in the Schools of Agriculture and Engineering. These outside activities give the students a prospective which enables them to correlate their diversified studies . . .

The club meets every other week of the school year. They usually listen to faculty members or industrial men who are well-informed on the latest developments in the field. Whenever possible movies are used to show the latest inventions. These lectures are helpful to new and old students alike by enabling them to gather ideas on types of work they might like to follow.

This year the Ag Engineers are expanding. They will soon have a new building where they may study many implements and structural types heretofore unavailable.

CHRISTIAN STUDENT FOUNDATION

Most campuses have student Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, Presbyterian, and other Protestant groups, but at State these separate organizations are combined into the Christian Student Foundation.

College House, a new student center east of People's Church, is headquarters for the activities of this interdenominational organization. It has lounges, study rooms, a library, a modern kitchen, offices for the directors, a dining room, a recreation room, and a private chapel for students to use at any time.

Foundation members try to achieve the following goals in their program: secure training and direction for the development of Christian leadership and the Christian faith, develop an intellectual appreciation of this faith, gain a vision of the Christian's social responsibility and experience in churchmanship, and find opportunities to express Christianity. The students seek these ends through activities which will meet both the spiritual and social needs of college students.

Sunday evening worship and discussion hours, and varied types of recreation on Friday and Saturday nights are the most familiar phases of the program. In addition, a Sunday morning class, social service projects, deputation teams to nearby churches, an engaged couples' group, and a Christian vocations group are all parts of Foundation activities.

YMCA

The Young Men's Christian Association of MSC is an expanding organization. Last fall it acquired a full-time director and not long ago moved its office into the Union in order to serve the students better. The Spartan Y "is a fellowship of student and faculty men who, convinced of the teachings of Jesus, are seeking to give expression to the Christian religion. . . ." Affiliation with the World Student Christian Federation and the International YMCA has given their activities a wide scope.

Starting off the year, the Y held a dinner and dance at the Freshman Camp to acquaint the incoming men and women with campus possibilities. At Thanksgiving time an interfaith meeting was held to provide an opportunity for worship and fellowship for those who were unable to get home. A sports program was inaugurated with the Saturday Basketball League for men not in week-day intramurals. Always active in the WSSF, members sponsored last year's rally for the workers.

Square dances, discussion groups, faculty firesides, a glee club, tours of industry, retreats and mixed parties all were a part of the YM program, a large part of which was planned in conjunction with the YWCA. Not strictly a club, the Y is an association of student groups who support its ideals through various aspects of the program.

YWCA

The Young Women's Christian Association is observing the 75th Anniversary of the founding of College YWCA's this year. There are now student Associations on almost 600 college and university campuses.

Since its inauguration at MSC in 1896 when 34 girls attended a meeting in old Abbott Hall, State's YW has developed its program to include work in the Lincoln Community Center, Freshman Camps for the orientation of freshmen, and informative visits to the Michigan Legislature, Olds factory, and the weather bureau.

Under Miss Edith Runyan's direction, YW has attempted this past year to accomplish four things with its program. First, to assist in the development of each girl's personality and character, providing opportunities for the members to obtain leadership training; secondly, to stress democratic procedures in all activities; thirdly, to meet needs on campus not met by other groups such as nominally-priced student mixers, and finally, to acquaint girls with "Y" and its policies through Freshman Camps and "Why Y" nights.

The YW is a membership organization governed, directed, and run by students. There are under-grad and graduate groups in "Y" for every interest. Every woman on campus is eligible to membership, and faculty people are welcomed into associate membership.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club of MSC is the official organization for 2,500 Catholic students. Its program is religious, educational and social in that order of emphasis. It aims to assist the faculty and student body in every legitimate enterprise and to cooperate in a program of Catholic Action.

In carrying out its spiritual ideals Newman Club has quarterly events such as Holy Communion Sunday, daily religious activities which include Mass, recitation of the Rosary, and devotions to Our Lady of the Campus each week. A special retreat was held in the fall, led by Father John A. O'Brien of Notre Dame.

Many noted speakers have addressed the club. These have included Paul Weber, CIO vice president in Michigan; Father Caine, philosophy instructor at the University of Detroit; and Mr. Edward McDonnell, editor of the "Michigan Catholic."

Members planned a variety of programs: Mixers, a picnic and hike, term parties, two formal teas, a masquerade party, coffee hours after football and basketball games, open houses each Sunday evening, and those never-to-be-forgotten breakfasts following Sunday Mass.

An integral part of the organization was the MSC Newman News, which published stories and pictures of club activities each month. Members also received the weekly Newman Bulletin listing the dates of all functions.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

The Christian Science Organization is one of scores of similar organizations in colleges and universities throughout the United States, Canada, and England.

Solely religious in purpose, the organization has as its chief function the holding of weekly testimonial services, prepared and conducted by the students. Another important phase of its program is the Christian Science lectures, which are presented to students by members of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church in Boston.

The Christian Science Organization aims to unite Christian Scientists at Michigan State College; to help correct erroneous impressions about Christian Science within the college; and to give information about Christian Science to those who desire it.

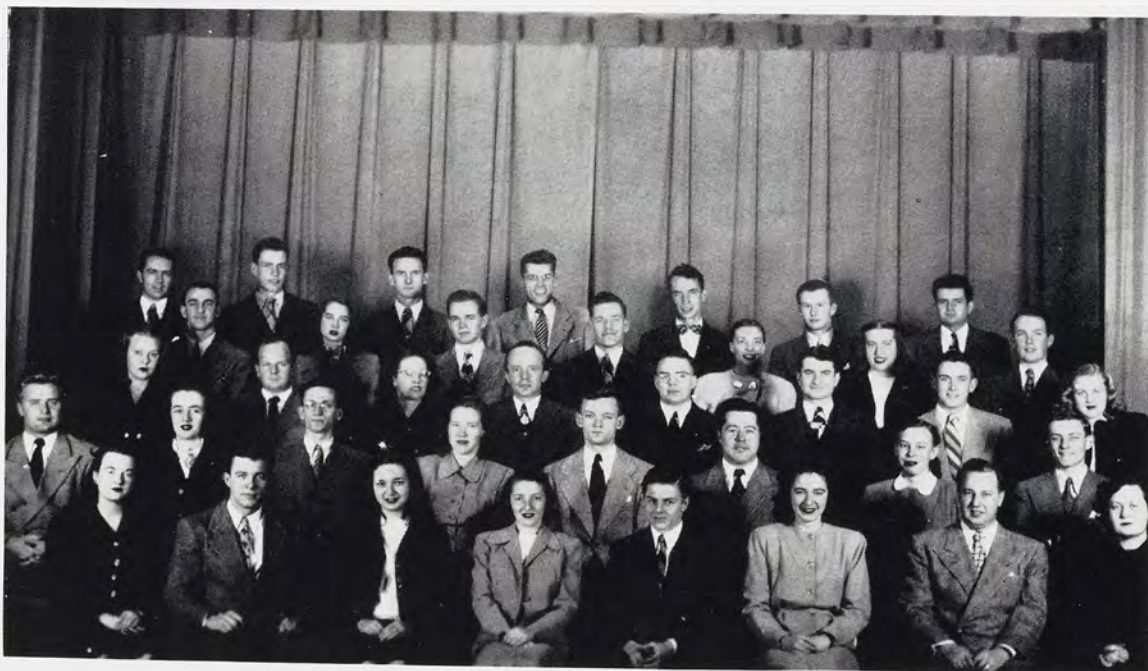

The organization has expanded the scope of its activities during the past year to include the distribution of Christian Science literature, such as "The Christian Science Monitor," to dormitories and other student residences. A thorough revision of the constitution was completed winter term and adopted by the members. Committee work is essential in carrying on the organization's expanding functions.

Meetings are conducted in the chapel of the People's Church each Tuesday evening and are open to all who are interested.

SPARTAN CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The Spartan Christian Fellowship has been furnishing guidance and religious opportunities to MSC students for over nine years. The organization has been steadily growing in size and scope as its slate of activities lengthens each year, and it is constantly working to provide social and religious programs which satisfy the needs of all its members.

Daily prayer meetings and weekly Bible studies are conducted to provide for the spiritual enrichment and growth of students. Spartan Christian Fellowship is affiliated with Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, an international association of Christian students on college campuses.

Week-end inspirational conferences, held in collaboration with other Michigan I.V.C.F. chapters, are highlights of fall and spring terms. Last spring's conference was held at Waldenwoods, and this fall, sixty students from State attended the Gull Lake conference.

Monthly socials, ranging from progressive dinners and box socials to ice skating parties, provide fun and fellowship for the group. Topping the social calendar is a formal banquet for the initiation of new officers, held during spring term.

Sunday afternoon doctrinal Bible studies outgrew Bethel Manor, the headquarters for all S.C.F. activities, and were moved to the Union Sunporch. The house at 435 M.A.C. always welcomes students looking for faith, fellowship, and fun.

HILLEL FOUNDATION

Hillel is an old campus organization, but this is the first year the members have had their own building. It is situated at the corner of Hillcrest and West Grand River, on a hill overlooking the main thoroughfare. It is readily accessible to the college, being only three blocks from the Union Building.

Hillel is the name of an ancient teacher who was a famous student and a great educator. It is after him that the Hillel Foundations are named. These organizations are maintained by the National B'nai B'rith organization for religious, cultural, and social purposes, and are located on the campuses of the country's leading universities. Besides the United States, there are Hillel houses in Canada, and one at the University in Havana, Cuba. In all cases the direction of Hillel is in the hands of Rabbis.

Besides being a home away from home, State's Hillel has a library and study rooms. Religious services are held at eight o'clock on Friday evenings, and lectures are given by members of the faculty as well as outside speakers. The house is open daily to students and those who drop in find a pleasing and inviting atmosphere. The special affairs include Ping-pong matches, card tournaments, dances, hay-rides, and picnics.

Membership in Hillel is open to all. There is a nominal membership fee, but those who are not registered are also welcome.

LUTHERAN STUDENT CLUB

The Lutheran Student Club is a member of the Lutheran Student Association of America, and was brought to our campus in 1929. It is a self governing group in which all Lutheran students participate.

The purposes of LSC are to strengthen and sustain Lutheran students in their faith through the use of the Bible, through prayer, and through regular church attendance; and to give an opportunity for cultivating friendship and social life on a Christian level. The regular Sunday night meetings include devotions, group discussions, outside speakers, and talent shows. They also have varied social meetings such as occasional parties, songfests, and coffee hours.

In December the Northern district of the LSA held its annual regional conference at the University of Michigan, and in February Wittenberg University at Springfield, Ohio, was host to a large delegation covering the Ohio Region. New officers were elected at that time.

1948 commemorated the dedication of the first Lutheran Student Center and Chapel at MSC. It is located at the corner of Division and Ann streets, where all activities are carried on.

LSA sponsors an annual camp called the "Ashram" which serves as a meeting place for Lutheran students from colleges throughout the United States. This year the Ashram will be held at Camp Interlochen, Michigan.

IT'S A 'STATE' TRADITION
THAT "SPARTAN TEAMS ARE BOUND TO WIN" . . .

ATHLETICS . . .

FOOTBALL . . . Sport of college kings and queens . . . brains and brawn at its very peak . . . followed by basketball . . . high pitched excitement . . . speed and fast breaks . . . Baseball . . . America's national sport . . . athletic prowess shown again . . . Minor sports . . . they aren't so minor . . . Track . . . fleetfooted Spartans . . . Swimming . . . Tennis . . . Golf . . . champions all three . . . Gymnastics . . . sport of rubber men . . . Women's sports . . . they too have made their mark.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Ralph H. Young, Director of Athletics, is now enjoying his silver anniversary at Michigan State College.

Coming to Michigan State in 1923, Mr. Young started his new position as coach in a rapidly growing institution. By 1927 he moved into the directorship of athletics and in 1939 had stopped coaching completely.

Mr. Young graduated from Washington and Jefferson University in 1915, and then continued on to Chicago University where he played tackle under the supervision of Amos Alonzo Stagg, Dean of American Football. During the first World War he played football under Fielding H. Yost at the University of Michigan, where he was training. He is one of the few men today who has played under both great coaches.

During his period as coach at Michigan State, Mr. Young won renown as a track coach. From his 49 varsity teams, twenty-seven athletes were All-American, four made the U.S. Olympics, and three tied world records. He is also responsible for the first National Collegiate Cross Country run.

Much credit for the expansion of Michigan State's athletic plant goes to Mr. Young. During his directorship, Macklin Stadium was erected and is now being enlarged from a seating capacity of 28,000 to 50,000. Jenison Fieldhouse was the next step toward State's athletic plant which is second to none in the country.

COACHING STAFF

Lyman L. Frimodig, Assistant Director of Athletics, might easily be called a man with a mathematical mind.

Since 1919 "Frim" has handled the steadily increasing business of States athletic plant. Expense accounts, tickets, and requisitions make up his day's work.

With addition of a gymnastic team to MSC's sport roster, George Szypula arrived at Jenison to coach them. Coach Szypula graduated from Temple University, was National AAU tumbling champ between 1940-43, Middle Atlantic champ for ten years, and has won a gross of national honors during his fifteen years of competition.

George Makris, boxing coach, is also a new arrival at Jenison. A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, he annexed NCAA boxing championships in '42 and '43. He also starred for two seasons as a tackle on the Badger football team.

This year saw MSC's 12th football mentor, Clarence "Biggie" Munn, get off to a flying start with his first season on campus, both personally and on the field.

Munn came from Syracuse University in the spring of '47 after coaching their team for the '46 season. Prior to Syracuse, he was line coach for eight years under Fritz Crisler at Michigan.

While playing on the University of Minnesota's team, he won All-American honors at guard for two consecutive years. He also won three letters, in track and football, at Minnesota.

Lyman Frimodig spends a lot of hours at desk work now with MSC's varied teams traveling so far and meeting an increasing number of opponents.

GAME DAY . . .

Most of Michigan State College's 15,000 students prepare for the two p.m. kick-off with the excitement of a kid going to the circus.

Come rain or shine, throngs of people start the cross-campus walk to Macklin stadium. The band music can be heard in the air and as you draw near, program salesmen descend upon you with enthusiastic pressure.

Then thru the gates you go, with student activity book in hand and number three stub ready for the ticket man.

Reid's and Kessel's are well represented as colorful flowers are waved in your view with a "Buy your best girl a mum."

Boy Scout ushers find your seat. The whistle blows, the game is on. You take a big sigh and utter under your breath, "Boy, will I be glad when I'm a senior so I can see the game!"

"Coupon 3, please."

Here they come.

"Keep her mum with a mum."

Biggie says "hello" on team's return.

Warren Huey receives Governor of Michigan award.

Capt. Bob McCurry honored again.

WARREN HUEY ... "MOST VALUABLE"

Warren B. Huey, three letter winner on the 1947 football squad, was awarded the "Governor of Michigan" award for the season's most valuable player. The award was presented him by Dean Lloyd C. Emmons of the athletic council at the annual football banquet.

Huey, a junior, was selected by his teammates for his stellar performances at left end both on offensive and defensive. Recognition was also given to Huey by being mentioned on the Associated Press All-American squad.

Coach Munn has predicted that the left flanker will turn in even more outstanding performances on the 1948 squad.

Jointly honored was Robert B. McCurry, who was re-elected to lead the Spartans on the gridiron in 1948. Unanimous vote placed the 215 pound center at the head of his team for the second year.

A junior, McCurry holds the honor of being the only captain-elect at State for 16 years. Previous to the 1947 season, game captains were chosen before each contest.

The Varsity Club was founded at M.A.C. in 1914 for the purpose of honoring athletes who had sacrificed more for the college than the normal demands of athletic competition. Outstanding athletic achievement and service to the school were the requirements of men who were accepted for membership.

With these traditional ideals serving as a guide, the athletes of 1947 rebuilt the organization. In the process of rebuilding, it became necessary to revise the constitution so that it would better serve the needs of the present athletes. Although certain revisions had been made to the original constitution, the basic principles remained intact.

The Club is composed of junior and senior varsity-letter-winners who have met the requirements of service and sacrifice. In appreciation for their contribution, each member receives a life time pass admitting him free of charge to all home athletic events.

Officers of the club are, President, Eugene J. Walsh; Vice-President, Alfred J. Lagrou; Treasurer, Russell L. Gilpin; Secretary, Edward F. Sobczak.

The aims of this year's organization are largely directed toward strengthening the mutual interests of the athletic department, the alumni Varsity Club, and the active Varsity Club on campus.

In the spring, the traditional Varsity Club Ball will make its first post-war appearance in Jenison Fieldhouse. This dance has always been considered one of the finest social functions of the school year.

Today, as true of their predecessors, the varsity letter-winners on campus are proud of their organization and are ready to serve in upholding the highest traditions of the college.

SPARTAN CHEERLEADERS

Four veteran cheerleaders answered Coach George Szypula's call, and it didn't take the new coach long to select three more good men to round out the squad. Captain Rollie Young led the boys again this year, with lettermen Bob Smith, Dick Beals, and Jack Bates as his assistants. New men on the squad were Fred Teich, Roy Whitford, and Dave Ernst.

Record crowds turned out to all the pep rallies which included yells, skits, speeches by the coaches and team, music by the MSC Varsity Band, and usually ended with large snake dances through the campus and town. The cheerleaders did their utmost to bring the students something different each week, so they held some rallies at the band shell, the Union, a huge bonfire rally near Dem Hall, a free dance in the Auditorium, and torch parades.

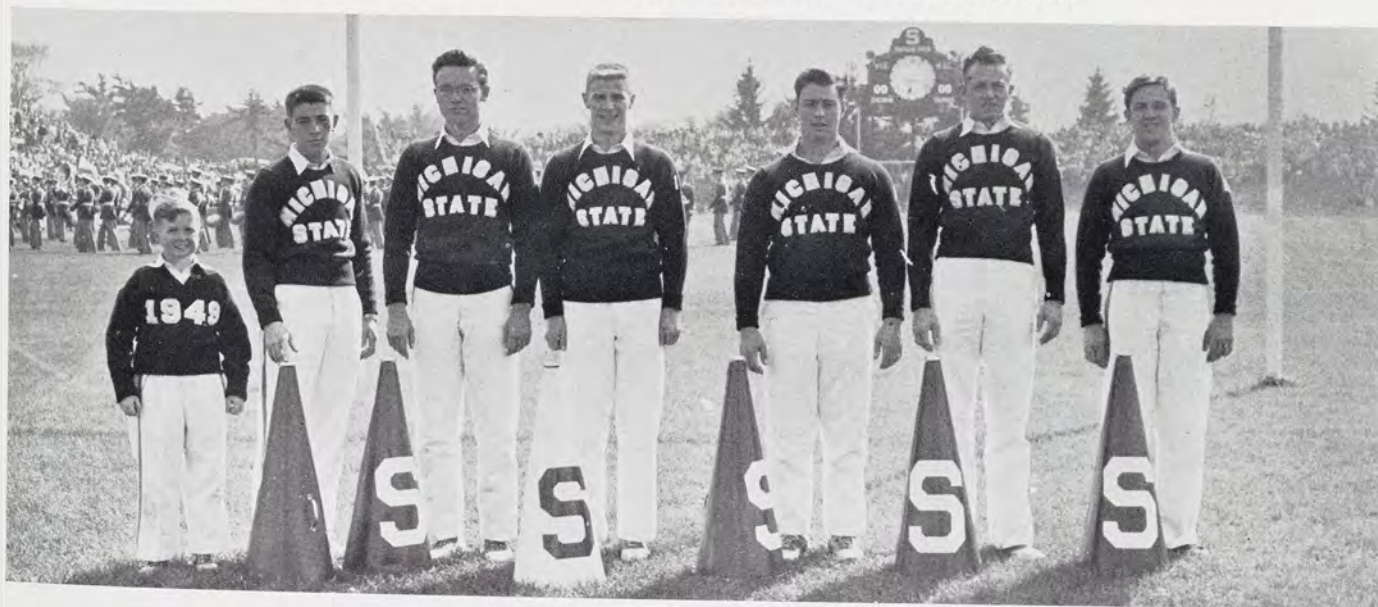

The bright star of the season, however, occurred when, at 1:30 in the morning, the cheerleaders held a welcome-home rally for their victorious Spartan football team returning from Washington State. Over two hundred students were on hand with cars (horns going full blast), fire engines, and plenty of cheers.

