CAPACITY CROWD IS EXPECTED AT FACULTY RECITAL

GRAVEURE TO SING

With the prominent and widely known artists of the Music department faculty appearing in their first concert in the gymnasium Wednesday evening at 8:30, a capacity crowd of students and residents of Lansing and East Lansing are expected to attend.

A combined concert of this kind, with the artists included on the program, will offer a music recital comparable only to those given by the Beethoven Association of New York, whose membership is composed of greatly talented artists.

Louis Graveure, head of the voice department of the Music Institute, will be heard in his single East Lansing concert at this time. His appearance on the Philharmonic course in Lansing several weeks ago evoked wide comment on his unusual capabilities. Graveure is considered to be one of the most successful concert artists before the public today. Recently he made his debut in Europe as an operatic singer where he met with overwhelming success. His change from baritone to tenor, which he effected last year because of the predominance of tenor roles in opera, attracted much attention. Graveure will appear in two groups of songs in Wednesday evening's concert.

Michael Press, head of the violin department of the Institute will appear for the second time within a week. Mr. Press is known to the students through his appearance with the Detroit Symphony orchestra as soloist last week, when he received a wonderful ovation. Mr. Press will conduct the college orchestra in one number appearing with Richards Wummer, and the orchestra directed by Farwell, in another, and also in a duet of cello and violin with Abbas.

The Wednesday evening program of Farmers' week is to be dismissed early to allow those who wish, to attend.

The complete program is as follows:

(1) Serenade Music ... Mozart
Michigan State College Orchestra
Michael Press, Conductor

(2) Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 in D Major ... J. S. Bach for piano, violin, flute, accompanied by the orchestra)
Messrs. Richards, Press, Wummer, Farwell

(3) Group of songs
Louis Graveure

(4) Passagalia ... Handel
Cello and violin
Messrs. Abbas and Press

(5) Group of songs
Louis Graveure

Admission to this concert will be fifty cents for students and $1.00 for others. Students are asked to present their tickets, given registration day, for identification. These may be obtained at the music department if they have not been received.

To Lead Grand March of J-Hop

Margaret Patterson

John Gould

Margaret Patterson, a junior, will lead the grand march of the annual J-Hop on Friday with John Gould, president of the class.

Miss Patterson is well known in the college social circles and has taken an active part in campus activities. In her Sophomore year she was secretary of the class and at the present time is acting as chairman of the novelties committee for the Hop.

It is the first time in several years that a co-ed has been chosen to the honor of leading the annual Junior Party. She is a member of the Themian society.

ELIGIBILITY RULES TO BE ENFORCED

Faculty Committee to Pass On Eligibility to Engage in Campus Activities.

Eligibility for participation in campus activities is to be placed in the hands of the faculty eligibility committee and the requirements rigidly enforced according to action taken in the faculty meeting Monday afternoon.

Regulations governing the eligibility of those holding student offices and those engaged in activities will be the same as those required of athletes. At present these rules demand that a student be no more than eight credits of failure or conditions in arrears, no more than sixteen points behind and not on probation of any kind.

The faculty committee, appointed by the president, now handling the athletic eligibility is composed of Dean H. Ryder chairman, Prof. J. F. Cox and Prof. A. J. Clark. They will undoubtedly take over the duties of passing on student activity eligibility.

It is thought however, that the new ruling will not be put into effect until next fall.

These requirements which the faculty established through their action Monday have supposedly been imposed on those participating in student activities during the past two years. The rule was placed before the student body at the all-college election in the spring of 1927 and passed by a large majority. However through lack of administration on the part of student executives the rules have not been enforced.

Miss Bane, who is a national authority in home economics work, is appearing on the Farmers' week program. The meeting at the Peoples church will be open to all.

R. O. T. C. STUDENTS ARE TO PARADE FOR FARMERS

March About Campus to Begin At 1:00 According to Sherburne.

Official announcement was made yesterday by Col. Sherburne that the R. O. T. C. students will parade on Thursday, Feb. 7, as a part of the Farmers' week program.

Members of the regiment will be excused from all classes at 11:00 and will assemble at 12:30 o'clock at their respective... The band will assemble in the gymnasium annex and will be on hand in the vicinity of the physics building at 12:45 to lead the parade.

All equipment held by the division will be used in the parade, weather and roads permitting. Arms will be carried by the students and dark gloves may be worn. The parade is expected to last about an hour. As the order for the parade is given by the college authorities, attendance is required and no excuses will be given for absences.

