crop of Potato Bugs with one application; also kills any Curculio, and the Cotton and Tobacco Worms.

This is the only safe way to use a Strong Poison; none of the Poison is in a clear state, but thoroughly combined by patent process and machinery, with material to help the very fine powder to stick to the vines and entice the bugs to eat it, and it is also a fertilizer.

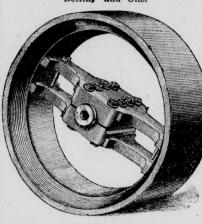

ONE POUND will go as far as TEN POUNDS of plaster and Parus Green as mixed by the farmers. It is therefore cheaper, and saves the trouble and danger of mixing and using the green, which, needless to say, is dangerous to handle.

Bug Finish was used the past season on the State Agricultural College Farm at Lansing, Michigan, and, in answer to inquiries, the managers write: "The Bug finish gave good satisfaction on garden and farm." Many unsolicitated letters have been received praising Bug Finish.

Barlow & Star, hardware dealers at Coldwater, Mich., write as follows under date of May 14: "We sold 3,100 pounds of "Bug Finish," as it finishes the entire crop of bugs with one applicatiod. We shall not be satisfied unless we sell three tons this year, as there is already a strong demand for it. Please send us ten barrels (3,000 pounds) at once."

THE FIFTH ANNUAL

Convention of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association.

The fifth annual convention of the Michigan State Pharmceutical Association was called to order by President Wurzburg at Mitchell Hall, Petoskey, Tuesday morning, July 12. Rev. Geo. Johnson invoked the divine blessing, when D. C. Page, President of Petoskey, welcomed the Association to the town in a pleasant men. sociation to the town in a pleasant manner, complimenting the profession on the skill and education necessary to the at-tainment of success and also on the enactment of a law regulating the practice of pharmacy. Secretary Parkill responded to the welcome in behalf of the Association. He paid a deserved tribute to the hospitality of Petoskey, thanking her people for the generous welcome accorded her guests. On motion of Frank Wells, the reading of the minutes of the last mosting was discovered. the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with, when President Wurzburg called Frank Inglis to the chair and read his annual address, which was given in full in The Tradesman of last week. On motion of James Vernor, the chair was instructed to appoint a committee of three members on President's address, which he announced that he would do at the close of the morning session. The following gentlemen were elected members of the associa-tion: Earl Allen, Stanton; M. A. Barber, Petoskey; F. E. Brackett and Geo. N. Case, Cheboygan; H. N. Dean, Niles; James E. Dillen, East Tawas; James Fish-James E. Dillen, East Tawas; James Fisher, Marlette; John A. Gibbs, Kalamazoo; Chas. W. Hull, Bay City; Gustaf A. Malmgren, Ishpeming; F. O. Marthy, Manchester; Neal McMillan, Rockford; Ed. Pemberthy, Iron River; H. W. Rodenbaugh, Breedsville; L. F. Rogers, Lakeview, Albert M. Todd, Nottawa; Fred. A. Tillson, Ishpeming; W. A. Watson, Breckenridge; A. A. Weeks, Grattan; J. R. Kestell, Detroit; A. B. Francis, Olivet; H. S. Barie, Detroit; M. J. Erwin, Harbor Springs; G. A. Osborn, Luther; J. C. Bostick, Manton; A. J. A question as to how to treat grocers who sell paris, green without a label was answered by Prof. Prescott, who said that the question was a commercial and not a pharmaceutical question. Paris green is Grand Rapids. neither a drug nor a medicine any more than "Rough on rats" or a toy pistol. Something should be done to prevent its sale without the proper label, but Prof. Prescott doubted whether the druggist was the proper person to take the subject in hand. Dr. Lyon, on the contrary, thought that the druggist should move in the matter, as paris green comes under the common head of poisons. J. S. Hewitt said that the grocers in Milford sold the article in any sized packages, without the least appearance of a label.

Another enquirer asked how to treat Colgate's goods, which are sold by dry goods dealers as leaders at less prices than the druggist can buy them for. No one was able to present a solution of this problem, when Secretary Jesson presented the report of the State Board of Pharmacy. The total number of names on the register is 2,942, of which 2,749 are registered pharmacists. One hundred and seventythree names have been dropped from the register for failing to renew, fifteen have been reported as dead, two certificates have been revoked, one has passed the required examination and had his original certificate canceled, making a total of 193 names which have been erased from the register. Two examinations have been held since the last report, during which one hundred and seven candidates were successful and fifty unsuccessful. The total cash receipts during the past year have been $3,139.25. The expenses of the Board have been $2,050.30, including a Secretary's salary of $800. The report was adopted.

They came hurrying and skurrying toward it with all the fuss and flutter fashionionable shoppers make. The clerk in charge smiled wearily as he saw them approach.

"I'll go you two cigarettes that they don't buy anything," he said to a fellow-clerk.
"I'll go you," was the reply.
"All right—ah, anything I can show you in ribbons to-day, ladies?"
"Yes. I'd like—O, Mame, see this new shade in green."

"How lovely! I do think that—O, Sadie, how do you like this odd shade in blue?" "It's just sweet, pretty!" "Think so?"

