Students May Lose Bus Station

East Lansing Lease To Expire March 31

MSU students may lose their bus station at the end of the month, unless someone comes up with a solution to problems plaguing three bus companies, the East Lansing agent and the city of East Lansing.

A PASSENGER-LOADED bus pulls away from the current East Lansing bus station. The present station is an unused bus because of the controversy over the proposed site for a new one. State News Photo.

An old bus, used for a station now, is located in the Leona building parking lot under a temporary lease expiring March 31.

The former station was evacuated last week to make way for a new building housing the East Lansing branch of the Michigan Department of Transportation.

A proposed building at the Leona site will only provide loading space for one bus at a time. The Greyhound bus company and the local agent, Webster Shelton, say this is not enough.

Shelton, who is a franchised agent of Greyhound, Short Way Lines and Indian Trails, wants permission from the city to load buses from the curb of Albert during "flash" periods, or periods of high traffic load.

William Hicks, Jr., real estate agent for the Leona, interests, says his clients would not sign a lease contract under conditions allowing street loading.

This would give bus companies a means of breaking their contracts with Shelton, leaving them to pay the lease on the building with no means of income.

This would leave the Leona property with a one-story building that could not be paid for.

The companies refuse to sign a lease without a provision for street loading.

In a normal weekend more than 600 MSU students use the bus service.

The local station is also used extensively by merchants for package delivery services.

Shelton detailed the operational plans of the lease this week.

The buses can load one at a time alongside the proposed building. When more than one bus is at the station, the second would have to wait in the street.

The city council motion approving street loading failed for lack of a second at Monday's meeting.

The parties do not reach agreement by March 31. MSU students will have to board their buses at the terminal on South Washington in Lansing.

Williams Pushes Capital Outlay Program Drive

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rep. Williams made a sizable capital outlay program started through the legislature.

There was no immediate comment from his hour-long, heated door huddle with the House Ways and Means Committee.

But Republican majority members agreed to hash over the problem some more, consult lawyers, perhaps reach a caucus decision and to return for the talk next week.

The Democratic Governor said he asked for no comment on the program.

A few weeks ago Williams sharply called on the legislature to get rolling with a $64 million dollar, three-year building program, mostly at colleges, universities and state mental institutions.

He proposed financing through creation of a state building authority empowered to issue bonds, lease completed buildings and receive rents from current legislative appropriations to retire the bonds.

French Agree to Compromise Plan

5 Western NATO Powers Propose Pre-Meeting Disarmament Package

PARIS (AP)—Five western powers Thursday unveiled their North Atlantic alliance package for disarmament proposals for consideration prior to the East-West disarmament talks next week.

The western plan was presented in a special meeting of the NATO permanent council in the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy.

After referring the plan to their governments, the NATO permanent representatives will meet again Saturday for final discussion and expected general approval. The East-West talks begin Tuesday in Geneva.

The five western powers agreed at a compromise plan after a series of experts' meetings in Washington and Paris. Although the proposals were presented as a "tentative" agreement, the French expressed reservations on some points. The French reservations were not made public.

French sources said however, that the final plan takes into account certain French suggestions which would permit "real and substantial" nuclear disarmament. The French were obviously happy with the overall outcome of the negotiations, which apparently went a long way in meeting their concern on the nuclear question.

From the beginning the five western powers agreed in principle on a final goal of nuclear disarmament, but there had been a distinct difference between France and the other four powers on the way toward this goal.

The French insisted that any final disarmament plan must include measures for prompt destruction of nuclear weapons stocks and the vehicles to deliver the weapons.

The United States and the other three powers were said to have favored a step-by-step approach, with preliminary nuclear including the halting of nuclear tests.

Subantarctic Movie Slated for Saturday

A "Journey to Subantarctic New Zealand" will be narrated by Dr. Alfred Bailey of the Denver Museum of Natural History for the World Travel series Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Aud.

The all-color program features highlights of an expedition to subantarctic Campbell Island, located 450 miles south of New Zealand.

To film the picture, Bailey spent a summer on Campbell Island, noted for its abundance of elephant and fur seals, albatrosses and strange sea birds.

Business Profs To Meet at MSU

About 200 top educators in the field of business administration will meet today and Saturday at MSU to examine the status of higher education in business courses.

More than 40 colleges and universities in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas will be represented.

Among the subjects to be discussed are necessary course requirements, the role of liberal arts courses in a business program and the importance of various courses in economics to the business student.

Participants will also review reports on higher education in business submitted by the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Foundation.

General admission is 50 cents.

