Diseases Prove Fatal To Prelate

Cardinal Stepinac Dies in Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac, one of three prelates who have symbolized Roman Catholic opposition to communism in East Europe, died Wednesday in Krasic, the native village that was his prison. He was 61.

Authoritative sources said Stepinac died of a heart condition, a fever, and a heart condition. He had been limited in recent years to the duties of a parish priest.

His death reduces the college of cardinals to 78.

Cardinal Stepinac, suffering for years from a blood disease, died this week with a cold and pneumonia attributed to the hours of daily prayer in the isolated, 400-year-old parish church.

Funeral complications followed. Cardinal Stepinac had been named by President Tito's regime to Krasic, a wine-growing village southwest of Zagreb on the Kupa river, as a prisoner dubbed "a former archbishop" since December 1951.

In Vatican City Pope John XXIII recited a mourning prayer for the cardinal, who was unable to get to Vatican City to receive the red hat that is the symbol of his rank. Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, French archbishop of the College of Cardinals, said:

"Cardinal Stepinac must be remembered among the heroes of the church, for he has suffered so much for Christ and the Roman Catholic Church."

Conalescing Coel's Condition Now 'Good'

Condition of Dorris Riddle, 1944 Oak freshman, was reported as good by Sparrow Hospital spokesmen Wednesday.

Riddle suffered a broken leg and other injuries in a traffic accident early Saturday morning at the corner of Abbott and Grand River avenues.

Trustees to Consider ROTC Proposal Today

Hannah Recommends Quick Decision: Near-Even Split of Sentiment Expected

Academic senate's recommendation to drop compulsory ROTC as it now exists at MSU is expected to come before the university's Board of Trustees for consideration this morning, spurred by President John A. Hannah's hope that the board will take quick action on the issue.

Approved by a 400-248 senate vote Monday, the proposal to make all but one term of basic ROTC voluntary at State must be approved by a majority vote of the six-man board if it is to go into effect. Senate's bill asks that the new military training system be operative by September 1961.

Earlier speculation was that the trustees might put off a final decision until a future meeting, but Dr. Hannah said Wednesday he hoped the university's governing body would settle the issue immediately if possible.

Hannah said he planned to present senate's recommendation to the trustees without offering a personal opinion. Trustee C. Allen Harlan said he had hoped Hannah would send his own recommendations with the proposal to help guide the board in its decision.

Harlan said the noncommittal attitude of the president appeared to indicate agreement with senate's approval of the change in policy but added he would continue to support compulsory ROTC in the absence of a formal recommendation by Hannah.

If the board elects to decide the issue today a close vote is expected, with three members apparently leaning in each direction. A deadlock would result in nonpassage of the measure.

Fraternities' Personnel Set For Food Talk

Quantity food buying and its advantages will be introduced to fraternity cooks, stewards and housemothers at 8 p.m. in 37 Kelllogg.

Dr. Lendal Kotschevar, professor of hotel, restaurant and institutional management and national food purchasing authority, will be the main speaker for the Fraternity Buyers Assn. (Inter-Fraternity Council committee) meeting.

Dr. Kotschevar has been studying the situation at MSU and is presently helping to set up a program geared to greater efficiency and future expansion.

The purpose of the program is to provide greater savings for the individual fraternities through volume purchasing, according to Dick Stafford, chairman of the committee.

Correction

Roger Baldwin will be appearing at Fairchild Theater at 8:15 p.m. Thursday only, not Friday as previously reported.

Seniority Fosters Idea Acceptance

'Stay on Job' Hints WWJ Lady Editor

The trick is staying in the job if you want to use your good ideas. Mrs. Fran Harris, Women's Editor of WWJ radio and TV, said recently.

Mrs. Harris, who is president of the Women's Aid Club in Detroit, spoke before the members of Gamma Alpha Chi, professional women's advertising fraternity here.

"Even though employers say they want to hire persons with ideas, the beginner is always at the bottom of the ladder, she said. Someone above him may use his ideas or the ideas may get lost in the shuffle."