The Price of Rice. Southern newspapers of late have contained a good deal concerning a projected or anticipated bear movement in rice, having for its object the depressing of the price of that article to a point where the visible supply could be secured cheap. As far as can be gathered prospects of the present rice crop are not of the best. THE CANADIAN AWAKENING.

The fact that the question of American and Canadian relations is becoming urgent is appreciated in Canada. The demand by the Manitobans for permission to construct their Red River Valley railroad, the agitation among the Ontario farmers in favor of complete reciprocity, and the firm expression by the Nova Scotians of their sense of grievance with Dominion policy, are all indications of the disturbance which prevails in the public mind in Canada, and all bear upon the same general subject, trade relations with the United States. The Manitobans want an outlet to their neighbors, Dakota and Minnesota, the Ontario farmers want to send their crops to the American markets, and the Nova Scotians want the fishing disputes settled, and their trade intercourse with New England ports made as free as possible.

This pressure is very certain to have a good effect in promoting an early and satisfactory settlement of the Canadian question. There has been more danger of difficulties and obstacles on the other side of the line than upon ours, and the manifestations there of an energetic public demand for decisive action must be a very favorable circumstance in the endeavor to reach a satisfactory conclusion on broad principles. The politics of the Dominion have been so much devoted to local and trivial matters, and their issues have so often depended upon narrow considerations of personal or factional dispute, that it requires the rise of a strong tide of popular feeling to cover these little landmarks of party, and give a wider outlook to the public policy.

The discussion of Commercial Union by Mr. Butterworth, Mr. Wiman, and others, at the great meeting of the agriculturists of Ontario, is a hopeful evidence of the reasonable and cordial feeling in which the subject is to be approached. There has been some attempt by partisan newspapers in Canada, as there was at the Toronto "Board of Trade" meeting, to confuse this simple question of trade relations with all sorts of political considerations. The duty of Canada to England, it has been urged by some, forbids that she should make and receive concessions of commercial intercourse with the United States. But it is evident that the people of the Dominion-or, at least, a very large and influential part of them-do not value highly an argument upon these lines. Whatever they may think as to the desirableness of preserving their allegiance to the English Empire, they feel sure that it does not require them to be on ill terms with their neighbor, and to keep open the running sore of a trade question with her.

It is also seen in Canada that the repre sentations from this side of a disinclination to approach the political question are perfectly sincere. There have been two or three American newspapers that have thoughtlessly or mischievously asserted a demand for annexation, as the preliminary or ultimate accompaniment of Commercial Union; but the evidence that no such a demand is made or entertained by the American people is abundant, we think, to prevent the true issue from being obscured in the discussion in Canada. The movement which is begun there must certainly continue, and it can hardly fail to develop the simple fact that every reasonable consideration demands an early and a fair settlement of the trade question between the two countries, on the broad and enduring basis which Commercial Union, or Complete Reciprocity, alone affords.

SOLIMAN SNOOKS.

On December 2, 1884, THE TRADESMAN received a communication from O. H. Richmond, the South Division street druggist, purporting to come from "Cant Hook Corners" and bearing the euphonious cognomen of "Soliman Snooks." The article treated of subjects akin to trade matters, and, perceiving that the vein struck by the writer was capable of further development. THE TRADESMAN encouraged Mr. Richmond to continue his contributions. This he agreed to do on condition that his identity should not be disclosed, an agreement THE TRADESMAN has rigidly lived up to until forced to make this explanation, although the writer of the. articles has been free to assert his connection therein on several occasions. The contributions took fairly well with THE TRADESMAN'S readers-so well, in fact, that a basis of compensation was agreed upon between the writer and the editor. In no case was Mr. Richmond's salary allowed to go beyond a month, the payments being usually made weekly, in some cases in advance. The subjects of the articles, and their method of treatment, were mostly suggested by the editor and his assistants, and cuts illustrating the scene of operations were gotten out and used from time to time. Not being a finished writer and being strongly inclined toward vulgarity and in the direction of intercourse with Dakota obscenity, the articles have required consid- and Minnesota, and they have undertaken erable pruning, and, in spite of the careful scrutiny of the editor and his assistants, some pose. The articles having had their day and THE TRADESMAN makes the above explanation preliminary to the statement that the publication of further contributions from "Soliman Snooks" will be discontinued for

THE DRUGGISTS' CONVENTION.

The fifth annual convention of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association, which was held at Petoskey, last week was a sucmany members attended as was the case at independent country. the three previous conventions of the Association. Another disappointment was the poor representation from the Upper Peninsula. It was thought that the holding of the convention at Petoskey would induce a large attendance from the Lake Superior district, but only one member from that part of the State put in an appearance.

Aside from attendance, the convention was all that could be desired. The reports of officers and committees, the papers preented and the discussions held were all satisfactory and, if anything, above the average. While definite conclusions were not reached on the subjects of mutual insurance, wholesalers retailing, or quotations in daily newspapers, emphatic action was taken on the question of tumbler liquor selling by druggists-action which is sure to result in essening the illegal traffic and redound to the credit of the Association.

The entertainment furnished by the people of Petoskey and Charlevoix, although not lavish, was even more than could have been excepted and the cordial welcome extended the convention attested the hospitality of the two towns.