Senate Refuses to Limit Civil Rights Discussion

Backers Fall 22 Votes Short of Needed Majority

Tables Move to Give Attorney General Injunctive Powers on Segregation Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate refused Thursday to put a time limit on its marathon civil rights debate. It then went on to defeat the amendment, opposed by the Southerners, giving the attorney general broad injunctive powers in civil rights cases.

Later the Senate adopted amendments favored by the Southerners.

The overall result of the roll call votes was to show that all-out Senate advocates of civil rights legislation are not in position to get their way in the latter election-year battle.

By a vote of 53-47, the Senate first rejected a move to invoke the senate's debate-limiting cloture rule and thus crush a filibuster by Southern foes of civil rights legislation.

A two-thirds majority was required to seal the rule into effect. But backers of the move fell 22 votes short of that, falling even to muster a majority.

Then Thursday night, by a 49-38 vote, the Senate tabled and later killed an amendment to empower the attorney general to bring school desegregation and other civil rights suits in behalf of individual citizens.

It quickly followed this with an 89-9 vote restoring the penalties provided in the administration's civil rights bill for obstructing by force or threats court orders in school desegregation cases.

The amendment, offered by Sen. Sam Ervin (D-NC), cut penalties for a $10,000 fine or two years in jail to a $1,000 fine or one year in jail.

This brought the penalty down nearly in line with those provided for in a civil rights bill on which the House started debate Thursday.

Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) offered an amendment to make the section of the bill apply to obstruction of all court orders, not just those in school desegregation cases.

Lausche's amendment became the pending business as the Senate prepared to recess until 11 a.m. today. Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) said he did not plan a night session today for a Saturday session.

Adoption of Lausche's amendment would be even more pleasing to the Southern Senators than the reduction in penalties provided by Ervin's amendment.

They have bitterly protested singling out court orders in school desegregation cases, saying that if such legislation were passed it should apply to court orders in all types of cases.

Thirty-four Democrats and 21 Republicans leaned up to provide the vote to table the proposal giving the attorney general injunctive powers in civil rights cases. Against the motion were 28 Democrats and 19 Republicans.

For Motor Violations Traffic Court Hears Appeals

The all-university student Traffic Court is designed to aid students in appealing traffic tickets and to give them a better understanding of the traffic regulations on campus.

The court has three primary functions:

- 1. To listen to appeals of traffic summonses.
- 2. To interpret unclear regulations.
- 3. To make recommendations for changing traffic regulations.

Appeals can be made on summons given only by the Campus Police for an infraction of the student motor vehicle regulations which consist of parking, driving, registering, operation and possession of student cars in areas defined by the regulations.

All moving violations are handled by a local justice of the peace.

When a ticket is received, the student has five days to make an appeal and 15 days in which to pay the fine if he is not appealing it.

To make an appeal the student must go to traffic court office, 326 Student Services, and fill out a written appeal form.

After submitting his appeal he must make an appointment for one of the sessions held Wednesday evenings and Thursday afternoons. The appointments are set up to reduce waiting time for students.

When a student comes before the court he is sworn in. The charge against him and his appeal are read. The court then asks questions to ascertain his guilt or innocence. The student is asked to return to the waiting room while the court makes its decision.

The court has seven members. Each justice casts one vote except the chief justice who votes only in the case of a tie.

The goal of the court is to arrive at a just and equitable solution. The court tries to see that the student is informed as to the precise reason he received a summons and tries to clear up any point of misinterpretation to alleviate the possibility of the student receiving a similar summons in the future.

The Student Traffic Court was founded in 1954 and has handled over 3,200 cases in the past six years. None of the decisions handed down by the court have been overruled. Last fall terms the court either withdrew or changed to a warning 92 percent of the appeals brought before them.

The court is the judicial branch of student government and is completely separate from both executive and legislative branches.

At the present time, the court is making a record of its operations on the request of the University of Illinois which is interested in forming its own traffic court.

PROF. WILBERT SNOW, New England poet reads his own works at a lecture in the Kiva Thursday night. State News Photo.

Poet Believes Man's Soul Related To Hometown Soil

BY ARNIE ROBERTS
"I believe there is a connection between a man's soul and the soil on which he's born," said Prof. Wilbert Snow, in describing how he writes his poetry.

Snow spoke Thursday night in the Kiva in poetry and read some of his best work.

He began with the theme of poetry. He said theories are made up by poets after they write their own poems.

"You make your poems first, and then you make your theory," he said.

In discussing his own poetry and style, Snow said his poetry is local. Being from a small New England village, his poetry is about the people, places and characters of a small town.

"These things can be in a small town in Michigan, or in any small town in any state," he said. "It is the character of the people, places and characters of a small town."

