EACH NUGGED by a non-conference foe in last week's season opener and each rated by some grandstand quarterbacks as this week's favorite, intrastate rivals Michigan State and Michigan meet for the 52nd episode in their long gridiron rivalry Saturday at Ann Arbor's U of M stadium.

Game time is 1:30 p.m. with the traditional sellout crowd of 101,501 forecast, along with partly cloudy skies and temperatures in the high 60's.

MICHIGAN IS operating under new head Coach Chalmers "Bump" Elliot, who succeeded Bennie Oosterbaan after a dismal 1958 season.

The Spartan practice camp rocked with enthusiasm Thursday, as players and coaches worked to solve the problems—fumbling the most important—which cost them a 9-7 loss in the Texas A&M opener.

"Explode," encouraged Coach Duffy Daugherty, "and this will be a great team." But while the rest of the team exploded in alternate offensive and defensive drills, most eyes were following the progress of "doubtful starter" Dean Look.

Look, originally slated for No. 1 quarterbacking chores, hurt his right shoulder before the season began, missed the Aggie tilt and is still playing with a fiberglass pad over the sore spot. Dr. James Feurig, team physician, and Daugherty are reluctant to list him as a starter Saturday.

To Start or not to Start?

But Look took part in some blocking practice Thursday—with Duffy manning the dummy—for the first time since his mishap and ran the top offensive backfield of Gary Ballman, Herb Adderley and Blanche Martin most of the afternoon.

All this brought no word of pain from Look, and Trainer Gayle Robinson said he should have no further trouble unless the bad arm is jammed upward.

If Look plays, replacing junior QB Tom Wilson, he will have a new aerial target at right end, Sophomore Art Brandstatter, who doubles as a place kicker, was promoted to the starting berth Thursday, nudging Dave Northcross after the two had alternated in this week's practice.

Michigan, dropped by Missouri, 20-15, in the final seconds of play last week, found a new ray of sophomore hope in halfback Bennie McKee, who scored twice, once by nabbing a 44-yard Stan Noskin aerial and led the team in rushing.

Storms Hit New England, Texas

The remnants of storm Grace moved northward into New England Thursday spreading locally heavy rains that were accompanied by severe northeasterly winds. The most severe early autumn snowstorm since 1936 belabored the eastern rocks for the fourth day. In Texas, torrential rains caused overflow of a small water passenger train, flooded highways and sent streams out of their banks in the north and central sections of the state.

Singing Group Gives No Defense

CINCINNATI (AP)—Four male members of the Platters—an internationally known rock'n'roll singing group—elected to give no defense testimony Thursday at trial on charges growing out of a vice raid. Instead, defense attorney Edgar Short attacked the charges against the four and against the four teenage girls with whom they were arrested. The four men were charged with lewdness and assignation.

Residents Evacuated Oil Fire Follows In Tornado's Wake

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Still reeling from hurricane Grace's blows, Charleston settled down Thursday to wage a desperate battle with an oil company fire that threatened to spread to millions of gallons of gasoline and diesel fuel.

The fire erupted in a thunder-bolt explosion about 3 a.m. at the south edge of the city. Two million gallons of gasoline in a storage tank went up in a blazing sheet of flame, injuring nine and destroying three houses 200 yards away.

The city and county had suffered about $15 million dollars in damage from the hurricane Tuesday.

The towering fire raged out of control at the Esso Standard Oil Co. plant. Firefighters concentrated on trying to keep it from spreading to 31 other huge storage tanks.

We have the fire contained, but we've not controlled it," plant superintendent C. W. Matthews said hours after the explosion.

The biggest threat was to a tank of one million gallons of gasoline, linked by a vapor line to the burning tank. Also close to the flames were two tanks containing 4 million gallons of diesel fuel.

North Charleston fire chief Herman Pinner said the threatened tank of gasoline was getting about "everything we have," 18 streams of water to keep it cool.

Residents within a quarter of a mile were evacuated. Some attempts were made to smother the big fire by Air Force smoke-eaters in asbestos suits using foam. But major efforts were concentrated on keeping it from spreading.

Elephants Kill Seven Police

Seven policemen were killed by wild elephants.

It couldn't happen in the United States but it did in Vietnam," reports a police administration professor just back from four and a half years in the southeast Asia country.

Howard Hoyt, program director of law enforcement, was in charge of the police advisory unit in Vietnam until a few weeks ago.

The seven policemen, he explained, were patrolling the jungle to combat Communist guerrilla activity. Apparently, they disturbed normally peaceful elephants in some way.

The elephants attacked and the policemen climbed trees. But the elephants shook the trees with their trunks. The men fell to the ground and were trampled to death.

Steel Talks Start Again

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Union and industry negotiations, faced with possible government intervention soon, met in a new setting Thursday and took another stab at ending the 79-day-old steel strike.

Whether they make any progress wasn't known immediately as both sides remained close-mouthed while the talks continued.

This was the first bargaining session in Pittsburgh since the 1959 contract negotiations got under way May 3. New York had been the negotiating arena heretofore.

David Melmond, president of the striking United Steelworkers, and Conrad Cooper, chief spokesman for the basic steel industry, seemed in good spirits when they arrived for the meeting in a downtown hotel. They joked briefly with newsmen before settling down to business against the backdrop of some of the nation's largest steel mills.

White House pressure for a settlement and mounting economic effects of the strike lent an air of urgency to the latest round of peace efforts.

