Encourage Whites, Exclude Negroes

Stop Immigration to S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—South Africa is closing its gates against migratory Negro labor and seeking to swell the influx of white immigrants, the government announced Tuesday.

A long range plan to improve the balance of three million whites against 10 million blacks was outlined by Interior Minister J. F. Naude before Parliament in Cape Town.

Speaking in this fourth week of a crisis capped Saturday by a white man's attempt to assassinate Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, Naude said the government now considers immigration of the utmost importance and specially wants white skilled workers.

He mentioned the Netherlands, Belgium and Germany as likely sources to improve the flow, which has been running only about 16,000 annually. He told Parliament he has already asked Chambers of Commerce, the Agricultural Union and other organizations to help bring in white settlers.

Coupled with this was a warning to the nation's farmers that they will soon have to do without the cheap help of Negroes who have been imported for farm work by the thousands from other African territories.

"With all the trouble the country has experienced," Naude said, "it (the government) will no longer be able to allow migratory Bantu (Negro) labor from outside to be brought into the Union (of South Africa) indiscriminately."

Naude denied long standing allegations that the dominant Nationalists, largely men of Dutch descent, have impeded immigration by English-speaking people to this member of the Commonwealth in fear that they would vote against the Nationalist government.

Criticism of the Government developed in spots while physicians built up Verwoerd's strength at a Pretoria hospital for an eventual operation to remove two bullets fired into his head by David Pratt, 52, a wealthy English-born farmer. Pratt still is being held but no charges against him have been announced.

Unsigned leaflets addressed to "White South Africans" fluttered down from tall buildings in Johannesburg. Declaring the government was leading the nation to ruin, they demanded an end to the state of emergency regulations, abolition of the laws requiring nonwhites to carry passes, the release of political prisoners and consultation between government and African leaders.

"Act before it is too late," the leaflets urged.

President Plans Visit To Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday added a one-day visit to South Korea to his projected trip to Russia and Japan in June.

The announcement, from Eisenhower's Augusta, Ga., vacation headquarters, raised possibilities that he might travel also to Formosa and the Philippines. However, officials said there are no such plans at present.

As matters now stand Eisenhower will arrive in Moscow from Washington on June 10, four days after a return of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to America last September, then fly from Siberia to Tokyo on June 19.

He will interrupt a June 19-22 stay in Japan to fly to Korea and back on June 22. A Tokyo-bound jet flight takes less than two hours.

Eisenhower is expected to confer with South Korean President Syngman Rhee and visit U.S. troops stationed on this front line of the cold war.

In Tokyo, the U.S. Chief Executive will meet with Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi and other Japanese officials.

The Korean visit will demonstrate U.S. interest in South Korea as well as Japan. And it will give Eisenhower a chance to seek an easing of frictions between those two U.S. far eastern allies.

But it also makes pressure from two other allies further south — Nationalist China and the Philippines — for Eisenhower stopovers there.

Manila recently renewed an earlier invitation to Eisenhower. Other southeast Asian countries, both U.S. friends and neutrals, want the prestige of a presidential visit, too.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty is now on an advance trip working out arrangements for Eisenhower's travels.

Vets Reveal Plans for Two Point Dinner

The MSU Veterans Association will hold its second 2 Point Dinner April 26, at Coral Gables, it announced Tuesday.

The 3 Point Dinner, which was held for the first time last year, is an All-University affair with no restrictions as to age, class or curriculum.

The objective of the dinner is to further student-family relations and, as part of the affair, awards will be presented to two students and two faculty members who, in the opinion of the Vets Club, were outstanding in creating better relations between students and faculty.

This year's dinner will start at 5:30 p.m. and will run until 7:30 p.m. It will feature a spaghetti feast served buffet style at a cost of one dollar per person for all you can eat.

The tickets, white for faculty and green for students, will go on general sale Wednesday and will be available at the Union Building and at the Vets Association office at 336 Student Services. The purpose of the two color ticket system is to aid in the seating arrangements and insure maximum contact and socializing between students and faculty.