It affords THE TRADESMAN no small pleasure to be the first journal to present a complete report of the convention, and also to realize that it was the only journal regularly represented at the meeting—that all reports published in other papers must be taken from its columns. THE TRADESMAN is the only publication which has been represented at every convention of the Association." It has followed the fortunes of the drug trade in sunshine and in storm. It has assisted in the enactment of a Pharmacy Law and assisted in the defeat of iniquitous liquor legislation. To no class of business men has it rendered more valiant service and by none has it been more cordially supported.

For some time past the attention of the labor organizations in the North has been directed to the condition of labor in the South. It has been felt that the Northern workman cannot isolate himself from his brother in the South, and that the education and organization of the freedmen are indispensable to the plans which are entertained for the elevation of the working classes generally. Hence the decided interest in the Blair Bill which has been shown by the Knights of Labor and similar organizations. In this situation of affairs Northern workmen will read with interest what has taken place at Fairview, in South Carolina. The colored workmen of that place organized clubs to improve their position as laborers by the means which our trades unions em-"Some of them had ideas of a strike some time in the future, for a dollar a day." Their proceedings had some affectation of secresy, which excited the alarm of the white residents. A Lynch court was organized, and the members of the clubs called before it. The investigation satisfied the court that the organization was purely industrial, and had no criminal intent. What then? "They were told that the white people would not allow any such organization to exist in secret." In effect the trades union was suppressed, first at Fairview, and then at another village. The right of colored work- dealers and filled them up with meat at a men to associate in this way is as clear as can be. As for secresy, there was no attempt at concealment when their white terribly hot weather of the past week has neighbors asked for the list of members and rendered it impossible to keep much of the made inquiry into the purposes of the or- meat, considerable quantities having turned ganization. The aimus of the 'warning' is blue on the dealers' hands. As a result of that the freedmen shall not associate "to such opposition, the new house has sold litstrike for a dollar a day" or for anything the meat, but its facilities for storing are else. There are many people who would such that none has been lost. like to deal in this summary fashion with every trades union in the country. But this will not make the action more palatable to the great body of Northern workmen, who know that without such unions the workman is powerless to secure favorable terms

The people of Manitoba are having a very pretty quarrel with the Dominion govern ment. The railroad policy of that government is to force commerce between the naturally isolated provinces by building political lines, and to keep the Canadians from building lines to connect themselves with the adjacent parts of the United States. The inter-colonial line which connects Que- & Lume in the grocery business. bec with Halifax is one such road. The Canadian Pacific is another. > The judges of the State courts of New York have released from the custody of the Immigration Commissioners a number of persons who came to this country by the Irving, who will continue the business in aid of the local governments in the British Islands. They were not quite destitute of funds, having been supplied with a sum which put them outside the list of paupers. On this ground, the courts held that the Commissioners had exceeded their powers in detaining them. Under this decision the guardians of the poor in any British parish or Irish union of parishes may deplete the number of the poor they must have in charge, by getting them across the water with a pittance in their hand. They could not send them on the same terms to a neighboring parish or "union." The British law of settlement foisted upon Ireland also in 1835, authorizes the guardians of any parish to send home to their own parish any poor persons whom they judge likely to become in need of aid from the poor rates. Under this system the poor of the United Kingdom are practically serfs, adscripti gleba, bound to the soil of the manor in which they were born. But they can be shipped to America, and we have no such safeguard against it as every English parish has against every other. And yet one of the English newspapers stigmatized the detention and return of assisted immigrants as an unchristian proceeding.

Sometimes the case is put against strikes as though all the work omitted in the period of idleness were lost to the workmen. Most commonly it happens that a strike merely means steadier and more constant work through the months which follow it to make up for lost time. But this is not the case when the temporary deficit caused by the strike is supplied by larger importations from abroad. The strikes of the glass workers, the coke workers, and the iron workers of Western Pennsylvania, have had the effect of increasing the importations of the products of those industries to twice their former dimensions. Although America is capable of supplying its wants of glass, iron and steel most amply, and of exceeding the English products of all these, we have been buying them of England for the past five months in very large quantities. But as these dissensions between capital and labor have come to an end, we now may expect the importations to fall to the old fig-

Harbor Springs in Line on Organization.

When President Hamilton and the editor at Harbor Springs, without marked success. While attending the druggists' convention While attending the druggists' convention at Petoskey, last week, President Hamilton spent a half day among the business men of Harbor Springs and found them all anxious to form an Association. A call was accordingly made for Thursday evening, at which time there was a very general turn-out. B. T. Halsted was selected to act as chairman of the meeting and J. L. Thompson as sections in the petoskey, last week, President Hamilton Maple Rapids and seven miles east of Carson City, on the proposed line of the Toledo, Saginaw and Muskegon Railway. The road is all graded and bridges built. President Robinson passed through here last week. He seemed very much pleased with the pluck and energy of our townspeople. He informed us that they expected to commence laying track from Ashley west in ten days and in ten days after would be of the meeting and J. L. Thompson as secretary. Explanations were made by President Hamilton and the editor of THE TRADESMAN, when W. J. Clark moved that the formation of an Association be immediately proceeded with, which was adopted. A. L. Thompson moved that the constitution presented be adopted, which was carried, when the following gentlemen handed in their names for charter membership: A. L. Thompson, W. J. Clark, A. M. Weston, W. B. Smith, C. R. Wright, W. C. Cramer, F. J. Cox, W. H. Lee, Gideon Noel, D. W. Culver, O. F. Burroughs, B. T. Halsted, J.