In addition to the half million striking steelworkers, close to 200,000 employes in other industries have been idled.

Union Board, presenting a booth complete with its own dance group, the U-Bettes, and a chorus of members, won first prize in Activities Carnival booth competition Thursday night.

As added features of the booth, Union Board raffled off two tennis sweaters and a record donated by local stores.

Placing second were the Promenaders, and third, the Landscape Architecture and Urban Planning Club, as 75 campus organizations competed for prizes while displaying their various assets to prospective members.

Arturo Maximal, the mythical musician and mascot of the 12th annual carnival, strolled from booth to booth along with crowds of students. All booths joined in the "Moosie Mit Max" theme of this year's carn.

The West Circle Drive Jazz Society provided music for the carnival along with the Cabarets and vocalist Pat French, Isvonia sophomore Terry Braverman, Muskegon senior, was emcee.

Dancing at U of M

For those students who are going to Ann Arbor for the MSU-U of M football game Saturday, and who are looking for social activity that night, the University of Michigan will sponsor two such activities.

The Football Dance will be held from 9-12 p.m. in the U of M Union ballroom. Admission charge is $1.50.

An MSU-U of M Mixer will be held in South Quadrangle starting at 9 p.m. Admission is free.

their folk song group, while others were asked to dance by the Promenaders.

Slides and movies were shown by many groups to give an idea of their activities. Gifts of cigarettes were passed out by the Veterans Association and mugs by the Floriculture Forum. Students were asked to participate in a primary election put on by the Young Republicans, results of which will be sent to their central office.

The American Veterinary Medical Assn. attracted many with their display of large animal skeletons, live mice and dogs. The Acrobats club put on a display with the trampoline while still others viewed the large galleon of the Sailing club or the Pershing rides of the Army ROTC.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers and Institute of Radio Engineers showed students how campus favorites, the Kingston Trio, would sound to their Ocullographs, and AUSG displayed photos of student government leaders to better acquaint new students with them.

Co-chairmen for Activities Carnival were Carol Nicholson, LeRoy, N.Y., junior and Hal Gurian, New York, N.Y., junior.

Area TV Slated For Iowa Game

CHICAGO (AP)—The football game between Iowa and MSU Oct. 10 will be televised on regional network in the seven states in the Big Ten area.

The announcement was made Thursday by Big Ten Commissioner K. L. Wilson.

The game will be played at Iowa City.

The telecast will be one of three regional TV showings of Big Ten games. The other telecasts will be on Oct. 31 and Nov. 14, with the games to be selected later.

The programs will be carried primarily by NBC network affiliates.

Atlantic, Gulf Coasts Affected

Labor Leaders Oppose Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—Settled over contract negotiations, dock workers handling ship cargoes on Atlantic and Gulf coasts struck Thursday despite pleas of the government and wishes of their leaders.

As a result, shipping on two-thirds of the American coastline was virtually brought to a standstill.

Hundreds of dry cargo vessels were tied up. Fuel tankers generally were exceptions because they were handled by other unions.

The strike meant further woes for a nation already suffering economic effects of a record strike by steelworkers.

There seemed to be no immediate chance to halt the new walkout by the Independent International Longshoremen's Assn., which was kicked out of the AFL-CIO years ago for alleged racketeer domination but was recently invited back to the fold.

Developments came fast. Among them:

1. Railroads halted movement of most freight to the two coasts to prevent huge pileups on unmanned piers. Excluded were a few items, such as military goods.

2. New York employers balked at attending a hastily called negotiation session set up by a federal mediator. The employers assailed the strike as illegal and angrily demanded that the union call it off.

3. These employers said they wouldn't do any more bargaining until the IILA leadership demonstrated it could control its men.

Members of Anthony (Lough Tony) Anastasia's Brooklyn dock workers local voted Thursday to go back to work today, but IILA President William Bradley said "We'll see about that. I'm still ordering the men to stay out."

He said he would have the piers picketed if the men returned to their jobs.

Bradley said union leaders would meet tomorrow morning and that all questions and problems are to be settled then.

New Students Invited To Kellogg Reception

One hundred eighty freshmen and transfer students have been invited to a Kellogg Center reception Sunday from 3:30-4:30 p.m. for new students in the school of hotel, restaurant and institutional management.

The affair, scheduled for the Centennial Room, will provide an opportunity for students and faculty to meet and mix on an informal basis. Married students are asked to bring their wives or husbands along. Almost all of the school's 18 faculty members will be present.

Take MSU Image Along

TRADITION OF ALL traditions—that's the annual "Michigan Weekend," which is highlighted by the MSU-U of M football game. All roads leading to Ann Arbor will be a steady ribbon of cars Saturday morning as spirited MSU students head for the battlefield.

MSU's rooting section will probably make just as much noise as the Wolverines' as the annual spectacle gets underway before 100,000 fans at Michigan Stadium.

It'll be a great day—and a great weekend—for the many Spartan followers who have planned a full schedule of activity.

There's no thing to take along when you make that trip to Ann Arbor: That's the Michigan State University "image."

Last year the Wolverine students traveled to MSU for the annual clash. And for the most part (except for a new coat of paint on Sparty), the U of M followers acted like mature college students.

THIS YEAR MSU students should take this mature manner with them to Ann Arbor. In the long run, each individual student's behavior will plant the "image" of MSU upon those at the University of Michigan.