According to Vets Club spokesman, it is anticipated that tickets will sell out quickly this year, based on last year's attendance figures. Plans to attend should be made early enough to purchase tickets when they go on sale.

Cuban Diplomat Seeks Refuge

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The former commander of Fidel Castro's air force resigned as air attaché of the Cuban Embassy Tuesday charging the Castro regime had betrayed the revolution.

He is Capt. Manuel Villafana Martinez. He left Mexico this morning in a private plane for the United States.

Villafana is the second major attaché of the Cuban Embassy in Mexico to defect in recent weeks. The other was the Cuban naval attaché, Capt. Jaime Varilla Castro. He fled to the United States March 23.

State Sales Tax Vote Approved

Canada-U. S. Labor Ties 'Pretty Good'

The Canadian-American labor situation was described as reasonably satisfactory by Eugene Forsey, director of research for the Canadian Labor Congress, at the third Canadian-American seminar Monday night.

Forsey was one of three speakers who discussed the role of organized labor in Canadian-American relations.

The other two speakers were Prof. Samuel Barnes, department of political science, University of Michigan, and Thomas Downs, assistant director of the Michigan AFL-CIO.

Forsey described the Canadian-American labor relations as "pretty good" and said:

"We must make the best use of them — we can."

After a brief discussion of the Canadian position in the larger international trade unions, Forsey said that the differences between the systems of government of the two nations prohibit a great deal of comparison between the two labor systems.

"We have a different system of legislation," Forsey said, speaking of his Canadian homeland.

"A stricter discipline within the political parties makes the members of parliament vote along party lines," Forsey said. "This eliminates the chances of any interest group lobbying individual representatives, and requires more action against the entire political party."

Forsey said that there is a very strong nationalistic sentiment in Canadian international unions.

"We are very grateful for the American money, know-how, and experts we have gotten," Forsey said. "However, we now think we have reached the stage we can run our own affairs quite well."

Barnes then went into a discussion of the "Canadian and Catholic Federation of Labour." The federation had its origin in the province of Quebec as a confessional union, Barnes said.

Barnes explained that a confessional union is limited only to Catholics and has as part of its purpose the social aims of Catholicism.

Barnes then outlined a period when new leadership introduced a broader concept of trade unions. The federation also became an essentially non-confessional union, one which recognizes the importance of religion, but keeps it out of unionism.

"They (the Canadian and Catholic Federation of Labour) have become a dynamic force in Quebec," Barnes said.

Downs talked of some of the labor conditions which, in his opinion, are better in Canada than in the United States.

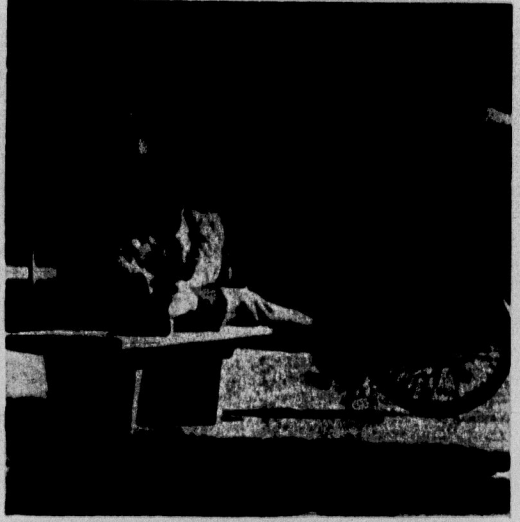

Workers' compensation, unemployment compensation, social security, and family allowances were some that he mentioned.

"We have to try to do something to get more face-to-face contact between the Canadian labor movement and the Americans," Downs said.

"It is easy to think that our problems are found only within our borders," he said.

Downs cited "automation" and the unknown political development of America (Where are we going? How will the worker vote?) as two of the major problems facing American labor.

Forsey said that these are also major problems in Canada. He also said anti-labor legislation in some provinces is another worry of the Canadian labor movement.

Prospects Pessimistic Confusion Sweeps Italy As Government Falls

ROME (AP)—Italy was mired Tuesday in a grave political crisis jeopardizing its whole postwar system of parliamentary democracy.