L. Thompson, M. J. Erwin, Thos. Kneale. W. J. Clark was elected President and A. L. Thompson, Secretary. The election of the remaining officers and the committees was deferred until the next meeting. The Blue Letter collection system was adopted and the President and Secretary were instructed to procure the printing of the necessary blanks.

The editor of the local paper was requested to print the constitution and by-laws in his next issue, as a matter of news, and the meeting adjourned for one week.

CHICAGO, June 30, 1887.

M. J. Matthews, Detroit: DEAR SIR-You have been assigned to the National Legislative Committee.

Would be pleased to hear from you at once, with your acceptance, together with any recommendations you may have to offer.

Credit will be given individually or otherwise for all work accomplished. Yours truly, O. P. PINDELL, Pres't.

DETROIT, July 9, 1887. O. P. Pindell, Chicago:

DEAR SIR-Your esteemed letter of June 30 came to hand in due time. Pressing business engagements, Independence day, vacation, excursions, etc., have prevented an earlier answer, with the deliberation the subject matter was entitled to. Although as yet I have not seen an official report of the proceedings of the last annual convention of the T. P. A., yet I understand that you were re-elected President of the Association, with a salary attached, and by virtue of your office made chairman of the National Legislative Committee, Please accept my congratulations for your successful recognition by the Association, and the honorable preference shown you. I thank you for the honor conferred by assigning me a place on the Legislative Committee. However, we recognition to the conferred by ever, my personal business is so urgent, and will require so much of my time, that it will be quite impossible for me to give the Committee or Association work the thought or attention it is entitled to. Therefore, I beg to be excused from serving and respectfully lecline the appointment as associate mem-

a special invitation to you to attend a basket picnic under the auspices of the above Association, to be held at Baldwin Lake Association, to be held at Baldwin Lake (rear this city) on Wednesday, July 20. All business places are to be closed at 10 o'clock a. m. and remain closed all day. We wish you to give us a talk on Association work, and its benefits. We have also sent an invitation to Mr. Hamilton, of Traverse City. An invitation is also extended to the Grand Rapids Retail Grocers' Association.

Let us hear from you favorably. Respectfully yours, E. J. CLARK, Sec'y.

Avoid a Second Betrayal. From the Freeport Herald.

Merchants should always avoid giving a person credit a second time, who has be-trayed them once. Even if you have succeeded in getting your pay in the past, if the debtor complained of false charges, denied the account or in any way caused an-noyance during the first settlement, never out that person's name on your books again He may pay for a while, but in the end you will regret ever having taken him back after your confidence was betrayed once.

Must Have Tiger Oil.

GRAND RAPIDS, June 22, 1887. Dr. Leeson, Cadillac:

DEAR SIR-I should have answered your letter ere this had not sickness prevented, and now I will just say that I asked for the sole agency of Tiger Oil simply because I thought your medicine was not at present stance, to permit its members to intentionally annoy or persecute any person indebted to members of the Association.

Sec. 2. That no injustice may be done to, or advantage taken of any debtor, by any member of the Association, it shall be the duty of every member, before reporting a person to the Association as a delinquent, to send him the first official notification sheet, known as the "Blue Letter," setting forth the fact that he owes the writer a stated sum and that he is granted fifteen days from the date entered on such letter in which to pay the debt, or to satisfactorily arrange for its payment; that if after the expiration of the fifteen days thus granted, the debtor shall have failed to pay or to have arranged for payment the member shall report him to the Secretary (giving in each case his full name occupation and place of residence), when that office shall mail him the second official notification sheet, shall then place the debtor's name on the Delinquent List, a copy of which must be furnished every member of the Association.

Sec. 3. The second circular letter sent to the debtor shall be enclosed in the authorized envelope of the Association, on which shall be printed, "If not called for in ten days, return to the Harbor Springs Business Men's Association, and which shall be printed, "If not called for in ten days, return to the Harbor Springs Business Men's Association, and which shall be printed, "If not called for in ten days, return to the Harbor Springs Business Men's Association, and which shall be printed, "If not called for in ten days, return to the Harbor Springs Business Men's Association, on which shall be printed, "If not called for in ten days, return to the Harbor Springs Business Men's Association, on which shall be printed, "If not called for in ten days, return to the Harbor Springs Business Men's Association, and the non-return of any circular letter thus mailed shall be deemed sufficient evidence that the said letter was received by the debtor addressed.

of our elevator, which is nearly completed, and will be ready for the wheat harvest. Its capacity is about 15,000 bushels. It will be run by a twelve horse-power engine.

Two stores are in full blast, J. B. Resseguie, general stock, and D. McLeod & Co., drugs and groceries. Both are receiving a good trade. Two more stores are to be built soon. A stave mill will be in operation soon and bolts are being delivered on the ground. A vinegar and cider mill will also be in operation as soon as necessary. A store is being completed to be occupied by a hardware. Lots are selling fast and the prespects are very flattering. The hotel the prospects are very flattering. The hotel is nearly completed. TEA AND COFFEE TRICKS.

