CONGRATULATIONS AND APPRECIATION

Yesterday in the heaviest vote in the history of student elections, a new editor and business manager were selected to take charge of the State News for the coming year. We offer our sincere congratulations to the new executives. Both men are extremely capable and we feel sure that the paper will prosper under their management.

The present editor and business manager wish also at this time to voice their appreciation for the support of the student body during the past year, for the aid given by various organizations in the collection of news, and for the cooperation of the faculty and administration of the college. Especially do we thank the members of our staff for the loyalty and energy with which they have accomplished their work.

And as we relinquish control, our best wishes go with the new editor and business manager and the staff which they assemble. They have much work ahead of them and many problems to meet. May they successfully handle their new responsibilities.

OUR YEAR

This is the last occasion that the State News will be issued under the present regime. Publishing 62 issues during the past three terms, the present administration has attempted to follow definite policies in regard to a number of campus questions, has attempted to insure the financial success of the paper.

In our first issue, April 6, 1928, there were defined certain stands or policies on several questions with the promise that they would be brought into the editorial columns for discussion, with the purpose of bringing about action which will be of benefit to the student body and the college as a whole.

Reviewing them briefly, there was, most notorious perhaps, elimination of rules governing co-ed smoking and the placing of co-eds in this respect on the same basis with the men. Regulations now demand that co-eds refrain from smoking only in dormitories and sorority houses. Discrimination has been practically eliminated officially.

We favored the construction of a basketball floor in the armory. Since that time, investigation has shown that it was impractical and a decidedly better plan has been adopted, which undoubtedly will be announced before the end of next term.

Of most importance, perhaps, was the call for survey of the personnel of the departments of the college with a view to strengthening, through elimination and addition, those departments which were notably weak. Much progress has been made on this. Announcement of proposed changes would be premature now, however. They will take place before next fall more than likely.

Concerning the advent of more honorary societies on the campus, which we opposed unless there was considerable justification, the student council now has the power to permit or prohibit, through an amendment to its constitution passed by the student body at the spring elections last year. It is to be hoped that it will act as a restraining influence in this matter.

Student government expansion was advocated as soon as student government demonstrated its ability to uphold their responsibilities. And there has been progress. There have been numerous important matters handled by the council and progressive measures adopted.

We feel that this part of student life has an optimistic outlook at Michigan State in that the administration shows a willingness toward its promotion.

In consideration of the business end of the paper, this division of the staff has succeeded admirably in securing the monetary means necessary to place a copy of the paper in the hands of every student twice each week. Contrary to opinion, the paper has not grown corporately rich. It has held its own, however, and enabled the paper to add some much-needed equipment.

We have supported many projects and opposed others. We have expressed favorable and unfavorable opinions, according to our judgment. Perhaps there has been wonderment at interpretation of some things, but close investigation sometimes reveals hidden but extremely important causes. However, the year has ended and it is with some regret that we close our tenure.

TEXAS JUDGE ORDERS HAZING AT STATE SCHOOLS STOPPED

Yale Students Vote English of More Value Than Psychology

New Haven, Conn., (AP)—English is the most valuable college subject, and psychology is the least valuable, according to the majority vote of Yale seniors, announced in the Yale Daily News recently.

The seniors, in a questionnaire voted a Phi Beta Kappa key more to be desired than a major "Y" and announced Lindbergh as their most admired man.

Music

The Joint Recital of Lewis Richards and Philipp Abbas

A Review by Robert Graham

Tuesday's concert was in a way a tribute to invention applied to the development of musical instruments. Neither the harpsichord nor the viola da gamba possess the sonority found in their modern counterparts; but they have as partial compensation a tone more ethereal, and as long as this quality finds such able exponents as Richards and Abbas there is no danger that the instruments will become obsolete.

In the harpsichord group Mr. Richards preferred, rather than go into the subtleties of his instrument, to utilize its merits. As our campus is learning Lewis Richards is a man of considerable sagacity in all that he does. The wisdom of his choice and the merit of its performance was proven by the enthusiastic reception the audience gave him. His third number, "The Brook" by Ayrlon, was an exquisite bit of interpretative music, and in the harpsichord its light rippling found a most grateful vehicle—better suited than the modern piano. Decidedly interesting, too, was Mozart's "Turkish March" hardly Turkish in idiom, but much better music than that country can boast. In his encores (the "Minuet" of Stametz, and "Gigue" by Desmarest), Mr. Richards chose music less effective, but not less beautiful, playing them with superb artistry enhanced, rather than handicapped, by the fragile tinkling tones of his instrument.

