Wages of Sin

Short short story entitled "Wages of Sin" is the latest offering from the pen of Harry Jackson, Detroit junior, and a birthday card from his parents. There was a ticket enclosed in it directing him to appear in Williamston. He had completely ignored the ticket which he received when he was down that way while back. He appeared in Williamston with no money for the ticket. He now has a regular Saturday job painting "for the town of Williamston" until the authorities are satisfied.

Figures Don't Lie

From the mathematics bulletin board comes the quote of the week. "Attention Statisticians! In a recent statistical survey, it was found that Vassar graduates have an average of 2.3 children, while Michigan graduates have an average of 2.1 children. It is thus statistically proved that women have more babies than men do."

Pickle Fate

The folly of fate is illustrated in a rehearsal for "Night of the Living Dead." Though completely healthy Mary Elaine Childs must spend her time from now till the day closes wheeling herself around in a wheel chair, in preparation for the role of Mrs. Childs, crabbied hypochondriac who stays in a wheel chair the duration of the play. While Mary Elaine tries to repress herself as an invalid's demeanor, Al Creek hobbles around on crutches with one leg in a cast, going to get his vigor back in time to play the part of Inspector Belzize. Miss Childs is looking for a wheel chair, but all Al wants is a few pointers on how to preserve one's ankles while roller skating.

Resourceful

Someone should have called a doctor. It would have been great to catch a Delta Sig in the act of breaking into a sorority house. That's exactly what Jack Room did Friday night, according to a Delta Sig communique. Bringing a date home at 1 p. m., or slightly later, he found all doors closed, barred, and bolted. He tried the windows, found them locked. In desperation, he smashed a window and managed to get inside. Nobody yet has figured out why he didn't try the doorbell.

Secrets, Maybe?

Dr. J. A. Young's geology lecture class was proceeding in the usual manner with instructor Young discoursing on uplifts, depressions and like geological data. Young had mentioned some specific examples of the same but someone in the rear of the room apparently hadn't caught the name of the locations. "What's the name of your uplift?" called a voice from the back of the room. Young blushed a pale pink and swallowed twice before he came across with the information. "Guni and it's in Mexico."

Deadline Set For Pageant Entries

Class Prexy Names Aids for Hopeful Prize Winners

March 1 will be the deadline for submitting themes for the 1941 Water Carnival, it was announced yesterday by James Otto, senior class president.

As in previous years a prize of $50 will be awarded to the student or students presenting the most acceptable essay upon which to base the Water Carnival pageant. Faculty members to act as judges for the contest will be announced later.

OTTO OFFERS AID

In announcing the contest deadline, Otto also offered suggestions to be followed by theme writers. "It should be remembered that all themes will be translated into a continuous procession of approximately 40 floats," he stated. "The writers should strive to show in their themes how each float may portray a part of the total pageant."

Themes will be judged mainly on the basis of originality and suitability of the theme to transformation into a complete panorama. Themes may be turned in at the Union desk any time before the March 1 deadline.

SENIORS SPONSOR CARNIVAL

The Water Carnival, sponsored each June by the senior class, is held on the Red Cedar river, just above the new Farm Lane bridge. A program of water events including log birling, canoe tilting, and canoe racing, is presented before the main pageant. Last year's prize-winning theme "Cinerama," was written by Joe Ruhe. Scenes from new and old motion pictures were portrayed on 40 different floats.

News Printer Is Killed By Car

Harry P. Switzer, 68, was struck by an automobile and killed last night as he left his home at 524 North Hosmer street in Lansing.

Driver of the automobile was Lloyd Hopkins, 26, of 636 Detroit street, Lansing. According to state police who investigated the accident, Switzer was crossing the street in the 300 block of Hosmer when struck. Witnesses reported that the victim, who was slightly deaf, failed to hear Hopkins' horn, and was struck before he could stop.

The accident occurred at 7 p. m., and Switzer died before reaching Sparrow hospital. The body was removed to a Lansing funeral home to await further arrangements.

Switzer, father of two former Michigan State students, has been employed as linotype operator for the past 12 years by the Campus Press, East Lansing, printers of the Michigan State News.

Wildlife Club Elects Its New Officials at Meet

At the bi-monthly meeting of the Wildlife Conservation club, Tuesday night, in room 300, Morrill hall, officers for the remainder of the school year were elected.

Officers are: R. D. Van Deusen, Hillsdale senior, president; Robert Dunning, senior from Cleveland, Ohio, vice-president; Bruce Wilson, Okemos senior, secretary; Dale Fay, senior from Mason, treasurer, and Royal Suttkus, Freemont, Ohio, sophomore librarian. New electees will take office immediately.