DECORATIONS FOR HOP ELABORATE

Ballroom of Olds to Be Transferred Into a Flowery Garden for Social Event.

"The decorations for this year's J-Hop will be the most elaborate and different ever attempted by a junior class at the college," was the frank statement of J. S. Clark, a local decorator who is in charge of the designing for the 1929 party.

The ballroom of the Hotel Olds on that evening will be transformed into a spring garden, decked with garlands of natural smilax entertwined with flowers. Low lights will flood the floor of the ballroom and the high pillars will be hid behind huge parrot screens backed with rose silk.

The orchestra platform will be decked with green foliage and festoons of smilax, and here and there against the side walls bright modernistic vases will be surmounted by artistic effects which harmonize with the spring theme of the decorations.

Mr. Clark has had the contract for the decorations since Christmas vacation and promises more charming decorative effects than have ever before been attempted. Gerald Lage is the chairman of the J-Hop committee in charge of the release of the contract.

A successful and varied short course program sponsored by the Farm Crops department for certified seed growers ended on Friday, Feb. 1.

Beginning on Jan. 28, the program was attended by 21 certified seed growers from all over the state. All phases of production and marketing were discussed and studied.

Renew Former J-Hop Tradition After Lapse of Four Years

Back in the dim days when the men who, this year, are sporting canes, spats, and derbies in token of their seniority, wore green pots and swam the Red Cedar with the best of 'em, the then president of the junior class broke a time-honored tradition. George Dirks asked a girl, not a co-ed here, to lead the J-Hop with him.

Always before, the grand march had been led off by one of the campus belles, but that year Bernice Drahner of Detroit, was escorted by the class president.

The innovation seemed, so to speak, to go over big. Later hop leaders followed suit. In '27, Ruth Jeannot, of Muskegon, led the march with George Macier, and last year June Ranney, of Dirk, Kentucky, was the guest of John Anderson.

But this year the now nicely flourishing tradition of having the dance led by an off-campus girl receives a blow. We can't seem to keep our traditions, no matter which way we switch them.

For when Margaret Patterson, '30, leads the grand march this year, with John Gould, a Michigan State co-ed will be first lady of the hop, as it were, for the first time in four years. Another junior class president has broken what almost amounts to another tradition.

JACK CRAWFORD'S ORCHESTRA TO PLAY FOR JUNIOR HOP FRIDAY

Band Has Wide Reputation for Humorous Entertainment and Marvelous Harmony.

HAS ATLANTIC CITY FAME

Jack Crawford and his Victor Recording orchestra coming direct from the Schroeder Hotel, Milwaukee, will play for the 1928 J-Hop at the Hotel Olds on Friday evening, February 8.

Crawford has made himself known as the clown prince of jazz through his many comical antics in leading the orchestra, combined with his qualities as showman, leader and musician. He is a marvelous master of ceremonies and during the orchestra's recent stay in the Milwaukee hotel they received thousands of letters from enthusiastic radio fans complimenting them for their excellent entertainment.

For the past two summers the organization has been a sensation at the Steel Pier at Atlantic City where Crawford is contracted again for the coming season. It was while playing there that the orchestra drew the largest crowd ever attracted to a single American ballroom in one evening. Sixteen thousand people were drawn by the marvelous rhythm and harmony of the orchestra.

The orchestra has an established reputation in collegiate circles having played for social functions among the larger colleges an universities including Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, and the University of Pennsylvania.

Following their appearance here Crawford's orchestra is booked for the William Penn hotel, Pittsburg, where they will broadcast over station KDKA. Jack Crawford's orchestra is being presented through the Music Corporation of America and was secured by the J-Hop music committee working in conjunction with that organization.

DR. A. E. HOLT TO SPEAK ON CHICAGO MILK SITUATION

A discussion which should prove of great interest to students of both sociology and economics will feature the Tuesday morning session of the annual conference of the Michigan Country Life association being held on the campus February 4 and 5 in conjunction with Farmers' week when Dr. Arthur E. Holt of the Chicago Theological Seminary presents a talk on "The Chicago Milk Situation and Some of Its Implications."

Dr. Holt has made a thorough study of the situation which has been causing much difficulty between milk producers and middlemen in the milk business in the Chicago district and should be able to present an authoritative discussion.

The timeliness and importance of the topic should make it of interest to all who are interested in current topics in this field.

