Vote Edge

Strauss Wins Senate Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nomination of Lewis Strauss as Secretary of Commerce squeaked through the Senate Commerce Committee Tuesday on a 9-8 vote.

The fight against him, which President Eisenhower has called "the greatest issue of the year," was a close one. Strauss' unrelenting foe, Sen. John Anderson (D-N.M.), made his case in these words:

Inflation Warnings In House

10 Cent Dollar, Veto Threaten

WASHINGTON (AP)—Warnings of inflation, a 10-cent dollar and a presidential veto were sounded Tuesday as the House plunged into its annual battle over new housing legislation.

Final voting will not begin until today. Debate over a big $2,100,000,000 Democratic-backed housing measure got under way with the Eisenhower administration coming out in favor of a $1,300,000,000 substitute sponsored by a southern Democrat, Rep. A. S. Herlong of Florida.

Defeat of the Herlong substitute was predicted by Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), who lined up his big Democratic majority behind the bill drafted by Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.) and approved by the House Banking Committee.

"I think we'll vote down the Herlong substitute and then go ahead with the committee bill," Rayburn told newsmen.

One result of this choice between two bills could be no housing legislation at all. This possibility was conceded by Rayburn when he called for immediate defeat of Herlong's proposals.

Under existing parliamentary procedure, the House could wind up in the position of having to accept or reject the committee program without change. In that event, which seems entirely probable, it is expected the house would vote to kill the bill or send it back to committee for a fresh start.

The Federal Housing Administrator, Norman Mason, came out in favor of Herlong's limited housing program, just before the bill was called up after weeks of delay occasioned by rules committee refusal to permit the bill to come to the floor.

Apparently abandoning hope of winning House approval of Eisenhower's original $1,600,000,000 program, Mason said Herlong's proposals provided for adequate housing and slum elimination programs without excessive cost to the taxpayer.

Without quoting the President, Brown said he was convinced that if passed the bill "will not become law."

Peckman Given Restaurant Award
Zoe Peckman, Penn. senior, was given the Fred Simonson award for the outstanding restaurant student of the year, Tuesday night.

Soviet Dashes West's Hopes in Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union Tuesday dashed Western hopes for a quick breakthrough through big three agreement on limitation of nuclear weapons.

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko refused to commit his government to a proposal of the U. S. and Britain for a broad study of the technical problems involved in any such agreement.

However, the three atomic powers agreed to keep in contact. Secretary of State Christian A. Smith and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd presented a joint study of a midday meeting in Geneva's villa.

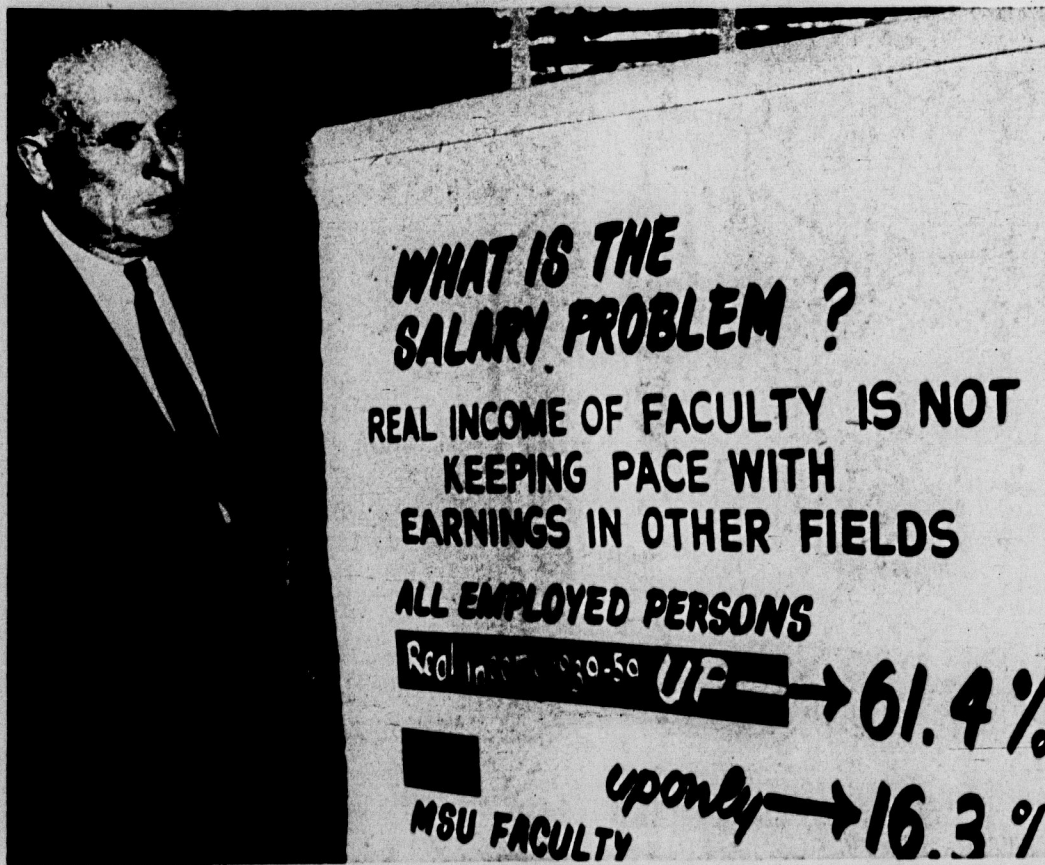

The Westerners wanted an investigation of the problems of high altitude and underground atomic and hydrogen bomb explosions. They also sought the establishment of a neutral standards of judgment as to when an on-site inspection of a suspicious installation would be warranted.