Council Prexy Demonstrates Posy Ban, Which He Favors

Richard Groening, Student council president and one of the proponents of the corsage ban which will be voted upon tomorrow, demonstrated as well as discussed the prohibitory law at Fairchild theater Tuesday.

Occasion for the above photograph, in which Groening is shown pinning to his coat a vegetable corsage presented to him by Lenore Warner, Detroit junior, was a debate between the sexes on the question of flowers—to have or have not.

WAS TEST FOR ECHOES

Occasion for the debate, in which Groening was teamed with Glen Wagner, Detroit junior, and Miss Wagner was teamed with Frances Hillier, East Lansing sophomore, was a test for expert echo-chasers in the new theater.

The debate was to no avail as far as the technicians were concerned, for it failed to enable them to discover the cause of the faulty acoustics which prompted the test. Whether or not it was also to no avail as far as the arguments are concerned may be registered in tomorrow's voting.

MODELED CARTOON

To add atmosphere and laughter to the event, Groening dressed according to a recent State News cartoon which pictured how the future State man might look at a party if legislation such as the proposed corsage ban becomes precedent for other bans and rules pertaining to personal affairs.

During the course of the debate, the two women, who were speaking in favor of optional wearing of

Out State Vets Come To Annual Convo

The 18th annual post-graduate conference for Veterinarians today entered its fourth day of short courses and conferences in the Veterinarian clinic.

Over 100 alumni of Michigan State college as well as veterinarians from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Dakota, and Missouri, are attending the five day session.

Among the speakers Thursday are J. A. Henderson, University of Illinois; H. E. Dymna, president of the Michigan Veterinary Medical association, and W. R. Krill, associate professor of veterinary medicine at Ohio State university.

Friday's program consists primarily of laboratory demonstrations with small groups of veterinarians working in the laboratories of Veterinary hospital and Bacteriology building.

Students Will Vote Tomorrow On Corsage Ban Amendment To Council Constitution

Proposed Amendment

Following is the amendment to the Student council constitution which will be placed before the student body at a special election for that purpose tomorrow:

"The Student council is hereby authorized to enforce, or have enforced, the following ruling regarding the wearing of flowers at college dances:

"For the purpose of relieving students of certain expenses incidental to college parties, no flowers shall be worn, either in the hair, on the girl's dress, or by the fellow, at any college dance, either semi-formal, formal, or informal, unless the same be declared a closed party, and so proven to be a closed party to the satisfaction of the Student council. In the case of a closed party, the wearing of flowers shall be left to the jurisdiction of the sponsoring organization or group."

YES ( ) NO ( )

Co-ops to Join ISA Registers 517 Members In Two Days

A total of 517 independent students rallied to the ISA registration call during the first two laps of a three-day membership drive, William Bonner, chairman of the committee on independent organization reported last night.

A semi-formal, the party is the second of its kind. The first was a snowball frolic given last February by the women's cooperative. However, this year's party is being given by the combined efforts of the seven women's and two men's cooperatives.

Several of the women's houses are entertaining with dinner parties before the dance. Patrons for the dance are Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Howell.

As it is a closed party, corsages will be permitted.

Cowles House to Hold Annual Term Supper

Alice Cowles house will hold their annual buffet dinner before the winter term co-operative formal Friday night.

Dinner guests will be Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Howell, patrons for the dance, and the dates of the present residents and the alumnae of the house. Thirty-five couples are expected.

Ag Dean Cites Success Rules

E. L. Anthony, Dean of Agriculture, stressed "the little things which make a successful life" in an address before men students and faculty members attending the annual YMCA banquet, held last night in the Peoples church.

"For the great majority of us," the dean stated, "success is not painted in broad strokes." Anthony listed four of the important "building stones" necessary for successful living.

In presenting his first point, "complete honesty," Anthony stated that he meant more than "everyday honesty which we all believe we have." Other points stressed by the dean included promptness, accuracy, and courtesy.

"The student who lives up to these qualities has a good chance for lasting success," Anthony concluded.

Ed Sewall, Baltimore sophomore, was toastmaster for the banquet. About 150 Y members and others attended the banquet. Group singing was included on the evening's program.

Economist Reviews Gold Problems

H. S. Patton, professor of economics, spoke to the Inter-city Wrestling club at a dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the Hotel Sheraton on "America's Gold Dilemma."

E. A. Gee, professor of economics, opened the discussion following Patton's talk.

Law Would Bar Flowers At Parties

A special election on amendment of the Student council constitution to establish a corsage ban for college parties will be held tomorrow. The date was set by the council at a special meeting last night.