"If you stick with the job, you'll get high enough so you can use your own ideas. Then it is important not to use other people's ideas. This is where personal integrity really counts."

"Patience enough to wait until you get high enough is very important, because it may take years to get there."

Mrs. Harris conducts an interview show on WWJ in Detroit. She interviews visiting celebrities and stars. Business and manufacturing have also been interviewed.

She said she considers herself to be in one of the best media. "I can always make an interview tape and send the person happily on his way," she said. "If I don't happen to like it I don't have to use it. That way I don't have to worry about turning anyone down and making him angry."

On Recent Montreal Mission

Model UN Group Drafts Report

MSU's delegates to last week's University Model United Nations in Montreal are preparing a "mission-accomplished" report for the next AUSG meeting. Selected by the International Relations club, the political science study group, the delegates were sponsored by AUSG's $250 appropriation for the project.

The MSU delegates included Don Emerich as chairman, Dick Scharf, Ed Tillison, Vance Ryerson, Dan Skeen, Harry Hirsch, and Jorge Limantour, president of the MSU Model UN. Dr. Donald Urquidi of the political science department went with them as advisor.

The Montreal meeting, the second annual affair of its type, was sponsored by four local schools: McGill University, the University of Montreal, Sir George Williams University, and Loyola College. Sixty American and Canadian colleges and universities attend the 1960 session, joined by a student delegation from the University of Mexico.

MSU represented Italy this year, and participated in model sessions of both the Security Council and General Assembly. The delegates found great interest among other students in such MSU projects as the Model UN, International Festival, and the AUSG-sponsored Sister-Brother program for advising foreign students.

Besides the model UN sessions, the delegates heard addresses by Lester Pearson, Nobel peace prize winner and leader of the Canadian opposition Liberal party, UN officials, and panel experts on world overpopulation and disarmament.

The 300 student delegates voted to oppose seating of Red China, supported a plan for peaceful uses of outer space, called for investigation of establishing a permanent UN peace force, and backed the World Food Bank.

The sponsoring universities believe this to be the largest and most ambitious project of its type now being conducted. More than twice as many schools were represented this year as in 1959.

In addition to 18 Canadian colleges and universities, the Ivy League schools, MIT and Carnegie Tech, and a variety of Eastern teachers' colleges were included. The most distant American delegation came from the University of California, to represent Cuba.

The UMUN features one interesting resemblance to the actual UN sessions in New York—simultaneous translation in English to French was used at all sessions, as nearly a fourth of the delegates come from French-speaking schools of eastern Canada.

The Italian delegation consulted the Italian Consul General in Montreal, Dr. Arturo Calvanti, on numerous points of policy. Diplomats were much in evidence throughout the session, representatives of both the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Mission to the UN attended, and a counselor of the Soviet embassy at Ottawa briefed his student deputies thoroughly to add realism to the sessions.

Dairy Engineers Meet

EAST LANSING — A projection of dairy plant trends in the 1960s will be one of the subjects highlighted at the eighth annual Dairy Engineering Conference Feb. 23-24 at MSU.

Mrs. Harris explained that her field is essentially public relations. She said she feels that women are better suited to this work because they are more aware of the personal feelings of people.

Public relations work consists of creating an image, she said. For most consumers this image is connected with a personal experience.

"No amount of written or spoken advertising is going to counteract the effects of a snooty salesgirl who looks down her nose at a customer," Mrs. Harris said.

There are problems in her work too, she said. "The automobile boys really get you good," she said.

Pilots View Dust Clouds Over State

Students Snowed By Slippery Slush

The freezing rains mixed with Oklahoma and Texas dust plaguing central Michigan are due to move out soon, according to the United States Weather Bureau.

Pilots flying over southern Michigan reported seeing dust mixed with clouds at 6,000 feet. Although this combination has occurred before in Michigan, it is rare in the Lansing area.