There was no government. And there was black pessimism over the prospects of forming one easily or soon.

The once-nightly Christian Democrat party which led every Italian government since the fall of Fascism has split apart at the seams.

Italy is caught in the multiparty chaos that led to the fall of the French Republic.

Almost every independent newspaper in Italy Tuesday put the blame on an internal break-up of the Christian Democrat party.

The first warning that this NATO nation might be in serious trouble came Feb. 24.

Sardinian Premier Antonio Segni resigned his already-shaky Christian Democratic government without even calling for a vote of confidence in parliament.

He blamed the tiny Center Liberal party, which had walked out on an alliance with him.

In the month and a half that followed, one Christian Democrat leader after another tried to patch together a government.

The party, although the strongest in Italy, falls short of a majority in Parliament.

The Christian Democrats appeared split into three major groups, the Left Wing, Center, and Right Wing. Even these factions splintered badly within themselves.

Big 3 Hope For Atomic Testing Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Big Three foreign ministers launched a review of pre-summit prospects Tuesday amid mounting optimism that East-West leaders will agree next month to an enforceable ban on nuclear tests.

This somewhat cheery Allied view appeared to be offset by a feeling that the Summit party would fail to ease the deadlock over Berlin and Germany's future.

Leading off a three-day conference, Secretary of State Christian Herter discussed the outlook in a closed door meeting with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Herter met the Allied Foreign Policy chiefs a few hours after talking privately with Lloyd and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano, who joins the conference today.

There were signs the Big Three Foreign Ministers would recommend that their government chiefs pursue an exceedingly cautious policy in negotiating with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Diplomatic officials reported that Herter shared the West German view that the summit conference should start afresh in seeking an acceptable peace settlement.

This meant, they said, that Herter opposed beginning any Summit talk about Berlin by reintroducing concessions the Allies offered at a foreign ministers meeting in Geneva last August.

Trash Fire Threatens Large Area

A rubbish fire got out of control Tuesday afternoon in the Lake Lansing area, burned over 180 acres, threatened homes and caused two firemen to collapse of fatigue and exhaustion.

Mrs. Ruby Downey was burning rubbish on her property at Kaiser Road in Clinton county when the fire got out of control and spread into the Meridian Township, according to the Meridian Township fire dept.

A farm building owned by Mrs. Minnie Towner, 16990 Upton Road, was destroyed in the blaze. Mrs. Towner, a widow living alone, watched as flames threatened her entire property, firemen said.

Six houses near Lake Drive were threatened, firemen reported, and a concentrated effort was made to save a farm on Coleman Road.

The two firemen of the Meridian Township fire dept. who were overcome with fatigue and exhaustion were Sgt. Roger Johnson, Holt, and a volunteer fireman, Jerry Cross, Haslett. Both men were out of the fire area when they collapsed, firemen said.

The fire started in Clinton County with the Bath fire department responding, then Meridian and East Lansing fire departments were called in to assist.

A Meridian Township fireman said that burning of domestic rubbish is the common cause of most grass fires. He said that too many times a housewife or child will light a rubbish fire and then will not stay around to watch it.

Princess Peg Will Promise To Obey Tony

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret will promise to obey commoner Antony Armstrong-Jones at their wedding May 6. But she will not listen to a sermon from England's leading churchman.

A disclosure that the Princess wants no sermon, not even from the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, who will perform the ceremony, was made Tuesday by Dr. Eric Abbott, the dean of Westminster Abbey.

Instead of a sermon she will hear the Beatitudes, from the Sermon on the Mount, from the fifth chapter of St. Matthew.

WAHS Student Supported Shaw Hall Starts Radio Station

Last week Shaw Hall began its own radio station, WAHS, which broadcasts from 4:00 p.m. until 12:00 p.m. Sunday through Friday at 630 kc.

The men of Shaw are able to receive musical entertainment by means of carrier current radio transmission.

Men with standard "plug in" radios need only dial 630 kc. Those with portables must place them close to the radiator or electrical outlet in order to receive the signal.

