Questionnaire Planned Future Committee Studies Problems University Faces

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two articles explaining the question and topics being considered by the Committee on the Future of the University.

By NELDA TROUT
 State News Night Editor

Do not worry about the mistakes of the past, but for the future," Dale Hathaway, chairman for the committee on the Future of the University, said summarizing the committee's responsibilities.

The idea for the committee was first made public Jan. 16 when President John A. Hannah announced to the assembly in his "State of the University" address that he had appointed a faculty committee patterned after the College Planning Committee of 1944.

"I intend to appoint some of the best and ablest members of the faculty," Dr. Hannah said.

"I do not seem to know very little about the committee's only reaction that appeared were complaints that professors were not available during term for consultations had planned.

"I carry out the research on the future of the university must have men who are nationally recognized for research qualities," Hathaway said.

"Students should realize that, while they cannot directly from the study, the results will be most important for brothers, sisters and children," he said.

"Years ago Stanford completed a similar study only with undergraduate education, according to my. Other slightly different studies have been done at Wisconsin and Minnesota, he said.

The committee is made up of the following faculty members: Arthur Adams, associate professor of history; Williams, professor of economics; Pearl Aldrich, professor of institutional administration; Richard Byvrum, professor of chemistry;

Richard Chapin, associate professor, library; John Cray, associate professor of advertising; Paul Drossel, professional services; John Hanson, associate professor, foundations of education;

Wayne, professor of agricultural economics; John professor of marketing and transportation administration; H. H. Kimber, professor of humanities; E. M. associate professor of civil engineering;

Paul Melby, distinguished professor of education; Paul MSU vice-president and professor of continuing education; Beatrice Moore, associate professor, counseling and Charles Whitehair, professor of veterinary medicine.

Wayne Weidner, professor of political science, replaces Adams during his leave of absence.

"There is no student representative on the committee. Committee membership is a full-time job," Hathaway said. "We ask that students wanting to express their views send letters to members of the committee, recognizing we are planning a questionnaire for random student sampling."

"I would not expect the questionnaire to favor ROTC, Yes or No. We want changes for all problems the questionnaire covers."

Hathaway could not say what issues will be included in the questionnaire. "While the same number of letters have been received in the paper on dress regulations and ROTC, we do not know, in the long run, the two are equally important."

The most important can be covered in this questionnaire," he added.

Hathaway asked the general age of the committee members, which he said that results of time spent by committee members will be part of their careers and they will be the obligation to live with the plan.

The pros and cons of required ROTC get their first formal treatment on a campus-wide scale Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Music Aud when AUSG and the Forensics Union sponsor a public debate.

The topic reads: "Resolved: That ROTC at MSU should be compulsory rather than voluntary."

Moderated by Prof. Russell Nye, head of the English department, the debate will feature Dr. Charles Peitry, associate professor of speech, and Wesley Hackett, Lake Odessa junior, advanced AFROTC cadet, speaking in favor of the compulsory program.

Students With Scholarships Must Reapply

More than 2,600 MSU students are involved in the undergraduate scholarship program—many of whom must reapply despite an incorrect article in the State News Tuesday.

All students who are now on Superior Student or Human scholarships as well as all other doing scholarships must reapply for scholarship consideration for next year.

Students presently receiving MSI Entrance (tuition), Junior College, or I-H scholarships do not need to reapply for next year. These scholarships will automatically be continued if the minimum academic qualifications have been met.

Recipients of these awards who have a serious financial problem may apply for any additional cash awards available for next year, even though they need not reapply for their original scholarship.

Applications for scholarships on the undergraduate level, which must be reapplied for are now available in the scholarship office, 202 Student Services.

Those interested in applying for scholarship assistance for the next academic year, 1959-60, are advised to make application before the deadline, May 15.

Based on Old Oxford University Ceremony Traditional May Morning Sing Scheduled Friday

One of the older traditions of Michigan State will be repeated Friday morning when the annual May Morning Sing will take place beneath Beaumont Tower.

On May 1, 1928, a May Day Festival sponsored by the music department was held for the first time on campus. The Girls' and Men's Glee Clubs and the choir gathered before campus for a program of music by Beaumont Tower.

May Morning sing actually dates back to 1505 and a ceremony at Oxford University in England.

The Magdalen Tower which was begun in 1492, at the university was completed in 1504, and the dedication ceremony was so successful that it was repeated year after year.

