More Showers Predicted Field, Gardens Under Water As River Passes Flood Stage

MSU again to MSU...
The rains returned to MSU Thursday night when a short-lived, but definitely wet, thunder storm hit the area. Sections of Circle Drive near Student Services were covered by ankle-deep water.

Moderate, found parts of Grand River in the Lacom theater block under water and traffic was slowed almost to a standstill.

Old college field was a large lake, and an attempt to play ball were literally "washed out". Baseball cages were standing in knee-deep water. The pathway between the field and Jensen Fieldhouse was impassable due to flooding.

Behind Kellogg Center, the river totally missed its course, spreading over lawns and bushes. Trees appeared to be growing out of the water.

The ducks had a heyday in the vicinity of Kresge Art Center, where the water reached almost to the building. The gardens along the art "painting court" were a haven for the feathered creatures, who found the plants delicious morsels.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad bridge behind Wells and Olin halls were held down by loaded freight cars. Authorities warned the cars on the bridge to prevent collapse of the one-track siding.

Kalamazoo street in the vicinity of University Village was a sea of water. The Brody dormitories also saw the Red Cedar creeping perilously close to living quarters.

Several canoes almost peddled themselves up the stream when water went over the top of the canoe shelter dock. The water also gave the women's gym pool competition behind the new IM addition.

Committee Advises Freshmen Should Enter College of Choice

(Fifth of a Series)

present, all entering freshmen are automatically enrolled in the Basic College. The Committee on the Future, however, feels that it is more desirable that a student choose himself with a certain college as soon as he enters University.

Students should enroll in the college of his choice at once, rather than waiting until his junior year. Non-preferred students would still be enrolled in the Basic College.

Committee members dissented in the major part of the recommendation, however, feeling that the flexibility and uniformity of procedures of the Basic College are vital aspects of the first two years of college. Members pointed out that fewer than 25 percent of entering students remain and graduate in the field of their initial choice.

Transferring out of any curriculum, the Committee suggested, should require consultation by the student with his academic adviser, assistant dean of his college, Counselor Center and, for freshmen and sophomores, with the assistant dean of the Basic College.

ACADEMIC ADVISER'S ROLE STRESSED

The advantage of early enrollment in the college of one's choice would be, the Committee feels, a sense of identification with that college and with a particular academic adviser.

The new concept of academic adviser is to be wholly different from that of the former enrollment officer whose function was to assign students to courses. The Committee sees the relation, in this new sense, between the academic adviser and the student "as potentially one of the most significant experiences in the student's University career."

Advisers, who should, according to the Committee, be selected from the teaching faculty by deans on recommendations from department heads, would know the student as an individual. Being alert to the student's personal concerns and his out-of-class problems and activities, the adviser will be better able to assist the student in the full respects of his educational career.

4 Legs Better Than 2? Brazil Elects Rhino

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—A female rhinoceros named Skinny continued Thursday to pile up an overwhelming election lead over her two-legged rivals for a seat in Sao Paulo's municipal council chamber.

Election officials predicted with about three-fourths of the vote in, that Skinny, who weighs half a ton, would get about 110,000 votes. She had more than 90,000.

Skinny's closest contender, Mayor Ademar de Barros, had 80,000.

Skinny, meanwhile, was reported wallowing contentedly in the cool mud of her den in Rio de Janeiro. The press Thursday called the surprise write-in vote for the rhinoceros a protest against corruption and ineptness of Sao Paulo's politicians.

Skinny became the people's dark horse candidate at the joking suggestion of university students after the city gave up its claim to her to the Rio de Janeiro zoo.

The newspaper went along with the joke for a time but when someone printed 250,000 ballots in her behalf and distributed them last Sunday, they said it was time to be serious and not to vote for animals.

Skinny is the second animal to sweep an election in Brazil. A year ago, the drought-stricken town of Jabotao in north-eastern Brazil, elected a billy goat named Stinky.

Macmillan Victorious In Britain

Unprecedented Third Term Win

LONDON (AP)—The Conservatives led by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan scored a great victory in Thursday's election, winning an unprecedented third term of office. The Labor Party was routed.

Macmillan rode to triumph on a wave of British prosperity coupled with a foreign policy calling for forthright dealing with the Soviet Union on H-bomb and other problems.

The British electorate gave the 63-year-old Prime Minister a vote of confidence on his plea that he could best represent this nation at a summit conference. Macmillan has been the leading proponent of summit sessions among leaders of the Big Four, and he evidently convinced the voters that his visit to Moscow last winter was a major factor in bringing a thaw to the cold war.

All indications early Thursday were that the Conservatives would emerge from final election returns with a majority far greater than the 53-seat margin they held over other parties in the 630-seat House of Commons.

Some Conservative leaders were talking confidently in terms of a 100-seat majority. But later returns, due this afternoon, would have to bear that out.

Hugh Gaitskell, the Labor Party leader who would have become Prime Minister had his party won, conceded defeat less than four hours after the polls closed.

The terms the Conservatives won in for 1959, although a party in power can call an election before five years if it desires, or it can be forced into an election if it loses a vote of confidence in the House of Commons.

Macmillan called the election three weeks ago while on the crest of a popularity wave in the wake of President Eisenhower's visit to Britain.

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER Macmillan campaigns for his Conservative party candidate in Hammersmith, West London on the eve of the election. General elections results Thursday night indicate re-election for Macmillan and his party.

