WE CHRISTEN

In honor of the Hibernian tendencies of our editor, this column has been christened, and will hereafter be known, as the "Blarney Stone." There is an unusual coincidence connected with this rock and our editor and business manager, but they refuse to allow it to be divulged, threatening the writer with many forms of dire punishment should even so much as a word creep into this space concerning the secret.

To some, the new headpiece of the column may be without significance. The gentlemen in the reverse position is supposed to be kissing the famous rock, which is situated some feet down in the wall of an old Irish castle. The reward of an extensive and handily used vocabulary, which old legends give the stone power of bequeathing, is obtained only by going down the castle wall head first with one's feet in the grasp of some strong individual and kissing it.

The above name was selected for the column also as somewhat symbolic of its purpose, that being brief and, we hope, witty comment on current happenings of the campus, with a few "wise cracks" intermingled.

* * *

The annual class rush takes place next Saturday and a large morning can be expected. The freshmen have an overwhelming majority in numbers but the sophs have the advantage of experience and organization. It behoves the yearlings to get organized and put their excessive man power to good use while the sophs should concentrate on getting every available second year man out for the rush.

Woe be unto the freshman or sophomore who attempts to spend the weekend at home. His classmates will exile him. Foreseeing such a contingency, the athletic department has named Saturday as Parents' Day so there will be no excuse for any underclassman going home. The class rush is an official interclass scrap, and it is a good time in which to straighten out difficulties between individuals. The athletic field is also a much better place than the East Lansing street corners for purposes of battle.

We hope that the two lower classes will be one hundred per cent in attendance and that the class rush this year will again prove the same splendid example of class spirit and organization that it has in the past.

* * *

It would be a blessing if some of the freshmen fell into the river with their army pants on instead of their pots.

* * *

An egoist is a man who is so full of himself that he can't hold anything else. We have met several on the campus.

* * *

One of the boys came in the other night with an injured hand and when asked about the cause, said, "Oh, I was coming home from a party last night and some awkward fool stepped on my fingers."

* * *

Yesterday, one of the newly initiated sophomore cavalrymen questioned if I'd give him a headache, remarked, No, just the opposite."

PICK NOMINEES FOR SPONSORS IN CLUB MEET

Will Elect in Final Balloting During Next Few Weeks.

INSTALLATION COMING

Formal Ceremony Will Be Held in New Armory.

At a meeting of the Officers' club Monday evening, sponsor nominees for the R. O. T. C. corps and for its various units were chosen, and plans made for their election.

The complete list of nominees is as follows: Corps sponsor, Dorothy Robinson; Mary Ella Farnley, and Beatrice Bohm; for infantry sponsor, Lucie Bunge and Mary Marshall; for cavalry, Elsa Bowen and Caroline Manor; for artillery, Margaret Longnecker and Marian Chinneck.

Selection of the sponsors for these nominees will take place by popular vote for corps sponsor, while the unit sponsor will be selected by the votes of each unit.

Balloting will take place in each of the military classes during the selected day, and will be done by secret ballot. Any one wishing to campaign may do so at this time.

On the second of December, in the evening, the chosen sponsors will receive their honorary commissions with full military ceremony. Colonel T. L. Sherburne has asked all campus organizations to keep this date open for the occasion so that all members of the various units will have ample opportunity to attend.

Installation will be held in the new armory with an out-of-college military officer presenting the commissions. Although plans for installation are not yet complete it is probable that the ceremony will be followed by an all-college dance.

WEATHER BUREAU BUILDING GROWS

Expect Completion by Last of January of U. S. D. A. Structure.

The construction of the new weather bureau building is well under way and it is expected to be completed by the last of January. The building will be of the colonial style, carrying out the general style of the new buildings on the campus. Boyd and Munson, the college architects, designed the building and it will add another stroke in the improvement of the campus.

The building will be two stories high and flanked on both sides by a double porch. The first floor will be used entirely for office space. A feature of the building is the combination lecture and exhibition room. This will be used for classes in the "star gazing" course held during spring term. The residence will be placed on the second floor. All printing apparatus for the department is to be placed in the basement, which will be completely equipped.

The building is located facing Michigan Avenue across from Delta street. It is situated well back from the avenue and will be approached by a curved drive.

The college has purchased the old building but definite plans of its disposition have not been announced. The possibility is that it will be used as a music house, to replace the wooden structure now being used by the department.

PRESIDENT BUTTERFIELD VISITS MOTHER IN EAST

President Kenyon L. Butterfield was out of town the latter part of last week, being called to Pittsburgh to see his mother who is quite ill.

His mother was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Nichols, when she was taken ill. The president left Friday afternoon and returned the first part of this week to preside at the meeting of the administrative board of the college which was held Monday at 4:00 p.m.