Heading the 30 man group is Paul Almlil, who is operations and program director. Almlil, a production management major, is interested in radio and television and has had experience with the Brody radio station.

Until sufficient funds are available, announcers will have to borrow records from fellow students and from their own collections to run the shows.

Arrangements have been made with WSWM-FM to rebroadcast their shows to provide more balanced programming.

At present WAHS offers no news coverage, but plans are being made to provide such a service.

Due to university ruling, WAHS must remain non-commercial, therefore it is student supported.

Almlil said that the biggest problem facing the group is the lack of good equipment. Until this is remedied there can be no attempt made to start a record library.

"More help is needed if this is to be a success," said Almlil. "Experience isn't necessary. All that is required is that you live in Shaw Hall and have an interest in radio."

There are positions open for announcers, engineers, and other workers. Those interested should see Almlil in G-33, East Shaw Hall.

Almlil felt, when asked of future possibilities, that WAHS could lead to an all-university closed circuit station in the distant future. However, "it will be a long hard process" before this becomes a reality.

East Lansing Kiwanis club will hold its annual Easter Egg hunt Saturday at the East Lansing City park at 3 p.m.

All area children from kindergarten through third grade may participate. In case of rain the hunt will be held Sunday at the same time.

Austrian Officer Gives 'Cop' Talk

Dr. Franz Chrudimak, superintendent of the Alien Police in Vienna, spoke before a group of police at students on the Austrian police system.

The Austrian system is considerably different from the American system, Chrudimak said. Austria is divided into "lands" comparable to our states. However, there are no local officials, all officials being employed and paid by the federal government.

These local federal officers' powers are limited by law, he said. The police commanders are under the President of Police, who is directly responsible to the minister of the interior.

Fall Ballot On Con Con Is Defeated

House Approves Senate Proposal

LANSING (AP)—The Legislature Tuesday cleared away the final barriers blocking a statewide vote on raising the sales tax ceiling from three to four cents.

Without a word of debate, the House okayed a Senate-approved resolution to put the proposition on the Nov. 8 ballot. The 25-16 bi-partisan vote was 11 more than the two-thirds approval needed to send it to the voters.

Later, the House refused to authorize a referendum on a convention to rewrite Michigan's 52-year-old constitution.

Two proposals for a November vote both were soundly beaten, leaving it up to petitioners to get the issue on the ballot.

The sales tax vote was a signal victory for Republican legislators, who have tried for more than a year to solve the state's financial troubles with a sales tax increase.

Gov. Williams and Democrats said the statewide vote would give Michigan citizens an opportunity to choose between a higher sales tax and a personal income tax.

Williams and most Democratic legislators fought stubbornly last year for an income tax but were repeatedly rebuffed in the Republican controlled Senate.

"Everyone knows by position that an income tax is fairer than a sales tax," the governor said. "If the people vote down the sales tax increase in November, I would conclude it meant they wanted an income tax."

Thirty-three House Democrats sided with 32 Republicans to vote for the sales tax referendum. Last week, the same proposition attracted only 17 Democratic votes and it fell four votes short of passage.

The question will appear on the ballot as an amendment to the state constitution and will require a simple majority vote for approval.

Another proposed constitutional amendment for a convention call, and a change in the delegate system drew a 29-64 vote, far short of the two-thirds needed for approval and transfer to the Senate.

The delegate change was proposed by the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce and the League of Women Voters as the initial step toward a convention in 1961 to revise the state's 52-year-old constitution.

Their proposal, offered as a compromise, would provide for election of convention delegates under the same system for electing the 144 House and Senate members.

Gov. Williams and Paul Bagwell, 1958 GOP gubernatorial candidate, both endorsed the plan.

Twenty-five House Democrats and 39 Republicans rejected the recommendation of the two party leaders. Twenty-six Democrats and 13 Republicans backed it.

Student Groups To Go On WJLS

AUSG, Orchesis, and the Promenaders will all be represented tonight at 9:30 on WJLS radio.

Dan Riedel, director of orientation for student government, will explain the organization of the Orientation Committee and how they perform the program of acquainting new students with the university.