Clobber Sox, 9-3, In 6th Game

Sherry Pitches 2nd Relief Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Los Angeles' amazing Dodgers became the first club in modern baseball to climb from seventh place to a world championship in one year when they clobbered the Chicago White Sox, 9-3, in Thursday's sixth World Series game.

A fine drizzle sifted down on the field during the final innings as young Larry Sherry once more tamed the Sox, after relieving Johnny Podres in the fourth. It was the second victory for the 24-year-old Sherry in four relief jobs. Sherry joined Los Angeles in midseason and established a 7-2 record.

Duke Snider's 11th series homer, a two-run 400-foot blast into the lower stands in left center gave Los Angeles an early lead in the third. They proceeded to batter the 39-year-old Wynn and Dick Donovan for six big runs in the frantic fourth.

Norm Larker's single, a sacrifice and Maury Wills' single produced the first run in that fourth. After Podres doubled over the head of Jim Landis in center, scoring Wills, Lopez replaced Wynn with Donovan.

Donovan, so brilliant in his one start and his fine relief job Tuesday, did not have it. He walked Jim Gilliam before Charlie Neal slashed a double to right center scoring both Podres and Gilliam. Wally Moon's 380-foot homer into the lower stands in right added the fifth and sixth runs of the inning and finished the day for the dejected Donovan.

This series, that set new records with 420,784 customers paying $2,626,973.44, appeared to be all over. But the White Sox bounced back with three runs on a hit batsman, a walk and Ted Kluszewski's three-run line drive homer in their half of the fourth.

Before the inning was over, Podres had been replaced by Sherry and coach Chuck Dressen had been chased for arguing with first base umpire Ed Hurler of the American League. Once Sherry restored order making Luis Aparicio pop up with the bases loaded, it was safe to start unworking the champagne for that once-postponed Dodger victory celebration.

It mattered little, except in the record books, that Chuck Esgen hit his second pinch hit homer of the series with nobody on and Ray Moore, the Progressive-Republican nominee as governor of Iowa.

He was awarded a medal for distinguished service to agriculture by the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1914 and a diploma for distinguished service to agriculture from the University of Wisconsin.

In 1947 he was given the MSU alumni distinguished service award.

His wife the former Carrie Burnett, died in 1942.

Surviving him are two sons, Eugene D. of Madison, Wis., and Ellsworth Burnett of East Lansing, a daughter Mrs. Helen Holden Besemer, eight grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Estes Leadley Funeral home in Lansing. Burial will be in the family cemetery in Benzie country.

Corn Hybrid Pioneer 1895 MAC Grad Dies in Lansing

Perry G. Holden, a member of one of the first MSU graduating classes and a pioneer in the development of hybrid corn died Thursday afternoon in a local hospital less than a week before his 94th birthday.

"The death of Perry Holden," President John A. Hannah said in a statement issued Thursday, "brings to an end the career of a true pioneer in agricultural education. In sensing the potential of hybrid corn and acting vigorously upon his convictions, he cleared the way for a vast new agricultural income.

"His influence on agriculture in America and throughout the world will be felt for years to come."

He received his BS degree from Michigan Agricultural College (the present MSU) in 1889 and a master's degree in 1895. He earned a bachelor of pedagogy from Michigan State Normal college (now Western Michigan University) in 1894 and a master of pedagogy from the same school in 1912.

In 1952 Michigan State University presented him with an honorary doctor of agriculture degree.

Dr. Holden was known as the "Corn Disciple" and in the early 1900's used the "Corn Gospel Trains" to carry agricultural information to the farmers of Iowa. During whistle stops, with the aid of charts and germination boxes, he taught to farmers how to select better seed and get higher production.

His most notable achievement is as a pioneer in the development of hybrid corn and his "Corn Gospel Train" is pointed to as the forerunner of the great agricultural extension program established in 1914.

Before beginning work with the "Corn Gospel Trains" he was a fellow and agricultural instructor at MSU (then MAC) 1889-92, professor at Benzonia college (now defunct), county superintendent of schools, Benzonia, county, assistant professor of soil physics and professor of agronomy at the University of Illinois, 1896-1900.

At the turn of the century he worked on scientific breeding of corn for the Illinois Sugar Refining company before leaving to become vice-dean of agriculture at Iowa State college where he organized the agronomy department in 1902.

Dr. Holden was head of agricultural extension work at Iowa State until 1912 when he became director of the agricultural extension department of International Harvester company for the worldwide extension of agricultural instruction.

In 1932 he returned to a poultry farm near Whitehall and continued his hybrid corn experimentation before moving to Charlevoix, Mason and finally to Lansing.

In 1912 Dr. Holden was an unsuccessful candidate for the Progressive-Republican nominee as governor of Iowa.

He was awarded a medal for distinguished service to agriculture by the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1914 and a diploma for distinguished service to agriculture from the University of Wisconsin.

In 1947 he was given the MSU alumni distinguished service award.

His wife the former Carrie Burnett, died in 1942.

Surviving him are two sons, Eugene D. of Madison, Wis., and Ellsworth Burnett of East Lansing, a daughter Mrs. Helen Holden Besemer, eight grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Estes Leadley Funeral home in Lansing. Burial will be in the family cemetery in Benzie country.

Air Force Detachment Inspected by Officials

Col. John Robertson, assistant commandant of the north central area, and directly responsible to General Bell, head of the AFROTC units, has been examining the detachment here at MSU.

Also on campus are Lt. Col. Charles Morat and Maj. Kenneth Hammer who arrived Thursday after their inspection of the U of M detachment.

Taft-Hartley Complaint Filed in Dock Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—The government Thursday filed a Taft-Hartley complaint in Federal District court here, seeking to end a week-old East and Gulf coast waterfront strike.

