Stevenson Proposes Strategy

Blasts Ike's Administration

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, expanding on his recent criticism of Eisenhower Administration foreign policy, Wednesday propounded a "grand strategy for peace."

On one hand, he contended the Administration's effectiveness has been seriously undermined by collapse of the Summit conference. On the other, he offered his own five-point program to restore confidence in American leadership.

Stevenson declared, "The effectiveness for leadership of the present administration in Washington has been impaired if not destroyed."

His five-point program:

1. Build up "a deterrent power and a limited was capability with our NATO allies that does not depend on the budget bureaucrats."

2. Strengthen the Western Alliance by "building a stronger political and economic community in the free world" and setting up an Atlantic council.

3. Engage with our allies in planning of a long-range aid program for underdeveloped countries.

4. Assert that general and complete disarmament under international control is "an imperative for all of us."

5. Demonstrate the effectiveness of freedom in the United States by meeting needs for schooling, research, health, housing and all forms of public services.

Stevenson called the Summit collapse at Paris a defeat for the policies of both President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

"The Stalinist faction in Russia has been strengthened," he said. "Red China and Russia have been thrust closer together."

"True national unity," he said, "will come only from courageous self scrutiny and search for truth by Democrats and Republicans alike."

His "grand strategy for peace," he said, implies continuous negotiations with the Soviets at Sub-Summit levels, with the United States stepping up its competition as strenuously as we can on the political and economic fronts, and "by demonstrating that action rather than words that our system has more to offer mankind than theirs."

Williams Talks With Kennedy

LANSING (AP) — Sen. John Kennedy, trying for new impetus in his drive for the White House, shifts his bid today to Michigan, home of 51 delegate votes at the Democratic national convention.

The Massachusetts senator will fly in from Chicago amid rising speculation that the big bloc could wind up in his corner despite a favorite-son pledge to Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The delegation is committed to the Governor until released by him.

Coming at Williams' invitation, Kennedy will huddle with the Governor and other Michigan delegation leaders at the Williams' summer residence.

The session was described by Kennedy as an occasion to talk over the national platform and the political situation generally.

Williams told newsmen there would be no political "deal" made.

But sources close to Williams gave the impression that anything was possible, especially if Kennedy reassured doubters in Michigan about the depth and breadth of his stamp as a "liberal."

Michigan Democrats long and ardently have demanded an outspoken liberal pledge for the 1960 campaign, holding that such a trademark is essential to national victory this fall.

Red Cedar Spectacle Opens

Cruising on the River Tonight

A float portrayal of "The Sound of Music" will sail into the Red Cedar River tonight at 8:30 for the opening performance of the 1960 Water Carnival.

The annual river extravaganza begins a three night run tonight at 8:30. Friday's show also starts at 8:30. Tickets are still available at the Union ticket office.

Bob Eberhart and his orchestra will provide the background music for the sixth consecutive year. Mary Worsfold, Grand Rapids fr.; Terry Braverman, Wilmette, Ill., fr.; and Chuck Coffi, Long Island, N.Y., Jr. will share the master of ceremonies spotlight for all three nights.

In addition to the traditional float and water sports entertainment, there will also be entertainment on land this year.

Plans have been made for a Water Carnival midway on the banks of the river. The midway will feature games of skill costing from 10-25 cents. Prizes will range from stuffed animals to sporting goods.

A "Senior Week Magazine" will serve as the 1960 Water Carnival souvenir program and will be sold at each performance. Fieder Maus, the 1960 Water Carnival mascot, will tell the story of Water Carnival.

Tonight's judges are Mrs. Russell Darling, East Lansing; Vince Carillo, MSU assistant football coach, and Dick Gringhuis, East Lansing artist. Judges Friday include Bob Reynolds, WJR sports announcer, Sam Williams, former MSU football player now with the Detroit Lions, Major John Barron of the ROTC department and Kenward Atkin, advertising instructor.

Judging the final performance Saturday evening are Dr. Lincoln Pettit, natural science; William Sweetland, assoc. professor of humanities, and J. Colby Lewis, professor of TV, radio and film.

The floats will be judged on a 1,000-point scale with a possible total of 500 points for effectiveness of presentation, 300 for design and construction and 200 for continuity.

Water sports will highlight the intermission entertainment all three nights. Canoe switch and the centipede race will be held tonight, while the tub-canoe relay and the standing broom race are planned for the Friday night intermission. The tub relay and gunwale have been scheduled for the Saturday night performance.

The officers for the incoming senior class are: Bob Gustafson, Grand Rapids, president; Ted Horning, Akron, Ohio, vice president; Sharon Jones, Toledo, Ohio, secretary; and Norma Smith, Detroit, treasurer.

The officers selected the following members for senior council: Jane Bingham, Gainsville, Fla., '61 Club; Larry Landisley, Livonia, public relations; Jane Denison, East Lansing, commencement; Jim Frink, Rochester, Homecoming.