The cheerleaders also supplied plenty of exciting entertainment for the fans at the games. Under the expert leadership of Coach Szypula, the boys presented precision cheers and tumbling acts.

FROM PRACTICE TO MACKLIN FIELD

1947 football started with the spring thaw, as Coach Biggie Munn issued the call for candidates.

Several hundred hopefuls reported for uniforms and Spartan football players got their first glimpse of Munn in action.

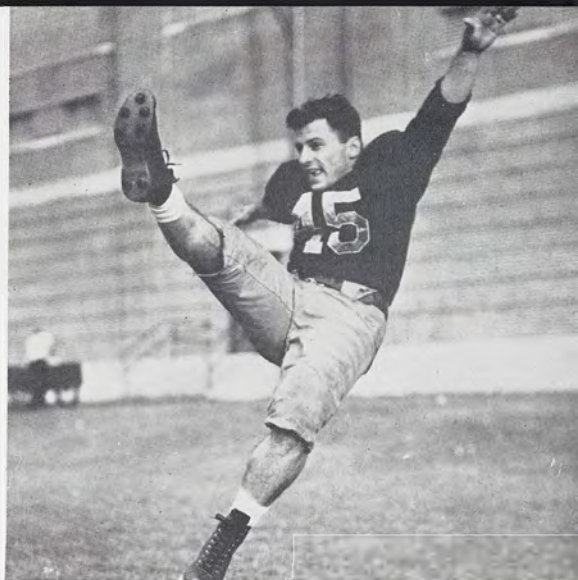

With their eyes constantly trained for promising prospects, Munn and his assistants Evashevski, Daugherty and Taylor put the boys through preliminary paces.

A spring blizzard topped off by a flood from the Red Cedar river, were the only elements which impeded progress for the spring drills.

Following completion of spring practice, the candidates relaxed to their usual everyday routines waiting only for the letter from the coaching staff telling them to report back in August for Fall practice.

Many new techniques were initiated by Coach Munn, among which was employment of a modified "T" formation with a single wing variation.

A second new addition took place in equipment, when the old black and gold uniforms were discarded and replaced by snappy green and white combinations.

MSC FOOTBALL STAFF

The big four, Coaches Clarence Munn, Hugh Daugherty, Forest Evashevski, and LeVerne Taylor prepared the 1947 Spartan teams for battle and what battles they were. Hanging up their first souvenir pigskins, they were rightly proud of the seven-two record produced by the Michigan State eleven.

Coming to Michigan State with honorable degrees, Coach Daugherty is a 1940 grad of Syracuse. Coaches Taylor and Evashevski received degrees from a distinguished school to the southeast, oh no—not Michigan Normal, but the University of Michigan, class of '30 and '41 respectively.

MSC TRAINERS

Keeping the boys in shape and seeing that equipment is kept intact are the problems of Jack Heppinstall and Erwin M. Kapp.

"Jack" is rounding out his 33rd year as head trainer at Michigan State, while "Kapp" is just a youngster in the game. Coming to State last fall, "Kapp" transferred from the University of Michigan where he was assistant in charge of athletic equipment.

Assisting with locker room duties is Richard Conn.

MICHIGAN STATE 21 WASHINGTON STATE 7

A more confident Spartan team traveled to Pullman, Wash., to engage the Cougars of Washington State.

Sparked by "Little dynamite" George Guerre, Washington received a 21-7 trimming.

The passing, punting and running of Guerre amazed the Cougar fans as he set the stage for the first two tallies. A pass to End Warren Huey and a six yard run by Lynn Chandnois put the Spartans ahead. The final touchdown came when Washington State fumbled in the last

MICHIGAN STATE 0 MICHIGAN 55

Led by All-American halfback Bob Chappuis, Michigan's grid powerhouse trampled the Spartans 55-0 in the season opener.

The inexperienced Spartans played headsup ball throughout the game, although they had little chance to initiate the new system of ball coached by Munn.

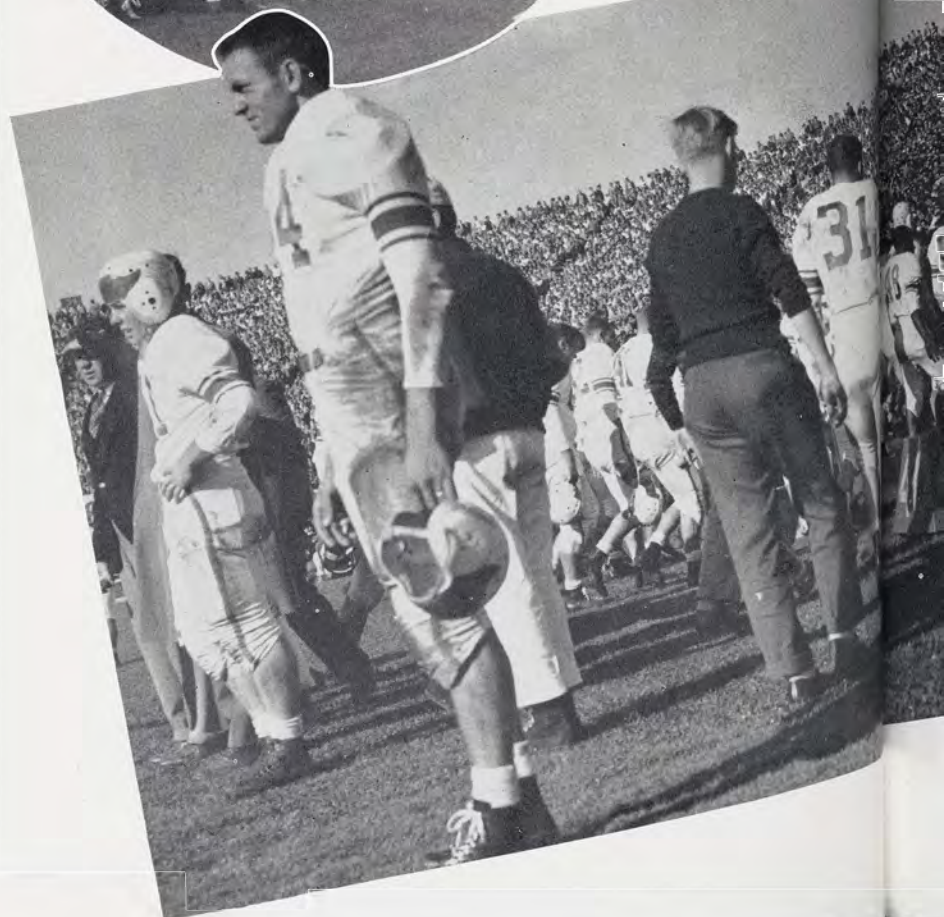

Chappuis took the honors for the day by scoring 18 points.

MICHIGAN STATE 7 MISSISSIPPI 0

A highly favored Mississippi team was taken by surprise when the green and white handed them a 7-0 defeat on Macklin field.

Holding the powerful Maroons scoreless in the first half, State took to the air during the third quarter. On a series of passes, quarterback Bob Krestel completed a toss to Warren Huey who delivered the only score of the game. George Smith, conversion artist, completed the scoring cycle by adding the extra point.

Mississippi threatened often that afternoon, but the stout defense furnished by the Spartans held them scoreless. Lynn Chandnois turned in a terrific performance as did Guards Ed Bagdon and Don Mason.

period and was recovered by the Spartans on the Cougar 16. A pass from Gene Glick to Frank Waters put the ball on the six. Horace Smith then scored on an end around play.

MICHIGAN STATE 20 IOWA STATE 0

Iowa State, guest team for the annual Homecoming game, joined Mississippi State and the Washington State Cougars on the defeated column. Fine defensive work by End Warren Huey took the spotlight while George Guerre led the offensive.

MICHIGAN STATE 6 KENTUCKY 7

Double loss was suffered in this contest as Kentucky edged out the Spartans, 7-6. Michigan State's lone touchdown run by George Guerre via a buck lateral also put a finis on his 1948 career. His ankle was fractured on the play after running through a bevy of Wildcats into the end zone.

Earlier in the game the Spartans edged an almost certain tally against the Wildcats, when the Munnmen drove the ball to six inches from Kentucky's endzone line only to have it slip from Halfback Lynn Chandnois' grasp.

Kentucky presented power throughout the game, scoring the first tally and completing what proved to be the winning conversion. Phelps, Kentucky's stellar right half, played an outstanding game as did fellow teammate George Blanda. Although he only played a quarter and a half, Guerre, took rushing honors for the day by rolling up 91 Spartan yards in nine attempts. Phelps, Kentucky's star half, accomplished 71 yards in 12 tries.

MICHIGAN STATE 13 MARQUETTE 7

The Hilltoppers of Marquette were the next opponents to feel the Spartan sting. Sticking to gaining yardage via the soil, State with a new backfield combination of Horace Smith, Steve Sieradzki, and Jim Blenkhorn rolled up two tallies against their hosts. Marquette tried to break the Spartans' defense through the airway but only hit pay dirt once as Darol Robarge delivered to Bill Hickey in the end zone.

George Guerre smashes through Mississippi State line for a gain.

MICHIGAN STATE 28 SANTA CLARA 0

Spunky Johnny Poloncak, MSC halfback handed the pigskin to Horace Smith after the kickoff and Smith was off for a 85 yard sprint for the first touchdown. Sounds easy doesn't it? But the Spartan interference helped make it possible.

Throughout the game the smooth working team poured the works to the Californians. Frank Waters, green and white fullback took the pigskin twice for touchdowns, while John Poloncak ended the game with downfield running for the final six points.

MICHIGAN STATE 14 TEMPLE 6

Horace Smith again takes the scoring spotlight against Temple by scoring both Spartan touchdowns. In the final minutes of the first half, Smith took a pass from Gene Glick on the 25 yard line and outran Owl interference for the first Spartan touchdown.

Lynn Chandnois, powerful right half, replaced Smith in the third period and turned in one of the game's most sparkling runs only to have it canceled by an off-side penalty.

During the final period Chandnois handed the ball to Smith on a returned punt and he took it for his second touchdown. George Smith, number one conversion man, took the spotlight to make the score 14-0.

MICHIGAN STATE 58 HAWAII 19

With a November temperature of 87 degrees, the Spartan football team had a heyday before fans of the University of Hawaii.

Every member of a 33-man squad played in the game and second string halfback Bud Crane received a promotion.

Crane scored 24 points during the contest to take game honors and also make him highest individual pointmaker for the season.

Touchdowns were turned in by Lynn Chandnois, John Poloncak, and Frank Waters, while Steve Sieradzki totaled twelve individual points.

Hawaii's three touchdowns came over the line via passing. Sol Kaulukukui tossed the pigskin to Phil Haake for the first touchdown and later passed to Lou Collins for the second Hawaiian tally.

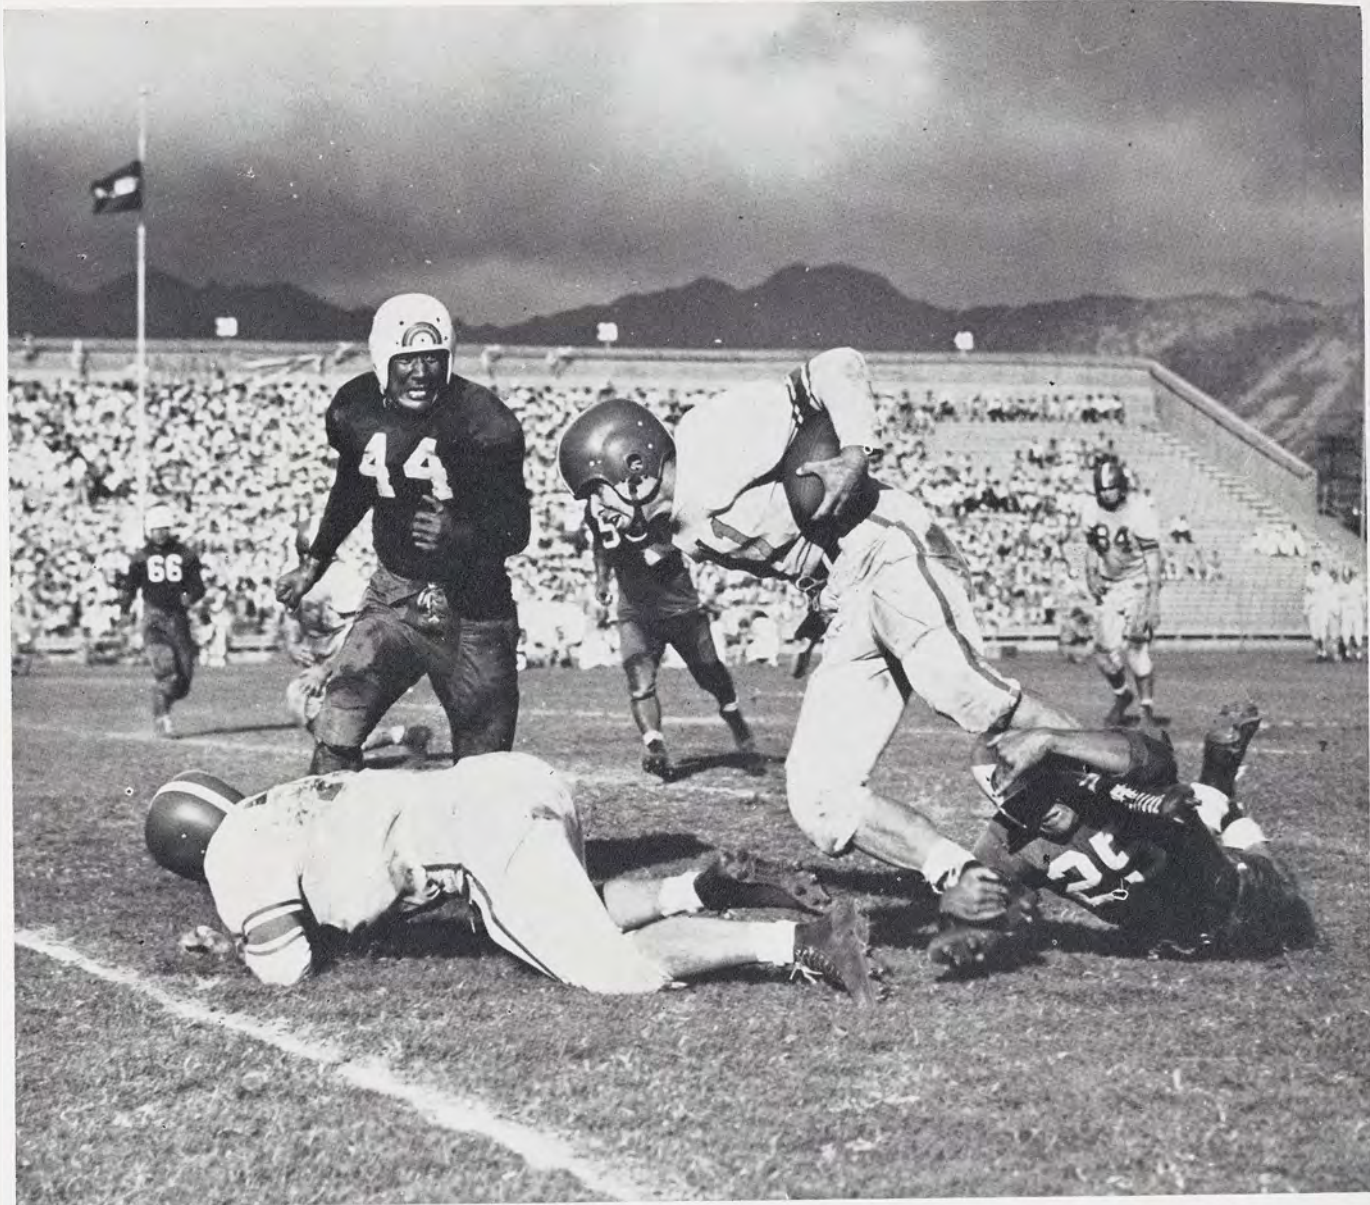

The islanders' scoring efforts for the game were concluded when Back Dick Mamiya connected a 29 yard toss into the end zone to Phil Haake.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Coach Clarence L. "Biggie" Munn has been the talk of the campus since arriving at Michigan State College last spring.

Football appears to be on the upswing for the Munn-piloted Spartans, as they registered a seven-two record. This is the best grid accomplishment turned in by the Michigan State aggregation since 1937.

Prior to coming to Michigan State Coach Munn covered lots of athletic territory in his 15 years of coaching. From 1931-34, he served as Bernie Bierman's assistant at Minnesota. In 1934 he became athletic director and head football coach at Albright College, Reading, Pa., then to Syracuse, to Michigan, back to Syracuse and now Michigan State.

He served under Herbert "Fritz" Crisler at Michigan for seven years. The combination enjoyed tremendous success, winning 56 games, tying two and losing 14.

Bigger and better things are to come when the green and white take the field in 1948. The new M.S.C. stadium of 51,000 seats will be completed this fall for the opening game with the Wolverines of Ann Arbor.

Receiving their diplomas in June will be Don Arnson and Ken Balge. Otherwise the squad will report for 1948 with almost the same team.

JAYVEE FOOTBALL

Sparked by a touchdown hungry backfield, Coach John Kobs' Jayvee gridders completed their 1947 season with three wins and two losses.

In the season opener with the highly touted Michigan "B" squad, the Kobsmen displayed fine form in defeating the Wolverines 13-7 in a definitely one sided encounter.