The complaint was filed at the direction of President Eisenhower as part of the government's motion for a Taft-Hartley law injunction which would send 85,000 longshoremen back to ports from Texas to Maine.

It was the third time since he took office that Eisenhower has used the Taft-Hartley law against the striking International Longshoremen's Union. The first time he ever invoked the law was in 1953 against the I.L.A. He used it again against the same union in 1956.

The I.L.A. has said publicly that it will end its strike with the issuance of any Taft-Hartley injunction.

The law requires a cooling off period of up to 80 days during which efforts will be made to reach an agreement, over contract terms between the I.L.A. and the shippers.

The strike began Oct. 1 and tied up more than 200 ships. None of the big passenger liners were affected. But thousands upon thousands of tons of cargo were stranded, some of it perishable.

In Pittsburgh steel disputants idly waited President Eisenhower's decision on invoking the Taft-Hartley law to end the 86-day steel strike, worst in industry history.

A Pittsburgh newspaper succinctly headlined "Ike's Move: T-H or Not?"

There have been no steel negotiations since Tuesday night when top leaders of the industry and the striking United Steelworkers Union threw up their hands in despair of reaching a new contract agreement.

Iraqi Rescue Story Told

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraqi authorities permitted the broadcasting Thursday night of a report that Premier Abdel Karim Kassam escaped with his life because a boy and a cabdriver threw themselves between him and assassins' machineguns in Baghdad.

The radio said several persons took part in the assassination attempt and killed Kassam's driver. It said the car was riddled by machinegun fire.

Ball Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the annual Coronation Ball go on sale today. The dance, featuring Les Elgart, is planned for Oct. 30, from 8 p.m.-1 a.m.

Tickets may be purchased from the Union ticket office and from any Arnold Air Society member or officer in the Army ROTC.

International Center Moved—Not Lost

THE INTERNATIONAL CENTER has been closed to foreign students at MSU. These students have been given what was formerly the AUCG offices on the ground floor of the Union building. This room has been designated the UN Lounge.

VOICES OF PROTEST have been heard by a few foreign students who feel they were slighted in the exchange. The University is planning to transform what had been the International Center into offices for the graduate school and the research and development program.

It is important that the University expands its facilities for the academic and research programs. Offices are needed, and the International Center will serve this purpose until an addition is constructed to the Administration building. When this is done, the graduate school and research development program will be moved there.

THE UN LOUNGE was obtained because the International Center was not large enough to hold a meeting of the International Club.

When given a choice of the two places, a majority of foreign students favored moving everything to the UN Lounge.

All furniture has been moved to the Lounge, and it has all but one feature that the International Center possessed. That feature is cooking, and foreign students who wish to prepare their native meals will have the opportunity to use the Short Course cafeteria.

WE AGREE with Mohammed Hanifi, president of the International Club, who feels that the UN Lounge will provide a better meeting place for students.

"The house was inadequate for the many foreign students on this campus," he said. "The International Center was not a right but a privilege."

The Club President also feels that being in the Union will result in more mingling with American students.

"THEY USUALLY would not visit the International Center," he says, "but already we have made many new friends with Americans."

We feel this is as it should be. American students should be encouraged to converse with those from abroad. It is part of the educational process to meet people from other lands and learn about them. With the Center in the Union, this will be done to a greater extent than before.

Interpreting The News

The U.S. and Soviet Russia are heading in the fields of atomic energy and space research, for the first real test of their ability to cooperate since World War II.

John McCone, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, has gone to Russia under an exchange agreement to inspect peaceful atomic energy installations.

The exchange agreement is expected to lead to more formal and more complete cooperation in the whole field.

The Soviet representatives in the UN have just come forward with their first suggestion in many years which has been received with prompt warmth by both the U.S. and Britain. It is for an international conference under UN auspices to arrange for exchange of information on outer space.

For years serious students of the Cold War have considered step by step cooperation to be one of the requirements for attainment of a feeling of mutual trust looking toward more important settlements. The search has not been rewarding.

Even during the International Geophysical Year, exchange of scientific information ran into snags whenever any political connotation arose, and westerers are still suspicious that will always be the case. There is already a great advance in the exchange of general scientific information, however, especially whenever scientists meet as they did at the Geneva Conference on Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy.

It is the gradual creation of an atmosphere of cooperation in which political students are chiefly interested, however.

The one great modern test of the possibilities of communist-capitalist cooperation, when Britain and the U.S. helped Russia save off the German invasion, was a successful but not a happy one.

Russia received about one-fifth of her total war potential including a lot of butter along with the guns, from the Western Allies. But Western military observers were for the most part barred from seeing how the war material, such as planes and tanks, turned out in actual use.

This was an important part of the payment the U.S. had expected to receive at a time when she was experimenting with armaments for herself. The Russians were just plainly suspicious and non-cooperative.

And then they refused to pay the small part asked under the lend-lease arrangement.

The question now is whether under scientific exchange agreements the Russians will cooperate in anything except what gives them the major share of profit.

TGIF Let's Maintain Friendship

By BILL CALLAHAN

CAMPUS CONVERSATIONS waxed hot this week over the display of a "Hate State" banner and other inhospitable actions at the U of M game last Saturday.

This display of misplaced enthusiasm has been condemned in Ann Arbor as much as in East Lansing. It was denounced officially by U of M president Harlan Hatcher, and somewhat less officially, but no less emphatically, in editorial comment by The Michigan Daily.