For his violoncello solos, Mr. Abbas selected four movements from various suites of Bach. Bach is the most indigestible of great composers, so the choice was not so happy as in the preceding group, but the execution was splendid and the audience received it with long applause—albeit they must have sympathized with the unoffending cello for the bullying it got. If Mr. Abbas is vehement in his bowing it but indicates his complete mastery for in contrast to the massive tone he so produces is his delicate pianissimo. With Mrs. Abbas playing the accompaniments to his encores (Chopin's "Canzabile" and Frescobaldi's "Toccata") in lighter vein, he displayed this with fine effect.

The most emotional music of the evening was in Grieg's sonata for piano and cello. The allegro agitato contained a sensuously lovely second theme which was once repeated before the lustrous climax at the end. The andante wove a long, restful spell, but kept its quietness from cloving by a dramatic and thrice repeated ascent from the bass of rapid chord successions. Then a moment of incisive but lofty music and a return to the original tranquillo before a sustained resolution and transition to silence. The third movement, allegro molto e marcato, was bright, even droll with its quaint Scandinavian second theme, which returned again and again before an impressive effort, a final recurrence of the main theme, and a finale in the grand manner.

"A year or so ago, the makers of OLD GOLD ran some ads on the disturbing effect of coughing in theatres. As an actor, I was grateful for those ads. I am more grateful now that OLD GOLD has invited stage folk to help them bring 'first aid' information to our unhappy friends the 'theatre-coughers.'

Fraternity Formal and Union Party Ushers Out Social Season

Society's most brilliant term, the season of formal parties, is being brought to a close this week-end with the Phi Delta party, the last of the formal parties. Several open houses as well as a Union party are on the social calendar also, that are not so formal as the formal parties.

The main ballroom of the Hotel Michigan will be the scene of the Phi Delta party on Saturday night. The dinner will commence at 6:30 and between 8 and 9 p.m. dancing will be enjoyed in the ballroom. Bob Cruetz's "Cotton Pickers" of Detroit, who made such a big hit last week-end at the Sophomore Prom, will furnish the music for the party. The patrons for the evening are Col. and Mrs. E. R. Rich, Prof. and Mrs. C. S. Dunford, Capt. and Mrs. R. H. Chase and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chase. Clever favors bearing seal of the fraternity will be presented the night during the evening.

The Alpha Gamma Deltas entertained Tuesday afternoon and evening at the home of Miss Julie Riser, their national inspector, who has been their hostess during the past week. The Pan-Hellenic council were the guests at the Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Leota Leota presided at the tea table which was lovely with a low bowl of daisies and pale yellow tapers. Dainty refreshments were served the guests in the afternoon. In the evening, President and Mrs. Robert S. Shaw and Mrs. Elizabeth Conrad were dinner guests of the sorority.

The man-less Co-ed Prom comes in its share of glory, too, for many unique and clever costumes have been planned which will make the party more than a success. Stunts will be given by each sorority, while later in the evening dancing will be enjoyed in the ballroom furnished by Hod Draper's orchestra.

The "Vagabonds" are the orchestra engaged to furnish the music for the Alpha Gamma Rho open house on Sunday evening. The patrons for the party are Prof. and Mrs. J. A. Ramanam, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Crist and Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Bradford. A large number of alumni are expected to return for the Delphi party Saturday night. Captain and Mrs. C. Larson, Prof. and Mrs. H. J. Goss and Prof. and Mrs. L. C. Plant are patrons for the party.

The Trinitas are also holding an open house this week-end. Rober's orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing while Prof. and Mrs. Harry Publow, Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Goss and Prof. and Mrs. L. C. Emmons are patrons. Prof. and Mrs. M. M. Cory will be patrons for the party.

Gentlemen:

The tobacco samples you sent me have been received, and they are great. If you can picture in your mind the happiness of a traveling man in a small town on a rainy night, not a friend in a hundred miles, nothing to do and no place to go.