A low pressure area moving in from Wyoming and Colorado had dumped from two to six inches of snow and freezing rain on campus streets and sidewalks. The low-pressure area is moving eastward and is expected to end by Thursday. Snow flurries are forecast.

The sleet appears to be more annoying than dangerous. The East Lansing and Michigan State police report traffic moving normally, with only two minor traffic accidents.

Although campus streets and sidewalks are inches deep with slush, the Grounds department reports that their crew has been consistently clearing the areas. The snow-removal crew began clearing at 11 Tuesday night and worked through the night to try to clear walks and streets by 7:30 a.m.

While the freezing rain continued over central Michigan, temperatures in the state varied from 44 in Detroit to 16 at the Straits of Mackinac.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worst snowstorm in years crippled wide areas of the Midwest Wednesday. Whole cities were nearly isolated, factories shut down and hundreds of schools closed.

A cold wave bore in behind the blizzard-like storm to complete winter's one-two punch in the area.

Stormy weather was blamed for at least 16 deaths across the nation.

The storm dumped more than a foot of snow on parts of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin and up to 15 inches on Iowa. Gale-force winds whipped the snow into towering road-blocking drifts.

The storm was the worst in 23 years in northwestern Illinois.

The intense storm, which moved out of the Great Plains Tuesday, dumped heavy snow from the Mississippi Valley to Michigan. Sleet accompanied the snow, causing heavy damage to power lines.

Snow drifts 10 feet high left Rockford, a bustling industrial city of 110,000 population in northwestern Illinois all but isolated. Only one road, a tollway several miles east of the city, remained open.

The industrial city of Kenosha in southwestern Wisconsin was paralyzed. American Motors Corp. closed down its assembly lines in Kenosha and Milwaukee after several of its big auto-carrying trucks jack-knifed or became stalled on icy, snow-clogged roads.

Adlai Listens As Tello Tells

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's foreign minister Manuel Tello Wednesday told Adlai Stevenson what he considered the major problem between the United States and Latin America:

A growing resentment over increasing costs of U.S. exported products and the decreasing value of imported raw material from Latin countries.

Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956 now touring Latin America, had a conference with Tello at the foreign ministry.

Afterwards Tello was host to a luncheon in Stevenson's honor.

Wolverine Bill Passes AUSG Roll

Copies Marked For High Schools

By HOWARD HOLMES
State News Night Editor

A bill for appropriating $250 for distribution of Wolverines to high schools for purposes of informing students of life at MSU was passed Wednesday night by AUSG.

The purpose of this bill, said Dick J. Holmes, administrative vice president is to better acquaint the high school student with MSU as a university.

Student congress also passed a bill appropriating $50 for student eligibility to cover clerical help necessary to check academic eligibility of students who participate in hold offices in activities.

Another bill was passed to disempower two committees, the Traffic Study and Safety Committee and the Elections Committee, to be included in two other committees.

The main reasons for reviling the committees reports Larry Campbell, chairman of Congress Business and State Affairs Committee, is to redistribute the work of AUSG.

The traffic study and safety problems in the past 20 weeks, committee has had only two on the bicycle paths and on the Berkeley traffic problem.

The elections committee only performs its function during elections, and will come under the responsibility of the congress Business and State Affairs Committee.

One new resolution was introduced concerning the establishment of a student conduct commission. It is for the purpose of filtering all cases which are sent to the Dean of Students' office on student conduct. It was sent to a committee for further investigation.

Bryce Plapp vice president and speaker of Congress also suggested that AUSG work more closely with the State News and the student body so that they might know more about what is going on in Student Congress.