The incident should not offer an opportunity for a breach of friendly relations with our neighbors down the road, but a chance to set aside pettiness and backbiting and reaffirm our basic amity.

The actions should be recognized for what they are—misplaced or misguided enthusiasm and team spirit. They are no more typical of U of M attitudes than the hanging in effigy of Duffy Daugherty last year was typical of student attitudes here.

MSU HAS BEEN much maligned in the past as a "cow college" and by other distasteful epithets. Of course, MSU (then MAC) originated as a "cow college"—one of the best in the nation. As the university developed it outgrew the "cow college" stage, becoming MSC and finally MSU.

This progressive name-changing has reflected the growth and development of the university. Physical growth has, at times, tended to outstrip the academic growth, but academic stature is rapidly increasing and is presently on a comparable level with most state institutions.

The new Oakland branch is, in itself, a great stride forward in academic quality and higher education attuned to modern needs.

MSU is a national leader in international education, with foreign projects circling the globe. More than 400 foreign students are presently participating in on-campus exchange programs and special education projects.

I COULD list the outstanding assets of the university for several pages, but the above should serve to prove the point. Anyone who persists in calling MSU the "cow college" demonstrates only his own ignorance and lack of vision.

Since it is difficult to imagine that a majority of the U of M population could be this uninformed or bigoted, it is logical to assume that Saturday's Saps were at worst a few die-hard snobs, or at best over-enthusiastic freshmen. The former can only be ignored, the latter should be forgiven.

In any event, I am glad that, at least on the surface, the Spartans remained unruffled and managed to shrug off the unfortunate incident as if it were not worth the dignity of a reply. It wasn't.

The mutual respect of the two institutions should not be affected by this minor display. We are both above it.

So on to Iowa and another conference victory, TGIF.

Film Fare 'Middle of Night' So-So Drama

By ED FLOURNOY

There is, indeed, some merit to the idea of the cinema's approaching the subject of radical age differences in romantically inclined couples in a fashion appreciative of the problems to be incurred therein. Paddy Chayefsky's play "Middle of the Night," deals with just such a subject and has, quite naturally, been utilized as material for film making.

Said hitberts unqualified for screen treatment, subject being made worthy by the on-published gaudiness of the avant-garde movie men who profess to be the artistic and financial outlook of movies in general.

Playwright Chayefsky has written another so-called "ode to the commonplace" and, as presented in movie form, unravels something like this: Jerry Kingsley, at 36, a widower and successful partner in a garment manufacturing firm on New York's Seventh Avenue, finds himself bored with his wife-begotten lot. Those repeated evenings at home with his sister who is ever on hand and those much-too-frequent visits, involuntary for the most part, to his daughter's home for dinners-with-the-family have become unbearable cliches in his living habits as far as new experience is concerned. The new interest occurs in the form of his 24-year-old and recently divorced secretary, Betty, who is a mess of confusions about life and love because of her previous experience with marital incompatibility.

Her only attraction for her ex-husband was a sexual one, and even that, claims she, wore thin as, "We'd watch television, and around eleven o'clock word both match into the bedroom as if it were the gas chamber."

But despite the notorious condition of her mental prowess, Jerry wants, woe, and wins her and finally decides that marriage is the only proper link for them... and then the trouble begins. Everybody, it seems, is against this cradle-snatching mismatch, everybody, that is, except Jerry's partner, Lockman, whose marital indifference has made him a pretentious man whose sole means of consolation is the comfort of brothel-house employees.

Though none of the rest of the callithumpian condescendents are happy with their own lives, each of them is copiously loquacious on the subject of how lamentable the proposal in their midst happen to be. Betty's mother and friends decry the proposition deplorable. With one exception, the performances in this film are all noteworthy. The aforementioned exception is Miss Novak whose physical appeal is unquestioned but whose histrionic capabilities ought to be.

Fredric March plays Jerry comprehensively and expertly, and Albert Dekker once again demonstrates his skill in character performance as Lockman. Glenda Farrell as Betty's mother, Lee Grant as her best friend, Lee Phillips as her ex-husband, Edith Neiser as Jerry's sister, and Joan Copeland and Martin Balsam as his daughter and her husband make impressive showings.

Hatcher Apologizes for U of M

(Editor's Note: The following letter, written by University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher, was sent to MSU President John A. Hannah. It concerns a half-time episode at the MSU-U of M football game last Saturday, when students circled the field with a "Hate State" banner.)

I was deeply distressed and humiliated when I learned of the incident between halves of the game Saturday. I was out of the stands at the time and did not see it. It was not reported to me until yesterday.

MSU Profs To Take Part In Convention

Dr. C. Fred Gurnham and Dr. Karl L. Schulze of MSU will participate in the annual meeting of the Federation of Sewage and Industrial Wastes Associations next week in Dallas, Tex.

Schulze, assistant professor of civil engineering, will report on three years of research and experimentation with a "trickling filter" which he devised for treatment of sewage and industrial wastes.

Gurnham, head of the chemical engineering department, will take part in sessions of the Industrial Wastes committee and the Standard Methods committee.

The meeting is expected to attract several hundred experts

'Celestial Snail' Russia's Lunik III Reduces Speed

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians' Lunik III, which rocketed away toward the moon at about seven miles a second last Sunday, was reported easing Thursday to a celestial snail's pace.

Tass announced the 614-pound flying laboratory, after passing around the moon, has left that satellite's gravitational field and is nearing the point for the start Saturday of its return toward the earth.