How the Chromo and China Premium Business is Managed. A reporter of the New York Herald lately visited a gift tea store to find out how they-could live and give away presents as valuable, in many cases, as the goods purchased are. He says: In due time he stepped into a store, the leading tint of which was vernillion. There was nothing to distinct from a creekery store. was vermillion. There was nothing to dis-tinguish the interior from a crockery store, except the vermillion and a strong odor of roasted coffee. The reporter approached a man who presided over the cash desk and wore a polo cap and a sweet smile, and who proved to be the manager of the concern, and asked how tea stores could be so lavish with excelvery and such things to their pawith crockery and such things to their pa-

"Some years ago," said the wearer of the polo cap, "a house in this city began giving away cheap chromos. That was the beginning of the evil. Their trade increased, for in those days people were chromo crazy. The introduction of glassware and crockery had its origin in the inventive brain of a man who is now year, wealthy brain of a man who is now very wealthy and is in business on Second avenue. I wish he was in Jericho. Then began sharp ompetition. Each man vied with the others in inventing some new 'fake' to catch the foolish housekeeper. The customers, when posted in this gift enterprise business, be-came very exacting. I shouldn't be sur-prised some day to hear a lady asking for a ton of coal or a piano after purchasing five pounds of tea.

"With every purchase of tea and coffiee we give tickets in this way. With one pound of 50 cent tea or with two pounds of 30 cent coffee we give one whole ticket. This is the basis. Some articles that we give away—such as lamps and clocks—require as many as twenty-five full tickets. One ticket on an average is equal to from 6 One ticket on an average is equal to from 6 to 8 cents off the profits."

"Your profits must be pretty large to permit of such liberality," suggested the repor-

"Well, now, I don't mind telling you since you seem anxious. Our tea at fifty cents a pound costs us about 21 cents, and our coffee at 30 cents, when we sell it ground, stands us about 12 cents a pound, so, you see, even though we are liberal, we will make a large profit." "You say when you sell the coffee ground? "That's what I said. You see, chiccory, rye and peas do not cost as much as coffee."

"And where do they come in?"

"Ah, I see you are not on to many of the tricks of our trade. Don't you know that when we sell ground coffee, nearly half of it is chiccory, rye and peas. Great Scott! man, how do you think we are going to live and give an eight-day clock with ten

"But is there not a law against such adulterations?" "Law, fiddlesticks? There is a law also compelling that man across the way to keep his liquor store shut on Sundays, but he does not comply all the same."

"'Do you adulterate your teas, too?"
"Well, no; that would not pay. You see we mix coffees and blend teas. By blending, I mean we mix good, bad and middling together, call it some outlandish combination or 'chop,' and 'let her go.'"

Live for something, and live earnest,
Though thy work may humble be—
By the world of men unnoticed,
Known alone to God and thee.
Every act has priceless value
To the Architect of Fate;
'Tis the spirit of thy doing,
This alone that makes it great.

THE BLUE LETTER-A SOLILOOUY. Written Especially for THE TRADESMAN.

I am only a small piece of paper, colored blue by some chemical process known best to those who gave me existence in a great noisy place where the continual dropping of water drove me almost wild. I am of plebian origin, but I am not ashamed to confess itin fact, I am rather proud of it than otherwise, for who so well appreciates power as those who have once been in a lowly sta-

I am only a portion, and a small portion at that, of the great piece which came out of the rolls which enclosed me like the folds of an enormous python, and it was a fortunate thing for me that I had no bones, else they would have been utterly crushed. As regards my antecedents, I am a little hazy. I have been told by some that I descended from a miscellaneous collection of old, filthy rags, picked up in the gutters and alleys of some great city by dirty ragpickers. But this I hate to believe implicitly, for the reason that although 1 am of low descent, yet I am perfectly clean.

I have been very fortunate in my lot. Other portions of the great sheet of which I formed a part were used to print the advertisements of different tradespeople, announcing openings, sales of goods, and that class of literature, and the largest share of them utter such gross falsehoods, that they are consigned to the waste-bas-

But one of my greatest merits is truthfulness. If you are so negligent of your business promises as to be the recipient of the envelope which is my carriage of state, I bring home the truth to you so forcibly that if you are at all inclined to be honest in your dealings, you regard my warning, and go and sin no more. In fact, so great is my love for truth, I have been called, "The awakener of conscience," and in one sense this is true, for those to whom I go as a messenger, who have any conscience at all, no matter how encrusted with the rust of small voice admonishing them that my mislence. sion is undertaken for their welfare, as also for that of my employer.

Another of merits is that I am never knowingly employed unjustly, and if, through error, I go to a man who, through misfortune, sickness or other ill, is unable to meet the demands which he has made ed, when you take into consideration that I obligatory upon himself, I give to him a way in which he may extricate himself from his unfortunate position and retain the good will and respect of those upon whom the burden of his failure has fallen.

I was sent once to a man whom ill-health, lack of employment and a large family had deprived of all his little savings and he was on the last verge of despair. I was struck immediately on entering the poor hovel which he called home, with the extreme tidyness of it, bare as it was of any kind of luxury, comfort, and almost the actual necso thin and pale that my paper heart bled for her, sat on a box by the window, hushing the feeble wails of a babe, which but for the fact that it could move and articulate, seemed to have passed to the land where hunger is not known, so pale and pinced were its features.