Also, Kelli Green, Barrington, Ill., social; Bill Aldridge, Port Huron, MSU Development Fund; Marilyn Moyer, Toledo, Ohio, Senior Sailing; Barbara Ruppert, Bellwood, Ill., president's reception; Chloreen Hamilton, Marshall, seniors of the week.

Members-at-large will be: Walt John, Milwaukee, Wis., and Bob Keavy, Pontiac.

Class Officers Named, Senior Awards Announced

MSU's 100th Graduating Class Swings Out

The 100th graduating class of MSU wound its way around campus Tuesday night on a final swing before congregating at the Auditorium for a message from President John A. Hannah and announcements of permanent officers and class awards.

Nearly 300 graduates-to-be participated in the 50th annual Swingout.

Class officers and members of the '60 Club gathered at Ag Hall at 7:30 p.m. and with the MSU Marching Band led the procession around campus to pick up seniors at their respective colleges.

Night classes enjoyed a brief respite as students stopped studying to watch the cap-and-gown seniors march by.

Dr. Hannah bound MSU's past with the future as he spoke at the convocation following the procession.

He summed up the philosophy of the founding of MSU. The university today does not mind being called "cow college," "Moo U" or "Silio Tech" because it is proud of its tradition, he said.

"MSU pioneered with the revolutionary idea that knowledge could be useful as well as ornamental. It was the first to put into practice the philosophy that the sons of farmers, and storekeepers and industrial workers could benefit from education as well as sons of doctors, lawyers and clergymen."

The founders, "free of intellectual snobbery," saw that science would have to be used to solve problems of the future and that America would need many college-trained men and women, Dr. Hannah said.

"We have no greater tradition than the tradition of educational service of excellence to all of those who can benefit from it, not to just a chosen few."

Each generation has a crisis, President Hannah pointed out, and men must rise to solve it. The world has a need of men and women who will use their intelligence for the good of all to solve these problems.

"You graduates-to-be and thousands of your kind all over America will be largely instrumental in determining the future, not of our country alone, but of the world as well."

Dr. Hannah pointed out that the objective of an education is to prepare men and women to see, to think and to act not only for their personal benefits but for society as a whole.

There is an unprecedented demand for educated people who must contemplate the possibility of remaking the familiar world, he added.

"The future belongs to the educated man and woman."

Starr Keesler, director of alumni relations, welcomed the graduates to the ranks of the alumni. Jack Kinney, director of placement, explained the functions of the placement bureau.

Ike in Asia to Face Hostility, Distrust

By JOHN RODERICK

TOYKO (AP)—Less than six months ago President Eisenhower made a triumphal "peace with justice" tour of Asia. His return to this troubled region this month is compared in a Tokyo newspaper to a military inspection.

'61 Class Council In Session

Officers and members of the senior council for the class of 1961 were installed Tuesday night at the first organizational meeting of the group.

Officers for the incoming senior class are: Bob Gustafson, Grand Rapids, president; Ted Horning, Akron, Ohio, vice president; Sharon Jones, Toledo, Ohio, secretary; and Norma Smith, Detroit, treasurer.

The officers selected the following members for senior council: Jane Bingham, Gainsville, Fla., '61 Club; Larry Landisley, Livonia, public relations; Jane Denison, East Lansing, commencement; Jim Frink, Rochester, Homecoming.

Also, Kelli Green, Barrington, Ill., social; Bill Aldridge, Port Huron, MSU Development Fund; Marilyn Moyer, Toledo, Ohio, Senior Sailing; Barbara Ruppert, Bellwood, Ill., president's reception; Chloreen Hamilton, Marshall, seniors of the week.

Members-at-large will be: Walt John, Milwaukee, Wis., and Bob Keavy, Pontiac.

Eisenhower goes to the Philippines, Okinawa, Formosa, South Korea and Japan starting June 14. American men or materials—sometimes both—help stiffen the defenses of these areas against the threat of Communism.

Okunawa is the biggest U.S. base in Asia, a heavily armed stationary aircraft carrier.

Everywhere but in Japan Eisenhower's impending visit has been received with satisfaction as a sign the United States is stiffening its determination to stand fast against the Communists.

An influential Tokyo newspaper termed the visit "part of a tour of inspection in the territories of trusted military allies."

These anxieties have been supported by warnings to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization council, meeting in Washington, of possible new belligerency on the part of Communist China.

During Eisenhower's visit to South Asia, only the Chinese Reds and, later, the North Vietnamese, denounced the purposes of his tour.

The Soviet Union and the Communist parties of countries where he stopped applauded him. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev called the President a man of peace.

But since the Summit collapse, the entire Communist world has turned on Eisenhower and American foreign policy. The Red Chinese continue to lead all others in the virulence of their attacks on the U.S. leader.

Commencement for the 2,163 graduates will be June 12. Former President Harry Truman will speak.