Gromyko endorsed only one part of the proposal—the part dealing with blasts of high altitude. This was in line with the views taken by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in recent letters to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Dallas' Condition Bad, Death May Come Soon
WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was reported Tuesday to be growing still weaker in his struggle against cancer and pneumonia, but not to have fallen into a coma.

Members of the family are in frequent attendance. His friends think death is near.

PRESIDENT JOHN A. HANNAH takes a look at the grim facts which he and Vice President Philip May say have put Michigan State University in a precarious academic predicament. Although given top priority by the Board of Trustees, the university's governing board, faculty salaries have not, as these charts show, kept pace with pay scales across the country.

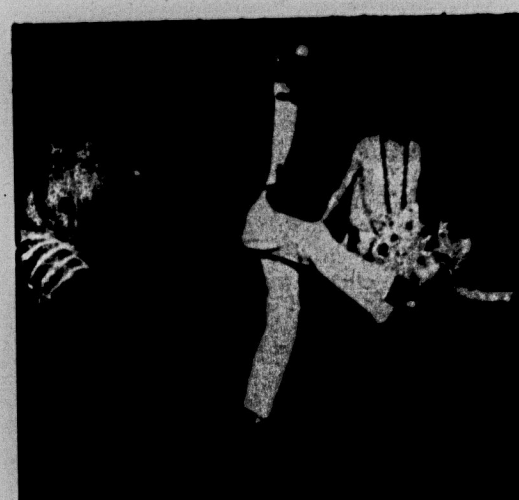

MSU Salaries 'Outdated' May Blames Appropriations

By DICK WARD
Real income in the United States has increased 61.4 percent in the past 20 years, while the salaries of MSU faculty have gone up only 16.3 percent.

This is due to a lack of appropriations from the state, according to Philip May, vice president for business and finance.

In addition to low faculty salaries, this lack of funds has brought about many other things, May said.

The administration has had to eliminate 90 positions on the staff and on the faculty, including some technical positions," he said.

BECKY HABEL, Don Randall and Bonnie Blaser kick up a Charleston storm, warming up for the Orpheus, Promenaders, HPER department and dance production classes' program tonight and Thursday, "To Dance is to Live." The 50 cent affair is at 8:15 in the Women's IM building. The program will include cha cha, modern and jazz numbers.

Foreign Students Find Socializing 'Hard' Abbot Coeds Comprise Miniature UN

Entering the basement of Abbot Hall is like going to a miniature meeting of the United Nations.

Coeds from nine foreign countries make their home there. Latin American, European and Asian countries are represented.

There is no feeling of individualism. Kristi Kokolaki, junior from Athens, Greece, complained of the lack of spiritual life and intellectual environment. Discussion groups on intellectual topics would help this situation, she said.

The coeds agreed that they found acceptance equal with others on campus. They found it difficult, however, to maintain social contacts, they said.

These students, although from backgrounds that differ greatly, find their closest friends tend to be other foreign students.

The coeds agree that this closeness is shared because of their similar situations far away from home.

Foreign student organizations are of some help in meeting people but they said studies, being difficult for them, take much of their time.

Although she said she was homesick, Miss Kokolaki indicated that she likes MSU and thought all the girls there would share her opinion. She said she wouldn't want to live anywhere else in the United States or go to any other school.

Hoffa Warns Of Nationwide Labor Strike

If Congress Enacts Use Of Union Antitrust Laws

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—James Hoffa Tuesday threatened a nationwide strike of all labor if Congress harnesses unions with antitrust laws.

"They talk about a secondary boycott," the short, husky teamster chief said in scorn.

"We can call a primary strike all across the nation that will straighten out the employers for once and for all."

The antitrust proposal came from Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) in a recent Senate speech, Hoffa said. Some business interests have proposed that all unions be put under antitrust laws.

The 300 delegates to the South Atlantic and Gulf Coast district convention of the Longshoremen's Union (ILA) cheered wildly when Hoffa threatened severe reprisals if an antitrust law is passed.

"The only answer is that if such a law passes, we should have all our contracts ended on a given date," the turbulent teamster chief declared.

From the context of his talk it was plain he referred to all unions, not just the teamsters.

Such a uniform contract expiration would permit all unionized workers to strike at the same time.

In Washington, Sen. Pat McClellan (D-Mich.) himself a one-time Detroit union official said any such strike "would be suicidal, just crazy."

"I think Hoffa has more sense than to do that," the Senator told a reporter. "I note he is quoted as saying he can't call a strike, but not as saying that he will do it."

Hoffa told a reporter after the speech: "They are trying to divide us so we can't win a fight. If their object is to divide us so we can't win a fight, and if this legislation passes and we're tied up, we'll have to have our contracts with a common termination date," he told the reporter.

Hoffa said the aim of the antitrust proposal is to prevent nationwide unions. But union workers must affiliate somewhere, he said.

This he declared to the Longshoremen would require "the Longshoremen to take in part of the Teamsters, the Teamster to take in some of the steelworkers, and the steelworkers to take in some of the auto workers."

The Versailles Treaty, signed June 28, 1919, stripped Germany of hundreds of square miles of border territory and all its colonies, and provided for heavy reparations. The terms have been blamed for the rise of Hitler, who repudiated the treaty and reparations agreements after gaining power in 1934.

Couve De Murville delivered a 30-minute condemnation of the Soviet plan in hard-hitting French.

"Such a treaty would do nothing to solve the problem of Germany facing us," he said. "It would do one thing only: set the Four Powers' seal on the division of Germany."

Gromyko retorted coldly that the Western Peace Plan for a phased reunification of Germany would permit unlimited German rearmament. He said: "It's slogan is, Germans go ahead and arm. This is not 1945 but 1959."