King Henry VII had contributed heavily not only to the tower but to Magdalen College. For this reason the ceremony later moved to May 1, took on the aspect of a memorial to this distinguished patron.

Through the 18th century this program consisted of secular music. Toward the end of the century, on a rainy day, the proceedings moved inside the tower and the custom was adopted of singing the College Grace, a sacred 17th century hymn.

This hymn is still sung every May 1, at 6 a.m., by a choir of young boys. Dancing in the street below and noise events on the nearby river follow.

The MSU May Morning program was later taken over by the senior and sophomore women's honoraries, Mortar Board and Tower Guard.

The main theme of the tradition has changed from a music festival to the tapping of new members by these honoraries.

Friday's program will include, for the first time, a brass ensemble. Under the direction of Byron Aubrey, of the music department, the ensemble will combine with Wendell Westcott, clarinetist, for "The Heavens Declare the Glory of God."

The Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Edward Richmond, will sing Grieg's "Brothers Sing On," "With a Voice of Singing" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Dr. Thomas Hamilton, MSU vice-president in charge of academic affairs, will emcee the program.

Members of Mortar Board and Tower Guard will serenade living units Thursday evening after closing hours. Only those living units having a prospective Mortar Board or Tower Guard tappee will be serenaded.

The Kresge Art Center will be formally dedicated May 9 in a ceremony honoring the donors of the $1,500,000 building, according to Prof. Howard Church, head of the art department.

Seniors will swing into action for their "last fling" as tickets go on sale for the Senior Ball which will be held in the Old Hotel Ballroom, May 8, 9-12 p.m.

Tuesday's and Wednesday's sales will be open to seniors only so that they may have first opportunity to attend the ball which will be held in the Old Hotel Ballroom, May 8, 9-12 p.m.

Tickets for the dance are $2.50 and proper attire is designated as "dressy."

Reports Say Small Party On Coast

Heading Inland To Panama City

PANAMA (AP)—Army patrols Sunday ranged through the isolated San Blas Indian Reservation looking for a band of rebel invaders reported to have landed on Panama's Caribbean coast.

The government on edge for weeks over reports that an invasion was being organized in Cuba, announced that about 30 men, reportedly from outside the country, were said to have landed in Playa Colorado (San Blas) about 80 miles north-east of the capital.

The small party of about 30 men, including a 35-year-old named Hatten and disappeared island, the government was informed.

Cuba Indians reported the landing to the commandant of the San Blas Reservation.

The government announced that it had ordered the National Guard, Panamanian army and police force, previously was reported hunting for a suspicious-looking boat operating off the sparsely populated 50 miles peninsula. Manzanillo, 50 miles northwest of Panama, is the nearest populated center to the reported landing.

The U.S. Caribbean command headquarters in the Canal Zone has been taking increased security measures ever since Dr. La Guardia announced April 15 that an invasion was being planned in Cuba by "mercenaries and foreigners" in the pay of Panamanians.

The government said Premier Fidel Castro's Cuban government had offered to help prevent an invasion.

The La Guardia's government has been jittery over a possible attempt to overthrow it ever since April 4 when a band of about 17 students raided an arms store and escaped into a mountainous area about 200 miles west of the capital.

Report Cites Increases in Juvenile Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reporting a sharp increase in ignorable and delinquent behavior in the public schools, investigators said Sunday they are working on legislation to help cope with the problem.

They "have been subjected to juvenile deprecations, and in previous general sessions a Senate judiciary committee on juvenile delinquency said in a report to Congress that evidence in an investigation last of the New York City school, where it said juvenile delinquency included rape, assault, extortion, but it declared the problem is nationwide.

educational system in areas is being overwhelmed by the "masses of students," the report said, "and portions of students are being lured to crime and delinquency by predatory, psychotic and psychotic children.

Since the time between quarters was too short for calculations, 262 warning letters were issued to students who had two F's and a D or who were lacking 25 honor points.

During winter quarter 292 students dropped out. This figure is in line with the number of dropouts during winter terms for the last eight years.

Students entering the University for the first time this spring quarter totaled 314.

Readmitted for spring term after being off campus a term or more were 239 students. This figure includes students attending another university for a term as well as students asked to withdraw for a specified period of time.

This far in spring quarter only 29 students have dropped out.