UB Calendar

All fall events to go on Union Board calendar must be turned in to the UB office, second floor, Union, before next Monday.

Graduation Tickets

Graduating students will receive an additional Commencement ticket today by presenting their ID card at the Alumni Records Office, 233 Student Services.

Music Recital

The music department will present mezzo-soprano Julia E. and baritone Donald Hopp together in a solo voice recital Friday at 8 p.m. in the Music Auditorium. The public is invited.

Wolverines

The 1960 Wolverines are being distributed in room 29 of Student Services Building today and tomorrow from 1-3 p.m.

Social Work Picnic

The Alumni Association for the graduate school of social work will hold their annual picnic in the form of a picnic at Potter Park, June 11.

Coed Wins Contest

Betty Jayne Hughes, Phoenixville, Pa. freshman, won the 1960 Miss Chester County Pageant last Saturday. She will represent Chester County in the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant next month.

Research Abroad

Dr. Oscar Taborda, natural science instructor at MSU, will do research this summer at the School of Tropical Medicine, University of Liverpool, England.

Prof Named Veep

Dr. Max Hensley, assoc. prof. of zoology, has been named vice president of the Herpetologists League for two years. The league is concerned with the study of reptiles and amphibians.

STUN Sets Book Hours, Needs Help

STUN—Student Text, Used and New—will be open to take in books June 8-10 from 1-5 p.m.

The STUN committee has asked for students to help carry out its program. At present, there are only five students signed up to help with the cataloging and indexing that is a necessary part of the service.

During inventory, it was found that many of the books still held are no longer being used as texts; many of these have been on the shelves longer than two years.

Students have been asked to check on the books they have at STUN and pick them up if they were brought in before fall. 39 books not claimed at the end of fall term, 60 will be given to the Asian Book program.

Any one willing to work on the STUN committee is asked by the committee to call Joan Fodrea, at ED 7-9751.

Charges Dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charges of rioting were dismissed Wednesday for 62 students accused of creating a disturbance at the House Subcommittee on Un-American Activities hearing here May 13.

Only a few students appeared before Municipal Judge Albert Axelrod at the city hall where last month police turned fire hoses on demonstrators to stop the disturbance.

Eichmann Captured By Israeli

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—He lived in constant terror of being killed. He never dreamed of being kidnapped.

Reliable sources Wednesday gave that description of Adolf Eichmann in disclosing how Israeli agents in one of the most dramatic cloak-and-dagger stories of the postwar world.

Eichmann, the most wanted Nazi war criminal still alive, is in Israel. He will stand trial there on charges of being the man most responsible under Adolf Hitler for the extermination of six million Jews.

Officially Israel has never admitted Eichmann was grabbed by secret commando-like agents here May 12 or 13, and whisked by plane to Israel.

But it is the most generally accepted story of how the now 34-year-old, hollow-cheeked, group-muscled former Nazi elite guard colonel was arrested after eluding capture for 15 years—the last eight in Latin America.

Informants requested anonymity in giving this picture of Eichmann's life.

"He was always on the move. He traveled from country to country, from city to city. He changed jobs, he changed names. But wherever he went he lived constantly in fear of being killed."

"He probably saw assassins around every corner. . . . He knew panic, nervousness and bald. He tried to throw his life in modest obscurity."

"Eichmann had few acquaintances. Even with his Nazi friends he used a false name. He pretended he was Richard Krumm, one of his accomplices during the war."

"As the years rolled by he began to cling more and more to the hope he would be forgotten, but his terror never really subsided."

The informants gave these additional details.

The end of the trail came for him three weeks ago in a Buenos Aires suburb when he stepped off a bus in the early evening to walk home where his German-born wife and four children waited for him.

A car darted out of traffic and screeched to a halt. Israeli secret agents dragged him inside.

Alarmed by his disappearance, his family checked hospitals and morgues. But they soon realized that he had at last been seized, and the family itself vanished underground.

Six hours after his capture he was in an Israeli plane headed for Tel Aviv.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Foreign Minister Dr. Oscar Taborda said Wednesday night Argentina will make a formal protest to Israel if it is proved that Adolf Eichmann was kidnapped in Argentina.

Kennedy Backers Make Challenge

Dr. Fred Williams, assistant professor of history, spoke at Sen. John Kennedy's news conference and domestic policy at a recent meeting of the Kennedy for President Club.

Club members voted to challenge the Young Republicans Club to a public debate fall term on the qualifications of Kennedy versus his Republican opposition.

The summer program was outlined and a meeting set for Thursday in the Union.

Even a 'Buck' Will Help, Seniors

SENIORS, you have been contacted about the MSU Development Fund. There have been many statements overheard about the request that you donate to the fund, but we feel you may not have realized what has been asked of you and for what purpose.