Dairy Building Products Prove Interesting in Manufacture

The white frocked dairy students who sit about the chums and ice cream freezers in the dairy building are enrolled in a division of the dairy department known as dairy manufacturers. This division is concerned with the handling and manufacture of milk into its several finished products.

The dairy manufacturer department is justly proud of its facilities for it is said to be one of the best equipped college plants in the country. Here is found the apparatus required for the manufacture of condensed milk, American, cottage, and foreign types of cheese, ice cream, cultured buttermilk, chocolate milk, custard, and butter. Of these, the machinery for pasteurizing milk is particularly interesting. From the time the milk is dumped in the receiving room it travels towards the coolers, not being exposed to light or air until it emerges in the capped bottles, ready for the consumer.

This journey is made through sanitary pipes into glass lined tanks, where

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT TO BE HOSTS TO PARENTS

To Issue Complimentary Tickets to Fathers and Mothers at Cornell Game.

PLAN CHANGES IN HOMECOMING ARRANGEMENTS

Clubs to Send Delegates to Alumni Congress Here.

ORGANIZE COUNCIL

New Plan Will Reach More Alumni as Individuals.

A special feature of Saturday's game with Cornell College will be the fact that all parents of students are to be guests at the game. Parent's day is an annual affair on the State campus and has proven extremely popular in the past. Many parents avail themselves of this opportunity to visit the campus as the guests of the athletic department.

All parents who are to receive complimentary tickets to the game this year must register at the Union and get their tickets there. No tickets will be given out at the gym nor at the stadium. Parents should register as early as possible Saturday morning in order to avail themselves of the opportunity to attend the class rush.

In place of arranging a series of meetings and banquets for the entire alumni group over the week end, Mr. Stewart is planning to have the local M. S. C. Alumni clubs, some of which are still being organized, send delegates to this college congress, as it will be called. A joint meeting with the state board of agriculture, the executive committee, governing body of the association, and the class secretaries council will be held for discussion of any such problems or questions as may arise.

This congress will take place October 28 and 29. The first meeting, Friday evening, 6:45 in the Union dining room, will be an organization meeting of the class secretaries council, members of which are elected by each class and act as permanent secretaries of the class.

Tickets may be obtained by all officers of the local R. O. T. C. Those not-wishing to exercise their privilege of obtaining a ticket should mention their intention to the military department in order that their entry may be sold.

Alumni of the R. O. T. C. have second preference for tickets, followed by the sophomores and freshmen taking military. If enough tickets are available, some may go to the local American Legion Post.

This year all entries to the ball must be in full military custom unless on the invited guest list. Sophomores and freshmen together with the returning alumni must wear their uniforms. Band men will wear their regular dress.

For the first time the military ball will swing out on the floor of the new armory, with its great space and appropriate surroundings. Besides reducing the expense of the event, this will lend still more color and atmosphere to the occasion.

QUESTION ATHLETICS AT UNION MEETING

Peoples Church Group Divides in Regard to Status of Sports.

The question "Is athletics being over emphasized on the campus at the present time?" proved a topic for a discussion of a somewhat heated nature at the S. C. U. meeting last Sunday evening.

The group seemed to divide into two camps of fairly even strength, although there were only two or three varsity men present to defend their side of the question. It was interesting to note that the cords were as evenly divided as the men on the subject.

Among the group there were those radically minded who stoutly maintained that athletes get all the glory in campus life and are at the same time the poorest students. They saw athletics as a hindrance to intellectual development and a promoter of moral decay.

The defenders of the present system however, pointed out a few athletes who were scholars and mentioned the fact that physical development is as essential as mental. It was generally agreed that physical education was desirable but the question of over emphasis on athletic competition and the effect of athletics on the college morals remained hanging fire.

WRESTLERS TO START SEASON

Wrestling meeting will be held Tues day night at 7:30 for all men interested in the sport. Plans for the coming year will be discussed.

CONSTRUCTION HELD UP ON HARRISON BRIDGE

Work on the new Harrison Avenue bridge is being temporarily suspended while the East Lansing College sewer is being put through the section, according to contractors. Bids on the sewage disposal system, which were opened by the city of East Lansing some time ago, were all rejected. It is not known at this time whether new bids will be called in or whether the new sewer will continue to use the river as a dumping place.

The new Lansing East Harrison Boulevard is entirely completed up to Harrison Ave. and the remainder of the construction is going on rapidly with the use of two paving machines.

The college creamery is operated to supply material and facilities for class room and experimental work. The materials manufactured supply East Lansing residents with a considerable portion of their dairy products. The dairy department is always glad to show interested students, townsfolk or visitors through the plant, and to explain its operation.