"Its speed is falling continuously," the Soviet News Agency said. A check at 12 noon EST was reported to have clocked it at only a half kilometer—less than a third of a mile—per second.

The instrument-laden, radio-equipped space vehicle, designed to survey the perpetually hidden side of the moon, could be expected to speed up again when it swings about for the return journey Soviet scientists have plotted.

"The interplanetary station will now move in a plane almost perpendicular to that of the Lunar orbit," the Soviet News Agency announced. "It will revolve around the earth on an elongated ellipse with an apogee (the greatest distance from the earth) of 291,870 miles and a perigee (the nearest distance) of 24,840 miles

To Discuss Communism International Club to Hold New Series

An International Club program at 8 p.m. today will feature a series of discussions on Communism.

Faculty members and students will comprise the panel and participation from all nationalities is encouraged and warmly welcomed.

Refreshments provided by the YMCA and a roving dance will follow the meeting.

This is only part of the attempt on the part of the national club to serve its various organizations.

One of the main purposes of holding these sessions is to bring together students from various nationalities in the Union and to discuss the current situation of all available students and faculty members.

It also tries to help American students in cultural, educational and contributions of other vice versa.

With the growing class of students on campus, the International Club for the new year is trying to provide more and more.

Building Spree

By CONNIE ZEKIT

While you're speeding across campus on your hot little bicycle these fallish days, there are many new sights to view.

Farmhouse fraternity has moved into a new home situated midway down Bogue. Then as you precariously pedal across Grand River and, if you're game for dodging a few bulldozers and workmen, try Haslett and take a look at the new Lambda Chi Alpha addition which is presently under construction.

While you're still in the traveling mood, there's a real good hill to coast down on White Hills, which leads you right by the very modern and very new Pi Kappa Phi home.

And then for a bit of the ol' South, you don't want to miss the ol' Alpha Tau Omega house which is looking very new and elegant these days.

A great big welcome from all of us to the men of Sigma Alpha Mu who are now living right across the street from Berkeley.

Congratulations and welcome, also, to Phi Sigma Kappa whose members are going national, in a very big way, this weekend. The Phi Sigs are living on Bogue in the house with the green roof.

If you haven't put your thinkin' caps on, you better do it now because homecoming is only three weeks away. It's going to take good ideas and lots of hard work to top the triumphs of last year.

Girls, now is also the time to draft a date for the Coronation Ball. Tickets go on sale today at the Union ticket office or may be purchased from members of the Arnold Air Society and Army ROTC.

Faith Groups Set Activities

Campus religious organizations plan services and social activities for the coming week. Presbyterian Campus Christian Fellowship holds Sunday services at 6:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian Student Center.

Methodist Student Association plans a weekend retreat at Camp Lutherista near Brighton. Transfiguration will be presented.

Lutheran Student Association will hold their weekly meeting at 7:30 Sunday evening. Supper, worship and a bible study led by Rev. J. T. Tolle, faculty adviser, will highlight the program.

University Lutheran Church will have a Matins service at 7:30 Sunday morning.

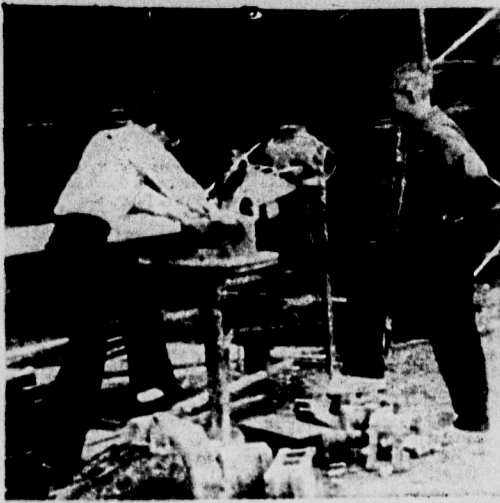

Vacate the Pad: Beat Poet Plans To Make Scene

Kappa Sigma's "Lick" must have been a real party featuring a lot of "beat" poetry. Kappa Sigma received a telegram from the California writer this week confirming that he will read a number of his poems at the party.

During his previous recitation, Leon Bradley's band will provide a background of jazz music.

To comply with Bartholomew's tradition of pretentiousness, the fraternity plans to special dress for the affair. In fact, the Kappa Sig will remove all furniture, rug and pictures.

The noted West Coast beatnik, whose name has appeared in Chicago's "Beat" magazine, has written "Lick" in a Pickle. Mrs. James and Thelma have a party of friends.

State News Photo by Ron Murray. THE LAMBDA CHI ALPHA addition, well under way, will include a chapter room and additional study rooms for members.

Rush Parties Highlight Greek Social Calendar

By LINDA BAUMER

It's rushing time at Michigan State—with a capital "F" for fraternities. The weekend plans to be a full one with a wide range of activities planned.

Alpha Sigma Phi is holding a rush party in the chapter house, 2100 S. State, this evening. Fraternity members will be the host of guests and decorations will be based around the theme "Unlabeled—guests will spend an Evening in Rome" from 8-12 p.m. and light, checkered tablecloths and pizza will set the mood.

Phi Kappa Psi will hold a rush party at their headquarters, 1500 S. State, from 8-12 this evening. West State Hall has planned an open dance in the lower lounge from 9-12 Friday night.

Bob Eberhardt will furnish music for dancing tonight and Saturday evening at the chapter house.

Alpha Tau Omega, Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Gamma Rho, Beta Theta Pi and Psi Upsilon will also hold rush parties tonight.

The 4-H Club is holding a fall freshman round-up this evening from 8-12 at the forestry building.