Sharon Sandborn, publicity chairman for Orchesis, and Mary Paul, representing the Promenaders, will discuss their forthcoming dance, "Kaleidoscope."

Orchesis, the modern dance group, and Promenaders, the square dance organization on campus, are sponsoring the dance on April 20.

The radio program is scheduled every Wednesday night at 9:30 and is sponsored by the public relations committee of student government. Randy Hippler and Pat Ficec end program the show each week.

As He Retires Frimodig Looks Back At MSU Over Past Years

Back a few decades ago, Business Manager of Athletics Laman Frimodig could look out his office window and see a nine-hole golf course where the ROW drill field is today. It was over 45 years ago when Frimodig first entered MSU from Michigan Agricultural College as a student.

Old News Same Story On Campus

One of the greatest characteristics of college students is their lack of interest in current events. This statement would be true if it were taken from any country, State News, an opinion poll conducted by Dr. Stanley Idemitsu, psychology professor, says.

This statement was made nearly 20 years ago in an editorial in the State News. It is frequently held that the days ahead has become brighter with the dawn of the 1950's.

During the school year 1955-56, things were different on the campus in many respects. Freshmen were still wearing "poor" and "beatnik" clothes.

Discussing the new situation since at football games in October State News editorial declared: "Neither the team, nor the coaching staff, nor the student body has the spark."

A letter to the editor in early 1956 declared that "original ideas and student opinion are suppressed in the classroom." And a lack of Wolverine sales brought fears of having to junk the apparel.

The years 1951-52 were similar. That was the year the burning of the ROTC building, kidnapping of speaking classroom, painting of murals and banners on buildings, and dancing in the Red Cedar was declared illegal.

Local restaurants were selling hamburgers, for a time, the S.A.T.'s won the Water Carnival, and the State News, which has been publishing since a week, came out only once a week, due to a lack of funds.

The Student Council was called a "do-nothing" council, compulsory class attendance was the major complaint of the day, and the Wolverine still wasn't selling.

A November editorial in 1957 declared, "Millions of ROTC's should be voluntary, in compulsory form, should be meaningful and better glorification of war."

Wolverine Emphasizes Students As Individuals

You, the student, will be the featured topic of the 1960 yearbook, the Wolverine, according to Jennings Bird, editor of the publication.

The emphasis is on what the student as an individual does during his educational stay at the university, rather than what MSU is doing as an institution.

English Used World Over

WASHINGTON (AP)—Of all the nation's languages, few are more widely understood than the English language.

This is something that people around the world want badly, Miss Anita Sanchez said. "The desire is part of this world."

Miss Sanchez should know. She has taught English in Greece, and she now heads the English speaking program for the U.S. Information Agency.

Many a congressman complains bitterly that too few of us bother to master another language. Which, alas, is true.

But communication is a two way trip. If we can't speak their language, maybe they can speak ours.

About 140 teachers, blood by in taxpayers, spread the English gospel. Many of these are in Latin America, but teachers also have gone to spots as wild as Cambodia, Myanmar, Laos, Afghanistan, Jordan, Guinea and Somalia.

Mostly these classes are in National centers, set up by our government and others. Students usually pay tuition, and get a chance not only to learn English, but also to use the English language.

They are confident ourselves, but many to buy a record of 1958 watching the game. He recalls, "But most important it was a lot of fun."

Other students, however, were disappointed. One student from Michigan State University, who was in the Michigan State band, said he was disappointed because he had to play the tuba.

Frimodig could not remain away from MSU long, however. In 1975 he returned, this time as a member of the faculty. He coached freshman football, basketball and baseball and was an instructor in physical education. In 1976 Frimodig became the varsity coach of those three sports.

Frimodig was appointed business manager of athletics in 1979, after he had remained in the late 1970's Frimodig learned that some gangsters were planning to hold up the gate at a football game. At halftime he returned the gate's receipts, stuffed in the money in various bags, and took them into his pocket, and gave them to the gatekeepers.

A motorcycle policeman drove him across the town to the vault in the athletic building, new the money. However, one of the money bags was missing when they arrived.