It is pasteurized, through a filter, over cooling coils, and into an automatic bottle filler and capper. On the cooling coils its temperature is lowered to a point just slightly above freezing. Recording thermometers register the temperature and time of pasteurization.

Mr. Abbas was born in Amsterdam, Holland, in 1886 and began to study the cello at the early age of 7. As the cellist of the Abbas quartet, an organization of four brothers, he became acquainted with most of the chamber music of the great composers before he was six.

After studying at the Amsterdam School of Music, he was awarded the much coveted honor of scholarship at the Amsterdam Conservatory of Music under Professor Mossel, who numbered among his pupils Kinder, Van Vliet, Penha and Ronconi, all of whom including Abbas, have become famous artists. During his last years at the conservatory he was given the privilege of joining the Amsterdam Concertgebouw orchestra under William Mengelberg. In 1903 he became first cellist of the symphony orchestra at Aschaffenburg, Germany, and appeared extensively in that country as soloist with that orchestra.

ARTIST JOINS MUSIC FACULTY

Philip Abbas, Famous Dutch Cellist, Comes to Staff from Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Still another addition has been made to the music department this week by Lewis Richards and it is certain this will be an exceptionally interesting one not only to the students of the college but to the community at large. Mr. Richards has been successful in obtaining the cooperation of no less a person than Philipp Abbas, the famous Dutch cellist, who will not only teach the cello but will have charge of a course in chamber music as well.

SENIORS TO HOLD FIRST OF SERIES OF SMOKERS

Hope to Promote Closer Contact and Acquaintance Among Senior Men.

The first of a series of senior smokers will take place Thursday evening at the Union. The smoker will be in charge of Ward Estates and a splendid program has been prepared. Every effort is being made to get all senior men out for this smoker. There will be no charge made and a cordial invitation is extended to all seniors.

Social Activities Dormant As Fans Invade Ann Arbor

Social activities on the campus were almost at a standstill last weekend when the Michigan game at Ann Arbor was the center of interest. Friday and Saturday a steady stream of automobiles, both old and new carried enthusiastic Staters to the scene of the contest. Others resorted to the Ann Arbor bus or took transport on the special train which left the Michigan Central in Lansing at 8:40. Two special busses also were engaged Saturday morning in which the Michigan State band rode.

After the game, many students lingered in Ann Arbor where various entertainments were enjoyed. Numerous Staters could be seen dancing at both the Grangers and in the Union ballroom where huge crowds were accommodated. Again a large number of students from State whose homes are near Ann Arbor attended the game with their respective families, and then returned home after the contest.

The only party given on our campus was the Pi Kappa Phi open house which was sponsored Friday night with music by Statler's Blackjacks of Lansing. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Shindler, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Laurie, all of East Lansing, served as patrons.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. Proctor, Mr. Stoney, all of Lansing, and Harold Hall of East Leroy.

Fred Raymond of Detroit and Jack Erskine of Kalamazoo, who is a brother of W. Erskine, visited the Pi Kappa Phi house for the weekend.

Why God Made Hell

You know why? If you don't you should now! At once. One reviewer has said: "When Dante went to Hell he must have known of the roasting apparatus." It remained for Dr. Saussure to interestingly remark: "I never heard of the never regime over 2,000,000 have read it. Why not?" Life and Herald, Johnson City, N. Y.

SPEECH CLUB TO HOLD FIRST MEET OF YEAR

Attempt to Organize All Students Interested in Debating and Forensics.

The Speech club will meet Wednesday evening at 7:00 p.m. room 4 of the H. E. building. The purpose of the Speech club is to bring together all students who are interested in public speaking and debating.

This first meeting of the group is an effort to organize those who are interested in campus problems, and who desire an opportunity for self-expression, and practical experience in speaking. It is hoped that material for debate teams will be represented in this group so people who desire practice should make the most of the opportunity.

W. S. G. A. MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Women's Self-Government Association Tuesday evening at seven o'clock in Mrs. Powell's office.

Y. W. C. A. OPEN HOUSE

The Y. W. C. A. sponsored an open house Tuesday evening to welcome all the new girls into the organization. In this service the soft, subdued lights emphasize the beauty of the church and the decorations; the quietness gives one a delicious and unusual sense of rest and relaxation; the impressive music adds to the effect of beauty and peace, and the colored lighting effects provide a running accompaniment to the spirit of the whole thing.

Practicing and talking of all kinds is minimized because it is believed that the students are "lectured" enough during the week and the "feeling" aroused by this service would be preferred to the mental activity necessary to follow a sermon.

C. G. A. MEETS

Last Sunday the meeting of the Campus Girls Assembly was in charge of the Thematic society. Professor Johnston gave an interesting talk on Pagan-Shrines using his summer's travels in Greece as a basis. The Sesame society will entertain the girls this Sunday.