Farmers Invited To 'Horn In' on New Contest

Sportsmen may be able to stretch the size of the catch in their fish stories, but when it comes to enlarging the size of the deer caught in any of the past seasons, Michigan farmers will be up a tree, for the proof is in the pudding and the pudding will be hung upon the walls of the second floor of the women's gym as part of the deer's antler contest scheduled during Farmers' Week.

For the first time in the 26 years' history of Farmers' Week at Michigan State, a conservation exhibit has been planned and the deer contest is a part of this exhibit. Anyone living or working on a farm may enter one set of mounted or unmounted deer antlers of any season's hunting by bringing the entry to the information desk in the conservation exhibit before Tuesday noon.

Ribbons will be given for first, second, and third places, with the awards based on size, symmetry, condition, and number of points. Result of the contest will be announced at 4 p. m. Wednesday, according to L. R. A. Schoenmann, director of the conservation institute.

Judges will be B. T. Ostenson of the college zoology department; Ho Bartlett, game division of the state department of conservation, and Dr. C. E. Hutchins, a member of Ingham County Conservation league.

Flu Hits Fewer But Cases Are More Severe

Cases of influenza on the Michigan State campus are abating in number but increasing in severity according to latest reports received from Dr. C. F. Holland, director of the health service.

Holland states that after a sharp drop in the number of cases admitted to the hospital a week ago, a steady flow of 10 or 11 patients have been hospitalized daily.

Clark Waterfall, a Fort Wayne, Ind., freshman, underwent an appendectomy Wednesday morning. His condition is reported as excellent.

Freshmen to Select Class Delegate

Freshmen women will vote for the freshman representative to AWS—greater council today and Tuesday. The final elections will be held in the Music auditorium on these days at 5 p. m. during regular freshman lectures.

The following are the women from whom one is to be chosen for the representative: Grace Christine Allen, Detroit; Marjorie Ruth Almdale, Grosse Pointe; Nancy H. Blue, East Lansing; Marjorie Jean Doyle, Detroit; Carol Jean Edmondson, Battle Creek; and Dorothy Felker, Vicksburg.

Work Takes 4-H Leader, Staff Man Off Campus

Miss Olga Bird, assistant state 4-H club leader, and C. H. Jefferson, of the agricultural engineering staff, are absent from their offices in Agriculture hall today.

Miss Bird is attending the National Conference on Citizenship Training for Rural Youth in Washington, D. C., while Jefferson is a Farmer's Week speaker at Columbus University, Ohio. His topic is "Sportsmen With Asphalt Cement in Michigan."

Farmers' Week Is 'College Education' To Couple Who Recall Their First

"It's been my college education." That is the tribute paid Farmers' Week by Felix Witt, Jasper farmer, whose attendance at this year's annual program will mark his 25th consecutive appearance at Farmers' Week. Mr. and Mrs. Witt first came to East Lansing 25 years ago on their honeymoon, and this year's visit occurs shortly before their silver wedding anniversary, Feb. 23.

Modern transportation has solved many of the problems that the Witts encountered in their early trips to the Michigan State, then the Michigan Agricultural college, campus. Their first trip involved train transfers, a ride on the electric interurban from Jackson to Lansing, and a street car trip from Lansing to East Lansing.

HAVE BEEN CHANGING

Over the 25 year period, Mr. and Mrs. Witt have witnessed a revolution from the original small "sectional institute meetings" to the modern Farmers' Week program, in which it is estimated 15,000 Michigan farmers will participate.

The first livestock banquets were held on the fourth floor of the Women's building, now Morrill hall, and afternoon teas were served in the first floor parlors of the same building. The evening entertainments, largest single Farmers' Week gatherings, were housed in the old Armory building, now torn down to make way for the Music building.

AG HALL WAS PROMINENT

Witt recalls that at the time of his early visits the most prominent campus buildings were Agriculture hall, where the majority of the weekly meetings were held, dairy barns, then located on the site of the present power plant.

In managing his 200 acre farm, Witt has utilized information gathered from each of the campus agricultural divisions.

KNOWS WHAT TO ATTEND

"I probably get more of the program than the average visitor," Mr. Witt claims. "The reason is that I know the departments so well I know what I want to attend and what I want to see." Mrs. Witt's comment is that she likes to see the programs that interest her and never "logs my husband around the campus."

In view of this unusual attendance record, E. L. Anthony, dean of Agriculture, has extended a personal invitation to Mr. and Mrs. Witt to again attend this year's Farmers' Week program.