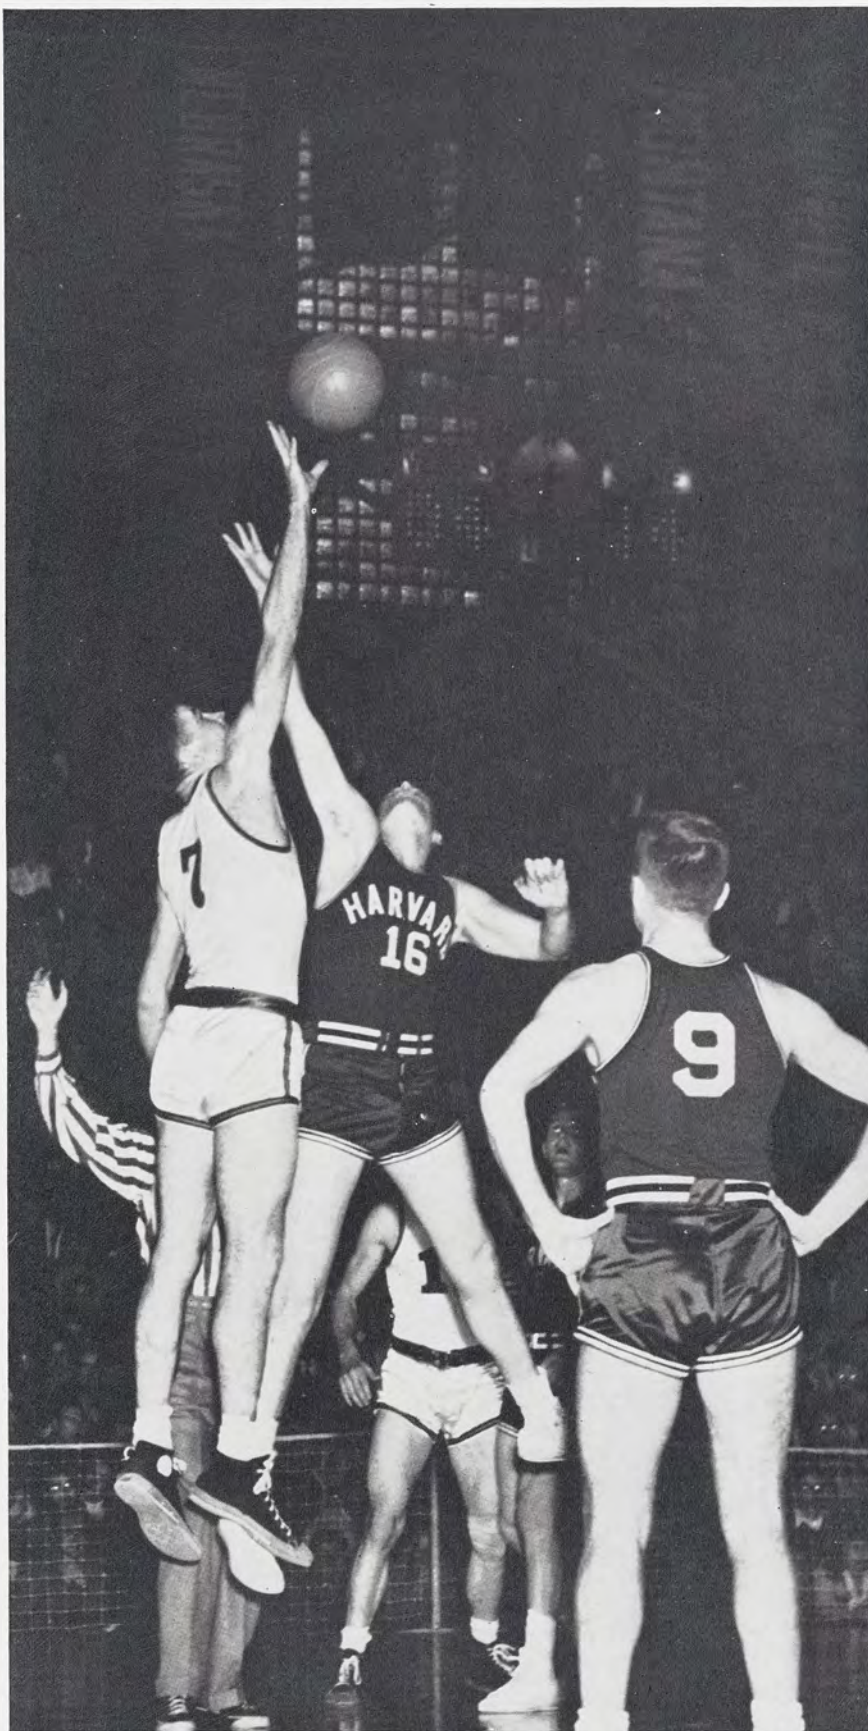

Continuing their steamroller tactics the Spartans trampled the Central Michigan Chippewas 41-0 and the Ionia Reformatory 59-0 on successive weekends. Sparkplugs in the three game blitzkrieg were backs "Bud" Crane, Marty Kelly, and Don Sherrod. Working in perfect unison with their hard-charging line they had little trouble in piling up impressive statistics.

Mud and a vengeful Michigan team joined forces to end the Michigan State win streak with a stinging 13-7 loss. Although ahead 7-6 in the third period, the Spartans' hopes of an undefeated season were shattered when Prentice Ryan of Michigan scampered 76 yards to the winning score.

The Broncos of Western Michigan added insult to injury by defeating the Spartans 26-21 in a wild high-scoring contest. Key man in the Bronco offense was Jimmy Betchek, whose uncanny pass-snatching spelled State's downfall.

BASKETBALL

Coping with some of the toughest teams in the country was the chore Coach Ben F. Van Alstyne picked for his 1947-48 basketball team.

Meeting Kentucky, Notre Dame and Michigan just to name a few, added extra spark to the schedule which produced 12 wins against 10 defeats.

Completing his 22nd year as basketball mentor, Van Alstyne has compiled an all time average of .589.

A graduate of Colgate University in 1917, Coach Van Alstyne received letters in baseball, basketball and football. Following graduation he held coaching positions at Asheville, N.C. and then moved to Delaware, Ohio where he served as basketball and baseball coach at Ohio Wesleyan. At MSC he is not only Golf coach during the spring season, but until several years ago was an assistant football coach.

Early in the season, while Coach Van Alstyne was recovering from an emergency appendectomy, Assistant Alton Kircher former all around athlete for the Spartans, piloted the MSC team. He also aids in coaching baseball and football.

Captain Robert Brannum, who transferred from Kentucky last year, was top man in the scoring brackets. While at Kentucky in 1944, Brannum was chosen All American.

Following post-season elections, Brannum again received a nod of approval by his teammates when he was elected co-captain with Don Waldron for next year.

Waldron, a three letter winner in basketball, has furnished consistent defensive strength to the Spartan five for the past three seasons.

Captain Bob Brannum's record-breaking scoring feats were the bright spot of Michigan State's 1947-48 basketball season which the Spartans finished with a mark of 12 victories and 10 losses.

Brannum scored 344 points during the season shattering the 1945-46 record of 251 set by Sam Fortino. The six foot five inch center needs only 111 points next season to smash Fortino's tenure record of 454 points.

The Spartan quintet gave promise of having their best season in years when they won eight of their first 11 contests. They found the opposition tougher the remainder of the campaign and were victorious in only four of the last eleven games.

Michigan State blew hot and cold throughout the winter, playing brilliantly one night and falling into the doldrums the next.

Opening the season with a surprise 43-38 victory over Michigan the Spartans closed by taking a 69-28 shellacking from the Wolverines.

State hit their peak against Notre Dame at South Bend and in the Kentucky contest.

The MSC quintet pulled a major upset by dropping the Irish on their own court, 54-50, after trailing by eleven points at the half.

Though they lost a heartbreaker to Kentucky, 47-45, the Spartans and Brannum gave the Wildcats the scare of their life. Brannum, playing the game of his life against his old teammates, dropped in 23 points before State fell in the final minute of the game.

Michigan State scored 1125 points during the past winter tying the season scoring mark set by the 1945-46 quintet.

In the individual scoring column, Brannum was followed by forward Bob Geahon, who tossed in 164 points, and forward Bill Rapchak with 140. Guards Robert Robbins, who racked up 122 markers, and Tony Waldron with 99 were fourth and fifth in scoring.

INDOOR TRACK

Jack Dianetti, ace Spartan distance man defeats Notre Dame entry by a length.

Michigan State's track team ran through its first undefeated indoor season against major competition during the winter of 1948.

Ohio State, later crowned Big Nine indoor champion, came to Jenison fieldhouse for the season's opening dual meet. The Spartans edged the Buckeyes 57 1/6-56 5/6 when their mile relay foursome, anchored by Jack Dianetti, won the evening's final event. State's ace timber topper, Horace Smith, set new varsity and meet records in both hurdle events during the contest and Fred Johnson posted a new broad jump mark of 24 feet eight and three-fourths inches.

Three hundred and fifty-three athletes from 21 schools gathered in East Lansing on February 7 for the 26th annual M.S.C. Relays. State placed in 13 of 18 events and captured the sprint medley relay crown. Smith was M.S.C.'s only individual winner, taking the low hurdles in the meet record time of :08.4.

Outstanding among the many marks made during the meet was the 56 feet six and one-fourth inch shot put by Charley Fonville of Michigan. This distance bettered all world indoor records.

Spartan runners racked up three firsts, five seconds and five thirds in the Michigan A.A.U. meet at Ann Arbor. Johnson established another broad jump record, Smith won the high hurdles and the shuttle hurdle relay team came home in front of the field.

Versatile Fred Johnson shows his prowess in the low hurdle events.

Coach Karl Schlademan lost Captain Bob Schepers before the A.A.U. affair. He was hospitalized for a kidney ailment which shelved him for the remainder of the season.

"Schep" was sorely missed by the Spartans when they took on Michigan at Ann Arbor February 27, and the Wolverines salvaged a 57-57 deadlock by coming from behind with a last event victory in the mile relay.

State swept all three places in the dash and low hurdles in this meet and placed one-two in the two mile run and the high sticks.

M.S.C. capped its indoor efforts by outscoring 15 other teams in the Central Collegiate indoor championships in Jenison fieldhouse March 6. State placed in every event but the pole vault to run up 61 11/14 points. Notre Dame took second with a total of 51 1/5.

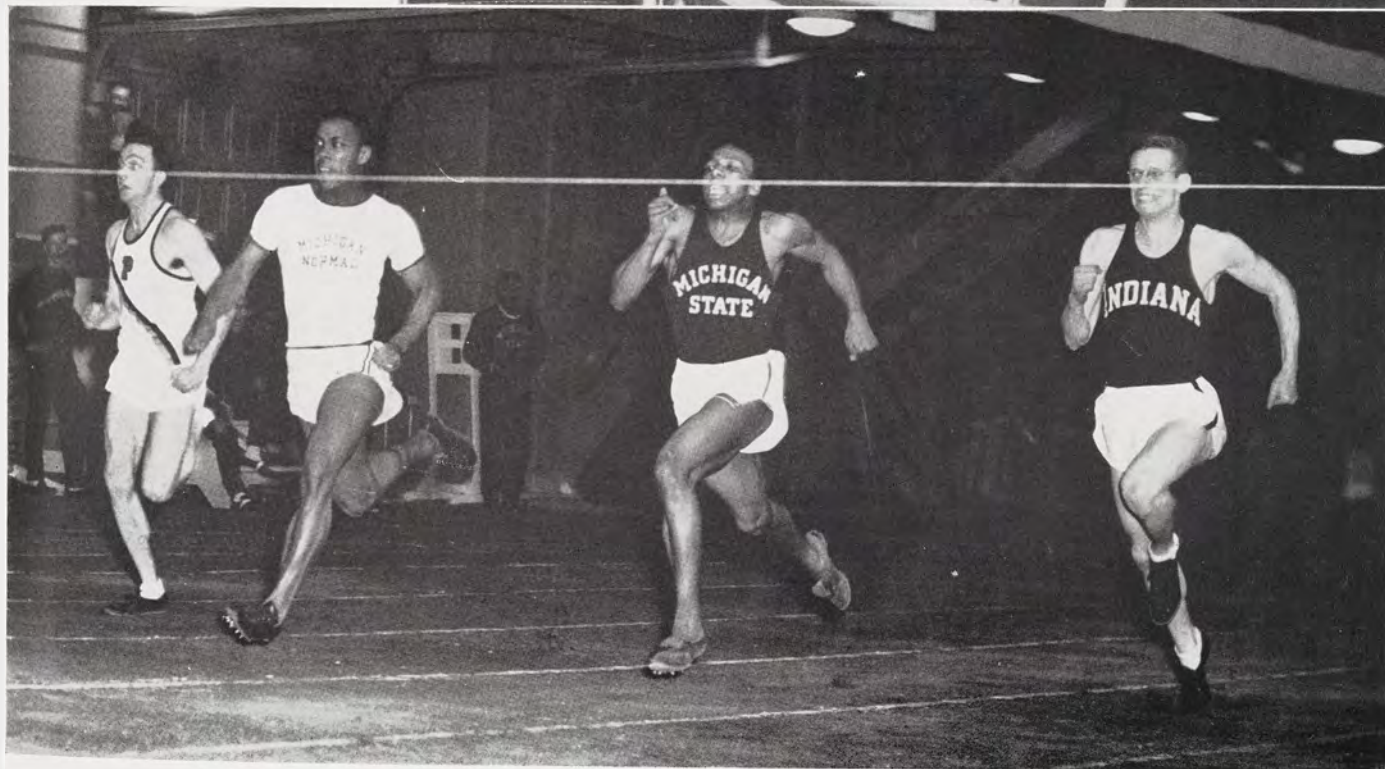

Fred Johnson, was the star of the meet, winning three events with outstanding performances. His 25 feet four and seven-eighths inches in the broad jump has been topped indoors only by Olympic and world record holder Jesse Owens.

Bill Mack, a miler who transferred to M.S.C. from Drake university last fall, ran unattached in several of the nation's big meets during the indoor season. He consistently toured the mile in under 4:16 placing among the leaders in every outing, and ran second to Gil Dodds when the "flying parson" set a world record in the Wannamaker Mile in the Millrose games.

Mack, Johnson, Smith and Diannetti are all rated as contenders for spots on the U.S. Olympic squad slated to compete in the international games in London next August.

Michigan State's Fred Johnson placed a close second to Michigan Normal entry in 60 yard dash during Michigan State Relays.

WRESTLING

An undefeated dual meet season and second place in the National Collegiate tourney placed the 1948 Spartan wrestling team at the top of the list in Michigan State's mat history.

In the NCAA meet last March, the State matmen placed in five weights to roll up a 29-point total for second place rating, four markers behind Oklahoma A & M.

Dick Dickenson, 136 pounder, took the only first for the Spartans while Gale Mikles, 1947 NCAA champion at 155 pounds, placed second at 160. Heavyweight Bob Maldegan also took a second.

Don Anderson and Gene McDonald were the other place winners for MSC in fourth divisions at 147 and 125 pounds respectively.

Coach Fendley Collins' grapplers swept through a nine-meet schedule that was one of the toughest a State squad had ever faced. On the slate were five teams that finished among the first ten in the nationals last year, including the first and second place winners.

The Spartans had their closest tussle in the season's opener when they nudged Iowa State teachers, 14-13. In the remaining eight encounters they won by comfortable margins with Purdue pressing them the hardest at 18-12 and Ohio State providing the softest touch at 24-0. Cornell college, 1947 NCAA champion, fell victim to MSC on a 25-3 count.

Gale Mikles and Dick Dickenson were the only men to go through the dual-meet season undefeated. Mikles scored four falls and won four decisions in eight appearances, while Dickenson scored one fall and took the nod on eight decisions.

Bob Maldegan and Don Anderson each suffered one setback in nine tussles, although Anderson was held to three draws.

Gene McDonald, who posted a seven-won, two-lost record, and John Dowell with five victories in six bouts, rounded out the Spartan scoring punch.

The Walter Jacob Trophy, annually awarded to the Michigan State wrestler who scores the most points for the team during the season, was won for the fourth consecutive year by Gale Mikles who tolled 39 points. Maldegan and Dickenson were close behind with 37 and 36 points.

Mikles is the only man ever to win the trophy more than once.

FENCING

Spartan fencers can look back on the 1948 season as one in which they came from behind the eight-ball and fought their way to a successful record of six victories and three defeats.

Coach Charles Schmitter began the year by hearing the sad news that two stars from the 1947 squad, saberman Al Kwatler and Chuck Gould, epee artist would be ineligible.

Building his squad from the group up, Coach Schmitter sent his crew against Northwestern where they lost 15½-16½. Then Ed Popper, epee ace joined the squad, restoring some added strength.

State then took a win from Ohio State 14-13 before meeting Notre Dame and Chicago who administered the last defeats of the season 15-12 and 16-11.

The Spartans went on from there to sweep the remainder of their matches. Wisconsin fell 15-12, Illinois, 16-11, Cincinnati 20-7, Wayne 16-11 and Detroit, 15-12.

Next year Schmitter again faces a rebuilding job. He will lose the backbone of his squad through graduation. Leaving are Ed Popper, Bob Brezsny, foils Chan Washburne, epee; and George Custer and Bob Connell, sabermen.

Returning will be foil star Bill Lacy who took 22 of 27 matches he fought. Washburne was second in individual score, racking up 17 victories during the season.

SWIMMING

Spartan swimmers, climaxing another highly successful season under Coach Charles McCaffree, finished in fourth place in the 1948 NCAA meet at Ann Arbor against the strongest competition in collegiate swimming history.

Michigan State's freestyle relay quartet of George Hoogerhyde, Abel Gilbert, Jimmy Duke, and Bob Allwardt won the national title with a victory in the 400 yard relay.

George Hoogerhyde, Coach McCaffree's leading swimmer during the dual meet season, clipped .5 of a second from the NCAA record for the 220 yard freestyle with a 2:09.1 clocking in the preliminaries.

Hoogerhyde's mark is the fastest time recorded in the country this year for the 220, and makes the Spartan ace a sure choice for a spot on the American Olympic team.

Coach McCaffree's swimmers gave a good indication of their strength during the dual meet season, finishing with a won seven, lost two record. The Spartans lost only to Michigan and Ohio State, champion and runnerup in the NCAA meet.

Little Abel Gilbert, mainstay of the team since 1946, was declared scholastically ineligible this season. The effect of this loss was painfully evident in the Michigan meet as Wolverines Matt Mann III and Gus Stager combined for a total of twelve points in the 220 and 440 freestyle events.

Michigan State opened the dual meet season with a victory over Purdue and stretched the siring to seven straight triumphs before dropping a heart-breaking 43-41 meet to Ohio State, 1947 Big Nine, NAAU, and NCAA winners.

Bowling Green, Wayne University, Iowa State, Nebraska, Indiana, and the University of Cincinnati followed Purdue as victims of the Spartan powerhouse. Pool and meet records were shattered each time McCaffree's swimmers hit the water.

Dave Seibold, with a 200 yard breaststroke victory over Keith Carter, Purdue captain and breaststroke ace, and George Hoogerhyde, who easily defeated Roger Watts, Big Six champion from Iowa State, at 220 and 440 yards, were the standoul performers for a well balanced Spartan team.

"Upset" was the single idea in the mind of every swimmer as the team carried an undefeated record to Columbus, Ohio to face the Ohio State Buckeyes.

Halo Hirose, the little Hawaiian sprint star who has been the stumbling block for Coach McCaffree's teams for three years, again provided the margin of victory for the Buckeyes with hairline decisions in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle races.

Bill Smith, Ohio's swimming "whale," who edged Hoogerhyde by .4 of a second in the 1947 final of the NCAA 220, again beat the Spartan swimmer in a great race.

After the loss to Ohio, Michigan State trimmed Wisconsin, and returned to East Lansing to prepare for the annual scrap with Matt Mann's Wolverines.

Michigan brought a team to East Lansing which, in the opinion of Coach McCaffree, was the best in the history of the university. The Wolverine victory in the NCAA meet is ample support for the statement.

The "Big Three," Harry Holiday, Bob Sohl, and Dick Weinberg, proved to be too strong for the Spartans, who were able to salvage victories in only two events.

Don Paton provided the biggest upset of the entire season by touching out 1947 NCAA champion Weinberg in the 50 yard sprint. Paton's excellent time, 23:3, established a new varsity record for the distance. He beat Weinberg a second time this year with a third place in the NCAA meet.

Hoogerhyde gave Michigan State another first place with a close win in the 220 over Matt Mann III and Gus Stager. The fast time of 2:09.9 is a Jenison pool record.

Following the loss to Michigan, the Spartans completely dominated the Central Collegiate Conference meet to win their seventh consecutive CCC title.

Abel Gilbert, declared eligible at the close of winter term, returned to the team and posted a victory in the 220 yard free-style. Michigan State won seven of nine events in the meet.

The result of the season's efforts, a 7-2 dual meet mark, another CCC title, and fourth place in the NCAA finals, is a record that Coach Charles McCaffree is undoubtedly proud to have. Michigan State, under his coaching, is firmly established as a national swimming power.

BOXING

Captain Chuck Davey talks over the 1949 prospects with Coach George Makris.

He won eight of nine fights while the other was called a "no contest" draw due to a head bump.

Sophomores George Smith and Phil Marshall chalked up a stack of TKO's between them to aid their team scoring. Smith in the lightheavy division turned in five TKO's, one decision, two losses and one draw, while Marshall TKO'ed four opponents and lost once. He replaced John Buda.

Jack Tierney 145 pounder turned in a fine record with one knock-out a TKO and a decision while losing two and drawing three bouts. Ernie Charboneau, 1948 NCAA flyweight champion, met some of the toughest 125 pound competitors in the country. Moving in this heavier division, Charboneau won two, lost three and drew twice.