Chief Enrollment Officer Fink said that despite the fact that the Basic College withdraws students from the University, the main function of the college's office is "to help people through school."

Edward Phillips, accounting major, has been awarded a Ford Foundation pre-doctoral fellowship.

Phillips, who currently holds a B.S. degree in economics, might here two years. He has a leave from his duties as instructor to enter MSU as a pre-doctoral student for a two-year period.

'Special Education Week' Starts Today

Even though a child is crippled by cerebral palsy or heart disease, he still has the same basic needs and desires as the normal child. He wants to be recognized as a person, to be respected and become as self-reliant as possible.

To recruit more teachers for handicapped children, Special Education Week is observing "Special Education Week" this week on campus.

Most with an elementary school training certificate are urged to choose one of the six areas of special education in which to concentrate their activities.

Special education majors who choose the blind and partially sighted as their area learn and the techniques for teaching braille. They learn how to teach a blind child to live in a sighted world with independence, confidence and enjoyment.

Speech reading, sometimes called lip reading, is the special field which studies those who are deaf or hard of hearing to work and play in the world of the hearing. Majors who choose this area learn the methods of teaching these children to adjust to their disabilities.

Teachers of the crippled or handicapped children who have cerebral palsy, epilepsy, muscular dystrophy or heart disease must have special medical insight before they can begin to tackle the classroom problems presented by these handicaps. Subject matter must be adapted to fit the physical limitations which children's handicaps impose.

Whether a special education major chooses to teach the blind, the deaf or the crippled, his job requires patience, insight and a great knowledge of child development. He will face a new challenge every day. With each challenge will come the satisfaction of helping someone lead a happier, finer life.

Statistics Announced In Basics

The Basic College withdrew 206 students at the end of winter term, according to Russell Fink, chief enrollment officer, Basic College.

After personal consultation, 211 were reinstated. Ninety-five students who had obtained junior status without an all-university 2.0 were asked to withdraw.

Since the time between quarters was too short for calculations, 262 warning letters were issued to students who had two F's and a D or who were lacking 25 honor points.

EVER THINK ABOUT SELLING LIFE INSURANCE?

COY G. EKLUND, 39

Most of the 105 members of our Agency never had considered it prior to visiting us. Yet the 40 who have been with us more than 7 years averaged $112 in monthly income last year. Five men who came with us as salesmen are now Equitable Agency Managers. None had previous Life Insurance experience. Most of them had no previous selling experience, either.

And we are very proud of them. They were carefully and scientifically selected. They were skillfully trained by our staff of 11 Assistant Managers. They were adequately financed during their learning years. And they are backed with nation-wide magazine and TV advertising. The Equitable Life Insurance Society, celebrating its 100th Anniversary this year, is the world's 5th largest corporation.

We are told that our Detroit Agency is the 3rd largest-producing Life Insurance organization in America. Our 1958 production totaled almost $60 million dollars.

If you're willing to work and eager to grow in a professional career with no limitation to income and plenty of management opportunities, we would be glad to meet you and explore your possibilities in a solid life-time endeavor.

We're a "going concern" and we're growing. We're prepared to make the necessary investment in high-caliber, ambitious men who are eager to achieve success in a professional enterprise devoted to serving people!

If you are interested in our Detroit organization we will be available on May 7, 9-5 p.m. at the Placement Bureau, Student Services Bldg.

QUESTION:
Can I enjoy my contact lenses and engage in sports as well?

ANSWER:
Yes! More than likely contact lenses will enable you to compete in some sports where you are now unable to do so with glasses. There is obvious superiority of contact lens wearing for such sports as football, basketball, baseball, and hockey etc.

QUESTION:
I need and wear bifocals now but am interested in contact lenses. Can I be fitted for them?

ANSWER:
By all means. Bifocal contact lenses are now being made and fitted throughout the country. Consult your contact lens practitioner for more information.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Bob Cerv's inside-the park homer with two on base in the third inning provided the margin Sunday as the Kansas City Athletics handed the Detroit Tigers their 12th defeat, 4-3.

The home run was Cerv's 44th of the season and his second, third-inning, three-run round-tripper in consecutive games against Detroit.