AWs to Honor New Women On Campus

A W. S. will sponsor a party honoring new women on campus this term at the Forestry cabin Saturday from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. According to Aulene Seger and Jeanette Kinney, freshmen orientation chairmen, the purpose of the party is to acquaint new students with each other and with campus leaders, in line with the freshmen orientation program. Ten prominent campus women and all auxiliary presidents are being invited in addition to the thirty new winter term women.

Laura Mae Leland, sophomore from Webster Grove, Mo., is general chairman of the party. The invitation committee consists of Aulene Seger, East Lansing sophomore, and Myrtle Koskela, Calumet sophomore. The refreshment committee consists of Carolyn Tansil, Detroit junior, and Virginia Sachin, Dearborn sophomore. Other committees include Marjorie Lesher, East Lansing junior, in charge of refreshments; Lois Luecht, St. Albans sophomore, arrangements; and Charlotte Whitten, Ionia junior, publicity.

In keeping with the informal spirit, the party will be a sweater and skirt affair. Pop corn balls will be made during the party and served to the guests.

Honorary Picks New Initiates

The Lambda Tau, local engineering honorary, is initiating 14 new engineering students this week. Selection is made on the basis of outstanding activities, scholarship, and service.

The initiates are: Thomas Taber, Rocky River, Ohio; John J. Jurewicz, Lansing; Ted Simon, Kalamazoo; Robert Bush, Charlotte; James Blanchard, Albion; John Schaub, Lansing; Robert J. Coleman, Fred Southworth, Detroit; Maurice Henshaw, Jackson; George Wlodyslaw, Dearborn; Arper Welton, Lansing; Carl Sanderson, Port Huron; Ray Edwards, Elberta, and Bill Chapel, Howell.

Particularly notable in the Witts' lives is the first Farmers' Week which they attended on their honeymoon 25 years ago. A personal invitation to attend this year's "Week" has been extended to the Witts by Tenney and Dean of Agriculture E. L. Anthony.

Action!

From the Women's Angle

Rural visitors at Michigan State college's 26th annual Farmers' Week desiring information about the campus and its buildings will find women students installed in booths set up for that purpose in the Union.

The information desks are being sponsored by several campus women's organizations.

TOWER GUARD DOINGS—

Arrangements for the information booth to be sponsored by Tower Guard in the Union during Farmers' Week will be planned at the honorary's regular meeting tonight at 7:15 p. m.

The completion of work on the organization calendar will also be discussed at the meeting, Shirley Freeman, president of Tower Guard, announced.

S. W. L. PATTIE—

Spartan Women's league held its first general meeting of the term last night in the Little Theater of the Home Economics building. Jeanne Visel, president of S. W. L., gave a report on the activities planned by the organization this term and also announced that Spartan Women's league will have an information booth in the Union building during Farmers' Week.

After the business meeting was concluded Studio theater gave a one-act play which brought the general meeting to an end. The S. W. L. board dinner will be held at Hunt's Food shop Monday evening, announced Jerry Rolfe, general chairman of the affair.

WAA SPORTLIGHT—

Plans for the WAA refreshment booth were discussed at the Women's Athletic association board meeting held early this week. A bulletin board has been placed in the gymnasium with a list of the women students planning to assist at the booth during Farmers' Week. Any student wishing to help may add her name to the list some time during this week, announced Elaine Lockwood, president of WAA. Marian Gardner, Walled Lake business administration junior, is acting as concession manager.

Bands to Stop Once During Eve's Party

Night's Only Break To See Crowning Of King, Queen

There will be only one break in the four hours' dancing to the music of Red Nichols and Biggie Childs at the Interfraternity-Panhellenic formal in the college auditorium tomorrow night, according to Co-chairmen Miss Althea Lavers, Kappa Alpha Theta junior from Detroit, and Edwin Karlson, Phi Delta Theta sophomore from North Muskegon.

WILL GET CUPS

This break will be for the announcement of the Greek King and Queen for 1941. The three couples, from whose ranks the king and queen will be picked, will be presented from the stage by Karlson. Fred T. Mitchell, dean of men, will then present the king and queen with loving cups emblematic of their reign.

Set diagonally across the end of the main stage, the two bands will play alternately. In the center of the stage a large neon sign depicting I.F.C. Pan-Hellenic will be mounted on a huge drum base.

TO HAVE LOUNGES

Lounges will be set up in the two corners of the auditorium for the guests and patrons. Patrons will include Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Champion, Mr. and Mrs. O. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Cammell, and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Kuykendall.