How well we transfer this university "image" depends upon how well we act while we're there—win or lose.

The "Michigan Weekend" will provide many thrills for those who are lucky enough to attend—and we hope the Spartans will bring back to MSU their first Big 10 football victory since 1958.

The University of Michigan students will be doing their part as "hosts" for the weekend. As listed on page one of today's State News, there will be a Football Dance and a MSU-U of M Mixer as well as open houses at the various sororities and fraternities after the game Saturday.

THE FOOTBALL DANCE will be from 9-12 p.m. Saturday night in the U of M Union Ballroom. A $1.50 fee will be charged. The MSU-U of M Mixer, with free admission, will be held at South Quadrangle starting at 9 p.m.

And of course, if MSU students get to the Ann Arbor campus today, the University of Michigan students have extended the invitation to attend a gigantic pep rally!

It'll be a fine day of fun and football, trying foolish stunts, and let's hope that Remember that university "image" before we'll have no unpleasant after-effects following the weekend.

U. S. Emblem House Asks Florists For Favorite Posy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The florists of America Thursday began trying to solve a thorny problem that has been before Congress, off and on, for 40 years.

During the month of October, in 11,000 florists' shops all over the country, flower lovers will be asked this question: Which posy should be our national floral emblem?

A ballot has been prepared by the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Assn. listing these 20 choices, in alphabetical order:

Black-eyed Susan, Camellia, Carnation, Chrysanthemum, Corn Tassel, Daffodil, Geranium, Gladiolus, Goldenrod, Grass (this nomination was made by a dyed-in-the-rind grass man, Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky), Lily of the Valley, Magnolia, Marigold, Mountain Laurel, Orchid, Peony, Rhododendron, Rose, Shasta Daisy, Tulip.

Even before the balloting began officially, the florists learned that they're in for trouble.

They took the question up with that gay young bachelor, Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), who is 92 today.

"I like the Violet," said Sen. Green.

That's the way it is with flower lovers, as opinionated and uncompromising as fishermen discussing lures.

This nation struggled along for decades, clearing the land of forests and Indians, without worrying much about a national flower.

Then in 1919 Rep. Edward Taylor of Colorado introduced a bill to make the Columbine our national flower.

Supporters of other flowers have burst into bloom from time to time. In recent years, though, most of the arguments have come from two groups, the Rose bloc and the Corn Tassel bloc.

Incidentally, 42 nations have a national flower.

The Library of Congress has looked into this, and we can now confidently report that the White Frangipani is the national flower of Liberia, that the Philippine Republic goes for the San Pagnita, and that Australia, for reasons incomprehensible in this hemisphere, loves the Golden Wattle.

Recently almost every orator on almost every subject has cried: "We must do this at once! Russia already is outstripping us!"

Sorry, but it's no good here. Like us, Russia totes up without a national flower.

TGIF Rebels Desirable Influence

BY BILL CALLAHAN

TGIF IS PLANNED as a regular feature on the State News editorial page each Friday. In spite of its facetious-sounding title, I hope this column, at least at times, will be more than humorous. Undoubtedly, it will often be less.

The purpose of the column is two-fold. One of the prime ambitions of almost every State News editor, in addition, it will attempt to focus on to discuss current campus affairs and foibles. Unfortunately, the nature of the job does not allow much time for such relatively less important matters.

TGIF will fulfill this ambition for one former editor. In addition, it will attempt to focus on the outstanding campus topic of the week whether it be a controversy, a serious campus problem, or a mere humor.

At times TGIF will antagonize, poke fun, elicit a chuckle or two, or merely question. Some will agree with its content and some will disagree violently. If you agree with some of the columns, well and good. This proves nothing in particular except that you hold the same opinion. If you disagree, fine. Let us know about it in the letters to the Editor column.

The more opinions expressed about campus affairs, the more rapidly can we solve our problems and continue to improve. You are expected, and offer only my opinion. Your ideas are certainly as good as mine and may often be better, so let me know what you think.

THE CURRICULUM and academic atmosphere at MSU-Oakland seem a bright hope for the future of the university. A trend has been set at Oakland toward education in place of degree-earning.

It seems about time that understanding and interpretation should take a higher place in American universities than parroting back facts and figures to professors like some idiot machine.

Dean Robert Hoopes of MSU-O has announced that "We are not interested in producing well-rounded men, but men with smart abrasive edges—rebels with clear minds and uncowled consciences, critics of society, not adjusters to it."

IN FAR TOO MANY areas of MSU life, the status quo is highly revered and those who would rock the boat are looked on with more than mild disdain, often by students as much as anyone else.

Of course there are rebels and rebels. Those who rebel by taking part in such idiosyncrasy as party raids, chucking snowballs through windows or the other idiot pranks that college boys play are not desirable anywhere.

But the life at MSU has never been smooth for the rebel, not even for the quiet rebel. I am reminded of the orderly demonstration against dining room dress regulations staged at Brody Hall last spring. Of course, no disciplinary action was taken against the demonstrators, but then they didn't get what they wanted either.

Many of the better features of the Oakland academic program are beginning to creep into classes at MSU. I have noticed more and more professors are devoting as much time as possible to class discussion rather than straight lecture sessions without any interaction between the lecturer and the class.

OAKLAND WILL undoubtedly influence the East Lansing campus in many areas. I hope an interest in producing sharp-edged rebels will be one of the influences that takes hold here.

