Thousands Hail Castro In Havana

Cheers, Clapping Greet Rebel Hero

HAVANA (UPI)—Joyous Havana gave a tumultuous welcome Thursday to Fidel Castro, bearded conquering hero of the Cuban revolution.

The 32-year-old warrior entered the capital just a week ago the day his 26th of July movement toppled the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista.

A steady beat of clapping hands accompanied deep-throated hails from thousands. Two boats in the harbor fired 21-gun salutes.

In a last-minute surprise move, Castro left his motorcade approaching the capital from east and landed by helicopter in an eastern suburb. Word that he was coming spread like wildfire and Havana residents poured into the streets.

The shouting rose to a great roar as Castro was spotted near army headquarters in the hot area of Havana preceding daily in an open vehicle.

He was surrounded by armored cars, tanks and other vehicles. Militiamen circulated along the route on broad Macarena, skirting the Gulf of Mexico in an attempt to keep some sort of order.

But the drive was so jammed with happy Cubans it was almost impossible to move.

Bells rang incessantly, ringing with the steady roar of the people on foot. Immense military bands in their uniforms poured out martial music.

Many in the crowd displayed red and black banners that bore the symbols of the revolution.

Castro's warriors smiled broadly as they waved their flags at the crowd, and posed for pictures.

Confetti rained upon the rebel soldiers. Among the shouts were "Long live free Cuba!" "Long live Castro!" "Death to the Reactionaries!"

The motorcade picked up a bit speed as it got past the port of Havana.

For many of Castro's soldiers this was their first visit to the glittering metropolis. They waved proudly at their well-wishers, obviously enjoying the bunting welcome.

As he arrived, a motley assortment of soldiers, militia and guerrilla fighters were lined up in many parts of the capital ready for the triumphant march.

Practically all business in Havana came to a standstill as confederation leaders told workers to turn out en masse for the welcoming ceremony.

Summer Job Opening List Out Monday

Catalog listing summer job opportunities will be available today at the Placement Bureau in the Student Services Building. Jack Shingleton, assistant director of placement, announced Thursday.

The catalog will be available through the balance of the year with continuous releases to the requests for applications received.

Candidates may check out these opportunities by depositing their SS cards with the student employment receptionist. There will be openings available for men primarily camp and work both in and out of Michigan.

Information concerning job placement, industry and general business is also available, though to a more limited degree than the camps and resorts. Application forms for employment are also available. Many employers will be interviewing at the Placement Bureau for summer employment in the near future, as it is important for students to know the bureau's weekly schedule of interviews, Shingleton said.

MARY MARTIN will perform her famous flying sequence from "Peter Pan" during tonight's appearance at the Aud. Included in her performance will be popular and folk song selections which she has recorded and sung on Broadway.

Guest Entertainer 'Amazed' by MSU

By JOHN MARTINEN

"Utterly amazing—This is the biggest place there ever was!" So Mary Martin, star of this evening's "Mary Martin Show" comments on her first impression of MSU.

A few minutes for this evening's 8:15 performance are available at the Union Ticket Office.

Mary Martin made her stage debut in the musical "Leave It To Me," now a star of her own show, she includes her debut showstopper, "My Heart Belongs To Daddy" when the curtains rise in moments from her musical successes.

"I'm thrilled," she exclaimed when reminded of being recently chosen as one of the best-dressed ladies in the world by the New York Dress Institute.

This best-dressed star shows a new wardrobe especially created for the tour by her long-time designer, Mainwaring.

The Mill appearance is the first since the Christmas holida-

The opening concert of the music department for 1959 is a piano recital by Joseph Evans, assisted by James Niblock, violinist. The concert will be given in the Music Aud at 4 p.m. Sunday. Evans was heard most recently with the university symphony orchestra in a performance of the Liszt "E-flat Concerto," and his solo recital is of special interest, since it is his first local piano performance since his Sabbatical stay in Vienna last year. Niblock is well known as a composer and performer in the Faculty Chamber Orchestra and Faculty String Quartet.

For the company which is touring 82 cities, program changes have been made.

The wide-acclaimed "Peter Pan" number, in which Miss Martin is down across the stage, is now included by popular demand. Peter Fox, who since 1954 has supervised all of Miss Martin's appearances on the wires, reports that accidents are nearly impossible.

"I Enjoy Being a Girl" is included on the program. Miss Martin's personality and actions lead one to believe that she has found the mythical fountain of youth.

Bubbling with enthusiasm, her favorite expression, "Oh—I like it!" reflects her happy outlook on life.

Miss Martin as the star of the show is assisted by a 20-piece orchestra under the direction of John Lesko, Brazilian guitarist, Luiz Bonfa, and Dick Sanders, French dancer and choreographer.

Richard Halliday, Miss Martin's husband, assists as personal manager.

Reds Force Chinese Into Commune Plan

China, long a dormant nation of simple wants, and often smiling people, now has little to smile about.

Reason: Communist domination.

Result: Organization into what the Reds call communes, perhaps the most inhuman form of existence ever forced upon a nation, as those who have escaped describe it.