Coeds Save 'Victims' in Q-Huts

By BOB FIENBERG
 The coeds of Phillips hall made up the only trained rescue team at MSU last Saturday. The drill took place in abandoned quonset huts in the south campus area. "Victims" were placed in rooms, in the attic and on the roof of one hut with tags attached to them to specify what injuries they had received during a simulated disaster. The team responded by locating the "victims", applying first aid, and moving them to a safe place.

and two sisters, Margaret McDonald, senior, and Martha McDonald, freshman, both of Hazel. The women of Phillips hall expressed an interest in forming a rescue team when the Department of Public Safety proposed the idea to a women's inter-residence hall council officer's workshop last term, according to Norman Steere, head, department of safety services. The team has been trained in the fundamentals of rescue work by members of the Department of Safety Services. Steere, Hans Grix, Safety Officer, and Herman Dollman, safety equipment serviceman, all worked to help prepare the coeds to save lives in an emergency situation. "This is a pilot group," Steere explained, "and it is hoped that other residence halls, fraternities, and sororities will prepare themselves for emergency situations both in their residences and for themselves. If the residences will develop their own leadership, the Department of Safety Services will assist with any training that it can offer. This can be self-perpetuating, especially if rescue team competition can be established between residences."

The team's next drill is scheduled for Feb. 20 in the Aud. It is anticipated that the drill will include participation of all the protective services, activating the emergency control plan, and informing the telephone alerting plan and it will be open for public observation.

Haste Makes Waste

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Thieves who broke into a liquor store took their loot the hard way. They tipped over a heavy safe, blasted it open and took $2,000 in cash and checks. If they'd just pressed a key to open the cash register they could have escaped with another $2,300 which the bartender forgot to put in the safe.

Undefeated Gymnasts Meet Iowa

Michigan State's undefeated gymnastics team, in its quest to end Illinois' 10-year reign as Big 10 gymnastics champion, faces Iowa Friday night in the IM Sports Arena.

This team has the greatest depth of any team I've ever had and it could be Michigan State's best ever," says Coach George Szypula.

The team's great depth was prominent last weekend when it beat three opponents without services of two top performers. Except for the track team, all other Spartan squads find themselves on the road Saturday.

The basketball team continues its scrap for a first division finish in the Big 10 race at revenge-pointed Minnesota.

The wrestlers visit Iowa Teachers. The swimmers are in Michigan's pool. The fencers are at Wisconsin for a triangular meet. The hockey squad will be idle.

For MSU Relays 450 Trackmen Expected

By JOHN SCHNEIDER

A strong field of collegiate track luminaries will perform Saturday at the oldest and the largest of the midwest's indoor track programs—the Michigan State Relays.

Over 450 athletes will be seeking to win 12 individual and six relay championships in the meet.

In action will be such outstanding stars as sprinters Tom Robinson of Michigan, Charlie Tidwell of Kansas and Dee Givins of Oklahoma; middle distance runners Cliff Cushman of Kansas, Dave Mills of Purdue and Willie Atterberry of MSU.

The distance stars are Billy Mills of Kansas, Gail Hodson of Oklahoma and Bob Lake of MSU.

Performing in field events will be broad jumpers Paul Williams of Kansas and Les Bird of Michigan; shot putter Mike Lindsay of Oklahoma.

Pole vaulters are Mike Johnson of Purdue, J. D. Martin of Oklahoma and Dick Bowers of Ohio State.

Five individual and five relay champions return to defend titles they won in the 1959 running of the relays. The individual returnees are Robinson, in the 75-yard dash; E. G. Plummer of Kentucky, in the 1,000 yard run; Williams, in the pole vault; Lindsay, in the mile run; and Mauri Jormakka of Eastern Michigan, in the mile run.

Oklahoma's Lindsay looks like he'll be all alone on top of the shot put field. This muscular, 230 pound giant from London, England, won the Relays event with a toss of 57-11 3/4 last year.

Olympic Picture Brighter

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Olympic athletes, anxious for training, turned out by the hundreds on mountain slopes and ice rinks Wednesday as Sierra skies cleared for the first time in four days.

Everybody was in a gay mood with only eight days left before opening ceremonies of the VIII Winter Games.

"I knew we will have good weather," French star Adrien Duvillard said with a grin, "because we have been good boys and that's our reward."