The reason to take the matter away from the committee was directed to a bill by Rep. Thomas Whinery (R-Grand Rapids) considered less objectionable by opponents of the legislation than other measures sponsored by Rep. George Edwards (D-Detroit).

It guarantees to every citizen at least the right to obtain and hold employment without discrimination, the right to full enjoyment of any of the accommodations, advantages and facilities or privileges of any public resort, accommodation, assembly or amusement, and the right to secure publicly assisted housing accommodations without discrimination," Rep. George Salade (R-Ann Arbor) said.

His works depict the life of a small boy in a poorest town in the January thaw of the snow in New England, the common people of any small town, and the everyday occurrences of people in Anywhere, USA.

Snow has written many poems for children. He has two books of his own.

Snow has not spent all of his life writing poetry. He has taught in several universities, taken an active part in politics. He traveled around the world for the State Department, lecturing on American culture and literature.

Snow recited some of his own works, "Confession," "Taking Away The Burden," "February Thaw," "Aunt Cynthia's Story," and "To Recapture the Past." Snow asked the audience to join him in reciting one of his favorite children's poems, "The Hungry Shark."

As the program ended, 112 persons sat raptly. "And appear the place where he had to chop the shark was a ruckus of his basket."

Wanted: Angels For Empty Halos

Fifteen angels will be needed to fill the empty halos of the University Theater for the state department program in opera, "Hallelujahs and Graces."

They are still a few days away from the University Theater for the state department program in opera, "Hallelujahs and Graces."

According to Sec. of State, the experience of unusual world conditions are required.

Several angels are left in the women's choir of soprano and alto. Anyone who was unable to appear for previous singing auditions may call Dr. Hans Lange at ext. 2385 for an audition.

Grab Bagging Policy Passes First Test

SOME CLARIFICATION is due in defense of grab bagging, particularly the Student Government variety. In its five hour marathon meeting Wednesday night Student Congress, to our pleasure, granted funds amounting to roughly 7,000 to Campus United Nations and Operation Crossroads Africa. Congress reacted as we had hoped in recognizing the merit of the two appropriation requests. It fulfilled them generously.

In the course of the meeting, however, Rep. Charles Herbert (Lansing) suggested that Congress in the future should divert surplus funds not to "just any groups" but think in terms of investing in the National Student Assn. and the academic benefits division of AUSA.

Granted, much good can result from NSA affiliation and from an election year academic benefits push. But the Herbert approach, we feel, overlooks an important Student Government function. In our Monday editorial "AUSG Plays Santa Since Rally Windfall" we commented upon the strange situation of a Congress with more money than it knew what to do with.

THIS WAS APT to form "something of an annual grab bag," we said.

"We have nothing against the grab bag approach," the editorial continued, "as long as worthwhile groups are benefiting from the share-the-wealth system." When this is the case, we feel AUSG is doing a great service, in an immediate sense, to the groups in question, and, in a larger sense, to the cause of world understanding.

To the extent that NSA also dedicates itself to these goals, we doubt that it would consciously suggest affiliation if support to our own immediate home-ground projects would be put in jeopardy. In the two projects it aided Wednesday night, AUSG reflected the NSA spirit in its own backyard.

Two-Sided Coin

ALL WORK and no play makes Jack a dull Spartan. So does the opposite, all play and no work.

Academic excellence plus worthwhile collateral activity is what we hope this university and its students continue to seek. Many recent letters to the editor have pointed out that a campus club designed as a university is more inadequate than a brain factory without other activities, and with this line of reasoning we have always agreed.

But neither is desirable. While it is most difficult to obtain a proper balance between schoolwork and the non-academic facet of college life, the end result is obvious in the "total" students produced and is well worth the effort.

The recent "Little D" controversy is not the whole picture of universities turning more and more from well-planned academic and social environments to clustered scholarship mills.

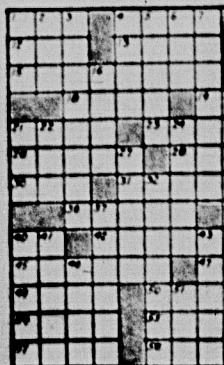

One indication of the trend is the rising student voice against athletics beyond the drastically emphasized form on the campus whose population fought avidly for admittance to the Western Conference a decade ago.

Other signs are evident in a number of student organizations, where morale is at an ebb and lack of interested personnel is causing near-collapse of activity. And let us remember that the majority of these organizations, with functions related to a variety of major study fields, provide excellent supplements to coursework.

No, sports should never be king of the campus. But when the unifying spirit of athletics and their traditional high points (bowl games, national championships) is threatened with forced departure during an already serious apathy epidemic, it is time to wake up and worry about where the trend will carry us.