The oldest of the six children, a girl of perhaps fourteen years, was engaged in putting the evening meal upon the table, and this, perhaps, was the most heart-rending sight of all. It consisted of a half-dozen of potatoes, boiled, some salt and a broken pitcher filled with water. This was alland even though my existence is not dependent upon food-as I watched the famished children eating this poor fare, I could hardly repress my emotions. The clothes of the family, though hardly enough to cover their poor bodies were scrupuously clean, and the patches, of which there were so many you could scarcely determine where they began and the original cloth ended, were put on neatly, and gave evidence of that greatest of all earthly blessings, a mother's love and care.

The poor mechanic took me from the postman, and opened my wrapper with a trembling hand. He looked at my signature and his face turned pale with emotion, for it was that of the grocer-my employer -who had trusted the man, time and again, when he knew that his chance was very slim of ever getting his due, simply out of pity for his family. But, through an enemy of the mechanic he had been led to believe that his poverty was only a sham and that he was that arch-enemy of mine, a deadbeat.

As soon as the man could control himself he listened to my message, which, through pity, I made as merciful as I could. When he had fully taken in my meaning he lost all control and burst into tears-and a strong man's tears are not shed for nothing. His wife went to him and discovering the be sold at a bargain, or exchange for other trouble, threw her arms around his neck, exclaiming, "Cheer up, Henry. Remember there is a good God above us who 'sees even the sparrow's fall'. He will not desert us." But even the love of his faithful wife was GRAHAM not enough to comfort him and he moaned despairingly, "Annie, it is not that our poor children must starve which makes me so utterly heart-broken, although the sight of their hunger almost drives me mad, but it is the less of my good name—that which I have kept untarnished through all these A. J. Bowne, President. years of toil and broken hopes-that which I prize more than the life of my children."

I could stand this scene no longer, and, attracting his attention, by rustling in his hand, I showed him the way in which he might save his reputation and at the same time enable him to provide his family with the necessaries, if not the luxuries, of life.

He immediately saw my idea, and taking his hat accompanied me to my employer's, told him just how he was situated, and to prove it asked the grocer to go with him and see his family and the condition they were in. He did so, and so thoroughly convinced was he, that he found the poor man work, gave him all the time he wanted to meet his obligations, and sent him food enough to last till he should be able to provide for himself.

I have related this incident simply to show that my employers and myself are not heartless. Far from it. We only wish to obtain that which is our just due, and upon which depends our own bread. If we know that a man is utterly unable to meet his promises through no fault of his own, we give him a chance to redeem himself. But when I go to men who are idle, lazy, spending their time and what money they have ln saloons and gambling rooms, then I am merciless, for well do I know that to show Roller Champion, mercy is but to give more chance for evil doing and robbing others. In this I am only just and do but uphold the great principle of right, "Do unto others as ye would have others do unto you," and if I allow but one of these vermin to escape his just punishment, I do that which is not honorable in the sight of God or man.

There is one thing which is beyond my understanding, and that is, why will men who in character and preception should be "just a little below the angels" so lower their standard of right as to neglect their promise-that most sacred thing in both business and social life-neglect them when it would be far easier for them to do the opposite. Even people who are reasonably well-situated as regards wealth seem to take delight in obtaining a portion of their neighbor's goods by false promises. Such are not worthy to be called men-they are thieves, robbers, ghouls, and should be thoroughly ostracised by all right-minded people, both socially and morally-made to feel, in the daily avocation of life, that broken promises and trusts, hear that still they are shunned as some dreadful pesti- Crand Rapids, Mich.

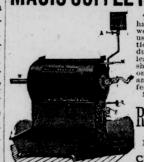

Sometimes, as I lay idle in my employer's desk, awaiting a summons to go and stir up some laggard, I am constrained to fill the time by moralizing, and if my philosophy is not of the best, and my language not that of the most erudite yet I ought to be pardonam only a piece of blue paper, used by others as a means to a just end, and my thoughts are simply derived from my observations of the different classes of men whom I meet.

Sometimes, as in the instance I have given,

I discover persons who are perfectly honest in their intentions, but are unable to carry them out. To such I do not carry evil tidings for, being honest, they realize the justness of my position and that of my employer, and act accordingly. But this is the excepessities of life. The poor mother, looking I meet receive me with a devil-may-care retion. By far the larger proportion of those mark and consign me in their thoughts to their own residence after death. But I smile at all rebuffs and turn the other cheek, for I rest secure in the thought that when it is forever too late, they will gnash their teeth with impotent remorse, that they scorn my advice at the time it would have been most beneficial to them. Ah, my revenge is sure! And how often do I shake my thin sides with laughter when some one of these wretches who has seen one of my fellows, comes into my employers place of business and asks for credit, and goes away with a crestfallen countenance, wondering why he is so coldly refused. Little he knows that through his neglect of my warning, his me is placarde I throughout the length and breadth of the land, and that he is branded as a contemptible liar and dead-beat.

Well, it is a long lane that has no turning, and sooner or later these men will get to the end and find themselves face to face with that rock of adamant, the Blue Letter.

Wednesday Afternoon.