This was a session of words and not deeds. Neither East nor West budged an inch during the three-hour, 22-minute session on the pivotal problems before the conference—the future of Germany and Berlin. The second session of the second week of the Geneva parley pushed the opposing sides into a tighter deadlock.

Mrs. Truman's Tumor Pronounced Benign
KANSAS CITY (AP)—The breast tumor removed from Mrs. Harry Truman was benign, research hospital announced Tuesday.

The 74-year-old wife of the former president underwent a two-hour and 45-minute operation Monday.

Evidence accumulated Tuesday that Michigan would meet its Thursday payroll to 24,000 state employees without difficulty.

State Treasurer Sanford Brown said about $18,500,000 in tax receipts would be credited to the General Fund balance today and Thursday morning, augmenting a net of $1,100,000 on hand late Tuesday.

First priority claim against the total available General Fund resources of $17,600,000 would be $5,900,000 due out to complete the May 13 primary school interest fund obligation to Wayne and Washtenaw counties.

Unless the state administrative board should change the existing priority set up at the last minute, the $5,100,000 state payroll obligation would have second claim.

Brown's projection tended to substantiate his guess Monday that there might be enough cash on hand late in the week to pay a chunk of past due appropriations to the three major state universities.

A payment totaling $4,700,000 against arrearages of nearly $9 million dollars would carry the University of Michigan, MSU and Wayne State University action Monday.

Baseball Bleachers Source of Danger

DISASTER RESULTED last Sunday when a section of bleachers collapsed at a rodeo in Kansas. The casualty list included one dead and more than 150 injured, 22 hospitalized. In 1946, a section of bleachers collapsed at Purdue University's fieldhouse, killing two and hospitalizing 112. Both disasters were blamed on the fact that the entire crowd was on its feet at the time.

FROM 1916 UNTIL last winter, the National Anthem was banned at MSU basketball games in Jenison Fieldhouse because officials feared that the mass standing might result in another tragedy. The anthem was restored after questioning by the student body, the State News and AUSA. This was done only after officials voiced full confidence on the safety of the bleachers.

It was stated at the time that the stands were inspected regularly, and that men roved under the bleachers during basketball games to make sure that no boards were loose. All this concern has been shown for the bleachers in Jenison Fieldhouse, but not a word has been spoken about the condition of the bleachers outside at the baseball field. THE PORTABLE sections of the bleachers there were slapped together at the beginning of the season, and apparently left to rot.

By mid-May, these bleachers contain many marks of wear, and are risky to sit upon, not only because of the numerous splinters, but also because of the condition. The bleachers are old, they are wobbly, and they have many, many loose boards. One spectator, attempting to walk up to one of the top rows of a portable section during the MSU-Notre Dame baseball game, happened to step on the wrong board—it was a loose one that had become unbinged, and immediately that plank wavered like a giant see-saw.

IT WAS JUST LUCKY for the student that he was athletically inclined enough to break his fall as he slid through the stands. It was just luck that this loose board happened to be only about six feet from the ground instead of near the top, where it is about 15 feet from the ground. And it was just luck that nobody was sitting on this particular board—because such a simple step would have sent an innocent spectator flying through the air.

The bleachers in Jenison Fieldhouse aren't the only ones which the university should be concerned about. Because of weather conditions, the outdoor bleachers are much more vulnerable to decay. Boards warp in the rain and wind; the boards become insecure in their hinges when they warp.

It would be a sad plight for the university if someone were critically injured, or if a gigantic collapse occurred because of the negligence of inspections. After all, the lives of human spectators are just as valuable, whether it be at a basketball game in Jenison or a baseball game.

"I Don't Know How I Happened To Get Bottled Up In The First Place"

MSU Project Reaches Millions Extension May Affect You

When most students think of the Cooperative Extension Service, it usually is in some vague sort of way.

Little in these students realize that there is a good chance that their families are affected either directly or indirectly by this service every day. And any student knows that what affects the family almost always affects him.

With 40 county offices scattered throughout every town and village of Michigan, the office of the MSU project spreads to millions of people each day.

For instance, a Detroit man wants to know how to revive his aging lawn. An Upper Peninsula man has a problem with his boat and a Grand Rapids woman may be having a divorce problem.

Because it is not all run by people in the Cooperative Extension Service.

The extension project reaches into the area of the student economy. These areas are:

1. Amateurism: This has to do with principally the parents of
2. Family Living: Home Economics is directly tied up with this division in which extension agents attempt to help people learn how to manage their time, money and energy.
3. Youth: A large part of the emphasis in this field is given to the development of the state 4-H program. In this way training in great extension is given to the youth of Michigan.
4. Resource Development: This particular program is aimed at Michigan's natural and man-made resources. A majority for many portions of the state Extension people also help with problems of zoning and forest, fish and game management.
5. Extension: The use of pamphlets, the bulletin has available free of charge is spreading and the number is growing every day.

People from all walks of life consult these pamphlets in the hopes of solving some sort of problem or anxiety. Many of these people are the parents of MSU students.

This fact may account for the change in the method of canning your favorite kind of pickles that you now use.

Or it may even have an influence on the new type of child psychology used on your younger brother.

The particular effects of the extension's information and help can never be accurately measured.

The fact is increasingly clear, however, that the program is showing the name of MSU to many willing listeners. It is also clear that the number of listeners is increasing each day.

British Preps Far Superior

A leading English theologian, author of several books and at present visiting professor at MSU, says that the British education system is far superior to the American one.

Dr. John H. Thompson, who has been in the United States for several months, compares the British and American school systems. No one system can be said to be best; both turn out top-notch people.