Meanwhile, large delegations of European athletes arrived in New York and headed immediately for this California resort. The latest arrivals included 10 skiers and skaters from The Netherlands and 21 figure and speed skaters from West Germany, Austria, France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Great Britain.

Forecaster Hal Root called for more reward today—partly cloudy skies. The storm that started Sunday left 28 inches of snow.

Unbeaten State Wrestlers Give Coach Collins Pleasant Surprise

By MIKE SKINNER
The beginning of the current season, Spartan wrestling coach H. H. Collins said "I had our squad to finish about a middle of the Big 10 this year."

in pins gained against opponents with three.
He opened the present campaign with a pin victory in his very first match. It came at the expense of Purdue's Dave Ramsey, in the 137 pound division, at the quadrangular tourney at Evanston, Ill. on Jan. 9.

beaten once to date, that was Young, George Hobbs, and John Sota's Charles Coffey in which the referee awarded the decision to the Gopher wrestler, in the quadrangular tournament.

The State mentor had good reason to feel this way. Gone was the 1958 team, which finished third in the Big 10 meet, and the 1959 team, which won the 174 pound Pan American meet. Jim Ferguson and Big heavyweight champion Tim

He started State's following two meets, against Illinois and Ohio State, in the 167 pound class, and gained victories in both, even registering a pin over his Buckeye opponent.

Useful in Business, Politics Friendships Key to Prosperity

Friendship has become perhaps the most important ingredient in business politics, according to human relations expert Dr. Eugene Jennings, associate professor of personnel and production administration.

But for the office politician, friends are made because they are useful, since he believes that friends can be as dangerous as enemies, added Dr. Jennings.

Dr. Jennings' remarks were made in a keynote speech before the Third Annual Congress on Administration in Chicago Feb. 6.

Nearly 1,000 hospital administrators and their assistants attended the management program conducted by the American College of Hospital Administration.

Business executive who engage in office politics believe that self-interest is the basis of human nature, Dr. Jennings pointed out, and therefore they believe that it is probably safer to assume others to be capable of more bad than good.

Why do business executives engage in office politics?

The one out of three executives who admits that some of his success is based on office politics has several reasons, according to Dr. Jennings.

First is the increasing tendency to push men ahead so fast that they exceed their administrative skill and, because of lack of confidence, begin to indulge in political tactics.

A second reason has to do with the mobility which makes it difficult for an executive to show his administrative depth in any position and therefore heightens the need to impress and manipulate.

New Tests for Police Recruits Up for Study

Communism, espionage, blockades and psychiatric tests for police recruits will be studied at the second annual Law Enforcement Administrators Seminar March 2-4 at Kellogg Center.

About 70 Michigan police chiefs and sheriffs are expected to attend.

A report on the battle against communism and espionage will be given by Inspector William Sullivan, of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, D.C. Inspector Sullivan also will outline the role of police and sheriff's departments in this important struggle.

Capt. Claude Cook, of the Michigan State Police, East Lansing, will report on the blockade system recently put into effect by all state law agencies in attempting to halt fleeing criminals.

The pros and cons of psychiatric tests given to police recruits will be covered by Chief Examiner Robert Lothian, of the Detroit Police Dept.

Other subjects slated for study include split-channel radio requirements, civil service laws as they pertain to police, and supervisory and management functions.

The conference is a continuing education activity of both the School of Police Administration and Public Safety and the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

Employers' Kickoff Planned Next Week

Thirteen representatives from camps and resorts will be at the annual summer job kickoff Wednesday.

The representatives will have information about qualifications, benefits, locations and wage ranges.

No hiring is done at the kickoff but camp and resort personnel will be interviewing at the Placement Bureau the rest of this term and spring term.

Ed Filmatrick, assistant director of the Placement Bureau, said, "Representatives from YMCA and YWCA camps, church camps, Michigan Camping Association, forest camps and others will be present. Resorts will be represented by three persons in Hotel and Restaurant Administration who are connected with resorts."

The kickoff will be held from 7:30 to 9:30. It is sponsored by the Placement Bureau and Spartan Women's League.