The Development Fund, first organized in the early 1920's, was begun to provide a Union building as a memorial to alumni veterans of World War I. Since that time, alumni have contributed to build the memorial chapel, to set up alumni distinguished scholarships, and to purchase many books for the library.

Gifts to the Development Fund range from $1 to $5,000. This year, with a goal of $4,000, the Fund hopes to provide sound-proof booths for the speech and hearing clinic located in the Auditorium. The clinic is attended by adults and children and special education students and instructors help them overcome their defects.

A goal of $4,000 means each senior would have to contribute but a dollar. Although you seniors may resent the university asking you for money before you become alumni, we urge you to consider all that the university has given you and what you owe it. We think you will find you owe it far more than a dollar.

MSU Will Miss Karl McDonel

FORTY-FOUR years of service to the university will come to an end on July 1 when Karl H. McDonel retires from his office of secretary of the Board of Trustees.

Starting in 1916 as a farm management extension specialist, McDonel worked his way up to assistant director of extension in 1941. He has held the secretary position for the last 19 years.

The office of the secretary to the Board is a tedious one. By assuming the job, McDonel took on the responsibility of keeping the records of the meetings of the Board, as well as those of the Retirement Committee. But that wasn't all.

Under his direction also are the Department of Central Stenographic, Campus Planning and Grounds Maintenance, Inventory, Personnel and Stores, and until recently, the Division of Dormitories and Food Services. He also has the supervision of planning and developing new buildings on campus.

We congratulate Mr. McDonel for his almost half century of service to MSU and even now regret that he has chosen to terminate his stand in office.

It is hard to imagine how MSU can fail to expand and prosper while the devotion of such men as McDonel is readily evident on this campus.

End of An Era — 'Queen' to Retire

LONDON (AP)—A government committee recommended Wednesday Britain build a 75,000-ton liner to replace the aging Queen Mary, due for retirement soon.

The committee also recommended the government up in the form of a loan 18 million pounds ($30,400,000) of the estimated cost of 30 million pounds ($48 million dollars).

The balance should be supplied by the Cunard Line, which would operate the ship, the committee said.

Professor Backs Original Thinking With Research

To the Editor:

At the risk of becoming tiresome, I must answer your editorial of May 26 entitled "Does MSU Go Too Far With Research?"

Your statement that your previous editorial on faculty promotions had elicited little favorable response is, to me, the most encouraging evidence to date that MSU is growing in stature from a college to a university.

Ten years ago a preponderance of the opinion on this campus would have supported your view. Now, apparently, both faculty and students realize what it takes to make a university great.

The recent distinguished faculty awards merely emphasize the fact that a good university is known by its teacher-scholars, not just its teachers.

If the function of a university is to teach students to think, the man who has done some research and original thinking is much better equipped to perform this function than is the "teacher" who is merely transmitting another man's thinking.

This is why the "quality" universities in this country expect their faculty members to be both teachers and scholars.

The problem is not "either-or" as you put it; it is "not only but also."

The issue is not whether a professor should be either a teacher or a scholar. He should not only be a good teacher but also a good scholar. Perhaps our failure in the past to realize this fact accounts for the paucity of National Science Foundation or Woodrow Wilson scholars who choose Michigan State as the university in which to pursue their education.

The puzzle is that the State News, which could exert a tremendous influence on this campus, should lead a crusade to take us back to the good old days of Michigan Agricultural College or Michigan State College just when MSU is beginning to achieve some distinction as a major university.

Robert E. Brown
Professor of History

No Ballot

To the Editor:

Your recent editorial weighing pros and cons of granting 18-year-olds the right to vote prompts mention of the disenfranchisement of 21-year-olds.

As a life-long Lansing resident soon to graduate from MSU and take employment in Boston, I hoped to secure an absentee ballot for primary and final elections.

However, the city clerk has informed me my plans for permanent Eastern residence preclude any possibility of obtaining such ballot. And Massachusetts election laws prevent voting for a person not a resident at least six months. Hence I am barred from casting a ballot.

Many college seniors leaving the state share my predicament, the clerk said. State residence has some bearing on state election qualification, but certainly not on the federal level. I hope the next time Congress debates civil rights voting protections it will consider discrimination against graduating college students.

Satire Speculates On Horrors of War

By DONALD HENDERSON

In "Level 7" the reader finds a decidedly out-of-the-ordinary work. It is a very effectively done satire speculating on the extremes to which our present arms race and development of nuclear weapons—in short, our super-modern techniques of warfare—may lead us.

To this reader, the idea was vaguely reminiscent of Adolphus Huxley's "Brave New World" as a sneak preview (somewhat more unpleasant than Huxley's) of what the future may hold. "Level 7" is, in effect, a bomb after 4,000 below the surface of the earth to which some 500 persons (a conveniently equal number of male and female) centered in the security of the under-ground retreat, tries to convince himself that this life is preferable to that above ground, noting in his diary: "Libraries destroyed. So what? Museums in ashes. Who wants to visit a museum anyway? The traditions of centuries perished in a moment. Who cares about traditions?"