The earlier years of education provides the difference. British children learn their concrete subjects such as math and languages at an earlier age than do Americans. British students do not marry while attending college.

Men receive their officers' training before they reach the university level. They serve two years between the ages of 18-20, and then go on to the University.

Proportionately, more Americans receive higher education than do British, comments the English theologian.

Dr. Whale is a visiting lecturer at MSU this term with the Humanities Department. He is conducting a course on the "Role of Christianity in the Modern World" to a group of graduates and scholastically selected undergraduates.

The professor also has planned a seminar series of informal lectures for faculty members as well as public speeches. Last month the theologian brought up to date the famous Dead Sea Scrolls. He told his audience at MSU of the scrolls' importance in helping people interpret the thoughts and writings of the early Christians.

Oxford and Glasgow educated, Dr. Whale has held different positions in England, including the presidency of Chestnut College, Cambridge. He was also preacher at the University of Cambridge.

Dr. Whale has written several books on Christianity. One of his later books is the "Protestant Tradition."

Russia Scores West

GENEVA (AP)— Andrei Gromyko appears to be exploiting French-West German mistrust of Britain's role in the Western diplomatic move to the Soviet Foreign Minister, trying deliberately to foster an impression that he has a special political relationship with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

The United States is reported as being that no understanding of any kind exist between London and Moscow.

But it is becoming increasingly evident, as a result of a continuing crossplay of leaks and gossip, that the French and West German delegations are not yet convinced.

French and West German officials appear resolved to insure that British concepts of flexible diplomacy do not become accepted features of the West's dealings with the Soviet Union.

Gromyko's gambit in this situation have embarrassed the British. One illustration.

Tuesday night Lloyd was then Russian's dinner guest. It is their fourth private meeting since the Geneva talks began 10 days ago.

This is not unusual of itself. But Gromyko has been Secretariat of State Christian Herter privately only once, and West German Foreign Minister Henrich Von Brentano once.

Tonight in Union Red Chinese Specialist Begins Lecture Series

A specialist on Communist China, Robert Burton of the American Universities Field Staff, opens a 10-day period of lectures, seminars and meetings on campus today.

A special discussion on Communist China at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Tower Room of the Union will be open to the public. Burton has traveled widely in China as a news correspondent, covering the civil war and political developments. He left China shortly before the Communist's seized Shanghai, traveled extensively through Asia and Europe and lectured on China in the U.S. under the auspices of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

He returned to Hong Kong in 1951 to serve on the staff of the American consulate general. From 1954 to 1956 he was a research consultant in Hong Kong to the Far Eastern and Russian Institute of the University of Washington.

In collaboration with a founder of the Chinese Communist Party who left the party in 1938, Burton wrote a two-volume history of the Chinese Communist party.

A graduate of Iowa Wesleyan College, Burton took advanced studies in Chinese history and language at Peking after wartime service as a Navy officer in the Pacific.

Those desiring to schedule Burton for a seminar or class may do so by calling Extension 3501.

The steel Bo-Vine III, made last year with society, Tuesday as he stood in front of Bersi Hall.

Bo-Vine is now resting before tomorrow's feature attraction MSU's annual Ox Roast. This year's Ox Roast, the seventh consecutive, is sponsored by Ag Clubs members and includes, in addition to the meal, a football game between one of the Ag Clubs and the Ag School.

A strong challenge was issued to the Ag Clubs in their invitation to the faculty. The faculty was charged with being "dated and old fashioned" to the Ag Clubs.

The Ox Roast and game will be held Thursday on the soccer field, south of the stadium.

Wolverine Interviews For Business Staff teachers from 24 high schools who will be attending the annual high school drama day.

The cast includes Lynda Miles, Woodmere, N.Y., freshman, as Amanda, the impoverished mother living on the memories of a flower-scented Southern past.

Sue Mills, Skokie, Ill., freshman, will be seen as Laura, the lame and retiring girl who cannot bear to mix with people, but whose heart cries out for affection and understanding, like the kind she lavishes on her collection of glass animals.

Tom, the restless son who Amanda fears will emulate his father and "fall in love with long distance," will be portrayed by John Herr, graduate student from Kalamazoo.

Completing the quartet of the drama's characters is Charles Cioffi, Long Island, N.Y., sophomore. In the role of the Gentleman Caller, he is the man who comes to dinner and tries to get Laura over her inferiority complex, but disappoints Amanda by already being engaged to be married.

The play was revived in New York in 1956 with Helen Hayes heading the cast.

Williams has won the New York Critics Award three times—for "Glass Menagerie," "Street Car Named Desire," and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." He had another triumphant opening in March of this year when his drama "Sweet Bird of Youth" was produced on Broadway.

Tickets for "Glass Menagerie" may be purchased at the Student Union boxoffice.

Dessert to Honor New Coed Dorm Officers

Newly elected women's residential hall officers will be honored at a dessert at 7 tonight in Armstrong's dining room at Brody.

Dr. Lincoln Pettit, assistant professor of natural science, will address the new officers. His topic will be the U.S.S.R. which he visited last year.

Women's Inter-residence council sponsors the dessert for the dorm officers to become better acquainted.

'Extremely Pleased' Army ROTC Performs For Federal Inspection

"Extremely pleased" was the report of the federal inspection team upon completion of its annual inspection of the Army ROTC cadet corps, Tuesday.

According to Capt. Simon, Army ROTC, the inspectors were very favorably impressed with the bearing and appearance of the cadet corps.

Members of the inspection team, sent by the Department of the Army, Washington, D.C., included Col. Edwin Greenleaf, professor of military science and tactics at Notre Dame, Lt. Col. W. H. Fowler, 6th Corps, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, Capt. Robert H. Barrus, and Capt. Marian Joyce.