At the invitation of the people of Charlevoix, extended by Dr. Crouter, about 200 delegates and ladies boarded the steamer City of Grand Rapids at 2 o'clock for a trip to Charlevoix. The trip was a delightful one in every respect, the weather being all that could be desired and the reception at Charlevoix cordial beyond expression. Crouter extended the free use of his soda fountain, eigar case and boat livery, all of which were liberally patronized. The return trip was made without incident, the boat reaching the Petoskey dock about 7

In the evening a hop was tendered the delegates and their ladies at the Arlington, which was continued until the wee sma hours of Thursday.

Thursday Morning.

The convention was called to order at 9:30, when Prof. Prescott presented a paper prepared by Mrs. L. R. Stowell, of Ann Arbor, "What, practical uses can the druggist make of the microscope and what is the cost of such an instrument as would serve

Dr. A. B. Lyons presented an answer to Ottmar Eberbach presented a reply to Query No. 45, "Is an apprentice in a drug store entitled to receive instruction in practical pharmacy from his employer, and to what extent is the latter held to grant a reasonable time for daily study?" He held that one or two hours' time should be given each day to the perusal of pharmaceutical literature and more attention to practical instruction. Frank Wells and H. J. Brown commended the paper and Prof. Prescott moved that it be printed in pamphlet form, for distribution among the druggists and drug clerks of the State. Jacob Jesson moved to amend by sending the pamphlet to the drug firms of the State only, which was adopted.

Prof. A. B. Stevens presented a reply to Query No. 22, "Which are the more uniform in strength, preparations made by weight or measure?

The consideration of the report of the Committee on Trade Interests was then resumed. Ottmar Eberbach moved that the Committee be instructed to present tangible proofs of illegal liquor selling by druggists at the next convention, in order that a plan of action may be agreed upon. Geo. Gundrum counseled immediate action. Mr. Eberbach thought as the Association would have two conventions before the next Legislature meets, a year's delay would not be undesirable. Arthur Bassett suggested that Profs. Prescott and Stevens and Dr. A. B. Lyons be constituted a committee to investigate reports of illegal liquor selling and, if the facts warrant such action, lay the case before the civil authorities for prosecution. Prof. Prescott said he didn't believe in adopting resolutions at this time-they are too cheap. He would have the Association take up the work in earnest and spend some money, be it ever so little. He favored placing Arthur Bassett at the head of such committee and recommended that druggists selling liquor, and that a copy of that resolution and a copy of the law be sent to every druggist in the State. Frank Wells opposed the appointment of a committee of illegal liquor selling and report the facts to the prosecuting officers, which was adopted. Mr. Bassett then moved that the resolution presented by Mr. Wells be adopted, which was carried.

Nothing new was offered under the head

H. Ford, of Grand Rapids, and Prof. S. P. Duffield, of Detroit. Geo. Gundrum moved that so much of the new liquor law as pertains to the drug trade be printed in the proceedings, which was A question was read, asking how to discourage the practice of some physicians putting up their own prescriptions. Consid-erable discussion followed, but no decision was reached. The Committee on Exhibits presented a report, giving a list of the exhibitors, commending the general excellence of the exhibits, and recommending that cigars, wines and liquors be excluded from the exhibits hereafter. Prof. A. B. Stevens opposed the recommendation, holding that the Association had no right to dictate to the exhibitors. Jas. Vernor moved that the recommendation be stricken from the report, and that the remainder of the report be adopted, which was carried.

Frank Inglis moved that the Association pay the rent of the exhibit hall hereafter. The motion drew out an animated discussion, and was finally adopted.

Jas. Vernor moved that the Association

On motion of Wm Dupont a vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president for his efficient services in behalf of the Association. Mr. Wurzburg feelingly acknowledged the compliment, stating that it was a pleasure for him to realize that he had been able to serve the Association. On motion of Jacob Jesson, a vote of thanks was tendered Frank Wells for his services at Lansing.

On motion of H. J. Brown, the convention adjourned, to meet in Detroit the second Tuesday in October, 1888.

the exhibitors had to go. James Vernor had charge of all the arrangements for the water trip taken by the Detroit members. On the way up Lake Huron, the admirable manner in which the arrangements had been carried out dawned funds be set aside for the employment of detective and other services. Mr. Bassett suggested that the Association adopt a resolution, stating that it has concluded to see that the State laws are enforced relative to manner.

The sloop-rigged yacht Norden came into Petoskey Monday afternoon with the following list of passengers: Capt. F. W. Fincher, Jay C. Ambler, Allen Cory and O. opposed the appointment of a committee and presented a resolution condemning the abuse and refusing membership in the Association to anyone known to be guilty of this offense. Mr. Bassett said he hoped that Mr. Wells' resolution would be adopted and he also hoped that the Association would not stop at passing resolutions. He moved as a substitute that the Executive Committee be instructed to investigate cases of illegal liquor selling and report the facts of Mackinaw Island.

If Smithburg concluded to cate as a "pharmacist" over the great seal give Jenkins a bonus of, say, one-half the of the state of Michigan.)

"Slimmer comes in here, an' after explainin' his errand, wanted to know if I'd up, pockets his money, and wanders off to promise 'im to sell licker accordin' to the new fields for speculation, with a comfortstatto made an' pervided, an' not otherwise, able addition to his finances, as such tran-

"See here Slimmer! You know 'fi sell that I vi'late the law?"