Injuries backstepped the Spartan team during the middle of the season and caused shifting in several weights. Hank Capraro, 130-pounds turned in his uniform and Bob McRae and Al Lieberman stepped in to take over.

Pat Dougherty, 155 pounds, and Art Hughlett, heavyweight, received injuries and were replaced temporarily by Ray Marucci while Howard Adams and Lloyd Coon relieved the absent heavyweight.

GYMNASTICS

Michigan State's gymnastic squad ended its first season of intercollegiate competition with only one win and one tie in six meets, but it made great strides toward perfection of form and all-around performance.

The Central Michigan Chippewas fell before the Spartan onslaught on Feb. 21 when they were trounced 38-26. In the first meeting of these teams, on Jan. 10, the meet ended in a 42-42 tie.

State's team was handed its first defeat when they were drubbed by the Mighty Minnesota Gophers to the tune of 73-23. In this encounter the home team was up against the 1946 Western Conference champions.

In the role of underdogs, the Green and White went to Champaign to give battle to the University of Illinois squad and ended up with a first in the trampoline event but on the short end of a $67\frac{1}{2}$ - $28\frac{1}{2}$ score.

Two defeats were suffered at the hands of the Michigan Wolverines, first on Jan. 30 when Michigan piled up 66 points against 30 for State. The two squads met here on Feb. 17 and the Spartans tallied $32\frac{1}{2}$ points while the Wolves totaled $62\frac{1}{2}$.

BASEBALL

Coach John H. Kobs.

Boasting one of the nation's top collegiate ballclubs, Coach John Kobs' 1947 baseball team turned in another fine season with a record of 16 wins, against eight defeats. The Spartans started off the season with their annual southern trip where they marched over seven of eight opposing schools.

Michigan State pitching led by Robin Roberts, Keith Steffee, who later quit the team, Don Harris, and Dick Dieters was at its best holding the opponents' offensive to a minimum.

Two new comers, Bud Erickson and freshman Ed Barbarito moved into the limelight to lead the team in batting with a season total of .368 and .347 respectively.

Erickson played reserve first baseman during the southern jaunt and as the season progressed improved until Kobs decided he should take over first base regularly.

A consistent slugger, teammate Barbarito fought a close race with Jack Dillon for the second corner and won out due to his consistency at batting.

Outfield chores were executed by Frank Bagdon and Pat Pepler while Ed Sobczak and George Rutenbar changed off in center field.

Throughout the season Bagdon exhibited versatility on the field, plus a dangerous slugging arm.

Captain Marty Hansen batting consistently over .300 is perhaps the best short stop ever to play for Michigan State. Speed, accuracy and strength was the combination processed by Marty which made him the Spartans' most valuable player.

Harry "Lippy" Hughes made the third sack a hot corner not only with his constant chatter but also his sharp fielding. He and Bucky Walsh, Spartan catcher were the only players lost by graduation.

Walsh had a keen ability in handling his pitching staff with finesse plus turning in a neat .322 season behind the bat.

Robin Roberts and Marty Hansen signed with the Philadelphia Phillies and are now playing in the minors for Wilmington, Delaware and Terre Haute, Indiana.

Soon afterwards, Don Harris promising frosh hurler, Rod Morgan reserve pitcher, Elwood Sutter catcher and Dick Massuch accepted offers from pro-clubs.

Prospects for the 1948 season appear bleak at this time but perhaps as in the past, John Kobs will pull something out of the bag.

TRACK and FIELD

Continuing its post-war rise under veteran Coach Karl Schlademan, Michigan State College's track squad took up a position as one of the Midwest's leading track powers in 1947.

After successfully defending their Drake relays distance medley relay crown, the Spartans suffered a slight letdown in the dual meet season opener, finishing second to Ohio State as the Buckeye cindermen also beat Purdue in a double dual meet.

Bob Schepers scored the first two dash victories in a string that was to cover ten races before season's end.

State made it two in a row over Notre Dame, May 3, as they whipped the Irish, 76-65, here. Schepers took two more firsts. Freshmen Jack Dianetti and Fred Johnson added three firsts—Dianetti, in the mile, and Johnson in the high jump and broad jump.

Taking to the road, MSC flashed to a 71 3/5-59 2/5 triumph over Penn State, May 10. Highlighting the meet was the fastest mile run in college competition in 1947.

Penn State's Gerry Karver caught State's Dianetti scant yards from the tape and won in 4:11.6. Dianetti was timed in 4:12.

Another road trip the following weekend netted Michigan State an easy, 99 2/3-50 1/3, victory over Marquette in Milwaukee on a rain-soaked track.

Jim Zito, hefty football lineman, got hot in the discus to tumble the 10-year-old meet standard with a toss of 143 feet, 4 1/2 inches. Schepers stretched his winning streak in the 100 and 220 to eight races.

Michigan had beaten the Spartans indoor and came here for the first time in the history of track recompetition between the two schools, May 23.

Michigan State scored its first victory over the Wolverines, 68 1/3-63 2/3, in a driving rain that made all times slow, but failed to dampen the spirits of the jubilant Spartan rooters.

Starring against Michigan was Dianetti, who splashed through the mud and water to win the mile and half mile.

In the final event, Dianetti raced to victory again on the anchor leg of the mile relay to cinch the meet.

The win over Michigan gave the Spartans a four won-one lost record for the season in dual competition, but there were significant indications of things to come in the performances of new members of the squad.

Johnson and Dianetti, in particular, stood out as brilliant prospects, both receiving prominent mention in pre-Olympic speculation.

Dianetti's 4:12 mile against Karver made him the thirtieth man in track history to do 4:12 or better. He also became, at 18, the second teen-age athlete to better 4:20.

Leslie MacMitchell was 18 when he turned in a 4:15.3 clocking back in 1939.

Only 20 of the select 30 recorded times lower than 4:10.

Johnson not only starred throughout the dual meet season, but turned in one of the greatest one-man shows ever seen in the IC-4A championships in the 77th running of the great Eastern meet.

The Grand Rapids freshman won the broad jump and the low hurdles and was a close second in the 100 yard dash, as Michigan State ran up a 25 point total, good for second place behind New York University's 36.

Dianetti faded in the stretch of the 880 yard run to finish second to NYU's Reggie Pearman blasted home in 1:51.5.

Jim Fraser, captain and quarter-miler on the 1947 squad, and two-miler Roy Niemeyer were the only men lost by graduation, leaving Coach Schlademan a brilliant array of track talent from which to build his 1948 squads.

CROSS COUNTRY

Highlights of the 1947 Cross Country season was the winning of the National Junior AAU title in late November following a successful season in which the team won two out of three dual meets.

Coach Karl Schlademan directed the harriers for the first time this year along with his duties of Head Track mentor.

Spartan Jack Dianetti led his mates in two of the big meets of the year, the IC4A and NCAA, in which the green and white placed fifth and sixth respectively.

Notre Dame was the only team to defeat the Spartans, while Michigan State outpointed powerful Penn State and Iowa.

The Iowa and Irish dual meets were held concurrently on the Irish course at South Bend, the afternoon's attempt ending in a split. State downed the Hawkeyes 21-37 while Notre Dame conquered 36-19.

A highly rated Penn State team met MSC at East Lansing, Nov. 1. Gerry Karver and Horace Ashenfelter of the Nittany Lions romped over the course in the fast time of 21:01.3 finishing in a dead heat for first place. However, five Spartans, led by Bob Sewell were among the next six finishers giving the home team a 26-31 victory.

Schlادeman's runners entered the National Junior AAU meet a week later as favorites and came through to take the title with a low team score of 32 points. Sewell topped the Spartans by finishing third.

TENNIS

With a tough 17 match schedule, a new coach and three new players to bolster the lineup, the Michigan State College tennis team put together an enviable 11 wins against six defeats.

Gordon "Jake" Dahlgren, in his first year as coach, had only two letter men returning from the previous year's team which had won four and lost 10. However, Jack Shingleton moved in from Western Michigan, Bob Chuck transferred from the University of Hawaii, and Al Reynolds changed from the University of Kentucky.

For the 1948 season, Frank Beeman who replaces Coach Dahlgren, will have almost the entire 1947 squad on the court. Returning will be Al Reynolds, captain-elect; Jack Shingleton; Bob Chuck; Bob Malaga; and Mike Elliott.

Dropping six decisions and winning four, the Spartan golfmen coached by Ben F. Van Alstyne completed the 1947 season with a below average .400 percent.

Losing only one member of the squad, Jack Gale, the Spartans will have an experienced team to face the 1948 opponents. Among the returning golfers will be Bob Billig, captain this season; Don Vantine, Duncan Fisher, Brien Charter, Jack Munteer and Howard Visger.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Time on your hands? The answer to the fulfillment of leisure time activities at M.S.C. is the Women's Athletic Association. This organization, open to all women students, sponsors various physical activities.

W.A.A.'s yearly intramural program consists of competition between teams representing all the women's residences on campus. The program begins the week after classes start. Fall term introduces Volleyball, Soccer, Field Hockey and Fencing.

With forty girls participating the Seniors took the Fall Hockey title, and then went on to win the Soccer and Volleyball titles as well. South Campbell captured the Volleyball plaque with over 300 girls participating in 180 games. Hiking, Riding, and Skating also contribute to the average M.S.C. coeds Fall activities.

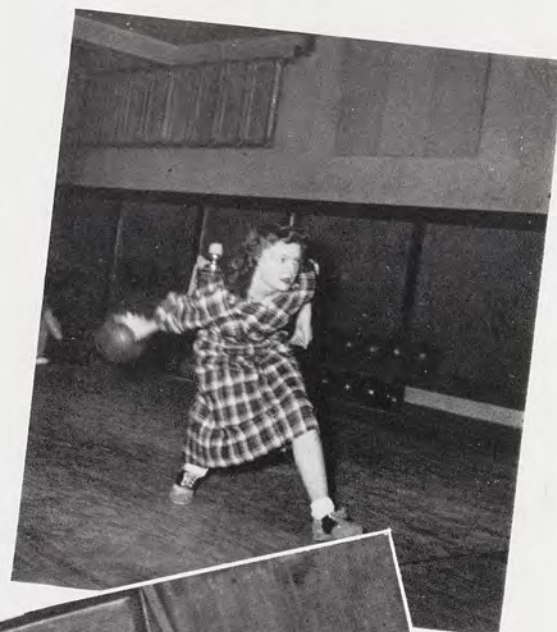

Fencing and basketball classes at work.

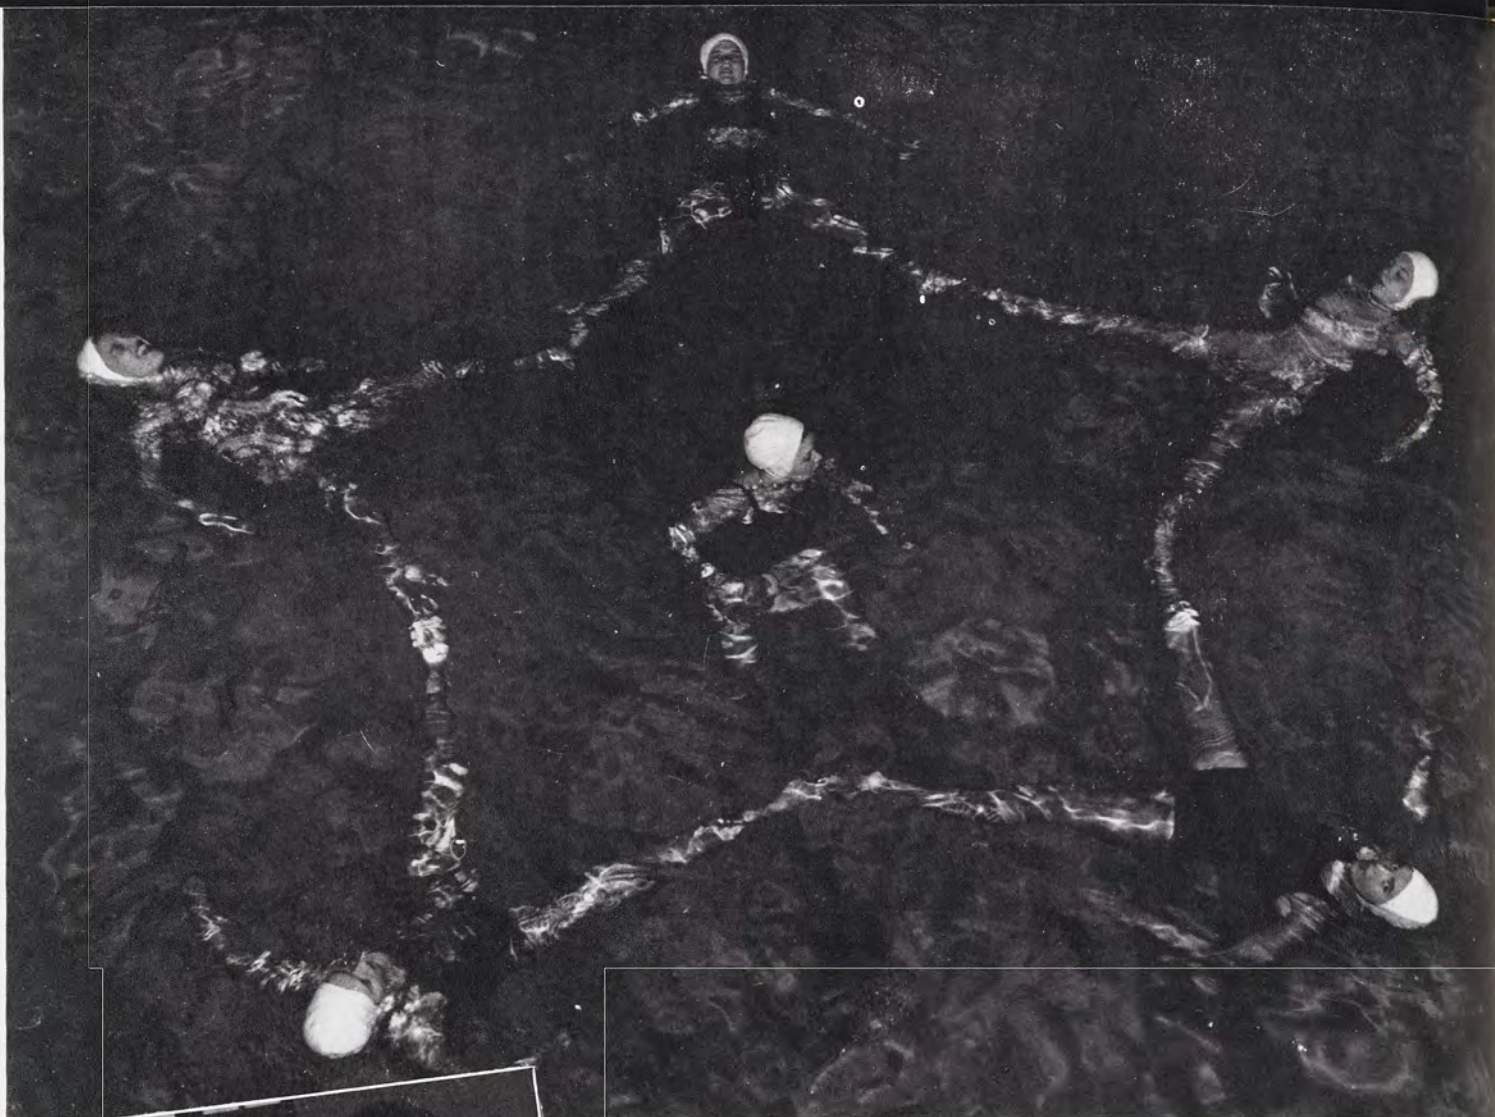

Winter term the Sigma Kappas won the intramural Bowling tournament and received the Bowling plaque for the third time since 1941. The SK's bowled the high score of 803 their last game. With 250 girls participating the Eager Beavers took top Basketball honors in 92 games, and the AOPi's in displaying their unusual swimming skill were presented with the intramural Swimming plaque. Badminton, Fencing, Riflery, and Orchesis always popular are in even greater demand Winter term.

With the coming of Spring outdoor sports again come into view. Softball, Tennis, and Golf bring about the close of the intramural sports season; and with their completion the results of the years competition may be tallied. The winning team is then presented with the much sought after Intramural Cup. The close of Winter term found South Campbell in the lead with a total of 141 points, Sigma Kappa second with 139 points, and North Campbell close behind with 137 points.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING TEAM

Michigan State's girls swimming team turned in an undefeated season throughout the winter of 1948.

Coach Dorothy Kerth directed her Spartanettes against Purdue University and Mundelein College in a triangular meet held at Lafayette, Indiana and brought home a 71-68-22 victory. Purdue's mermaids were heavily favored to upset the Michigan State group but a well balanced team outpointed the Boilermakers. This is the first time two teams have met in actual competition.

Western Ontario fell next to the State swimmers, 50-28. This was the second time that Western Ontario has engaged Michigan State. Last year's contest also ended in a conquest for the Green and White.

A triangular meet with Kronk Athletic club of Detroit and the Detroit Women's City club rounded out the season for the Spartanettes as they won 71-57-47, respectively.

Individual honors went to the 200 yard free style relay team at the Michigan AAU when they broke the state record.

Individual stars shone out in the persons of Dolores Weinburg, sister of Dick Weinburg, University of Michigan swimming star. Miss Weinburg added strength to the free style medley relay team. Peg Rawls, has also been a consistent winner in short distance races and individual synchronized swimming.

Donna Maddock completed her third year of competition with the State group, and as in past years presented heavy competition for her opponents in the backstroke events.

Betty Burton, Spartan diving ace, will be the only team member to graduate. This will leave Coach Kerth a strong nucleus to work with for the 1949 season.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Every woman enrolled at Michigan State College automatically belongs to the Women's Athletic Association. After earning one hundred points in one or more of the activities offered by the association she becomes a voting member.

WAA seeks to promote higher physical efficiency, to create a spirit of sportsmanship, and to provide opportunities for leadership among our women students. These purposes are fulfilled through a large variety of activities offered by the group.

The intramural program includes tournaments in volleyball, bowling, swimming, golf, tennis, and soft-ball. The activities for all-college or individual participation are hockey, soccer, fencing, badminton, dancing, basketball, life saving, riflery, hiking, canoeing, and skating. Any girl who wishes to compete in athletics can find numerous opportunities and facilities.

Added attractions of this organization are the cross-country hikes, the overnight canoe trip, the WAA cabin on college property, and the intercollegiate telegraphic bowling and archery tournaments.

The Women's Athletic Association is governed by a board of executive members and sport managers, guided and assisted by Dorothy Parker of the physical education department. They are affiliated with the national Athletic Federation of College Women.

GREEN SPLASH

Green Splash has been MSC's co-ed swimming honorary since 1927. To become a member, a student must pass the senior life saving course, pass special swimming tests and be a member of her class swimming team in the winter competition. Prospective members must have at least a "C" average and secure the unanimous acceptance of the active members. New members are informally initiated at the women's pool, and later they are formally accepted at a dinner.

Exhibitions of synchronized swimming and specialized aquatics are held frequently by the honorary. Each spring Green Splash presents a lavish water ballet in cooperation with Orchesis, the PEM Club, and the Art Department. Last spring the production was "Swimming in the Park," a novel exhibition of intricate numbers.

The Spartanettes, acclaimed one of the nation's finest coed swimming teams, are sponsored by the Splash. Last year the honorary played hostess to women from all over Michigan when the State AAU held their swimming meet here. Their program for last year also included the National Synchronized Swimming Clinic, a special school for water ballet.

ROTC

MSC's military department is now ranked among the top three ROTC colleges in the country. Branches of instruction have been increased from two to eight and it is likely there will be more additions. Instructors and students are specially selected in keeping with past traditions.

ROTC OFFICERS

For many years Michigan State College has aided in the defense of the United States by training its students in Military Science. In two great wars these students have served skillfully and faithfully as leaders of men. The Army and Air Force are fully aware of this service and hope that the College will continue to develop young officers for them.