During the day special recognition was accorded cadet James R. Dunn, Lansing Jr., and cadet Carl B. Eggleston, Spartan Village Jr., who received their wings indicating completion of the Army flight program.

Before the afternoon inspection parade a luncheon was held in the Red Cedar room of Kellogg Center honoring the visitors. Attending was Dean W. H. Combs, Dr. Harry Kimber, Dean John N. Winburne, Col. Dorsey Roney, James Demson, Col. Merton E. Munson, Cadet Brig. Gen. Reinhardt Schumann, Cadet Col. Loyal Edwin, and chief Army ROTC personnel.

Russian Language Interest Quintupled

Five times more MSU students are studying the Russian language this year than in 1953. This trend is the same in universities and colleges across the United States.

Dr. Nikolai Poltoratzky, asst. prof. of foreign languages, said in an interview, "Last year 15 students at MSU were taking Russian, and today there are 74. Last year there were 8,000 in the United States, and today there are 24,000."

Why the sudden interest? Poltoratzky said that he believes the reasons for this increase fall into three fields: scientific, political and humanitarian.

"Sputnik has shown the U.S. how advanced Russia is in technical fields," he pointed out. "Therefore our scientists are becoming more interested in Russian scientific thought. Next term MSU will offer a new course called Scientific Russian," he added.

"The U.S. government badly needs people trained in Russian," the former army language instructor said. He explained that this will encourage better mutual understanding in international relations.

"Russian artistic literature is among the greatest in the world," Poltoratzky asserted. "And Russian is a rich and beautiful language."

The majority of the MSU students taking Russian back his terms. Fifty percent are social science or political science majors, 38 percent are majoring in math or physical sciences, and 12 percent major in language or literature.

Poltoratzky, presently the only instructor of Russian at MSU, said, "Last year when the U.S. had 8,000 students studying Russian, Russia had 10,000,000 students studying English."

Two Sociology Profs Given Travel Grants

Professors Allan Beagle and William Form of the MSU department of sociology and anthropology, have been awarded National Science Foundation travel grants to attend the fourth annual meeting of the International Sociological Society Sept. 8-15 in Milan, Italy.

Beagle will read a paper titled "Social Components in the Decision to Migrate" at sociology. Form will address the industry sector.

Psych Prof Gets Argentine Award

Dr. Harold Anderson, professor of research in psychology at MSU, has been named an honorary member of the Argentine Psychological Association.

The recognition was accorded Dr. Anderson for his contributions to the profession and for his research which is aimed at a better understanding of human behavior in different cultures.

Along with the honor, he has been invited to prepare an address which will be presented to the Argentine association at a special meeting in Buenos Aires.

For the past four years, Anderson has been chairman of the committee on Inter-American cooperation and research.

NEW YORK (AP)—A few years ago a radio announcer asked a not-too-bright ballplayer, "Who's the best pitcher you ever faced?" "I don't remember the pitcher's name," was the reply, "but I hit a homer off him almost every time up. He was the best pitcher I ever faced."

That's the way it is with the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers, with the addition of Ray Narleski and Don Mossi from Cleveland, were figured to have a crack pitching staff. Now they are in last place in the American League and the other seven clubs are padding their home run totals at Detroit's expense.

The Tiger hurlers have given up most homers in the majors,

48. Jim Bunning, their right-handed fireballer, is the American League individual gopher ball leader with 12 followed by moundmate Paul Foytack with 11. The records are through Monday's games.

Bunning, who gave up 23 homers last season, has twice been victimized by Harmon Killebrew of Washington, the American League's newest bat sensation.

The National League gopher ball leader is Lew Burdette of Milwaukee with 12. He is followed by Brooks Lawrence of Cincinnati, Von McDaniel of St. Louis and Vern Law of Pittsburgh, each with nine.

Burdette allowed only 18 homers in 1954 when Johnny Antonelli of San Francisco led with 31. Antonelli has given up only three this year, two to Milwaukee's Hank Aaron.

Pedro Ramos of Washington, last season's American League leader with 33, has permitted six in 1955.

Free Grid Subs Voted By MIAA

Old Style Posts, PAT's Approved

KALAMAZOO (AP)—The Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn. will return to unlimited free substitution in conference football games this fall.

Both the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. and the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics said the decision did not conflict with association rules.

The MIAA is made up of eight small Michigan schools. Seven compete in football. They are Hope, Albion, Alma, Adrian, Hillsdale, Kalamazoo and Olivet. Alma, Hope, Kalamazoo and Albion are NCAA members. All but Hope and Albion are members of the NAIA.

Under the return to the two-platoon setup of several years ago, players may enter a game whenever and as many times as their coach wishes.

The league also voted to ignore two other rule changes that have been adopted by larger schools. It will continue scoring all conversions as one point as it did last year and it will continue using the 18 1/2 foot goalposts.

"Nothing in our actions should be interpreted as being anti-NCAA," said a league official. "We simply are adopting rule variations which we feel are best for our league."

Rules to be used in non-league games will be decided on in pre-game agreements with visiting teams.

In Kansas City, Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said association members are free to make exceptions to the organization's game rules.

6th Mishap of Month Indy Rookie Killed In Practice Crash

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Bob Cortner, a 32-year old mid-gear car veteran who never had raced a big Indianapolis-type car, was fatally injured Tuesday in a practice run crash at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

It was the sixth wreck this month at the old track in preliminary runs for the 43rd 500-mile race May 30 and the fourth involving a rookie driver. Cortner, of Redlands, Calif., suffered severe head injuries. He had completed his driver's test only Monday.