In the meantime, I heartily concur with Mayor John Barron in expressing the hope that Dean Hoopes will be able to grant the abrasive students the privilege of graduation.

Well, the first week is over without any great strains or pains, aside from adjusting to uphill bicycle riding and two-hour classes after three months of leisure.

So rest up those aching muscles. I hope they feel better by Monday, TGIF.

J. M. Roberts AP News Analyst Interpreting the News

Various outside forces are now at work trying to find a bridge on which Charles de Gaulle and rebel leaders in Algeria may meet to discuss peace.

De Gaulle caused at least some surprise in the world by having so clearly to democratic principles, in his effort to find a solution. Now he reverts to the old wartime De Gaulle, standing on protocol and refusing to answer rebel statements. Since there is no such thing as a free deal with the rebel regime in Algeria.

A not unusual position for governments is to take. But even if the rebel leaders cannot speak for Algeria—and there is considerable evidence that the whole idea of the rebellion is held only by a minority of the Arab population—they do speak for the war which France is trying to end.

Regimes of the former French position, there is some discourse provided to go-between agents behind the scenes.

Count Gerard D'Hautville, World War II officer with friends on both sides, heads a team from the mutual re-orientation movement which is publicly reported to have established two-way contacts in North Africa.

Film Fare Brigitte Drama Attempt A Farce

BY LAWRENCE BARRIE

I have been told from time to time that I should temper my critical judgments by attempting to point out whatever merit a particular film possesses. This frame of reference says in effect that there is something good in everything and the critic's job is to discover it for his audience. Thus one should not dwell upon any bad qualities.

Frankly I view the current Brigitte Bardot vehicle as neither good nor bad. I view it as a total misfire.

Miss Bardot in times past, notably in "And God Created Woman," has been presented as a sometimes pleasing and stimulating sexual symbol. She possesses certain obvious assets that can be obviously exploited cinematically, however, none that can be utilized dramatically.

"Love Is My Profession" her current offering, is an attempt at drama that is so pathetic and inept, it emerges as farce. I wouldn't even attempt a serious discussion of this film if it weren't for her apparent popularity with college audiences.

The whole Bardot image is completely destroyed in this bungling story of a prostitute who robs to get off the street, gets caught, throws herself at the mercy of a prominent lawyer and offers herself as payment if he will defend her. He of course, accepts both her and the case. Following her acquittal he sets her up as his mistress.

Then enters a third party from nowhere in particular and we have a triangle and all sorts of other strange developments. The plot, to say the least, is terribly absurd. The dialogue (dubbed, of course) is equally so and any semblance of acting non-existent.

Mardot is wooden and not in the least exciting. The only stimulation (dramatic or otherwise) I received from the film was to leave the theater. The only interesting thing in it were some bare thigh and leg shots but Dietrich did that 20 years ago and did it much better.

I am afraid that this obvious attempt to make a Bardot vehicle into a dramatic piece is an utter failure. Of course, I had a difficult time viewing it in terms of what it was trying to do as a basic frame of reference for critical evaluation because the audience was laughing so loudly and so often. As a matter of fact I don't think a film has gotten so many laughs since the Chaplin-Keston days.

There is a tendency today to attend movies of this type because they are purportedly frank, open and adult. This film will prove to possess little or no shock value because of its absurdity. My evening would have been a total loss if I hadn't been accompanied by a pleasant companion. I think one would be much better off trying to get his or her kicks elsewhere.

Community Theater Active

John Blondell, Ann Sheridan, John Drew Barrymore and Hal March will appear with touring Broadway companies this season in one-night engagements in Lansing.

Miss Blondell will star in "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," which will be presented Thursday. The play was written by Pulitzer prize winner William Inge.

"Odd Man In" will have a pre-Broadway trial Dec. 12 with Miss Sheridan and Scott McKay in lead roles. Barrymore and Mirlam Hopkins will head the cast of "Look Homeward, Angel," Jan. 14. "Angel" received the Pulitzer prize and Drama Circle Critics' 1958 award.

March will retain his starring role of the long-run hit "Two

For the Seesaw," when the show appears Feb. 3.

The plays are being sponsored by the Broadway Theater League of Lansing, a non-profit community group. The unit plans to donate any excess proceeds from the sale of seats to a scholarship.

Macmillan Appeals to Voters

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan said Thursday "The way is now clear for the summit" and appealed to voters to send him to such a top level meeting with a strongly Conservative House of Commons behind him.

In a campaign speech in the Yorkshire city of Pudsey, the Prime Minister declared: "We are approaching the most dramatic moment in the life of Europe and of the world since the war. We have now succeeded in replacing fear and ultimatum by discussion and negotiation."

Conservative circles hoped an announcement of the summit date would come before Britons vote for a new parliament next Thursday.

If the two parties finish in a dead heat—as current public opinion samplings indicate they might—the small Liberal Party would hold the balance of power.

Variety Show, Too! MSU Band to Perform At Saturday's Game

Football fans will see a 125-man variety show as well as a spirited game Saturday when MSU meets the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

The band will travel to Ann Arbor to put on the half-time show through the courtesy of Oldsmobile division of General Motors. The company has chartered buses which will leave the campus about 8 a.m. Saturday and return about 6 p.m.

Under the direction of Prof. Leonard Falcone, the band will start its half time show with a "curtain raiser." Playing "Another Opening, Another Show," the band will form a stage curtain and raise it.