To serve at this institution has been most gratifying to me because of the support that has always been given to the Military Department from top to bottom. I can speak for all the members of the ROTC in saying that we are proud to be a part of the program at State.

AND EM . . . INSTRUCTORS ALL

State's ROTC department is one of the largest in the country and has ranked high in federal inspections.

Officers and enlisted men on the staff were sent to special schools by the War Department before being assigned to ROTC duty. In addition all instructors are required to have overseas service during the war and must be specially qualified in their branch of service.

Several of the enlisted men have served as commissioned officers. When hostilities ended they were returned to the rank of First or Master Sergeant. Also included in the ranks are men who served during the first world war, many of them having between twenty-five and thirty years of service.

INFANTRY

Infantry classes expanded during the past year and the first students were graduated with a reserve commission last summer, after attending camp at Ft. Riley, Kansas.

Instruction during the school year covers weapons ranging from M-1 rifles to recoilless 75mm cannons and medium tanks. Students must understand mess management, administrative duties, military justice and tactics.

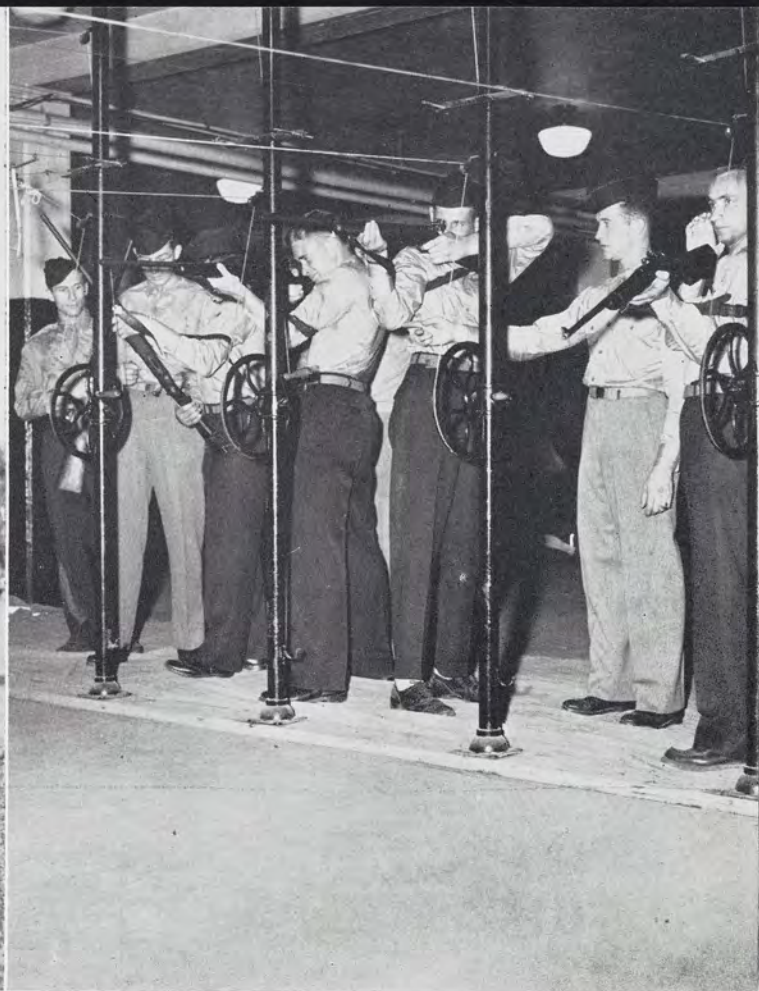

During summer camp they put classroom theories to actual test, fire weapons used by the infantry, and assume duties of command in the cadet organizations. Men who successfully complete the two-year course and six-week summer camp receive reserve commissions.

CAVALRY

With memories of great Horse Cavalry leaders as an inspiration, the Michigan State cavalryman of 1948 is now engrossed in the study of mechanized warfare. The study of tank tactics, tank gunnery, radio communication, tank driving and the latest developments in the combined arms has replaced the equitation classes.

Gone are the boots and spurs. In their place, fatigue-clad students now climb over steel beasts at the command, "Mount up." The Armored Cavalry supplants the role of the Horse Cavalry and with it the old traditions dear to the heart of every Cavalryman.

ARTILLERY

Artillery includes the Field, Coast, and Anti-aircraft branches. The ROTC program has been revised, however, and a common Artillery course is now being taught. Officers and students receive specialized instruction in addition to a well-rounded knowledge of branch Artillery employment.

It is the intention of the War Department to integrate this unit and make it a closely-knit component of the Army Ground Force team. This integration involves a tradition which goes back into the military history of the United States some 171 years.

The mission of the ROTC Artillery Section is to train future officers in both theoretical and practical applications, to enable them to step into any job in the Artillery and handle it efficiently.

REGIMENTAL CADET STAFF

Highest honor for advanced students is appointment as commanding officer of the regiment. Each year the outstanding student in military is given the rank of cadet colonel and placed in nominal charge of all ROTC students.

Candidates from the various branches are interviewed by a board of officers. Military aptitude, academic standing, and ROTC activities are considered.

This year's colonel is unusual in that he was cadet commander in 1946 when advanced ROTC was first reactivated. Last year he left school and returned in the fall of 1947. During winter term he was again appointed to the head cadet position.

AIR CORPS

Air ROTC is a relatively new branch of the Military Department but 1948 finds them leading the way with a total enrollment of 579 students.

Instruction in the 2nd year advanced Air Force is in two specialized fields: Aircraft Maintenance Engineering and Personnel Management and Administration. The flying program of the Air ROTC is in the formulative stage, but the future may bring flying orientation for senior students.

The class of 1947 went to summer camp at Chanute Field, where they were given an opportunity to put their classroom theories into practice. All Air ROTC students who receive their commissions may apply for flight training at the "West Point of the Air."

SIGNAL CORPS

The ever increasing expansion of warfare has placed more and more responsibility on the Signal Corps to "get the message through." The Signal Corps has given the modern military leader such aids as radar, infra-red ray search and photographic equipment, long range weather forecasting equipment, and many electronic control devices used in this atomic era.

The Signal Corps ROTC was established at Michigan State in the fall of 1946. The unit has a twofold objective. First, to give the community better citizens, and second, to train men for a reserve commission in the Signal Corps. The scope of the course qualifies the student as an assistant member in an Infantry Division Command.

QUARTERMASTER CORPS

The Quartermaster unit was one of the first to be activated in the postwar ROTC program at MSC. The object of Quartermaster training is to produce a Junior Officer well-grounded in the fundamentals of the branch; an officer well-versed in the principles of property accountability and responsibility who will approach supply problems from a human viewpoint.

The first year of the Advanced Course deals with supply procedures of lower echelons, while the second year student studies Procurement and Supply Procedures of General Depots.

Upon completion of his training the student is well qualified to receive a commission in the Reserve Corps of the Army.

MILITARY POLICE

This was the year of important events for the MP class. The advanced students highlighted their summer encampment at Ft. Sheridan by winning the Provost Marshall General's Pistol Trophy and the Chicago Herald American Trophy for Rifle Marksmanship.

Advanced students went into a heavy program of work on Riot Control, Train and Town Patrol, Traffic Control, and Military Law during regular classes.

Last fall Jani Hite was elected corps sponsor to represent the MP's at the Coronation Ball and in the spring parades. An outstanding event of fall term was the first Annual MP Venison Barbecue. It was, all in all, an active year for the Military Police.

ORDNANCE

The Flaming Bomb, oldest branch insignia in the Army, is the official symbol of the Ordnance service. The Ordnance develops, supplies, and maintains the weapons of war. It has progressed from the flintlock, muzzle-loading muskets to the present-day rifle, radio-operated fuze, Bazooka, and the General Pershing tank.

The Ordnance unit was established at MSC for the first time last fall. The instruction is set up to acquaint the student with the design, production, and supply problems of Ordnance materiel, all under the direction of Lt. Colonel Morse.

OFFICERS' CLUB

Glittering sabers, boots, and britches may be only reminiscent of the ROTC of days gone by, but the Officers' Club carries on its tradition of sponsoring the swank social activities of the MSC Military Department. Each term the Club presents a military ball where State's many ROTC students get together to enjoy the amenities of the organization. In the fall, the Club manages the election of the co-ed sponsors of the eight military units and presents the winners to the student body at the Coronation Ball.

The Officers' Club also promotes the better interests of the State ROTC unit by conducting meetings which feature motion pictures and lectures on subjects of broad military interest.

SCABBARD and BLADE

With the belief that military service is an obligation of citizenship, and that the opportunities afforded college men for the study of military science place upon them certain responsibilities, the National Society of Scabbard and Blade was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1904.

This military honorary attempts to unite the military departments of American colleges, to spread intelligent information on our country's military requirements, to develop good officers, and to prepare the members for an active part in American military affairs.

The MSC chapter was chartered in 1914. Advanced students who have shown outstanding aptitude and who have the required marks are eligible for membership. The bi-monthly meetings feature speakers who are close to the military problems of the country.

SUMMER CAMP

Summer camp and State's ROTC cadets found themselves back in the old familiar grind . . . reveille and mess call, retreat and parade, inspections and drill.

Military students are expected to have a rounded course of instruction in their branch . . . they acted in command capacities in cadet organizations, put theories to actual use, participated in organized athletics and went through physical achievement tests.

In most branches State students outnumbered the majority of schools represented . . . they also showed up well in sports and efficiency reports.

On their return to campus the cadets lamented the hours spent in the hot sun . . . miles of hiking and heavy packs . . . but proudly pointed to the record they compiled.

Spartan Guards are the modern edition of the pre-war Pershing Rifles. Membership is limited to students with outstanding scholarship in ROTC and an interest in the military.

The unit wears a special green cord on their shoulder and pride themselves on their close order drill. They meet regularly for practice sessions and are forming a drum and bugle corps.

During Winter term they appeared in a program for Farmers' Week, and each year they attend the Holland Tulip Festival as a special guard of honor. Like regular ROTC units Spartan Guard has their own Corps Sponsor.

RIFLE and PISTOL TEAMS

MSC's rifle team is pointing toward another successful season, closely followed by the recently-formed pistol team.

The rifle team engages in telegraphic meets with colleges throughout the country and Alaska, besides entering the Hearst Trophy matches each year. Plaques they have won in the past hang on the walls of the ROTC office.

The pistoleers are now in their second year of competition after being abandoned during the war. This season they had postal meets with eleven schools, including West Point, Annapolis and the Coast Guard Academy.

NORTH CAMPBELL HOUSE

North Campbell is a place of warmth on cold winter days, of shaded coolness in summer, and of sun-filled rooms and open windows in spring and fall.

The girls living here are under the "honor system." An unsuppressed laugh in the hall, the clatter of a hopeful rush to the telephone, a bit of tired harmony at midnight are quickly forgiven and forgotten during normal times. Exam weeks are not normal times, and no coed dares make the mistake of displaying elation or any other form of maladjustment in these periods of crisis.

The girls have, within the last year, begun a weekly newspaper, "Northern Lights," in order to acquaint each one with house proceedings and with the thoughts and criticisms offered by individual girls.

The pride of all who have ever lived here... when graduation comes, seniors leave behind them a host of memories; the rec room again possessing a ping-pong table and lounge chairs displacing sixteen beds, dressers and girls... the piano surrounded by a half moon of listening faces... homecoming... Christmas caroling... the house meetings... fire drills... eight o'clocks... tubbings... serenades... the pride of the W.A.A. cup and the two plaques on the mantle... term parties... working on decorations and clean-up committees... finding a closet in which to study for finals... hastily made beds for room check... knitting... bridge... the sun deck matted with forms on spring days... late pers... open houses... exchange dinners...

From the trivial to the serious, life goes on in South Campbell with a certain air of home. Even the space shortage of three girls in a room made for two does not hinder it.

SOUTH WILLIAMS HALL

An upper bunk may be all that you can rightfully call your own if you live at South Williams, but no one can blame you if you are happy there. Friendly and fun-loving, the South Williamites have that important spirit of comradeship that makes freshman want to stay and the seniors wish they could.

The feeling of friendship is fostered by the informal Sunday morning breakfasts sponsored on each floor where pajama-clad coeds gather to discuss everything and anything . . . the hilarious tubbings after an engagement or pinning . . . the dressed-up girls and lounge at open houses . . . coffee after football, with introductions of dates and families . . . Christmas and installation teas . . . and the famous open-room spreads held after receiving food from home.

No, you can't beat South Williams . . . it's a homey and friendly place . . . ask any of us.

Some scrub, some turn the dial.

NORTH WILLIAMS HALL

Radio parties . . . after-hour spreads . . . open houses . . . serenades and song fests—all typify life at North Williams. Between calls of "Fourth for bridge" and "Anyone want a blind date Saturday night?" come floor meetings, fire drills and last minute cramming for mid terms and finals.

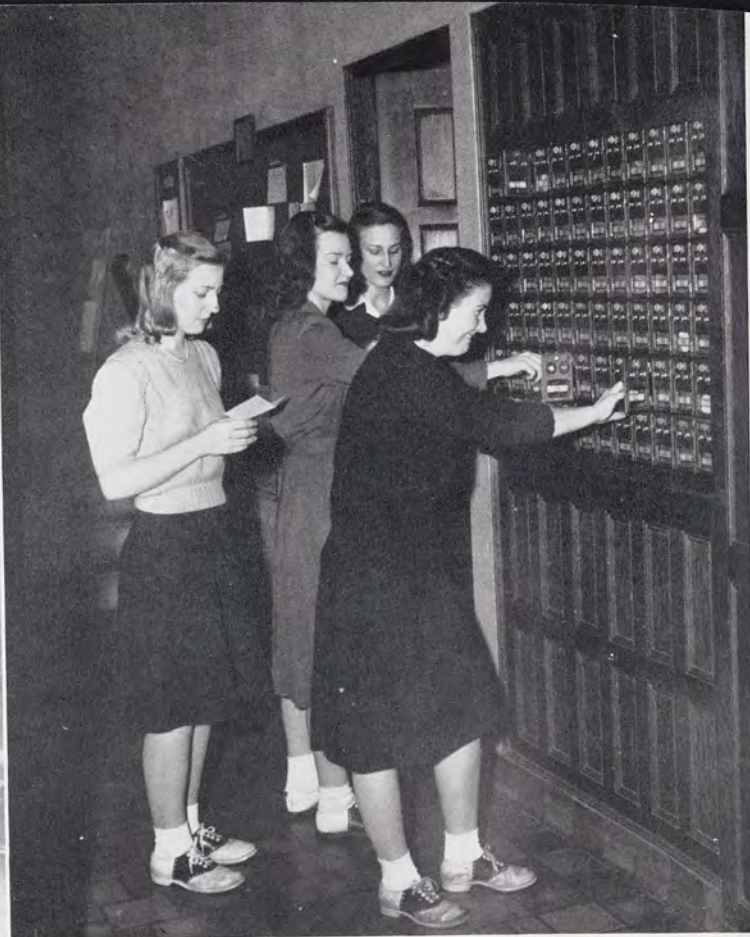

Still the gals at North Williams find time and energy for softball, golf and bowling tournaments, formal teas for officers and faculty members, and ingenious dances like the winter term Masquerade, where they grabbed blue jeans, hula skirts and Navajo blankets, tore down a couple of drapes and went as everyone from Cleopatra to Apache dancers.

Public Relations states "The dorms are adequately equipped for three in a room," which in North Williams' case is a delightful piece of propaganda. Still crowded quarters have taught a hard learned but valuable lesson in cooperative living and no North Williams girl would change dorms with anyone.

Won't they be surprised!

EAST MAYO HALL

In the spring, ivy creeps over the red bricks of Mary Mayo and lends to the dormitory that grace which only time can give. Mayo, the oldest of the present women's dorms, was built in 1930. This year East Mayo houses 161 girls, evenly divided between Basic College students and upperclassmen.

Certain rooms are closely connected with our memories. The dining room humming with the 7:39 stragglers' rush into the breakfast line . . . ringing with songs at Exchange dinners . . . becomes solemn and lovely with the candles and flowers of the Installation tea . . . and gala and exciting at the crowded open houses. The lounge brings memories of a crackling fire in the fireplace . . . of the Christmas party, when children from the Carl School in Tower Gardens swarmed in, eager and wide-eyed, to sing carols and wait for Santa . . . steaming coffee after football games . . . house meetings . . . piano music after Sunday dinner . . . and of course the vital weekend influx of men.

"That's enough tinsel."

WEST MAYO HALL

One of the smallest and oldest campus coed residences, West Mary Mayo hall is noted for the friendliness and spirit which pervades throughout the dormitory.

Women calling this dorm "home" nine months out of the year will recall in years to come the many traditions and activities, from the annual spring term lantern party on the terrace . . . to the after hours gab-fests and party-parties . . . pinnings . . . tubbings . . . serenades.

Fond memories of the rush to mail call, the scramble to answer phone calls, meeting the numerous dates in the lounge, winter term formals, spring term picnics . . . and even the long cafeteria lines, busy phones and crowded rooms where three live in the space for two . . . will go with the coeds as they leave Mary Mayo.

This year West Mayo women are proud of their "queens" . . . coeds chosen from their dorm to represent the whole campus at all college affairs.

"Boy, am I hungry!"

EAST LANDON

East Landon Hall, the newest complete dorm, opened its doors Sunday, September 21, 1947. Since that day, the switchboard has been buzzing with calls and callers for the Freshman beauties who live there.

The dorm boasts the most modern and most beautifully decorated interior on campus. The pride of the girls is their lounge with its love-seats, folding mahogany tables, hand-blocked drapes, and hospitable atmosphere.

The biggest event of the year was the fall term party where the Landon bus boys donned their white coats and entertained as a barber shop quartet.

Furnishings are still coming, though. After three months, the drapes came and all the girls sang "congratulations" to the housemother. Each installation of mail boxes, curtains, rugs, and dining room doors is received with applause.

After a year of activities including the candlelight installation of officers, Christmas parties, caroling and winning athletic teams, spirit is high in East Landon as in the older dorms.

WEST LANDON

Brick by brick, West Landon coeds have watched their dorm grow. Last year they awakened to the pounding of hammers and the buzzing of saws. Frequently, saw horses blocked the halls, nail kegs filled the closets and paint cans and workmen seemed to dangle from every wall and ceiling. And brick by brick, West Landon began carving its history. Even while the dorm was under construction, the girls built a float which won second prize at the Spring water Carnival.

Fall term found the lounges advanced from obstacle courses to luxurious rooms and the pink tile showers—delight of every girl.

This year Landon greeted its first Christmas with a tree trimming party, which will become a tradition with all Landon women. The lassies must have had their thoughts toward the future when they decided to invite members of the faculty for the dinner and coffee hour.

"Will one pair be enough?"

NORTH HALL

Fall term 35 new girls were welcomed to the yellow and brown stucco building on Louis street. Returning from the previous year were 40 of the old residents. With less than 80 coeds, everyone was soon calling everyone else by name and the friendly spirit which has become characteristic of North Hall prevailed.

Planning an original term party for their dates fall term, women took advantage of the fact that North Hall formerly was a campus hotel and chose "Honeymoon Hotel" for their theme. Other events during the year included numerous exchange dinners with mens residences, a hard times party, a Christmas program, and other small dorm activities.

Although they must leave about 20 minutes early for classes in order to make them on time, the girls feel it is worthwhile. North Hall co-eds find that life in an off campus dormitory brings its own kind of fun.

It's a cold walk to the rink.

WELLS... YAKELEY

Wells Hall has changed from a men's to a women's dorm five times in the last five years. The coeds finally moved out in the winter term of '47 for the last time and occupied partially completed Yakeley Hall.

The floors of Yakeley Hall are still filled with men putting the finishing touches to the dorm. The coeds are in constant danger of stepping out of their rooms on the way to the showers and bumping into the workmen casually painting the showers. The coeds frequently have to dash back into their rooms clutching their bathrobes screaming loudly "MAN ON THE FLOOR!!"