Invitations have been sent to the following guests: Pres. and Mrs. R. S. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Harnah, Dean Elisabeth Conrad, Dean and Mrs. F. T. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wilkins, Dean and Mrs. E. L. Anthony, Dean and Mrs. H. B. Dirks.

LONG GUEST LIST

Dean Marie Dye, Dean and Mrs. Ward Giltner, Dean and Mrs. R. C. Huston, G. R. Heath, Lt. Col. A. J. Zerboe, Dean E. A. Hessey, Dean L. C. Emmous, Miss Frances Reis, Miss Evelyn Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. R. Whiting, and Miss Irene Grimes also received invitations. Committee chairmen have announced that no flowers of any kind, corsage or hair, will be allowed at the party.

Official to Explain Coast Guard Exams

Information about the competitive examination for appointment to the United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., will be presented to students at 4 p. m. today in the Spartan room of the Union.

Lt. J. A. Dirks of the United States Coast Guard will show motion pictures illustrating the training of cadets, and answer all questions about the service. While receiving instruction, a cadet is paid $780 a year, plus living expenses. Annual cruises to European or South American ports enable cadets to get practical experience.

Heading the family relations group is Betty Anthony, whose research leader will be Miss Catherine Miller of Home Ec division. Pre-school training will be their province. The inter-faith group, headed by Shirley Freeman, will have I. C. Hughes, head of foreign language department, as research leader.

Social service group, chaired by Irene Renz, has "molding the girl" as its topic. Mrs. H. S. Patton, who devised the city government system of Cincinnati, is research leader.

Stanford university food research institute holds that Germany can prevent a critical food shortage in occupied nations by releasing wheat reserves to them.

Vocalist to Sing New Theme Song

MISS LYNN DAWSON

A double octet of male voices picked from the men's glee club will be featured tonight at the annual President's Birthday ball in the auditorium, according to Bob Siegrist, chairman of the local publicity committee.

The 16 men will be used with Siegrist's orchestra in the introduction of a number recently adopted as the ball's theme song by the Ingham county chapter of the national foundation for infantile paralysis.

The song, entitled "The Birthday Ball," was written and arranged by Siegrist for the occasion and will be introduced for the first time tonight.

LARGE BAND TO PLAY

Music for dancing will be furnished by Siegrist's 14 piece band. Lynn Dawson, vocalist, will be featured by the orchestra and will augment the band and glee club in the introduction of the new tune.

Men who will aid the orchestra in the song's debut are Andrew Fitzmorris, Portland, Roland Gessert, Birmingham, Arnold Schultz, Sebewaing, Ole Sarto, Lansing, Traversay Pollock, Jackson, Ulysses Tremblay, Lennon, Robert Hutchins, Detroit, Robert Flynn, Gladwin; Henry Dunkelburg, Berrien Springs; Robert Wilson, Harbor Beach; Delmar Rulph, Saginaw; Frank Groat, East Lansing; Ashley Randall, Lansing; Robert Olson, Escanaba; Ronald Bishop, Almont; Vern Osborn, Sault Ste. Marie; and Robert Frevert, Alma.

GOVERNOR TO LEAD

Introduction of the song will immediately follow the grand march to be led by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner. Transcriptions of the orchestra's and octet's rendition of the song will be recorded and three recordings will be sent to Washington, D. C., in an effort to have the song officially adopted by members of the national foundation as their regular theme song. One recording will go to President Roosevelt, another to the national committee head, and the third will be placed on file in the library of congress, Siegrist said.

TO HAVE LATE HOURS

The dance will last from 9:30 p. m. to 1 a. m. and dress will be optional. Women students will be given late permission for the ball.

Club Seeks Model In Two Sizes Only For Style Show

Women with a yen for modeling will get their chance next month when majors of the Home Ec club stage their style show.

At least 40 models are needed for the show scheduled for Feb. 11 in the Music auditorium. The women must be able to wear size 12 or 14 dresses, club officials state.

Dresses to be modeled will include latest styles as furnished by Nova Eismor of the Cotton Textiles institute.

All size 12 and size 14 Home Ec-enemies women wishing to model in the show are asked to contact Camille Reynaud before Tuesday.

Writers Get Chances At Cash Prizes

Prizes totaling $115 will go to the winners in the three divisions of the annual M. S. C. creative writing contest, E. P. Lawrence, English instructor and chairman, said yesterday.

All manuscripts are to be in the office of the English department, 202 Morrill hall, by noon of April 18, and there should be a copy of each manuscript for each of the three judges.