This is the first year that two men have been killed during practice at the speedway since 1937, when a mechanic and two spectators died.

Jerry Unser, 26, Lakewood, Calif., was injured fatally May 2, becoming the 49th victim of the 50-year-old racing plant. The other four drivers were hurt only slightly in their accidents.

Cortner was taken to Methodist Hospital, where a tracheotomy was performed to facilitate his breathing and transfusions were given to counteract internal bleeding. He was also placed in an iron lung.

Kobs Plan Alternating Of Hurlers

Two Ex-Catchers Scheduled to Start

By BEN BURNS

Michigan State's big team journeys today to Detroit to play the University of Detroit. Game time is 3:30 p.m. and the team is trying to avenge an earlier 7-5 defeat at the hands of the Titans.

The pitching chores are divided between Mickey Sinks and Craig Van Sciever. Ross and Don Kuroz may action later in the game.

It is unlikely that Capt. Radatz will see action, as most he might pitch one or two but Coach John Kobs would like to see him warmed for Friday's game against league leading Minnesota.

By dividing his pitchers Kobs says he has more material available for the weekend games.

The coach expressed his confidence in the new catchers, Don Muncie and Cartwright have been in the lineup since last week.

He is presently using three sometimes four catchers in a lineup.

Muncie, who has been in the third base, has shown steady improvement since he was there in last week's game at Notre Dame. Cartwright has been playing outfield and a potent bat against the Spartans.

Cartwright will continue in the outfield as an element for the next couple of games at least, Kobs said.

Kobs may start John Le in the center field slot in last week when Al Le signed with the Cleveland Indians for an estimated $20,000.

Kobs said, "We've got much choice of outfield since Laplow left."

Luplow was State's best batter with a .408 average his last game, against Notre Dame, he got two hits in a two-run homer.

The Spartans will carry an 18-12 season record in today's game. The Titans are 12-3 record.

The State team will be home tonight and face Michigan Friday and Iowa Saturday at Old College Field.

Volleyballer Slate Clinic

The MSU volleyball team which finished third place in National Collegiate championships recently, will sponsor a clinic Thursday at the MSU gymnasium.

The team will play an exhibition match with the Flint team.

During the clinic the team under the direction of Coach Dick Nelson, will demonstrate the fundamentals of individual and team play. Members also explain the basic rules of the game.

The clinic is being conducted for the benefit of the young planning to participate in the Flint junior Olympic volleyball program.

Netters Down Indiana, 6-3, In Regular Season's Finale

Big 10 Tourney Here Next

Spartans Finish With 7-5 Mark

In a final tuneup for the Big 10 championships here this weekend, the Spartan tennis team closed its regular season on a winning note Tuesday by defeating Indiana, 6-3.

The victory enabled the netters to end the regular season with a 7-5 record, bettering their 1958 mark of 3-5 in dual competition.

MSU took four of the six singles matches against the Hoosiers, as well as two of three doubles, to wrap up the win. For Indiana, it marked the end of a mediocre 11-12 season.

Bill Hotchkiss continued to run into stiff competition as he was defeated by Indiana's Mike Field in the No. 1 singles, 6-3, 6-4.

Foster Hoffman was the other Spartan singles loser. He was beaten by the Hoosiers' Harry Gamette, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 in the No. 2 spot.

Doug Smith won the No. 2 singles match from Jack Fitzpatrick, 6-0, 6-2. Roger Plagenhoef was victorious over Dean Dixon, 6-1, 6-1. Ron Mescoll beat Denny Lantz, 6-4, 8-2, and Dave Berles made his 1959 debut successful as he blanked Indiana's John Zike, 6-0, 6-0.

Berles, a sophomore from Grand Rapids, was making his first collegiate appearance in a state uniform. He replaced Bob Sassek, the regular No. 3 player, who was plagued by a sore arm. Sassek was able to compete in the doubles, however.

In doubles play, the Field-Dixon combo provided the only Indiana win. They won over Hotchkiss-Smith, 6-6, 8-6, 6-4.

The two State victories came about as the result of the play of the Hoffman-Sassek team and the Plagenhoef-Mescoll duo. They turned in 6-2, 6-4 and 6-2, 1-6, respectively. For Hoffman and Sassek, this was their last regular season meet. Both are graduating seniors.

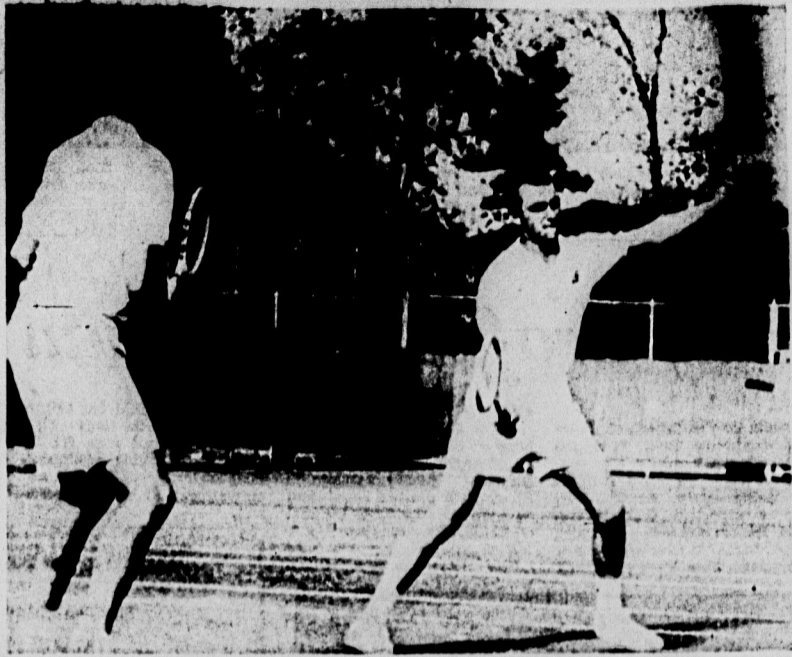

Indiana Coach Bill Landin announced that his team would stay in East Lansing until the start of the Big 10 championship rather than make the long trip back to Bloomington.