Barley and Snyder organizations are having a mixer Saturday evening from 8-12 p.m. in the Snyder recreation room.

Members of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, better known as "Lips" will have a hot dog roast for rushers and dates Saturday evening. Dancing will follow at the chapter house.

Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta honoraries are going square dancing at the Benjamin farm Saturday.

A Playboy party, with the Phi Kappa Psi furnishing the entertainment, will be held at the Phi Kappa Psi house tomorrow evening.

Hobbes will take over the Triangle house Saturday. As the members hold a Hoops-Hop for prospective members.

Other houses entertaining Saturday evening include Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Alpha Mu, Delta Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Green Helmer and Tower guards have planned a picnic at Flaming Park from 2:30-7 Saturday.

Phi Sigma Kappa will hold its formal installation banquet Saturday night at the Lansing City Club.

FOOTBALL: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

Next Saturday at the football game while you are sitting in your choice stadium seat behind the end zone, would you give a thought to Alarie Sigalos?

Alarie Sigalos (1898-1934) started life humbly on a farm near Tully, Kansas. His mother and father, both named Ralph, were bean-gleaners, and Alarie became a bean-gleaner too. Later he moved to Oregon and found work with a logging firm as a stump-tumper. Then he went to North Dakota where he tended the furnace in a granary (wheat-beater). Then he drifted to Texas where he tilled up oil fields (pipsweeper). Then to Arizona where he strung dried fruit (fig-rigger). Then to Kentucky where he fed horses at a breeding farm (out-toter). Then to Long Island where he dressed poultry (duck-punker). Then to Alaska where he drove a delivery van for a bakery (bread-slicer). Then to Minnesota where he cut up frozen lakes (over-slicer). Then to Nevada where he computed odds in a gambling house (dice-prier). Then to Milwaukee where he posted camera lenses together (Zoo-splinter).

Finally he went to Omaha where he got a job in a lannery heating pig holes until they were soft and supple (hog-flogger). Here he found happiness at last.

Mr. Doubleday had invented baseball the day before...

Why, you ask, did he find happiness at last? Light a firm and fragrant Marlboro, taste those better makin's, enjoy that filter that filters like no other filter filters, possess your soul in sweet content, cross your little fat legs, and read on.

Next door to Alarie's hog-foggery was an almond grove owned by a girl named Camera Emrick. Camera was pink and white and marvellously hinged, and Alarie was instantly in love. Each day he came to the almond grove to woo Camera, but she, alas, stayed cold.

Then one day Alarie got a brilliant idea. It was the day before the annual Omaha Almond Festival. On this day, as everyone knows, all the almond growers in Omaha enter floats in the big parade. These floats always consist of large cardboard almonds hanging from large cardboard almond trees.

Alarie's inspiration was to stitch pieces of pigskin together and inflate them until they looked like big, plump almonds. "These sure beat skinny old cardboard almonds," said Alarie to himself. "Tomorrow they will surely take first prize for Camera and she will be mine!"

Early the next morning Alarie carried his lovely inflated pigskin almonds over to Camera, but she, alas, had run off during the night with Walter T. Seversidge, her brother. Alarie flew into such a rage that he started kicking his pigskin almonds all over the place. And who should be walking by that very instant but Alarie Doubleday!

Mr. Doubleday had invented baseball the day before, and he was now trying to invent football, but he was stymied because he couldn't figure out what kind of ball to use. Now, seeing Alarie kick the pigskin spheroids, his problem was suddenly solved. "Eureka!" he cried and ran to his drawing board and invented football, which was such a big success that he was inspired to go on and invent lacrosse, Monopoly, run sheep run, and nylon.

When you go to next Saturday's game, take along the perfect football companion—Marlboro Cigarettes or Philip Morris Cigarettes or new Alpine Cigarettes—all a delight—all sponsors of this column.

Snakes, Delts Cop IM Games

By GARY RONBERG
Sigma Nu and Delta Tau Delta opened their IM football schedules with a pair of impressive victories Thursday night on the soggy turf of Jensen Field.
Brian Bennett fired two touchdown passes and figured in a pair of extra points as Sigma Nu downed Theta Chi, 27-0. Bennett started the scoring in the first quarter when he hit

Bill Durrell's punt on his own six-yard line, picked up two crisp blocks and raced 54 yards for the last touchdown of the game.
The other game saw quarterback Jim Draves of Delta Tau Delta pass for four touchdowns as DTD blanked Delta Sigma Phi, 28-0.

Draves passed 18 yards to Jim VerPlane with one second remaining in the first half, hit Rody Sherrill and Bill Young for scores in the third quarter and fired again to VerPlane in the final period. Longest of these was the 39-yard strike to Sherrill in the third quarter.
A pair of safeties by Jim Dourie and Gary Caltrider completed the scoring.

Clarence Peaks Hurt, Kowalczyk May Play

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Full-back Clarence Peaks may not start for the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday against the Pittsburgh Steelers in the National Football League game between the two intrastate rivals.
Peaks has a slight muscle pull in his right leg. If it isn't cleared up by game time, Walt Kowalczyk used mainly on defense last year as a rookie, will get the call on offense.

Cross Country Squad To Hold 1st Dual Meet

The cross country team starts its dual meet competition Saturday at 10:30 a.m. when it meets Western Michigan, the team that won the Michigan AAU last weekend.
The site for Saturday's run will depend upon the weather. If it doesn't rain before Saturday, the squads will run on the Forest Akers Golf Course. If it does rain, the old course on Old College Field will be used. In the former case, spectators will be able to watch from the club-ball diamond.
Fran Dittich, coach of the harriers, predicts that this will be a good meet, since Western Michigan was second to MSU in the nationals last year and had led strong last weekend. MSU was running unattached in the AAU meet, so Western did not actually "beat" MSU as a team.