Quick backtracking. Frimodig found the bag lying on the ground by the banks of the Red Cedar.

Frimodig usually accompanied the football team on road trips and has accumulated some 17,000 miles in the past 17 years.

He is a member of the East Lansing Veterans, a past president of the Longhill Country Club, Amateur Athletic Club, and a member of the National Athletic Business Men's Assn.

He served as mayor of East Lansing for four years and as a member of the city council.

Recently, Frimodig announced that he will retire July 1 after 41½ years of continuous service at the athletic department.

Power Plant Invades Hell

THE GEYSERS, Calif. (AP)—There is a quarter-mile stretch on the side of a canyon here where the earth constantly tremes, cracks and sends up a stench of helium.

Historians say a hunter who was in the area in 1847 thought he had found the outskirts of hell.

But there never was any fire in the area any event. Instead of volcanic eruptions, tourists must see the 100 miles north of San Francisco's playground, the S. Geysers, Horace Greeley, Giuseppe Garibaldi, Theodore Roosevelt and William Jennings Bryan are among the nobles who visited the natural wonder.

The billowing clouds that come from the ground are plumes of steam. In the middle 1920's engineers dared to drill nearby. The result was steam gushers. An attempt was made to harness these steam wells for power, but nothing came of it.

Five years ago the Great Power Co. leased a 3,200-acre stretch of the canyon site and the next year teamed with the "Thermal Power Co." to develop the site for marketing the steam.

Early next month, if all goes well, steam from four of the nine producing wells will be piped to a new 2 million dollar power plant built by the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. and will start producing electric power on a commercial basis.

At Conference Dr. Drews Discusses Superior Youngsters

PHILADELPHIA Pa.—What do you do with a 13-year-old boy who is bored by kindergarten and goes home and reads his books? What is the difference between imagination and intuition?

Dr. Drews, with a request for a similar question in the abstract, asked AC and Dr. This is the question he has been asking for some time when he was 100 years old by giving through the pages of a magazine.

Dr. Drews stressed that some gifted students are inclined toward the abstract and symbolic, such as mathematics and nuclear physics. Others find the aesthetic, such as painting and writing, more satisfying.

The Michigan State researcher noted that at a time when imagination and new and dramatic ideas are valued more than ever, "We are giving our children less and less time to be creative."

She referred to the growing trend of filling every minute with some scheduled activity both during and after school.

Lutheran Ministers Plan Psychology Discussion

The psychology and morality of the American way of life will be scrutinized when Lutheran pastors of northern Michigan meet in conference April 27 at MSU.

More than 40 pastors from Lutheran churches in the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of the Lower Peninsula are expected to attend the event at the University Center, sponsored by the Michigan Committee on Church Religious Programs.

Conference officials said the program will emphasize the psychological approach to human behavior as related to religion and society.

First on the agenda will be a discussion by Dr. John Jordan, assistant professor in the department of administration and educational services, on "What the Human Mind Is Like."

Dr. Jordan will follow with an examination of the question of whether there is such a thing as a "Christian mind."

Dr. James Brennan, professor of Police Administration and Public Safety, will stress the psychological approach in his

Cast Announced For MSU Drama

The University Theater announced this week the cast of its upcoming production, "Darkness at Noon," a tense drama about communism written by Guy Kingsley, to be presented at the University Theater at 8 p.m. April 27-30. Frank Rutledge is the director.

Playing the role of the disillusioned party leader Rubashov will be Bernard Tate. In the role of his mistress Luba will be Anne Zandop Choffi. Ivanoff, a former comrade in arms, will be portrayed by Robert Broll. Charles Choffi will take the role of Gekker, Rubashov's diabolical neighbor and representative of the new order.

Others in the cast include Gordon Steinhauer, Robert Gray, Kenneth Peck, Carleton Alsop, Bob Owenchain, Dick Brundie, Bob West, Jerry Cochodes, Stanley Rurton and Bonnie Rice.

16 Ag Econ Students Enjoy Trip to Mexico

Mexico, land of bullfighters, Aztec pyramids and silver and gold became reality to 16 Ag Econ students during spring vacation.