That was the position I was in when your samples of Edgeworth came. It was like a voice from above when I opened the package and got the old Edgeworth.

I have smoked various brands of tobacco for the past fifteen years, but never in my life have I found a tobacco at any price that will equal Edgeworth. It does not bite the tongue, and a beautiful aroma follows with the good old friend pipe and a can of Edgeworth you can dream of the rainbow's end.

Please count me in the future as an Edgeworth booster.

MICHIGAN STATE BASEBALL NINE PLANS ANNUAL SOUTHERN TRIP

Seven Games Booked to Test Kobs' Men; Squad of 20 to Leave March 30.

With the completion of arrangements for the annual southern baseball trip, Coach John Kobs is rapidly rounding his 1929 nine into shape, taking advantage of the spring weather with daily practices held out-of-doors. The team will leave for the south on Saturday, March 30th.

Seven games have been scheduled for the Spartans on their trip into the south-land. The State squad will meet its first opponent at Lebanon, Tenn., April 1. The next day the two teams will again cross bats. Wednesday, the Kobs' men will go to Nashville, Tenn., where they will play two games with the Vanderbilt university nine. Journeying north again the Spartans will play the St. Xavier college at Cincinnati, Ohio, on Saturday, April 6. Dayton university, Rayton, Ohio, will enter the invaders, in the final series of the Michigan State training trip, in two games on Monday and Tuesday, April 8 and 9. The team will return to the campus following the final game.

Last year the Green and White nine had a disastrous southern trip, losing four and winning two. Having to take his team south without having sufficient out-of-door practice, Coach Kobs was at a great disadvantage.

This year the Spartan coach has been favored with two weeks of weather that permitted outside practice for the ball tossers. Plenty of batting practice, long pitching try-outs, and infield practice have featured the daily work-outs. Thus the State nine is already rounding into fine condition for their annual trek southward.

Although nothing definite has been decided as to the players who will constitute the squad for the trip, there are many speculations offered by the fans who watch the practices. About 20 players will make up the traveling aggregation.

Coach Kobs has a large number of veterans out for the team this year besides the cream of the 1928 all-fresh nine. Headed by Capt. Marvin Eggert, the infielders have the edge on veterans who are back. "Slats" Macier, first baseman; Watkins, second bagger; McCauley, short stop, are making determined bids for their old positions while Knisel, fast third baseman of the 1928 team, and Maure, a sophomore candidate for second, are others who are showing good form.

Led by Jerry Byrne, veteran dependable right hander, a large number of hurlers have been trying out for the pitching post. Langdon, Kahl, Fox, Brown, all sophomores, and Bullock, a veteran, are showing the best form in the pitching role. Receivers are numerous also this year with Hayden and Davis, veterans, and Barnard and Byrne, sophomores, reporting for practice.

Sachs and Weed, veteran outfielders, and Chubb, a sophomore, are leading the candidates for the fly-chasing post. From this group of promising material Coach Kobs will select his squad who will accompany him on the southern trip. Hard-hitting, fast fielding, and plenty of capable substitutes is expected to feature the 1929 baseball team.

TRIP FOR TRACK TEAM CANCELLED

Nearness of Exams and Sickness Forces Young to Refuse U. of W. Va. Invitation.

Because of the nearness of examinations, Harold McAtee's leg injury and Bill Kroil's call home on account of sickness, Coach Ralph Young was unable to accept the invitation extended by Harry Stansbury, director of athletics at the University of West Virginia, to attend the relays to be held at Morgantown, W. Va., Saturday. It was planned to take McAtee for the pole vault and a medley relay team. Last Saturday at the Illinois relays, the Spartan vaulter went to 13 feet 4 inches, but he landed in such a way after his last jump as to pull a muscle. His coaches believed that he was not in condition to compete Saturday.

Bill Kroil's call to Detroit because of sickness, broke up the medley relay squad as it was planned to use him at the quarter mile position. His loss would have been keenly felt as he is a fast stepper at his favorite distance.

STATE MATMEN TO DEFEND TITLE IN MICH. A. A. U. TILT

With a Michigan A. A. U. championship of two years' standing to defend, Coach Glen Ricks is sparing no effort to put his matmen in top form for the annual tilts. This year the wrestlers will meet at Flint, March 30.