Then, forming six rows, the band will show its deftness at tricky movements as it sways to the popular, "Swingin' Shepherd's Blues."

For something special in music, the "Variety Show" will continue with the band's special arrangement of "Dunelanna."

Unions Picket Government Service Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Internal Revenue service headquarters was picketed Thursday by AFL-CIO members after a non-union firm took over janitorial work there.

About a half dozen pickets, belonging to the building service employees union, paced outside the revenue service office. They said they were striking against Atlas Cleaning Service Inc., a Chicago firm.

Atlas took over the cleaning job at midnight Wednesday under a one-year contract. Unlike the previous contractor, Atlas does not have an agreement with the building employees union.

This was the first time such a union picket line had been set up at a government-owned building here. But two privately owned buildings which house mainly government offices are being picketed in connection with the same labor dispute.

A revenue service official said Atlas told employees of the previous contractor they would be hired only if they accepted a pay cut from $125 to $1 an hour. Union members rejected this proposal and demanded that Atlas sign an agreement with the labor group.

Until about two years ago, cleaning of federal buildings was done by government employees. But the General Services Administration—the government's housekeeping agency—now farms out most of this work to private contractors.

A GSA spokesman said Atlas won the contract for the revenue service headquarters job by submitting the lowest bid and that the question of whether the company was untested did not enter into the award.

Calls for Reform Swainson Denounces State Senate Set-Up

DETROIT (AP)—Acting Gov. John Swainson called Thursday for an immediate reform of the State Senate, claiming it represents Michigan as it was in 1920.

Swainson echoed a previous declaration by Gov. Williams in his talk before the State Employees Assn. at the Detroit Veterans Memorial Building.

Swainson, presiding officer of the Senate as Lieutenant Governor, said senators in both parties were his personal friends.

"The trouble is not with the personalities of the senators, but with the structure of the Senate," he said. "Michigan's senate does not represent the State of Michigan."

With the exception of one change in 1952, which gave one new senator each to Oakland and Macomb counties, Swainson said, "the Senate today is representative of the population as it was in 1920."

Steel Strike Longest Striking Workers Over Million Mark

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of workers on strike or idled by strikes is estimated to have soared beyond one million.

Official figures were lacking but reliable sources said Thursday morning's surprise walkout of 85,000 dockworkers in east and gulf coast ports shoved the strike-caused manpower loss past the million mark by a conservative count.

Many strikes already were under way in the steel, meat-packing, glass, and nonferrous metal industries. Beyond these, officials said, there is the usual rash of scattered small strikes over the nation. For example, several thousand miners have been idle since early March in a coach industry dispute in Kentucky.

Largest of the strikes by far is the continuing steel stoppage, now in its 12th week. An estimated 500,000 steelworkers are idle in the basic steel industry as well as 200,000 other workers in industries dependent on steel.

Second longest of the big strikes is in nonferrous metals—the copper, lead and zinc mines and processing-fabricating firms, and in the West, Kennecott, Anaconda, American Smelting and Refining Co. are among the major producers affected. More than 30,000 are idle in nonferrous metals.

In meatpacking, over 17,000 employees of Swift & Co. have been on strike since Sept. 1.

About 13,000 workers have been out over a month in ship repair yards in the San Francisco Bay area north to Canada. In Detroit, Chrysler Corp. said a strike at its Tawasville, Ohio, stamping plant will halt almost all its automotive operations to include production of the new Dodge Dart. Chrysler estimated some 43,000 of its 71,000 production workers will be laid off in seven states.

A small but potentially both-ome strike is the 19-day-old stoppage of 2,000 moldmakers against container industry. Already this has had mushrooming effects among glass container production workers.

Halfway, already suffering heavy freight losses and consequent unemployment due to the steel strike, were forced to stop movement of general freight to Atlantic and Gulf ports as a result of the dock strike Thursday.

A key factor of the burst of labor strikes is their intensity and duration. The steel strike is regarded as the worst that the industry has ever experienced. Instead of weeks,

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Walter Robertson, a U.S. delegate to the U.N. and former Assistant Secretary of State, Thursday accused a Philippine ambassador of arrogant and rude conduct at a private diplomatic luncheon.

The Philippine diplomat, Lt. Gen. Mariano Guerrero, snapped back that Robertson was disrespectful because "A Filipino dares to stand up and talk back to him."

The combative statements by two high ranking diplomats of normally friendly countries was the aftermath of a heated exchange here Wednesday between them. Robertson said Guerrero's behavior was "arrogant and rude and a denial of all the traditions of his country which I have an abiding respect for."

Blame for Deaths on Father's Poor Judgement

MANISTIQUE (AP)—The parents of 10 children, their mother and their uncle in Lake Michigan's upper peninsula Sept. 22 was blamed by a coroner's jury Thursday for a poor judgment of the father, Leonard Larson, 45, of Soudan. The jury said 43 persons could not have been permitted to board a 100-foot boat owned by Larson's father-in-law, which was the cause of the tragedy. The jury of three men and two women said the father's poor judgment and the captain's poor judgment for permission. Instead, the jury urged that the Coast Guard should be given authority to search for and remove boats. The Coast Guard should be given authority to search for and remove boats.

Chinese Foreign Minister Calls U. S. Warlike Nation

MOSCOW (AP)—Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi Thursday charged the United States with sticking to a policy of aggression and war.