But they also saw the worst of Mexico—the hot tropical weather, the sandy deserts, peacocks and the little titled agricultural lands.

The 16 Ag Econ students left for Mexico during spring vacation to see and better understand its agriculture and to see some of its tourist attractions.

The group of 11 men, two women and two advisors left East Lansing March 23 for the 10-day trip.

The trip was the result of a year's planning and the financial aid of several agricultural interested businesses.

They stayed in the Hotel Victoria in Mexico City. They visited the market places and the the exotic food of Mexico, tortillas, chili, and papayas.

National League Opens Regular Season: Milwaukee, Cincinnati Win Openers

CINCINNATI (AP)—Home runs by Roy McMillan rookie Tony Gonzalez backed up brilliant relief pitching by Jim O'Toole in the Cincinnati Reds' 6-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

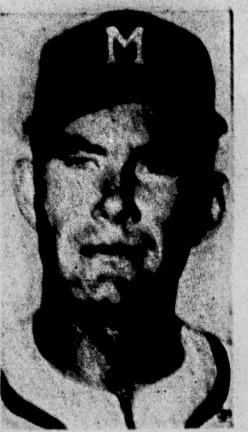

A crowd of 20,013 sat in 74-degree temperature under cloudy skies for the National League opener in which the Reds pulled out of a four-run deficit for their victory.

McMillan, who never hit more than one home run in a season in his baseball career, drove in three runs with his homer and brought another home later with a sacrifice hit.

Gonzalez got a single in addition to his homer and drove in two runs. In addition he made a great running one-handed catch against the right field bleacher wall.

LEW BURDETTE timely relief...

JOE AMICK key homer...

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A towering two-run homer by Joe Amick in the eighth inning headed off the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh.

Earl Lew Burdette came out of the bullpen to cut short a two-hit bid by the Pirates in a National League opener.

Amick picked up the lead pitch from Pittsburgh relief specialist Elroy Face and sent the ball soaring over the right field fence to score Hank Aaron ahead of him as a parting crowd of 39,888 roared approval.

The Pirates held the seven-inning game to a tie score in the top of the eighth, but the score at 2-2. That set the stage for Amick's dramatic blow.

Don McMahon, who relieved Face in the eighth, was pitched out but managed to escape further damage in the inning.

The victory was credited to McMahon while Face, who had an 18-1 record last year, suffered the defeat in relief of starter Bob Foy.

Foy, who pitched eight and a half innings, was charged with a heavy hitting Braves game seven hits, struck out seven and walked only one before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the Pirates' eighth inning.

Seaha appeared in control until the eighth. He had surrendered only four hits before his downfall.

Gridders Go Outdoors

By JIM WALLINGTON
State News Sports Editor

Hobbit, the sophomore who was injured the last day of spring football practice Monday, will undergo surgery this morning.

The James Ferlie team physician who will perform the operation said he will require a hernia operation from the player's left knee.

"We don't have to cut too extensively for the vertebrae," he said. Hobbit will be able to walk by next fall.

Hobbit, a 220-pounder from Buchanan, was one of head coach Duffy Daugherty's answers to an injury line problem. Daugherty said he needed beef that could stand fast to plug defensive and offensive line holes.

Daugherty claims Hobbit will make any professional outfit right now.

The spring said that Fred Adams, a top end last fall, will look into shape gradually. Adams suffered back trouble during the winter. He was running four miles Tuesday.

The products of Duffy's reducing salon enjoyed good weather for their second day of workouts. Most of the gridders are in good shape as a result of a weight reducing program the players had to follow over the winter.

Being assigned each player a weight to reach by the start of spring workouts. The gridders worked in weekly in front of a scale.

Howard Mudd dropped to 211 pounds. Dave Behrman to 270, Kamick to 236, Ron Hansen to 208 and George Stevenson to 200.

The coaches also took part in Oops! There Goes Another Track Mark!

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Pole vaulter J. D. Martin, University of Oklahoma junior, cleared the cross bar at a world record 15 feet 8 1/2 inches Tuesday — but there was some doubt about if it was accepted.