Since he was born in Poland and is familiar with the horrors of war, perhaps Dr. Roshwald is more aware than most of us of the destructiveness of total war. In any case he has given his reader something to think about, perhaps a warning, if nothing else, before we all have to start running for Level 7.

U.S. Aids Chile

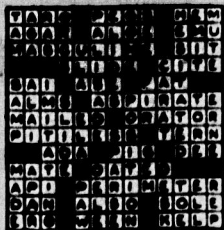

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A huge American mercy airlift for the disaster-stricken people of Chile wound up Wednesday with a harvest of good will for the United States.

More than 900 tons of food, clothing, blankets and two complete hospitals were flown here in six days aboard U.S. Air Force planes. Seven hundred U.S. relief workers came with them.

All this has touched Chileans, still in shock from the loss of several thousand fellow countrymen to earthquakes and tidal waves.

CSO Plans Second Honors Banquet

Catholic Student Organization will hold its second annual honors banquet Saturday at 6 p.m. at the student center. Rev. Robert Kavanaugh and Rick LiBrizzi, Chicago sr., will be masters of ceremony. A dance with a "Sayonara" theme will be held from 9 to 12 following the banquet. Tickets can be obtained at St. John's Center daily from 9 to 5 or after 8:45 a.m. and 10 a.m. masses on Sunday.

A DRIVER for the Refinery Transport Corporation died Wednesday morning as 3,000 gallons of gasoline burned and exploded when his tanker-truck went into a ditch on M-78 in Bath township.

The body of the driver was tentatively identified as that of Volney Austin, 47, of Hartford.

A witness at the scene of the accident told troopers he saw the right front tire of the tanker blow out. The driver rode the truck into a ditch where it began to burn. The burning was followed by a series of explosions.

The body was charred beyond recognition, police said. State News photo by Eric Lundberg.

Student Writing Competition Winners Are Announced

Nancy Sawtelle, Hazel Park, fr., was awarded first prize in the Annual Student Writing Competition sponsored by the department of communication skills.

The competition was open to any student enrolled in Communication Skills for at least one quarter of the 1959-60 school year. The entry had to touch upon some aspect of American life or civilization.

Miss Sawtelle's winning essay was entitled "Two Americans." She withdrew from MSU at the end of winter quarter. Second prize was won by Ronald Phipps, Valley Stream,

N.Y. fr., for his essay, "The Juvenile Delinquent's Response to Life." Steve Rybicki, Detroit fr., won third place with two original poems, "Blood of Gold," and "My Friend Tommy."

Honorable mentions were given to Gloria Hermanson, Duluth, Minn. fr., for two poems, "The Eternal Lovers," and "Shiva," and to Martha Hollen, Dayton, Iowa, fr., for an essay on T. S. Eliot's "The Hollow Men."

Judges were communication skills assistant professors Ben Hykok, John Kirk and Ken Macrone and William Burney, instructor.

The Rocket Hasn't Decided Yet

MONTREAL (AP) — Maurice "Rocket" Richard told the Montreal Canadiens Wednesday he wants to wait until September before deciding whether he will retire from hockey after 18 years with the club.

The 38-year-old star of the National Hockey League club called on managing director Frank Selke for another of several chats.

"He told me he wants to wait until the September training camp, so that's the way things stand now," said Selke.

Selke was asked if "The Rocket's" request upset the club's plans in drawing up its list of players protected from the draft.

"The situation doesn't suit me as well as a decision now by Richard would, so we'll have to consider things from the angle that he won't know until September."

New Track Captain Is Bill Reynolds

Billy Reynolds, 21-year-old Michigan State junior from Galt, Ont., has been elected captain of the Spartans' 1961 track and field team.

Reynolds, the runner-up in the Big 10 two-mile run this spring, becomes one of MSU's rare "double" captains. He's already captain of next fall's Spartan cross country team.

In the latter sport, Reynolds was a key member of MSU teams that won NCAA, IC4A and Big 10 team championships during the 1959 season. He finished second in the Big 10 meet, sixth in the IC4A meet, and fourth in the national collegiate.

The new Spartan leader is a 1956 graduate of Galt Collegiate High School. At MSU, he majors in accounting, and maintains a near "A" average.

Ingo a Champion in Many Ways

Shows Keen Sense of Humor Before and After His Workouts

By FRANK ECK
GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—The impression one gets regarding the world's heavyweight boxing champion is that he is a loafer, that he hates training, that he is moody, that it is like pulling teeth to get him to pose for pictures, that he refuses to hold still for a 15-minute interview and that he is a guy who would rather chuck it all for gay night life.

Anyone having these impressions is in for a rude awakening if he spends one day here in the Catskill Mountains where Ingemar Johansson is in training for the defense of his title against Floyd Patterson, June 20 in the Polo Grounds.