Although these inconveniences are frequent the girls are proud of their new dorm and are slowly building up traditions which become a part of every girls' dorm.

Did you remember the bandage?

"What to do?"

ABBOT HALL

Life at Abbot hall, home for 650 State men, includes a variety of social activities; radio parties, term dances, precinct dinners, to acquaint residents with their dormitory neighbors, and exchange dinners with women's dormitories, which serve a similar "get acquainted" purpose.

The council treasury provides equipment for Abbot athletics, and competition is keen in bowling, basketball, baseball and touch football.

Scholastic averages in Abbot hall are near the top of the list, indicating that studies as well as social activities are an important part of college and dormitory life. Room lights would indicate that much of the studying necessary for good marks appears to be done in the small hours of the morning, for pool and pingpong tables in the rec room tempt even the most ambitious away from his desk.

Although somewhat neglected during the war years, the landscaping and interior redecoration of the dorm have again been taken on, and Abbot Hall is now a beautiful as well as a congenial place to live.

What form!

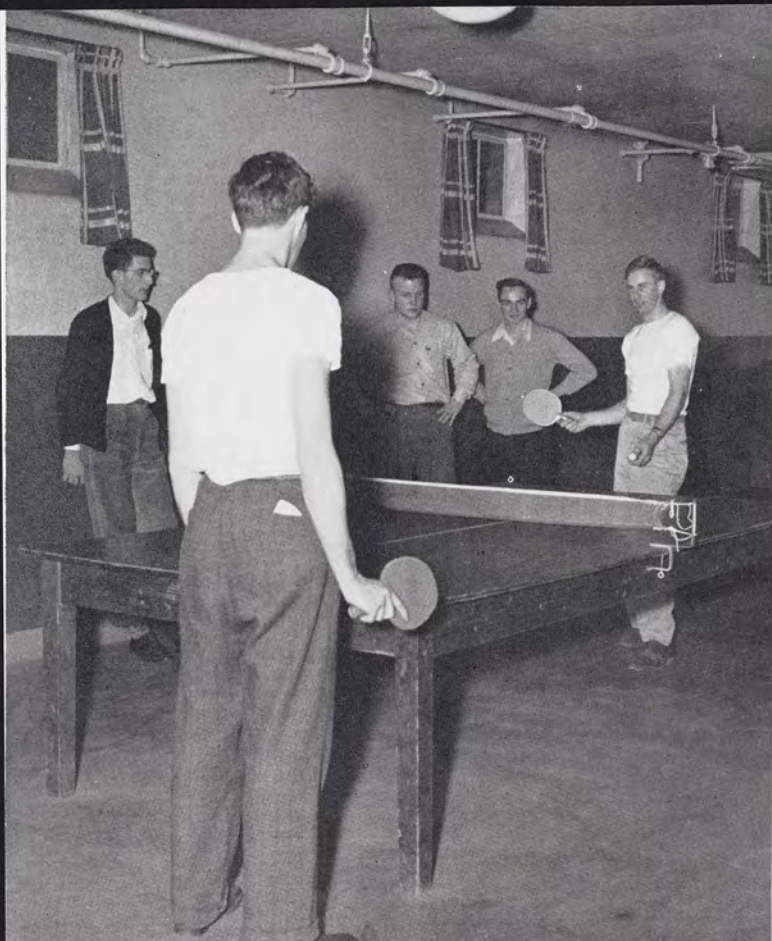

MASON HALL

When the graduating seniors leave Mason Hall, they will take with them a lesson in crowded living and can tell their grandchildren about "When I was a cliff-dweller." Yet Mason is a little more normal than that first confusing year when the gals moved out and the guys moved in.

With the term dances, radio parties, and exchange dinners planned by the Mason-Abbot Social Committee, the social life of Mason men seems to have suffered little from the "diploma, here I come" complex.

Seniors will remember Mason . . . the roommate who wore their shirts . . . the guy next door with no morning classes who played the radio most of the night . . . the bull sessions where big things were said about small matters . . . the revered money man who always . . . most always . . . came through with a loan and the friendly chats with the counselor after gay evenings about town.

PHILLIPS HALL

Phillips Hall, newest of men's dorms at State, has already begun making a place for itself in athletics, scholarship and social activities. With the enlarged dining room and improved kitchen facilities, chow lines are rapidly becoming a thing of the past at Phillips.

The dorm's reputation of hospitality and congeniality was started at once by Phillips men with the semi-monthly precinct radio parties, open houses and term dances. The brand new recreation rooms with piano, pool and ping-pong tables have become the center of impromptu tournaments, jam fests and after dinner bull sessions. Equipment for this recreation is financed by dues paid by the residents which also give them membership to the exclusive Snyder-Phillips Club.

SNYDER HALL

Jonathan F. Snyder Hall officially opened its portals to Spartan men spring term, 1947, and all 650 residents will long remember the after dinner songfests . . . waiting for a vacant phonebooth . . . and outside lines . . . dashing to the grill before closing time . . . blind dates via telephone . . . "sweating out the chowline" . . . pre-exam melancholia . . . crowded washrooms before those eight o'clocks . . . and waiting anxiously for exchange dinner dates . . .

The much varied social calendar was highlighted by radio parties, exchange dinners and stag parties. Dorm spirit took a decided jump when Snyder men won first prize in the men's division of the Water Carnival float contest with the theme and motif of the song "Chinatown," and precinct No. 18 won the all-college championship in softball.

The men graduating from State will fondly remember Snyder Hall as a welcome change after the time spent in Quonset Village.

"Any mail for our hut?"

QUONSET VILLAGE

Campus life has certainly changed in the past few years. Dorms and frat houses seem to have given way to that unique new collegiate institution, the quonset hut. Old grads are pop-eyed with amazement when they see the ginger-bread town that has sprung up south of Jenison Fieldhouse. On what was once an expansive field now stands rows of round roofed huts that hint of the good old days of KP and reveille.

Men returning from those quaint far off places the Army seemed to be so good at finding were right at home on the MSC campus. The quonset village is a GI's "dream" . . . Complete from double-decker bunks to long lones at meal time.

With the completion of new housing on campus most of the original "squatters" are now comfortably tucked away in dormitories; but the quonsets still remain for the unfortunate frosh.

Though the quonset village is far from anyone's dream of college, it has served its purpose in furnishing temporary living quarters for thousands of new students.

SPARTAN CITY

December 19, 1946 is the anniversary date for the married Veteran's Housing Project at State. On this day the first family was moved into the barracks apartments and the project of housing married students was officially inaugurated. A few months before, this area was a broad green pasture for the college horses. Now the low rambling buildings, two hundred and seventy-five in number, housing eleven hundred individual apartment units, is rapidly becoming an integral part of the "new look" on south campus.

Carpenters, plumbers, electricians and road builders buzzed around the area putting on finishing touches. Caravans of cars, loaded with household goods, rutted the muddy lanes with their daily influx. The ex-G.I.'s heaved and lugged furniture, hung clothes lines for the always flying diapers, and generally made their apartments ship-shape.

PRE-FAB DWELLERS

The area has elected its own governing body, the Board of Regents, and has named itself "Spartan City." Many social organizations occupy the residents in their leisure hours. The married students maintain good academic averages, live a normal home life with their families, and generally find college a far richer experience because of the facilities and community life in Spartan City.

TRAILER VILLAGE

On February 9, 1946, a handful of trailers huddled together on the barren stretch west of Jenison Field House, and State's Trailer Village was born. Today the village is a grown up community of 450 trailers, all neatly organized into sections, each section grouped efficiently around its own utility house, recreation hall, and cooperative store.

But what is even more important, the Village now has a personality. Its theme is friendliness and its language is an odd mixture of G.I. slang, academic jargon, and plain old back-fence domestic talk that happily accepts new members into the community and quickly makes them feel at home.

No one living there will ever forget the pot-luck suppers, the outdoor "bull sessions," the parties in the rec hall and the softball and football battles in which the vets are cheered hysterically by wives and moppets. Such social activities, which for the married veterans have largely supplanted the traditional fraternity parties and J-Hops, are a new facet of college life which was not here yesterday, and it seems that as the trailer community has matured it has left its mark indelibly at Michigan State College.

WOMEN'S CO-OP LEAGUE

The Women's Cooperative League, now completing its second successful year, is composed of girls living in the eight off-campus cooperative houses operated by the college. The organization was founded to meet the needs of the individual houses and to combine their activities into a complete working unit. Through these activities the cooperative girls become better acquainted within the League and can more effectively participate in campus affairs. Each girl is an active member of the League—one representative being elected to the W.C.L. Council from every house.

Traditional among the League's activities is the annual Co-Hop sponsored jointly with the Inter-Coop Council. A formal installation service is conducted in the spring for new Council members. Preparing and serving a dinner to W.S.S.F. solicitors, Christmas caroling and an informal get-together during winter term were included in the Year's program.

Each year a scholarship is presented to a deserving League member—co-operative attitude, need, and academic average are considered by the committee making the selection.

The Women's Cooperative League is looking forward to other years as enjoyable and beneficial as the last one has been.

BOWER HOUSE

In the spring of 1946 a group from the local Lutheran Student Association recognized the advantages of forming a men's house founded on cooperative principles. These advantages include the opportunity to practice economical living while in college, develop interest in fellowship, and maintain a homelike atmosphere. After months of hunting, a suitable home was found at 708 Michigan.

The house, named after Bob Bower of '42, killed in action, began formal operation in the spring of 1947 with twenty-three charter members, most of whom were ex-quonset villagers.

The next fall Bower House joined the Inter-Cooperative Council and became the fourth active member of this group. Dr. Alan Beagle of the Sociology department is faculty advisor and aids the men in their economic and social problems.

Although originally a Lutheran group, the house is non-sectarian. There are members of the house from seven states and every school of Michigan State.

The past year was perhaps the most eventful year in the history of Ellsworth House since its opening in 1940.

Mr. R. H. Ellsworth, formerly a faculty member of the Economics department, and for whom our house was named, passed away last summer while on a motor tour in Canada. His sincere and helpful contributions will be greatly missed in future years.

Fall term saw our annex grow into a reality with members busily engaged in renovation and redecoration of the two story structure. Other events that will live long in our memories were the costume party, and our exchange dinners.

Our two athletic teams known as Ellsworth I and Ellsworth II entered each major sport of the co-op intramural league. Much enthusiasm follows our teams as they compete with the other co-op houses for the annual trophy.

HEDRICK HOUSE

Hedrick Co-op house, 903 E. Grand River, brings to the thirty men living there, the advantages of living together, working together, and learning together. Cooking, cat-naps, and cat-sup, are three of the most important aspects of life in the house, where the men contrive to do all necessary housework. A little extra-curricular sleeping is always welcome, as is oceans of the aforementioned condomint.

Cooperative living has other advantages than just the money it saves the members of the house. Social and educational activities are stressed, and are found to be both interesting and fun producing. "We cooperate at Michigan State" has become a by-word and an actuality for the men of Hedrick house. Started in 1939, and reactivated in 1946, the house looks forward to many more years of service to its members.

Answering the challenge of inflation, plans for Motts Coop House were made a year ago to remedy the high cost of college living. A small group of men, under the guidance of Dr. George M. Motts who is active in the cooperative movement, organized to establish the fourth men's cooperative house at Michigan State.

A full summer plus a juggling of finances permitted the purchase of a house at 117 Louis in September. Twenty-three men moved into their new campus home and began saving money immediately. Weekly rates at Motts House are ten dollars, for both room and board.

A roster of administrative officers are elected once a term, including a house manager, secretary, treasurer, steward, and purchasing agent. The entire task of running the house rests in the hands of these men. Faculty advice is handled by Mr. Harry Beeman.

Numerous parties throughout the term as well as participation in a full intramural sports program completes the picture of cooperative college living at Motts House.

ULREY HOUSE

No longer a newcomer on campus, Ulrey house is observing its second year at Michigan State College with considerable satisfaction. Graduation and marriages have reduced the number of charter members from twenty to eleven, but during the past year, through the joint efforts of all house members, many notable improvements have been made to make cooperative living more efficient and enjoyable.

New house officers are elected each term, so that everyone has the opportunity to gain valuable experience in different lines of work. Besides the valuable lessons in cooperation and the taking on of responsibility, Ulrey men learn to enjoy a full social life with the record parties, exchange dinners and term dances which fill their calendar. Touch football, softball, and basketball teams were organized to relieve some of that excess Ulrey energy and the teams have competed successfully in all three sports.

THE GREEKS . . .

"Who's going to south campus?" . . . "Turn off that alarm clock!" . . . "Blind date, sure I'll take a blind date." . . . These are favored phrases in the Greek houses on campus. The sorority women and fraternity men keep themselves busy with parties and exchanges . . . the IFC keeps them occupied with athletics . . . and house scholarship committees make sure they keep their averages up.

PAN HELLENIC

Every campus in the country with two or more national sororities has an advisory and governing body, the Pan Hellenic Council. Each sorority sends two voting delegates. With the advent of Delta Delta Delta last fall, the Pan Hel Council on our campus received its sixteenth sorority for membership.

The primary purpose is to provide a medium through which the Greek houses may work in a common interest. Delegates hold regular meetings to discuss problems concerning the maintenance of university and sorority standards, scholarship supervision, social affairs, and rushing.

COUNCIL

Pan Hellenic activities this year have included a rushing convocation in the fall, the IFC-Pan Hel dance, participation in the Water Carnival, homecoming displays, and the sponsorship of Sorority Sing . . . as well as collective assistance in the WSSF and March of Dimes campaigns.

The group assumed an additional project this year when they provided recreation leaders for the Tower Gardens community.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

You said, "ANOTHER questionnaire?" Fine—can't even ask for the correct time now without putting a dotted line after the query.

"Name"—that's Alpha Chi Omega.

"Age"—20 years at M.S.C. If you're looking for a commission, put "Founded at DePauw University."

Speaking of extra credit, add our national project—the sponsoring of a school for training instructors to help cerebral palsy victims.

Down in the "traditions" will be the well-known "tubbings" for pinned girls; pledges' back door; seniors' front stairs; and everyone's "MSC Shadows" after Sunday dinners.

Don't forget the Farewell dinner, when the seniors receive gifts; and in return, give a present to the house.

A diamond for her pin is awarded to the girl who makes the greatest year's improvement in scholarship; and, if there's enough room, include the Christmas party for the bus boys, with change-about rules, and Alpha Chi bus girls.

And I sign here—on the dotted line?

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

A new Alpha Gam tradition was started fall term when the AGD Dads were escorted to the Kentucky game. After lunch and a short program, the Dads decided it should be an annual affair.

The Christmas party we had for our "Moms," radio parties, breakfast served in the house after the J-Hop, and the annual winter term Formal with dinner at the Porter Hotel . . . all are events long to be remembered.

Early in spring, Chi chapter was hostess to the Alpha Gams from Ann Arbor for the traditional International Reunion Day. Then on May 30 we celebrated our Founder's Day Breakfast. A sad note was added knowing our seniors would soon be graduating; but remembering the many parties, engagements, even final week with cramming and trips to the kitchen, we know the year '47-'48 will take a permanent place in our memory book.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

Barnard College was the scene and 1897 the year for the founding of Alpha Omicron Pi. The sorority invaded the Greek picture at Michigan State in 1934 when the Beta Gamma chapter was established.

Numbered among the traditions of the chapter are the presentation of the scholarship cup to the pledge with the highest average, and the Harriett Weston Ansley cup to the outstanding senior.

National philanthropies include support of the Frontier Nursing Service in Kentucky where needy people secure medical care, clothing and financial aid.

The presidents of Delta Gamma Mu, Vocational Home Economics Board, and Junto Club, are all members of AOPi. The chapter also claims three members on women's varsity swimming team.

Highpoints of the year were the national convention held in Virginia, the annual State Day celebrated by collegiate and alumnae chapters, and the winter term dinner held at the Hotel Olds.

ALPHA PHI

Highlighting the past year for Alpha Phi was the celebration of our 75th anniversary in October. Founded at Syracuse University in 1872, Beta Beta chapter was established at Michigan State in 1922. Founders' Day ceremonies included a banquet attended by outstanding Michigan alumnae.

Emphasizing children's heart diseases, Alpha Phi philanthropic work includes contributions and volunteer service for the Cardiac Aid Foundation.

Speaking traditionally, could we forget the annual Halloween costume party . . . the senior picnic with the presentation of the laugh provoking scrapbooks . . . awarding jeweled pins to the outstanding junior and senior . . . the term party . . . or the mother-daughter luncheon in May?

Early morning pounding on homecoming decorations . . . excited cheering at the volleyball games . . . after dinner singing . . . spring loafing on the sundeck . . . badminton games in the sunken garden . . . listening to serenades on the landing of the circular staircase . . . all are long remembered traditions of Alpha Phi.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Climaxing the past year, Beta Theta chapter of Alpha Xi Delta received a certificate of merit from their national president. The award was a recognition of their work in organizing and directing philanthropies during the second world war.

The Michigan State chapter has adopted the Norwegian village of Noordwyk. The members supply the townspeople with sweaters, dresses, suits, coats and shoes—in addition to money for food and medical supplies. In gratitude, the Noordwyk villagers sent tulip bulbs to all sixty Alpha Xi chapters—some have been planted on the grounds of the new chapter house in East Lansing.

Beta Theta memories are dominated by the senior banquet—when cups are given to the outstanding senior and pledge—and a scholarship ring is presented to the girl with the highest point average.

Never to be forgotten by the twenty-two graduating seniors was our formal term party at the Porter Hotel; and the presentation of rose corsages at candlelight dinners signifying another engagement.

CHI OMEGA

Friendship, scholarship, campus activities, vocations, education, social, and civic service . . . these are the policies stressed within Chi Omega Sorority. The girls of Xi Gamma are very active in many organizations; they have among their membership two members of Mortar Board, three in Tower Guard and the AWS Judiciary President.

Every year a $25 award is given to a student who has excelled in the field of sociology, economics, civics, or psychology. Also a National Award is given every year to a woman of notable achievement. Some of the winners have been Madam Chiang Kai-shek and Kathryn Cornell.

In 1930 Chi Omega gave the University of Arkansas a Greek-Amphitheatre. The fourteen columns represent the first fourteen members of the sorority.

The chapter is now planning for the building of a new house on Bogue Street. Committees have been working during the year to get things under way so we can start building as soon as possible.

Dancing cheek to cheek, almost.
 "It can't be 8 a.m. already!"

DELTA GAMMA

The start of our second year on campus found the DG's active in many fields. Spartan, Wolverine and State News claimed their share of Anchor girls, as did the Senior Committee, AWS, Theta Sigma Phi, Green Splash, Alpha Delta Theta, Tau Sigma, and Theta Alpha Phi.

It was a big year as plans were formulated for our Diamond Jubilee convention this summer, and also for a new Delta Gamma house.

Those long treks to Berkey and South Campus will be forgotten among memories of football games and open houses, Heaven Week, our Smarty-Parties, the masquerade dance, Father's weekend, the term party, and all the midnight excitement of new pinnings or engagements.

Traditional among Beta Xi activities are the Christmas party for underprivileged children . . . the ring presented to the girl who has improved most in scholarship and activities . . . after-dinner coffee in the living room . . . and the thrilling Senior Week spent at a cottage up north.

DELTA ZETA

Delta Zeta traditions are observed by its national chapters throughout the country; in addition, the Beta Rho girls have added a few of their own. Because only active members are allowed to sit on the love-seat in the living room, the first thing that each new Delta Zeta does is to scramble for the long awaited "seat of honor." After the customary picture is taken of each new active and her big sister, she is told of the traditional radio party given each term by the new wearers of the DZ lamp. The new active also learns of the Stanley scholarship award which is given to the girl having made the highest grades.