Bob Grim picked up the victory, his third against one loss, but not without trouble. A double play batted him out with the

'Old and New' Shine In NAAU Gym Meet

Two Spartan gymnasts—one too "young" and one too "old" for Coach George Szypula to use on his squad this season—sparkled in the National AAU meet Friday and Saturday at Amherst, Mass.

Freshman Steve Johnston finished third on the trampoline, ranking ahead of such successful varsity men as Michigan's Dick Kimball. But it was a Michigan freshman, Ron Munn, who won the event to give promise to next year's crop of Wolverine gymnasts.

Frank Hailand, who made his collegiate name with the University of Illinois as NCAA tumbling champion, was third in tumbling, fifth on trampoline and seventh in free exercise. He is presently an assistant Spartan coach and is working on his master's degree.

DUFFY TALKS OVER strategy with his players at Saturday drills. The Spartans ran their second full-scale scrimmage of the season at the stadium.

Martin Has Backing
Duffy's Fullback Woes Are No More

Spring football practice is just two weeks old and Daugherty has his fullback problem already solved.

That fact was made clear after Saturday's full-scale scrimmage which saw a Green team composed of first and second stringers score six touchdowns to one by a White team of third and fourth stringers.

Going into spring drills Daugherty was concerned about the knee of Blanche Martin injured last spring. But two scrimmages have dispelled those fears.

The two scrimmages have also shown that four other fullbacks on the roster are more than adequate replacements for Martin.

Five of the Green TD's were scored by fullbacks with Carl Charon scoring three, Martin and Park Baker each scored one. Halfback Gary Ballman, a sophomore, rambled for the marker.

John Sharp, a Flint sophomore, scored the White TD in the scrimmage on a pass from Leroy Loudermilk. The covered 50 yards.

Martin plunged for the TD after he and Herb Adair toted the ball from the Green yard line.

Charon replaced Martin, scored from the 15, one of the last scores being the spectacular. The Boyne fullback took a short pass from Larry Blesat and rambled the end zone. A key block thrown by Paul Rochester.

Baker plunged from the 40 for his TD after runs of 12, 15, five yards. Ballman scored the three.

Dannie Ane, running with Whites, had two long runs, one for 50 yards. He punned good yardage, also.

Spartan Nine Takes Two Of Three From Wolves

The Spartans took two of their three games with the University of Michigan this weekend in their 1959 Big 10 baseball season.

The Kobsmen eked out a victory in Friday's single at Ann Arbor and won 7-12 in the top half Saturday's home twin bill. Wolves gained revenge, however, by coping an exciting thriller in the nightcap.

The two weekend victories and one defeat put the Spartans in second place in the Big 10 standings behind the University of Minnesota and Illinois who swept their opening series.

Capt. Dick "Moose" Radatz went all the way in Friday's contest, holding the Wolverines to only six hits. He staved off a ninth inning rally after one run had come home by striking out the last two men with the tying run on third base.

Radatz added his own cause in the ninth inning when he doubled first sacker Bill Schuchman home from second with what proved to be the winning run.

Centerfielder Al Luplow, second baseman Dean Look, and Jerry Lumlanski, who had just returned to the line-up at third base, led the Spartan hit parade.

Fifty-five total bases, 29 runs, and 33 hits highlighted the wild opener of Saturday's double-header at Old College Field.

Mickey Sinks, who has been the Spartans' No. 2 hurler so far this season, was chased in the third inning after getting only one man out.

He allowed five runs and 10 hits.

Bob Raulas came on to put out the fire, but it took Don Sackett, who has seen limited action this season to halt the Wolverine attack. Sackett gave up only two runs and three hits in the final four frames.

Two Spartans, Luplow and first baseman Bill Schuchman, blasted drives over the right-field fence.

Sackett got credit for the victory, the second game, scheduled to go only seven innings, went the full nine frames as Craig lost a 2-1 heartbreaker.

Van Sciever allowed only six hits in the game, but two fielding miscues in the ninth by centerfielder Johnny Russell allowed the winning run to come home.

Jerry Lumlanski clinched a fine series by getting two of the Spartans' six hits.

The Kobsmen threatened with two men out in the ninth when Sinks, playing first for the first time this season, doubled. Right-hander Bob Marcereau of the Wolves stifled the budding rally when he forced Pat Sartorius, pinch hitting for Van Sciever, to ground out.

The Spartans will be on the road for four games this week, but return to face Wisconsin on Friday, May 8 at Old College Field.