AT THE UNION

Any Union is what the students make it. To be a success it must be supported by the entire student body. Make it your meeting place and in so doing increase its popularity which in turn will make it a bigger and better Union. It is there for every one to use, why not take advantage of it?

VISITORS

Again Michigan State college devotes its campus and facilities intensively to the entertainment and edification of the farmers of the state for a week. Somewhere in the neighborhood of 10,000 visitors will attend the annual meetings of the 41 organizations which are scheduled, in addition to the large general gatherings to be held each afternoon. Speakers of state and national repute have been secured to address the assembled agriculturists.

The week will see more people gathered on the campus than at any other time of the school year. Coming from all parts of the state, the visitors, many of whom are delegates from local groups, virtually represent the agricultural population of Michigan.

Although large numbers of them have attended this yearly function before, many will be strangers to the campus and in need of direction to points of interest. Courteous and willing aid on the part of the students in giving information will do more in the way of good will for the college than reams of publicity.

Students in the agricultural division and those appearing on the programs will participate somewhat in the events of the week, but in general students will have little connection with the occasion, other than acting as incidental information bureaus.

The student body welcomes the presence of these visitors on the campus this week, hopes that their sojourn here will be enjoyable and that on their departure they will take with them a pleasant impression of the college.

STATE STUDENT HONORED BY HARMON FOUNDATION

Selected by the Harmon Foundation as one of the four scouts in the seventh region for distinctive and conspicuous service in scouting, Paul Troth, '30, was honored with a $100 award.

Troth is the first scout in the seventh region, composed of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, to receive this award. He is at present acting as assistant scoutmaster of a Lansing troop. He has served as test camp director of the local council at the "Wolves' Den" and during 1926 and 1927 was nature lore instructor in the New York state scout camp, one of the largest camps in the country.

FORMER STATE GRADUATE TO TEACH AT MICHIGAN

Alfred M. Malloy, formar graduate assistant in the department of chemistry at Michigan State, has been appointed as instructor in the medical school at the University of Michigan, according to a recent announcement fromt he office of the secretary of the university.

Mr. Malloy is a member of Sigma Xi, honorary national fraternity, the American Chemical society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Journal club of the medical staff of the University hospital, Ann Arbor.

"TWELVE MILE LIMIT" A REVIEW

"The Twelve Mile Limit" is an annual. It is not exactly epoch-making, but it is undeniably the bright spot in the history of Union productions on this campus. And for three good reasons. The first is the engagement of Charles P. Seager, whose tunes were his chief and very good contribution. The second and third are the male and female leads, brought here by Louis Graveure. Excepting these two, this year's cast has determined the merit of previous Union productions.

Mr. Seager has somewhat the ability to assimilate and alter to his own ends the clever points in the innumerable productions he has seen. This "vocabulary" of ideas gave to his presentation a certain second-hand cleverness which provided good entertainment though it would, to an habitue of the theater, seem occasionally reminiscent of some other show.

Robert Graham, as the hub of the whole plot, was unsurpassed as a singer. His acting however lacked ease and realism, but straight "heavy" roles are not grateful. To put over a large dose of unburlesqued pathos in a musical comedy is as severe a test of acting powers as a Thespian meets in a long time.

Miss Barden, the heroine, possesses the worshipful trinity of the stage—beauty, a gorgeous voice, and histrionic intelligence. The finding of the two leads in "The Twelve Mile Limit" was a mighty lucky break for Impresario Seager.

Lyle Lyons was most fortunately cast as the father convincing, if too youthful. And his luscious baritone will some day be the envy of many a professional singer who considers himself pretty good.

Were Margaret Hubbard but homely and ungainly—she is far from either—she could make even Fanny Brice look to her laurels, for she has the gift of grasping the secret of real humor.

Into the part of the "Gumshoer" William Montgomery infused a refreshing bit of originality—no mean accomplishment in such hackneyed role.

The personality pair—Berg and Miss Telford—were really clever—good as many a big-time vaudeville duo.

Miss Hawley is not an actress, but "Beauty is its own excuse," and on the stage it is a decided asset.

Phil Olin—though encumbered with several essential speeches, awkard in length, delineated them ably, a necessity to the continuity of the plot.

The choruses, good-looking and well costumed, were poorly disciplined in their obsolete drills, (hardly dance steps (but as compensation for this, there were several well handled "interludes." The "Calories" trio was the cleverest bit, though scarcely audible. The humorous climax of the show was the "Tillie" number—the audience ate it up. And the "Sweethearts" quartet was a pretty and romantic episode.