Montreal Canadiens Stop Bruin Icers, 4-3

MONTREAL (AP)—Andre Pronovost scored two second period goals last night as the Montreal Canadiens opened the defense of their National Hockey League title with a 4-1 victory over the Boston Bruins.

Maurice "Rocket" Richard, 38-year-old veteran, started the Canadiens off with a first period goal to the acclaim of a crowd of 13,619. Sophomore Ab McDonald counted in the second along with Pronovost's pair.
Bruno Horvath was the only Bruin who could beat acrobatic goalie Jacques Plante. His goal at 13:18 of the middle period clinaxed a Boston power play with Montreal short-handed.

The teams put on a lively, scrappy game for a season opener and referee Eddie Powers handed out 17 minor penalties, nine against Boston. Feuding was at its height in the scoreless third period.

Rocket Richard teamed up with brother Henri, the Pocket Rocket, for the first goal at 14:16 of the opening period. The Rocket let drive from 25 feet out at an angle and the partly screened shot caught the far corner of the net past goalie Harry Lumley.

Pronovost shook off defensemen Fernie Flaman and scored at 4:05 of the second period and McDonald made it 3-0 at 5:02 on a rebound of a shot by Ralph Backstrom whose hard drive sent Lumley diving to the ice.

Decker's Gridiron Gambles
BY TOM DECKER
Following a disastrous first week of gridiron prognostication punctuated by a handful of significant upsets (Illinois over Army, SMU over Navy, etc.), we, along with the vanquished favorites, hope to hit the comeback trail this Saturday.

Iowa appears just a little too much for the vastly-improved Michigan State squad, but an MSU showing like last week's could make us happy losers on this one.

Winner of the Michigan AAU in Kalamazoo last Saturday was the Bronco's Jerry Ashmore, who beat MSU's Forney Kennedy in a 20:48 time to Kennedy's 21:00. Carl Reed, Western, placed third in 21:11. Ashmore had been running in summer, so was in especially good condition. Art Everette, who was third in the 1957 nationals and the no. 1 man on Western's squad last year, was only 19th in the AAU, but is still a potential threat.

Other Western runners who placed high in the AAU were Don Hancock in ninth place, Tom Martoni in 13th, Dave Redding in 15th and Doug Weingraser in 16th. Another possible runner is Ron Hopkins, who didn't compete last weekend. George Dais, Bronco coach, is expected to bring 14-16 men.

Dittich said he would use 14 men that ran in the AAU, though only the first seven were in the dual meet. Besides Kennedy, other Spartans entered will be Bill Reynolds, fifth in the AAU run, Jerry Young, sixth; Ed Graydon, seventh; Clayton Ward, eighth; Bob Lane, 11th and Jack Crosswell, 14th.

Others are Tony Smith, Jim Horan, Jesse Fitch, Bob Best, Bryan Castle, George Tan and Bill Breidenbach.

Trotter Race Postponed

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Futurity, third day of the triple crown of trotting, was put off one day Thursday because of heavy rain.

If all 10 entries start, the 63rd annual event will be worth $33,930, with about half of that going to the winner.

Diller Hanover and John A. Hanover, each with one gem of the crown already in his credit, were getting most of the attention as favorites.

Diller Hanover won the Epsom biestonian and John A. Hanover captured the Yankee Futurity. Diller Hanover is a better-than-even chance to win the harness horse of the year. He wins this one.

The Silk, Diller Hanover, stablemate and second place in the Hambletonian, is well liked for the Futurity.

Spartan Gridders Face 1958 Big 10 Champs

Saturday Acid Test for Squad

Daugherty Seeks To Even Score

The Michigan State football squad will journey to Iowa City, Iowa, Saturday for last year's Big 10 champions, the Iowa Hawkeyes. The Spartans were defeated, 14-10, by the Hawkeyes in their first game in the Big 10 conference. The Spartans' record in the Big 10 is 1-4.

In the general feeling that Spartan gridders have yet to have a real test of their mettle and Iowa will certainly be that test.

Hawkeyes after being held last week by Northwestern, will be fighting into the Big 10 race. The Spartans have a tradition of never losing two home games in a row. They have only lost one home game in that entire season.

Agass Spartan offensive back and Henry Bullough are the Iowa squad in the two weeks ago that gave a share of a football game.

Leading the Iowa attack is quarterback Bob Jeter. Jeter is joined by quarterbacks Jim Treadway and Don

Winters. Curt Meier and Tom Sawyer are the Iowa ends, with Tom Sawyer at center. Sherman, Thomson and Tom Sawyer are the Iowa guards. Bill

Winters and Mandy are the Iowa backs and they all have some experience.

Winters will stick with his job of playing offensive and defensive back and the only one who will start at quarterback.

Dean Look at the Iowa back who seems to be recovered from a season injury and saw six of a season in the Michigan game. Tom Wilson has been quarterbacking since Look's injury.

Brandt has been starting end. The factor that will make this game will be their homecoming game. The game will be televised in this area WJIM channel six in at 1:30 our time.

Spartan squad went to a night workout Thursday in preparation for Saturday's game.

The 35-man traveling team left in a chartered plane for Iowa City. They will be at Cedar Rapids at 10 miles from Iowa City at a high school. There is a rumor to avoid any traveling back and to the Hawkeye stadium.