Perhaps the most memorable tradition of Delta Zeta is one that is also enjoyed by the other 62 chapters throughout the country . . . the annual Rose Ball. This year the dance was held at the Hotel Olds, amid soft lights, sweet music, and the "new look."

GAMMA PHI BETA

With the visit of our national president, the school year was started with a flourish at the Gamma Phi house . . . and what a year 1948 was!

How much fun we had putting up homecoming decorations on the roof, Christmas caroling on a snowy December night, and awarding the sorority ring to the Gamma Phi freshman with the highest scholarship. We entertained our mothers at the house during our traditional Mother's Week-end, and a dinner dance at the Lansing Country Club winter term climaxed our social calendar for that term.

In June the seniors donned their gowns, set their caps at a jaunty angle, and presented the chapter with an original song in a candle-light serenade. We hated to see this time come because it meant farewell to all our seniors and the school year; but the Gamma Phi's will have unforgettable memories to cherish always.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

We'll miss the spirit of '48 and those 18 spirited seniors of ours. But they'll be back to cheer us on at Homecoming; and at our traditional Alumnae Tea, we'll reminisce about the Porpoise Circus and how we won the prize for "best-dressed."

Our "great day" came when we had our State Day, November 15; U of M's Eta chapter was present, as were alums from all over the United States.

There was plenty of excitement at 303 Oakhill when Barb Tanner and Connie Hadley were pictured on the front page of the Free Press rotogravure section; and Barb also had her pix in the September issue of the Ladies Home Journal, as "ideal coed."

Never to be forgotten was our annual Halloween party and "The Cremation of Sam Magee," our traditional Father's Day banquet, the Christmas Style Show, and always our term party, with happy associations!

KAPPA DELTA

This year Kappa Delta looked backward over fifty years of friendship, and forward with new hope to the future. Last fall the KD's celebrated their golden anniversary as a National Pan-Hellenic sorority with a Founder's Day banquet at the Hotel Porter.

Recently plans have been made for the building of their new house . . . the latest addition to MAC avenue's sorority row. The years of waiting through shortages of construction materials are finally over; but the work and play, inconveniences and gaiety of those years on Abbott road will not soon be forgotten.

Pinnings, engagements, serenades, and tubbings are high on the list of memories. Thru the year there was the excitement of preparations for term parties and dances, the fun of talking them over afterwards, and midnight snacks in the kitchen when studying became too much of a grind. These memories will remain with Kappa Delta from old house to new.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Delta Gamma chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma has completed another year of active participation in extra curricular and social activities. The KKG's are well represented in Union Board, Phi Kappa Phi, Theta Sigma Phi, Sigma Chi Gamma, and in Delta Gamma Mu. Winter term, Joanne Dodge was elected corps sponsor, and the following spring Mary Kyte was a Mardi Gras queen attendant.

Kappa traditions include a Last Will and Testament party, a scholarship banquet, a dinner in which the class with the highest scholastic grades is feted by the low honor-point class, a monthly pledge-active meeting, and the keeping of a diary which is read following each active meeting.

The individual and her welfare is of greatest concern; but the sorority spreads its aims internationally. Foreign and Exchange scholarships, the French children war fund, and the English refugee children fund are all examples of these Kappa philanthropies throughout the world.

PI BETA PHI

In reminiscing over the year 1947-48 many outstanding events come to mind. Those informal Pi Phi nights which strengthened our close companionship, those open houses after football games, the hard-times party with the hill-billy Varga calendar, the traditional Christmas party, and the tea in which goods were sold from our settlement school in Gatlinburg. Never to be forgotten was the Black and White Ball, a unique party climaxing winter term. Our mothers enjoyed being "Pi Phis for a day" at our annual Mother's Day party.

Reluctantly we bid farewell to our fourteen seniors. They participated in many activities and honoraries including Mortar Board, Theta Alpha Phi, Kappa Delta Pi, and Sigma Epsilon. With pride and confidence we wish good luck to you, our sisters of the wine and blue.

SIGMA KAPPA

The "House of White Pillars" at 518 MAC has been the scene of many and varied activities for the girls of Sigma K. Last spring they canoed down the Red Cedar for their traditional May Morning Breakfast at Pinetum; then there was "our Dad's weekend" with a prize for the dad with the baldest head; the Water Carnival brought honorable mention to the SK float and winter term the girls braved the cold to bring cheer through their Christmas caroling.

Members of Sigma Kappa do not conform to a "type." Activity girls, however, seem to predominate as depicted by membership in Mortar Board, Tower Guard, Delta Psi Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Green Splash, State News, Wolverine, Radio Guild, and Senior Home Economics Board. In addition, two of the girls hold the office of president in WAA and the AWS Activities Board.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Spring term 1947 found the girls at 207 Bogue enjoying the fun of their first spring cleaning at the new address. On May 9 they pushed back the furniture, rolled up the rugs, and invited their dates over for a weinie roast in "their own back yard."

Moving into a new house didn't change the Zeta traditions any—the pledges still were required to trek to the house at 7 a.m. to prepare breakfast for the actives—candy was still distributed when fall and winter term brought an unusual number of pinnings and engagements; and the Stardust Ball, an annual dinner dance, was again the scene of many happy reunions.

The Zeta girls tied for third place in the annual sorority sing last May with their rendition of the Negro lullaby, "Kentucky Babe"; and in the Porpoise Water Carnival, the relay team decorated by the Bogue street girls took top honors as the "most attractive."

Since the end of the war there has been a revival in the activities of the Greeks. With eighteen fraternities now under its control, the Inter-Fraternity Council really has a job. The main purpose of the Council is to promote fraternity life and activities to the best interest of the College.

Problems the council has to deal with include social life, disputes between Houses,

ALPHA CHI SIGMA

Alpha Chi Sigma, which is the only professional fraternity on campus maintaining a house, strives for the advancement of its members in the chemical field.

Scholarship and personality are the membership requirements. Because of its professional status, membership is open to chem majors, chemical engineers, metallurgical engineers, and pre-medical students.

Social life went on merrily with the term party at Indian Hills, radio parties, and professional smokers attended by fraternity and faculty members of Alpha Chi Sig. Alpha Chi Sigma also sponsors professional lectures throughout the year.

Active fraternity life does not cease upon graduation. Student members then attain the professional ranks and become active in professional chapters.

Alpha Chi Sigma was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1902. There are 59 collegiate chapters and 25 professional chapters. Alpha Upsilon, the Michigan State chapter, was granted its charter in 1928.

ALPHA EPSILON PI

Chi chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi was founded at State in 1934. The fraternity has been nationally organized for thirty-five years. Under the guidance of our advisor, Alex Cohen, Chi has grown from its original eight actives to the present forty actives and twenty pledges. We plan to build a new house soon to replace our current one at 318 Elm Place.

The big social event this year was the winter term semi-formal in the Women's Club. Bob Shinberg supplied the rhythm. As with all our social functions, the pledges worked hand in hand with the actives in the planning and preparations. There were lots of radio parties and a party the pledges gave for the actives which won't be forgotten. We also worked hard on scholarship and athletics during the year.

Everyone studies at State.

Time for the Saturday bath.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO

A local fraternity, Beta Sigma Alpha, affiliated with Alpha Gamma Rho in 1922 to become one of State's first national fraternities. Tau chapter has been active since that time except for a brief period during the war.

Members of AGR are active in campus functions, especially in the Schools of Agriculture and Veterinary Medicine. They are members of all clubs, honoraries, and student governing bodies of these schools, and claimed last year's Interfraternity Scholarship cup.

A high spot on our social calendar for the year was the formal dinner-dance in the Woman's Club. Each term was filled with radio parties, semi-formals, picnics, and exchange dinners with the sorority houses. One of the more unusual events was our Ploughboy Prom. With the Forestry cabin decked out in bales of hay, we found it easy to get into the rural spirit.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Highlighting the year for the ATO's was the Conclave, when 250 Taus from Michigan chapters met here for a two-day athletic program, banquet, dance, and conference. Parents day was revived at the Santa Clara game, and the folks had a fine time there and at the following dinner.

There were many Taus on the track, tennis, baseball, and football teams—Fraser and Hansen captained the latter two. House teams placed second in the Sing, basketball, baseball, track, and bowling. The "National Hobos' Convention" was the biggest fall party with the house in chaos and everyone in their best rags. The formal was at the Reo Club Rooms again, with Shafer's band and ATO bracelets for the girls. Homecoming saw many alums and the rain return. It wrecked decorations, but didn't dampen the Homecoming Dance in the Ballroom.

The Azure and Gold surpassed their pre-war strength with the largest membership on campus, and a chapter in British Columbia brought the chapter total over 100.

BETA TAU

Since its organization a year ago Beta Tau has advanced rapidly. Members have purchased a home and significant steps have been taken toward bringing another national fraternity to East Lansing.

Every type of diversion, from hayrides to formal dances, is written up on the social calendar.

The intramural sports, like the parties, are enjoyed by almost all the members. While no championships have yet been won by the house, a determination has been demonstrated which promises a bright future in the field of athletics.

One of the primary reasons for the inception of Beta Tau at Michigan State was to introduce a greater percentage of college men to fraternity life. With that end in view, membership in the house is open to any bona fide male student on campus—with the exception, of course, of those who are already members of another social fraternity.

DELTA CHI

Delta Chi, originally a law fraternity at Cornell, was inaugurated on State's campus in 1935. Delta Chi now has thirty-seven chapters in the United States and Canada, and the State chapter has seventy-one members.

At our winter term formal we presented the Delta Chi Dream Girl chosen by the members from campus coeds. The combination dinner-dance was held at the Lansing Country Club. Other red-letter days for the Delta Chis were the Homecoming buffet and dance, Mother's Day, our annual Gambler's party, our fall term costume party, Father's Day, the spring picnic, and the exchange dinners.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

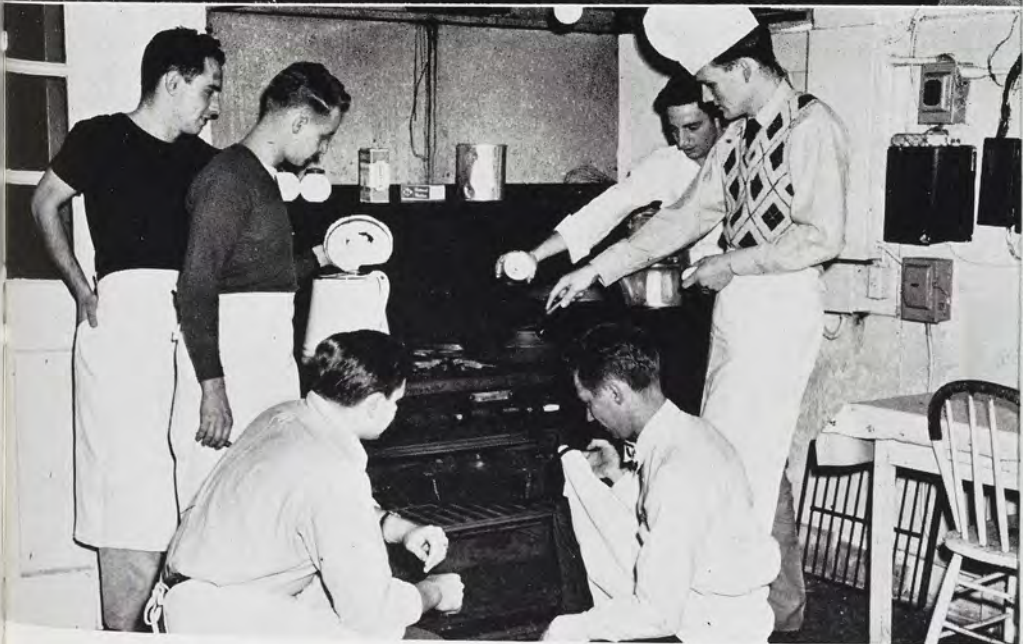

Presentation of an all-college ice carnival was the outstanding event during the past year for the Delta Sig's. It was a celebration of our 25th anniversary on Michigan State's campus.

An ice carnival queen and her court was chosen by the Detroit Red Wings hockey team from photographs submitted by 26 college organizations. Clarence "Biggie" Munn, head football coach at State, presided at the coronation.

A fireworks display turned the night into day as skaters glided across the rink in front of the house. Figure skaters and strolling singers also provided entertainment as did the rip roaring hockey game.

A tradition started a few terms ago, the pledges gave a party for the active members and their dates the night before initiation. The formal term party, picnics, and banquets with other chapters of Delta Sigma Phi rounded out our schedule of social activities for the year.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Delta Tau Delta is the oldest fraternity at State. Iota Chapter, pioneer of the Greeks, was installed in 1872 and remained on campus until 1897.

February 28, 1947 marked the return of the Deltas to East Lansing. The installation celebration reached its peak with a banquet at the Hotel Olds when Delta Taus from all parts of the United States attended. Speakers for the evening included Dr. Hannah and Dr. Herbert Spencer, President of Bucknell University. The celebration was climaxed by the installation ball that evening and a tea at the Delt Shelter on Sunday.

Spring term was highlighted by a formal dance at Indian Hills. A fall term formal was held at the Women's Club, and in the same term Delta Taus won the IFC touch football trophy. The team was runner-up for the all-college title.

Iota is proud to be among the first to encourage the house-mother system among fraternities at MSC.

FARMHOUSE

Founded at the University of Missouri in 1905, Farmhouse is one of eight chapters established on agricultural campuses throughout the midwest. Our members are majors in agriculture and related fields such as forestry, wildlife management, and veterinary medicine.

Several awards are presented to the members each year. Foremost among these is the Doane Award which goes to the senior who has most ably demonstrated our motto, "Builders of Men." A number of Farmhouse men were initiated into Alpha Zeta, and they are active in all activities of the Ag School. Our national convention was held in Chicago and the boys who attended brought back fine reports of the other chapters.

The formal dance was held in the Home Ec auditorium during winter term. We also had numerous parties, exchange dinners, and other social functions. An annual softball game, inaugurated last year, is held with the AGR's in the spring. This is known as the "Battle of the Thunder Mug."

KAPPA SIGMA

Activities at the Kappa Sigma Kastle began even before school opened. We were back early to help give the old homestead a face-lifting. All the downstairs rooms were painted as well as the individual rooms. The exterior was recovered and painted and, for once, more paint went on the walls than on the painters.

Monday-night serenades were started early in the fall and each dorm and sorority house has heard the Kappa Sigs, sixty strong, give out with everything from the "Alma Mater" to "Ragtime Cowboy." Our quartette, always popular on campus, added their renditions of old favorites such as "Shoeshine Boy" and "Harrigan" to the repertoire.

We revived, and hope to perpetuate, an annual Halloween party. Last given in 1942, the Rowdy Party, 1947 version, was a huge success. Climbing ladders, crawling under darkened mazes, and falling down the slide borrowed from a local school added to the fun. Festivities were carried out in the traditional barnyard style.

Party—party.

The K. Sigs singing sweetly.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

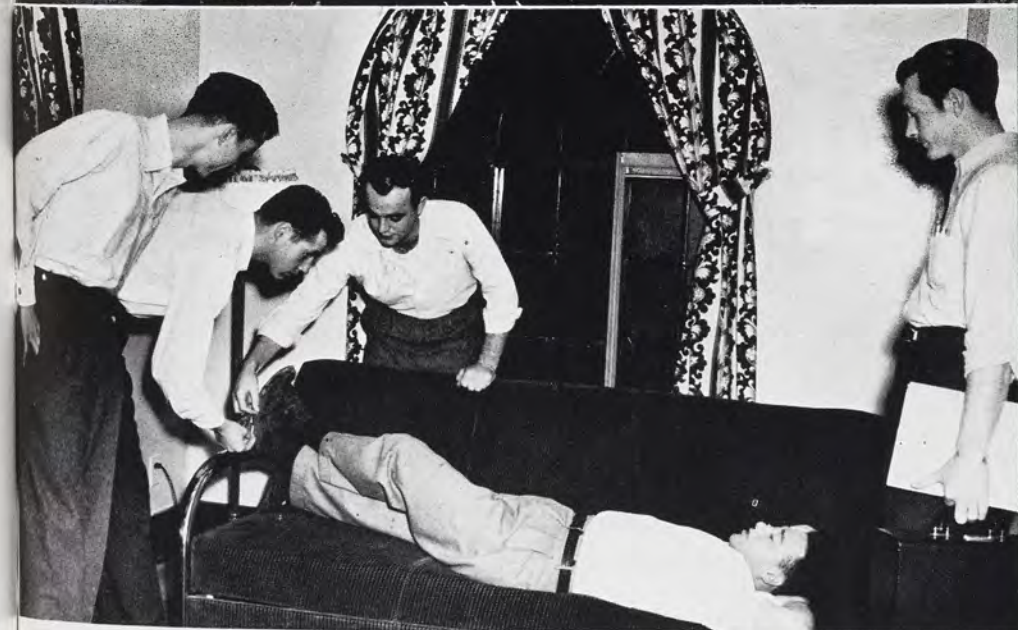

Members of the House on Haslett Street started the ball rolling last fall with their all-out Greek Feast, an idea that was enthusiastically received and did much to cement friendship among the Greeks. An overwhelming crowd enjoyed dancing and cards in the house, and consumed pounds of barbecued pig in the backyard pavilion. It will likely be carried on each year by the different houses.

Originally a law fraternity, Lambda Chi Alpha was founded at Boston University in 1909. Now it is one of the largest college fraternities with 115 chapters in the United States and Canada.

Gamma Omicron Zeta celebrated its 25th anniversary last fall at a dinner-dance in the Olds. The following day a plaque was dedicated by alumni to the Lambda Chi's who died in the war.

Bob Koch reigned as Saint Nick to underprivileged children at the traditional Christmas Party. Games and presents for the youngsters set the stage for an enjoyable time. Each term saw its share of radio parties, exchange dinners, and a long list of other functions. Their national convention was held at North Carolina in the spring.

PHI DELTA THETA

Tradition at Michigan Beta of Phi Delta Theta was modified this spring when our undergraduates attempted the rite of throwing their senior brothers into the Red Cedar. It was a pitched battle due to the large number of seniors.

Social highlights of the year was the Phi Delt Follies staged in November. The laughter and surprise of the audience was exceeded only by the amazement of the avid entertainers. Our term party, held in February, was at the Lansing Country Club.

Last spring three new inter-fraternity trophies representing golf, tennis, and track appeared on the shelf. One of our boys reigned on the throne at the Mardi Gras. At the Founder's Day banquet old and new brothers got together again. This summer we are planning a trek to Miami University where the fraternity Centennial will be held.

A shy "pooch" named Corners invaded our house this year. She's a Great Dane whose appetite is increasing almost as rapidly as her bulk.

PHI KAPPA TAU

With Key men holding top positions, Phi Tau's were particularly active on Publication Row and in senior mixers and dinners as well as the water carnival and senior ball.

We accepted the challenge from the Beta Tau's to a tug of war across the Red Cedar, beginning another tradition with the boys on Delta street. The battle involved the pledges and the dunking went to Beta Tau.

Other traditions in Phi Tau include refraining from walking on the fraternity seal embossed in the flooring in the front hall and the spring dunking given senior members.

Inter-fraternity sports showed us high in sportsmanship, with our teams competing in all athletic events.

Among the most enthusiastic fraternity singers on campus, we exercised our voices daily in after-dinner sessions and in the traditional Christmas and pinning serenades.

PI KAPPA PHI

Members of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity expect to leave the ranks of the homeless soon, as work begins on a new house this summer. Their modern new structure will be a stone's throw east of the Delta Sig's.

Alpha Zeta was founded at State in 1925 when the Orphic Literary Society went national. During the war the college chapter dwindled to one member but the membership has now risen to nineteen actives and four pledges. Meetings were held in the Home Ec Building this year. Pi Kap's are well represented in Phi Kappa Phi, Blue Key, Student Council, and Mens Council.