First round matches will begin Thursday morning at 10, with the singles division leading off. Doubles will follow the singles competition.

Friday will see semi-finals being played. Finals competition will commence at 1 p.m. Saturday, with the singles again being first.

This will be the first time that the championships have been held on the MSU campus and an elaborate setup is planned for the local courts south of the Stadium. Bleachers have been erected for the added convenience of spectators.

A $1 admission charge will be charged for each day, enabling the purchaser to see the whole day's proceedings on one ticket. Spectators may leave the courts and return on the same ticket. MSU students will be admitted for 50 cents.

DOUG SMITH (r) makes a return shot against Indiana Tuesday as doubles partner Bill Hotchkiss follows the play. After winning their first set, 6-0, the No. 1 Spartan duo dropped two straight to the Hoosiers, but State took the tennis match, 6-3.

Coed Fencer to Represent Michigan in Midwest Meet

When the top fencers in the Midwest compete for the district championship in the Men's International building Saturday and Sunday, Michigan will be represented by Judy Goodrich, Leapee sophomore, and no newcomer to the sport of fencing.

She first began fencing more than six years ago in Lapeer Junior high school. In high school she fenced for the Leapee fencing team, coached by an Egyptian (a nation famous for its fencers) participated in interscholastic meets all over the state.

Miss Goodrich lists as one of her chief reasons for coming to MSU, fencing Coach Chuck Schmitter. Schmitter's son, Chuck Jr., won the state epee championship and will be among the contestants in the Midwest meet.

She defeated Paula Sweentz of Detroit, the 1953 National Fencing Champion, to win the Michigan fencing title.

This weekend Miss Goodrich, Miss Sweentz, who finished third, Margaret Donashay of Detroit and Mary Sagahy, a student at MSU, will make up the Michigan team to the Midwest meet.

The Midwest finals includes both men's and women's fencing titles with entries from all the states in the district.

The top few fencers, actual number determined by the entries in the Midwest meet, will compete at the national meet.

Longden to Quit

CHICAGO (AP)—Johnny Longden, the world's winningest jockey, said Tuesday he'll probably retire from competitive riding at the end of this season.

Longden, 49, rode Fighting' Indian to victory Sunday in Baltimore's tri-state stakes at Washington Park. The win was Longden's 5,322nd, the most any jockey still active has ever achieved.

Bridges Bats in 3 Runs

Tigers Paste Yankees; Near AL Cellar Exit

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Bridges drove in three runs with a pair of singles Tuesday night as the Detroit Tigers bidding to escape the American League cellar, whipped the seventh-place New York Yankees, 6-3. The Tigers can swap places with the world champions by winning the finale of the two-game series today.

The Detroit, fifth in six games for the Yankees, was hung on southpaw Whitey Ford (3-3), who was chased in a four-run first inning. It was the first time Ford has been knocked out in the first inning in four years. The last time was April 27, 1955, in a 13-5 defeat at Chicago.

Detroit now has won five in a row from New York, three this season. And it was the second year the champs this year by pitcher Don Mossi, who has lost but allows two decisions.

Mossi gave up a dozen hits, three by Norm Siebern, while his mates managed just eight off Ford and relievers Art Ditmar and Tom Sturdivant. The Tigers were blanked without a hit after Bridges' two-run single in the fourth.

Detroit, now just .625 percent-age points behind New York, sent nine men to the plate in the first inning. Eddie Yost led off with a single and two walks loaded the bases with one out. Then a sacrifice fly by Gail Harris, singles by Bridges and Red Wilson and a double by Frank Bolling got the runs home as the Tigers won their third in a row from Ford since May 1, 1956.

The Yankee, who have had only three scoring innings in their last 31, counted twice in the second when Hank Bauer led off with a double—their only extra-base hit—and Siebern and Tony Kubek followed with singles. Mossi got out of that jam when Ditmar's strikeout was converted into a doubleplay and Clef's Boyer grounded out.

The other New York run came in the sixth, with the same three Yankees doing the damage. With two out, Bauer walked, then scored on singles by Siebern and Kubek.

NBA Requests Basilio To Box Fullmer for Title

WERTON, W. Va. (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. notified Carmen Basilio Tuesday it expects him to fight Gene Fullmer for the middleweight crown it has taken from Sugar Ray Robinson.

Basilio, here to referee a boxing bout, and his co-managers, John DeJohn and Joe Netto, received the notification in a telegram from the NBA.

"Expect you to meet Fullmer for the title. This is NBA position following withdrawal of Robinson as champion. Urge you to comply."

The telegram was signed by Tony Macaroni, vice president of NBA, and Tony Petronella, foreign coordinator of NBA.

The notice added to the mixed-up middleweight scene. The 39-year-old Robinson has agreed to fight Basilio for the title in Philadelphia Sept. 21. Basilio, however, has not signed to meet Robinson.

Festa to Captain Gymnastics Team

Angelo "Angie" Festa, senior all-around man, was named to captain the 1959-60 Spartan gymnastics team Tuesday night at the squad's annual banquet.

Carl Girard, outgoing captain and lone graduating member of the 1959 squad which finished fourth among the nation's colleges in the NCAA meet, was cited as the outstanding performer of the past season in a poll of teammates.