The commune is the communist answer to a high production goal. Since China is ever faced with the problem of feeding its growing population, and in addition must send many of its products to Russia, the solution was only available in higher production.

The family groups in China usually were able to produce only at subsistence level or a bit higher. To the Reds this was not satisfactory. Communist brains under Mao Tse Tong met and decided this alternative:

1—Villages, the traditional form of community life in China, were done away with.

2—Families also were broken up.

3—No personal property was to be held by any person.

4—All persons were organized into communes.

As the people were moved out of their villages, everything was burned behind them. All family possessions were turned over to the communists. Persons were allowed to keep nothing but the clothes on their backs. Husbands were taken from wives, children from their mothers. Everyone moved into long, rectangular, aluminum barracks, men, women and children all segregated. Then began the hideous experience of day-to-day existence.

All workers were organized into specialized groups for their daily tasks. Older people and children took on lighter jobs such as preparing food and mending clothing, the younger men and women were assigned work in the fields or on construction projects. The working day begins at 4:30, ends when dark interrupts. Food is distributed in 15 minute periods three times a day. Maximum pay for heavy forced labor is $1.20 a month.

Realizing the need to keep population numbers at a reasonable rate, the communists allow husbands and wives privacy for 15 minutes every two weeks. Extra contact with the other sex is punished.

The Reds state that they now have 26,000 communes throughout China, encompassing 99 percent of the population.

They also state production figures twice that of last year, as a direct result of the new system. The Red leaders have described the new commune system as the "most perfect communist state in existence today." They measure their production in terms of numbers: buildings completed, tons of grain harvested, pounds of iron produced.

The amount of human suffering has not been calibrated. Deprived of their families, wives and homes, the Chinese people must be extremely unhappy. Some are forced to work as much as 21 hours a day. For this they get nothing.

But maybe the Chinese people have a solution of their own to this problem. They are in revolt.

Tibet and Manchuria, other areas of Red oppression, have been fighting for the past five years, according to a Chinese nationalist source. 600,000 Tibetans are in the battle now, according to the source, with 100,000 killed. The Reds have lost 500,000 during this period. The revolt, spread to what the Nationalists call an "overall revolution," has now caught on in China itself. Five provinces are fighting the communists near the northern areas adjacent to Tibet and Manchuria. Perhaps they will free their fellows.

Fourth Full-Time Staffer

MSU-O Appoints Registrar

Robert S. Stouterburg, Jr., has joined the Michigan State University-Oakland staff as registrar and director of admissions.

The appointment, approved by the State Board of Agriculture, became effective Jan. 1 at the new southeastern Michigan school.

Stouterburg is the fourth full-time member of the growth MSU-O staff. He joins Roy Alexander, director of student affairs; George Karas, director of physical plant, and Dr. Lowell Rindfuss, head of continuing education activities.

He is delighted Stouterburg accepted this appointment. Dr. B. Varner, vice president for off-campus educational services for the past two years, has done an outstanding job of administration as executive officer of the MSU advisory group. Prior to that time, he was an assistant in the registrars office and head of the MSU admission office.

Before joining the MSU staff in 1948, he was a navigator in the U.S. Air Force, 1941-45. He also served as an accountant with Kmett and Ernst Public Accountants, 1947-48.

A native of Detroit, Stouterburg received his B.A. degree in 1947 at Michigan State. He was awarded an M.A. degree at MSU in 1953.

Dr. William J. Malone, an associate professor of veterinary pathologist, Dec. 18, 1956, to join the staff of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

Leaves of Absence:

Donald L. Eppelmann, county extension agent in Oceana Township, Ionia County, from Jan. 3, 1959, to March 24, 1960, to complete an M.S. degree in extension education at MSU.

Donald R. Morris, extension specialist in home management, effective Jan. 1, to March 31, 1960, to do advance study at MSU.

Transfers:

Jean E. Williams, county extension agent in consumer marketing information, Lansing, to extension information specialist in genetics in the department of information services effective Jan. 1. She will replace Rosalyn Thornton who resigned.

Elaine M. Haaske, from district extension agent in Lansing to county extension agent in community services in Livingston County effective Jan. 1. She has served as marketing agent in the Midland district since 1957.

Carl Charon Named Most Valuable Freshman

Carl Charon, a bruising fullback from Bay City, was elected the most valuable freshman football player by his teammates.

Playing for the Green squad, Charon led the team to three victories over the Whites last fall with his hard running and bone-crushing blocking.

CHUCK RICHARD

If Michigan State's basketball players like variety in their work, it could be a disappointing season.

Coach Farley Anderson expects to see nothing but a zone defense after the unkind treatment given them in the Spartans first two Big Ten encounters.

State will again run into a zone against Illinois Saturday when it travels to Champaign for an afternoon clash.

Indiana started the whole thing by using a 2-3 zone to come close to upsetting the Spartans. The Spartans barely escaped, 79-77. They tasted defeat two days later at the hands of Iowa, 80-68, a team which also used the zone when it witnessed the success of the Hoosiers.

"We figure to face a zone all year," Anderson said almost nonchalantly after sending the squad through a lengthy work-out against a zone.