There are no restrictions as to length of poems or short stories, but Lawson essays, open to men only, should not be more than 2,500 words in length. Entrants may enter one manuscript in each of all divisions, unless they have been previous winners. In this case they may enter only one division.

Anyone who needs assistance is free to consult the English department, said Lawrence.

Interview Correction

It was erroneously stated in Tuesday's State News that the Firestone Tire and Rubber company representative would conduct interviews on Wednesday and Thursday.

The interviews will be held Friday and Saturday at 11 a. m. in room 206, Ag hall.

Matmen Down U. of M. To Remain Undefeated

Case Grapplers Here Friday

By Bob Astley
Before 2,000 spectators, the largest crowd ever to witness a wrestling match in East Lansing, diminutive Leland Merrill, a West Virginia matman unheralded in the midst of five Oklahoma teammates, came through with the only fall of the evening to give Michigan State's undefeated wrestlers a 16-14 win over the University of Michigan grapplers in the Jenison fieldhouse last night.

It was the first athletic victory a Spartan squad has succeeded in wrestling from an Ann Arbor team since the State baseball nine defeated the Wolverines last spring. In the M.S.C. wrestling records, the triumph goes down as the first decision for a Collins coached outfit since 1935 and as the sixth Green and White win in history.

LOSERS FOR FIRST TIME
Merrill's pin of Michigan's undefeated sophomore sensation Ray Deane, which came with only 41 seconds remaining in their scheduled nine-minute match, was the deciding factor in the surprise victory. Besides the undefeated junior's triumph, each team won a bout by default, and State won one and Michigan two decision nods.

Wrestling in the 136 pound class, Merrill was in serious trouble in the opening period when Deane scored a near fall and a take down to give him a 6-2 lead, but the 1940 Jacobs trophy winner came back with two near falls in the second stanza to take the lead 10-6.

USED BAR-ARM FOR FALL
It was in the third bout that Merrill definitely forced to the front, however. He scored a near fall and then pinned his opponent with a double reverse bar arm in 8:10 to score his 11th victory and remain undefeated in college competition.

Bill Maxwell, who won a 17-14 decision in the 145-pound match, ran into unexpected trouble in the Wolverines' Marvin Becker. At the end of the second bout, the Ann Arbor grappler had built up an apparently substantial 13-7 lead as the result of an escape, a near fall and a reverse. With only seconds remaining in the final stanza and Becker leading 14-9, Maxwell took the Wolverine down and scored a near fall with a body press for six points, which added to a two point award for riding advantage, gave him the 17-14 triumph.

"CUT" JENNINGS WINS
"Cut" Jennings won a 7-1 decision over Fred Klemach in the 121-pound opener to take the only other Spartan points outside of a five point default gift. Two leg dive take downs, an escape and a riding award netted "Cut" the necessary margin.

Benny Riggs who drew Michigan's top man and captain, Bill Combs, in the 155-pound match, worked out of possible fall holds on several occasions to give the National Intercollegiate runner-up the honor of taking a 14-4 decision. Combs came close to pinning Riggs only once, in the second bout.

PULL AN UPSET
The individual upset of the matches came in the 175-pound class when Michigan's Jim Gales decisively defeated Charlie Hutson 9-1. Hutson's downfall came in the third three-minute period when Gales scored a near fall and a take down. Going into that final bout, Gales held only a 1-0 lead. The final three-minute bout also proved fatal to Dave Pletz as he lost a 7-2 decision to Art Paddy in the 165-pound go.

Tom Weidig defaulted to "Bo" Jennings in the 128-pound match and Alex Haddad, injured early in the match, defaulted to Jack Butler in the heavyweight contest.

With only a day's rest, the Spartans will meet Case college in their fourth meet of the season Friday at 8 p. m. in the Jenison fieldhouse. Case was one of the few teams to defeat State last year. Case also won the 1940 Tri-State tournament at Cleveland and has practically the same team this season.

Surveys indicate America's traveling summer students will stay in the Americas because of the war.

2 Teams Near Block Titles In Frat Loop

Two fraternity basketball teams, Alpha Epsilon Pi and Alpha Tau Omega, came within shouting distance of block championships in six games played Tuesday night. In order to clinch first round victories, both the AEPi's and ATO's must defeat Delta Chi and Beta Kappa in games next week.

Coach Lou Merdler's AEPi quintet was pressed, however, in downing a stubborn and underrated FarmHouse team 15-13. Failure to stop Seymour Baskin, who garnered eight points during the evening, cost FarmHouse a chance to pull one of the biggest upsets of the fraternity cage season.