True, this year's opera was rather slow, the plot lukewarm in interest and devoid of suspense. (All traceable to the director who, being the only professional concerned, must be judged by a severe standard). But, thinks chiefly to an exceptional cast, it still ranks above any other campus presentation, and marks an advancement in dramatice prestige with the public. Because it was ably and widely heralded, this salient success will prove an effective medium in further identifying accomplishment with the name of M. S. C.

Union Guardian Keeps Full Statistics Just For Fun

What would you do for amusement if you were night watchman at the Union? Fred Hicks has taken up Union statistics as a hobby.

He may have shown you his notebook some time, it's a great source of amusement and pride to him, and he sometimes displays it at Union dances.

But hardly at all of them, the hard-worked book would be worn out from slipping in and out of Fred's pocket. For since the Union was built, he's only missed six dances when he was ill last fall. And without the six, it mounts up to 327 dances attended since June 19, 1923. Few men on campus can claim to have been present at so many sorority dances as Fred. And they're all carefully tabulated in the faithful notebook. There's not a Union dance or a dance given at the Union in the last five years that hasn't its place there.

But a couple of pages over the notebook gets away from the campus social triumphs. There's nothing that gets past the watchful eye of the Union custodian and here we have every letter taken from the Union lobby since the day it opened. Twenty-eight thousand four hundred and fifty-one letters to date. Fred has carried from the Union desk to the postoffice. On July 1, 1928, more letters were mailed there than on any other day. That evening Fred carried out 1,964 student letters.

Other days the writing home wasn't going so strong. On Dec. 3, 1928, for instance, there were only three letters mailed at the Union.

This amateur statistician of the Union keeps track of telephone calls he makes, too, with names of people called, addresses, and phone numbers. Maud Meech, of Michigan avenue, was honored several years ago, by being the first person to be called on the Union phone by the Union watchman. Likewise, a Mrs. Kessling mailed the Union's first letter this year.

Fred has taken this thing of keeping close tab on all that goes on in the Union as a hobby simply, as he expresses it, for the fun of it. And he seems to have fun at it, indeed. He's thinking, he says, of keeping the addresses of all outgoing letters, though that may more than fill the notebooks he possesses.

But even though he hasn't gone to this length yet, he watches most of what goes on over there. Very few things have happened at the Union during the last five years without finding a place somewhere in Fred's notebook.

Jos. F. Cox, dean of agriculture at Michigan State college, in hearings before the ways and means committee of the house of representatives, made a report relative to seed tariffs in Washington, D. C.

KRESGE'S
Has an Opportunity for Executives with College Training

What other College Men have done with KRESGE'S

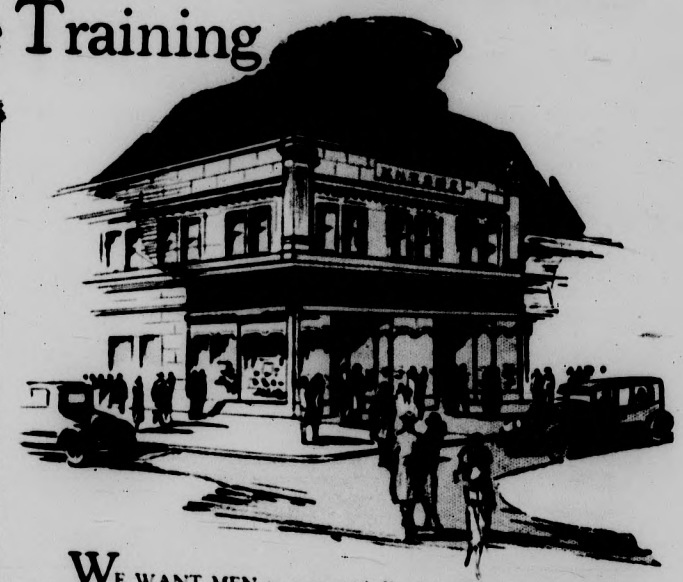
"In 1918 I graduated from Ripon College, having majored in chemistry. After following my profession several years I concluded that my personal advancement was limited. In 1923 I entered the employ of the S. S. Kresge Company, worked hard and many long hours, but today, as manager of a new store I am proud of my membership in the great Kresge Organization. My future is unlimited."

An Illinois Wesleyan University graduate, class of 1915, says: "My efforts with the Kresge Company have been amply repaid and now, as store manager, I feel sure that any man who gives his best efforts to the Kresge Company will not be disappointed."