MSU Booters Dead Serious About Slippery Rock Game

Slippery Rock, to many sports fans, is the name of a school—possibly real, possibly not, located in western Pennsylvania whose football team traditionally find their way into almost every Sunday morning sports page in the nation.

To the Michigan State soccer team, the Rocks (quite real, location Slippery Rock, Pa.) represent one of the primary obstacles to a fourth straight undefeated year.

State meets the Rocks Saturday on the Pennsylvania school's field—Kenney's men riding the crest of a 16-game winning and 14-game unbeaten streak and their foes still proud after a close, 3-2, loss to powerful Pittsburgh.

Slippery Rock is one of the top teams in the country, you can always count on to make a good showing," says Spartan Coach Gene Kenney.

Kenney promises to be one of the night-scoring forwards lined up Saturday night in a goal against a team that is in good physical condition. "The game is Key man in the offense to date has been sophomore center forward Cecil Heron, who has bagged six of state's 13 goals in the first two games. He netted four in Wednesday's 9-0 rout of Calicut.

Tom Stender, an All-American as a sophomore, injured his knee last year, got the job back against Calvin and has four goals altogether.

On the scoring line with them are All-Americans Bernie Cook,

John Smith and Dave Christie.

The defensive positions—halfback and fullback—were considered the team's sore spots before and after the close opening win over Indiana Tech, but the five backs showed improvement as they helped goalie Noel Drago to his sixth shutout in 19 victories.

Star halfback Pete McKinnon, injured late in the first game, is still feeling the effects of a pulled shoulder muscle and won't play Saturday, Kenney said.

John Bird will work with the regular halfback combo of George Sepety and Bruce Oline, the coach reassured.

The full 18-man squad will be on the bus for Slippery Rock this morning. Kenney would like to spare his regulars for next week's St. Louis clash if State should pile up a comfortable lead.

Slippery Rock is not a Midwest Soccer Conference foe.

International Club's Room Praised

The new International Club facilities in the Union basement will definitely aid American-foreign student relations due to the increased interaction of the two groups, club president Mohammad Hanifi said Tuesday night.

The student traffic in the Union will lead to more students patronizing the lounge, he added. Few students passed the 7th quarters, located on the corner of Abbott road and Circle Drive, and thus not many used the center.

The main reason for changing the quarters was due to the lack of space in the old building. Because a couple occupied the two upper floors, all that was open for actual student use was a living room, dining room, small basement area (which was big enough to allow five couples to entertain) and a kitchenette.

Despite much student comment to the contrary, the Administration has actually been working closely with the club. According to Hanifi the move was instigated from both sides: from the club to increase space and from the Administration to gain more office room.

In response to the opposition the move has encountered, Hanifi said, "Any change has some objections. After all, the club is more than a television set or kitchen. It is an opportunity for students of different countries to gain mutual understanding and to learn from each other. This can be achieved better in the new quarters."

The move has given the AUGS International Cooperation committee an additional argument in their campaign for a new International building.

Committee Report

The academic adviser should make use of personal data on his students, the Committee recommends. Such will aid him in promoting a fuller relationship with advisees, which in turn would have added benefits to students when they seek recommendations for jobs, scholarships and the like.

More specifically, the adviser's functions include: adding to the student's understanding of university education and MSU's programs; helping him with edu-gests he be provided with a manual specially written for guidance in this field. A training program of one or more sessions a year is also recommended.

Sufficient time will, of course, be needed by academic advisers. Twenty to 30 students per adviser is a desirable ratio the Committee feels.

Work with the Counseling Center in highly recommended for advisers, whom the Committee urges to make use of this and other similar resources in assisting their students.

Discussing senior faculty and the teaching of freshmen and sophomores, the report emphasizes the advantages of bringing distinguished faculty members into contact with large numbers of students.

High ranking teachers for freshman and sophomore level courses will increase the faculty's teaching productivity, adding economies in instructional costs without sacrifice of quality of instruction.

The Committee says that additional undergraduate curricula should be instituted as the need develops to provide a breadth of contact with the major disciplines accompanied by some exploration in depth in a particular discipline.

Citing the liberal educational experience offered to outstanding students through Honors College, the Committee feels that broader experience, cutting across divisional and even college boundaries, would be desirable for more students.

Who said it first?
A column of incidental intelligence by Jockey brand

"BITE THE HAND"
Edmund Burke first noted that some men will bite "the hand that fed them". But Mark Twain, in "Fudd'nhead Wilson", refined the observation and made it biting: "If you pick up a starving dog and make him prosperous, he will not bite you. This is the principal difference between a dog and a man."

"PRAISE THE LORD AND ETC."
Perhaps the most popular remark to come out of World War II is this exhortation made at Pearl Harbor by Lt. Comm. Howell M. Fargy, a Navy chaplain: "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition."

"IGNORANCE IS BLISS"
It was Thomas Gray who coined this comforting generalization in behalf of all "D" students. See his "On a Distant Prospect of Eton College": "...where ignorance is bliss, 'Tis folly to be wise."

Jockey SKANTS' striped brief

"Morally sensational" — that's the judgment of college men who have seen the new Jockey Striped SKANTS. Jockey stylists have taken their own original 100% stretch nylon bikini-style brief (already a national favorite)... added candy stripes... and produced a garment you'll really enjoy wearing.

SKANTS is cut high on the sides with a low waistband and comes in a choice of red, black, green, rust or blue stripes. Look for SKANTS—in stripes, or solids—in the Jockey department at your campus store.