'MSU Minus Football Turns Out Social Idiots'

The State News implied that sports are important even to the detriment of academics. Here is what the real social idiot is a three pointer that doesn't play football!

The State News said that it should be called the "Little D" in the only thing little about this university is the little intelligence shown by our newspaper's editorial staff.

A minority group at the State News office has taken it upon themselves to represent the students of this university as being interested only in athletics.

The monopoly that the State News has on the opinions voiced by the students can represent a minority university. The students should have another voice of their own, as have the students of U. of M. to convey the thought that MSU has more than one opinion.

Sports at MSU are the best in the nation. I firmly believe in the extension of the Rose Bowl and post season games, but I don't believe in the overbearing position of athletics over scholarship.

I do believe in a balance between the two, which must be maintained by H. Leo Mann and the Board of Trustees.

Carl Schwind

Grab Bagging

In your editorial, Monday you took the stand that there is nothing wrong with the grab bag approach to the solution to the problems of excess money.

To be sure, Campus United Nations and Operation Crossroads Africa are very worthy, but I fail to see why AUSG should use tax money (which is what the 2 cent Student Government tax is) to support a partisan organization.

These two organizations are relatively compatible to all, but if AUSG can donate money to them, what is to keep it from using this as a precedent to appropriation of money for other, not so worthy organizations?

As far as having a screening committee goes, it may do a good job this year and the next but how about the ensuing years?

Maybe besides being novel in having a surplus of tax money, AUSG could also be novel in cutting taxes.

Michael Walsh

Instruction

I was surprised to discover in Stanley Sheinbaum's letter to the editor that a significant portion of the blame for post university results with the students.

I previously thought that various deans, presidents and trustees were charged with the responsibility of maintaining college teaching at an acceptable level, but I see now that I was on the wrong track, and I'm glad that I'm straightened out.

As I understand Mr. Sheinbaum's letter, it is up to the students to make their criticisms of the quality of classroom instruction known to whom?

If we all attempted to see our advisors tomorrow and give our opinions of our instructors, I'm sure chaos would ensue.

At present, there is no clear cut channel available to the students that will enable them to take an active part in maintaining a high level of college instruction.

The occasional appearance of an instructor evaluation sheet indicates that a student should

Evaluations

This letter is in response to your editorial concerning "Instructor Evaluation Needs Another Look." I think this is impractical.

A few years ago, about three weeks after the new term began, I was asked to fill out the questionnaire by an X professor. In collecting, X professor stated that "this is an evaluation sheet in which you will evaluate your instructor. Fill it out and return it to the desk."

His expression, I felt, was just as if he was receiving a court sentence, though he was an excellent teacher. I, as a foreign student, never had the opportunity to rate the instructor's ability in conducting a class and I hesitated, because this opinionnaire would become official

FCC Head Presents Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Doerfer resigned Thursday as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. He said he did so to spare President Eisenhower "possible embarrassment."

Eisenhower accepted the resignation with a letter which thanked Doerfer for tireless, loyal and effective service.

But the President also said he believed Doerfer's decision to quit the FCC was "a wise one."

The resignation is effective Monday, Eisenhower designated a member of the commission, Frederick Ford of Clarkburg, W. Va., to become chairman on the following day.

Doerfer has been under fire in Congress for accepting hospitality from a radio-TV executive.

Doerfer told House investigators last week that he had been a guest last month at the yacht of George H. White, who holds FCC licenses for five television and a dozen radio stations.

Doerfer's letter to the President and the mandate of Congress to members of the FCC require them to study new uses for radio and to encourage a wider use of radio. This, he said, requires "day-to-day contact with many industry people."

"I have not, nor will I, waver from my views that the best solution to modern day government regulation of complex industry problems demands a thorough knowledge of that industry and actual contact with the members thereof."

Doerfer, 55, has been a member of the FCC since 1953. A former lawyer, he was appointed to the office by Eisenhower.

In the third major government reorganization since he left office as a result of revelations by the House investigating group, headed by Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark.).

Final Examination Schedule for Winter, 1960

The last day of classes for Winter Term is Wednesday, March 16. All final examinations will be given in accordance with the following schedule. The time of the examinations in Basic College courses is given below. Examination rooms will be announced by the instructor during the last week of classes.

Communication Skills — Thursday, March 17, 10:15-12:15
Natural Science — Friday, March 18, 10:15-12:15
Social Science — Saturday, March 19, 10:15-12:15
Humanities — Monday, March 21, 10:15-12:15

The time of examinations in sections other than Basic College courses is determined by the days and the time the class is scheduled during the term. Examinations will be given in the same classrooms used for class meetings during the term.