Track Team Finishes Second at Drake Relays

Michigan State's distance relay team came up with their second place finish Saturday in the 50th annual Drake relay held at Des Moines, Iowa.

At week at the Ohio State track, the team composed of Jim Castle, Jim Carr, Fordy Medy and Bob Lake lost by one-tenth of a second to Notre Dame. Their time at Columbus was 16:02.3.

However, this week, with Don Marsh replacing Carr in the one-quarter mile leg of the event, the team covered the distance in 9:58 while losing to a strong Stanford quartet.

In the 400, Willie Atterbury, who is scholastically ineligible, placed third behind world record holder Glenn Davis of Ohio State and Purdue's freshman sensation Dave Mills.

Meanwhile, at the Michigan Open track meet in Ann Arbor Saturday Zach Ford set 100 and 220 yard dash records with times of 9.8 and 21.1 seconds respectively. The records were not allowed, however, because of a strong wind.

Next Saturday the team will face Wisconsin at Ralph Young Field in the undermen's only home meet of the season.

Baseball Team Ties First With GMU

Michigan State's sailing team tied in a tie for first place in the 30th annual Drake regatta held at Des Moines, Iowa.

General Motors Institute placed first in the regatta, followed by the Ohio State team. Michigan State finished with 46 points, but because it possessed more second finishes than MSU, the trophy was awarded to the Flint team.

Other teams participating in the Michigan Afterguards, De- Institute of Technology, JC and Baldwin Wallace.

Steve Miller, medalist for the Michigan State team, won 2 1/2 points from Bruce Ann Forester, who shot an 80 in the sixth match. Captain's pairing number two, won three points from Fred Osborne, and Smith, in the fifth position, took three from Al Martin.

Miller, Caplan, Smith and Baldwin all swept their matches against Central Michigan. Brown took two points against Carl Munson.

Netters' Late Rally Edges OSU

Trailing 4-2 going into the doubles division, the MSU tennis team put on a spirited rally Saturday to top all three doubles matches and edge Ohio State 5-4 in their opening conference meet at Columbus.

Roger Plagenhoef and Ron Mescall were the heroes for the Spartan netters. They were the only double winners for State in the exciting meet whose outcome remained in doubt until the final match of the afternoon.

Plagenhoef, a sophomore, was competing in his first Big 10 tennis match and came through in the tight spots to enable State to register its narrow margin of victory.

Mescall formed the other half of the doubles team combination that provided the impetus for three straight doubles victories. He, along with Plagenhoef, made up the doubles duo that started the Spartans' delayed rally.

Plagenhoef had lost four of six doubles matches, the only one being Mescall's and Plagenhoef's.

The No. 1 singles were won by Larry Biederman of Ohio State. He defeated Bill Hertz, 6-3, 6-1. Chuck Cary of OSU continued the Broncos' domination by defeating Doug Smith, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3. DeWay Nason captured the state title over the Pines Hoffman, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4 in the No. 3 spot.

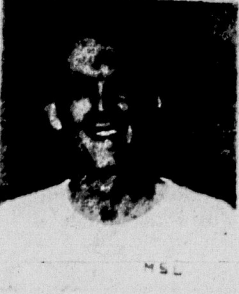

Plagenhoef then turned the tide temporarily when he beat Jake Schlosser, 6-7, 10-8 in the

No. 4 position. Jack Archer shoved MSU further in the hole, however, as he edged Bob Sarsak, 6-3, 6-4.

Mescall then turned in his singles triumph, defeating Hal Cunningham, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1 in the No. 6 slot.

The doubles teams of Hutchins-Smith, Hoffman-Sarsak and Mescall-Plagenhoef swept through their opposition to provide the close margin of victory.

Tuesday finds the team traveling to Detroit to take on a non-conference opponent, Wayne State.

Beginning today, WMSB-TV will present a series every Monday on the "Exceptional Child" at 11:30 a.m. according to Bob Rowland, traffic and continuity director of WMSB.

The program's aim is to correct the public's misconceptions concerning the capabilities, needs and desires of the exceptional child.

The children appearing on the series actually have the problems being demonstrated. They vary from the gifted to the mentally or physically handicapped child. The way their problems are met and solved is demonstrated by filmed case studies in typical environmental situations.

The 15-week series was produced by Syracuse University for the National Educational Television and Radio Center.