One of the many successful Kresge store managers is a graduate of the University of Illinois class of 1920. His advice to ambitious young college graduates is: "Prepare yourself now for future success. Cast your lot with the Kresge Company."

A graduate of the Ohio State University writes: "I am not boasting of my success as a manager of a Kresge Store, but I know that financially I am far ahead of most of my college pals. A man's ability is practically the only thing limiting his success."

Another successful store manager, a graduate of Indiana University says: "The young men of today who are willing to begin at the bottom and work their way to the top will be tomorrow's leaders in every field of endeavor." The Kresge Company will train you for greater responsibilities.



WE WANT MEN to grow with Kresge's. We are now operating 510 stores and are opening new stores at the rate of 75 to 80 a year; thus creating opportunities for men who join our organization. We offer to train college graduates to be the kind of men we need so that they may reach the kind of positions they desire.

If you have a trained mind and a well-rounded personality, you possess the first two requisites. If you are willing to work hard, to learn the details of every phase of store management and to start at the bottom on a small salary, we may very possibly do business together. For the reward is well worth the earning. To those who follow out the Kresge training plan, we offer store managers' positions paying very attractive salaries.

It's like having a business of your own, plus the added opportunities in a corporation with $150,000,000 sales annually.

A Kresge representative, possibly a graduate from your own college, will be sent to tell you personally of the opportunities with Kresge if you write our Personnel Department.

HONOR SYSTEM NOT POPULAR AT NEW JERSEY COLLEGE

New Brunswick, N. J. — (IP) — The honor system is not a success because it is not popular with students, according to Professor Thomas Munro of the New Jersey State College for Women.

"I do not agree with the honor system," he declares. "It places the responsibility for reporting violations upon individual students, and no student likes to tattle on another. It is in fact a point of honor among students not to report anyone else. As far as I have observed, most students would rather go back to the old system."

To Play for J-Hop Friday

Drum Major Will Leave Baton at Home on Night of J-Hop

Practice makes perfect. And by the same token, the grand march at this year's J-Hop should be neatly led.

Not that its leader do that sort of thing every other day or so, of course. But—how often have you heard music strike up and seen John Gould march off across a field, a hall, or what you will, trailed by a throng of followers?

That was at football games, of course, and at military reviews in the spring. For the president of the Junior class is no novice at leading things, he's been drum major of the State band for two years.

It was his baton which gave the omen of a successful or unsuccessful game last football season and the one before, and not the winning touchdown itself can get more huzzas from a State crowd than the catching of that baton as it comes down from a successful arc over the goal-bar.

All in all, John is a drum-major par excellence. He can get his knees up under his chin, he can twirl his baton nobly, he can throw his baton over the bar and catch it, thus helping out the morale of the superstitutious home stands, and in general perform all those trick stunts demanded of a really good drum-major.

And therefore, say we, the J-Hop should be neatly led. For to one used to marching in an exaggerated goose-step, twirling a baton, and simultaneously going through a number of other contortions, a march in which he has, so to speak, to do nothing but keep going, should be child's play indeed.

STATE MUSICAL CONTEST MAY 2-3

High School Bands and Orchestras Will Compete Here in Annual State Contest.

High school bands and orchestras will compete here May 2 and 3 for state honors, it became known recently in an announcement by Ada Bicking, director of music education, department of public instruction. Prizes donated by the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music, which is cooperating in the contests, will be awarded to the winners in each of the several classes.

The band and orchestra winning first place each in Class A will receive the state trophies donated by the bureau and will be eligible to represent Michigan at the national meeting in competition for the national trophies awarded by the bureau. The contest for school bands of the entire country will be held at Denver, Colo. May 23-25, and for school orchestras at Iowa City on May 17 and 18. Although the school band contests have been held annually for the past three years, this year's contest for orchestras will be the first national meeting ever held.

Bands and orchestras participating in the state contest to be held here next May will be those winning in the preliminary contests of the district which will be held on April 11 and 12 at the following centers: Mt. Pleasant, Kalamazoo, Ypsilanti and Marquette Teachers' colleges and Cass City. There were 35 entries in the state finals held here last year, the winners being: Class A, Flint SeniorHigh and South High, Grand Rapids, tied; Class B, Boys Vocational school, Lansing; Class C, Pattengill High, Lansing; and class D, Brown City High. At the national band contest held in Joliet, Ill. last May, Michigan was represented by Flint Senior High, South High of Grand Rapids, Lansing High, Lansing Vocational and Oxford High. At this contest Lansing Vocational won second place in Class B.