With Michigan in the ring boasting of an overwhelming victory over the Green and White during mid-season, the outlook is a bit dubious for the State squad. However, the Ricks-coached team has shown a lot of improvement during the last few weeks, and is bound to make a good showing.

The men who have qualified to compete in the A. A. U. meet are:

TO BEGIN SPRING FOOTBALL APR. 8

Fundamentals and New Plays for Next Fall to Be Stressed.

Preparation for the 1929 Michigan State football season will begin on April 8th when the four week's spring training season will open, according to Coach Harry G. Kipke. About 50 men are expected to report for the initial practice.

The Spartan grid coach will attempt to find linemen to replace the six forward wall men who will be lost by graduation this June. Plenty of backfield material is available according to present indications.

It is planned to hold practices daily in which Coach Kipke will stress fundamentals besides spending considerable time on new plays to be used next fall. Thoroughly familiar with his material this year, Kipke hopes to make more headway than last season.

With the graduation of Capt. Hornbeck and Anderson, ends, Hittches and Mueller, guards, Christenson, tackle, and Crabill, center, it will be necessary for the Spartan coach to form his 1929 line around Smead, center; Dill, guard; Joslyn and Ferrari, tackles, and Foye and possibly Langer, ends. Considerable all-fresh linemen from last fall are expected to report for the spring workouts.

With only one backfield man graduating, Kipke a half-back there will be a large number of veterans back for the ball-carrying job. Available ball-tossers who will probably report are Capt. ## STATE TANKMEN RECEIVE AWARDS

Two Men Awarded Varsity Letters; Four Varsity Records Broken by Mermen.

Two major and seven minor letters were awarded to members of the Michigan State 1929 swimming team, according to an announcement made today by the athletic department. Paul F. Freeland, a senior of Amena, and Horace Craig, a sophomore of Detroit, were the swimmers who received the major awards.

The following received minor sports sweaters: Captain Alvin G. Ellinger, John Raskas, and Ray C. Schaubel, all of Grand Rapids; Edward Cook, St. Louis; Charles G. Schied, Kalamazoo; Arthur Smith and John Tate of Detroit. Service sweaters were given to Earl H. Bjornseth, Park Ridge, Ill., and Elton H. Moore of Rochester, N. Y. At a meeting of the letter-winners, Edward "Red" Cook was elected captain of the 1930 swimming team.

Considering the difficulties encountered by this year's squad, the first since 1927, the Spartans enjoyed a successful season. The mermen engaged in six meets, winning three and losing the same number. Two of the defeats were administered by the University of Michigan and Northwestern university, two of the strongest teams in the country. Credit is due Coach Frank Hoercher who developed a formidable squad although he was forced to send out his call for candidates more than two months late.

Four varsity records were broken by the 1929 matmen. The 240 yard free style relay, composed of Tate, Schaubel, Ellinger, and Craig, reduced the old record of 2:16.4 to 2:11.9. Paul Freeland set a new mark of 2:42.1 in the 220 yard free style event. Horace Craig splashed through the 150 yards back stroke in a new record of 1:55.4, and the 180 yard medley mark was lowered to 1:58 flat. The members of this relay were Craig, Smith, and Ellinger.

The nucleus of the 1930 squad will be made up of Captain-elect "Red" Cook and Charles Scheid, juniors. Horace Craig, John Tate, Ray Schaubel, and Arthur Smith, sophomores.

The Sunday night service will consist entirely of singing by the chorus choir and quartet, as the usual film and sermon will be omitted.

STUDENT TRIES OUT EFFECTS OF POISONS ON STOMACH

Seattle, Wash. (AP)—and U. of Wash. Daily)—Rows and rows of bottles containing poison surround Waite Rising, pharmacy graduate in the University of Washington. Called "Post-mortem" by his fellow students, Rising is studying the effects of different poisons on the human body after it has been embalmed.

Each bottle contains a poison and a small piece of stomach. With these he is making a quantitative analysis to determine how much of the poison is destroyed by the preservatives.

The results, it is said, will be invaluable in court evidence in cases of suspected poisoning when it is necessary to hold a post-mortem examination of the body.