"Yes, certainly," says he.

"An' you b'leve that sellin' lickers as a bev'rage is vile an' sinful? an' he says yes of course."

"An' from your standpint it's bout as bad for a feller to steal a hoss, or burn a barn, or knock a man down an' rob him, as 'tis to take ten cents for a glass of whisky? an' he says yes, agin."

"Now, says I, sposin' I'd come into you store yisterday, an' hemmod and haw'd minit an' said: 'Mr. Slimmer, I've bin 'pint ed a committee to wait on you. Wot w want specially is your solem' promis' tha you won't steal hosses, er burn buildings er prowl'round nights with a big club slug gin' 'an robbin' folks; d'ye think you'd take kindly to that little visit, Slimmer?" An' Slimmer said he hadn't time to argy the matter an' sneaked out."

If the merchant doing business in a country town responds at all liberally to the calls made on him for charity, public improvements, religious matters, celebrations, and the numerous other objects which germinate the subscription paper, it will make a serious inroad into his income. No matter how seriously he may be troubled about financial difficulties that are invisible to the general public, there are certain demands upon him which policy and custom dictate that he must meet, and meet according to the evidences of his ostensable prosperity. And here I think a wrong policy is pursued by many embarrassed tradesmen. If Muggins sees himself on the verge of failure, and the Rev. Mr. Slimmer informs him that he has been assessed $100 towards giving young Toots a Yale course in theology, boat paddling, etc., Muggins should have the moral courage to refuse stock in the Toots scheme, and save the money for his creditors; and if Snooks' peanut emporium hardly pays his living expenses he is absurdedly foolish in subscribing a week's profits, to replace the team that Boozer lost by lightning, because Boozer buys a nickel cigar of him once or twice a week.

There is some of the most absurd begging maginable done in the name of charity, religion and moral reform. Let Pottinger, who owns a comfortable house and lot and has steady employment, lose a cow, and individuals who are superlatively poorer that Pottinger will be asked to help replace it. Let a ten thousand dollar church project be started, and there isn't a person in the community impecunious enough to escape the canvasser; and let Mrs. Dorcas Dusenbury contemplate the establishment of a free lunch and coffee room to counteract saloon influence, and she will urge a $10 donation upon poor Snooks with as much persistency and equanimity as if she was soliciting the same amount from Jones.

I would not check one heart-throb of sympathy for the sorrowings and sufferings of mankind. I would not deaden a single generous impulse that prompted assistance for the fallen and afflicted and dependent, but I don't like to see a false pride, or a false sentimentality played upon ungenerously and unreasonably.

There is a latter-day class of subscriptions about which business men of experience and enterprise often differ materially: I refer to subscription to raise "bonuses" for manufacturing purposes. This practice has become so prevalent the past few years that an individual who contemplates the "planting" of any business, at all approaching the dignity of a manufactory, nearly always begins operations with a subscription paper. While I fully appreciate the benefits which works of any kind, which employ large numbers of operatives, confer upon that locality, I sometimes seriously doubt whether it is wise for the merchant to invest heavily in the "bonus" business Smithburg, for instance, has a population of one thousand, with twenty tradesmen. Jenkins comes up from Grand Rapids, looks the ground over and announces that for a certain sum of money he will estab-"I met Slimmer 'tother day on the street," lish works in the village that will increase the population one-half. His offer is accepted. Real estate owners who will be told 'im that his kind of prayin' and mine immensely benefitted by the enterprise hold wasn't built alike, an' that I hadn't got a back, or subscribe niggardly amounts, and customer in his church, and couldn't see the the great bulk of the "bonus" falls on the pint. An' he says, 'viewin' the thing in a twenty merchants: the profits of years, perworldly light alone, Mr. Jones, you always haps, in many cases going into Jenkins' git repaid for church donations. We eddi- pockets. Let us suppose, however, that cate people to a higher moral standard, an' that gentleman fulfills his contract faithmake 'em honest, an' they git so they love fully and honestly, and that his factory is a to pay their debts.' An' I told him he'd success; you can then put it down as a solid struck the scheme I'd bin lookin' fur fur fact that before the twenty traders have reyears. I says: 'start a church collection ceived returns from one-fourth of their insociety, Slimmer, and I'll give you a big vestment there will be an influx of new boost in business. Eddicate $60 out of dealers, at least proportionate with the vil-Slopper an' I'll give you half fur collectin'. lage's increase in growth. The trade of Pump some morality into Jenkinson for Smithburg is circumscribed. It is surabout $40. Elevate Winkle's standard rounded by other towns which preclude any some $30 wurth, an' injec' love 'nuff into a idea of ever increasing its circuit for busihundred or so other fellers so that you'nd ness, and under these circumstances have the Smithburg merchants acted wisely in "I like to bluff old Slimmer," resumed subsidizing Jenkins, when the matter is Jones, "Las, winter when the liquor excite- viewed from a purely business and financial

If the merchant thinks the subsidy business advisable he should, at least, take value of his plant, and Jenkins insures for three-fourths, and after month or two burns sactions are ordinarily arranged Smithburg may howl and gnash its teeth and go into spirits for drinkin' purposes, an' know it sackcloth and ashes, but its money has disappeared forever with Jenkins.