Both the Michigan district and state finals will have three judges each to vote the awards. Enrollments of bands and orchestras for the district contests will mbe sent to the office of the state director of music education.

COLD WEATHER FREEZES OUT "FLU" HERE DURING TERM

Cold weather has finally frozen out the "flu" and quieted things down at the college hospital. During the height of the epidemic last term, on an average 25 out of the 30 beds at the hospital were in constant occupancy by our fellow students. But this term not over ten at any one time have been in use.

In December extra nurses were on duty both day and night. Now the four who are on regular duty are sufficient.

MICHIGAN STATE DROPS TWO GAMES TO EASTERN RIVALS

Colgate Wins 36-35 and Syracuse Repeats With 24-17 Verdict.

MEET HOPE FRIDAY

A long trip with only two hours intervening between the arrival at Hamilton and the start of the Colgate game and a more strict interpretation of rules assisted the fighting Spartans in dropping two games last week-end. Colgate tripped State in a closely contested battle Friday night, 36 to 35, and the following evening the Syracuse five trounced the weary Flying Dutchmen, 24 to 17.

Laxity in applying the rules dealing with pivoting, charging, blocking and traveling has been given as the cause to some extent of the defeats suffered by the eastern teams on their invasion of the middle west. On the other hand, strictness and a difference of application of rules gave State some trouble in making its offense work smoothly at both Hamilton and Syracuse.

State's quintet did not let Colgate get more than a four point lead at any time during the game Friday night. The first half ended with the Spartans behind on a 19 to 15 score.

Captain Bollerman, six foot six Maroon center, handled himself so well defensively that he proved to be a thorn in State's offensive efforts. Bonnacker, Colgate's forward, also took part with his excellent floor work in stopping the Spartan drive. VanZylen, Green and White forward, shot five baskets from the floor and four from the foul line for a total of 14 points to be high scorer of the contest.

Syracuse who has lost only one game this season and that to the strong undefeated Fordham aggregation, maintained such a tight defense the first period that State was only able to collect three points to the fourteen of the Orange five.

The Spartans changed their style of attack the second period and pulled through with 14 counters to the Orange's 12 which was not enough to to down Syracuse's first period lead. High scoring honors went to Katz, Orange guard, as he collected 13 points.

The Spartan squad will get a rest today and it is expected that Don Groye and Scott, the diminutive basketeers, who have been extended a great deal this season and are showing signs of the strain will be replaced by other members of the squad for one or two games. State will meet Hope, Friday night, here.

STATE WILL NOT SEND MEN TO EASTERN MEET

Michigan State will be unable to send a delegation to the Eastern Intercollegiate indoor meet in New York this winter to which they have been invited. Conflict of the New York meet date with the annual Indoor Relay Carnival sponsored by the Spartans is the reason for M. S. C.'s inability to attend the eastern classic.

State has sent a track team to the outdoor Eastern Intercollegiates for the past two years, and has made a favorable impression. They have won one championship and several third and fourth places. Last year State tied with Princeton for eighth place at the big track classic.

SOPH THINCLADS DEFEAT FROSH

Set Two New Meet Records; Russell Takes High Score Honors.

A better balanced and more experienced sophomore Michigan State track team defeated a yearling aggregation Saturday afternoon at the Spartan gymnasium, 58-28.

Russell, a sophomore, by scoring 22½ points, led for individual honors while Swanson, a yearling, who set a new meet record in the half-mile was second with 10 points. The only other meet record set Saturday was made leaped 5 feet 7 inches for a new mark in the high jump.

The summaries are as follows:

40-yard dash—Won by Russel (S); Voelker (S) second; Buist (F) third. Time—:04.9.

40-yard low hurdles—Won by Russell (S); Voelker (S) second; Buist (F) third. Time—:05.5.

40-yard high hurdles—Won by Yarger (S); Russell (S) second; Voelker (S) third. Time—:05.9.

Half-mile run—Won by Swanson (F); Dearing (S) second; Ballach (S) third. Time—2.11.7. (New meet record.)

Shot put—Won by Dill (S); Russell (S) second; Handler (S) third. Distance—37 feet 10½ inches.

High jump—Won by Lisch (S); Russell (S) and Carlisle (F) tied for second. Height—5 feet 7 inches. (New meet record.)