The statement in the government newspaper, Yevstia, contrasted sharply with the speech of Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Beijing who said he thought President Eisenhower was aware of the necessity for easing international tensions.

"The United States still pursues a cold war policy, rejects disarmament and continues to create military bases in various regions of the globe. It stubbornly pursues a policy of re-arming West German militarism, arming Japan and continues to occupy Formosa."

Chen also accused the United States of provoking civil war in Laos, and called for an international fight against American imperialism.

Chen pledged that the Chinese people "together with the entire socialist camp led by the Soviet Union" would struggle against American policies.

He termed this a reflection inside our party of reactionary bourgeois views.

Collegian Breaks Security, Dines With Khrushchev

CLEAR LAKE, Iowa (AP)—An Iowa College student said today he mingled freely with Premier Nikita Khrushchev—even lunched with Russian security guards—during the Soviet leader's visit to the state without being asked to identify himself.

"I don't know who they figured I was," said Chuck Elsbery, 21, of Clear Lake. "They never asked. They must have thought I was someone important."

Elsbery and another Iowan, Jack Christensen, 29, of Thornton, crashed security lines surrounding the Communist boss during his five-hour visit at the Roswell Garst farm near Coon Rapids last week.

Christensen, who was photographed having his expansive stomach patted by Khrushchev, told this "gate crashing" story in a national magazine this week.

Elsbery told the Associated Press Thursday that when he started out with Christensen it was just to see the Premier.

He said they were not questioned by security until they arrived at the farm.

"We had a security agent at the gate clear us through. We shouted for the head of security and this man came over and said, 'Let these boys through they're part of the family.'"

"We went to the house where the reception was held and then to a tent where refreshments were served the dignitaries," Christensen, Lodge (Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge) who accompanied the Premier on his trip and security walked into the tent. We walked in behind them and then other guests followed.

"We sat at the Russian security agents table and ate with them. Soon afterwards Christensen was discovered and escorted out. I remained and was not noticed."

Elsbery, a Mason City Junior College sophomore, said he and Christensen assumed their same position in the motorcade for the trip from the farm to Iowa State University at Ames.

Elsbery said he chatted with a security agent about the problems of guarding the Premier.

Pakistan Capital Location Moved

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—The United States will soon finish a two million dollar embassy in this capital city of Pakistan. The only trouble is that the capital is moving away.

Next week is moving time. The entire top echelon of Government is shifting, including President Muhammad Ayub Khan, to the cooler city of Rawalpindi, 700 miles north. Cabinet ministers and typists in all about 12,000 persons will be transferred.

Karachi has been the capital for all 17 years of Pakistan's independence. A 10-man commission recommended a change, finding Karachi unsuitable from the standpoint of geography, communications, defense and climate.

Clubwomen See Trash

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tea and photographs were served Thursday to the attendees of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Straight from the elegance of tea at the White House with Mrs. Martin Eisenhower, they went to inspect (and make) general Arthur Summerfield's display of "trash" literature sent through the mails.

Summerfield, who says a million children will receive postage stamps in the family mailbox this year, wants American clubwomen to help in his drive to clean up the mails.

The federation, whose board of directors is holding a three-day meeting here, already has been campaigning to cut the newsstand crime comic books.

Wiancko Presents Film 'Romania' in Auditorium

"Romania" a new and colorful documentary and travel film produced by Gene Wiancko, will be presented tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Aul.

"Romania" is a thorough account of the beautiful country, its people, and—most of all—its life and customs. The film will be narrated by Wiancko.

Included in the film are scenes of Bucharest, the capital city, Constanta, several Romanian folk dances, and the fishing industry on the Black Sea.

One special feature of the film is a native wedding ceremony, complete with all the pageantry, feasting, and dancing that is associated with it.

Wiancko's specialty is the portrayal of the different ways of life of people in foreign countries. He has been, at various times, a radio producer, narrator, writer and explorer.

A graduate of the University of California and a champion west coast diver, Wiancko has also made films on Mexico, Munich, Venice, Davos and Casablanca.

Fact Finding Team Arrives In North Laos

SAM NEHA, Laos (AP)—A UN fact-finding team reached this mountain-surrounded northern defense headquarters Thursday for an on-the-spot investigation of alleged aggression by Communist North Vietnam.

The team's twin engine Dakota was greeted by refugees in this rebel-inhabited area, 200 miles north of the capital of Vientiane.

Brig Gen Ankitia Soukha-voeng, Northern military commander, briefed the team on the Laotian charges. The team was then to interview refugees from the town of Aroa, near the North Vietnamese frontier and Communist prisoners captured by the Royal Army.

A UN spokesman said the team did not know if Laos planned to go ahead with its plan to fly the group by Mang Het and Sam Teu in the Nam Ma Valley, a reputed staging area for the Communist Pathet Lao rebels on the North Vietnamese border.

Decker Picks Top Grid Tilts

Tom Decker has a system for picking winners in football games. It's not the old hunches or hot tips set-up on which most grandstand prognosticators operate, but a mathematical rating.

Decker, an Indianapolis freshman pre-med major who would much rather play basketball than football any day, spent two years developing his rating system, which assigns each of the nation's top 50 teams a maximum of 100 points.

Points are awarded according to pre-season potential, scoring and statistical virtues of teams, history of various rivalries and "various other yardsticks," Decker tells us.