The 27-year-old Johansson, a pleasant-to-meet Swede who is a citizen of Switzerland (probably for tax purposes), has the best coordinated training program this writer has seen in the last 25 years.

Johansson is neither a loafer nor a guy (to use his own words) who looks forward to gay times before or after a workout.

There was the story that painted him a prima donna because he called off training one day. The story said television klieg lights bothered his eyes. Here's what Ingo says happened:

"I stopped the training because I did not feel good. Some days you feel good and some days you don't. I felt warm. Maybe the lights made it hot. Then some funny guy found out I got hit (in the face) and he made a story."

There was the story that had him "taking time out from training to pose with five service queens during Armed Forces Week." That day he ran six miles in the morning and in the afternoon had 15 rounds of boxing, bag punching, rope skipping and shadow boxing in the ski lodge a pebble's throw from busy U.S. 17. The workout lasted a full hour. He gave another hour for pictures and interviews, some on tape for the Armed Forces.

In mid-day, to pose for pictures with the service gals, he left the seven-room cottage where he lives with his mother, father, fiancée, brother and sister-in-law.

Johansson had been listening to musical recordings when a tandem prop helicopter landed one mile away on the golf course. The five service gals got out and were taken away to pose for pictures with Jennie Grossinger, their host. While they were off the course, Ingemar arrived.

He could have said "Where are the girls?" or "Let's get this over with," as some champions

Death Takes Famous 'Fox'

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—Lester Patrick, the famed Silver Fox of the New York Rangers and a leading figure in the ice hockey world for 40 years, died Wednesday. He was 76.

At his bedside when he succumbed following a long illness were his sons, Lynn and Muzz, each a vice president and general manager of a National Hockey League team. Lynn is with the Boston Bruins and Muzz with the Rangers.

Lester Patrick, who was voted to the International Hockey hall of fame in 1947, built a hockey career that for length, success and versatility was matched by no one.

But he didn't. Instead, when he came into the golf run by pro Babe Liehardus someone handed him a brass mallet type putter.

"This is mine," Johansson said. "I like golf. No, I don't know what score I make. I don't keep score. I play for the fresh air and the legs."

Let's see you swing the putter, someone suggested for a picture.

"Swing the putter?" asked Ingo. "You crazy?"

He knows you don't swing golf putter. He's no clown, this well-built and charming blue-eyed Swede who carries his 200 pounds where most of it ought to be around his chest, back and shoulders.

When the service queens returned Johansson spent an hour climbing in and out of an olive drab Army whirly bird. He was the most congenial guy in the world. He even said "thanks" when this writer handed him a golf umbrella in the rain.

A year ago, New York boxing writers laughed when Johansson displayed no right hand punch in training, yet he used it unerringly in flattening Patterson seven times to relieve him of the title within three rounds.

What about it? Johansson was asked.

"I do not like to hurt my sparring partners with my right," Ingemar replied. "What good are they on the floor?"

A French writer from Montreal, who had just spent three days at Patterson's Newton, Conn., camp conveyed to Johansson the message that Patterson expects to win by crowding.

"I don't think he (Patterson) decides that," Johansson replied. "I'm strong and heavier and have nothing to worry about (on the crowding score). I think I'll weigh 196 pounds the night of the fight."

There is talk in Texas about a million dollar gate if you fight there against Zora Folley or Sonny Liston.

"That's new to me," replied the champ. "Folley wouldn't draw. He has no punch. He is only a boxer. I was lucky. I was born with a good right hand."

When are you getting married? It was a tough question for Johansson's divorce from his first wife is not final.

"I don't know," replied Ingemar. "We (Birget Landren, his fiancée) haven't discussed the date. But she has the ring. It is hard to get rid of a first wife."

CHAMP AT WORK—Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson trains in Grossinger, N.Y., for his scheduled June 20 title defense against Floyd Patterson.

Track Performers Lift Olympic Hopes

NEW YORK (AP) — A total of 315 U.S. Olympic team aspirants has equalled or surpassed the qualifying standards in 17 of the 19 events in which such qualification is necessary. Only the 10,000 meter run and the 3,000 meter steeplechase have been elusive.

The Olympic committee, with the final trials at Stanford University Stadium only a month away, is busy sifting the performances to get an idea of just how well the American stars will stack up against their world rivals.

Recent listings have enhanced the prospects of medal winners. The 3:35 mile by James Beatty of Santa Clara Youth Village—the best mark for the distance by an American citizen—is highly encouraging. Dwyer Burleson, Oregon U. sophomore who covered the distance in 3:38.6 a few weeks ago, was timed in 3:39.2 in finishing second to Beatty.

Also encouraging was the qualification of Tom Murphy of New York Athletic Club and Tom Carroll of Yale in the 880-yard run in the East. Four athletes also qualified on the West Coast in that event.