"I think they (State's opponents) believe the zone was the thing that helped Iowa and Indiana," he said. "Actually a zone is just as easy to beat as a man-to-man defense, but we were just tired from all our traveling."

The Spartans were acclaimed as the best team in the Dixie Classic by some observers despite losing out in the final.

But the five games in eight days took a physical toll on the team which was noticeable in both Big Ten games.

"We're rested now and will be at full strength for the game," Anderson insisted.

Hornace Walker's ankle is still sore, but he'll be alright.

Our last few practices looked real sharp.

Facing a zone isn't State's only problem. Illinois is co-leader in the conference race with a 2-0 slate and boasts a fine trio of players in Roger Taylor, Mannie Jackson, and Guyone Vaughn.

Another thing going against the Spartans, if you consider means anything, is the fact they have been victorious once on the Illinois home floor.

While it is true that State has beaten two of its main teams in the conference, it remains to be seen if the material is good enough in the country on a zone defense.

The big edge the Spartans are provided by one of best rebounders in the country in John Green and Jim Walker.

Against men up to 6'6", taller, this pair has been largely responsible for the Spartans remarkable edge in about 241 for their opponents.

The Spartans' tight man defense is also one of best in the conference, despite the two-game loss at the Dixie Classic. Before the Carolina State visit, 12 points to hang State with first setback; no team had ever lost over 58 points.

Gymnasts Host Double-Dual Meet Saturday

Michigan State's NCAA champion gymnastics team ends 1958 dual meet season at 1pm Saturday, meeting Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin in double-dual contest at Jenison Fieldhouse.

The Spartans have contests in two meets this season, Midwest Open and the State Gymnastics Clinic. These are both individual testing meets rather than all-out team competitions.

Commenting on last weekend's meet, Assistant Coach Gale Mykles said, "We are not as good as the score indicates (54 points to 45, 44 and 42), but we should have a good season if more come through.

Returning stars from the 1958 team which tied Illinois for the national crown include state parallel bars champ Ted McNamee, high bar expert Stan Becker, and all-arounder

3 Sophomores to Start Against Indiana Saturday

A youthful Michigan State wrestling squad, with three sophomores in starting roles, hosts a veteran Indiana team Saturday at 3 p.m. in Jenison Fieldhouse, in the first dual meet of the season for both.

Sophomores Bill Guaraldo, Norm Young and Duane Whisler have earned the right to man weight divisions for Coach

Fendley Collins. Young (136) and Whisler (147) posted championships in last Saturday's quadrigle meet which State won. Guaraldo (137) took a consolation prize.

Modine Blasts Swim Marks

Frank Modine chopped eight tenths of a second off the National Collegiate record for the 200-yard breaststroke and Michigan State swimmers rolled over Iowa State, 73-23, at Jenson Pool Thursday night.

Modine was timed at 2:08.3, which bettered the Big 10 record, 2:08 held by G. Hopkins of Michigan. This also establishes the 200-yard dual meet and varsity records as well as topping Michigan's NCAA record last year.

With the exception of the 50 yard freestyle, the Spartans had a monopoly on first and second places. In this particular event Iowa's Jerry Petkus and Jim Rezz topped Larry Jones and Bruce Netzer. Petkus' time was 23.5.

Michigan relay team was fast at 3:58.4. Al Cavan came in with a stroke leg and pulled away from Iowa's man in his own leg.

Bill Stewart had no trouble with the 200-yard freestyle finish at 1:57.7.

Bob Thomas passed up Art Bissell in the 200-yard butterfly while in the 200-yard breaststroke Al Cavan swam his race in a third place.

Captain Don Patterson took the 100-yard freestyle with little difficulty in 51. Dennis Baker one in second with a time of 53.2 to leave Petkus in third place.

The 100-yard freestyle went to Bruce Neffell.

Tom Ingel, Larry Pontius, Gary Jones, and Bruce Netzer made up the winning team in the 400-yard freestyle relay. They won the event in 3:32.3. Other swimmers went in Jerry Daubach with 100 points and ended to Tony Kaufman with 55 points.

January the tankers will attend the fourth annual Big 10 Meet to be held in Ann Arbor on Jan. 26.

Indiana, Ohio State, Iowa State, Western Ontario, Toronto, Kenosha, MSU and Michigan will participate.

Icers See Rough Set In Gophers

The strongest Michigan State hockey team in history faces the Golden Gophers of Minnesota at Minneapolis tonight and Saturday night in what promises to be one of the toughest series of the year.

Coach Alvin "Bud" Johnson's Gophers have won their last six games and won a seven and one record compared with the Gophers who have dropped one out of six contests.

Overheading the Spartan attack will be Captain Joe Polano, one of the team's leading scorers, with 18 goals and five assists. With Polano on the forward line will be seniors Dick Hamilton, Bill MacKenzie and Fred Parsons.

Senior goaltender Joe Relling has compiled a 2.2 goals-against average and should give State the edge in the next State will be sending one of its strongest defenses in the nation against Minnesota in Bob Norman, Ed Powell, Bob Armstrong and Elwood Miller. Both Norman and Elwood Miller were selected to join the all-tournament team in the Eastern tourna-