If class hours of the days and hours follow the regular pattern, all students, instructors, and room schedules will automatically clear. In a few cases, at the request of the department concerned, the final examination has been scheduled by the single hour lecture section, and in some instances students may encounter conflicts. In that event, the examination scheduled by the class meeting two hours each week will take precedence over the examination scheduled by the single hour lecture. The examination will be arranged between the student and the department requesting the special scheduling of its examination.

All instructors having examinations from 8:10 a.m. and from 1:30-3:30 p.m. are requested to terminate their examinations promptly so that rooms and buildings may be cleared for the examination periods which follow.

Pentagon Discusses Possible Increase of Atlas ICBM's

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon is discussing the possibility of increasing the number of Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles, Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates Jr. said Thursday.

In response to news conference questions, Gates said, however, that no decision has been reached.

An increase in the number of Atlas missiles probably would be made, if decided upon, by boosting the total for each squadron beyond the presently planned 16 missiles.

This is one of a series of plans for various weapons which are being discussed by both the Air Force and Navy, Gates said.

Gates also was asked about the status of the Bomarc B missile program. Last week, a Bomarc B test missile burned up on the pad prior to scheduled launching time. It was the seventh occasion in which trouble had been encountered in the test program.

Gates said that the Bomarc B program is being reviewed, along with other development programs but, in answer to another question, said "there is no thought of junking" it now.

The Bomarc B is designed for considerably longer range than the present Bomarc A model which is in production and for which launching sites are being built.

Gates also told the news conference that the Navy has prepared a number of plans for speeding up its Polaris missile submarine program.

He said two significant tests, one involving the armed firing of a Polaris missile from underwater—but not from a submarine—will be held this month.

EAT, DRINK AND BE MARRIED

On a recent tour of seventy million American colleges, I was struck by two outstanding facts: first, the great number of students who smoke Marlboro, and second, the great number of students who are married.

The first phenomenon—the vast multitude of Marlboro smokers—comes as no surprise for, as everyone knows, the college student is an enormously intelligent organism, and what could be more intelligent than to smoke Marlboro? After all, pleasure is what you smoke for and pleasure is what Marlboro delivers—pleasure in every puff of that good golden tobacco. If you think flavor went out when filters came in—try a Marlboro. Light up and see for yourself. Or, if you like, don't light up. Just take a Marlboro, unlighted, and puff a couple of times. Get that wonderful flavor? You bet you do! Even without lighting you can taste Marlboro's excellent filter blend. Also you can make your package last practically forever.

No, I say, it was not the great number of Marlboro smokers that astounded me, it was the great number of married students. You may find that hard to believe but latest statistics show that at some educational colleges the proportion of married undergraduates runs as high as thirty percent! And, what is even more startling, fully one-quarter of those marriages have been blessed with issue!

Life now is a figure to give you pause! Not that we don't all love babies. Of course we do! Babies are pink and fetching, rascals, given to winsome noises and droll expressions, and we all like nothing better than to run kisses on their soft little skulls. But just the same, to the young campus couple who are parents for the first time the baby is likely to be a source of considerable worry. Therefore, let me devote today's column to a few helpful hints on the care of babies.

—And a twist of lemon peel.

First of all, we will take up the matter of diet. In the past, babies were raised largely on table scraps. This, however, was outlawed by the Simst-Hawley Act, and today babies are fed a scientific formula consisting of dextrose, maltose, distilled water, evaporated milk and a twist of lemon peel.

After eating, the baby tends to grow sleepy. A lullaby is very useful to help it fall asleep. In case you don't know any lullabies, make one up. This is not at all difficult. In a lullaby the words are unimportant since the baby doesn't understand them anyhow. The important thing is the sound. All you have to do is string together a bunch of nonsense syllables, taking care that they make an agreeable sound. For example:

*Tie to sleep, my little infant,
Goo-goo meow-meow poo-poo be-fand.*

Having fed and serenaded the baby, arrange it in the position for slumber. A baby sleeps best on its stomach so place it that way in its crib. Then to make sure it will not turn itself over during the night lay a soft but fairly heavy object on its back—another baby, for instance.

And when baby is fast asleep—the little angel!—why don't you relax and give yourself a treat? With Marlboro—or if you like mildness but you don't like filters—with Philip Morris made in long size and regular by the sponsors of this column.

Mrs. Williams to Give Talk

Mrs. G. Mennen Williams will address a personal health class at 2 p.m. Monday in Men's 13 at building on "The Purpose and Functions of the World Health Organization."

She is a member of the Michigan League for Nursing and an honorary member of Future Nurses Club.

A student committee invited Mrs. Williams to speak in connection with a class assignment from Dr. Randolph Webster, HPR professor, to study health organizations.