At Hall, Pa., American champion, turned in a noteworthy performance in the hammer throw with a heave of 208 feet and 5 1/2 inches.

Spartans Jump to 8th

Michigan State's baseball squad moved from last place in the Big 10 standings last week to eighth in the final standings without playing a game.

Indiana and Iowa saved the Spartans from a dismal last place finish by losing their games last weekend. Iowa was mauled by Big 10 champ, Minnesota twice 17-3, and 7-3. Wisconsin took the measure of Indiana, 7-3.

The Gophers finished far ahead of the rest of the league in compiling a 42-2 record for the season. In second place was Ohio State, which gained the position by sweeping a doubleheader from Northwestern. The Buckeyes, finished with a 6-4 won-lost record.

The Spartans closed out their Big 10 season a 2-0 by losing single games to Northwestern and Wisconsin.

They wrap-up the season Saturday with a game with Western Michigan. MSU defeated the Broncos earlier this season by a 6-1 score.

Tennis Varsity Battles Frosh Today at 3 p.m.

By ROGER LISS

Spartan tennis fans will get a preview of future MSU tennis event, when the varsity and freshmen netters meet in the annual Green-White tennis match this afternoon at 3 on the Varsity tennis courts behind Spartan stadium.

The match will mark the final appearance for three of the varsity netmen—Bill Hotchkiss, Doug Smith and Ron Mesall.

Rounding out the varsity squad are Brian Eisner, Roger Engenhoef, Ron Henry, Mel Sauerstein and Rick Champion.

The freshman team will be composed of the following: Dick Hall, Monticore, Wis.; Jack Denson, Holland; Paul Nordvall, Falls Church, Va.; Ron Jackson, Warren; Lynn Hoeg, Jackson, Dave Bottrill, White Plains, N.Y.; Warren Lappin, Eggertsville, N.Y.; and Denny Berkowitz, a transfer student from Akron, Ohio.

Hotchkiss, captain of the 1960 squad, was the most improved player record-wise on the team. He raised his 4-12 mark of last spring to 10-5 this season.

Mesall had the best record on the team for the second straight season. Ron, runner-up at No. 6 singles in 1959, topped off his 17-3 season mark by winning the No. 5 singles crown this spring.

Smith is the team's scholar and a member of the Honors College as well as being a fine all-around tennis player. Doug possesses one of the best serves on the team which he used to good advantage in posting a 13-7 record this spring.

Fall Football Ticket Sale In Progress

The sale of 1960 MSU football tickets has opened at the Jenison ticket office.

Students planning to attend any away Spartan games are warned to file applications for the games before leaving campus this spring. The away Notre Dame game should be sold out quickly.

MSU has a certain allotment of away game tickets.

Seniors graduating in June or August must also apply this spring for tickets as they will not be included on the alumni mailing list.

All applications for individual game tickets received at the ticket office from now until June 14 at midnight will be drawn by lot to establish the order of filling to the limit of tickets available.

Applications received after June 14 will be filled in order of receipt as long as tickets are available. All remittances received with applications between June 1 and June 14 will be held until the applications can be processed for filing or refunding during June and July, hence checks will not clear the banks until that time.

Butterfield 6 Takes Dorm Softball Title

Butterfield 6 combined a busy hitting attack with a one-hit pitching job by Ron Whipple to win the dormitory division of the IM softball program.

Emmons 5 fell before Whipple and preceded 6, 3-1, Wednesday. Emmons' John Vandenhoeke got the only hit as Whipple retired the last 11 batters he faced.

The winners piled up 10 hits and committed but one error.

Another sparkling hitting job combined with good hitting gave Bailey 5 a 10-3 win over Bryan 8. Bailey's Dave Barker allowed only three hits.

BAILEY hitting stars were Jack Reynolds and Bill Hatcher. In the other game, West Shaw 7, 10-7.

MIKE KLEINHANS—MSU's co-holder of the 1960 Big 10 pole vault championship, is the first in Spartan track history to win pole conference honors in that event.

Minnesota Meets Irish in NCAA District

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Tour-nament favorite Minnesota sends a rookie pitcher and a lineup of sluggers with a 310 team batting average against Notre Dame tonight in the opening of the district 4 NCAA playoffs.

The Big 10 champion Gophers (26-2 overall) clash at 8:30 p.m. CDT with the Irish (19-5) after Detroit (16-5) meets Ohio University (17-3), the Mid-American champions, in the 6 p.m. opener of the double elimination tournament.

Larry Bertelsen, a slim lefty who lacked a sore arm to win eight games without a loss, is the likely starting choice of Minnesota against a Notre Dame team well-endowed with left-handed hitting strength.

If Coach Dick Siebert decides to withhold Bertelsen for another day, he will open with Clyde Nelson, a junior right-hander in his first year of competition.