After rating the top 50—for example, Northwestern rates top rung this week with 100, LSU second with 98, etc.—he can pick any game between rated teams by comparing numbers.

Tom goes with the Spartans this weekend against Michigan and also likes the following: Northwestern over Iowa, LSU over Baylor, Army over Illinois, Notre Dame over Purdue, Clemson over Georgia Tech, Navy over SMU, Pitt over UCLA, Texas over Cal, Indiana over Minnesota, Texas Christian over Arkansas.

Varsity Heads Led Squads In Years Past

While it certainly wouldn't be proper to say that Spartan varsity athletic teams have "old men" for coaches, a number of the coaches do hold distinguished records for active service on the varsity scene.

Some coaches have been at MSU well over 25 years. Baseball coach John Kots has been at Michigan State since the old MAC days—33 years, while Golf Coach Ben Van Alstyne and Wrestling Coach Fendley Collins have been here 33 and 30 years.

Fencing Coach Charlie Schmitter has been here 21 years, Swimming Coach Chuck McCaffrey came to MSU 19 years ago and Gymnastics Coach George Szypula and IM Director and former Tennis Coach Frank Beeman have 12 years seniority.

Probably the real "elder statesman" of the athletic department is Business Manager L. L. Frimling who has been here 40 years.

HERE'S THE BOY to watch Saturday if you are traveling to Ann Arbor for the game. He is Bennie McKae, sophomore halfback for Michigan. He scored two touchdowns in the Michigan-Missouri game last Saturday. Michigan lost on a last minute spectacular touchdown pass by a second string quarterback. The game ended 20-15.

McKae is presently U of M's leading ground gainer. He has a total of 55 yards in 13 tries.

Spartan Harriers Meet Kalamazoo For First Cross-Country Meet

CAPT. FORDY KENNEDY (r) and Art Eversole from Western Michigan University will be two of the top harriers competing in the Michigan AAU meet. This will be the first match of the season for the Spartan Cross Country squad.

The cross country squad opens its season Saturday in Kalamazoo, competing in the Michigan AAU.

However, MSU is not being entered as a team, but as unattached members. Coach Fran Dittmer preferred this method because of lack of adequate practice. Teams as well as unattached entries may compete in the Michigan AAU.

Nineteen Spartans, seven of whom will make up this season's varsity, are entered. Among them is Capt. Fordy Kennedy, winner of N.C. AA and ICA titles last year.

Others are Bob Lake, Bill Reynolds, Tony Smith, George Tatu, Clayton Ward, Jerry Young, Ed Graydon, Jim Horan, Jack Crowell, Robert Bond, Bill Brostenbeck, Bryan Castle and Jerry Fitch. Their performances this weekend will help decide who will be in the seven-man squad during the season.

Five freshmen are entered also. They are Roger Humbarger, Jim Murray, Orin Larson, Frank Weaver and Kary Ledy.

Some teams entered in the meet are Western Michigan, last year's winner; Eastern Michigan, Central Michigan, Bowling Green, Chicago Track and Field Club and Wayne State University.

MSU was second in the Michigan AAU last year. The winner, Western Michigan, placed second to MSU in the nationals. Two of the top harriers from Western, Art Eversole and Doug Weugener, will be competing Saturday.

There are two divisions in the weekend meet. The senior division, for all but freshmen, is a four-mile trek. The junior division, for freshmen, is three miles.

Ohio State Meets S. California; Seeks to Re-establish Prestige

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Ohio State, a perennial football power in the Big 10, seeks to re-establish the slightly dented prestige of that conference tonight when it meets Southern California at Los Angeles.

The Big 10, which takes pride in its contested reputation as the strongest college conference from top to bottom, managed to win only four of seven games against outside foes last weekend. Two of those were squeakers—Ohio 14-13 over Duke and Wisconsin 16-14 over Stanford.

Michigan 19-1 to Missouri, Minnesota to Nebraska and Michigan State to Texas A & M. Northwestern over Oklahoma and Iowa over California were the only Big 10 winners in a big way.

Tonight's clash on the Los Angeles Coliseum turf becomes the scene of the World Series on Sunday, is one of the last opportunities for a Big 10 team to make a strong showing against an outside opponent.

Ohio State is at full strength with the return of quarterback Jerry Field, hurt in the Pass game.

Southern California, generally rated the team to beat in the far west, breezed past Pittsburgh 23-0 last Friday. A defense that blanked Pitt for the first time in 20 years likely will give the Buckeyes trouble, too.

Also on the Friday night schedule are West Virginia at George Washington, Kentucky at Detroit and Furman at Chattanooga. The firing became heavy in major conference and interconference play Saturday with Northwestern-Iowa the key game.

George Washington, relying on the sharp passing of Ed Hines, hopes to end West Virginia's string of 29 straight Southern Conference victories. Hines was named conference player of the week after pitching to an 18-4 victory over Boston. West Virginia had rough going in a 10-7 decision over Richmond.

DICK THORNTON, Northwestern University quarterback, throws a pass behind center Jim Andreotti during workout at Evanston, Ill., for game with Iowa University Saturday. Northwestern was rated No. 2 in the national standings of the Associated Press Poll after they defeated Oklahoma, 45-13.

Pistons Tilt In Lansing Saturday

A pair of standout basketballers who rose to stardom in the Big 10 return to the Lansing area Saturday night when the Detroit Pistons and Cincinnati Royals meet in a special pre-season National Basketball Association game at the Civic Center at 8 p.m.