Throughout the year their empty lot was the scene of many king size bon-fires and weiner roasts, and they had numerous radio parties at the forestry cabin. The Rose Ball, their winter semi-formal, was held in the Hotel Olds.

PSI UPSILON

Epsilon Nu, one of the youngest Psi Upsilon chapters, is located on West Grand River in the big brown house on the hill. It is in the midst of a young forest. We went national in 1943 after a long history as Hesperian Society.

High points on the social calendar were the annual Apache Party in the fall and the formal dinner-dance in winter term. The Apache Party was fashioned after a French cabaret with fish nets hanging from the ceiling. At homecoming the house was turned over to the alums with an enthusiastic "Welcome back." During the year we had many informal parties and exchange dinners.

Originally constructed in an Italian-American design, in 1927, our house was redecorated and given new carpets this year. Our members have been active in Blue Key, student politics, and the IFC. Although somewhat tied down in 1946-47, our athletic teams came back to place second in IFC football and near the top in swimming.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

The oldest southern fraternity seems to be doing quite well in the northern clime. That was the opinion of those who attended the SAE's all-Greek Christmas Party in the Union Ballroom. Clark Reid's enactment of "The Juggler" and eggnogs kept the guests happy between dances. The boys also planned three costume parties with a Hard Times, a Wild West, and a South Seas theme.

For the more formal exchange dinners, candlelit tables were decorated with flowers in the sorority's colors and the purple-and-gold of SAE. Spring term activities included the formal at the Olds, a Tri-chapter Convention, second place award in IFC bowling, and honorable mention for "Peter and the Wolf," our Water Carnival float.

Members participated in every IFC sport, and five Minervamen took first and seconds in all-college boxing and wrestling matches.

We resumed publication of Mich-E-Gamma, our annual chapter mag, and established the Gamma-Phone as our monthly news sheet. The Gamma-Phone was able to announce in its first issue that SAE had won the Homecoming Display for the third time in four years.

SIGMA CHI

Our headliner, traditionally speaking, is the annual Sweetheart Ball. The chapter selects the "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" whose qualifications include not only physical attractiveness, but a high scholastic and activity standing.

Newest "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," and the most sensational one in the six years of chapter history, was the "new" Graham Paige, a vintage 1924 fire truck, purchased by the brothers from the city of Yale. Many activities center around the truck and the complete fireman's regalia that came with it. During football season the fire truck did cab duty between Macklin Field and the various dorms and sorority houses.

Sigma Chi has been sponsoring a Gray "Y" Club for underprivileged boys from a slum district in Lansing. The chapter plans projects for the boys and helps the boys to complete them.

We instituted the Fireman's Ball last year. The theme resembled Olsen and Johnson's "Hellzapoppin."

SIGMA NU

Sigma Nu plus the past year added up to interfraternity championships in softball, basketball, bowling and swimming. The "sweat sox squad" also took third place in the fraternity track meet to add still another trophy to an already large collection.

The years social calendar included the formal white rose ball, radio parties, picnics, hay rides, and the unique nut-house party. For the latter, the house was transformed into an obstacle course featuring step ladders, slides, saw horses and other paraphernalia stolen from a carpenter's workshop. The victims of the obstacle course were outlandishly attired in keeping with the nut-house theme. The party has become an annual affair at the house.

At Christmas time we played hosts to a group of underprivileged children at the chapter house. The party was complete with food and games, as well as gifts distributed by an over-stuffed member of Epsilon Rho in a red suit.

THETA CHI

Theta Chi's and more Theta Chi's. That was the day when the boys from Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania chapters came here for the Regional Conference. First they attended a meeting and then dashed to a dinner-dance.

Beta Zeta won a cougar skin from the Washington State chapter in the annual football clash last fall. Winter term's big event was the formal where we danced to Brother Jimmy Shafer and his band. Of course the spring term Bowery Ball went off in grand style with many a weird gay-nineties costume. Then there was an interesting variety of informal parties such as the dinner party at Halloween.

On the academic side this year, two members were initiated into Tau Beta Pi honorary. A trophy for the outstanding pledge was added to the display in our chapter room.

ZETA BETA TAU

Our fraternity year commenced with the activation of the chapter. November 14, 1947 marked the end of Sigma Zeta Society and the birth of Beta Epsilon chapter of Zeta Beta Tau. Our chapter entertained 800 people at the Olds on this date. College dignitaries and national officials attended a stag dinner followed by a reception and dance.

Fall term was highlighted by a tug-of-war among our pledges and plenty of competition in IFC or inter-chapter athletics. The big party in the winter coincided with the activation of new pledges. Members put on a second large party in the spring, as a climax to the year's social calendar.

Aside from sports and parties the members were busy setting up and learning how to run a new fraternity. New by-laws, a constitution, and a system of management were instituted. It was a job!

Kappa Epsilon was founded spring term of 1947. Official meetings are held in the Home Economics Building due to the lack of a house.

Activities have included a term party, radio parties, and a pledge pie eating contest with the Delta Sigs.

The procreation of Delta Rho was in Abbot Hall in the fall of 1946. It now includes men in Snyder and Phillips Hall and off campus as well. The meetings are held in the Union. Delta Rho hopes to obtain a national charter next fall.

IT'S A 'STATE' TRADITION
THAT THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A SENIOR AND A FROSH IS 312 EXAMS. WOW!

MSC EN MASSE . . .

Graduation . . . the last lap of a four year race . . . freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors . . . all struggling . . . the seniors worry about graduating . . . the underclassmen worry about getting to be upperclassmen . . . and . . . they all worry about having a good time . . . trying to roll like big wheels . . . but perhaps the real cogs of campus life are the faculty members.

PRESIDENT JOHN HANNAH . . . he guides MSC's tripled enrollment and expanding building program.

THE STATE

The State Board of Agriculture controls and supervises the college and all the property belonging to it. Final approval of ordinances and regulations not in conflict with state laws rest in this board. They also appoint the secretary and the treasurer of the college and decide what books shall be used by the school.

The board is made up of six members elected from the state at large. Among the ex-officio members are

BOARD MEMBERS L-R:

Karl H. McDonel, Secretary
 Forest H. Akers
 Winfred G. Armstrong
 Sarah V. H. Jones
 Clark L. Brody
 John A. Hannah, MSC Pres.
 Frederick H. Muellerer
 Eugene B. Elliott
 Philip J. May,
 Comptroller and Treasurer

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE

the state superintendent of public instruction and the president of the college. This year Mr. Elsworth B. Moore has replaced Mr. W. H. Berkey as one of the six members of the board.

Due to the efforts of these men in helping to establish new and valuable departments, Michigan State College has acquired the reputation of being one of the best agricultural and scientific schools in the country.

A diploma, the wide world and the board's blessing . . .

KARL H. McDONEL

Traditional ivy covered buildings and spacious lawns are the concern of Karl H. McDonel, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture. Mr. McDonel is custodian of buildings and grounds and is responsible for the operation of MSC's physical plant.

MSC ADMINISTRATION

To the casual observer MSC is a remarkable mixture of ivied walls, football games, and comprehensive examinations all packed onto a charming, shaded campus. This same observer cannot fail to realize that within a year's time the student body at MSC trebled in size and wrought great changes on the shaded campus. A multi-million dollar building program and rehabilitation of established policies and methods were necessary to meet this demand . . . and the result is a new Michigan State College.

Now the casual observer may wonder what was the dynamic force behind these great changes . . . certainly it wasn't the ivied walls, the football games, the comprehen-

ROBERT S. LINTON

Registering 15,000 students each term is the task of Robert S. Linton, college registrar. Mr. Linton is also responsible for the distribution of school pamphlets and bulletins and the publication of State's "best seller," the annual college catalog.

PHILIP J. MAY

Winter term 1948, Philip J. May was appointed comptroller and treasurer of the college. Mr. May's position includes the distribution of funds from state appropriations, responsibility for the budget, and the disbursement of funds to the departments.

GLEN O. STEWART

Our well-liked Director of Alumni Relations died February 25 after a period of heart trouble. Nationally known in the field, Glen Stewart had guided State's Department of Alumni Relations through 22 years of expansion.

STANLEY E. CROWE

Stanley E. Crowe, Dean of Students, graduated from Ohio State and received his masters from the University of Michigan. All college entertainment, including the Lecture Series, comes under his jurisdiction. A new responsibility was added fall term when foreign students came through for classification and orientation.

THE DEANS

sive examinations, or the shaded campus. Our observer need only pay a visit to the Administration Building and he will find the answer. Behind the roar of football crowds and the clatter of construction gangs is a diligent staff of deans, counselors, specialists, and faculty, headed by persevering President John A. Hannah . . . they comprise the machinery that makes the wheels go 'round.

On these pages you will meet the men and women primarily responsible for the postwar Michigan State College. Theirs is a never-ending task which finds its reward each graduation day when State sends forth its young men and women better equipped to be citizens of the world.

MRS. ISABELLE GONON

Mrs. Isabelle Gonon, Counselor for Women, personifies graciousness and charm to the thousands of girls she guides each year. An abundance of advisory and administrative duties keep her in constant contact with all women's organizations.

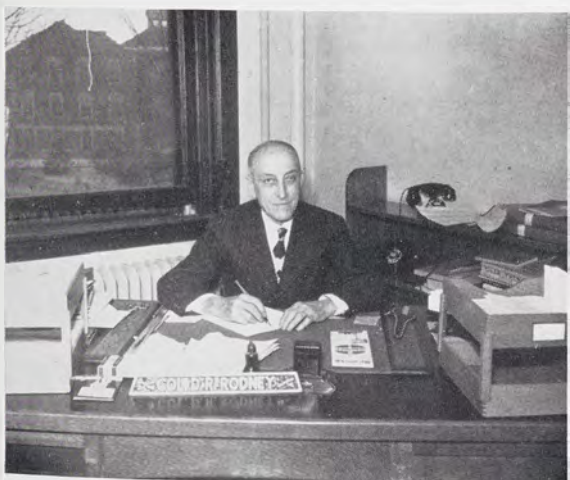

LLOYD C. EMMONS

Coming to Michigan State in 1909 as an instructor in mathematics, Dean Emmons has come a long way to his present position as head of Science and Arts. Under his skillful supervision, this school has grown from the "baby" to the largest division on campus.

TOM KING

Tom King, the popular Counselor for men, Director of the Placement Bureau and Director of Veterans' Affairs, actually does the work of three men. Mr. King started his MSC career with the Physical Education Department in 1933.

DEAN RODNEY

Dorsey R. Rodney, Dean of the School of Business and Public Service, has eight departments under his supervision. A graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, Dean Rodney has an impressive military career behind him.

HOWARD C. RATHER

Howard C. Rather has the distinction of being the first head of the Basic College, a system of progressive education that was inaugurated in the fall of 1944. Dean Rather was a student at State before the first World War.

MARIE DYE

Appointed Dean of the School of Home Economics in 1929, Marie Dye holds the record for the longest period of service as dean on campus. A graduate of the University of Chicago, Dean Dye was nominated president of the American Home Economics Association for 1948-49.

CHARLES F. HOLLAND

Dr. Charles F. Holland, Director of the MSC Health Service, is a graduate of Michigan State and the University of Michigan Medical School. Dr. Holland's supervision extends over 300 college students who receive medical care daily.

HENRY B. DIRKS

Outstanding in the field of Mechanical Engineering is Henry B. Dirks, Dean of the Engineering Experiment Station at State. Upon graduation from Princeton University, Dean Dirks entered MSC as a professor of Mechanical Engineering. He was appointed Dean in 1931.

RALPH C. HUSTON

Since 1911 when Dean Huston first came to Michigan State, he has progressed from assistant professor of chemistry to Dean of Graduate Students, a position he has held since 1944. Dean Huston was graduated from the University of Iowa.

CLAUDE STEVER BRYAN

Dean Bryan first attended MSC in 1930 and worked as half time assistant to the Dean of Veterinary School. He was appointed Acting Dean of Surgery and Medicine in July 1947.

ERNEST L. ANTHONY

State's Dean of Agriculture graduated from the University of Missouri and took post-graduate work at the University of Copenhagen. After teaching at the University of Maryland, he came to East Lansing and was made dean in 1932.

SENIORS . . .

SENIOR

OFFICERS

Dick Mineweaser,
Treas.

Ruth Meinke,
V-Pres.

Gwen Sculpholm,
Sec'y.

George Guerre
Pres.

Who directed senior activities, appointed the Senior Ball and Water Carnival committees, allocated class funds, and distributed commencement announcements? The Senior class officers of course.

The class president, George Guerre, well-known for his football ability, was a member of Sigma Nu. During his absence vice-president Ruth Meinke took over the gavel. She was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and active in AWS. Class secretary Gwen Sculpholm was also a Theta and active in AWS. A member of the varsity baseball squad, Dick Mineweaser, kept an eye on the senior treasury. Dick was in DZV and ATO.

JUNIORS . . .

Freshmen are bewildered at the wonders of college . . . sophomores think of activities and bemoan heavy schedules . . . seniors lament the things they might have done . . . but the juniors—theirs is the class that rides high . . . the trying years as lower classmen are gone and the big senior year is just ahead.

Jackie Allen, Sec.; Jerry McCarthy, Treas.; John Buda, Pres.;
Barb Babcock, Vice-Pres.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Last fall's elections for officers of the junior class marked one of the largest and most elaborate campaigns ever to be seen on this campus. The four students pictured above were chosen to lead junior activities this year. Their duties include appointing J-Hop committees and calling general class discussion meetings.

John Buda, a Lambda Chi, heads the list as class president and also acts as representative to the Student Council. His other activities include DZV, the athletic brotherhood, the boxing team and the JV football squad.

In John's absence vice-president Barbara Babcock takes over. She is a member of the Alpha Phi sorority. The other coed on the junior roster is Jackie Allen, who serves as class secretary. She was president of South Williams last year.

Jerry McCarthy, the chancellor of the exchequer, serves a double role as treasurer. He not only handles the finances for the class, but is treasurer for his fraternity, Delta Tau Delta, as well.

J-HOP

Tommy Dorsey autographs records amid J Hop committee men.

The "sentimental gentleman" provides attraction for the biggest Party-Party crowd of the year.

Angle shot of America's most famous trombone.

The start of a big evening.

"May I take your coat?"

"C'mon kids, the music is tops."

Dancers take time out to talk with J Hop patrons.

These party goers enjoy an interlude at the coke stand.

BASIC COLLEGE . . .

Basic college . . . the largest freshman and sophomore classes in State's history . . . valiantly trying to participate in every college activity . . . wondering where the next passing comprehensive grade is coming from . . . enjoying the hustle of hectic college living to the hilt . . . unconscious disregard for established traditions . . . weaving patterns for the new customs . . . customs that will be handed down to their grandchildren in 1998.

The sophomore class experienced a year which showed more class spirit than has been seen for a long time when they resumed the traditional tug-of-war with the freshman class. They also put on a successful Soph Ball under their able leadership.

Bob Klein, Pres.; Walt Farren, Vice-Pres.; Jean McCowan, Sec.; Tom Root, Treas.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

UNDERCLASSMEN CARRY ON MSC TRADITIONS

It's taken many years and the efforts of a great many people to make this campus what it is for you to enjoy. The ideal of a friendly and beautiful campus has been approached only through the far-sighted cooperation between the college and the student body. In the course of this cooperation certain traditions have been established and upheld, traditions that make Michigan State's campus outstanding among the nation's greatest. Traditions have helped preserve its natural beauty; traditions have built its friendly spirit. This campus is your campus; it's our campus. It's second to none. Our traditions have made it that way. Let's keep our traditions vital.

Standing: John Erwin, Jack Bates.
Seated: Elaine Brandt, Don Borgeson, Stan Brauer—Advertising Manager, Barbara Crist, Mary Hazen.

"A big bouquet to Dick Edelen, who took this picture and who as official advertising photographer, took many of the pictures in this section."

T is for the TIME you spent in soliciting ads.

H is for the HOURS you spent in getting copy.

A is for the many ADS you sold in this book.

N is for the NEVER SAY DIE SPIRIT you showed when you received a big no.

K is for the KNOWLEDGE you received in your dealings with Lansing and East Lansing businessmen.

Y is for the YEARNING you must have felt for just one more ad to reach your $300 goal.

O is for the OUTDOOR EXERCISE you received from going from business to business in search of ads.

U is for (YOU) the members of the 1948 advertising staff who made possible this fine section and who helped in many ways to make the 1948 Wolverine possible.

Thanks

How REO serves the campus

MSC football team entering Reo Safety School Bus

Rugged Reo Model C-21 truck does varied campus jobs

Reo Flying Cloud Transit Coach solves mass transportation problem in Lansing and East Lansing

COMFORTABLY, SAFELY, ECONOMICALLY

Safety is the keynote in the REO Safety School Bus, always. Built in one complete unit, from wheels to roof-top, the REO Safety School Bus is the only school bus to fully comply with National Education Association standards of safety.

Economy tells the story for campus hauling jobs by REO trucks. Engineered for rugged power and economy of operation, REO's trucks-of-all-trades are ideal for many uses.

With REO's exclusive "More-Load" design inches are cut off the wheelbase, shortening the turning radius. You get a more compact unit with full payload.

Comfort is a prime concern when hauling mass transportation. And in the REO Flying Cloud Transit Coach, REO has made it their concern to put safety and comfort first.

Students and townspeople vote REO Flying Cloud Transit coaches to the top of the transportation class. Wide entrance and exit, full clear-vision and wide roomy seats are just a few of the many features REO demands for your safety and comfort.

Futuramic—"the dramatic design of the future"—a brand new word to describe the finest of functional modern design. This outstanding Futuramic house was built in Port Angeles, Washington—architects, Chiarelli and Kirk.

White sidewall tires optional at extra cost.

This is the first of the Futuramic cars—the Series "98" Oldsmobile for 1948. This is the car that brings truly functional design to the automotive field—styling every bit as modern as GM Hydra-Matic Drive. And that's saying a lot! For Hydra-Matic Drive—pioneered and proved by Oldsmobile—is the Futuramic feature that banishes gear shifting in the forward speeds and eliminates the clutch pedal completely. Today, Hydra-Matic Drive is available (at extra cost) in all new Oldsmobile models—both the Futuramic Oldsmobile "98" and the Dynamic Oldsmobile "60" and "70." This year, as always . . . "It's SMART to Own an Olds!"

ALL THIS WITH A DUO-THERM!

No wonder the Duo-Therm hot water heater is the talk of the town! Just look at all you get with these great Duo-Therms:

—Completely automatic operation... no more running up and down stairs to tend the old-fashioned hand-operated heater. When you want hot water—just turn the tap.

—All the hot water you need... even on the heaviest of washdays. A Duo-Therm is a "natural" for use with an automatic washer!

—Costs the average family mere pennies a day to operate.

—Strikingly styled with easy-to-keep-clean white enamel finish. Adds beauty to kitchen, utility room or basement.

TEAMWORK

Engineering - Education - Industry - Agriculture

Modern food production requires teamwork . . . the combined efforts of growers, educators, engineers and craftsmen in industry. Colleges—such as Michigan State—are important to the team; as information centers, as well as sources of skilled personnel. This close cooperation—teamwork—produces more than food . . . it leads directly to a better way of life.

*T*hrough what has been an entire generation in the lives of those connected with the development of Michigan schools The Ann Arbor Press has maintained a larger and more lively interest in the growth and usefulness of schools than the merely commercial interest of the printer who prints for a certain fee. We have always held that the profession of the teacher is the highest in the field of public service and should receive the highest compensation of any profession, trade or occupation in which our people find fields for usefulness. Higher rewards should attract the greatest talent, the finest characters and the most efficient teachers. There is not the slightest excuse for the teaching profession remaining underpaid in this country and when that thought becomes universal policy in our whole governmental system the generations now living will resemble intellectual pigmies toiling through a slough of despond, compared to the bright, happy, clean, healthy free people that are to come when we no longer stand in the way of better education.