Coach George Busch used nine men as his ATO charges doubled the score on a fighting but hopelessly outclassed Lambda Chi five. Jack Hislop tallied six points to lead the winners to a 20-10 decision.

Sigma Nu came through with a 12-point fourth quarter spurt to down the Hesperians 21-9. Bud McKichan led the winners' attack with six points.

With Coach Ed Karlson and Bob Harris netting six points each, Phi Delta Theta rolled to a convincing 18-4 decision over Beta Kappa. Ty Anderson and Jack Nicholson banged in six points each to pace Delta Sigma Chi to a 19-13 decision over Delta Chi in another interesting game. Alpha Gamma Rho overcame a four-point lead to defeat Pi Kappa Phi 20-18.

Ellsworth Rises From Cellar

Ellsworth House, led by George Mattson with 11 points, defeated the Panzers 20-11 in Independent League play to decide the cellar occupants of Block 5. The Ellsworth quintet got off to an early lead and stayed in front the entire game.

Don Chaffin with 10 points paced the Wolverines to a 21-6 victory over Steinke's.

Hungary five trounced the Kingpins 31-10. Wayne Loree tossed in six baskets.

The Bears putting a high scoring aggregation on the floor decisively defeated the Broncoes 25-10. Glen Andrews, Bob Craig and Bob George each scored six points for the Bears.

In the hardest fought game of the evening Hicks defeated the Merry Macs 17-10. Robert Barton paced the winners with five points.

Kewpies and the Goldiggers failed to put teams on the floor at the regulation time.

Tuesday evening Pickups upset a favored Buffalo team 16-13. Keith Bobo led the winners with three baskets. Kewpie Wolves defeated Olds Hall Aggies 20-10 and the Heminged Five eked out a 13-7 victory in the two other games played.

Gym Days Are Over

If Michigan State's schedule is any indication, the days of basketball as a "gymnasium" game are about over.

In 17 games this season the Spartans play only once in a gym. That is the Feb. 22 encounter at Marquette university. All the rest are either in Jenison fieldhouse or in huge auditoriums on the road.

Demagogues to Play Grosse Pointe Trio

Two polo games are on deck for Demonstration hall Friday evening when the Demagogues meet Grosse Pointe and the Lansing Red Wings clash with a Flint trio. Play will start at 8 p. m.

Riding for the Demagogues will be Capt. Gerald Peterson and Sgt. Bob Lee of military department and Don Howden, ranking star in the state.

By Hal Schram

Interest in Michigan State's two all-college tournaments this winter has taken even greater strides than Director L. L. Frimodig had even hoped. . . Eighteen men are competing in the handball doubles competition, while over 40 entries have been received in the table tennis tourney. . . Action in the latter tournament will get under way the first of next week.

Eight more teams made a last-minute entrance into the intramural basketball picture. . . Being unable to resist the urge to take to the hardwood, eight teams from the Ag department were a last-minute entry in the intramural cage competition. . . This brings the total number of teams to 85 with an estimated 700 men participating.

Four glittering trophies are awaiting individual and team winners in last term's fraternity bowling league. . . They're not bad, by the way.

To whom it may concern: . . . An important schedule revision has been made in the dormitory basketball league. . . The Wells E-Abbott 15 game originally slated for next Monday night has been moved back to Feb. 10. . . In its place the Abbott 16-Abbott 18 battle slated for Feb. 10 has been advanced to next Monday evening. This revision has been made so that Wells E won't have to play two games at the same time. . . An error in the schedule had placed the Wells team against both Abbott 15 and Mason 3 on the same evening.

It was suggested that Coach Doug Eaton of Wells Hall send his second string against Abbott 15 while using his regulars in the Mason 3 contest. . . The scrubs shouldn't have any trouble with Coach Tommy Ryan's Abbott 15 outfit the way they've been going of late.

In a first round result of the handball tournament, Leo Levine and James Green easily defeated Al Jones and Don Healy in two straight sets, 21-3, 21-3.

Club Plans Second Skating School

M. S. C. Outing club will conduct its second skating school of the year at 8 p. m. Saturday on the college rink during a combined Outing club party and skating instruction school, Harry Butler, chairman of the third annual Winter Sports carnival, said yesterday.

Purpose of the schools, first of which was run Sunday evening, according to Butler, is twofold. Club members feel that there are numerous winter sports enthusiasts on campus who will appreciate such instruction and club members hope that the classes will turn out additional figure skaters for carnival competition.

Harold Guillaume and Betty Townsend, both senior students from Potosky, will be in charge of the classes and will be assisted by other Outing club members.