Jack Quiggle, former Spartan back court star, and Archie Dees, twice named Most Valuable in the Western Conference while at Indiana U., will be in uniform with the Pistons.

Quiggle is making a surprising bid to break into the rugged NBA after a back injury last fall KO'd him early in the Pistons training. Dees played with Cincinnati last season and was traded to Detroit in March.

Special ticket rates to 1959 students have been made available through cooperation of the sponsoring Grand Lansing Lions Club. Tickets in all reserved seat areas of the Center will cost 50 cents.

Long noted as the "hard-nut" type player with all the necessary qualifications to perform in the NBA, Quiggle has received Coach Red Rocha's nod to start Saturday night.

"I'm giving Jack a real good look this season," says Rocha. "because I believe he has the stuff to make our club."

White Sox Takes First Game; Los Angeles Team Routed, 11-0

Kluzewski smashes 2 home runs

Wynn Goes Out with Sore Elbow

CHICAGO WHITE SOX manager Al Lopez (r) poses with his ace righthander Early Wynn who got the win in the first game of the World Series. He had to leave the game in the eighth inning with a sore elbow.

CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Kluzewski, a National League pitcher, smashed two home runs and led a series record five runs batted in yesterday in leading the Chicago White Sox to an upset of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the first World Series game. Early Wynn, 29-year-old right hander, held the Dodgers off for six hits until he left with a sore elbow in the eighth inning.

Kluzewski shared hitting honors with center fielder Jim Landis, who hit three singles and Al Smith, who smashed a pair of doubles. The crowd was 48,012.

Los Angeles, booming from which beat Milwaukee in a National League pennant playoff repeated only last Tuesday, were largely ineffective. They had a brief flurry in the fourth in which Wally Moon and Gil Hodges singled and again in the ninth. In the last inning, Norm Lanier and Hodges singled with one out. But Stashev tightened, got Robinson to hit into a forecourt and got pinch-hitter Carl Furillo on a long fly.

Two blasts plus a single first inning, scoring Nelson gave the White Sox a lead of five RBIs. This was the World Series record set by Tony Lazzeri and Bill Dickey of the New York Yankees in 1936 against the St. Louis Cardinals. Kluzewski's two victories in the series, both against the Los Angeles Dodgers, have been the only ones in the seven-inning game.

Ed Rinn, Virginia Southern, Hino was the pitcher of the 11-0 West in a 10-7.

National centers for IM football are due at the IM office by noon today.

Tonight will be Co-Rec night at both the Men's and Women's International building.

The one game series crowd record is 86,288.

Dodger's Happy?

CHICAGO (AP)—They told me about how fast the White Sox were," said Walt Alston, "but they didn't tell me about all that power."

The quiet, cordial manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers was situated on a seat in the dressing room, his usually grim face even grimmer than usual.

"They just beat the hell out of us," he said. "That's all. They just beat the hell out of us."

In a way, maybe it's nice to have them get all their runs at once. I don't think the fact that the score was 11-0 is going to have any real effect on us mentally. This club has been here before and come on to win.

Alston's estimate of the psychological impact of the score seemed to be shared by many of the players.

"I'd rather get beat this way," said veteran Carl Furillo, "than lose a real close one or lose one on an error. Today the White Sox will wish they had some of those runs they got Thursday."

Remember, the Cubs beat us 12-2 right near the end of the season and we came right back and got 'em the next day."

Duke Snider, a generally skillful outfielder, who was charged with two errors Thursday, agreed with Furillo.

Kluzewski's Greatest Thrill

CHICAGO (AP)—It was the greatest thrill I ever had," said Ted Kluzewski in the victory over the White Sox dressing room.

Big Kluz was talking about his two homers and five RBI which helped the White Sox wreck the Los Angeles Dodgers 11-0 in Thursday's World Series opener in Chicago.

"I wasn't sure about that first one (his two-run clout in the ninth) but the Sox seven-run third," said the well-muscled Kluzewski, former University of Indiana football star.

But I knew I gave that one out (one, another two-run smash in the fourth) the Cadillac treatment.

"I was sure happy to have a day like this before the home talk from Argo. I think the whole town of Argo was here."

Somebody asked, "What's Argo?"

"Throw that guy out of here," laughed Kluzewski.

(Argo, Kluz's home town, is a suburb southwest of Chicago.)

Welcome Back

By CONNIE ZEKIT

Hi everybody! This is Connie Zekit, the new State News Society editor. After your grand summer of working, playing or even squeezing in those few extra credits at summer school, I hope you are all ready for another big year at MSU.

We all want to hear about the new and exciting happenings of the summer... pinnings, engagements, and even the new bouncing baby. And don't forget the fabulous party you have planned for the weekend or the election of your new officers.

The first and most important thing to remember is the deadline. The society page appears every Friday and deadline for copy is Wednesday afternoon.

Pinning, engagement and ballot box items should include the person's name, hometown and class. For birth announcements, include parents' names, baby's name, weight and date of birth.

Publicity and social chairman... please don't forget to type or print clearly everything submitted to the society page. It saves much time, trouble and tempers, especially on a page where it would be disastrous if Mary and Bob were pinned instead of Edna and Bob.

Please leave all news pertinent to the society page at the State News office, 321 Student Services. Social news, that means all your gay parties, may be directed to Linda Baumer and the religious items to Diane Gardner.