Complaining Customers Needed

Food Bad? Don't Leave Tips

If you don't like the food, complain. If you are dissatisfied with the service, don't leave a tip.

C. C. Philippe, New York hotel consultant, gave this advice to Hotel and Restaurant Management students Tuesday night at Kellogg Center.

"What we need is more complaining customers. We need them to be able to know what to do to improve the hotel and restaurant industry," he said.

Philippe said time must be taken to find out why a customer is dissatisfied with his room or food in order to discover how to keep the people happy. If customers air their complaints, management will be able to keep things from getting steadily worse.

"How can such a virtue nation be covered by a head waiter or a hostess?" Philippe inquired.

He explained that women are partly to blame for this circumstance. This is true because they usually tell their escort not to bother when he is about to raise a mainly fuss about poor food or service.

"Until recently," he said, "the fault lies with management, he explained. Not enough research on equipment, not enough emphasis on quality of food and poor planning are some of the things which must be corrected, he said.

The new $66 million ultra-modern Zeckendorf Hotel in New York, to be opened in 1962, is being designed specifically to keep the customers not only comfortable but happy, according to Philippe. He is consultant of layout, design and decoration for the hotel.

Telephones are being installed in all bathrooms because Philippe believes years have been taken on of men's lives by getting out of the tub to answer the phone.

A special entrance and exit hallway off the main lobby is being constructed to allow guests to come and go without being tripped by convention goers, and a mechanized system for signing in and out without waiting is being researched.

Atlas Rocket Explodes Into Boiling Inferno

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP)—An Atlas Intermediate Range Missile exploded Thursday as it was launched on a 5,000-mile flight.

The thunderous explosion ended a streak of 22 straight successes for the Atlas, America's most powerful military rocket.

When the countdown reached zero, the huge 85-foot rocket rose slowly from its pad. It had climbed only a few feet when it suddenly toppled over and exploded into a boiling inferno.

Foreign Film Series Slates British Movie

A would-be scandal magazine publisher gets the "inside story" on four ostensibly respectable public figures—and "Your Past is Showing," a British comedy that will be shown at Fairchild Theater at 7 and 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, is off on its ninth course.

Dennis Price plays the ambitious publisher who decides to produce a magazine called "The Naked Truth." Terry-Thomas acts a peer of the realm's minister out for exposure, Peter Sellers is a television personality who leads a double life.

Peggy Mount plays an authoress who's been awarded the Purify Prize for literature after a somewhat-less-than-pure life and Bill Edwards acts an American oil magnate whose relationship with Shirley Eaton, is suspect.

The victims of the blackmailing publisher first attempt individually and then as a group to murder him in this import, called "one of the funniest British farces to show up in some time," by a critic for the New York Herald Tribune.

"Your Past is Showing" was produced by Mario Zampi.

Seminar Members To Discuss Arctic

Members of the second Canadian-American Seminar of 1960 will discuss the Canadian arctic, the new North American frontier, Monday at 8 p.m. in Physics-Math lounge.

The Rt. Rev. Donald Marsh, Canadian Anglican Bishop of the Arctic, will participate. He has spent over 20 years in the arctic. In addition to The Rt. Rev. Marsh, two Canadians and two MSU professors will speak. Canadians are Clifford Wilson, director of the Glenbow Foundation in Calgary, and Clare Bolger, administrator of the Arctic, Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources, Ottawa.

Prof. Dieter Brunnschweiler of the geography department, chairman of the seminar, and Prof. Moreau Maxwell, curator of anthropology at the Museum, will represent MSU.

Rt. Rev. Marsh's first congregation at Eskimo Point was all Eskimos and he covered an area of over 30,000 square miles. He operated a boat and acted as doctor, carpenter, electrician, painter and school teacher.

Wilson is an author and former editor of "The Beaver," official magazine of Hudson's Bay Company. He organized the Hudson's Bay Company museum in Winnipeg and later became its director.

A former pilot with the Royal Canadian Air Force, Bolger is responsible for the administration of the districts of Kewatin and Franklin, and for the conduct of Eskimo affairs in Northern Quebec.

Maxwell was the only American among 18 scientists to take part in an archeological expedition to the far north sponsored by the Defense Research Board of Canada in 1958.

Brunnschweiler received the doctoral degree from the University of Zurich in Switzerland and has written numerous articles on geography.

The third and final Canadian-American Seminar is set for April 11 and will deal with organized labor and its role in Canadian-American relations.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Spare the rod and spoil the child? Not Bohden Pashkowsky, a teacher at Langley High School. He paddled 30 boys.

Said Pashkowsky in his defense Thursday: "Some of them didn't know Pittsburgh is the steel capital of the world."