Tankers' Seek First Victory Over Purdue

A double dose of turns and relay starts is the workout prescribed by Coach "Jake" Daubert for his swimming charges as they go through drills in preparation for their meet Saturday evening with Purdue in the Jenison pool.

Although well satisfied with the showing of the Spartan tankers against the powerful Ohio State squad, Daubert feels that there is a great room for improvement, especially on the turns and relay starts, where the Buckeyes gained their advantage. This week over distance work has been reduced to a minimum and the emphasis placed upon greater speed.

For the Purdue meet the team will be strengthened by the return of Huntley Johnson, veteran Detroit freestyler. Johnson is expected to bolster the team in the dashes. He will probably swim the 50-yard free style and on one of the relays.

The return of Johnson leaves only Ralph Newton, Saginaw sophomore, on the sick list. Newton is recovering from an attack of the flu, and it is doubtful if he will see action Saturday night.

Trackmen Seek Team Berths In Final Time Trials Friday

Before the Farmers' Week activities take over the indoor track in Jenison fieldhouse, Coach Karl Schlademman will get but one more look at his thinclads in actual competition before the Notre Dame meet Feb. 7, at South Bend, when he runs the Spartans through the final team tryouts starting at 4 p. m. Friday.

Questioned as to the possibilities of the team this year, Schlademman stated that he expected to have a well-balanced but not a sensational team. However, he pointed out that he was looking forward to much stronger aggregation in 1942.

The basis for the Spartan men's reasoning lies in the results which were tabulated in the time trials held last Saturday.

FRESH SET PACE
Two freshmen, Hugh Davis, negro speedster from Lansing, and Walt Mack, Buffalo product who captured the all-college run last fall, have allowed Schlademman to foresee a bright future for his track team.

Davis continued his winning ways last Saturday, nipping Bob McCarthy and George Doran, varsity sprinters, in both the 60 and 75 yard dashes. Davis' time in the 60 was .06.5, one-tenth of a second faster than a week ago. In the broad jump, Davis sailed 23 feet 2 inches, which is five inches short of the varsity indoor record set by Walt Arrington in 1940.

Coming along very fast, Mack has proven his ability in the quarter mile and the half mile. Running against Dale Kaulitz, sophomore quarter miler, Mack finished the 440 in .52.1, three-tenths of a second behind Kaulitz. After a short rest the New Yorker came back to clip off the 880 in 2:01.1, an exceptionally good time considering it was Mack's first appearance in the event this season.

ARRINGTON RETURNS
The initial appearance of Walt Arrington, injured Spartan captain, who is gradually regaining full use of his wrenched ankle, in the shot put, Saturday, has increased Schlademman's hopes for his weight events. Arrington heaved the shot 41 feet 10 inches to best Mike Schelb by three feet.

In the pole vault, Ted Wonch continued to lead the jumpers, clearing the bar at 12 feet 6 inches. Bruce Dryman was second at 12 feet even, followed by Bob Harris at 11 feet 6 inches.

Warren Anderson edged out Ralph Monroe in the mile. The winner was clocked at 4:33.9. Freshman Bob Thompson maintained a five yard lead over Al Mangum for the entire two mile distance to win the race in 10:04.5.

Fencers to Open Season With 3-Meet Road Trip

With eight meets on the road, State's fencing team will see action only two times before home fans during 1941. Tomorrow the fencers travel to Chicago to open the season with a doubleheader against Northwestern and Chicago universities.

On Saturday Coach Charles Schmitter will take his squad to Urbana to meet the University of Illinois foilsmen. Ten men will make up the first traveling squad. George Willis, George Wolodyga, Lyle Burdy, and Armand Marinard will take the foil assignment. Willis, Loren Tukey and Francis Thalken are the epee men, while Thalken, Leonard Herscher, Albert Booth, Maurice Brash and Chuck Sherman will handle the saber.

TWO HOME CONTESTS
After this three meet opener, the Spartans return home to prepare for foes on Feb. 14 and 15, when they cross blades with Ohio State at Columbus on Friday, and then travel to Cleveland for a Saturday meet with the Case School of Applied Science.

Then come the only home meets of the season. On Friday, Feb. 28, Wisconsin will meet the Spartans in Jenison fieldhouse, and Saturday, Mar. 1, Notre Dame's bladesmen will end the two day home season.

State will finish the scheduled season at Detroit with Lawrence Tech and Wayne university. The date for these two meets has as yet not been set.

March 28 and 29, the team will again travel to Columbus, O., this time to participate in the National Collegiate fencing championships.