Notre Dame will start either Nick Pallmich (16-1) or Jack Mitchell (4-1), both right-handers. Whichever gets the nod will have his hands full. Topped by pitcher-outfielder House-Nath's 373, the Gophers had eight men over .300 during the season. Four of those were platooned.

Detroit, in its second district tournament, will throw basketball playing Dave Debuschere.

Other Friday night and the 7 was most likely to be the away round. Two more games will played Saturday and the 8 ends, if necessary, Sunday.

MSU to Honor Distinguished Alumni With Awards June 12

MSU will present Distinguished Alumni Awards to five former students at annual Commencement exercises Sunday, June 12.

Honored will be two scientist-educators, an industrial executive, a university president and a woman physician.

Selected as outstanding alumni of 1960 by the MSU Alumni Advisory Council are:

Christian Beukema, Duluth, Minn., class of 1940, an engineer and now president of the Oliver Iron Mining Division, United States Steel corporation.

Dr. Charles Frey, Searsdale, S.D., class of 1911, retired director of research of Fleischmann Laboratory.

Dr. Arthur Knoblauch, Momb, Ill., class of 1929, president of Western Illinois University.

Dr. Ruth Strohschein, M.D., Birmingham, Mich., class of 1927, chief of pediatrics, Grace Hospital, Detroit.

Dr. William T. S. Thorp, St. Paul, Minn., class of 1935, dean of the University of Minnesota Veterinary School.

Beukema heads one of the world's largest iron ore mining organizations as president of the Oliver Iron Mining Division of U.S. Steel. He was awarded an ASU Centennial Award in 1955 and is now a trustee and vice-chairman of the MSU Development Fund.

Dr. Frey, food technologist and scientist, is currently a lecturer at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and an industrial consultant. He has been credited with developing a large number of processes and products which resulted in improvements in foods and nutrition. Dr. Frey was awarded an honorary doctor of science degree from MSU in 1946.

Dr. Knoblauch served as a teacher, principal and superintendent in Michigan school systems and for 14 years was with the University of Connecticut. He lectured in Burma as a Fulbright Scholar and was president of State Teachers College, Moorhead, Minn., before being named president of Western Illinois University in 1956.

Dr. Strohschein, educator and physician, was the first woman granted a Ph.D. degree in medical physiology at Ohio State University and was also the first woman doctor in Michigan chosen for selective service. She was named "Medical Woman of the Year" by Blackwell Branch of the American Women's Medical Association in 1955.

Dr. Thorp, scientist and administrator, has been active as a consultant in atomic energy projects. Prior to his present post as dean of the University of Minnesota Veterinary School, he served on the staffs of Michigan State, Pennsylvania State College and the National Institutes of Health. He was commissioned a veterinary director in the U.S. Public Health Service in 1948 and has been responsible for the planning and operation of extensive animal facilities in support of medical research. He holds a doctor of veterinary medicine and master of science degrees from Michigan State.

Materials Displayed For Special Education

Students interested in special education may visit the display of special classroom materials and therapeutic equipment in the lobby of the College of Education Building next week.

Faculty and majors will be on hand to answer questions.

The world, as seen through the eyes of a child, can be either beautiful or grotesque. It is the job of the special educator to transform grotesqueness into beauty.

Approximately 30 percent of the nation's school children have problems of one sort or another. About 11 or 12 percent of these children fall into the classification served by the various areas of special education.

Even though a child is crippled by cerebral palsy or heart disease, he still has the same basic needs and desires as the normal child. He wants to be recognized as a person, be respected, and become as self-reliant as possible.

Between 70,000 and 80,000 children have a speech defect which requires the services of a trained speech correctionist. In many cases the speech therapy is needed for only a relatively short time, but these few months can often mean the difference between a well-adjusted, happy child who adjusts well in school and a miserable child whose communication is impaired in or out of the classroom.

The newest area of special education is the teaching of socially maladjusted children. Today, one in 20 maladjusted children is receiving special help.

Other areas in which special education majors may specialize include the blind, the deaf and hard of hearing, and the emotionally disturbed.

Majors in special education receive an elementary school teaching certificate and then choose one of the six areas of special education in which to concentrate their electives.

When they graduate, they teach a special classroom in a regular school system.

Chest Backs Fund Drive

Campus Chest has approved the Scholarship Fund Drive being held through Monday.

The drive will benefit students expelled from southern colleges for participation in sit-in demonstrations.

Demonstrations received their name from the students' practice of remaining seated at lunch counters to protest the practice of requiring Negroes to stand.

Sponsors of the drive are Campus Chest, AUSG, Canterbury Club, Hill Foundation, YWCA, Presbyterian Campus Fellowship, Wesley Foundation, Lutheran Student Assn., Council for Christian Work at MSU, Young Republicans, Disciples Student Fellowship, MHA, East Lansing Friends Meeting, East Shaw and Bailey hall.

Canisters for donations are placed in dorms, the Union, departmental offices and the Lansing YWCA.