Martin, who earlier this year cleared 15-1 1/4 at the Big Eight conference indoor meet, made his 8 1/2 first try. Later he tried to clear 16 feet but failed on his second and almost cleared it on the second of three attempts. He didn't miss all day and the bar was at 16 feet.

The mark will be submitted as a world record. However, Oklahoma track coach Bill Carroll said there may be some doubt about it because the cross bar was not behind one upright and in front of another and because there was tape on the pole which he cut from the uprights to support the cross bar.

The existing world pole vault records are held by Americans. Bob Golowski vaulted 15-8 1/2 inches in 1958 and Don Bragg, one of Villanova, did 15-9 1/2 inches.

the program. Most of them, including Daugherty, made their weights.

The 150-man squad split up Tuesday to sharpen basic football fundamentals. The first full-scale scrimmage is set for Saturday.

The only exciting action of the training workout occurred when Don Watkins, a promising sophomore halfback, lost his con-

Frosh Netmen Meet

A group of about 20 prospective freshmen tennis players met with tennis coach Stan Drobac Friday afternoon in the IM building.

Coach Drobac stressed the importance of eligibility as well as ability. He pointed out that the freshman year is the most important for any athlete, since there are no matches or competition to keep them in shape.

The things that the coach will be looking for in the freshmen are ability, desire, and poise. "I can show each one of you what you are doing wrong, and how to correct it, the rest is up to you," said the coach.

list of six or eight players to be chosen by the results of a double-elimination singles tournament.

All freshmen and transfer students and anyone interested in varsity tennis should report to Steve Bean, tennis manager, at the varsity courts, or in the Mack IM building, after 3 p.m. daily.

Michigan State baseball players Ken Avery, Craig Van Sledright, Don Munce and Bill Schulich were members of Dearborn's championship Amateur Baseball Congress team in 1959.

Jobless List Increases With March Storms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The worst March storms in two decades sent unemployment soaring beyond the four million mark last month. The Labor Department, announcing the new figures Tuesday, predicted a sharp rebound in the job situation in April. Secretary Wolfensohn, department economic adviser, said better April weather promises improvement. Employment declined by 222,000 in March, totaling 64,567,000 compared with 64,789,000 in February. Normal employment was 64,789,000. Unemployment rose by 275,000—biggest March increase since World War II. The idle total was 4,262,000 compared with 3,821,000 in February. A decline of 180,000 had been expected. A little more than six out of every 100 workers were idle in March, the seasonally adjusted basis the figures showed. 84.4 percent of the work force had jobs and 15.6 percent equaled jobless.

WKAR Gets Safety Award

The National Safety Council announced Monday that WKAR has been selected to receive the Council's 1959 Public Interest Award. This marks the tenth consecutive year that WKAR has been awarded this recognition for exceptional service to the community. WKAR also is the only educational radio station this year to receive the award. The award is presented annually to the station which has demonstrated the highest degree of safety awareness in its community. WKAR was selected for its outstanding record in safety education, particularly in the area of fire prevention and home safety. The award is presented by the National Safety Council, a national organization dedicated to the prevention of accidents and the promotion of safety.

Hypothalamus Causes Urge Hungry? It's Only Chemicals in Head

CHICAGO (AP)—Don't blame your stomach if you keep raiding the refrigerator for between-meal snacks. It could be that a chemical is stimulating a hunger center in your brain. A scientist reported Tuesday that certain rats, when certain brain areas are stimulated with electrical impulses, have been driven to eat an additional 20 percent of their normal food intake. The N. K. Miller of Yale University gave the report at his research to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. The experimental rats injected themselves with food after the electrodes were implanted in their skulls and an electrical current was passed through an area of the hypothalamus. Similar results occurred when different chemicals were injected directly into the brain areas. In another experiment, rats were trained to press a lever which delivered food to them. When electrodes on food lever were placed in the brain, the rats

Britain Denies Russians Visas

LONDON (AP)—A Russian group has been refused visas to enter Britain for a student conference on nuclear disarmament, conference officials said Sunday.