SHORT COURSE TEAM TOTALS 16 VICTORIES

Win Four and Lose Two This Season--Twenty Men on Squad.

A record of 16 wins out of 18 starts has been established so far by the Michigan State Short Course basketball team, combining their record of last season with that of the present year. This season the short course team, composed chiefly of 10-week and 16-week students, has netted four victories out of six encounters.

Twenty men are on the squad and reporting for practice in the gymnasium from 6:30 a. m. to 7:30 every morning. The games are being played on the floor in the new armory.

The team has met with defeat at the hands of the Flint Junior college team and the quintet from Maple Rapids. Both of these teams are scheduled for return games with the short course team, and the M. S. C. five is earnestly preparing for retaliation.

In the other games played on the present season's schedule the State representatives totaled four victories. The Gerson-Carey team was defeated 28 to 14, a Kalamazoo quintet 22 to 18, Okemos 42 to 10, and the Charlotte Independents 29 to 20. Return games will be played with most of the teams listed.

SPARTAN HOCKEY TEAM STOPS U. OF D. SATURDAY

With the lop-sided victory over the University of Detroit pucksters tucked under their belt, Coach John Kobs's Michigan State hockey team is looking forward to two home meets scheduled for this week. The Battle Creek Civic and Recreational club will oppose the Spartans at 4 p. m. today while the University of Michigan team, which defeated State early in the season, will form the opposition for the Green and White men Friday afternoon.

State's smashing victory over the University of Detroit, 8-0, showed its superiority in puck play. Five of the eight goals were made unassisted and two others came after a scrimmage near the Detroit net. State scored first in the initial period when Pinson came down the ice and pushed the puck past Doyle, Detroit goalie, for the first score. The Spartans rained shots past the U. of D goalie in the second period, Pinson scoring once, Kennedy twice and Jones once.

The summary:

Michigan State		Detroit
Harris	G	Doyle
Christianson	LD	Howard
Clark	RD	Howard
Jones	C	Sparling
Kennedy	LW	O'Neill
Pinson	RW	Vachon

Spares—Michigan State, Lindberg, Hawkins, Harper, Schimmel, Horn, Olson; Detroit, Donovan, Keyes, Nator.

First period—Goals, Pinson 4:35. Penalty, Keyes. Second period—Goals, Pinson 2:30, Kennedy 4:27, Jones 6:13, Kennedy 8:02. Third period—Goals, Kennedy 1:47, Harper 6:30, Jones (Pinson) 10:00.

Stops—Harris 1, 5, 4—10; Doyle 19, 11—25.

LIFE SAVING COURSE TO BE OFFERED HERE

R. B. Daubert, State swimming instructor, announces that he will inaugurate a Life Saving course for men students of the college beginning Thursday, February 7 at 7:00 p. m. Classes will meet every Monday and Thursday thereafter in the Spartan pool. The only requirement is that the student must be able to swim one length of the pool.

STATE NATATORS WIN SATURDAY

Defeat Grand Rapids Y. M. C. A. In Dual Meet; Craig and Cook Star.

State's varsity swimmers easily defeated Grand Rapids Y. M. C. A. in the first meet of the season Saturday afternoon in the Spartan natatorium. State led all the way and had no trouble in winning the meet.

The Spartans started with a rush when the relay team broke the tank record in capturing the free style relay events. The quartet composed of Tate, Scheid, Ellinger and Craig swimming in the order named splashed the distance in 2:14.1, breaking the old record by more than two seconds. In the other events the times were rather mediocre. This was to be expected in the season's opener, since the swimmers have not yet rounded into top shape.

The performance of the relay team, the diving of Cook and Rasikas, Paul Freeland who won high point honors in the meet by annexing first place in the 220 free style and second in the 100-yard breast were the features of the meet.

Summary:

240-yard relay (free style)—won by Michigan State (Tate, Scheid, Ellinger, Craig). Time—2:14.1. New pool record.

100-yard breast stroke—Craig, State; Freeland, State, second; Clapsaddle, Grand Rapids, third. Time—1:22.8. New pool record.

50-yard dash (free style)—Clapsaddle, Grand Rapids, first; Scheid, State, second; Tate, State, third. Time—:27.2.

100-yard back stroke—Craig, State, first; Schaufel, State, second; Clapsaddle, Grand Rapids, third. Time—1:10.4. New pool record.