Soviet Catching U. S. In Education Field

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Soviet Union is catching up with the United States in the field of education at an astounding rate, Dr. Harlan Hatcher, University of Michigan President, declared Tuesday.

Ag Awards Distributed At Roundup

Spring Judging Selects Winners

Members of Block and Bridle and other students in the animal husbandry department were honored May 14 at the second annual Spring Roundup.

Phil Jones, Saranac senior, received the National Block and Bridle club merit trophy, an award presented annually to the outstanding senior of the Michigan chapter.

Marge Gunn, Midland junior, received the junior scholarship award of $100 from the Michigan Block and Bridle club.

The Hoof and Hook Award, for total score in both the meat and livestock judging contests went to Dick Delor, Matlowan sophomore.

In the senior meat judging contest Dick Delor won first place, Gordon Galloway, Pottstown, Pa., grad student, placed second and Dave Price, East Lansing senior, third.

Terry Glimm, Dearborn senior, took first place in the slaughter contest. Dave Price, East Lansing senior, was runner up.

Bill McLeod, Lake City sophomore, placed first in the overall livestock judging contest.

McLeod was high man in the presentation of oral reasons in the overall contest.

Patricia Kuenzli, East Lansing junior, placed first in the beef cattle judging contest.

McLeod won the sheep judging contest. Phil House placed second followed by Al Harwood.

George Gilbert, Manistee junior, won top honors in the swine judging contest followed by McLeod and Bernard Smith.

Travel Program Set for May 27

The annual Travel News Program, sponsored by Spartan Women's League, will be May 27 at 7 p.m. in 32 Union, not this evening as previously run in the State News.

All prospective travelers, foreign and U. S., are invited to attend and receive valuable travel hints on "How to be a Good-Will Ambassador Abroad." A panel of authorities on travel and general group discussion will be held to encourage audience participation.

Hatcher headed a U of M delegation meeting with Gov. Williams to plead for an increase in budget appropriations for next year.

Hatcher recently returned from a tour of Russia with a group of educators surveying progress there in fields of art and the humanities.

"The Soviet Union is willing to pay for education and is making education pay," Hatcher said. "Every one of us has to hammer away at the theme of staying ahead of them. I think perhaps we are becoming a little bit complacent."

Hatcher said he thought this nation's educational program should get the same high priority as national defense. He said there is a danger of damaging the university beyond repair.

"I hope this legislature will realize the desperate need for a high priority for education," he said.

The university was given a budget of $30,000,000 for the current fiscal year. It asked for $38,200,000 for the next fiscal year but the figure was trimmed to $34,200,000 by Gov. Williams and the budget division.

The current year's budget for the university was trimmed about one million dollars from the previous year.

Vice President Marvin Niehuss told the Governor he believed Michigan and Michigan State Universities were the only two major institutions in the country with budget cuts in the last 10 years.

The pressures of increased enrollments, a faculty shortage and the expanding fields of knowledge all make budget increases imperative, Niehuss said.

"The word has gone around the entire country that the Universities in Michigan are in financial difficulty," Niehuss said. "Job offers have been pouring in on our faculty people."

Niehuss said every teacher in the University's faculty department had been offered at least two jobs. So far, he said, a surprisingly small number have decided to leave.

"It is absolutely essential to have strong salary increases next year," he said. "Failure to make substantial progress will be disastrous."

"Something in the nature of a crusade is needed," commented Williams. "We should be ashamed to have to point to Russia for an example."

MSU Offers Highway Traffic Curriculum

The unprecedented increase in automobiles and the number of drivers in the past few years has helped to bring about another MSU first—a curriculum in Highway Traffic Administration.

The first and only curriculum of this type in the world it was created in 1956 within the School of Police Administration to answer the growing demand for better and safer ways to control the flood of the nation's traffic.

Bruce Madsen, now a grad student, took the courses leading to the degree before it was even offered. The curriculum was approved in 1956 and Madsen became the first to graduate in June 1957.

Since then three others have received their degrees in Highway Traffic Administration and seven students, five undergraduates and two in the master's program, are now enrolled in the course.

The new curriculum is designed to prepare students for career work in traffic safety councils, traffic commissions and traffic safety associations of states, cities, counties and metropolitan areas, Madsen, now a consultant to the Highway Traffic Center said.

In addition the increasing number of courses dealing with traffic problems has created a need for teachers with a broad background in the field.

Included in the Highway Traffic Administration student's curriculum is a wide diversity of courses including classes in political science, economics, general business, psychology, journalism, driver education, urban planning and police administration.

Bachelor's degree candidates must spend two terms of their senior year in field training to acquaint them with some of the problems in traffic administration and methods of coping with them.

Schultz of the School of Police Administration said. "Our lab is fieldwork."

This fieldwork takes students to traffic safety organizations, driver education organizations, and traffic divisions of police departments in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, New York and many smaller cities.

The field service training program also includes brief visits of observation and work in government traffic agencies in an effort to provide the student with an overall view of the field of traffic administration.

Most colleges already have "We have no labs," Glenn courses in the field but at present, MSU is the only place where a student may get the three E's of traffic administration, engineering, education and enforcement all in one curriculum.

MSU LEADS the field with a curriculum designed to relieve one of the nation's big problems—traffic jams. Students of the School of Police Administration's Highway Traffic Administration get on-the-job training in engineering automobiles down crowded streets during the campus 5 p.m. rush traffic.

Pershing Rifles Ties

The MSU Pershing Rifles tied for fourth place in a drill at Dayton, Ohio, last Saturday. Barry Billings, Owego, N.Y. junior, is their team commander. The drill team's next showing will be in the Lansing Centennial Parade Saturday.