Pashkowsky said he spent four or five days on material about the Middle Atlantic states.

Boyle's Book From 1666 Given to Friends of Library

A rare book written by Robert Boyle, discoverer of Boyle's Law, was presented to the Friends of the Library Society Thursday by the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi.

The book, "Some Observations and Directions About the Barometer," was published April 2, 1666, in London. It has a marbled board cover and a gilt title-page.

The library plans to purchase another book of Boyle's, "An Account of a New Kind of Baroscope Which May Be Called a Statical."

The presentation was made by Paul Bagwell, president of Friends of the Library Society, to G. Malcolm Trout, president of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Phi and vice president of the Friends of the Library.

10-Cent Card Theft Causes $1,000 Trial

MASON (AP)—A circuit court jury Thursday convicted a Lansing housewife of stealing a 10-cent greeting card.

Mrs. Mary Siegrist, 43, faces up to four years in prison and a $1,000 fine. She was accused of larceny from a building—a felony.

Mrs. Siegrist denied the charge.

In a Monday trial that Circuit Judge Louis Coon estimated would cost about $1,000. He set April 1 for sentencing when the jury of eight women and four men announced the verdict after deliberating more than two hours.

Mrs. Siegrist's defense attorney for a Lansing department store testified she saw Mrs. Siegrist take the card from a rack December 11 to a wrapping counter and write a greeting on it. Mrs. Morris and store employees said the woman had been under surveillance of a suspect in a department store.

The defendant, whose certified pictures and explanation during the testimony nearly brought a mistrial, claimed she had bought the card the night before. She argued that she had bought the envelope, which she had turned for it the next night. She said she took the envelope after notifying a clerk.

Shopping bags containing some $50 worth of merchandise bought from the store were in Mrs. Siegrist's possession when the arrest was made. All had been paid for or charged to her account.

University Orchestra To Perform

The University Symphony Orchestra will present its annual concert Tuesday at 8:15 in the Music Aud.

The program allows student performers and composers to present their work in public. Bill Seastron, North Muskegon senior, will open the program conducting George Bizet's Symphony in C major. Leon Brooks, Suffolk, Va., sophomore, will play the Concerto for alto saxophone by Giannini.

"Dove Song" from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" will be sung by Constance Fuller, East Lansing graduate student. The Concerto for clarinet by Mozart will be performed by John Wilson, Detroit graduate student.

Original compositions include for String Orchestra by Joseph Baber, Richmond, Va., senior, and Sinfonia for Chamber Band by Sherman Krane, East Lansing graduate student.

Baber will play Hindemith's "Musik für Viola und Trombe in memory of Albin Denero, former MSU violinist who was killed in the naval plane accident in Buenos Aires last month.

Charles Greenwill, East Lansing senior, will close the program conducting the second symphony by Giannini.

Maxwell Signs Contract

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Charlie Maxwell Thursday signed a $26,000 contract with the Detroit Tigers, ending a 10-day jobless period.

Maxwell agreed at the Tiger training camp late Thursday and quickly went into a huddle with General Manager Rick Ferrer. Maxwell had come down $1,000 from his original demand for $28,000, and the front office stood its ground at $25,000.

Maxwell met briefly with newsmen to explain his position in the matter. A half-hour later, the slugger outbatted out into another conversation with Ferrer and club President Bill Dewitt. They quickly came to terms.

Maxwell, most serious of Detroit's two hotshots, led the team in home runs with 31 and runs batted in with 93 last year. His 31 home runs are a club record for left-handed hitters.

Harvey Kuenn was the club's other hotshot, but he signed last Sunday for about $46,000, making him Detroit's highest paid player in nearly a decade.

Cincinnati Hopes For NCAA Crown

Robertson to Make Final Bid In Tourney Action Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oscar Robertson, a remarkably talented basketball player, begins his third and final effort to win the national collegiate basketball championship for the University of Cincinnati tonight.

The Big O is the most widely known and probably the most skilled of about 160 players who will engage in the second stage of NCAA tournament action on four fronts.

If he isn't the most skilled, West Virginia's Jerry West deserves the designation. But they are not far above three or four other outstanding players who help man the 16 teams.

Four regional tournaments tonight and Saturday will reduce the field to four teams which will play in the final rounds at Seattle March 18-19. The lineup goes this way (times eastern standard):

East, at Charlotte, N.C.: West Virginia (23-4) vs. New York University (20-3) at 7:30 p.m.; Duke (16-10) vs. St. Joseph's (20-5), 9:30 p.m.

Midwest, at Louisville, Ky.: Ohio University (17-7) vs. Georgia Tech (21-5), 8:30 p.m.; Western Kentucky (20-6) vs. Ohio State (21-3), 9:30 p.m.