150-yard free style—Kolenda, Grand Rapids, first; Ellinger, State, second; Reed, State, third. Time—1:09.8.

Fancy diving—Cook, State, first; Rasikas, State, second; Stuart, Grand Rapids, third.

220-yard free style—Freeland, State, first; Kolenda, Grand Rapids, second; Craig, State, third. Time—2:46.4.

"Dutch" to Meet "Dutch" in Hope College Basketball Game Friday

Dutch will meet Dutch at East Lansing Friday night when Hope college brings its basketball team here for the annual game with the Flying Dutchmen of Michigan State. The game will be the outstanding athletic event of Farmers' week, which draws 5,000 or so Michigan farmers to East Lansing every year. Needless to say the small state gymnasium will be taxed to capacity with every one of its 2,500 seats at a premium.

Should Coach Van Antzyne, yes he's Dutch too, take it into his mind to send a Wooden Shoe combination against Hope he could put Den Herder and Van Zlyen at the forwards, Captain Carl Felt at center, and Haza and Prendergast at the guards. Then there would still be Van Antwerpt for a substitute at forward or Totten, [illegible] send in at center.

This Dutch lineup [illegible] much of a joke either, since Van Antzyne would only have to send in Don Groye at one of the forwards, and Scott at a guard, to make the Holland combination his 'real first team.'

Games between Hope and State have always been close on the basketball court, and only a few years ago the Dutchmen from western Michigan scored a narrow victory over the Spartans. This Friday, however, the more experienced and faster Spartans are expected to run circles around their fellow-countrymen.

An effort will be made by Assistant Athletic Director L. L. Timothy to accommodate as many of the Farmers' week guests as possible at the Hope-State game.

ANNOUNCE CHANGE FOR INTER-SOCIETY SPORTS

Intra-mural Competition Plan to Offer Chance for More Participants.

Miss Darland of the Women's Physical Education Department announced Tuesday, the change from inter-society athletics to intra-mural competition, in order that more girls will have an opportunity to take part in women's sports.

The activities included in the new tournaments will be pin-ball, for which a plaque will be awarded, rifle and swimming, offering the silver cups. Ten society teams and three groups from Faculty, East Lansing, and the Women's building have applied to Phyllis Trautman, manager.

Miss Darland is anxious to have entries from other independent groups during the next week, when the schedule will be arranged. The new plan will continue to replace the inter-society method during the next term.

FORMER SPARTAN BASEBALL LEADER GIVES TALK HERE

SPARTAN FROSH LOSE GAME HERE

Western State Fresh Trounce Spartan Five Friday Night, Score 36-25.

Fast passing and the tight defensive work of the Western State Teachers freshmen basketball squad proved the undoing of State's yearlings when here Friday night. When the final horn sounded the Michigan State five were on the small end of a 36 to 25 score. This is the first defeat in three games suffered by the freshmen, incidentally the first one this season.

Green scored first for State with a close in shot. Ackerman, Western State center, followed soon after with another close in shot. The end of the first period saw State behind 12 to 9.

Twelve personal fouls were called on the Spartan five and out of the 24 attempted shots from the foul line Western State showed 12 through the hoop. The State freshmen collected their points from the penalty stripe although it is said that basketball games are won on field goals, the State yearlings bagged 10 field goals while Western State came through with 14.

Jim Den Herder, Western State forward and brother to Fred Den Herder, forward and center on the Spartan varsity, gave a good account himself in his fast floor work and basket shooting. He garnered seven points for his team.

Dear Sirs:

Having just returned from my fishing camp in northern Ontario, and in the reflections upon a fortnight of most excellent weather, wonderful fishing and complete camp comfort, I feel that an appreciation of Edgeworth is due, as one of the principal factors of our enjoyment.

In past years, I have taken along a supply of various well-known brands of smoking tobacco, never having become fully acquainted with the difference in the smoking qualities of the so-called high-grade tobaccos now upon the market, and acting upon a tip from an old smoker friend, and as a matter of convenience in packing, this year I took along a dozen tins of Edgeworth Plug Slice.

There are no places nor conditions in existence where the contentment drawn from a briar pipe meets with keener enjoyment or more critical analysis than beside the camp-fire after a strenuous day in the great outdoors.

It is the unanimous opinion of the smokers among my party that Edgeworth is without a peer, and that its smoothness, fragrance and fine smoking qualities are unsurpassed and unmatched; and I thank you for making it possible to obtain it.

Yours truly,
(Signed) H. N. Curtiss