South, at Manhattan, Kan.: Texas (18-6) vs. Kansas (19-8), 8:30 p.m.; DePaul (16-6) vs. Cincinnati (21-5), 10:30 p.m.

Far West, at Seattle, Wash.:

California (25-1) vs. Santa Clara (21-8), 10:30 p.m.; Oregon (18-9) vs. Utah (25-2), 12:30 p.m.

Tonight's winners will clash in the regional finals Saturday while the losers will meet in consolation games.

Cincinnati, with Robertson accumulating records by the bushel, qualified for the tournament by winning the Missouri Valley Conference championship for the third straight time. Its 25-1 season record was matched only by California, the defending NCAA champion. The teams ended the regular season ranked 1-2 in the Associated Press Poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Ohio State was ranked third and two other teams, West Virginia and Utah, were ranked among the top ten.

As a sophomore, Robertson led Cincinnati's Bearcats into the NCAA tournament, only to lose to Kansas State in their first game. Last year they were beaten by California in the semifinals but won third place in the tournament. This is their last chance to go all the way with Oscar.

Johnson, 'A's' Owner, Dies; Thinclads to Compete in Newspaper Relays

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Arnold Johnson, who turned a white eternal ball park into a financial success by moving the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City, died Thursday.

Death came to the 53-year-old Johnson a few hours after he was stricken by a cerebral hemorrhage as he drove to his Palm Beach home Wednesday from an intramural game at the A's training camp.

A policeman found him slumped over the steering wheel, the weight of his body sounding a distress call on the horn. He had seemed in good health and spirits at the ball game, friends said.

The Athletics were bought by Johnson from Connie Mack and his associates for about four million dollars five years ago.

The team in the fiscal year-end when shifted from Philadelphia became drawing card in its new home.

There was no immediate word on the club's future.

Johnson, whose previous sports experience was confined to intramural high school basketball, took an active role in managing the A's.

Part of the third place newspaper relay team will be competing in both the Chicago Daily News Relays today and the Milwaukee Journal Relays on Sunday.

Two relay teams, plus two individual performers, will be making the trip, according to Coach Fran Dittrich.

The mile relay team that placed third in the "Little" 20 indoor track meet last week will run in both meets. The team is composed of Brian Cantle, Mike Weisengruber, Willie Altshuler, and Willie Jim Carr or Zach Ford.

The Spartans are also entering a two-mile relay quartet, consisting of Cantle, Carr, Altshuler and Capt. Bob Lake as each of the mileers.

On Saturday at Milwaukee, Zach Ford will run in the short sprints and Mike Kleinhaus will be in the mile relay event. Altshuler was the only Bearcat victor in the Western Conference meet last weekend. Cantle and Carr finished second and fourth respectively in the 400-yard run. Lake was second in the 100-yard dash. Kleinhaus finished in a third place tie in the pole vault. Ford placed fourth in the 300-yard run and Weisengruber was on the third place mile-relay team.

Exams Cause Lull in Weekend Social Life

It's most obviously the weekend before finals, with the library being THE place to be this weekend. For many students, this is only a brief lull in their social schedule. Florida calls, in between terms, for some, and for those who prefer a rosy windburn to a tan, the ski slopes of Northern Michigan are in the peak of condition.

But, back on the MSU campus...

The men of Pi Kappa Phi will clear the cobwebs from their brains this evening with an "anything goes, costume" party. Martians, a sultan and his slave girls, pirates, and an old fashioned bar tender are only a few of the guests who plan to attend. Decorations will be carried out with the fraternity colors of blue and white.

Alpha Sigma Phi has planned an evening of relaxation at their casual, casual party this evening. Guests may dance to the house hi-fi or play cards.

Phi Mu will hold a Western square dance at the forestry cabin this evening. Clad in appropriate costumes, couples will "square off" to the rails of the Promenaders. Hot dogs will be served, "toast your own style" around the cabin fireplace.

The annual North and South Campbell term party will be held Saturday evening in the residence hall dining room. A Hawaiian setting of palm trees and orchids will carry out the theme of "So This Is Paradise."

Fresh coconuts are to be given as favors to dates. Refreshments will include a fresh fruit punch served by "natives" dressed in mu-mus.

Hillel Foundation recently elected Joni Delevitt, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Hillel queen for the coming year. The once a year contest recently held, saw the women of Alpha Epsilon Phi win a trophy for their own semi-formal affair.

WHEN A LIBRARY DATE is the "big weekend activity," it must mean that winter term, at long last, is about ready to end. Tying together the last bit of term paper information and trying
